

WOMEN'S HUMAN RIGHTS

As an instrument that addresses the circumstances that affect women's lives and enjoyment of rights in a diverse world, the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women is slowly but surely making its mark on the development of international and national law. Using national case studies from South Asia, Eastern and Southern Africa, Australia, Canada and Northern Europe, Women's Human Rights examines the potential and actual added value of the CEDAW in comparison and interaction with other equality and anti-discrimination mechanisms. The studies demonstrate how state and non-state actors have invoked, adopted or resisted the CEDAW and related instruments in different legal, political, economic and socio-cultural contexts, and how the various international, regional and national regimes have drawn inspiration and learned from each other.
