Do you really believe that you are the master of your own thoughts and your own dreams and your own urges? Why do you think every single good and pure urge in you and inside everyone around you has been instantly crushed and poisoned by huge negative reactions by those around you? Why do you think every good urge and impulse inside you has been sabotaged by negative feelings and motives?

There is an easy way to find if they are hiding in-between any walls where you live. Wherever you sit or lie down, or sleep: is usually where they will ensconce themselves permanently into the hollows inside the walls. Just smack the walls with your hand hard. If they are not there: the sound will dull. But if they are there: it will as if there is an over-laid vibration, a shakiness in the sound, a higher-pitched vibration that you will not find in other walls.

They can get you to forget where you put your keys by intentionally disrupting the train of your thought, so you cannot retrace your steps and remember where you last put them. They can get people to mistake appointments... changing a 1:30 pm appointment, to a 1:00 pm. Appointment simply by at the crucial point when you are about to write 1:00 pm, they put their own suggestion of 1:30 in. Anything you do automatically, habitually, without consciously directly focusing your conscious mind on: they can twist your awareness and manipulate, and replace an actual memory and replace it with a false memory or impression..

They practice this kind of filth secretly inside you all the time... All your fucking life. Is it any surprise... that an adult undead entity secretly inhabiting the body and soul of a baby, a child, an adolescent... should slowly be able to synchronize their aura and be able to second-guess what that baby or child will do? And then practice its timing to slightly veer off the child's intention or words or actions... until after years of this secret practice; they can easily corrupt the thoughts and feelings and actions of any human alive.

This is how they have successfully deformed and blocked and poisoned every living relationship between people who actually like each other.

All it takes is for one person to have a mistaken impression of what someone said or did: and they will carry that poisoned lie to their graves, thinking that the other person: did them wrong, or lied to them, or betrayed them, etc, etc.

They can do this today because they have successfully covered their tracks of their invisible, almost intangible existence so effectively that modern humans do not even begin to wonder why bad things happen to certain people at certain times.

It is because they cover the area of any person who is truly good: and overpopulate that general area with the most evil undead scum possible. So no matter where they go or who they see, or what they do: all and any energy they expend to help people; becomes poisoned, and corrupted. People are given subconscious messages screaming at them that this good person is bad, is a liar, that something is wrong, that something about them makes them feel uneasy... It is in this way that all truly good people... are effectively isolated from all other truly good people. Their entire life-goals and plans are carefully sabotaged. By untold numbers of undead scum working and planning to secretly poison and corrupt everything they touch. They become angry, lonely, frustrated loners and hermits.

But no longer. This book has not been corrupted by them. Whoever reads this book will know this. Their secret existence has finally been exposed. Now every living person who reads this book will for once be able to. :

Begin to wrestle with the fact that evil actually exists. That they exist inside you, and they are all around you.

35,000 years of every human on this fucking planet, believing in unseen spirits and gods, and what-not...

Is not a fucking false superstition that can be laughed at and ignored and discounted just because the undead have become more cunning at hiding themselves today, and the living have become more numbed and more distracted, and more unaware. Where there is smoke. There is fire. Wherever you detect subtle, insidious, telltale traces of evil... there are masses of unseen invisible evil undead scum at work.

Do you think this is a scare tactic? Do you think what I am explaining is a scam? A publicity stunt? Designed to sell this book to fear-addicts who suck on fiction writers... like Koontz, and Stephen King? This book is free. I am not making one cent of profit from it.

Once these truths are exposed to every human on this planet. Once living humans realize how they have been poisoned and violated and lied-to, and deceived by their own undead deceased human ancestors. Every living human should develop a burning rage against these unseen scum. Every human alive: should understand that these scum are actively working against them... all day and all night: 24 hidden hours a day to harm them and corrupt all their lives and hopes and plans and dreams. To make sure no living human ever finds any lasting true happiness. You should walk around every second of your waking life knowing that they are all around you and inside you all the fucking time.

Who are ancestors? What are ancestors? Ancestors are INCEST: Ancestors are incestuous filth that violate and poison and rape the bodies and lives and minds of their children. The word incest comes from ancestors.

Study the origins and symbols of Halloween: A candle burning inside an empty head: with the brains taken OUT. Living humans used as empty vessels, and turned into brainless morons so undead auras can use them by living inside their empty heads. Halloween: HOLLOW een... get it? Hollow living souls with undead entities burning inside them. HALLOW... HALO... AURA... get it? EEN TWO energies: the energy of the living mixed with the energy of the undead. People wearing costumes pretending to be somebody else... Bobbing for apples... Get it? They are bobbing us. They see us as apples, choosing which head they will enter, which living human they will bite into.

All Saints' Day is said to be the day when souls walked the Earth. You think they walk the earth just one day of the year? Wake up. Jacko-lantern: the first lazy greedy consumer mentality: the first jack who was so lazy and corrupt and selfish, the Devil himself wouldn't take him: forced to walk the earth forever... get it? There is no Heaven. There is no Hell. There is just the living Earth. The undead never went anywhere... they never left... neither will you.

The mass held on All Saints' Day was called All Hallow's Mass - the mass of the Hallows. (In the Old English language hallow means to bless, consecrate or sanctify.) The night before was known as All

The Path of Splitness

Chapter Seven: Entities and the Alternative

1612

Hallows' Eve - which eventually became known as Hallowe'en. Mass... Get it?... A mass of undead spirits millions of them. Living in hollow places. All hollow places are consecrated and regarded as sacred: because they live inside these places.

How was the eve of all hallows celebrated? ... the eve of all hollow empty undead auras? Big bonfires, parades, and dressing up in costumes as saints, angels, and devils... telling you that these angels-saints-devils burn inside you... they live inside you... they steal your living life energy and burn it up and waste it: to weaken you and corrupt you. This ancient holiday is telling you that there is a state of being that stretches beyond our physical life here on this earth. When was Hallow's Eve first created? In the 7th century... when Pope Boniface took over the Pantheon of Rome: a temple built to house and consecrate all the Roman and Greek Gods. In other words: the mass of all Roman gods, the mass of all their spirits: were included into the mass of Christian Saints, and the masses of recently dead...to be remembered and vigils held for them.

You need to become aware that every dream you have is actively being corrupted and poisoned by them....

They have found that the easiest way to control and manipulate the living... is to kill them in as many ways as they can: before they grow up. Slowly... insidiously, invisibly... systematically: unfelt, unseen, unheard... on the faintest, weakest energy levels. They have found that the easiest way to control and manipulate the living... is to poison them at instinctive-subconscious levels so deep, that they develop the exact kind of evil inside them needed for those already dead to fool and control them when they die and enter the realm of the undead. If you can subconsciously brainwash a living Mohammedan to believe implicitly in the Koran and in Allah... they become nothing but cannon fodder to these scum when they enter the unseen realm of the undead.

If you can subconsciously brainwash a living Christian to believe in Jesus being the son of god... then they are willing dupes: ready to do anything these scum tell them to when they enter the unseen realm of these undead scum.

They poison you night and day. They work at poisoning living humans unceasingly. Remorselessly. All their living lives day and night. They look for any weakness, any chance, any crevice, any fault. And try to exploit it and widen it until it becomes a gulf between living people.

One of the easiest ways they can do this: is by you lying to yourself. Once you develop a habit of twisting what actually happened, and lying to yourself about it: they can easily make you believe white is black and black is white.

One way they can get people to destroy friendships and love is by lying. By lying with others who do not love them: by infidelity. By lying to those whom they love. By lying down with others who do not love them.

The only way you can fight them is by being 100% honest: with yourself and with others. By asking questions. By never taking anyone's word for anything until you see the proof with your own eyes. By doubting everything. By doubting your own impulses, and the intentions and motives of others. By living in an open state of pure wonder. By exploring yourself

Handsome is as handsome does.

The Path of Splitness

1613

Honest is as honest does.

The only way you can trust anyone; is by their actions. Not by their words. The only way you can trust anyone is if their actions are the same as their words. If what they say is not what they do: then they are not trustworthy. Period.

If what they write and say is not what they do: they are not to be trusted. Period. Undead scum have easily gotten around this by creating human societies where everyone lies. Where everyone lies through their teeth every fucking day, because they are afraid of any unpleasant truth, and afraid of any unpleasantness that comes from speaking the truth.

Try and speak the truth: and watch how everyone avoids you, or attacks you... or secretly plans to sabotage you, and plots against you for years... until you are completely discredited and ostracized from any influence you might have over any living human period.

Living humans have already been so poisoned and corrupted by 12,000 years of civilized vices and civilized brainwashing: that to even attempt to reverse this process of increasing corruption: means you will have to buck every popular trend, every popular culture. You will have to go against everyone who thinks that nothing is wrong, and that everything is just fine the way it is.

To consciously attempt to heal yourself of all your own failings and faults and addictions and vices. While living inside this 12,000 year-old pile of shit is the most difficult thing you can possibly do. To even try to become better at being a human. Is the greatest hardship there is.

It is not hard to become better. It is easy.

But if you have 7 billion living people opposing you, and ignoring you. And on top of that... 25 million years of undead scum: actively sabotaging your every effort... then it becomes hard.

The living legacy of the poison of human undead has been accumulating around and inside every living human ever since these sick filth were created by our life energy becoming too reflective.

There is an easy test to see if all humans are being secretly poisoned and manipulated by undead filth. Try being honest with any other living human. And watch them lie, and evade the truth. Watch them deny the truth. Watch them laugh-at and deride the truth. Watch them instantly.... Bring every possible trick and subterfuge into play. Watch them deflect every truth you utter. And watch them ignore every truth you demonstrate and prove.

All human undead filth; hate the truth more than anything else in this universe. All human undead filth; attack the truth and try to bury it and ignore it as if it does not exist. Why do all living humans also react in this manner when they are faced with any truth whatsoever?

Where did they all get this instantaneous creative ability to lie and evade and scorn and deny anything truthful no matter how logical and simple and obvious the truth may be?

Many times: the living person in front of you is not reacting to your truths like this. The living souls are not doing it. It is the accumulated filth of thousands of years of undead filth inside them, and around them; that instantly rouse themselves whenever they feel themselves threatened by any truth.

The Path of Splitness

1614

And so, they instantly rouse themselves... and take over that person's body and mind and heart. And instantly find a way to corrupt that person against your truth, and creates the feeling that your truth somehow threatens them personally. They are creatures of lies. They live off of lies. They thrive off of lies. They are composed of lies.

They live off of decomposing offal. They live off all lies. They live awfully. Horribly. They are pure filth. They are pure offal.

What is a pita-bread sandwich? It is an awful falafel. It is the recreation of camel dung droppings: hardened on the outside with a rotting mess inside of white shit. Fal... afel fall... awfall... get it? Arabs ate food that was grown from the manure of camel droppings. They made their food to represent in concretion where it had come from. They were all permeated with the evil auras of their own undead. The unseen undead are pure offal.

The unseen are composed of nothing but decomposing, rotting lies. They are composed of all the accumulated decomposing, rotting lies every human ever brainwashed another into believing throughout human history. Flies gather wherever decomposing filth is rotting. Lies gather wherever decomposing rotting undead human scum gather. They gather around rotting human souls, rotting human bodies and rotting human garbage. They are infestations of pure filth. They are the ultimate alien invaders: invading and rotting every living thing they enter and inhabit. And decomposing it and rotting it faster and faster.

Is this truth too unpleasant for you? Try living purely; with only good thoughts and good actions. And see how all the rest of humanity shuns you and sabotages you and tries to destroy you. Try creating a better community with other people who want to be truly good and kind and loving and happy and have fun: and see how all the rest of the civilized living world targets you... all of you: instantly. Before you can even create your new community of healthier living. Before you have even told anyone of your intentions.

Try and challenge anyone who attacks you; and watch them run and hide, as the coward scum that hide inside their souls and minds and hearts flee from your presence.

Watch them all go silent. Watch them shut their gobs. Watch their color-auras waver in fear and shame and guilt. And then: kill them. Kill these lying filth that are trying to attack you and judge you, and punish you.

Do you think that this will be easy? Look at your own life! You already have secret entity enemies all around you: ready to poison your good intentions with evil thoughts and evil impulses. Ready to attack you, the instant you have any single good impulse. You yourself: are already filled with pus-filth entities. You already have entire camps and followings of filth entities inside you from the past... all of them secretly urging you to recreate certain conditions and addictions... so they can re-live their own filthy un-lived, addicted lives through you.

And what is the result that has been hidden from all living humans?

Look how easily they corrupted Jesus of Nazareth and his entire movement. 2,000 years ago; one living human infested with his own demons; tried to be slightly better than other humans who were all unknowingly infested with their own secret unseen demons. Try to find one Christian today in voluntary poverty. You will not find one. Try to find one human today who believes in being possessed by spirits. You will not find one. You will be laughed out of the room.

They have managed to poison what is best in humans... all spirituality has been poisoned by them.

Look at Deepak Chopra. Prating and intoning like an ancient god of a spiritual dynamic that is pyramidal in structure; one of the oldest evils of the undead. Combining the evil dynamic of ancient Egyptian pyramids to the dynamic of ancient India. Pushing meditation as an eastern form of healing.

Why does he push it? Because once you empty your mind, once you quieten your mind... and turn it into a vacuum... then the weak energies of all the evil undead filth inside and outside you... suddenly have a huge increase in the degree of influence they have over you: on all levels. Then you become an empty-headed pawn of those entities.

His brand of fake spirituality is pure evil shit... it is the ancient crap of all the eastern victims of India and china, as they let themselves be oppressed for ten thousand years, without one single revolution! Not one major popular uprising! Without ever once bettering their lot. Without ever bettering human life.

Deepak deep... packed; packed deep with lies... full of evil entities and secret hidden intentions.

Chopra... chopping off the human spirit at its roots. Chopping off pranic energy. By trying to prove evil is good! By a scientific method. His own inner rage choked off so obscenely: his mentally detached blitheness hides a secret hater of all truth and all passion.

Systematic deep choking of human life energy, as science-proven modern forms of ancient re-discovered evil choke your own will and health.

What is pranic energy? It is the energy of unreasoning panic. The rage of the volcano setting off the panic of man-monkeys in Africa. It is the exploding pranic energy coming from the core of every human: an energy of panic and rage and unreason. It is the enraged of human instinct being blocked and suppressed, exploding out. What is an undead entity? It is an evil intention that has not died completely as it should have.

These undead scum: have learned how to manipulate living humans very well. They have had nothing else to do for hundreds of thousands of years. They have honed their abilities to brainwash living humans for at least 100,000 years. They have improved the sophistication of their lies and their tactics for at least 100,000 years. They have set pre-programmed responses into place in the minds of living humans, which are instantly triggered by any truth that threatens their secret existence: for at least 100,000 years. The word itself: truth. Is a danger signal for them. What human on this planet tries to speak the truth? What living human on this planet publicly says that they are speaking the truth? Only liars.

Is this word used at all today??? Eh? How many times have you seen this word in print? How many times have you ever heard this word spoken, eh?

The truth hurts: hurt is truth reversed: truth hurts. If it is true: it hurts. But it is a healing hurt, not a killing hurt. The negative intention to hurt somebody is spelled hurt. The positive intention of being

The Path of Splitness

1616

honest with somebody is spelled truth: when your heart is true: you heal other people. When your heart is filled with hate: you try to hurt other people.

Truly truthful people have learned to keep their mouth shut, or else be attacked by everybody near them. The hatred of truth in the world today; is so subtle and unspoken: that the second any person utters the word 'truth'; everyone else leaves, so they will not hear it.

Why? Because they assume whoever uses this word: is already a liar. They instantly pre-judge any person who uses this word and brand them as liars. Why? Because they themselves never dare to use this word. They do not have the courage or the guts to use this word. They only hear this word coming out of the mouths of the worst liars in their society.

This is an old political ploy. So ancient it has been used before the Greeks ever used it. Take over the issues of your enemy: and parade yourself by attacking your enemy with the very issues they hold, and the very issues you are against. Then once you are in power: you can bullshit and distort everything so nobody notices you were a liar when you campaigned by the issues you later cunningly sabotaged.

So... take over the words that are used against you: and use these words against your enemies. If they try to say they are speaking the truth. All you have to do: is say that you are speaking the truth. And say that you are speaking the truth one hundred times more often, and ten times louder than your enemy does. Cloak yourself by the very words your enemies try to use against you. Shield yourself by using the very words your enemies try to use against you. Today: this is called political correctness. Changing the original meaning of words by changing how you use them and why you use them. Poisoning the meanings of as many words as possible. Until nobody can discover any truth: because if they try. They are already using poisoned words that poison any truth they find. Their own meanings and ideas become poisoned at their roots. Because what they define as truth is already a poisoned lie.

It is a simple dynamic of protective reflectivity. It is a simple matter of reflecting back whatever your enemy's intentions are against you.

Once you die and find auras coming to you: accusing you, judging you: trying to punish you.

All you have to do is ask them directly to their filth-faces:

'Did you do anything in your life; that you need to be punished for?'

'Did you do anything after you died and entered this realm; that you need to be punished for?'

And.... If they had any evil intentions against you... before you ever entered the realm of the undead and challenged them, by asking them if they deserve to be punished.

Then they are fucked.

Because their own energy of evil intent... that they have been harboring and using to attack and violate your living person before you ever came into the realm of the undead....

This accumulation of hate and fear and evil intent.... Is much more powerful than your hate of them. And then they.... These undead filth. Will be killed. By you: a once living person. Using their own evil energy against them... better than they can use any evil intent you ever had while you were still alive against yourself.

That is... if you hate evil.

This is how you kill these filth. All you have to do: is kill them. And the instant they feel your intent to kill them. Their own evil energy will explode out against you. And you will instantly be able to use their own filthy fear-hate energy to kill them with. Simply because your aural reflectivity will be more powerful and more direct and more honest than theirs is.

The Newest Ploy of Undead evil

For thousands and hundreds of thousands of years: living humans were brainwashed to fear and obey all undead spirits and to disobey them was to invite the most horrible revenge, the most horrible suffering...

The Yahweh of the Old Testament came from that era of total obedience of the living to the spirits of the undead... Until living tribes and cultures kept on ignoring the most evil foul directives and laws of their 'gods' so much... the undead were forced to invent a new strategy of cunning guile to hoodwink and fool living people into committing the worst evil possible. Direct Commandments and taboos were not working enough to satisfy the need of undead things to corrupt each generation of living human people so when they entered the realm of the undead they were fouler and weaker and sicker than the ghouls that had poisoned them all of their living lives, and could be controlled and dominated and gulled to continue committing their evil...

So they invented a false hierarchy; a false system of values and morals: they invented the idea of there being good spirits and evil spirits: They invented the idea that if one listened to 'good' angels with wings, and refused to listen to bad demons with horns on their heads: you were following the 'good' spirit: the 'good' god, and fighting against the 'bad' Devil known as Beelzebub, Baal, Lucifer, etc. They invented the idea that there was a difference between undead things: that some were evil and some were good.

This idea and assumption of a split between God and the Devil has been sold and swallowed by millions and billions of well-intentioned living people; especially Christians. Understand this: all undead are pure evil. All of them need to be killed. The only difference between undead things is the different ways they have genetically fouled themselves by merging their human undead auras with other undead species; thus turning themselves into undead genetic freaks, ugly misshapen horrors. Whether an undead human aura lives inside the aura of a fish; and develops scales and fins and gills, or merges inside the aura of a bird and develops faint wing-like patterns behind their shoulders and an empty dead hole of a beak where their nose and face should be, or merges its aura with a horned goat and develops horns on its head... they are all foul, evil, sick things that need to be killed and wiped out. None of them are 'good'. All of them are evil. All of them suck off living creatures in order to keep from dying. All of them are designed to do only one thing and that is: DIE. COMPLETELY DEAD.

Any reader who has swallowed their cunning ploy, their cunning lies... that they are being or have been contacted by a 'good' spirit instead of an evil one, has simply being fooled. NO living human who cannot SEE the hidden undead thing that they are in contact with can tell WHAT is contacting them, or where they are, or where they came from or what they look like or what their actual intentions are. The very fact that no undead spirit has ever revealed their true identity to a living soul speaks volumes of their universal duplicity as a rotting, secret, hidden, unseen assortment of evil entities.

The question is: how gullible are you? If someone rings you up on the phone and tells you they are god or the devil: are you going to believe them just because they tell you this? If an unseen voice or communication comes to you: can you instantly recognize whether the hidden undead thing is good or evil? If an unseen foul thing tells you it is a good angel and tells you to go fight the infidel because they worship Satan: Are you aware that the filthy thing contacting you is indeed Satan, and is gulling you to kill living innocent humans who have never done you any harm? If an undead filthy thing contacts you and tells you to kill all Christians because the god of Mohammed is the only true god and the god of the Christians is a false prophet: can you see what or who is telling you this? While all of these unspeakable filthy stinking undead cackle in insane glee at the spectacle of living people killing each other over imaginary differences which they the undead have created, preserved and perpetuated.

THERE ARE NO GOOD UNDEAD ENTITIES

ALL OF THEM ARE EVIL

Once you understand this: then the scales of delusion and falsity and deception will fall from your eyes and you will see clearly how not only all religions are evil, but the fact that it is impossible for an undead spirit to be good unless it reveals and exposes itself you VISIBLY and HONESTLY: so you can see it and touch it and speak to it... The very fact that these things keep their true identities secret from all living humans and hide their presence from most living people proves they are evil. Evil grows in the darkness of the mind and the heart, and is dispelled by the light of day: by the energy of the sun which they cannot abide because the energy of sunlight is too strong and healthy for them to endure. Evil is secret. All evil is based upon cunning secrets. Get this truth into your heart and mind. There are no good spirits. All of them are rotting horrors; cunning insane sick things that need to be killed DEAD.

After Jesus died he appeared to the people he knew and spoke to them. He revealed himself to them. He proved to them that he was not completely dead. No other fucking 'god' has ever done this. This was the miracle of Jesus. This was the proof that Jesus was not evil. What happened when he did reveal himself to his followers? They all had the same reaction: FEAR: they all became irrationally terrified for no logical reason whatsoever. They ran and hid themselves. Why? Because they were all beset with guilt. Because the filthy secret undead things hiding inside their souls and bodies were TERRIFIED of this one exception, this one god spirit who was actually good: not evil; not completely corrupt, not completely evil... Jesus did not know that there are evil undead things inhabit every living person ever born on this earth. He did not know that it was because of these undead filth that his followers had all betrayed him to the Priests of Jerusalem and the Romans of Rome. He did not realize he had been betrayed. He was an innocent gullible fool;

BUT...

Jesus was a GOOD PERSON: he only saw the good in living people, and did not see the hidden evil living secretly inside them because HE was good. This is the blindness of all good people: good people do not SEE evil because they have no evil inside them. Good people do not UNDERSTAND evil because they have no evil inside them. This book has been written for one reason: So that good people will have their eyes opened: so good living people can wake up and see both sides of the truth. So good people can intelligently recognize the difference between GOOD and evil and use this knowledge and never be fooled by these undead pieces of lying rotting shit again.

The time of gullible fools sacrificing themselves and being sacrificed onto the altars of the undead is OVER. The time of superstition and bullshit is OVER. Now that I have exposed the truth about these fucking stinking things. These undead things have nowhere to hide anymore. Their cunning lies and deceptions cannot save them anymore from the truth. NOW YOU KNOW THE UGLY TRUTH about these things: Now you know the brutal hideous truth about the hidden secret history of the race of the undead. They are not human: they are evil sick, cunning foul dying things that NEED TO BE COMPLETELY WIPED OUT AND KILLED.

The evil of Forgiveness

Human cultures preach the importance of forgiveness.

Who is actually preaching it?

Criminals who are guilty of crimes and sins against other humans. That's who.

Who are they preaching it to?

To their victims.

Did Kings and Emperors and killers preach the virtue of forgiveness to each other? No. Never. They preached it to those they killed and raped and robbed. So they would not be murdered like their murdered victims.

Everywhere in society... this fake lying scam of the virtue of forgiveness is sold and bought and swallowed. It is an emasculating, destructive dogma. It weakens your emotional and moral passion for justice and fairness, and honesty.

It turns you into a moral coward. It turns you into a sucker.
Who are the actual preachers of forgiveness?

The undead scum who do not want you to come after them when you die. They have fostered this culture of forgiveness for thousands upon thousands of years inside every fucking civilization ever born. In thousands upon thousands of cultures and tribes and clans and nations. All over the world.

They try to prove that not forgiving someone who has harmed you is supposed to harm you more than it harms them.

This is pure bullshit.

All you have to do is not become consumed with hate, or a need for revenge: when you cannot confront your enemy.

There is no benefit that comes from forgiving anyone for what they did. There is no benefit that comes from wasting your time hating them either.

1620

Human crimes cannot be forgiven by anyone. Not by the people who were victims, or by the perpetrators.

Crimes must be paid back tenfold... a hundredfold. By the perpetrators suffering a thousand times worse than their victims ever suffered. By the perpetrators healing the damaged victims. Not by the perpetrators healing first, and the victims being healed second.

The karmic law of how human justice works is for the victim to pay back the sin and the crime of the guilty one: by doing unto him or her a thousand times worse than was ever done to them.

Only when the victim empowers himself. Only when the victim claims her own right to pay back what was done. Can the victim ever become strong enough to heal themselves. Once you rape your rapist: you are healed from all they have done to you. Once you kill your killer: you are healed. Then... rape them again and again. Kill them again and again. Until they are completely destroyed.

As for the perpetrators and sinners and guilty ones. How they heal from their evil, is their fucking problem. It is not the responsibility of the victim to heal the criminal.

When all victims pay back the pain and crimes and sins that were committed against them. When all victims become stronger and healthier than the evil ones who like being evil.

Then.... The evil ones can rot in their own sick hell as long as they fucking want to. And if they ever want to be healed. If they ever want to stop being evil.... Then they can come and beg for help. From their former victims.

And then they should be spurned, and kicked back into their hell. Until they crawl out again, and be despised and spat upon and kicked back... until if any healthy former victim chooses... they may take pity on a few of them and help them.

There has not been any punishment of human evil in this world or the next. There has been no accounting of sins or crimes by the undead scum called human entities yet. They have all gotten away scot-free with all of their sins.

No more.

No more will living humans forgive their ancestors for their sins. No more will living humans sin against each other. Every sin must be paid back. Instantly if not sooner. If a person lies to you. Drag them out by their ear and confront them with it. If a person kills someone. Kill then ten times more horribly than they killed their victim.

If a person rapes someone. Rape them back ten hundred times more horribly than they raped.

The word forgiveness exposes the filthy obscene, unseen lie and evil of the idea itself.

You should give. You should be a giver. For who? For yourself and for your own self-respect as a humane human being.

The Path of Splitness

1621

You should not give anything for anyone else, or for anyone else's pleasure. For should not be placed before give. You should give for the pleasure of giving. You should never for-give anyone ever in your life or after. And believe me. When you give back the violence and hate and envy and rape that was committed on you.....

You will feel distinct pleasure in doing so. It will be a pleasurable experience for you. You will have nothing to worry about anyone ever trying to retaliate against your payback of what was done against you.

Because if anyone even attempts to retaliate against your honest passionate payback of what was done to you. You will be able to rip their guts out before they ever raise their hand against you.

The evil of the code words: pre-serve.... For-give. Are obvious. They are written backwards. They should be written: give-for, serve the present. Serve the present! Not the past! Not backwards: not putting the pre- before the serve. Do not serve those who came before you! Serve yourselves and all living things.

Forgive nobody! Give for the pleasure of giving more than was given you!

There is just as much pleasure in giving a killer or rapist more harm than they tried to give to you... as there is pleasure in giving back a person more love than they gave you.

This is universal. It is a universal truth>....

And fuck the lying myth of a meek loving Jesus who did not fight the Roman empire. Fuck all the non-violent cowards: who have tried to brainwash the gullible masses into not giving back more than was given to them.

Give love... but let yourselves be massacred? How fucking stupid can you be?

Give love back to lovers... and give massacres and death back to killers, and kill ALL OF THEM. And that is the END of all killers.

That is the true way to live a truly giving life. With not one fucking ounce of forgiveness in it. Only honest giving .

And no guilt either. And no repercussions either.

Only then will you be happy and at peace with yourself. Only after you have given each person who has sinned and violated you back ten times more than they ever gave you.

Then for once in your fucking life: you will feel good about yourself.

Why won't they try to retaliate against you?

Because then they will know that whatever they try to do to you. You can.... And will do to them.... One thousand times more back to them. Because you have learned the most powerful lesson of all: because you have learned the most powerful art of all: giving back more than you receive. Haters and those who live in fear cannot do this. That is their fatal weakness. Giving is your strength. All giving is healthy... if it is direct and honest. If it is weak and turns away from the person who should be directly given to: then it is evil.

The only way the Roman Empire kept control of its territories was by repaying murder with ten times more murder.

The only way the white south kept control over millions of African blacks was by punishing them for no reason at all... by punishing them a thousand times more for the slightest sign of disrespect or resentment, or independence... and brainwashing them into believing that they deserved it, and that any attempt to resist was hopeless. This is the same scam that has been sold all over the fucking world to all the poor oppressed downtrodden masses for ten thousand years.

When those masses are educated to understand how the power of positive reinforcement works, and how it is guaranteed to work. Then there will be an end to all oppressors. Then anyone who tries to raise themselves up one hair higher than anyone else: will be crushed down so fucking fast... that nobody will ever try it again.

But to succeed in this. We must deal with the undead human scum who have been actively poisoning and corrupting our living lives for at least 75,000 years.

They cannot be allowed to get away with it anymore. They must be killed. They must be chased out of their hiding places.

And killed.

Only when these undead evil that thought they could get away with their crimes are killed: will living humans not be poisoned with their secret presence urging them to be as evil as possible.

The time has come for them to all be unmasked.

You reading this book have now been given a responsibility. Which you cannot avoid. Now you know what true evil is. Now you know where it lurks.

The Time has Come to Fight Evil.

Oh. You say: everyone is guilty of committing sins against everybody else. Letting everyone repay and payback their sins is inviting chaos and an endless intensification of violence.

Wrong.

The ones who are truly evil will weaken and be killed and go totally extinct.
The ones who are good and healthy will only grow stronger.

The only reason human violence has lasted so long without all of us going extinct is because humans have been committing crimes as sneakily and in as cowardly a manner as possible using unfair advantages: tools, guns, armor. If governments did not have all these unfair advantages every single evil soldier and politician would be killed until none of them would be left alive. Once you stand up against true evil. You will find out how pathetic their stupidity and how abysmal their cowardice is. How predictable their supposed cunning is. Then you will them for what they truly are; shrunken souls.

These undead human evil monsters have only been able to maintain their own secrecy by upholding the insanity of civilization. They have upheld all evil humans and systematically destroyed all good humans... by systematically traumatizing and brainwashing, and poisoning every human fetus that was ever born... before it ever came out of its womb. Before it ever became male or female.

The evil of the Undead

If you want to understand these insane inhuman, undead scum called undead entities: you need to understand what they are. You must understand what they are capable of, and what they can do. They can merge their aura into any living organism.... Be it an insect, or a bird, or a cat. They can hide their aural energy inside any dead thing... be it a wall, or a rock, or cement.

But by merging their auras inside living humans: they pay a price.
The energy they merge with: also merges with them.

They take on the nature and personality characteristics of the living people they inhabited. They take on added addictions. They accumulate more corruption within their filth-souls.

And the more they hide inside dead things, the more nonhuman living things they violate by merging with their living energy. The more nonhuman they become. The more non-sane they become. Until they are so insane: they cannot be understood in any purely human context. Until they begin feeling like cats... or jackals... or snakes. Until they begin thinking like cats... or jackals... or snakes. Until they begin acting like insane hybrids between a human and a jackal..

Which is what happened to some Egyptian undead scum 7,000 years.

They entered the living animals that living Egyptians worshipped. And became so insane: they urged their own children to intermarry and commit not only human incest, but animal incest. Their thinking and motives became so warped and sick from this: they descended into the stupidity of the animal cunning and animal cowardice, and animal corruptions of the animals they secretly inhabited. Everything they tried and did, not only failed abysmally: but guaranteed the extinction of their own progeny.

Simply because they liked to be worshipped even after they were dead.

The Egyptian predilection for worshipping half-animal, half-human entities... or whole living animals like cats... is well known. The Egyptian sphinx is not a cross between a lion and a human. It is a cross between a cat and a human. Humans have misinterpreted this ancient Egyptian god for 7,000 years. Simply because of the size of the statue. And the idea that what a human undead scum merges with; is supposed to be in proportion and in scale to a human body. This is only one tiny scrap of historical fact.

What billions of other undead human scum merged with other animals over the course of 100,000 years... and what this merging has done to most of them. How insane, and unsane, and non-sane they are...

Cannot be imagined, or told, or understood by any living human... except; that they are so sick, and so evil: if we living humans are ever to live unpoisoned lives. They must be destroyed.

The Path of Splitness

1624

The older these undead scum are: the more they have lost their original personalities. The more they have lost any semblance of their humanity.

Think of it... if you had lived 7,000 years ago. If you had hated the life you lived 7,000 years ago. And since then.... Have vicariously lived inside hundreds of other living people... secretly. In hundreds of different, changing cultures, with different changing values, and different changing experiences... How much will you remember the life you actually lived: before you became a secret, vicarious, life-experiencer; living secretly inside living people? How much will you still be your own original personality?

The older a human undead entity filth is: the more of a composite, layered personality they have. The more human energy they have managed to suck into their layered, false, composite, reflective aural bodies. The more falsely they shine as more than one single human soul.

If they have practiced forgetting the life they vicariously experienced hundreds of times... so they can experience another life. How good are they at lying-to themselves, and deceiving themselves? How good are they at lying to, and deceiving you?

They have to wipe out every memory of a life they vicariously experienced. Because if they do not: the person who they hid inside, when they die and come into their realm, if that entity finds that another entity has been secretly poisoning and sucking their life energy while they were alive... if that new entity finds another entity with the same memories as they have.

Then the new entity will do its best to kill and destroy the energy of the older filth poisonous entity. In pure rage at being secretly violated and manipulated and poisoned all his living life. They have practiced cunning defenses against this truth for thousands of years. Can you get any truth out of them? It is not worth the effort. All you will get are lies and deception. They are not worth saving. They are only worth killing.

Where do these undead filth hide? In hollows. In hollow places. In the lowest hollows: like the sleepy hollow of Ichabod Crane, the lowest marshland, where the headless horseman haunted all those who went through that marsh.

Who was the headless horseman? With the head of a pumpkin? A mindless mush-brained idiot who rode blindly pell-mell: decapitating anyone in his path? He is the modern American mass of consumer idiots with mush for brains, being de-capitalized of their dollars. Galloping laterally around blindly in their cars. He is the mass killer of mindless stupidity. And only a teacher... an educated person escaped his curse. The Dutch myth was a screaming warning to all Americans: of the danger of eating pumpkins: and other mush. It was a harbinger of the mass produced mush which modern food has become. It was warning them of the dangers of ignorance and bad education.

He was a Dutch myth. A subconscious exposure of the first Dutch lowlanders who crept into the lowest bogs and swamps of Holland to escape other tribes instead of standing up and fighting. He was the headless monster who threw rotten empty pumpkins at the cowards who went through the swamp. Reminding them that the sin of their cowardice makes them headless, mindless rotten fools. The first human undead hid in the lowest places.

1625

They exist in hollow places. Until African apes learned how to beat them out of these hollow places by beating on the hollow logs they hid inside. African witch doctors became convinced that if you make a loud enough noise and yell and beat on a hollow thing or shake it like a rattle, or a drum: the evil spirits will be chased out... and never come back.

Huh? Yeah... sure.

They can and do return to their hollow hiding places: the instant any beating on their hollow hiding place stops. Africans were encouraged to believe this idiocy. In actual fact: it was only the unexpected vibration of sound reverberating through the hollow places they hid in that bothered them. African cultures created the belief that beating on a hollow thing like a drum could drive out evil spirits not only from the drums themselves: but out and away from their villages permanently. They beat on their drums for days and weeks. Thinking they were purifying themselves and their village.

The evil spirits used this slight knowledge of their existence to poison these Africans even worse. They harmonized themselves to the regular vibrations of the drums and slipped inside them and sucked and lived on their vibrational energy. Because the rhythm was steady, it was predictable, it never changed. Just as they suck and live-on every possible kind of energy they can find like electric wires hidden inside the hollows of modern buildings.

They encouraged Africans to beat drums. Because that physical violence of sound, the beating of drums... numbed and brutalized the senses of the living until they became insensitive, insane, maddened, poisoned, human monsters. Staring insanely at nothing. Put into a trance-like state of dehumanized robots mindlessly brutalizing their own hearing, their own sensitized awareness of everything around them: by drowning out everything around them by the monotonous, repetitive, sameness of creating the same loud noise over and over again.

They thrive on the expected. They instantly adapt themselves to the unexpected. Only when you beat their hollow hiding places unexpectedly, only when they cannot predict when you will beat it, only when your beating is not regular and predictable: are they temporarily discomfited enough to leave.

All they do is slip into another hollow hiding place. They have many such places. Beating on one hollow hiding place only drives them into another hollow hiding place. It is an exercise in futility. Do you want to spend your entire life beating on every hollow hiding place around you? Then they win. Then you stop living and waste your time doing what? For nothing.

Living humans do not understand that all dead things are mortal enemies of all living things. Undead human scum entities are the mortal enemy of all living humans.

These undead filth are merely re-enacting the last gasp attempt of dinosaurs trying to keep their upward mobility. By becoming birds that could fly over all other living things. Untouched by all other living things. Sneering down at them. Superior to them. Looking down upon them as lesser, and lower class beings. They are merely another way humans avoided standing up physically: escaping the gravity pull of earth by simply not having a definable perimeter to their energy auras.

They are the highest robber baron upper-elite class of human undead filth. They can, and do: look down upon all living humans. If you could float above living humans; without them ever suspecting you are watching them... how superior would you feel?

1625

The Path of Splitness

1626

Only... they do it in secret. They do it with more cunning, and more pure evil: than all the living elite robber baron filth alive. They commit more horrible crimes than all the other classes of living humans combined. Because they can get away with it scot-free. They are the worst human cowards, the worst human sneaks, the worst criminal elements, the worst human filth in existence. Their crimes and atrocities have gone undiscovered for 1,00,000 years. Their crimes and atrocities have gone unpunished for 100,000 years.

If you can commit crimes secretly: for 100,000 years:

And get away with it.

How criminally minded do you think you will become? What kind of criminal mentality will you develop? How fucking evil do you think you will become? What kind of insane, inane, laughing, cackling, criminal will you become?

The entire global story of human history is a manipulation of living humans by these undead filth.

Columbus landed in the new world in 1492

Some historical evidence that has recently suggested: that an entire armada of Chinese ships may have circumnavigated the globe, in 1421... and visited the new world 70 years before Columbus.

How do these two dates coincide? Chinese, and a Portuguese sailing expeditions to find new lands? 70 years apart? How is this explained?

Morphic intelligence. The intelligence of Morpheus of the underworld. The intelligence of the undead.

This kind of intelligence has been found, and other species also. One species of bird finds out how to pry lids off milk bottles in England: and suddenly the same species begins prying lids off milk can bottles in Asia. As if they telephoned long distance, and told them how to do it. Why is telephone called telephone? Why is television called television? Because they are forms of telepathic communication. The technology that make millions of living humans: see and hear the same thing at the same time...

Comes from undead entities that have the ability to harmonically link themselves together, so they can all: see-hear-feel-think; the same things at the same time. That is how they communicate with living humans: telepathically, invisibly, secretly... on wavelengths that science has not yet discovered.

Then the 2nd world war happened. Milk bottles disappeared from England. Rationing and mass processing of food turned fresh milk into canned milk. The birds that had learned this technique were no longer alive. Yet years later after the 2nd World War, when a few areas in England brought back delivering milk to peoples homes in bottles: suddenly the same species of birds began using this lost, extinct technique that their dead ancestors used. How? Who could have taught them? The birds that had once learned it were gone from the earth years ago. By instinct? How can a bird develop an instinct for a cunning special form of survival in only a few years? Instincts are supposed to take millions of years to develop, not a few years.

Not only that: the same species began practicing this after the 2nd world war... in Malaysia: on the other side of the world. Birds from England do NOT migrate to Malaysia! How did the Malaysian birds of the same species learn this technique? Who told them? The answer is: Morphic undead intelligence of a single species.

Science cannot explain morphic intelligence, or telepathic communication. But there are many proven cases which show that it does happen, and that it does exist. I knew someone who proved to me that he was apparently telepathic and could read my mind. How he proved it was simple. I shuffled a deck of cards and held up each card in front of me, so I could see the card facing me and him also. While he could not see the card. He named 50 of them correctly. He made one mistake. His one error was mistaking the jack of hearts for the jack of diamonds.

However: this can be explained without any telepathic ability by the existence of undead unseen entities simply looking over my shoulder, and telling the unseen undead entity inside the person who is supposed to be 'telepathic' what card I was holding up, and the undead unseen entity inside the person faking telepathy listening to an 'inner voice' that he does not question.

Or... an undead entity who was looking at the cards through my eyes, was merely communicating with an undead unseen entity inside him. Just as if a living person was leaning over my shoulder and telling him the cards; without me hearing or seeing him; simply because I am not psychic, and could not psychically hear or see undead unseen entities. It is that simple. It is not magic.

What is called 'telepathy' or any other kind of communication between the undead and the living is not a surprise... Why should it be so surprising that the undead can communicate with each other and with some living humans? They exist in the same realm. It stands to reason that they can communicate much better with each other than they can with living humans. They can and do communicate with each other all the time.

Why do you think this kind of intelligence is called morphic? Eh?... It is the intelligence of the undead. It is the constant communication they have with each other, and with the living. Consider this information: taken from a public internet website about the Greek Myths of the God of Dreams: the God known as Morpheus...

'Morpheus was the god of dreams in Greek mythology. According to some ancient sources - such as the roman poet Ovid - he was the son of Hypnos, the god of sleep. Morpheus briefly appears in Ovid's metamorphoses:'

"King Sleep was father of a thousand sons - indeed a tribe - and of them all, the one he chose was Morpheus, who had such skill in miming any human form at will.
No other dream can match his artistry in counterfeiting men: their voice, their gait, their face - their moods; and, too, he imitates their dress precisely and the words they use most frequently. But he mimes only men..."

‘Ovid therefore suggests that Morpheus only sends images of humans in dreams or visions.’

In other words: the undead communicate with the living through dreams and visions... It happened when the Chinese discovered the New World. When they came back: the Chinese Emperor had all the boats burned, and all the documents and records of the voyage burned, and wiped out from all the records. The news was stifled, destroyed by the living: but not by the undead. The news of the discovery of the New World traveled backwards across Asia, to Europe.... Through the morphic grapevine of the undead...

There... through dreams: Columbus was subliminally brainwashed, into becoming obsessed with finding...

A new route to China...

In search of gold, and riches beyond imagining.

Instead: he discovered what the Chinese discovered 70 years earlier: a New World.

‘Morpheus was the son of Hypnos...

Hypnos: Hypnos is the god of sleep.

He could also be the god of dangerous addictions, as he works for Hades with his brother Thanatos, the god of death.

Luckily, he's recently found a better use for his talents and gave his name to hypnosis, the mesmerizing modern miracle of psycho-physiological somnambulism. You are feeling sleepy... Sleeeeepy. You are going to sleeeeep... Does it work?

Human history has been manipulated by these undead scum for untold millennia. What is the latest mesmerizing of human living intelligence, by undead morphic intelligence?

Subliminal Suggestion.

Entered into the subconscious. On such a faint level. That your conscious mind cannot pick it up and is not aware of it. So you are not consciously aware of any urge, or suggestion. Until the repetition of it. Until it is broadcast into your subconscious mind subliminally... for hours, or days... or years... nonstop. Until you become aware that you are driven to do something, or eat something, or drink something.

Now: the undead have streamlined this system. Rather than the undead working all the time to manipulate living humans. They have centralized the power to brainwash living humans subliminally by having living humans do it for them. By having living humans create their own centralized brainwashing system. Called mass media. Mass media. Hypnotizing living humans into a dazed, non-thinking, non-critical state of passive, viewership. Where they are brainwashed by images that they stare at for hundreds of thousands of hours, and spend most of their lives staring at these two-dimensional screens... hypnotized by it. This way: the undead no longer have to work hard every day and night to brainwash every living person personally. They only have to subliminally brainwash those who control mass media. They only have to brainwash the living brainwashers. In this way: the living brainwashers unknowingly do their work for them.

Do you doubt this?...

Why do you think Ovid's tales are called metamorphoses, eh? Because humans were being metamorphized in their dreams by alien intelligences that were not completely human. These half-human, half-insect, half-reptile, half-bird, undead monstrosities... had found a new way of poisoning their living human symbiotes through their dreams... by counterfeiting humans in their dreams. By replacing the dreams of living humans with their own poisonous lying, false dreams.

Here is a condensed outline of Ovid's metamorphoses from the website:

<http://larryavisbrown.homestead.com/files/xeno.ovid1.htm>

Ovid's influence on Western art and literature cannot be exaggerated. The Metamorphoses is our best classical source of 250 myths. "The poem is the most comprehensive, creative mythological work that has come down to us from antiquity"

In other words: it is a composite anthology of myth, a compression of Western civilized myths.

Ovid claims to write one continuous epic, all of Ovid's tales involve metamorphosis.

In spite of: chronological progression... Ovid continually surprises us, as we never know where he's going next. He changes strategies using several techniques:

He follows the same character through different adventures.

He tells a story within a story:

He "slides" from the story of one character to that of a relative or friend.

He even will note the absence of a character in one tale as an introduction to a new story.

We see a general movement from gods acting like humans (section I), to humans suffering at the hands of gods (ii), to humans suffering at the hands of humans (iii), to humans becoming gods (iv).

Ovid sees four major divisions (after a prologue depicting the creation and primordial events) to the metamorphoses:

"Divine Comedy"

"Avenging Gods":

"Pathos of love":

And the history of his time...

His entire book... is screaming at humans how they are being used and fooled by undead filth... he explains the vicious cycle... of how living humans die, and become insane manipulating spirits, called 'gods'...

Do you think these undead things have stopped manipulating all living humans when Ovid died? They are still doing it. They have always been doing it.

Ovid was born just before Jesus, and outlived him by some years. 1,200 years after Ovid... Dante wrote a book that was called the Divine Comedy. In it... he described things that were even worse than

Chapter Seven: Entities and the Alternative

1630

Ovid did in his book... 1,200 years later... the 1st part of Ovid's book was renamed 'The Divine Comedy'.

Why was Ovid's 1st part of The Metamorphoses re-named 'The Divine Comedy', when Dante's book named by that title had already been written? Why have these two ancient books with the same identical name never been compared to each other, eh? Why were these two writers born 1,200 year apart? 1,200 years is a natural harmonic cycle. The Energy of the Universe operates by harmonic cycles based upon the root of 12; never by the root of 10. Look at the many parallels of their lives: both suffered exile. Is dead spirit of Ovid re-living his life hidden inside Dante's body? Or is a dead filth even older than Ovid or Dante re-living their lives... over and over again through innocent unsuspecting living humans? The point is: what is seems to be inexplicable, can be explained and understood... if you include the hidden unseen presence of these dead filth re-living their un-lived lives through us the living.

The conclusion is; they were secretly poisoned and possessed by the same dead filth, and manipulated to write tales describing the insanity of the Realm of the Undead... only the later installment is 1,200 years later... and much had changed since the 1st description of this realm. Look at how much attention Dante pays to Ovid, and how important Dante considers Ovid to be. Study, and read these two books with the same name... but written twelve hundred years apart... And see if your guts will not start to curdle, and the hair at the back of your neck will not stand up.

Undead monsters have been manipulating all living humans secretly... right on up to the present. Why is Ovid's work called The Metamorphoses? Because it describes how living humans metamorphize into undead, insane 'gods', and how undead insane 'gods' metamorphize into living humans. It describes the metamorphing process of dead souls secretly permeating the bodies of living souls and poisoning their bodies and energy auras until they metamorphize into a combined-morphed overlay of dead soul secretly controlling a living one.

What is The Divine Comedy? Why is the work of Ovid and Dante called by this name? Because they were controlled by dead auras: dead filth, who regard the living and dying of living humans to be a bad joke. It is dead spirits seeing living humans as mere plants: dying on the vine. DIE-VINE... DIVINE, get it? The vine of LIFE creating new living humans... while new human dies on that vine... as the vine of LIFE creeps ever-forwards, creating new living humans, new babies... as the older ones wither on the vine and finally shrivel into death. They see it all as a comedy. That is how sick and evil they are.

There are logical, understandable reasons for everything in the universe and on earth. Just connect the actual facts. All of our history is connected to the past... not just 3,000 years back: but all the way; 1,000,000 years back to Africa. And farther back...

Is the actual history of the monkeys we came from: 20 million years ago in Africa, still relevant today?
Yes.

Three basic experiences.

No. 1: Trauma

Volcanic eruptions. Shock. Pandemonium. Devastation. Death

Yet not one living human has ever questioned the title of Dante's horror-epic. Or its meaning. Or why it should be considered a 'comedy'.

Why?

Is it because the only humans who have any interest in this ancient book have undead filth hiding inside them that once lived in Italy; when Dante wrote it?

Or they were one of the many undead filth conspirators who managed to manipulate him to write it?

Or who once read that very same book when they were alive?

Or... did Morpheus, that ancient undead entity, try to recreate his 1,000 yr-old swindle again? Trying to get a living human to write about the realm of the undead; and thus become posthumously famous by doing so...? And laugh and preen that he had managed to fool yet another living human into writing the truth about his realm: without one living human understanding that truth? Again...? For the second time? As a dare?

What of the crossing of water to reach these realms. And the dim light of all mythic ancient underworlds?... from which Morpheus came. The Greek God Hades... Hades in Greek means unseen. The exact same myth of underworld of the ancient Greeks: That kind of light existed 25 million years ago in Africa. The dim light of African skies darkened for months and years. They were darkened for centuries by clouds of volcanic particles in the atmosphere.

This was why for at least 20 million years: the skies of Africa were red and grey and black. While the earth warred with the land. And living volcanoes tried to destroy all life on the surface of that continent.

Also: why is violence against neighbors, so prominent a sin in Dante's poem? Unless this first sin was crucial. Unless this was the first sin that African monkeys aped. His entire poem is an abstract reflection of the distilled unconnected, insane mush; of 25 million years of monkey-ape-human psychobiologic trauma.

There are logical reasons for everything. That is... for everything except human insanity. Everything except your own insanity: is logical. Everything except the insanity of the undead: is logical.

Human insanity has never been plumbed, penetrated or explored by living humans. We living humans are not honest enough to admit that we actually are insane. Our superficial surface rationalized, normalized sanity; is irrational, illogical and insane.

These two ancient classics, written one thousand years apart, both called: 'The Divine Comedy'... Are perfect examples of how, with the changing times; undead entities have also changed their tactics, and their images and their symbols and their messages...

While still subliminally and subconsciously: exposing the existence of their insane, evil realm.

These two classics of literature also show the physical process of the corruption of these undead monsters: over a time period of one thousand years.

In the time of Ovid... they had not yet become morphed into so many other non-human living bodies which they used to inhabit: they were still human-like. But by the time of Virgil: they had turned into grotesque monsters that were so horrible, so ugly, so insane... that their own hold over their own secrecy and their own secret manipulations had become poisoned...they had descended into their own hells so badly: they had almost no understanding of the living realm.

The two works, both called: 'The Divine Comedy'... are a moral lesson to all souls who pass over into their realm. Not to succumb to all the evil practices, and evil intentions, and degrading lusts... which lead to corruption and senility and insanity.

Trying to find specific stipulated reasons for other people's insanity is a waste of time. Trying to find specific logical reasons for why other human's did what: is a waste of time. The general dynamics of general human insanity are simple. The spaghetti convolutions of the specifics of other people's insanity is not worth trying to analyze. The only specific human insanity you need to understand is your own. And the insanity of the people you live with, and deal with.

But...: trying to understand the insanity of other times and other cultures of other times in a general perspective: can and does give you a general perspective on the insanity that exists in your own time.

For example. Take the historical inane insanity of how many angels can dance on the head of a pin. What does this insanity consist of?

A pin. And numbers.

In the Middle Ages: Europe's greatest scholars and wise men and religious leaders; debated and argued about how many angels could dance on the head of a pin. They were brainwashed into believing that this issue was an important spiritual question.

These secret scum were so insulted by the idiocy of this question; that they decided to punish living humans for it, by letting them invent microscopes.

But this did not stop Europeans from wasting their time debating this idiotic issue. Thousands of pages were written about his important subject. Mathematicians came up with specific numbers. One would claim that 1,002 was a holy number. Another scholar would print their specific 'pin number'...

They were called 'pin numbers'. These pin numbers were regarded with sacred awe. Until they became so sacred: that they were kept secret from the masses. Until these scholars would not even tell each other what their own specific 'pin number' was.

These undead scum decided to make a secret joke of these special, personal 'pin numbers' that a few elite scholars claimed to be the exact number of angels that could dance on the head of a pin.

These undead filth; are the ones who helped create a computerized worldwide system of debit cards. With hundreds of millions of the most ignorant, uneducated masses... each having their own sacred 'pin number'... which they are never supposed to divulge or reveal to anybody else.

1634

This is where pin numbers come from. The modern pin number is merely a sly joke of the undead. As a sly way of dead human entities looking down in contempt at modern living people. Hating and despising how they live. Because they do not live exactly as they once lived.

Do you think the modern technology of science created the modern pin number; a random number used by billions of living ignorant fools to keep their own wealth safely guarded from others who might steal it?

Scholars of the middle ages jealously guarded the secrets of their mathematical formulas; and went to their graves with them. Never divulging them to other living souls.

These entities think that this secret, sick joke: is just one way of easily judging and controlling all the billions of dead souls entering their realm. They think that this kind of secret knowledge will show and prove to the dead yet to come; how powerful they are. So powerful; that they can toy and play as secret sly pranksters with the lives of billions of living human souls. Revealing to them that their sacred 'pin number' was nothing more than a meaningless form of pure selfishness. Modern consumers who hold their pin numbers secret: are just as insane as the medieval scholars who once selfishly kept their own pin numbers a jealous secret.

'How many angels can dance on the end of a pin?' ....

Do you think, that this standing joke of the undead has ended? After living humans began using pin numbers for their money cards? Called credit cards. Because every time they used them: they lost their spiritual credit of giving. Think again...

What? Stop a standing joke that has been going on for 500 years? That is how stupid they are. Re-duplicating the same joke a trillion times.

How big were the holes punching stock numbers in the first tickertape machines that danced paper ribbons out of them as if the ribbons were wildly excited?... an infernal machine of instant greed and instant gratification... creating abstract greed for an entire generation of Americans? Punching numbers that were supposed to be kept secret from the prying eyes of other investors. They were the exact size of the head of a pin.

Look at how microchips are made today... the mechanical arms that make them; dance around it in arabesque swirls, gracefully landing every time on the head of the pin... The modern microchip; is no bigger than the head of a pin: in fact it is the exact same size. The end of a pin is what they are held-on while they are being made. The microchip is mounted upon a tiny pedestal; that is exactly the size of the head of a pin...

Microchip technology is jealously guarded. It is kept just as secret as the punched ticker tapes of the robber barons once were, and the pin numbers of medieval scholars once were...

Look at the complex mechanical dance of the mechanical arms that make microchips... how many undead entities dance with them? How many energy-undead scum embed themselves into each microchip? So they can enjoy the tiny milli-volt energy passing through their auras?

The mechanical arms that make microchips; duplicate the exact motions of an angel dancing on the

Exactly as medieval scholars once envisaged. Each microchip is a mechanical machine of corruption. Each one is responsible for creating worlds of flat, two-dimensional abstraction that suit these undead scum perfectly.

The microchip is pure evil. The microchip is pure insanity. Hundreds of millions of people staring at the head of a pin. Staring at electrical circuits and programs that go through the head of a pin. Staring at angels dancing on the head of that microchip. Hundreds of millions of people ignoring the world around them, ignoring themselves and others: just to stare at the energy going through head of a pin. Because that is what a computer actually is: a bunch of electrical circuits dancing inside a microchip the size of the head of a pin. Pin heads. Narrowed awareness. Human awareness narrowed down to the point of insanity. Pinheads: living human imbeciles: using only one millionth of their brain capacity, using just enough brain cells that will fit on the head of a pin and no more. Human brain-dead idiots. Human pinheads staring at energy going through the head of a pin... hundreds and hundreds of millions of them. All of them convinced how intelligent they are.

Modern humans are obsessed with pin numbers, personal numbers registration numbers, order numbers, numbers on tickets, lottery ticket numbers, parking ticket numbers, verification numbers, passwords and usernames. They are losing their ill-won money as fast as possible by using these numbers. Numbers have become a mass addiction. Millions of modern consumers obsess over numbers. Numbers are more important than living people. Modern civilization runs by numbers. Every manufactured item has its own pin number tattooed on a bar code label. Many humans today are tattooing themselves as the only way to have an individual unique personality. The hidden true origins... of all of these cultural symptoms of human greed and corruption: come from undead filth human entities.

The numbers on paper bills: are pin numbers. Without these pin numbers: all bills, all paper money, all credit cards all debit cards, all checks, would be worthless. Their only value lies in the fact that each one has a different pin number. The only reason the pin numbers of the Scholars of the Middle Ages were worth anything were because each scholar had a different pin number that he kept safe and secret from all others. Modern living human civilization could not exist without pin numbers. That is all modern civilization is made of: pin numbers. If you took away all the pin numbers of modern civilization: it would disappear. It would collapse. It would go extinct.

Why? Because the belief in numbers today is the latest modern religion. It is a religion that is more believed in than all other religions. The belief in the abstraction is the universal insane religion of modern global capitalism. The joke of the meaninglessness of the pin numbers of the Middle Ages in Europe has been repeated and recreated by the undead until now: living humans are born into an artificial civilization whose beliefs are so insane: living humans have stopped trying to justify it, rationalize it or explain it or understand the insanity of civilization. The insanity of abstract numbers: 'pin numbers' permeates modern living human culture so completely as an unquestioned norm: people are incapable of realizing the basic insanity of it.

The influence of undead human spirits; permeate human culture. They have always permeated it. Why do you think they manage to get vaulted ceilings into buildings? Just so living idiots could look up and admire the view? Admire the emptiness of their own heads? Admire all that useless space wasted to please their empty little egos?

No.

That space was made for the undead... not for the living. It was made so they could congregate and look down on unsuspecting living congregations. Why do you think they had the ceilings and walls of huge buildings painted and covered with mythic human figures of the past in frescoes? Why did the craze of painting and collecting painted portraits of dead people spread? So they could have nice hollow places between the picture frames and walls to hide between... giving them a perfect view of whatever is going on in that room. Framed paintings are merely windows for the dead deceased... to observe the living. Often hiding behind their own portraits.

The entire ancient architecture of temples and large decorated buildings: screaming out the omnipresence of human spirits. Images of them of them are everywhere... on the walls, on the ceilings, as busts, as statues, even inside the glass windows for god's sake, how obvious can you get?

Why do you think Microsoft's computer software is called 'windows'? Because it offers these undead scum hundreds of millions of more two-dimensional windows called viewing options; for seeing into other parts of the world, and into other distractions. Civilization has been built and fashioned for the convenience of undead entities... not for the convenience of living humans.

The undead have invented countless ways to control the energy of billions of dead souls entering their realm. Secretly manipulating them to do their bidding. Secretly poisoning them as much as possible.

All for one purpose... that no living human ever finds out the actual truth about them. So they can remain hidden and secret forever. Poisoning living babies and living people's lives until the last living human is gone from this planet, and the last living humans are wiped off this planet.

But they have a problem.

Because of their insanity. Because they are insane. They hate all living humans. But they need them also. They need them to experience life, and living vicariously through we the living. They need the living to distract themselves from their own selves. They need living humans to avoid facing their own selves, and their own insanity.

The undead love to experience death: vicariously, unfeelingly. They love to experience pain: vicariously, unfeelingly. They love vicariously watching and feeling babies die. They love watching living people die by the millions: vicariously, unfeelingly. They would like to kill off every living human alive.

But they need living humans to keep them distracted from their own sick, filthy souls. Their own sick, mis-spent lives. Their own pain. Their own mistakes. Their own crimes. Their own responsibilities.

So they have to make sure there are enough living humans they can secretly infiltrate and live-through, and manipulate and poison... to keep them perpetually distracted from themselves.

Try asking them any direct question about themselves. You will be stonewalled. You will be lied-to. Your questions will be avoided. You will meet nothing but silence and secrecy.

They have two diametrically opposed basic motives.

To have as many living humans living as possible for them to vicariously experience life through.

And

To find secret manipulative ways to get living people to hate each other and kill each other and die and suffer as much as possible so they can feed off their suffering: vicariously and unfeelingly. Which is the exact same addiction that modern humans have watching movies and TV. Gosh: what a coincidence. How convenient for them.

There is one problem with their insanity. The more living people that die, the more new undead scum accumulate in their realm. The more living humans these undead scum need, so they can infiltrate and violate and poison and watch in secret... so they will not have to look at their own souls.

You think the living world is overpopulated with living humans now? The world of the undead is overpopulated with undead human scum a million times more.

This is the insane dynamic of human dead entities. They want more death, more suffering, more starvation, more babies dying, more babies being raped, more murders, more wars, more horror, more agony, more brutality, more insanity and more insane idiocy that they can laugh at. So they can feel superior. And ignore the insanity of their own existence, by being distracted by modern human insanity.

They want more living humans to live-through, and watch. They want more convoluted plots. They want more distraction. They need more babies to be born. So they can slip into them when they are born, and live again vicariously through them.

What does the word 'born' mean? The word: 'born' means to carry someone or something. 'He has born his suffering these many years....'

When a baby is born...it carries undead filth inside it, as a huge poisonous invisible deadening weight inside its living soul. Do you think that these two completely different meaning of the same word are a coincidence? 'I have born him a son.' 'I have carried his son in my belly.' Why should the act of birth also be an act of borning? It should be an act of release from bearing a weight: not an act of bearing a weight. To carry, and to be birthed: are two completely different semantic meanings. A newborn baby should not be carrying anything when it is first born. *But it is...*the undead need more babies: so they can slip into them and live again through them.

What does the word 'born' mean? It means NROB Negative evil robbing a young life of it's natural soul and natural development. The undead reverse every positive energy they can.

What has this produced?... read human history! Read... how our living populations have exploded. And how at the same time... simultaneously: we the living began hating each other, and killing each other, and starving and suffering by the millions, and now by the billions. Read how the unhappiness and misery of we the living: has grown, and only gotten worse; the more our living populations grew in number.

Add up all the humans who ever lived and are now dead. Add up all walking apes who ever lived and are now dead. That sum of all these accumulated dead souls: is the aural-energy poison-smog that pollutes the air, the space, the bodies and the minds of every living human on Earth. With hundreds of millions more added every year.

Where does the huge cultural pressure for young people to marry and have babies come from? It comes from the undead. So they can live forever. So they can be immortal. So the undead scum of that family-line will have new babies they can penetrate and permeate with their filthy invisible poisonous souls. Otherwise if their family line dies out: they will have no more living souls to live-through vicariously.

Do you think you are not being inhabited, visited, violated and observed by undead entities?...

Take your own family line. Never mind any other undead scum...

How many of them want to live again...?

Your own family line. Going back millions of years. Do you think any of them might want to live again... through you: eh?

After you die.... Do you think you might want to live again... eh? If you could do it secretly... without any living human ever suspecting it... eh?

Just because you can't see them, or sense them: do you think that they don't exist inside you?

Can you sense x-rays going through you?

You can't.

X-ray energy, goes through your flesh.

Undead human auras: can and do; go through your living aura. Invisibly. Undetected by you. Unless the aura violating you wants to have an effect on you so that you will notice it. They can sway your judgment easily. They can stick false premonitions and impulses into your heart and into your mid-brain. Which you interpret mistakenly as your feelings, your thoughts and your convictions. Your entire mindset and attitude towards other people and ideas: can be easily poisoned and corrupted by them. You will never know when they may be invading you, and when they are not. They are as invisible and as undetectable to your own senses; as unseen as x-rays

X-rays can kill you. Marie Curie died from them. Just by slow, steady, systematic exposure... her entire body was permeated with poisonous low levels of x-ray energy violating her living aura. Just like the negative energy of evil undead things permeating the sleeping cycles of every human every night of their lives... especially before puberty.

They inhabit your dreams every night. They inhabit your body day and night. They poison your every thought and emotion with their secret sicknesses. How do you think these aural energies have managed to preserve themselves for millions and thousands of years? By sucking life-energy from your gonads, from your body, from your mind every night. By sucking your will, and weakening it in as many subtle poisonous ways as secretly possible.

Why do you think you wake up tired after a good night's sleep? Why is the energy of your best intentions always sabotaged? How many good things have you wanted to do, and subtly... slowly... lost all energy to do it? These scum fear good people. They hate any questioning human who is less corrupt than they are.

Because this is the only kind of human whom they cannot manipulate and fool and overpower.

The Undead and Human Laughter

Civilized humans are so weak and so unable to endure positive energy.... Human civilization is so completely negative, and has reversed all truths; that the healthiest forms of human happiness are labeled NEGATIVELY. The happiest of moments, the healthiest of human feelings is described as: Laughing yourself SICK... To DIE laughing Tickled to DEATH.

Not:

Laughing yourself HEALTHY
To LIVE laughing
Tickled to Life

When a civilized person is happy laughing: he almost dies.. “I almost died laughing.” “I almost laughed myself to death.” The repeated use of these negative words, and negative connotations subconsciously brainwashes people to avoid all true happiness and laughter and good feelings of warmth.

Instead: they find things that are not funny at all, and try to laugh at it. They become possessed by undead insane filth whose entire values about life and death are reversed. It is not the living human who laughs: it is the undead insane evil inside them that is laughing, as they encourage their living host to become just as insane as they are and laugh at all the wrong things as they do, and not laugh at all the truly funny things that are laughable, until... living humans are corrupted into reversing their entire conceptions of what is funny and what is not funny. Until... hate and envy, and greed, and dishonesty, and lust, and every evil sin, every vice, every weakness, every fault of the human soul... is supposed to be seen as funny, and laughed at, and encouraged, and ignored, and never judged, and never forbidden or frowned upon.. Until all human evil becomes not only publicly seen to be ‘funny’ be allowed... and then legalized: made legal. This is how undead filth hiding inside living humans have poisoned and are continuing to poison not only human laughter, but all good, and all life energy.

The Undead and Vlad

Consider Vlad the Impaler. The famous 13th century madman who supposedly saved Hungary from the onslaught of the Turkish armies. His lust for human suffering was so insane: he had to have living people being constantly being impaled on spikes and poles... just so he could enjoy their agony. He impaled people day and night. He never stopped killing his own people. He was feared as the devil himself. He was considered to be Satan himself by his own subjects. All of feudal Europe hated him and despised him. Because he was giving the mythic lie of romantic kingship a black eye. Kings were supposed to be loved and adored by their subjects: not hated and feared. Kings were supposed to be personal representatives of god on earth. Not representatives of Satan himself.

And then what happened?

Transylvania became a death-zone. Its forests became blackened. Filled with rotting things. Nobody went there. Much like the Black Forest of Germany, when it became black after the Dark Ages, from all the hidden, untold obscene human atrocities committed in that forest during the Dark Ages... Nobody went there. The entire people of that peninsula called Transylvania; withered away into madness. The descended into such misery, and destitution and ignorance and superstitious nonsense: that enlightened

1640

Europeans during the middle ages; refused to set foot in that blackened, despoiled, butchered, desolate land... it took hundreds of years for the land that was once Transylvania... to slowly begin to heal from the killing blight... and the killing bite of Vlad the Impaler. He was known to drink his enemy's blood. He was a drinker of human blood. Who was Vlad? Vlad is a young Devil spelled backward with the 'L' and 'V' in Devil spelled backwards. What is a Devil? It is an undead ghoul that once LIVED. Devil spelled backwards is LIVED

What happened?

His lands suffered drought, and famine. Living things began dying all around. His peasants became meat-starved. They dug up dead corpses and ate them. They became poisoned by it. They went mad from it. They went insane. Insane poisoned corpse eaters went howling out into the night. Human monsters stalked the land.

Because of this mass psychosis: his serfs developed superstitions and folk-legends about werewolves and vampires. They became a blackened people. They became uglier, more misshapen, more gnarled, than other Europeans. They huddled together in tiny villages. And lived in fear of everything: especially of the night.

Why was that? Why did his serfs, and the peasants of Transylvania fear the night for hundreds of years after and during Vlad's rule?

Because every human undead scum that enjoys things like this flocked to that land. They hovered over Vlad, and seeped into him, and gave him an aura of pure evil so intense: people went insane just seeing how evil his face was. Transylvania was inhabited by the worst, sickest, most insane human undead scum entities for hundreds of years... feeding off the fear and dread, and hate, and rot which emanated from that land. It became a land of no love. It became a land of perpetual hate. It still is.

It became the seed of hate which sparked First World War. The First World War began in Serbia: in Transylvania. From a hate-filled anarchist throwing a bomb at an Austrian Arch-Duke and finally killing him after many failed attempts to do so.

Vlad was a Duke. He was the highest Duke in Transylvania: Trans-Arch. An arch is something spanning across over something lower than it is, Trans-continental: spanning the continent... get it?

This is how convoluted and long, human undead plot to have their secret revenge. Finally. A duke of Transylvania is assassinated. To free Transylvania from its foreign ruler who was benign and gentle.

Which began a war ripped Transylvania apart: while the rest of Europe was ripped apart also in a bloodbath: just as crazed and insane and full of hate as the bloodbaths that Vlad once committed against his own people. Revenge sparked by hate: only creates more hate and more death. It is an insane accumulation of destructive insanity. European culture has been an accumulation of hate and killing. This lure of becoming cultured was the entire reason for its existence. It was also a poisoned lure. It led to two World Wars.

hundreds of years; and managing to preserve their hate for each other in spite of being ruled by empires that refused to allow them to kill their own neighbors.

Transylvania became Yugoslavia after the Second World War. And was ruled by the iron fist of a hated dictator named Tito. Once Tito died... the Transylvanians merely resumed their blood-feuds. As if hundreds of years had not passed since they were allowed to hate each other and kill each other freely.

Why did the racial and religious hate of the peoples of Transylvania manage to be preserved for hundreds of years? Why didn't it just die out? Because of undead human entities. Because they will not rest until they have their revenges meted out: by spilling the blood of the living. They refuse to let their own hate and prejudices die out. They refuse to heal themselves.

Every family... in every culture. There are hundreds and thousands of undead ancestors... slaving scum...seeking to push their agendas, their evil onto their own living family members. Living inside them day-and night. Infiltrating their birth with their poison auras. Seeking to manipulate their own living progeny, and bending them to the most evil ends and intentions they can possibly get them to commit. Bending them remorselessly to their will... by having a 24-pressure on their subconscious awarenesses to do something nasty, something mean. Something sneaky. Something cunning. Something secret. Something hateful. Something hidden. Something shameful.

So they can accumulate an arsenal of accusations and false judgments against them when they come into their realm. So they can control the humans who keep on coming into their realm bewildered, dazed, innocent, ignorant, unprepared for the planned attacks that are mounted against them. Attacks and manipulations and lies and rationalized shit... that they have been custom-making just for one insane civilized idiot who thinks that they are smart and wise and know it all. Using each person's superstitious beliefs about god, or energy, or whatever: to brainwash them into becoming just as sick and corrupt as they are.

Look at ancient castles of Europe. What were they? They were full of secret passageways and tunnels. They were full of double walls... with useless empty space between them. They were full of peepholes and places where the undead can spy upon the living from inside the walls they like to hide behind. They were full of galleries that look down upon where the living move and spend their time. They were places where murder, and evil, and torture, and sadism, and the foulest of human atrocities were committed for hundreds of years. They were full of subterranean tunnels and escape routes, so the guilty ones living there could flee if ever they were besieged. They were full of dungeons and prisons, and mausoleums, and places of death and agony and suffering and brutality. The most evil living human filth lived in these stone death houses. They were places of horror and evil. They were the homes of bloodsucking vampires who lived off the blood of their peasants. The truth has been whitewashed into cultural cartoons and jokes. Stoker brought back this damnation of human souls. He exposed what kind of human monsters once lived there.

Why did Jesus hold up his wine cup during the last supper and tell his disciples that their wine was his blood? Why did he tell his disciples that their bread was his flesh?

Because he knew they were blood-sucking ghouls. It was an ironic comment: nothing more. He knew they were vampires... sucking off him. Sucking off his fame, his authority and his notoriety.

These sick undead scum decided to have an ironic joke about this truth. Why? Because it was too close for comfort. Because that was what they were doing also. Because they ate and drank in his hate life energy. They feasted off his hate of gentiles. And the hate of his disciples. Jesus was a Jew who hated all non-Jews. He was not the myth he is made out to be today. The cultural tradition of the feast is one of the most ancient evils ever preserved by them. The undead have feasted off living life-energy for untold millennia. They have made sure that the living corrupt themselves the same way. The last supper of Jesus was a feast of hate and vindictiveness and envy and evil. It was the breakup of the group of disciples. They hated each other so much: they never came back together. Because the bloodsuckers could not feed off of Jesus anymore. Their reason for gathering around him was gone. He was dead, they had killed him, they could not suck off him anymore.

The undead managed to sanctify the idea of drinking the blood of Christ and eating his flesh. But not even they could normalize such an insane filthy practice: except as a symbolic token of insane evil. Mixed in with other lies and distortions and corruptions of Jesus' actual teachings. Living humans refused to literally drink each other's blood. Or eat the dead flesh of a human corpse.

However; Vlad the Impaler did not give a shit about that. He drank the blood of his victims: and it turned him permanently insane. And what has happened since? Vlad has become an icon of nationalist pride in Transylvania. The peasants there now love him. Instead of fearing and hating him. Because he now brings so many tourist dollars into their greedy little coffers that they would starve without his filthy legend and the lies it is laced with.

How did Vlad become famous? By a 19th century writer: an English horror-monger named Bram Stoker. Who stoked the Victorian fascination of horror and rape with his book. Who ignored the actual history of Vlad... and went after the completely fictitious legends, the lying myths instead. He whitewashed Vlad, and created a total fiction about Dracula, or Dracule. Based upon one of the legends that surfaced after Transylvanians starved to death and were forced to eat dead corpses because of Vlad the Impaler's filthy reign of terror destroying all life. Because death stalked the land. Because the black plague was killing people by the thousands. Because with death all around them: people went insane. Until they became almost as insane as Vlad the Impaler himself.

Why did Bram Stoker: an Irish national, write about a completely foreign land about foreign customs and foreign myths: why did he die of the ugliest form of Syphilis there is: the deformation of the face; turning the head, and body into a horrible monster? Because he raped women. He was Dracula in the flesh. He raped prostitutes and passive weak victims. The list of his books is a graphic expose of his increasing corruption and evil: it ends with the white worm: the white worm that eats dead corpses in their grave. He wrote this book because he was attracted to the level of evil that his body and his life and his culture was: a torn land of hatred and racism: attracted to the racism of Muslims vs. Christians ages older than his. Filth seeks lower levels of filth.

Why did the myth of werewolves and vampires come about in Transylvania? Because the famine and plagues and mass death that Vlad created: emptied the land of living human victims for the undead to enter into. All they had to enter into were... the fanged animals that were eating their own corpses. The horror and shock and trauma of finding themselves in an animal that is eating your own dead corpse: sent them into raving lunacy. They became stark raving mad fiends. They became addicted to eating dead flesh. The undead things that inhabited the fanged creatures that ate the dead corpses of Vlad's devastated lands: sought to eat the flesh of their victims at night: just as they had been eaten, and just as the fanged animals that ate them had done... and left marks: fang marks on their sleeping victims throats, in their vain attempt to kill a living human. Undead auras are very, very weak energy. Only when many auras merge themselves into one space, can they have enough energy to be made visible, or to have any effect of physical objects or living physical humans. The dreams: the nightmares these sleeping victims suffered, waking up screaming in terror: from the unsuccessful attempts of how many insane raving undead monsters all seeking to bite the same throat, merged into one undead aura, that after hours... managed to leave a few faint marks on the softest part of the skin: is where the myth of vampires come from. The undead inhabiting the bodies of living wolves in that region: and sending these animals into insanity as possessed creatures that did not act or behave like normal wolves: is all perfectly understandable... if you understand that living humans and living creatures still have auras after they die which are invisible to human eyes but still exist as cognizant things that are not completely dead. The creation of mass death: creates a culture of mass insanity in the undead that go through this horror: once they enter this realm of the undead, they find only ghouls trying to kill the living and laughing and smiling and cackling insanely as living people die in agony and terror and pain... and become mad themselves, and join into the mass insanity of that insane sick, rotting, diseased realm.

The Religious Sale of Indulgences

Was the religious sale of indulgences by the Catholic Church stopped dead in its tracks when Luther exposed it to the world? Did the Protestant Reformation stop undead evil from pushing this agenda into living human souls? No: What happened was an increase the sale of indulgences. Every time undead are blocked or frustrated in their evil designed orchestrations of trying to completely control living humans: every time a rare exception a positive living human force blocks their continuing designed orchestrated plan to weaken human life energy into total death weakness: their 'rage' their 'anger' at being blocked: explodes; instantly. This false explosion of outrage comes from them becoming accustomed to having their way with living humans for millions of years.

What the undead did was: because Luther blocked the sale of religious indulgences, they orchestrated a deluge, a flood of the secular sale of indulgences and physical poisons instead of spiritual poisons: which were ten thousand times more indulgent than the indulgence of granting a forgiveness of sins. A sale of indulgences which were ten thousand times more effective at corrupting the lives and bodies and souls of living humans. It was a two-pronged attack upon the living human beings of Europe: Both sales of indulgences: secular and religious succeeded in corrupting living humans into believing that they has a god given right to indulge themselves in anything religious and also in anything secular. The brainwashed, programmed condition of fear that untold masses of people including kings and Emperors had lived under vanished. God was no longer to be feared and worshipped. Sinners no longer need fear the Day of Judgment. God was only to be loved. God was no longer the wrathful God of the Old Testament, God was harmless. Which led to God being completely ignored until Nietzsche came out with the notion that 'God is dead'.

The corruption of religious sales of indulgences was instantly worsened: it got worse because of Luther's 95 criticisms. Once the rotten secularly corrupt church that had become a festering venal pile of fattened corruption was rightly disowned and ejected by northern Europeans who wanted to live a more pure more chaste more moral and ethical life. They corrupted themselves and each other: secretly: by keeping their conscience, and what their religious conscience told them was good and what was evil: secret. By not telling anyone what their relationship with their personal god was: by secretly indulging themselves in secret illogical rationalizations and excuses: that allowed them to sell themselves, that allowed them to indulge themselves: in secret religious fantasies: which they never told another living soul about.

This was wonderful! Any stupid sly, corrupt ass could convince themselves that they were living a religious life. Any puritanical fanatic could convince themselves that their wishes came from a direct communication with god himself and that their will was the will of god. All northern Europeans could indulge themselves religiously in secret. Because the centralized authority of the church was broken: and they did not have anyone to confess their sins to: there was nobody who was had more religious authority than the individual protestant reformed European. Mass freedom of the individual and individualism. No social collective religious laws to obey. “I’ve been called by God Himself! And he told me to do this, and say that!”

As a result: every secular evil wrapped itself hypocritically: in the religious cloth of Protestant Puritanism> slyly: quickly! As a cunning defense, using cunning rationalizations to religiously justify: every single fucking thing they did and thought and said and did not feel. Every single liar became an expert at lying to themselves: etc, etc:

Then.... From the idea that their own conscience was to be their guide to moral and spiritual purity and chastity: could be secretly poisoned... personally.... This gave millions of frustrated evil ghouls something to do! This gave them an undead bull: a dictum! To obey! All the higher unseen powers hiding everywhere: sent their missives and hate and evil down to the lower levels of undead foul things: and made this their supreme mission in their foul evil existence: corrupt each living human secretly and hide your poison: by never allowing living humans to question their own conscience and their own personal relationships ... wid da unseen ‘god’ dey pray to, talk to, worship, and wait... for a sign. A feeling of invisible spirits entering into them. Telling them ‘this is your holy mission in life: this is what you must do: all of your most foul instincts are right and good! You are spiritually supreme in authority over all living humans: you will prevail and succeed if you listen to the silent urgings inside you whispering to you day and night: do this! Feel this! Be this! Do that! Yes! Yes! ....” This is how the undead poison all living people by their very presence... by all the subliminal suggestions and urges and evil motives they secretly harbor against each other. Venting their sickness upon the living. Projecting their foulness.

What happened was horrible, and horribly effective: Europeans indulged themselves even more than they had ever done: in the most evil filth they could find to dirty themselves and destroy life and poison everything that had a living innocent healthy aura to attack and kill and despoil and hate and envy and fear....

Darwin’s Natural Selection and Undead Unnatural Selection

To further hide the evil which undead have committed for millions of years: undead have brainwashed people to believe that everything happens ‘naturally’ that there is no supernatural intervention on Earth, that there is no supernatural spirits, no gods, no demons, no ghosts, no undead at all. When in fact undead filth have been unnaturally selecting the worst, sickest to survive, and attacking, corrupting, poisoning and killing the best and the healthiest of every species for untold millennia. This about-face tactic is the exact same tactic they used and continue to use to turn all good intentions all healthy good energy away from its good direction until it ends up going in the opposite direction: the direction of evil. Turning and reversing good actions so they are reversed into actions of evil. By convincing living people that they are the most advanced, most enlightened, most educated generation of all time... and all past cultures, civilizations, and generations were all blinded by superstitious nonsense... which they, the present generation are free of. Darwin’s ‘Origin of Species’ was the new evil of undead: science, gaining ground and eclipsing the older evil of the worship of gods; invented to hide their origins. The human species is a living example of the unnatural selection which is manipulated and orchestrated by undead evil. In civilization: the weakest, sickest, most corrupted individuals are preserved while the healthiest are killed off and prevented from having babies. The weakest sickest genetic lines are nurtured preserved and perpetuated while the healthiest, the best genetic ones are killed off so they cannot give birth to healthier, better offspring. The holocaust is another example: out of 6 million innocent good people, only the most ruthless, the most insensitive, the most corrupt the most cunning evil filth survived while the best: the genetic best, the spiritual best, the ones with the best hearts, the kindest, the most sensitive souls: the ones whose hearts were filled with generosity, kindness, goodness, love, selflessness, were massacred. The attack on young growing healthy human children and babies is not natural: it is unnatural.

What is a reversal of natural selection? For instance: take a large land animal that goes back to the sea... in order to kill one of the smallest living organisms in the ocean: krill.. Whales are worshipped by civilized living humans because they exemplify the reversal of good life energy being reversed into pure evil. In order to commit their mass murder, these desensitized monsters had to insulate themselves from all life energy around them. They had to become huge obscene masses of blubber: dead fat cells. A huge monster killing millions of small growing organisms is not natural selection: it is an obscene demonstration of the unfairness of pure size, inequality. Their groaning shrieks of unhappiness, misery and loneliness have been recorded. Their stupidity is legendary. They are easily killed by man, and many of their species have been put into extinction; wiped out by a species of mass-murderers even more evil then they are. Science: the newest invention of undead has attempted to wipe out all perception of morality in civilization and Nature. The idea that no moral judgments are to be made about anything.. the idea that GOOD and evil do not exist and have never existed; is cunning evil of the modern science: which is based upon Darwin and the undead that poisoned his goodness and managed to turn all of his good ideas around and reverse them into evil. Evil undead is constantly doing this: every minute of every day and every night: any positive good energy is attacked, overwhelmed by numbers, sabotaged, poisoned, corrupted so the direction of its GOOD energy is reversed and goes in a negative evil direction. A land animal going back to the sea: losing all use of its limbs, losing use of its senses, losing its intelligence, becoming an insensate blob of blubber is not evolution: it is a reversal of evolution: it is de-evolution.

Science's idea of foregoing all human morality, and replacing the morality of supernatural entities with an amoral, non-moral inhuman uncritical idiocy which treats Nature as if all Nature is an omniscient god, and there is no GOOD and no evil within Nature, and that whatever happens; and especially everything that happened in the past was and is both natural and good form of 'natural selection', is another way these undead have programmed, brainwashed, and gulled the latest crop of modern humans into remaining unaware of their foul, destructive evil existence.

Understand this: all hate, all evil: hides behind a false façade of false courage: Any time a positive honest person challenges them in their face: directly: making no bones about their intention to kill them. They wilt and flee the scene and begin working behind the scenes at safer distances away from the actual aura they fear and hate: and try to attack poison and thwart that honest person as cunningly and convolutedly as possible: based on the idea! That if they create their evil into twisted warped insane knots of cunning filth: their original intention and design and orchestrated evil acts: will never be exposed or traced back to the true actual originators of that evil.

Their defense against being exposed naked for what they actually are: their convolution of twisted complexities does not work. Why? Because once you start killing them. It does not matter in which order you kill them or if you ever trace their cunning and unravel their shit: because they will flee and run away and expose themselves by their fucking cowardice and hate and fear and envy every time you attack them directly. The more directly you attack and kill them: the more their convoluted orchestrations fall apart and the more naked their shit becomes, and more clearly you will be able to see the cunning filth hiding behind mask false masks: every time you kill one: a mask is ripped away to reveal another evil foul thing behind that first mask. All you have to do is kill every single one of them: and you will get to the originators and orchestrators of undead evil: and kill them fucking dead

1646

The explanation is simple: once living people die: their souls become two-dimensional insane evil invisible things: they hide in cracks: they hide in crevices: they hide in flat areas: they hide in cars. They hide along smooth flat surfaces; they hide inside hollows: they hide inside the hollow areas of cars.

If your mother dies: she will become an insane evil undead filth following you around. If a child is spontaneous and happy: that undead filth that was once a living mother: cannot anticipate the child's movements: so... to be safe from being injured when a happy child is skipping around and playing: she hides in the most convenient crack she can find: unfortunately... the cracks on cement sidewalks: are not true cracks, they are false cracks: that look like cracks, but are actually only grooves in the hard cement. If an undead filth that was once a child's mother, tries to hide inside one of these false cracks where it cannot burrow into the earth to avoid being stepped on and killed... and the child innocently, happily skipping along he sidewalk: steps on the false crack which the undead thing is trying to slip into to get away from the happy energy of the living child: Her back will be broken; it will be maimed for eternity: it will be damaged and broken.

So.... By the evil stinking filthy evil irrational hate-filled illogic of these fucking stinking unseen undead pieces of shit; It was the child's fault. Blame the child for stepping on something he or she did not see, cannot see, could never have known was there! And punish at child for doing something it did not even know that it had done. Better yet... Develop and create an evil stinking insane superstition!! In all children that are happily skipping and running outside in nature: to be afraid of stepping on any cracks!! This way:: any evil foul ghouls surrounding these happy healthy children: will not have to be afraid of being stepped on: as they flee and try to avoid coming too close to healthy positive living energy: because that positive life energy can and does kill them dead.

This: is the fucking stinking reason this fucking shit stinking superstitious nursery rhyme was invented and repeated for over a hundred years now and continues to be repeated by children who never read or heard of this evil stinking filthy rhyme.

Do you fucking understand yet?

Every single fucking thing in the entire fucking world is explainable and understandable: Everything can be logically explained. The only way you can explain things logically: is by understanding that undead unseen filth auras are everywhere: and they are not logical beings: they do not act logically; they are not healthy things; they are foul corruptions of filth that are unseen and hidden because their energy auras exist on energy levels which the human eye cannot usually perceive.

Once you realize that these things are everywhere all the fucking time: and once you realize and understand their evil agenda and hidden secret purpose, and once you understand their tactics and strategies and how they orchestrate and manipulate living human beings and all other living creatures also:

Then you will realize and understand: that you as a living human being: will never, and can never attain a happy healthy life: and no living creature on earth can either: unless and until:

Every motherfucking stinking undead thing is slaughtered killed destroyed crushed ripped apart and wiped off the Earth:

There is a natural order of energy:

All energy is alive

There is organic energy and there is inorganic energy

These abominations that are not organic living energy and they are not inorganic living energy

They must be wiped out: so organic energy and inorganic energy can connect logically and function happily and harmoniously together.

Without either one attacking and killing the other.

How? By organic energy giving its organic life to inorganic energy

And by inorganic energy giving its living life to organic energy

By both inorganic and organic life energy sharing their living energies together; happily; in all ways that are positive and life-reinforcing and good.

There is no logical reason for evil negative energy to exist

Once living humans realize and understand this universal truth

They will have no qualms and no hesitation in killing every fucking bit of negative evil energy they find dead: and I mean fucking completely fucking dead.

The evil of the undead

Bram Stoker... who stoked the fires of gothic horror by inventing fictitious lies about the undead and cramming it into English literature... as a new elite reading craze, a new fad. A brave researcher delving into the secrets of the undead... easily misled and corrupted by the very ghouls he wrote about. The idea of an undead ghoul sucking blood from a sleeping living human victim was too close for comfort for these undead scum. They had to make sure that this idea would be ignored. So it was spoofed. It was laughed at. The entire world became convinced that it was one of the silliest, stupidest, most ignorant superstitions ever invented.

Today... images of Dracula are on cereal boxes for children because eating cereal weakens the life-energy of growing children; it sucks the life-energy out of them. The idea of vampirism... has become a commercial joke. Nobody living today even dreams that such ghouls actually exist. Or that the dearly departed spirits of their own ancestors... suck their life-force out of them every single night of their lives. Uncle ----? Aunt ----? Grand ----? Evil? She was not a ----! He couldn't be a ----!

Do you personally know what they felt and thought in the secrecy of their own minds and hearts while they were still alive? Do you know if they themselves, were systematically poisoned all of their lives by undead filth living inside them?

The Path of Splitness

1648

Do you know if after they died: they finally found a chance to wallow in every secret vice, secret hate, secret envy, secret lust and secret addiction which they hid from you and even themselves, while they were still alive?

Do you know how much evil they did not commit when they were still alive; just because they were too afraid of being caught? And suddenly! They find they can commit every evil they always wanted to now that they are dead... how much persuasion does it take to corrupt people who have suppressed their urges, vices, and evils while they were alive: only out of physical force?

There are no guns in the realm of the undead. There are no policemen in the realm of the undead. There is no government in the realm of the undead.

Until you can look inside a human soul and see what is buried there: do not presume to know what a living soul who becomes an undead entity is capable of.

For example: take the story of the Beach Boy's band. Now made into a TV movie. Showing how the boys in that band were complete fakes. They never went to the beach. But their music caught on... young children and adolescents went outside into Nature and had fun...

Now we can't have that now can we?

The undead fixed that. What key words in Beach Boys songs have survived a culture that was supposed to be all about the outdoors, and fun in the sun? Why are so many computer terms the same as words used in their songs?

Surfing... the Internet: not the ocean
Crash. (Finders Keepers): selfishness
Shut down.
Go! (Honda song)
Help! (me Rhonda)
In my room.

Ring a bell? HELP! Get her out of my heart. Honda-Rhonda: replace human love with the love of Japanese bikes-Japanese technology. Newest technology craze. Get all the love for the girl you truly love out of your heart.

Get all human love out of your heart: stay in your room with your computer. The complete antithesis of beach boy culture now dominates the youth culture of the entire world, as a backlash to the unforgivable affront to these undead filth: of young girls and boys actually wanting to have fun, and find love, and be healthy and happy outdoors in Nature.

Now we can't have that now, can we?

These evil filth made damned sure no American young ever went out of their rooms and lived in the beauty of Nature. They made sure they became addicted to their computers... they made damn sure that the computer got all love out of their hearts... the first apple of evil, the evil of knowledge... the first apple computer.... The first apple of evil that the slimy slithering cunning snake gave to Adam in the Bible...

Pet Sounds... the weird sounds of electronic evil in the background growing in power... as a slimy slithering sound. People treating their beloved machines, cars, computers like pets. Loving their machines more than they love living humans. Is this cultural coincidence? Look at what became of the lowest of the lowlanders: the Flanders Dutch. When they first tasted the poison of wealth, and power, and affluence. To develop into Europe's first dominant middle class society and middle class culture: with no aristocracy over them. Why do you think the Dutch first reveled in growing poppies and tulips? Because when they were the lowest most powerless of all European cultures. They could only show their lust for killing and power by beheading and decapitating harmless innocent flowers. Why do you think the millions of dead, all the graveyards of the First World War are called Flanders fields?

Because every poppy that grows there for a short year and dies: represents one-year short year of life of a soldier in the killing fields of Holland and Flanders where they fought and died.

Every poppy worn on a veteran's lapel over his heart: every red blossom represents the bloody bullet hole which killed one of them. Every poppy represents the wish of the undead scum called human entities; who wanted to kill all of them who are alive and not dead.

Every pie hat stuck on the end of a bayoneted rifle represented a decapitated soldier with his head blown off. Millions of Dutch flowers killed. Representing the millions of human souls they killed and cheated to get rich. Representing the millions of pies they ate in their greed; when the first Dutch lowlanders became rich.

Why do you think the 1st world war was mostly fought in the lowlands of Holland? Because it was the lowest, flattest land. The land with the longest and oldest tradition and culture of hate and greed for territory and power. Fought over, by every European power at one time or another. In Europe: more battles were fought on that land before the 1st world war than anywhere else. There are more millions of killer's souls and ghouls and dead entities in that small stretch of territory than anywhere else in Europe. They reveled in the dying of millions more new entries into their ranks. They gloated and laughed as living soldiers killed each other by the thousands each day. Once the lowland Dutch got the upper hand: once Holland became a colonizing power: they became the most cunning, craftiest liars and betrayers and double-dealing greedy money-mongers in Europe.

Hiding their greed and envy and cunning behind boisterous outward signs of cheerfulness and friendliness. And then turning a cold shoulder if anyone in need dared come to them for succor. As does every filthy capitalist in this world today: following their 700 year-old example of how to get rich, and how to act once you are rich.

Until you meet these undead scum: do not presume to know what they are actually like. Until you die: do not presume to know what you will become when you are dead.

Why do you think crows swagger like macho men?

Because that blackened, corrupt species is the repository of corrupt undead human observers: swaggering evil killers. Who looked down in contempt upon other living people. Those human undead entities who most closely match the selfish, gangster culture of crows. Whose mentality matches the cunning intelligence of crows.

Like attracts like. Water seeks its own level.

The Path of Splitness

1650

Why do you think other animals leave crows alone: when they can be killed easily, and are easy pickings for many predators? Because crows exhibit an arrogant mental superiority: from the human filth that have merged into their bodies. They are not afraid of dying: because the intelligence inside them is already undead. They act as if they are human for a damn good reason. Yet they are the biggest cowards of all, the worst scaredy cats.

Why do you think the superstitious belief in reincarnation warns people that the more evil they become: the lower order of animal they will be reborn into?

They are not reborn at all. Their evil souls simply naturally gravitate to the species which they have become most like, as a convenient way of observing things. Water seeks its own level. In the middle ages: human lazy pigs were most comfortable existing inside the bodies of actual pigs. Human carrion predators and vultures were most comfortable in living inside the bodies of crows and other carrion birds and using them as observers.

How far back does the amalgamation of undead auras: into one nation of undead monsters go? It goes back 25 million years to Africa. When black species were shunned by other animals. The black crow, the black raven, the black panther and the black monkey. These black species hated all other species. It goes back to the origin of our species. It goes back to the origin of the black man in Africa. Out of that black monkey: came the black chimp, the black gorilla and the black walking ape: us. It was an amalgamation of hate and evil. The undead auras of evil species: morphing together into an unholy alliance.

Why? They had no useful function. They were too visible. They were at the actual top of the animal hierarchy. They were the highest species. They did not do their job. Because they had been designed to be a living example for lower animals: and instead set a bad example instead of a good one: nature punished them by turning them black. There are thousands of myths that try to explain why the crow became black. But no myths that explain why humans became black.

Ghouls who revel in looking down upon living humans: revel in inhabiting the awareness and perspective of living birds: so they can look upon everything. Whatever living animals are around humans... these ghouls inhabit. Be it inside lazy dogs, or spoiled cats. They live again through these animals.

Simply because there are not enough living humans to go round.

Taking on whatever energy they hid-inside. Becoming sphinx-like half-human, half-cat humanoid horrors. Becoming half-jackal, half-human monsters. Becoming half-snake, half-human ghoulish monsters.

The myths of the ancient past describe these spirits as they actually were. As three-headed monsters, as spirits with snakes coming out of their heads. They are the monsters, the insane half-human gods, the monkey-spirits, the elephant spirits, the other gods and entities and monsters described in legends and myths. They could not interbreed with other species while they were alive. Now modern myths and modern monsters describe them as they are now. The older they are, the more their auras are poisoned by whatever living thing they merge into: the more inhuman they look, and the more insane they become.

The Path of Splitness

1651

They can, and did, and still do... intermix their human entity-auras; with crows and bears, and other animals, and living things. There are no words to describe what they look like. The older they are: the more their poisoned auras take on monstrous shapes of morphed-species monsters. Now; they are becoming machine ghouls. Living inside machines and taking on that mechanized poison energy. The modern undead sucking energy from machines look even more horrible. People who can see them; think they are hallucinating. That such insane mixtures of half-bird, half-human ghouls do not actually exist.

There are millions of them in the spirit world of undead human entities. Each one is unique. Each one is ugly, misshapen, horrid and ugly.

Where do you think the legends of the devil, of Beelzebub, of Mephistopheles come from? From undead human spirits; who were stupid enough to inhabit animals that had tails and horns after they died for too long a time. Living inside goats, or cows... living inside cats, or leopards. How was the devil, or Satan; portrayed in Europe in the Middle Ages?

He had the budding the horns of a goat or a young bull, the tail of a cat or cow, the hooves of a horse or goat, a long horsy-looking face, large canines like a dog or cat, a wispy beard, and cat eyes.

In short: he was an amalgamation of every common barnyard animal in Europe; merged into a humanoid abomination.

From these dead ghouls of Europe living inside too many barnyard animals... in order to spy-on and watch what living people were doing. They became devil-monsters who are basically not completely human. And what of the images of ghosts, the images of skeletons, the images of rotting half-decomposed faces, the images of grinning skulls, which fill books and stories and myths about the undead?

These undead merely made the mistake of going back into their dead bodies after they died... they stayed there too long. Their aura took on the physical condition of their own rotting corpses. For those who left their rotting bodies before all the flesh rotted away and decomposed: their auras became images of putrescent rotting horror. For those who stayed longer... the images of their auras became bare skeletons without any flesh.

Every image of human horror of the undead has a logical explanation.

Look at the myths of the Greeks: half-horse-half-human centaurs... undead human ghouls living inside the bodies of horses until their auras morphed into this sick form... look at the other Greek myths and legends... Poseidon, a poisoned fish...half-fish, half-human... and mermaids... females drowned in the sea... their auras morphed with the only living things available: fish.

Look at the Assyrian winged bulls, with the head of a bearded man. That is not a mythical bull: that is an Assyrian undead entity; who by living inside the living bodies of birds and horses and bulls, became a grotesque monster.

The undead do not give a fuck about the living: they only care about themselves. The only reason that images, statues, and carvings of these morphed undead things is because the undead are trying to warn themselves, they are trying to warn the newest in their realm not to do what they did... They do not care if living people repeat the same mistakes forever: they only do not want their realm to become populated with insane monsters that are not human and are unpredictable and dangerous. That is the only reason these images are found throughout human history in every culture. They are an historical record of how these morphed monsters have become worse and worse, and more inhuman. Look at the Minotaur. A near exact copy of the Assyrian winged bull-man except without wings. Who can tell if the body is that of a bull, or a horse? It could be either. It is the end-result of all the animals a certain crazed unseen undead entity inhabited.

There are logical understandable reasons for everything. Study what shape evil spirits took on... in what culture, and during which age. And you will find the ghoulish truth staring you in the face.

Even if most undead human entities were not pure evil. Even if all of them did not hate everything that lives.

Their effect on living people is pure evil.

The subconscious effect of being secretly observed by undead entities: created all civilized forms of spectatorship and vicarious customs of watching-looking at, being fascinated by something horrible.

The subconscious effect of being secretly observed by undead entities: for millions of years: has created the evil of living humans existing as insane detached observers. Look at ancient Roman culture... and their obsession with copying Greek statues. If they were good enough to copy Greek statues so perfectly: why didn't they create their own originals instead of Greek copies? Look how this obsession with copying and duplication rose and rose over thousands of years... until now:

Today; our entire fucking economy of civilization is based on duplication and copying. Throughout history... the level of obsession with duplicating past cultures: has risen in direct proportion to the exploding population of these human undead, unseen scum. The exponential growth in the numbers of living humans dying: have increased the effect of undead human entities upon living humans exponentially. Until now all living humans do, is re-live and recreate the past.

Who is the greatest unsung hero of all the Greek? Who is the one genius who invented modern society? Who is the person who hatched the core ideas of Modern Global Capitalism and modern technology over 2,500 years ago? Who is the well-known but pooh-pooed, belittled, ignored, greatest inventor and mathematician ever born?

Every single modern technology, the idea of every single modern technology was invented by him. Modern historians treat him as a nothing. Why? Because he was 2,500 years ahead of his time? His inventions and ideas have only now recently come into vogue. They are only now actually being used by modern civilized people. Every time you walk into a store whose doors open automatically for you without you having to touch that door: you are seeing his invention being used by modern humans.

What was his name, this unsung Hero of all Western civilization?

Over 2,100 year ago: a Greek mathematician and engineer and inventor was born. His name was Hero: of Alexandria.

That is where the term 'hero' originally comes from. It comes from the first hero ever born. What happened when all of the evil machinations that the undead evil inside him saw how Mankind failed to absorb and use all of this mechanical and abstract evil that had been hatched by one man? They decided to reverse his name. Instead of creating a mechanical society invented by the Hero of Alexandria. They decided to destroy humanity by using Alexander the Hero. The first: built it up. The second tore it down. The first was the unsung hero. The second was sung of, and praised, and made into a god. The first one's name was Hero. The second one's name was Alexander. The first one came from Alexandria: which is the exact same name as Alexander: and was an unsung hero. The second one was named Alexander, and was a sung hero who died near Alexandria where the true Hero once lived. The first one was the creator of western civilization. The second was the destroyer of western civilization. Two Janus heads with reversed names; living 300 years apart from each other. The first two original Greeks: who forged the future path of all Western culture. One as an inventor of machines and one as a creator of cities. Both of them created death.

These two dynamics: the dynamics of these two people: make up the entire dynamics of Western civilization. Technology inventing gadgets, and war-Empire: smashing human societies to bits. Is this a coincidence? One has been completely ignored to this day. The other has been glorified and has been world famous for 2,250 years. Complete opposites: yet eerily alike. Both fascinated by mechanical machines and their practical use. Both students of the practical Greek sciences. The first: the mastermind, the idea maker, the conceptualizer, the model maker. The second: the actualizer, the turner of models into actual cities and actual engines of war. The first, a writer, a theorist. The second a man of action. Together: they are the complete man, the complete hero, the complete genius. The first Western genius of conception, and the first Western genius of action: born 300 years apart: both Greek. Is this a coincidence? Or did the entities hiding inside the first one, decide to invade the life energy of the second? Or did the entity of the first find its way into the second? Both died young. Both were brilliant. Both accomplished more evil in their short lives than others ever did in ten lifetimes. Both were protégés of an older man who they used to slingshot their own ideas off from. Both were apprenticed to learn at a very early age. Both were born into the highest circles of their time.

The undead are not a myth.

Spell and pronounce HERO backwards and what do you get?>:
OREH... pronounced: AURA... Oreh... is an undead AURA
Do you understand? Hero is Aura spelled and pronounced backwards.

The first human that ever created every mechanical evil that is now dominating the earth: was an undead, unseen evil aura: hiding inside a living person: and then to make the 'joke' of this 'unexplained' genius' so humans could later figure out that this human had been such a 'mechanical genius after all; that he was merely a living shell, a poisoned living human who was manipulated and used by unseen undead auras: who used him to create the evil known as Modern Western Civilization

1000's of fucking years: before these inventions were finally used by everybody in Western civilization. It took 2,000 fucking years of undead unseen auras poisoning living humans: to get living humans to the state they WANT them, and wanted them 2,000 years ago: into a state of weakness and lunacy so insane and weak: that the billions dying today and entering their realm are no problem for them to handle. Because they have been weakened by living in a mechanical civilized environment which has permanently weakened their undead auras.

Hero pronounced backwards is Aura

This is not a fucking coincidence: every fucking stinking shit who was ever called a 'hero' has been poisoned by auras. Who leave their mark by putting their name on their victims backwards. The more evil a person is: the more they are worshipped in civilization. The more evil a person was or is the more they have been poisoned by unseen undead auras: and the more they are considered to be 'heroes'. Hero is also known as 'Heron'. The baby killer. Herons are killers of babies. The Grek baby killers were whitewashed into 'heroes'. The truth was hidden and destroyed: simply by reversing the true cause of the evil, simply by reversing the word: aura (Oreh) to hero.

Over 2,000 years ago: Hero invented the first coin operated machine. It was a water machine. People paid money to purify themselves with purified water. They used coin operated machines to wash themselves. To wash their souls, their faces, before entering a temple.

Today: people are still using coin operated machines to whitewash themselves in Laundromats. For over 2,350 years: people have not changed. For over 2,350 years: people have not learned a fucking thing. Here is one example of his inventions:

The flow of water into a sealed container forces air out through a small bent tube. The air, bubbling into a cup of water, sounds like a bird singing. (The Pneumatics of Hero of Alexandria, page

Do you understand now? The evil of this man was the hidden aura inside him: the reptile-bird aura.

Hero invented the automatic door. It was used in Temples. It was used for houses of the undead. When worshippers approached: unseen hands opened the huge doors for them, and closed it behind them. This invention screams out: that when you enter a place of worship: you are entering a house of the dead who control everything. You are entering a temple built to preserve dead gods, dead entities. Ancient temples had statues depicting the dead as gods. These statues were not just made of stone. They were made of every expensive material known to man. They were gilded, painted, with gold, with lapis lazuli, with ivory, to instill awe into worshippers. What were these doors saying? They were laughing at the unaware and the innocent. They were sneakily mocking living humans: they were saying to them:

'We are the unseen... Enter. Come in. We will open the doors to corruption for you. You do not have to open them: we will make it easy for you. We will help to corrupt you every way possible we can to make you weaker and more stupid and more pliant and more submissive and more brainwashed. Come in and worship us, fear us, sacrifice to us, give all of your most sacred precious possessions. Sacrifice your purest, your best to us. Enter our houses of corruption: we will corrupt you... all you have to do is walk in... you don't even have to open the door... we the unseen undead will open the doors leading to your own damnation and corruption for you'

Unseen undead entities are corrupting living humans today just as they did over 2,000 years ago. Living humans are entering places of business, places that practice greed, selfishness and self-gratification.

Unseen hands are still opening doors to your damnation. Paths, doors that are opened for you: are paths of evil, controlled and manipulated by the undead.

The unseen have fooled living humans by secrecy, by magic, by slight-of-hand. This is the hoax of the unseen undead. Cunning foolery is all they have. Nothing else: just the secret hidden advantage that they can see you, but you cannot see them.

What is 'invent'? Invention is the secret INner VENTing of hate by undead entities. Creation produces life. Invention produces death. Undead auras: inside the Grek 'Hero: invented the Greek insanity of scientific observation. They created Orwell's Brave New World of big brother... where everything is being secretly observed. Which is now being made concrete by millions of video cameras installed in countless businesses, factories, stores, streets and cities. Scientific observation is merely one-sided secret observation.

The undead invented Stalin's secret police, and the KGB. They invented the reflective dynamic of humans watching things passively instead of living. They created TV, and movies, and the Internet. They invented the arenas of Rome and the amphitheatres of Greece. They invented the idea-dynamic and sick addiction of crowds watching executions. They invented the sick idea of humans watching crimes and atrocities passively: while not feeling anything about it... and not doing anything about it.

They invented the human insanity of detached observation. They invented the insanity of mental detachment. They invented the insanity of science, and scientific detachment.

The subconscious poison of their secret observation of living people: has been poisoning living souls for thousands upon thousands of years. Their poison of insane secret detached observation: has been seeping into living human minds, hearts and souls for tens of thousands of years.

It is because of them that human society is what it is today. It is because of them that killing and hatred and racism and deception and rape and violation and every crime and atrocity is committed as secretly as possible. It is because of them: that most truths have been systematically covered up, quashed, laughed-at, ignored, etc, etc ad nauseum.

It is because of them: that all truth has become an unspoken secret. It is because of them that truth has become almost non-existent. This accumulation... This secret dynamic of secret detached observation... accumulating into billions upon billions of undead souls. Is the secret reason, why the secret secretion of their sick souls... seeping into living people: has gotten worse and worse.

This secret, invisible accumulation of undead human souls: is the secret reason living humans have been insanely trying to poison and pollute their own environment and the entire living earth around them. They are merely reflecting the increasingly poisoned and polluted condition of their own living auras, bodies, minds, hearts and sex; by the overpopulation of these undead human entities accumulating inside them, around them, under them, over them... by more and more cunning, sly, filthy, secret ways.

Socrates

Who was Socrates? He was a living human possessed by undead evil auras. He had discovered the secret existence of unseen undead. He was duped by them. They used him, and made a mockery of everything he tried to do. They made damn sure that he did not question the Gods. He obeyed the gods.

He was a blind fool; a religious zealot, and a professional hypocrite. But even as a manipulated, poisoned living dupe: he caused too much trouble because he argued and questioned and exposed the evils of human corruption. His fatal flaw was that: he questioned all other authorities except his own private opinions, which he kept to himself. He never told anyone what he actually believed. He kept his own beliefs secret.

The reason for his voluntary suicide has never been fully explained or understood... until now... until skeptical historians examine his life and his death: and finding nothing to be impressed by whatsoever: are beginning to see his suicide as an attempt to put to death all human questioning... by the questioner putting himself to death. Instead of fighting corrupt authority: Socrates obeyed them. Instead of forcing them to kill him: he killed himself. His living example was obeying evil of the majority: even when he knew they were wrong. If he had defied them to do their worst, and killed any who tried to kill him: he would have destroyed the entire ethics of evil. He would have destroyed all obedience to authority. Obedience to authority is evil. He obeyed because he was poisoned by undead auras. His truths were poisoned by him not living up to his own standards. This quote from <http://www.essayvtm.netfirms.com/Greece.htm#A1> shows what I mean.

“Right before drinking the lethal cup this Socrates defended for his last time religious submission, as opposed to free thinking and free acting:

‘There is a doctrine uttered in secret that man is a prisoner who has no right to open the door of his prison and run away; this is a great mystery, which I do not quite understand. Yet I, too, believe that the gods are our guardians, and that we are a possession of theirs’.

Do you understand what his words meant? The undead had poisoned his mind. Undead unseen filth had poisoned his brain and his body to submit to their insane evil. They had poisoned him to sacrifice his life and commit voluntary manslaughter upon himself. He was possessed by undead unseen evil. He was a possession. He was a dupe, an empty living soul which they filled with as much insane evil as they could.

Evil undead see Good, and attack it: before Good is even born. Undead unseen evil cunning secret entities invade, violate, and permeate all healthy living energy and corrupt it and poison it before it can grow up healthy and good and pure and wise and strong enough to kill them.

The Good that was in Socrates: was poisoned so quickly, he became evil before he could become Good. The richest most evil young humans in Athens tempted him with their wealth and attentions: and he sucked it up like a cat laps up cream.

The story tells itself. Why on earth would the youngest, most arrogant, most spoiled, most wealthy young aristocrats of Athens, the most lazy, bored, and stupid, useless, pampered, snobs on earth: lavish their homosexual charms and attentions on the ugliest man in Athens? Socrates was so horribly ugly: that to this day: there has been nobody born more ugly than he was. You believe these fops who later became the worst republican reactionaries and who lived lives that were diametrically opposed to everything Socrates stood for and fought for: you believe they admired him for his virtues? They were so corrupt: they had no virtues. They did not know what virtue was or is.

The only explanation of the crazy, inexplicable anomaly of corrupt rich youths sponsoring and paying an ugly old man money and flattering him... until he became so full of himself he became a public nuisance, and then was put on trial for corrupting the morals of these aristocratic sycophants; when it was they who corrupted him... is demonic possession.

After Socrates died: every single one of his young followers: went against everything he stood for.

The example he gave them of killing himself was so repugnant, so insane, so beyond their understanding: that they could only admire him for his courage, for his not being afraid to die. None of them ever dreamed of following in his footsteps. Socrates killed the art of systematic critical questioning before it could be born by killing himself as an example. And since him: nobody has dared question anything farther than what he and the corrupt, idiotic, imbecilic, fops did. Lazing upon divans amidst wealth and feasting, gorging themselves... idly wondering what would happen to them when they died. Now every seven year-old who has a computer: copies this exact same attitude and asks the same exact idiotic question... without going any further. And stops there, and never questions anything else again for the rest of their brainwashed lives. Every idiot who has ever asked that question after they, the Athenian aristocrats, asked it idly of Socrates: does not expect to be answered. Because Socrates never answered them, and because they never expected to be answered.

Well: I: Indrek Pringi have answered that question. In spite of undead unseen auras. In spite of all civilization. In spite of everybody not wanting to know the answer. I have answered the fucking question of what happens to you after you die. The answer is that the undead poison you before you die. They poison your whole life.

The evil of Science

Science has banished the supernatural from civilized existence. The undead have used Science to make sure that their existence will never be discovered and exposed by civilized humans. The undead have used Science to make civilized humans as unaware as possible; as insensitive as possible to all supernatural and paranormal phenomena. The undead have used Science so people will laugh at the idea of the existence of ghosts and spirits. The undead have used Science to brainwash civilized people into the unspoken scientific belief that the existence of life after death is a hoax. And even if it is true... is so unimportant, so irrelevant to the lives of living people... that even after civilized people experience supernatural visitations of their dead kin, even after they experience phenomenon like a ghost or a vision or have contact with an undead spirit... they toss that experience away and ignore it, and forget about it as if all supernatural phenomenon is completely unimportant and has no relevance to their lives. Science has banished religion from modern life. Science has banished spirituality from human existence. Science has banished the existence of spirits from modern life...

Science has... become a religion unto itself: the most evil religion of all. Science has created a historical perspective and attitude of total cultural amnesia. Modern people have been brainwashed into assuming that 12,000 years of civilized people believing in the existence of gods and spirits... 60,000 years of human cultures believing in the existence of unseen spirits and auras... is not only completely false, but a bunch of superstitious nonsense. How does Science maintain this evil belief in the non-existence of undead auras? By claiming that there is no scientific proof, no testable scientific evidence which proves the existence of spirits because though they do not know what kind of energy they should be looking for, their scientific machines cannot detect the energy of any undead spirits... So since they don't know what they should be looking for, and haven't found it yet: why then it doesn't exist.

What Science will not tell you is that their fucking machines also cannot detect the energy which keeps you alive. Science will not tell you that their machines are only capable of detecting mechanical energy: not Life-Energy and not the energy of spirits and auras. What Science will not tell you is that their fucking machines cannot detect most of the energy which exists in the Universe.

The religion of Science has banished all older religion and all older cultures from human understanding by treating the past 12,000 years as if it never existed... Science assumes that for 12,000 years, human beings were a species of blind, superstitious, brainwashed gullible, ignorant, uneducated stupid fools... and then suddenly, when the industrial revolution began... suddenly all western humanity became enlightened and intelligent! And instantly threw away all of their past history and understandings of the world and worshipped their machines instead. As genius after genius arrived to proclaim the new Scientific Gospel to the enlightened Western Masses... "God is dead!" "We can now ignore all the gods and all the spirits that were worshipped and adored and revered and respected and sacrificed to, for these thousands of years. They don't exist because these machines we just invented can't measure their existence and what's more; they never existed!"

This is the evil of Science. The undead have used Science to make civilized humans as unaware as possible of their unseen presence. Undead have used Science to make humans as insensitive to their hidden existence as possible. Undead have used Science to brainwash civilized people into the belief that all supernatural phenomenon, all ghosts, gods, spirits, poltergeists, etc which cannot be measured and explained by scientific machines do not exist... and have never existed.

The fact is; undead auras play games with paranormal investigators all the time: they lead them on, and give them tantalizing bits of measurable evidence... but never enough to makes any sense... just enough to keep them chasing their tails with false leads. They do the same thing in laboratories which try to measure proof of their existence. Jeering at the fools when their equipment malfunctions while they sabotage their recording machines, moving and hiding behind walls and in-between walls, and floating above their heads just out of reach of the cameras and recorders.

The presence of undead malevolent imps can be seen in the famous mass media silent comedy of 'Mr. Bean'. The entire concept of the character screams out the presence of a malevolent presence which is NOT sympathetic to living humans, and spreads chaos and harm and destruction everywhere it goes. The character is not human. The character is an undead spirit: kicked out of the upper realm of the undead: not wanted, and thrown down from on high to re-visit the places it has once BEEN... get it? The undead are making a sly joke: convinced that living humans will not notice the obvious phonetic meaning. As this malevolent undead thing visits places it has once been; it finds new things which it does not understand. For it: modern civilization is a puzzle; rules and regulations and laws are an irritation to be gotten around. It has a streak of cruelty a mile wide, yet it has been sent as a warning to the living, who are supposed to recognize and understand his pointed messages of what is evil and wrong with the world. But instead; everyone is mad and laughs at its antics. One sly farce some undead filth pretend to play is: they must give a sign that exposes what they are. But... they also make sure that nobody understands the sign they give. The introduction of every episode tells you that Satan, cast down from Heavens is now roaming the Earth, a grotesque caricature, aping human emotions but always getting them wrong because it is not human.

The opening scene in every episode of this undead character has heavenly music a singing choir, as a light from the heavens opens up and this thing is sent down to the earth in a shattering crash which flattens it to the cobblestones from whence it once came: yet undaunted: instead of being killed by such a fall: it rises up and instantly begins hunting around, bent on some kind of mischief, with its hands working as if independent of its body. The thing is totally anti-social: its voice is more like a frog than a human; it is barely human: yet this strange weird character has become famous worldwide, a cross-cultural icon of what?. Yet animals do not like it and it does not like animals. Bees attack it, flies attack it; dogs bark when it is in the neighbourhood, in fact the warning bark of a dog in the night signals its entrance into the world of the living and it comes in the dead of night when everyone is asleep. The warning bark is not heard by the unconscious masses; the potato heads watching sitcoms all day and night, the computer generation; now totally divorced from reality.

The point is: this character was not invented by living humans; it was invented by undead ghouls controlling the mind and body of Atkinson who plays the role. And the entire world: which is now dead to the presence of the undead and unaware that these things even exist, is watching these episodes with universal glee, unaware that they are watching something made for the undead hiding inside them. All humans have undead ghouls secretly hiding within them... inside their souls and minds and hearts and bodies. Mr been, er I mean the mean Mr. Bean is one of them. This is the reason for his so-called universal appeal. This is why such a universal affinity exists for this character: A thing that has the intelligence of a bean; almost as indestructible as a dried bean, a mindless fool, a level of satirical comedy so low, so crude, so bestial and infantile: designed to brainwash people down to the lowest level of mindlessness possible.

The pure evil of science can be exposed and revealed in the scientific invention and manufacture of the first atomic bomb... and the laboratory experiment used to test this new weapon of mass destruction and mass poisoning of all Life on Earth. Documents unearthed from the war archives now reveal just how this horror was used and why it was used. First: the British and Americans knew 4 weeks before they dropped this massive bomb designed to kill millions of people that the Japanese wanted to surrender. What Stalin, Truman and Churchill did was keep this fact a secret from the brainwashed slave masses they were in control of so the atomic bomb could be dropped as a laboratory experiment to determine how effective a weapon of mass death and mass destruction of all Life it actually was. The reason the American military command decided to drop the bomb on Hiroshima was because it was a 'clean' city. In other words it had not yet suffered any damage from bombing. This was the technological reason why they decided not to drop the bomb on Tokyo the capital of Japan because Tokyo had already been firebombed and hundreds of thousands of humans had been burned to death in this mass horror of pure unfeeling, scientific, detached indifference to human Life and all Life on Earth. Then after the first laboratory test was done, a second laboratory experiment was done and Nagasaki was extinguished along with hundreds of thousands of innocent human lives. This was planned; orchestrated and done by undead entities as an insane farce, an experiment to see how close could they come to killing off all Life on Earth and still get away with it without anyone suspecting who were the actual perpetrators and who was actually guilty of committing these massive abominations. All of this was possible because 'science' is used by mass murderers and whitewashed into a kind of religious sanctity which the masses have been brainwashed into revering and worshipping as some kind of 'god', a religion which they do not understand but believe in implicitly as an unspoken assumption of their programmed brainwashed culture and lives.. The scientific manufacture, use and dropping of the first atomic bomb was all done 'scientifically'... so of course it must have been all right! It was invented, manufactured and dropped 'militarily' ... so of course what the military did must have been 'right'! Why was the merging of science and military mass manufacture of weapons of mass destruction ‘all right’? Why because not only was it scientific, it won the war! So of course any fucking idiot who worships science and worships winners and only recognizes the ‘winning’ of a war” as ‘proof’ of being ‘right’ and ‘superior’ to all other human intelligence, morals, ethics and logic... there’s nothing wrong in this assumption... so fuck all common sense and all the facts about how nuclear weapons cannot be used because they are too destructive to the entire Living Earth: why of course it’s all right to mass manufacture nuclear bombs because there was something called a ‘cold’ war where nobody had the guts to use them and were not insane enough to start a nuclear war because using them will destroy not only all Life on earth: it will KILL and DESTROY all undead entities as well. This is why the undead pulled back from using the nuclear bomb as a way to kill of all Life on Earth. This is their insane dilemma and this is why they are completely insane and must be killed DEAD until not one single undead entity remains. They are actually trying to kill themselves: they project their evil sick negative energy OUT to keep them from killing themselves and committing suicide; which is just a sick, twisted denial of their natural function: which is to die COMPLETELY DEAD: GONE. EXTERMINATED; OBLITERATED.

How science and scientists treats living creatures and the living earth is just a reflection of how undead ghouls treat the living they poison and infiltrate and the scientists they secretly infest. The undead use scientists as guinea pigs to see just how inhuman a living ape can be poisoned into becoming and yet still keep on mechanically functioning as an obedient programmed dehumanized insane slave of the undead that control them. The insane objective of killing all Life all living creatures: using insane brainwashed human robot-slaves to commit things which are caused by the undead is precisely what ‘science’ is being used for and why these undead things must be exterminated with extreme prejudice. What is called ‘technology’ is what the undead use to brainwash living apes into destroying the Earth they live on. At the same time what is called ‘technology’ is also being used by the undead to poison the entire earth with toxic poisons designed to kill all Life on Earth and manufacturing more and more weapons of mass destruction and mass distraction and mass poisoning and mass addiction to poisonous substances. In other words what the brainwashed masses have been programmed into believing is the complete OPPOSITE of what science and technology is used for and actually does.

The evil of Insularity

One of the latest, most modern results of living humans being permeated and poisoned by these secret observer-filth is the invention of cars.

What are cars for?

They were created: because living humans, have become so poisoned and corrupted by the accumulation of these vicarious secret spectators... who love seeing things pass by them.

Most of these undead have resided inside the bodies of birds... for millions upon millions of years.

Why?

Because birds gave them the best opportunities to look down on living things, and see what living humans were doing. Because birds gave them mobility, and a better vantage point. It made them feel better. It made them feel superior. The height of their new undead perspective changed the way they looked at living humans.

Living inside a barnyard animal: meant they were trapped. They could not go anywhere the animal could not go. Going inside any animal that was not a bird, meant they were extremely limited as far as mobility was concerned. They want to travel. They want to live through others vicariously. They want distraction. Living birds were the ideal living receptors for them. Going inside the body of a negative bird: meant they could fly...They could be weightless. The Realm of birds, the realm of the air... is the closest physical parallel to their condition of weightlessness and their ephemeral aura bodies.

Water seeks its own level. They choose the most evil birds possible to secretly use as their eyes. Most of them choose birds that are black to inhabit. Study all birds... and you will find that all of them have predators who attack and kill them and eat them...

But not birds that are black.

Show me one film of a crow, or a raven being attacked and killed by another animal or bird.... And you can consider this entire book to be a lie.

Birds that are black are not even chased by predators. Ask any naturalist. Study every film made of birds. Study birds that are black... they do not act like other birds. Undead human filth have been inhabiting the bodies of birds that are black in color for millions of years Cars are a natural evolution of these undead entities entering the living shells of mobile birds who could travel for miles and miles.

What is a car? It is a shell, that living humans enter.... So they can travel to another place.... And then get out of that shell... And walk somewhere.

Human undead entities have been using birds as living shells, as living mobile shells... birds could transport them to other places... then they get out of the living shell of the mobile living shell-bird... and enter the shell of another animal... that is the secret cunning mobility of the undead... before they got living hosts to migrate, and create modern transportation systems, and modern energy grids that are connected world-wide. Now they use all of these energy transport systems.

Just like living humans enter the metal shells of cars to transport them effortlessly to other places... then they get out of the mobile shell... and enter the shell of a house, that is not mobile... and then come out of the shell of the house... enter the shell of the car again... and use the shell of the car to transport themselves to another place... where they get out of the shell of a car... and go into the shell of another house... into the shell of a room.

This entire lifestyle of modern humans is made for the convenience of birds. It does not make sense to live like this... unless undead, insane monsters have been secretly inhabiting our living bodies for thousands and millions of years. Unless they have gained so much control over living humans: they use us just like we use our cars... as convenient shells to inhabit, and leave. So now they use us and our cars also.

Cars... car culture. The insanity of modern, mobile insularity. The idea of insane insularity of modern, mobile culture... is sick, and insane. It is the result of the insane culture of the undead living inside us: reflected in living human culture. It is the sick observing culture of the undead: leaking through their secret realm into our living world. The entire modern craze of spectatorship, the entire idea of being only a passive observer... comes from them. Not us.

They do not want to let living humans get together. They want to isolate us... so when we die... we will have no friends to help us, or show us how to navigate in their realm, or teach us how to fight them and kill them.

The Path of Splitness

No other animal lives like we do. Because other animals are not as poisoned by undead filth like we are. No other animal on Earth has as many undead souls inhabiting every living human. The more living humans are born. The more we the living are systematically corrupted to become as insane as the filth that inhabit our living bodies... the more living people die... the more undead, insane, invisible human entities there are to permeate and poison the body of every living baby that is born.

What is going to stop them from accumulating? How can this be stopped? By killing more people? By letting more billions of poor humans starve to death? By creating more billions of babies and more billions of accumulating undead scum... to poison more billions of insane, living humans? Who become more and more polluted, karmic ally, mentally, emotionally, sexually, socially; and in every other way imaginable... By the inescapable presence of these undead entities?

If you want to evaluate how good or evil human undead entities are. Ask yourself. For how many thousands of years have they existed? How many millions and billions of them watched later generations of humans raping children and women? How many of them watched their own sons and daughters raping and killing? How many undead human filth watched their own sons and daughters making the same mistakes they did?

Is there any record of any one of them; ever trying to intervene in the perpetuation of this human butchery and cruelty? Has any human undead entity ever tried to stop their son or daughter from doing what they already knew would damn them to hell and unhappiness forever when they died? Did an undead mother or father ever try to contact their living son or daughter and tell them:

*'Do not do this! You are making a huge mistake!...
I made this same mistake when I was your age! Don't repeat the same mistake that I did! ...'*

*No.
Why?*

Because it makes you the living... equals in evil with them. It makes the living and the undead equals in their evil. It equalizes us the living to them. It prevents us from ever developing enough karmic energy to punish our own dead parents for what they did to us. It prevents every living human who dies from going after these undead filth and killing them, and destroying them. This keeps them safe from all retribution. It keeps every murderer, rapist, mass murderer... it keeps every criminal safe after they die. They get to avoid all responsibility of what they did when they were alive. They get away with it.

And if any living human is not corrupted and weakened enough so they will be relatively harmless to these undead filth when they die and enter their realm...

They make it a point to make examples out of these living exceptions. They focus all their resources, all their millions and billions of evil souls: and permeate the lives and air and areas around these rare exceptions... with so much filth and so much evil: that nothing good ever survives... inside them or outside them. They make sure every good person comes to a tragic end. They make sure every good intention, every good idea, every good plan: comes to a bad end. They make damn sure all good is systematically poisoned and corrupted and transformed into evil.

This is what they did to Jesus. Because he was too good. He was too gentle. Yet even Jesus hated gentiles. Ancient Jews hated gentle people who were not corrupt. Jews were raised to be ethically harsh with each other. They did not believe in gentleness. They despised it: and called all non-Jews gentiles because they were too soft, too weak and too easy to fool. That is why they called everyone who was not a Jew a gentile. Because their genitals had not been cruelly cut when they were babies. Because they were too gentle with their babies and did not brainwash them early from birth to become traumatized unfeeling brutal monsters who did not know what gentleness was. Jesus tried to introduce the concept of gentleness into Jewish religion. And for that crime: he was persecuted by other Jews, and plotted against and sentenced to death by crucifixion. The most brutal and cruel form of execution possible.

These undead monsters made it a point to surround Jesus with the most evil human living filth possible. They secretly invaded every person who was any good who came near him. And made sure that they never got together to create any more good.

This was what happened to the potential love that could have blossomed between Mary Magdalene and Jesus. She was cursed and hated by all his disciples. They labeled her a prostitute, they called her a whore. They badmouthed her every chance they got. And their lies stuck.

These undead filth made sure there were so many evil entities secretly living inside both Jesus and Mary: that their first impressions of each other were ruined. They made sure every hating filthy homosexual disciple around Jesus did their utmost to poison their relationship and break them apart.

It was easy.

Why?

Because neither Jesus of Nazareth, and Mary Magdalene knew that such evil filthy human entities inhabited their bodies, minds, genital-energies, hearts, and guts. Neither of them knew that they had already been born with these sick, secret filth inhabiting their innermost beings. Neither one of them were sensitized enough to distinguish the difference between what they themselves thought-felt-sensed... their actions, their reactions... and the secret thoughts and reactions and negative feelings erupting and exploding inside them suddenly...

For no apparent reason at all. Except for 'the way' a person says a something. Or 'the way' a certain person looks at you. When you suddenly see someone who falls in love at first sight. To suddenly develop a huge negative animosity against another person for no apparent reason. To react too much to any person for no good reason. To react irrationally. To react with an instantaneous fear of love... to react with an instantaneous hate of love... is a sign of love being corrupted by secret human entities at work inside you.

It is the sign of secret evil at work inside you. This is the sign of your evil entities inside you... instantly reacting instinctively to love: with fear and hate.

As long as you do not have love. As long as you do not feel love. As long as you are not loved. As long as you remain as emotionally dead and numb... as they have been for thousands and thousands of years... they do not reveal themselves inside you.

But if you feel any love-attraction to anyone. They explode inside you with instant negative energy to corrupt and head off your positive love energy... before it becomes stronger than their secret filth.

The Path of Splitness

1664

Except in fairytales: have there ever been people who truly lived happily ever after? Except in fairytales; have there ever been people who truly loved each other happily ever after?

No. These filth cannot allow this to happen. It would destroy them. Happiness... living humans living happily: would destroy all of their lies and rationalized bullshit.

Happiness only exists in fictional fairytales written for children. It does not yet actually exist in living humans....

These unspeakable filth make damn sure that people who were made for each other: never get together. They make damn sure that living humans always marry the wrong person. They make damn sure that any kind of human happiness is systematically destroyed by them. It is because of them: that all love of living humans has been corrupted, poisoned, forgotten, dismissed, denied and avoided.

How can you fight their poisonous presence?

They permeate the surroundings and bodies and minds and hearts of every living human being. They can hijack your own dreams. They can poison your own dreams. They can live vicariously by getting into your own dreams and acting out their own sick addictions and crimes. How can you be sure your dreams are your own?

You can't

How can you be sure that your impulses and thoughts and feelings are your own if you have been poisoned by them all your life?

You can't

The only way you can keep the effect of their poisonous presence to a minimum is by doubting everything. By questioning yourself. By doubting yourself. By introspection. By inspecting your own feelings and motivations and thoughts and urges; and finding out if they are indeed what you actually feel and think and want. Or if they are irrational urges and motives and pressures which force you to act in ways that do not make any rational sense. By finding the Sense of Pure Wonder in yourself, every second of your life. By defining who you are, what you think, what you feel, what you want: as honestly and as openly and as consciously as possible.

The whole effect of their presence works by secrecy. Every thought and emotion you do not openly express can be potentially poisoned by them. Every thought and feeling and urge you do not question and explore can be potentially their feelings, their thoughts, their urges. Not yours.

The effect of their presence only works when you are unaware of them. They can only poison you when you are unaware of them and their hidden urges inside you.

They can even poison:

Honesty Courage
Love
And the Sense of Pure Wonder

1664

The Path of Splitness

1665

However, they cannot poison these things inside you; if you constantly question yourself. If you constantly re-examine yourself. If you question your own honesty. If you constantly question your own Courage. If you question your own Love. If you question your own Sense of Pure Wonder. And re-examine it.

This does not mean you should stop feeling, thinking, acting, re-acting. It only means that you should think before you act thoughtlessly. It means you should feel before you act unfeelingly. It means you have to digest your experiences. And learn from your mistakes. It means you should trust your better instincts. It means you should merge your feelings and thoughts into living spontaneously and sensitively. Your thoughts and feelings and actions should be one cohesive whole...They should be simultaneous. They should be spontaneous and creative and always new and different. This means never doing-feeling-saying-thinking the same thing twice.

If you can have spontaneous creative fun all your life: this will almost guarantee that most of what you do and say and feel and think will be unpoisoned by them.

But if you repeat anything more than once... anything at all.... They can and will try to poison it, and use it against you. They love it when you to plan anything in advance. They love to know what you are going to do ahead of time. They love sabotaging every plan. They hate it when you do not plan things in advance. Then they cannot plan how to corrupt you as easily. Then they do not know who you will meet, and what will be the best way to sabotage any love or liking between good people.

Your unseen enemy is: normality. Your unseen enemy is: unawareness. Your unseen enemies are all the ancient, old, senile, twisted, neurotic, damaged, insane, addicted, criminals who ever lived. Your unseen enemies are all the ancient, twisted, dehumanized, brutalized rapists and killers and sadists who ever killed: and got away with it. Your unseen enemies are all the ancient, old, power-mad, hate-filled, fear-filled, devious, cunning, who ever raped and got away with it. Your unseen enemies are all the liars who ever lived and got away with their lies. Your unseen enemies are all the evil people who ever lived. Your unseen enemies are all the people who never felt love: and hate you and envy for having any. Your unseen enemies are all the people who never knew what true love actually is: and envy you for it. Your unseen enemies are all the people who never knew what true honesty actually is: and fear it. Your unseen enemies are all the people who never knew what true courage actually is: and fear it. Your unseen enemies are all the undead human people who never lived their own lives fully: and are driven and addicted to living through you.

How were fiction novels invented? By undead entities existing inside writers and authors: secretly taking over the personality of the fictitious characters the writer invents. By controlling what the writer's fictional characters will do. Entities existing inside the brain of a writer are lucky. They get to not only experience the life of the writer... they get to vicariously live many, many fictitious lives that are far more glamorous and interesting than the life of that writer and their own miserable un-lived lives when they were once alive.

Fiction writing is not creative. It is the insanity of a living human so detached from their own life, so insanely wallowing in the abstract fantasy of his own reflective thoughts... that the entities existing inside them; take over the writer's thoughts and imagination and become that character: and rip all control of what the character says and does away from the writer. The writer merely becomes a tool for their amusement. These undead things live off of abstraction. The more abstract, the more disconnected from their true feelings and thoughts living people are: the more easily they are controlled and corrupted by these undead scum.

They secretly take over the personality and thoughts and feelings of all living humans. In order to corrupt them as much as possible.

How? Simple. By living through the living victim, harmonizing their aura with the victim... and then slowly beginning to assert a tiny influence over them... and persisting in that small influence, and pushing and pushing their hidden agendas... until the good intentions of the living victim are slowly replaced with the evil filthy intentions of the undead life-sucking filthy parasite existing within it.

It takes years for the undead to corrupt living unsuspecting humans. It does not happen overnight. It begins in the womb, at birth, as infants, as children... living human young are infested with them and their parents become enablers. Infants and children are shunted off into isolated bedrooms... they gave nightmares! They don't want to sleep alone! They are being poisoned and violated every night of their young lives while they sleep. Do their parents listen to their crying and tears? NO! Do their parents care about their nightmares and the emotional and spiritual brutalization of their young innocent souls by these undead scum? NO! Because they are infested with their own undead filth a million times worse, and they have all been corrupted already. It is a seemingly endless infallible system of secret corruption. Until now.

They do not want you to look in. They do not want you to look inside yourself. They want you to look out: because that is all they do through you. They want you to look out as far as possible: as far away from their inner hidden unseen presence as possible. They want you to stare at the star! They want you to look out and project all their insanity out rather than look in, and ask yourself where all this evil is coming from.

Why? Because if you look in... you will find them living inside you. You will find them and they will be exposed and uncovered for once: and no amount of lies or deceptions will ever be able to cover up their filthy unseen hidden presence ever again. Who was the one Norse god who was ostracized from all the other Norse gods? His name was Loki he was dangerous; because he asked questions and he could not be controlled as the others were. His rage and anger when unleashed: was more powerful than all the gods put together. He was the bravest of all the Norse gods. He was the one who uncovered the secret myths of the ice giants. He was the one who exposed them as frauds.

What? A Norse god exposing his ancestral gods as fakes? He had to go. They had to nullify him. They had to shut him up. Who was Loki? Loki is the living human who looks in to himself and asks questions. Why is Loki the god of anger? Because when you look in far enough: you discover that you have been duped and suckered. Loki wanted to kill the ice giants after they revealed how they had fooled him. They disappeared. They escaped his wrath. "I kill all"... "Ikol" is Loki Spelled backwards: get it?

No more shall this be tolerated. No more shall the undead escape their punishment and fate. No more will they get away scot free. This book will make sure of it. No more shall the unseen be allowed to relive their own past life by hiding inside unsuspecting living human victims.

Your unseen enemies are every undead filth that wants to re-live their own past life. Your unseen

1666

The Path of Splitness

1667 enemy is every insane inhuman morphed entity; who wants to re-create, and re-live its own past by living inside- through you.

When is this unspeakable evil going to be stopped?

When is the insanity of this secret one-sided accumulation going to stop?

If living humans are to ever attain sanity. They need to cleanse themselves of these insane, insane filth.

These scum need to be destroyed.

They need to be killed.

What is this fear of looking each other in the eye? Why do we avoid eye-contact as much as possible?

Why do we fear looking at ourselves? Why do we fear examining our inner selves?

I'll tell you why...

Because it is not you who fears this... it is they hiding inside you that fear being discovered.

Because the sick secret filth living inside you does not want to look at itself.

It wants to pretend that it does not exist inside you.

They are afraid that if you start looking inside yourself... you might find them. You might find out WHERE they are hiding. You might find that evil sick filthy secret undead spirits exist inside you. As filthy urges, motives, pressures, subliminally whispering every filthy evil thing they can into your brain.

Try looking at someone directly in the eyes... see if they can look directly in your eyes.

Try and explain the inexplicable dread, and fear, that starts welling up in you when you do this.

Or... try and explain the complete deadness that comes up inside you, and the other person... try and explain why both of you suddenly become completely numbed and unfeeling.

They... these sick foul undead filth existing inside every living human.... Are the reason living humans have not been allowed to explore their own living inner souls.

As far as these secret undead filth are concerned... we the living are merely convenient vessels... to be used for their entertainment and distraction. They can easily come in... inside your soul.... And make you find yourself suddenly doing something for no reason at all... Make you change your mind about something... change what you were about to say... change what you were about to do.... And have you convinced that it was you that felt it and thought it: when you are actually only reacting to their feelings and thoughts and wishes.

How do they do this? By projecting fear into your soul. By injecting their alien fear into your aura. By injecting hate into you, by injecting doubt into you. By you mistaking their instant sudden, unexpected poison as yours, as it being your gut reaction... when it is not you that felt this instant, unnatural, sudden, unexpected instinctive reaction to something: that later you regret, that later you realize was wrong.

And just as easily... instantly... they can leave... and leave you wondering about why you are, or were seemingly so hateful, or so full of fear, or so evil... when you did not actually originally intend to be so.

1667

The Path of Splitness

1668

And since you were the one who did it... since you were the one who felt-thought-acted this way... why then you must have been right! Your first instinct must have been right! Your first reaction must have been right! What do you think sleep-walking is? It is undead taking over a living body while they are unconscious... and when they leave that body the person they took over wakes up and discovers himself somewhere out of bed and never asks himself what made him do it.

No human ever questions their inner selves.

Almost no living human ever questions their first inner impulses. These filth make sure that you have an ego that never allows itself to be questioned. They make sure you never doubt yourself. When it was they who made you change your mind. When it was they who have poisoned your inner thought and feelings and actions all your life. And then they use this against you: holding you responsible for it.

Unless you know what they are trying to do: you will never catch them at it. Only if you try to be god and courageous and honest: will you find yourself blocked at every single avenue: by them poisoning you and every person you come into contact with: with their secret subtle evil intentions. Try being honest with another human being... go on...., try it. Try looking into their eyes... both you and them, will experience Dread, fear.... Both of you will put up walls between each other... both of you will emotionally and spiritually disconnect from each other. Both of you will become numb and dead inside....

Why? Because these secret filth will not allow you to have your own true feelings and thoughts. They will only allow you to have manipulated feelings and thoughts... not raw, true, honest direct feelings and thoughts.

Getting to know yourself, and someone else is full of fear and dread. Most human beings... do not even attempt it. Most human beings do not attempt to be more honest, or more loving, or more courageous towards themselves or each other.

They are the reason you are sick. They see everything. They know everything every living human thinks. They put their own thoughts and feelings into living and loving humans in order to corrupt them. Fighting them is not easy. It can be done. But only if you look directly into each other's eyes, and do not put up insulating barriers between the person you love and yourself.

These sick filth fear Honesty. They fear Courage. They fear Love. But most of all... they fear the Sense of Pure Wonder... they fear Critical Awareness. They fear honest humans challenging dishonesty and sneaky hypocrisy and lies. They fear energy, health, happiness.

They fear humans who die honest. Who do not lie. They hate people touching each other and hugging each other... unless they can use this as a way to fool and manipulate them and poison them to become even sicker, weaker and more evil than they are.

All human history, all human culture reveals their existence. But... you have to LOOK for the connection, and the explanation.

Gently down the stream
Merrily, merrily, merrily, merrily

Life is but a dream”

To them: Life is only a dream. To them it is all a joke. They are completely DETACHED from the pain and suffering and loneliness that living humans must endure because of their hidden presence.

Life is NOT merry. Life is NOT easy. Life is NOT a dream. But to undead insane evil auras who live through living humans... IT IS. This song is not about or for children. It is a song about THEM. It is a song that was composed by THEM. It is one of the countless telltale proofs of their unseen existence. It is one of their countless secret in-jokes, their derision of living dupes who do not realize that they are being completely controlled by them, and that to them: these living dupes mean NOTHING, and are only used as convenient shells for their insane, sick amusements.

They are nothing but hidden, secret observers.

They are all insane, sick, unspeakably evil, unspeakably foul secret observers; and they have turned people into observers watching TV, Movies, computer screens, text message gadgets.

They do not want you to find them hiding inside you.

They do not want you to find out that they exist inside you.

They want to observe you in safety and secrecy. They want to remain unknown. They want to remain undiscovered. They want to pretend they are you. They are you.

Basically: all undead human entities fear, and hate intensity, and purity.

They hate anything that is too intensely human. They hate and fear anything that is too pure a form of human-life energy.

For a very good reason. When you die: you do not become powerful in their realm because you have a gun... you do not have powerful aural body that has huge physical muscles. Your aura's strength and power comes from how intense your entire human-life energy is... as a balanced aural human energy. That energy... the energy of your soul-aura, which is the only thing that is left after your physical body expires: is a very complex, subtle, dynamic energy.

These insane undead: hate any human who is too pure a person to be corrupted. They hated Julius Caesar: because he was too pure to mistrust his friends who schemed to assassinate him behind his back. They hated Julius Caesar because he kept his body and mind too pure an energy. They hated Jesus for the same reason. They plotted to have them both murdered for the same reasons.

Intensity & Purity.

The experience of every waking moment of your life should be as intense as possible.
The experience of your inner soul, and your outer life should be as pure as possible.

These undead filth have successfully prevented every living human on this planet from having any intense life experiences... they muddy all intense life experiences. They water them down, the corrupt them, they stifle them, they systematically try to poison every intense experience into a weak, non-intense life experience of normality, and inner deadness. They try to poison all pure intentions. They poison everything that is too pure.

Most humans are poisoned and infected by the undead auras of their own ancestors: not exclusively: but simply because of its convenience and the fact that each family culture has its own unique blend of evil which the undead feel more comfortable in.

In other words: every fucking grandfather and great-great grandfather, every undead soul of your family line: is more likely to be poisoning you personally: or another member of your living family, than any other living person. This is also who so many babies grow up with grand mama's personality traits, or grandfathers, or great-great grandfather's traits... mixed in with great uncle's, and great-aunts unique traits. These behavioral traits are not carried genetically: they are infections of the auras that poison every single human ever born.

It would behoove you to analyze, investigate, evaluate and try to explain your own family's history and your own: you may find disturbing patterns that are not rationally explainable. Why and how a person marries. Who they choose. Why the true love of your life always seems to slip away. The irrational reasons and excuses for never marrying the person you truly love. Why true love is never consummated. Etc. If you ever find the true hidden reasons for these inexplicable tragedies: you will finally find your reasons to kill the undead unseen filth who have plotted and poisoned to destroy your happiness.

The secret invisible manipulations of human souls is easy for them. Their aural bodies easily interpenetrate the same space as a living human aura... and pollute the purity of that living human in countless subtle ways... hundreds of different undead auras, if needed: can be used to pollute and corrupt the purity of the purest human soul on earth easily. They can easily weaken the intensity of your life experience, in many ways.

But you can fight them. You can fight their systematic plans of destructively poisoning you with their undead auras... 24 hours a day, waking and sleeping... they poison your dreams while you are asleep. They put in subconscious urges into your dreams and into your subconscious mind. They stick in instinctive controls over you, over your breathing instinct, your fear instinct, your hate instinct.

How can you fight this?

They hate all confidence. They fear all confidence. They hate and fear all happiness. They hate and fear: all fun and play... they hate and fear and envy: all true love. They cannot fight your Sense of Pure Wonder... and

Are the few things they cannot poison.... If your courage-honesty-confidence-happiness-love-fun-play is intense and pure, and reflectively powerful enough... if you have a radiating Sense of Pure Wonder. If you have no bad intentions. They cannot affect you. All they can do then... is corrupt everybody around you and fill everybody around you with secret evil intentions. And isolate you from all other good people, and surround you only with the most evil, the sickest human filth possible.

But... if only two humans read this book, and realize the truths contained in this book. And explore themselves enough to understand themselves, and meet, and discuss this book. Then all the evil human undead secretly existing inside hem and around them will either be exposed, or their plans and intentions will be thwarted.

If two humans have the courage to explore their inner souls and the inner soul of each other: they can defeat all the evil energy and evil intentions of all the undead in all the world.

These scum do not like the more intense radiating aura-energy of health and wonder: because this is the only kind of energy that can kill them.

It does not matter what your life experiences are. It does not matter who you meet, or what you do... As long as you do it intensely, and purely.

If you meet an angry man who is angry at things that have nothing to do with his anger: ask him honestly... and with pure wonder, and pure curiosity: 'what are you angry at?'

Then if you see what he is actually angry at: agree with him, and tell him he is right to be angry. As long as he focuses his anger directly at the person he should be angry at. Help him to keep the focus of his anger honest. Help him to put his own anger into perspective. You will find that all honest people are angry at the same things. You will find that you have things in common with all honest people. You will find that you are not alone.

All human lives have been spoiled and polluted by these secret scum. Good people do not understand why they cannot find happiness. They do not understand why nothing ever works out for them. The only things that ever work out for civilized humans are the worst, the most corrupt humans succeeding... and the best, the least corrupt humans failing. This is not a coincidence. This is an active presence of the pure evil of these undead scum, secretly permeating living humans and their immediate surroundings all of their living lives...

But... if two people read this book. And these two people look into each other's eyes... with the knowledge of this book...

Then... they will be forced to question, whether what is evil inside the other person, and inside them... what is sick, and weak and corrupt inside them and the other person... is actually because of them at all...

But if you do it with other people: all of you will be happy.

The poem by Coleridge entitled; 'Xanadu' ends with an insane person who was feared by everyone around him... because he had seen visions of such pure beauty: he became insane...

What was Coleridge's poem describing? It was describing the secret depths of the beauty of the human soul. It was describing the beauty of the first sacred river, the first sacred paradise, the unexplored subconscious paradise of the human soul: that if explored... could create such beauty as never before existed on Earth. He was also describing the evil filth hiding inside the subconscious of every living human soul. Cold, dead undead filth... existing as preserved ice. Which the warm waters of the living souls melt, and dissolve... until they become inseparably merged. Until the living human becomes poisoned by the secret undead filth inside him and becomes mentally deranged and insane. His poem describes good and evil. It describes a sunny pleasure dome... and the secret depths of subterranean secret evil. In words so beautifully crafted: he woke up, and could not remember the rest of the poem, because it was too intense a living human experience.

The entire civilized modus operandi of these secret scum is moderation.... They seek to moderate healthy human energy and weaken it as much as possible.

Insane people were feared and held in awe... for thousands of years. Why?

Because the moderate, cunning, secret haters and envious secret jealous scum around them, did not understand why they could not hurt and weaken these 'mad', 'insane' people... who lived more intensely than they did, and reacted more intensely than they did, and were more powerful than they were... they could not understand why these 'insane' people had sudden inexplicable moods, and mood shifts... they thought all these moods were a sign of mental illness. When actually: they are a sign of growing emotional health.

It is healthy to feel intense emotions
It is healthy to think intense thoughts

There is no such thing as a bad thought or a bad mood, or a bad emotion... that you are not allowed to have. You are allowed to feel everything! You are allowed to think everything!

As long as you are Honest and have Courage. As long as you are consciously aware of what true good and what true evil is. As long as you curb your evil impulses and allow your true good impulses to be expressed. This is what this book is for. To explain what true good and what true evil is.

All civilized people fear and hate and envy Passion.

All civilized people fear Intensity.

Most civilized people regard Passion as a form of insanity. Why? Because the secret undead filth hiding inside them fear passionate people. Because undead scum have already gained complete control over the inner souls of most living people... they hate that they cannot yet control the blind incoherent rages and mood swings of passionate people who are healthier, and more honest, and more courageous than they are.

Look at what happened in Germany before Hitler began invading Poland. The entire nation of Germans... had become stronger, and healthier than the other European Nations. What are Nations? They are Nays, Negative Notions, Negative NAY-shuns, shunning other people negatively because they do not live in your land. Saying Nay to them, shunning them.

Germany won nearly all of the medals in the 1934 Olympics. No Nation has ever done that before or since.

Germany did not win them as an exception, as one star athlete... better than the mass norm, but as a proof that the general level of physical health of its entire nation... was healthier than all the other nations in the world. Not any other kind of health. Not a genetic freak. Not as an exception. Not as a 'superstar'.

But what does western history harp on now? Not on all the medals won by Germany: on the exception. On one lone black athlete from America... who won, and when he returned: he was treated as a lowly 'nigger' by the nation he represented. The perfect mild Uncle Tom. The perfect token example for black slaves to admire. Pure passivity. A professional athlete performing for the crowds. Another roman gladiator for the slaves to glorify. Another way to keep the slaves from revolting and standing up for themselves. While America scoffs and ignores the hundreds of gold medals the Germans won. And Hitler himself congratulated him and shook his hand: and gave him more recognition of his achievement than his own Nation did. Proving that Hitler was not racist against athletes who excelled in their chosen field. He believed in the elitism of competence. And the equality of honest competition

No nation on earth has ever won as many gold medals at the Olympics as Germany did during Hitler's reign. Is this ever worshipped? Is it ever puzzled over? No. Why?

Oh! Well... in that case...! Anything Germans won just before they lost the war... isn't important.

If Hitler had died just before he went to war: his living example and the example of what could be done by a Nation that decided to all get behind one idea and cooperate with each other: would have been screaming proof that national socialism is a thousand times better than capitalism. The emotional prejudice that humans have against anyone who loses anything: makes people blind to what is actually good and healthy. Did Hitler treat the German people like American politicians treated the American masses during the depression? No. He actually improved Germany for everybody... before he went to war. But America didn't. Because America was, and still has... a sicker slave culture than Germany ever was during Hitler's time.

These secret scum have managed to deflect all attention away from such obvious signs of health... They have managed to brainwash the entire fucking world into believing that Hitler's Germany was more evil than any other nation on earth ever was. When the exact opposite is true. The actual truth is: that Germany after their great depression: was healthier, and better off, than any other nation has ever been... before or since... It is the health of strong healthy people that makes them despise sicker, weaker more evil people... Health and strength should destroy weak sickness... Not just physically. On all energy levels, in all ways.

The problem is; that all of civilization is evil. What happens when one evil nation becomes physically 'healthier' than others? It starts attacking as many other evil nations as it can. What happens when one evil leader is physically healthier than other evil leaders? He tries to destroy all other evil leaders. Germany was a physically healthier, evil Nation. The other evil nations were physically weaker: so they ganged up together: and were forced to do something they would never have done except under crisis conditions: cooperate with each other intelligently. Nazis evil was a more honest evil. Its evil was not covered up in the layers of hypocritical lies and deceptions that the other Nations evil was hidden under. The evil of civilization can be understood very, very easily... all you have to understand about civilization... is that all of it is evil. There are just relative conditions of evil and lesser evil and worse evil. There are no good nations, no good empires, no good cultures, no good religions. There is no such thing as a good nation or a good religion or a good empire or a good culture. Civilization is completely evil. Civilization is controlled and manipulated by the past. Living humans have an absolute horror of changing their ways. There are untold numbers of undead filth making damned sure that the past is pre-served as much as possible. Regardless of how stupid, or how out-of-date, or how wasteful, or how insane the pre-servation of the past is.

The evil of the Undead

Now the truth has been exposed.

These undead scum will do everything to prevent you from living a happy healthy life. For millions of years: undead things used and treated living humans as dogs. Their dominance was so ingrained into living human cultures: that the word GOD: was created to demonstrate how the actual relationship worked: the DOG worships and tries to please his master or mistress. The master or mistress kicks and mistreats the dog, and throws it a few scraps every now and then: for which the dog is abjectly grateful. Later when the master or mistress are tired of the dog: they kill it and eat it. The dog serves them. They train the dog to obey certain commands. The dog is despised for its low level of intelligence and its servile desire to please the one who enslaves it. More intelligent animals cannot be so easily controlled. Wild animals cannot be so easily enslaved. The dog is a domesticated animal; it has been enslaved and used and abused for so long: it has lost all of its natural intelligence and natural independence. IN other words: undead ghouls regard living humans as dumb toys: to be manipulated, tortured, kicked, abused, laughed-at, and despised... while the lowly living human is supposed to treat THEM in the OPPOSITE WAY which they treat living humans. Living humans are supposed to idolize worship and fear and love the undead filth that poison and enslave them. They are supposed to humbly, meekly accept their lot in life as mere vessels of undead presence. They are never supposed to rebel or stand up against their hidden invisible attackers and poisoners. The hidden truth of why living humans call the unseen things they have been brainwashed to worship as GODS is because these shit things treat living humans as DOGS.

Now the world will know the truth about them.

This book has been written. Now this book will be read. No more will they be able to hide the fact that they exist. No more will the horror and filth of their insane foulness be covered up anymore. They will not be able to hide from living people who are intelligent enough, and brave enough to explore their own inner selves.

These secret filth need to be systematically destroyed. Every left-over human aura... that is not visible to the naked eyes of the living... every human aura that runs away from living humans... every undead human aura that tries to hide from living humans. Every undead human aura that does not try to help living humans...Needs to be killed and destroyed.

It is either them or us
Either undead humans will triumph, or living humans will triumph.
Either living humans will destroy and kill all dead humans on earth
Or else these undead scum will destroy all living human life on earth.

This is the secret class warfare that actually exists. It has been buried under the guise of possessed, insane living humans killing other living humans. It has been buried under the lie that there is more than one class of living humans.

There are actually only two classes of humans on this Earth.

The living, and the undead... the ones who should have died but didn't.
Why didn't they die? Because they didn't do their job: they didn't experience Life while they were alive... now they are trying to experience it vicariously, secretly: by infiltrating living humans.

Our living awareness has been poisoned by these undead scum. Their evil has seeped so deep into living human souls: that we cannot separate our true selves from these sick filth existing inside us.
But... however... there are general indicators, that can help you differentiate between what is good inside you, and what is evil...

These unspeakable, secret things have managed to poison all good. They have managed to fool humans into believing that they are good, not evil. They have brainwashed living humans into believing that all human spirituality... is good.

Even though the historical record plainly shows how these filth have plagued and tormented and manipulated living humans, and made their lives and miserable as possible.

What do you think angels are, eh?
They are not good. They are sick, evil, inhuman things.

They are human entities that entered the bodies of living birds: in order to look down upon all living things. They were the first secret observers. They stayed so long in the bodies of birds... that they took on the physical properties of birds, and the reptilian mindset of birds. They do not have human emotions.

They are insane beings. They are numb-dead-undead energy auras: who have forgotten what it feels like to be human. They are a mixture of the reptiles who once lived for hundreds of millions of years, and humans who once lived. They are cold-blooded monstrosities. They feel no pain. They have no empathy. They are layers of many, many auras... all merged together: to make them seem as if they are one being. When they are actually an insane bedlam of countless undead souls, of different species. They can change their personality faster than you can blink. They are schizophrenic, split-personalities made up not of just two auras... but so many auras: they shine more brightly than any single aura shines. This is their superficial appearance of superiority.

But try to approach one of them. Try to touch them with your hand... and they will flee... like the secret filth they are. If you try to touch an angel: they will disappear. They hide. They do not like being challenged or faced. They do not even like being looked at.

Undead filth do not like being looked at.

But they like looking at living humans! They do not want living humans looking at them. That is because they have merged their human souls into the souls of birds. That is their one-sided insanity. They are obsessed with looking at everything except their own rotten selves and their own rotten wasted lives. Birds like looking at other living things. They all like being ignored. So they can do their secret peeping from above. So they can live their lives as secret peeping toms. As secret filthy voyeurs.

Birds do not like being touched

Human auras have been corrupted by existing inside reptile-bird bodies for hundreds of thousands of years... the energy-auras of many living humans are corrupted by reptile-bird awareness-attitude-values-intelligence today.

Don't believe it? Look at the terms used in golf. A birdie... an eagle... a hole-in-one. The entire concept of golf is dropping a small tiny white ball into a small cup.

Sea Birds drop shells onto rocks... in order to crack the shells open so they can eat. The species that could drop their meal more accurately onto a hard rock: survived. The species who were more inaccurate in dropping their captured meals onto something hard: died out...
A hole-in-one means that the bird managed to make a hole in the shell it dropped; on the first try. So it could eat what was inside the shell.

Eagles who swoop to attack a small birdie and get it the first time: is an Eagle in golf. When they miss on the first try... and get it on the second: its called a birdie.

Scoring a meal on the second hit. Gives you a lower score. The more misses you make: the lower your score. The more you lose. The more misses you make: the more chance you have of starving to death. Only the best at dropping something from the air into a small cup wins in Golf. Which is the same life-dynamic seabirds and all predator birds had for hundreds of millions of years... when hard rocks were rare, and small and hard to find. Where do you think the insane idea of dropping bombs from high up in the air, to kill and destroy Life came from? It came from undead reptiles dropping stones onto shells they couldn't open with their dead beaks.

The entire game of golf only makes sense from the viewpoint of an ancient reptile bird hundreds of millions of years ago. The cameras that watch it are set at a bird's eye view. The entire concept of the game has the mentality and perspective of a bird. This is not coincidence. This is where the game of golf comes from.

The ongoing obscenity of undead interspecies misogyny: the merging of animal-human-reptile-bird undead auras. Is still going on. As a crazed, progressively more insane, more warped, layering of undead intelligences... for billions of years. Undead intelligences of birds and humans; have merged. Each species has taken on characteristics of the other. Until it is impossible to unsnarl which affected which: and which originally violated which. Both species: birds and humans exhibit the same basic behavior tactics: tactics that are basically the same, and in many cases, exactly the same. But which species poisoned which first? Did undead reptile-bird auras violate human auras first? Or did human auras violate reptile-bird auras first?

For how many millions of years has the non-genetic history of undead interspecies morphing has been going on?

Take the example of European cuckoo birds and European humans

Robber Barons and the Cuckoo Bird

The cuckoo bird exhibits the exact same tactics of child-raising that human European robber barons used at least 4,000 years ago. Did they get this from their undead ancestors? Or did their ancestors get it from the cuckoo bird?

The cuckoo bird finds a nest of another female bird that has an egg in it. It waits until a bird leaves its nest. Then it pushes out any eggs that are there and lays its own egg, or just adds its egg to the eggs already there. The returning bird does not seem to notice this, even though the cuckoo egg is larger than its eggs. Why doesn't the bird push out the alien egg? Why doesn't it destroy the cuckoo egg? Why doesn't it peck the strange egg to pieces? Science has no explanation for this.

If there is more than one egg in the nest, or if the mother bird lays her own eggs after the cuckoo bird has laid her egg in the nest: the baby cuckoo egg is the first one to hatch because its hatching time is less.

The baby cuckoo is genetically programmed to attack and either kill, or push out all the other baby birds in the nest, so they fall to the ground where they either die of cold or starvation, or are killed by predators and eaten. The baby Cuckoo becomes a huge monster: far outweighing the small frantic mother that is driven to feed the monster growing in its own nest. Once it is full grown: the baby becomes a huge bully: and repeats this cunning filthy trick on other small birds.

The cuckoo monster baby grows bigger: it is genetically programmed to be greedier than small birds and eat more than them. Cuckoo bird society is a gang society of criminals terrorizing smaller, weaker birds. They organize themselves better. They are a small elite minority: preying on the larger populations of smaller song birds all around them. Their social gang mentality and strong-arm tactics, their blackmailing-forcing of honest birds to become active enablers of their dirty little crimes. Is the same in all gang-mentality bird reptile societies: like the gang-cultures of crow and ravens. Gosh: hmmn... European culture is exactly like a European bird culture? Which one came first?

If any small bird discovers this filthy trick and refuses to raise the monster along with its other chicks. An entire gang of cuckoos terrorize and attack the one intelligent discerning small bird: and either kill it, or terrorize the other birds in the area into submission: so they do not dare to refuse this obvious deception. So they do not dare push out the cuckoo's egg even though they know it is not their egg. They bully the small mothers into taking care of the filthy greedy monster in its own nest that eats ten times more food than its own chicks do.

As a result of this genetically programmed cunning: the cuckoo does not have to waste any of its time or energy raising, or feeding its own babies. It does not have to train its own baby. It does not have to love its own baby. It's entire survival as a species is based upon infant abandonment. Even worse: it is based upon the abandonment of unborn babies. It is genetically programmed to survive on an energy of pure selfishness and sneaky cunning and deception.

Europeans who manage to fuck their neighbor's wife: play the same filthy trick which the cuckoo bird has played on other birds for untold years. They have secretly implanted their sperm: to be fed and raised by another man. They do not have to pay for the food. They do not have to raise their own child. They are fooling the cuckolded man into raising another man's child. The father who discovers that he has been raising the child of another man is called a cuckold. Husbands whose wives have gone out and secretly had sex with another man: were considered to have been cuckolded...

The cuckoo is a bird that the Europeans consider to be crazy. The cuckoo bird is believed to be crazy. If someone is considered to be insane: they are 'cuckoo'.

Read Honore Balzac's 'Droll Tales'. There is nothing funny about them. There is just the insane horror of love twisted and poisoned, passion and love twisted into revenge, hatred, rape, cuckolding, betrayal and the destruction of all love. You will get a small inkling of just how insane Medieval Europeans were and just how obsessed they were with cuckolding each other as if they were birds instead of humans. There is a logical reason for this: which will be explained later in this chapter.

This is where the word to cuckold comes from. It comes from humans acting like birds: like insane cuckoo birds. Europeans built cuckoo clocks for hundreds of years: where the cuckoo bird came out and went: 'Cuckoo! Cuckoo!' On the hour, every hour... day and night. These clocks were screaming out at all times of the day and all night, that men and women were being cuckolded. These clocks were crying out day and night the truth that married women and married men were being sexually unfaithful to their spouses. Europeans built these cuckoo clocks: they were being driven by their own subconscious awareness. Their subconscious mind was screaming at them that they were being unfaithful to their spouses. That this was no way to live, and no way to have a family, and no way to be happy. Their own clocks were screaming at them that they were all acting like crazy fucking birds.

European cuckoo clocks are driven by heavy weights hung from the mechanism that drives the clock. These weight are dragged lower and lower, as the vicious cycles of European stupidity and self-victimization: dragged European culture lower and lower into insane criminal norms of sin and crime and corruption. Until an entire continent of insane humans began killing each other for insane meaningless reasons: we call the 1st and 2nd world war. As the hundreds of millions of poor were manipulated and brainwashed to serve their rich wealth robber baron cuckoo crazy cunning masters.

The culture of European robber barons is based upon infant abandonment. Having nothing, or as little as possible to do with ugh... babies, or children, or raising children or feeding them or spending time with them as possible. Shunting them off to different parts of the castle or sending them away to be raised by strangers: like the Arthurian legend recounts was common before there was any written history in Europe. The legends and myths and fairytales of abandoned children being found by poor people: children who later are found to have come from rich wealthy robber baron elite: runs through all human history and pre-history. It just so happens that this culture of child abandonment can be documented and traced back farther and better in Europe than elsewhere.

Before the 2nd World war in Europe: the culture of child abuse and child-abandonment existed throughout everywhere. It was not just practiced by rich wealthy robber barons. Everybody practiced it. The poor, the middle class... it didn't matter what your adult status was: all adults treated children as nuisances. Dickens describes it vividly. Children were to be seen but not heard, and preferably not seen either. Children did not exist as far as adult Europeans were concerned. The culture of child abandonment by humans goes back into pre-history. The culture of the cuckoo culture in Europe also goes back and is lost in the mists of time. Nobody can say which came first.

Today all around the world:... affluent consumers are finding new ways for poor people to feed and take care of their rich, affluent children. While their western culture of robber baron capitalism is systematically starving and destroying all the poor nations in the world, and starving and raping and killing all the poor children on Earth... for insane excuses, and crazy, twisted, cuckoo reasons... as the western world gangs up... on any one single poor nation that dares to defy their bullying tactics. Over and over again. Ad nauseum.

More than 4,000 years ago: the worst European killers and gangs of professional bullies and thugs: took over the running of the honest smaller, weaker, hardworking Europeans: before the Stone Age. They became the elite kings, and rulers, and warriors of the chiefs. They became professional killers, professional oppressors, professional murderers, professional blackmailers, professional thieves, professional robbers: they became professional criminals. They enslaved the poor peasants to serve them and raise their children for them: while they went off a-raiding and killing and robbing. If any peasant or serf, or slave showed any resistance or objection to their terrorizing tactics: they were killed and burned and tortured in public as examples to terrorize the masses by. To show them the fate of anyone who dared to resist them. To prove to them that resistance was futile: and they should accept their lot passively without fighting or violence. While these same filthy robber baron hypocrites have used violence and killing to keep themselves in power and wealthy for over 36,000 fucking years. The basic rationale of robber baron culture is:

This is how fucking stupid the shit is; that every fucking new generation of civilized humans is brainwashed into... in order for the authority of robber baron culture inside civilization to keep on mechanically functioning. As a blind, insane dynamic of destruction and death.

Robber barons; systematically starved the babies and children of the poor to death for over 4,000 years. They hate their own children, and can barely stand to raise them. They have professional nannies and nurse-maids: taken from the poor lower classes to love and feed their own rich offspring. They are better organized than the masses of oppressed poor. They are gang-criminal cultures. And they have Dominated their slaves and subjects by befouling them as cunningly as possible. If their subjects even begin to set a tiny, teeny idea that their rulers are their actually their worst enemy; the rulers instantly present them with an outer enemy to hate and fear. If the masses begin to get wise to any one of their many cunning tactics of domination or suppression or oppression... they instantly distract the masses by starting a war. Wars that terrorize the masses of poor and kill them and rob them and rape their families and homes, and destroy their hamlets and burn their cities to the ground. This distracts the poor from any intelligent realization of the secret cunning of the rich gangsters: once called chiefs. Then kings, and aristocracy. Their cultures have since morphed into a layered maze of old wealth, old power, new wealth, new power. The cultures of the poor have taken on the same cuckoo bird cultures. Now entire nations abandon their infants and babies and children to be raised and fed and cared-for in day-care centers and schools. By the lowest paid, most ignorant, lowest class nannies and adolescent baby sitters, and poorly paid idiots called teachers.

European robber baron-cuckoo culture; has been exported all around the world to all other human cultures: who are copying this filthy way of living as fast as they can, and lowering the intelligence levels of their own poor and of their own elite.

This international policy of demonizing poor nations that resist their capitalistic greed of insatiable consumerism has been going on ever since the 2nd WW almost destroyed the entire western culture of crazy nationalist-consumer pride in their identity as identical... killers and eaters. Abstract crazy cuckoo identities. They lost their National identities, and gained a new, even more insane mass identity which is even more sacred and important: consumer identity. Now it is much more important what brand car you drive than what brand nationality you have. Yet it is still considered to be normal that only a few years ago... hundreds of millions of people fought and killed each other over their National brands, or their brands of National slavery-identity... what brand nationality they were.

The list of poor nations bullied by the west is a long one. The USSSR, China, Korea. Vietnam. Libya. Panama. Argentina. All the poor African nations at one time or the other. Afghanistan. Iraq. Iran. Palestine. Egypt. Mexico. Columbia. Yugoslavia. All the soviet poor republics at one time or another. All the poor provinces of China and India. Pakistan. Bangladesh. Rwanda. Nigeria. Ethiopia. Somalia. Etc...

When does the West stop bullying poorer nations? When they become too rich and too powerful to be bullied. When they begin aping and copying and mimicking the western nations and become as corrupt and as evil as they are. When they join the west, and becomes one of the bullies.

Which culture is more intelligent? Western civilized robber baron consumer capitalism; dominating the rest of the poor nations of the world? Or the cuckoo bird dominating the rest of the birds in their area? Who is more cuckoo? Humans; or the cuckoo bird? What is the difference?

Both exhibit the same tactics. Both practice the same strategies. Both successfully survive at the expense of the smaller, poorer victims they keep terrorized and stupid. Which intelligence is manipulating which?

Are we humans designed to use the tactics of a fucking cuckoo bird? Is that how we have proved our fucking supposedly superior, dominant intelligence? Do you think birds cannot manipulate us? They have been doing it for millions of years. The cuckoo bird in Europe: is only one small example of this secret manipulation of undead bird intelligence auras violating undead human's auras and vice versa.

Vice versa: is the Latin term that has been used to describe the crime of these two criminal cultures trading off their cunning between themselves: they practice their secret crimes as an invisibly as possible. By the reversal of roles and tactics and perspectives: as they see the world through the intelligence and eyes of an alien species: and so gain an alien way of thinking and become permanently insane from practicing their secret filthy vices.

The vice of reversal is a mortal crime: the sin of going against LIFE is a crime punishable by death; every single fucking goddamned reversal, every cunning swindle of reversing the meaning of words, reversing the honest good intentions of living humans, reversing the outcome of the best laid plans, ONLY just in order to ruin what is GOOD and healthy and decent and honest and intelligent: is the reason they must be slaughtered and killed. THEY are the reason that the best-laid plans of Man go astray. THERE IS NO OTHER REASON why everything to always turn out for the worse and never for the better. They need to be killed an infinite times more than they can be killed: they need to be killed so much, they are so evil: there are no words to describe what they are. Reversing things is their secret VICE, it is one of their addictions: that is why the Latin word for reversal is VICE-versa.

What do many rich Americans do? They grow lawns. They manicure lawns. They cut them to an exact height of 3 inches. They spend hundreds of millions of dollars on the care and feeding of green lawns. They spend millions of hours making sure their lawns are perfectly healthy. What for? So they can enjoy the lawn? So they can play on it or run across it, or walk over it? So they can look at it? So they can use it?

No.

Lawns are cut short so birds can hop down and find insects that would otherwise have been hidden in the tall grass, and worms more easily. Lawns are kept healthy and green: so birds can have a perfect dining table of food prepared for them, and all the insects and worms that go to make up a healthy lawn are grown there just for them. Lawns are cut short: so birds can have a clear field of vision while they are feeding so no predator can sneak upon them. Lawns are grown for birds only. No other animal uses them. No other animal has a need for them. The fact that rich humans spend fortunes on their lawn, and become obsessed with having a perfect lawn: has a lot to do with the bird mentality-intelligence inside human undead auras. You don't believe this? Ask the birds who use your lawn: who you are working for. Are you working for them, or for yourself? Are you working for their convenience, or for their convenience? Who benefits from it most? Who benefits from it least? Follow the money: follow the advantage. Whoever gets an advantage from something is usually behind it.

Reptilian undead

What is the greatest mass media craze that keeps living humans manipulated by reptile bird intelligence? Tens of thousands of humans, watching some distraction... in a huge arena... and over each arena... a blimp floats... watching the masses and the entertainment. Like a sick, insane flying reptile, floating above the carnage of the age of the dinosaurs. A mass of emptiness. A bloated corpse.

1682

Massed arenas with blimps floating over them make sense: only if the souls of living human are being controlled by ancient bird-reptile intelligence. These blimps have no reason to exist. The logos printed on their sides are not worth the cost of advertising.

What are these floating blimps there for at these events? What do they do? What are they good for? They are no good for advertising. The spectators do not even look up at them. They are no good for televising the actual entertainment. They are too high up, and too far away to be used to televise these events. They are there as a reminder of who... and what is controlling all the living human species on earth.

They are there as a reminder that the punishment of any species that is upwardly mobile: is to be controlled and dominated by another energy-intelligence that is even higher-up than they are... and has an even better perspective on them than they do themselves... and that this greater perspective can be easily used to control them to mass themselves together into arenas and bowls... just so reptile-bird undead scum can feast their eyes on these unsuspecting fools who think they are the masters of the earth...

If you still don't believe that reptile-bird intelligence can merge into undead human awareness... and through them: into living humans: Look at the red cardinal. The bird called the red cardinal has a peak on its head. It rules other birds in its vicinity. It is an intelligent bully. It is all red in color. Look at the cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church. They have been the actual power behind the papacy for over 2,000 years. Their vestment is colored 100% red. They wear a peaked cap on their heads the exact shape as the beak of the red cardinal bird. What is the Papacy? It is the Papal papers: the Banns, the Decrees, the sanctification of the Written Word as law. Brainwashing the poor masses into obeying a papal bully without needing an army to enforce it! The paper bull: is the power of Rome. The power of Rome is based upon nothing but paper. The Authority of the Roma Catholic Church is nothing but a bunch of flimsy paper.

If you want to see the visual evolution of human undead evil: study the evolution of battle armor...especially the European middle and late ages, until gunpowder made armor obsolete. Armor became more and more ugly, more bestial in shape and design. Until wings sprouted out of the tops of the helmets. Like so:

For no reason. No use. No human symbolic reason. No cultural reason. These last armored suits of the middle ages represent the last generation of an extinct evil. Extinct bird-reptile intelligence finally triumphing over the human spirit and producing insane bird-brained killers with feathers on top of their heads. Killers so cold-blooded they were more reptile than human, they were already dead inside... their reptile bird-aura had already taken over their living bodies and their brains.

These last insane designs show tiny tufted feathers, and tiny wings coming out of a suit of armor so cunningly built, so light, so impenetrable: the person wearing it was invulnerable to all attack. For no reason. No functional purpose. No aesthetic reason. By then the helmet had become a perfect coned shape that was one piece with the entire suit. It could not be pulled off. The warrior or king inside had become an armored insect with tiny wings at the top of its head. The earliest insect design of all. The entire suit representing a billion years of armored evolution before reptile took to the air and shed their heavy armor. Then there is the beetled look of a gorilla, an armored beetle: almost modern in its sick inhuman automobile sleekness. Medieval armor mirrors the insanity of the cultures that invented and created these inhuman superficial shells. They accurately mirrored the inhuman monstrosities that lived inside them... living and undead human auras merged into insane shapes and insane souls.

You can see the remains of this insane bird culture of the European elite in black and white photos and films of pre-WW1 Aristocrats; especially in Germany and Austria; with every fucking general and prince and royals fart walking around with feathers stuck on top of their fucking insane heads strutting around like a bunch of insane pompous self-important geese bowing to each other and gabbling to each other; observing the royal ritual of the pecking order of who has the most feathers stuck up their ass or on their heads; this is not human culture; it is bird culture.

When is the term 'foul play' used? When evil people allow their worst instincts to rule their actions. When horrible crimes are committed, unseen... out of sight. When secret atrocities are committed unseen. When the bird intelligence auras dwelling inside particularly nasty people gain dominance over their hosts, and go on a tear of evil... committing one crime after another... trying to cover up each foul act... as the fowl-intelligence hidden inside these living dupes vent their spleen, and gorge on the hatred emanating from their hosts. Relishing the reflective positive reinforcement of their evil and hatred, wallowing in the most evil acts possible.

Why is the word foul, pronounced the same as the word fowl? Because all undead bird aura intelligence is foul. Because living humans have been befouled by their foul presence inside their living auras for untold millennia. Because whenever there is any particularly foul crime or evil... whenever there is any particularly evil cunning plot or nefarious plan or conspiracy to commit evil; there is always a fowl... a bird aura hidden... that is responsible for hatching evil plots. Why do we use the word 'hatch' to describe how an evil idea or plan is created? Because it is hatched from the cold-blooded reptilian intelligence of an unseen, undead fowl-aura.

The human subconscious does not lie. The fact that these two words: 'fowl' and 'hatch' are used in only certain ways, and are linked to only certain semantic meanings is not a coincidence. When you commit a foul in sports, you are committing an illegal act. You are interfering with the fair play that is supposed to determine who wins and who loses. You are sabotaging the game in your favor. You are making sure that your side wins by some form of foul play. In other words: rather than allow living humans to struggle between the tension of listening to the better angels of their nature, or the worse angels of their nature: a particularly evil, foul undead aura interferes to insure that evil wins out over good. To make sure that the fight for the soul of each living human is won by the worse angels, not the better ones. In other words: you have no free will. You are merely a pawn, used by two sides of undead, unseen insane fowl-auras, exclusively for their entertainment. Nothing else. And every now and then, another fowl aura will interfere with this farce of pretending that you have any freedom in deciding whether you will be GOOD or bad.

If you actually believe you have something called a free will: try to be GOOD. See if you can consciously will yourself to actually do a good act for someone else, without you benefiting from it. See if you can do more acts that are GOOD than are evil. See if you can give more than you take... And you will find much to your chagrin, that you will be so exhausted from doing a single act of GOOD, that you will fall back and commit a thousand evil selfish acts as a reaction to your one GOOD act.

Where do you think the idea of evil comes from? What do you think evil is? It is something that is UNSEEN. It is something that is SECRET. It is something that NEVER DIES. It is a presence that never goes away. If evil were not unseen, if it were not done in secret, if it was not an intangible lurking presence that never goes away: it would not be evil in the first damned place. Unseen is the very essence of evil. If evil were not committed unseen: it would have been stamped out a long, long time ago. If evil was not committed in secret, it would have been destroyed and killed a long, long time ago. The very nature of the undead, the very nature of their existence, and the very conditions of their existence: is the defining essence of what evil actually is. There is no such thing as an unseen, undead aura that is good. Nothing that is unseen and undead can be good. And what have they done now, to cover their tracks? What have they done now? To insure that they will not be discovered? What have they schemed for thousands of years, to make sure that living human will believe that do not exist?

Science. The sanctification of what the physical world. Turning what is seen into a mysterious religion which nobody is allowed to understand. The pooh-poohing of all things which cannot be seen and the ignoring of all which cannot be explained by its idiotic dogma. The narrowing of human awareness and human minds down to the point that they will only believe what they see. Not what they don't see. The dulling of human awareness down to the point that humans will not admit that they feel any human emotion. The discounting of all: except what can be physically seen. Even worse: the discounting of everything even if it is seen, but cannot be physically touched.

Well: guess what? The realm of the undead is not physical! It cannot be physically seen or touched physically. So of course it does not exist? That is unscientific. Humans lived for hundreds of thousands of years without being able to see gamma rays. We still cannot see them. But scientific instruments can detect them. Gamma rays actually do exist. The idea of discounting something merely because you cannot see it physically, the idea of discounting and disbelieving that the realm of the unseen undead does indeed actually exist: is as insane as trying to pretend that gamma rays do not exist. They exist. Only they exist on an energy level which our living eyes are not designed to perceive.

Every European and Russian Empire, every western Imperial power in history, all the way back to Rome: had at the top of its emblem: an eagle ruling over it, grasping the entire emblem of the Empire with its claws, grasping lightning bolts: that signify that the eagle holds all power over all lower creatures. The undead reptile-bird intelligence of this image: has signified that reptile intelligence has ruled all the ruling human intelligences before Rome ever put eagles on top of the poles of their regimental emblems. Rome used the image of the eagle to signify its royal dynasty of power and greed and hate and killing power. Look at the reptilian bird images on all ancient Egyptian emblems that signify power and killing ability.

What is an Empire? It is a pyre. It is an empty pyre that burns itself out, leaving nothing but the ashes of destruction. It is built upon death. It is built to cremate the ruler of the empty pyre: so they will burn in hell forever for what they did on Earth. The bigger the ruler, the bigger the empty pyre he built while he was alive: the bigger the an empty pyre is built for his death, to insure that nothing will be left of his remains, so people will not find how rotten his dead body actually is, and how rotten his dead body smells. Funeral pyres were built to hide the stink of rotting corpses. They were made to hide the fact that the more rotten your life is: the more rotten your corpse will be. They are built to hide the corruption of the undead, they are built and used for empty souls whose dead bodies are so rotten and evil: they would otherwise poison the living earth with their dead remains.

Look at how in ancient Egypt, bird-humans having the body of a human with the head of a hawk: morphed into the God known as Osiris. ‘O’ stands for All. Siris. Was the progenitor of Cyrus the Great of Persia: who saw all and by his secret police: ferreted out uprisings and crushed them before they happened. ‘S’ stands for the cunning writhing of the snake-reptile intelligence aura, morphed with the all-seeing eyes of bird-reptile intelligence auras. Iris stands for the human eye... which later became Sirus... as all living humans became infected with this way of seeing. Osiris. The all-seeing iris of an insane Egyptian bird-god... half human, half-bird. Later to become the Norse god called: Odin, who plucked out one of his eyes and gave it to the Raven to gain wisdom. And what did Odin gain? Nothing but the foreknowledge of his own doom, his own extinction as a religious god.

In every ancient culture: these images and emblems show literally what was happening to the undead human observers as they manipulated living humans... unaware that they were also being manipulated by ancient undead intelligences so evil, so stupid, so filthy: that these undead idiots did not think anything about it... only to find out when they tried to go against their masters: how powerful their mastery of the undead energy they held actually was and still is.

Look at the ancient ships of the Greeks: they all had bulging bird-eyes on their prows, and a beak-like nose sticking out in front which were completely useless. Why? Because the Greek people were carriers of the bird virus, the bird flu, the bird culture of the unseen-undead filth; inhuman things inhabited them, and used them as hosts to spread their evil all over the Mediterranean. Find out when and where the first bird-ships came from” and you will find the origins of Western culture being spread by undead bird entities.

The ancestral lineage of manipulators manipulating manipulators goes back; back into the mists of time. Unless living humans become aware of the past: this obscene evil will continue to work invisibly... subtly... on instinctive-subconscious levels that are so blind, so powerful. Living humans are but blind puppets when it comes to being aware of how much they are being controlled by forces and urges that are so far below their conscious awareness: they cannot imagine that their conscious rationalizations are only pathetic attempts to justify the insane evil that they are being forced to commit.

Look at the oldest empire of all. Before the city of Ur was ever built in the middle of Mesopotamia: the Yellow River already had a dynasty of god-kings in far-east Asia. What was the Imperial symbol of China? The Royal Red Dragon representing the biblical evil of the snake. Which became an Imperial symbol of dynasty and pure evil for thousands of years.... Expressing only one reflective thought.... Hate. Representing all the power begotten from the spilling of red blood by killing. The killing hatred of a snake morphed with the killing hate of a winged predator... the body of a snake morphed into the body of a bird, with almost no human features: except for a humanoid face, that is so ugly, a face so grotesque, so sickeningly, obviously unnatural: it is pure evil. The cultural images of the chimera, the dragon: come from the early human undead of the east mixing their auras with other animals: especially reptiles and birds. They lived through living reptiles: using them as observers, observation posts. And became what they violated. Silent, cunning, evil filth. The same ugly horrific face that is on the most ancient Chinese dragon: is on the images of the gods of Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, India, Malaysia, etc. They all have a common cultural root of animal-human distortion into pure filth-ugliness. They all have the same evil face of pure insanity.

How could they all decide to paint and carve the same face? Hundreds of years... thousands of years... dozens of eastern cultures... all with the exact same face on their gods. This is no coincidence.

1686

What is a King called? Your highness.

Why? Not because lowly peasants look up to a high place where the king sits. But because the secret undead rulers and manipulators of living human societies: exist high over them. Because the bodies and minds of kings are infested with secret undead entities that float: unseen: high over their heads. Because the human undead scum who do this to their own living progeny: are merely copying and imitating what their rulers are doing to them. Because the secret invisible reptile-bird undead that ruled and manipulated its own progeny for hundreds of millions of years used living birds that flew high above all the dinosaurs and Saurians, as observation posts.

If you think this is a coincidence. If you think that the highness of birds... circling around a dead carcass. Is not an organic part of how life evolved on this planet. You are living in a carefully constructed dream world. Living humans do not rule this planet. Undead human filth do not either. There are layers upon layers of other undead entities... that existed long before our undead were ever created. There are higher undead entities that exist above them, before humans were ever created or born.

We did not suddenly become the masters of the earth by some magical good luck. We became masters of power and death and killing for very simple organic reasons. We served the undead of older undead entities: far better than other living creatures could. That is all. We were easier to manipulate. We were easier to corrupt. We were easier tools. We were better tools. We were tool-slaves. We were and still are the slaves of our own tools.

What do we eat with? We eat with the claws of a bird; called a fork, and the beak of a bird; called a knife. We tear our food apart just like birds do. Only... we tear it apart using a fork and a knife. The fork is the claw to hold down the meat. The knife is the sharp beak to tear apart the dead meat to be eaten better. Why? We are not birds! Our mouths are not beaks and our hands are not claws. Then why are we eating our food exactly like reptilian birds?

The only eating utensil we use that does not come from them; is the spoon. The spoon is not a killing implement. The knife and the fork are killing implements. The spoon cannot be used to kill with. It is a later tool of evil: it is the evil of the gourd: it is a symbol of greed and accumulation. It is an evil even worse than the reptilian-saurian implements of the claw and the beak. It signifies the greed we developed that far exceeds the greed of ancient reptiles. These ancient undead do not fully understand this new form of evil. But they have become corrupted by it. Just as we have become corrupted by them.

Mutual Evil and corruption is a two-way street. Undead filth of reptiles and birds have been secretly poisoning the awareness of living humans with their auras. But they are also poisoned by the living creatures they inhabited. The next time you eat. Look at yourself. And ask yourself if you are acting like a bird or like a human. Living humans have been secretly poisoned by undead reptile culture ever since we were born as a species.

Human hands were not designed to be used as claws and beaks. Our hands were designed to probe and explore living things gently and sensitively. Our fingers are flexible pliable worms. Designed to penetrate living creatures with our own life-energy: gently and sensitively. Human hands were not designed to kill with. Human hands can turn into a hard fist in an instant. And give any living creature; a sharp lesson in pain, if it even thinks of showing hate... or tries to kill or harm the person whose hands are touching it. But even a fist is not designed to kill with. We should not be using killing implements to eat with. We should not use a fork or a knife or a spoon.

We still have leftover claws of reptiles on our fingers. We call them nails. What happens when a human nail grows too long? It breaks and splinters. It hurts: splitting off into the quick and bleeding. If a human nail grows too long: it curls up and dies fast. It rots and shrivels. It is a useless appendage we have that is left over from old ancient DNA. It is a nuisance. It is something we do not need any more. If you do not let your fingernails grow too long: they are good for scratching the fur of animals. They are designed to be used for love and fun and tickling. Not for killing. You cannot kill someone with your fingernails. Our appendix is a useless organ, a useless appendage: except that it is designed to filter out toxic poisons from what we have eaten. Keeping our colon clean and healthy. Almost anything can be added to a sentence that has a colon on the end of it. Almost anything can be digested in the human colon. Do you think word-coincidences have no meaning?

Birds flock together in hierarchical power groups: just as we humans do. Birds do not use their arms when they flock together. They sit and twitter and babble. Just like we do. We spend most of our lives sitting and babbling, and not using our arms; just like birds do. For thousands of years: the high-pitched falsetto of boys and men, the highest, purest birdlike sounds of opera singers: have been an integral part of the highest culture, all over the world. The higher the human voice: the more birdlike it is: the more beautiful we consider it to be. Human females wear feathers, high plumes, extravagant plumage and fancy birdlike costumes on stage, in movies, in operas, in ballet, in clubs. Human culture is obsessed with looking down upon things. This is exactly what birds do. We do not like to touch each other. Birds do not like to touch each other. Birds like to be mobile and travel. Humans like to be mobile and travel.

What is a gun? It is a mechanical way of making your hate-filled wish come true instantly. It is the concretion of a hate filled wish. It is the power to kill safely at a distance. It is the power to kill what you look at: as if by magic. Look at something: wish you could kill it. Pull the trigger: and magically: your wish becomes true. It the concretion of the intent to kill it is the concretion of the evil eye of reptilian-bird undead auras: hating all living things and wishing they could kill them. 'if looks could kill' ... is still used today to the sentiment of dislike for another person.

'Damn your eyes': was used as a curse by the English for hundreds of years. They could see the wish to kill in other people's eyes: and they damned the haters for it. For thousands of years; Europeans cursed their enemies with this kind of witchcraft called 'the evil eye'. Until they finally developed a machine that could do what their eyes were supposed to do. Just point a gun. Peer through the sights: and kill. The gun was a concretion of 'the evil eye' of hate. It made your hateful wish come true.

Who do modern movies glorify? Who makes the news? Killers. Assassins. Human assassins using long range rifles with telescope lenses to kill with. The movies are full of them. The telescopic sight recreates the telescopic vision of a predatory bird that can pinpoint its prey from long range, and magnify the image of the prey. Undead birds: looking at long range: wishing they could kill with just their look. Manipulating living humans to invent weapons that can kill at long range just by looking at what you hate and presto: its dead. What perspective do assassins with long range rifles with telescopic sites have: they have the exact same view as a bird does: looking down at its prey, just not from directly overhead; since humans cannot fly. Does this make any human sense? Are humans supposed to only use our eyes only to kill with? Are we supposed to look at things: just to kill? Is this how we should live? Is this how we should look? Is this how we should look at things? Is this how looking should be done? Is this how looking should be used? We give these kill-lookers more publicity than anything else. We focus on these look-killers more than every living thing on earth. How sick is that? How sick are we? What has made us create this look-kill technology?

Who are your peers? Those who peer at you enviously, hatefully. What do birds do? Birds peer at living creatures. Who are your peers? Your equals. Birds hate each other. They want to kill each other. But they are cowards. So they don't kill. They only peer at creatures they wish they could kill. Who are peers of the realm? They are the peering undead who exist in their invisible secret realm. Using the rich robber barons to peer through. As they peered at their peasants from the high vantage points of their castles once. Peering at all living things below them.

Why do you think reptilian-bird auras, and human robber baron undead auras are both evil? They have the same culture. They live the same way. Reptilian undead bird auras... appearing and disappearing from one vantage point, from one filthy hiding hole to the next. From one living body to the next. Living robber barons. Appearing to sack and raid and disappearing. Hiding inside their filthy hiding holes called castles.

Appear and disappear: are pronounced; appeer, and disappeer. The 'p' sound is reflective. Denoting the way the energy auras of undead entities can bounce reflectively off things.

You think the auric intelligence of half-reptile, half-bird entities does not control human civilization. That they have not controlled humans at the core levels of their subconscious and instinctive minds for at least 12,000 years?

All birds perch. They sit. They do not stand or lie down. All birds are observers. All birds have no use for their arms; except for lateral mobility and upward mobility.

What is the ultimate achievement of modern man? A useless creature; that perches on a seat: and observes; without using arms. Humans who have no use for their arms. Except to push a button and drive from one place to another, fly from one place to another, flip from one TV channel to another, from one web site to another. Modern civilized humans use their arms for lateral and upward mobility: by using machines

We have become so inhuman: we have become birds. We have become a species of do-nothing observers. Billions of passive do-nothing conformist mindless inhuman birds. We act like birds: because their aural intelligence permeates living humans. We use our bodies like birds use their bodies: because that is what these undead entities want. They want to live through us. They want us to become as birdlike as possible. Bird culture permeates living human culture. The black gang birds of nature have been replicated as black stealth fighters and bombers. What is a bomber? It is a bird that drops a load of its own shit upon someone it hates. Because it cannot kill what it hates; it drops its feces upon what it hates. Mechanical planes called bombers are just one example of the permeation of undead and their bird culture that exists living human culture.

How deeply has undead bird culture permeated into European living human culture? What was the highest form of European culture for 100's of years? It was ballet and opera. Singing like birds... humans trying to escape gravity. Humans trying not to touch the earth. Humans walking around on the tips of their fucking toes for god's sake. Humans posturing themselves like birds. Humans dressing in bird-plumage. What is a ballerina's costume but bird plumage on a human? It is grotesque. What was the highest form of love in the highest European culture of ballet? The dying swan. The obsession of watching a swan die, over, and over again. What was the highest elite form of romantic love for hundreds of years? Loving without touching. Touching only with the eyes: love at first sight. But never touching each other with hands or arms.

‘Speak to me only with thine eyes’. Pure bird culture poisoning the best of human love with the filthy idea of untouchability.

Why? Because birds not only do not understand love: they hate it. What undead birds love is watching things they hate die. Swans are the closest thing in bird culture to human love. But they cannot hold each other. They cannot love each other. They can only die. One of them dies... leaving the other grief-stricken... suffering pain and loneliness for the rest of its life.

This form of undead bird culture... this vicarious sick sadistic observer culture of birds; watching the best of their own species die, and watching and gloating over the suffering of the surviving mate... was transferred: to the highest human culture.

So humans could perch on chairs instead of branches... and watch a human pretending to be a swan die slowly... in as much pain as possible. The undead hatred of all beauty and all grace and all love.... Transferred into European culture as the highest possible expression of artistic love. A human pretending to be a bird: pretending to die: the death of a swan as the highest form of culture, the highest human ‘love’... killing the most beautiful, the healthiest, the best of their own living species. The sick, filthy addiction and obsession of watching this ritualized death... Unmoved, indifferent. That Is not love. That is not art. It is an example of how deeply the psychosis of undead reptile-bird culture has infiltrated and taken over the highest culture of living Europeans for 100’s of years.

Modern entertainment has brainwashed and poisoned living humans with undead reptilian bird culture. Humans are not designed to act as birds! Birds sit on branches and watch and twitter and make meaningless sounds, and peck at things. They do not have hands: they have appendages that can only be used as a form of cowardice: flying away is their only defense against predators. Humans have been brainwashed into absorbing reptile-bird culture as being not only human: but the highest of all human culture.

The human ape: apes and monkeys: are the only species that have appendages that are designed to touch without hatred or killing. The human species is the only species that is not insulated from Nature and the Universe by fur or bone or hard shells or feathers. The human species is the most vulnerable species on earth. Yet it is also the most morally dominant species on earth, and the most morally powerful species. No living creature on earth can withstand a morally powerful human. A morally powerful human is invulnerable to all attack, and free from all fear of attack. Humans have not grown up enough to realize this. Samson slaying the lion with the jawbone of the ass it killed is a moral tale of superior moral power and courage. Samson could have killed that lion with his own bare hands. But he used the jawbone of the dead creature that the lion killed as a moral LESSON: to all living things.

In return: as a result of him being the strongest, bravest Hebrew: his own tribe sabotaged him. He was lured into the temptation of SEX: not love: with the sexiest woman they could find who was his mortal enemy. And... he was so blinded by sex; that he forsook his own people and became a traitor to his own family.

For example: take the most popular musical ever made: “The Sound of Music” the film begins from a bird’s viewpoint. The bird flies down to Maria as she is singing... on top of a mountain. What is she singing?

Hills do not sing. Birds sing. The movie sound of music: glorifies what birds do: climbing up into trees and perching there like birds: singing and twittering like birds. It sells the highest humanity and spirituality as singing on top of mountains. And flying away like birds like cowards from all danger: across high mountains. It glorifies cowardice and bird culture. As opposed to stern fathers teaching children discipline turning them into military robots: it sells the idea of children having fun by singing all the time, and gaining fame and recognition by singing, and gaining their father’s love by singing. The movie is not completely evil. Children do need to play and have fun outdoors in nature. But they don’t need to fucking sing like birds to do it. The fact is: human culture comes from bird culture. All human culture originates from singing and dancing. All human culture has been poisoned by bird culture. The movie sells the moral of getting married and having children... but Maria does not have children: she remains a virgin. She does not become pregnant. She merely takes on the children of a father whose wife died. She is merely a nanny for them, who finally becomes their legal mother. The dream of upwardly mobile females: to marry into an aristocratic family and become instantly wealthy and famous and socially recognized as the queen of their society: without the bother of childbirth. Instant children! Instant happiness! Instant success! The father faces down the Austrian youth who is sweet on Mary the oldest daughter. He is a converted young Nazi; proud of his German heritage and wanting Austria to rejoin Germany as a single ethnic culture. That is pure rot. No coward running from the Nazis ever faced down a Nazi youth in their lives. Yet... the boy does not shoot: he does not kill the father of the girl he loves: even though he should have. The family escapes to America and becomes rich and affluent again and escapes all the horrors of the 2nd world war. The answer to life’s problems? Fly away!~ climb mountains to escape as dirty cowards!?? Is portrayed as a form of heroism: all immigrant cowards fleeing from the nations that bore them: are heroes! Nor cowards! This is the hypocrisy of human civilization: holding national identity as worth dying for! While holding all cowards fleeing from the nations they lived in as heroes! You cannot have both. Europe exposed the fact that all her nationalities were dirty cowards. Nobody fought for their country. They all ran from professional killers. Nobody stayed home and fought. They ALL fled like the scum they were... That was the death of nationalism as a myth. Nationalism remains only as a token. Platitute. No people will ever be willing to die for their country ever again: because no people have ever done so. Only professional brainwashed armies: drugged robots: dehumanized monsters, goons, gangsters, criminals, the lowest human scum on earth ever go on rampages of mindless pointless killing..

What do you think the ‘news’ is today? It is merely an example of how deeply the culture of the undead has permeated the culture of living humans. Why do you think news programs obsess over death, and killings? The ‘news’ does not tell you what is new about life every day. It only tells you what is new about death... it tells you who just recently died, and obsesses over these deaths, and ignores all living issues, and all issues about life. It floods the market with every fucking death they can find. If nobody died near you... they will give you a fucking story about someone who died in Spain, or China. They have to give you a constant diet of death and fear; because they do not understand love or life. They only understand death and pain and suffering and fear and hate. The undead are addicted to this diet of pure insane filth.

The entire idea of untouchability: the entire idea of the untouchable female beauty of: 'look but don't touch': is bird culture: it is not human culture. It comes from birds, who have no arms or hands to touch each other with. The entire idea of the unapproachable idol, the untouchable icon, the untouchable star, the untouchable superstar, the untouchable movie star: comes from undead bird auras permeating human living auras. The entire idea of sitting beside each other without touching each other comes from reptilian bird culture. Birds don't have hands or arms. They just have wings. They cannot touch each other they do not like to touch each other. Birds socialize by sitting beside each other not touching each other and being distracted by looking at moving things. That is exactly what you do when you go to see a movie. You are doing exactly the same thing birds have done for billions of years. That is what living humans poisoned by undead bird entities. The culture of sitting next to each other but not touching each other; has taken over human society and human civilization.

The suppressed hatred of beautiful girls, the hatred of men against beautiful girls who have skin that is smooth and touchable it is begging to be touched: is created because living human cultures have not allowed men to touch girls for thousands of years. The entire concept of humans worshipping an untouchable idol comes from the alien bird-concept of untouchability. Humans were designed and created to touch each other. Undead reptile-saurian-bird culture has permeated and poisoned living human culture so effectively: that touching between living humans has literally almost completely disappeared from human societies.

If girls were not untouchable. If the more beautiful a girl is, the smoother her love-skin is... the more she is touched. She would blossom and become even more beautiful. Boys would not be forced to repress their feelings of kindness and tenderness and gentleness. Boys would not go around starved for love. Unhappy boys who were sexually repressed, would not become rapists. The concept of rape would disappear. The idea of the untouchable fashion model: look but don't touch. The entire idea of the elite, the highest classes not wanting to be touched by the lower classes. The entire idea of immaculate beauty is an alien non-human bird-concept.

This one fucking stinking filthy bird-concept; has created more unhappiness, more broken hearts, more misery, more suffering, more heartache, more evil, more hate, more envy, more unspeakable trauma, more pain, more agony, more violence, more death, more dead souls, more repression of healthy love, more suppression of healthy instincts, more twisting and stunting of human souls: than all the other evils that the undead have committed.

The undead know that they cannot allow love to exist on Earth. They know they cannot allow love to succeed. They cannot allow love to flourish. They know that human love is their most dangerous enemy.

They know that if love is allowed to exist on Earth: these secret unseen undead filth will all be completely destroyed and killed and wiped out.

They have known this for millions of years. They have sabotaged every attempt of every animal on earth that ever had a healthy instinct to love another animal.

They live by killing love. They live off sabotaging all love. They live off poisoning all love. No true love has ever been allowed to survive on Earth because of them. Every true love has been successfully attacked and poisoned and twisted into hate, fear, envy, betrayal, and been completely corrupted. They only allow poisoned love, sick, weak, twisted love to exist. But that kind of love... is not true love. It is a mockery of true love. It is a travesty, an abomination of true love.

1692

The idea of loving someone so much... you are afraid to touch them, or even look at them: is an alien bird-culture concept. The idea of being afraid of love is an alien concept that comes from undead filth permeating living souls with their fear of love.

All evil hates and fears true love.

So if you see someone... and you instantly fall in love with them...

Do not listen to the evil inside you. Do not react in fear. Smile. Touch them. Tell them you love them. Do not lie to them. Do not play games with them. Do not pretend you do not love them. Do not be afraid to touch them.

But.... This is not enough. For the person you fall in love with... must also be strong enough to not listen to their evil instincts. They must not be dominated and controlled by the secret undead filth and instantly reject your love.

This has never happened.

Whenever two people have fallen in love: undead scum have managed to poison at least one of them: so their love never blossoms. 99.999% of the time... these undead filth have managed to poison both lovers. Only rarely have they ever not been strong enough to not poison both.

The entire culture of love in living humans: has been a sick game for them. They laugh and see how adroitly they can poison each love couple easily. Romeo and Juliet are the perfect example. Love? Between warring factions? In a living human culture based upon hate and feuds? Living human culture... that is based upon keeping hate alive for hundreds and thousands of years? Ha! Easily destroyed.

Love is gentle. Love is sensitive. Love is kind. Tender, young, burgeoning love is the easiest thing for unfeeling coarse brutes to crush. The youngest flowers are the easiest to destroy. Babies are the easiest to traumatize and rape. Children are the easiest to be brainwashed. Adolescent innocence is the easiest to corrupt. The younger the love: the more tender it is, the more gentle it is, the more sensitive it is... the more easily these insane unfeeling alien undead filth can invade living auras and create such havoc: that instead of love being healthy: it becomes a sickness of aborted, repressed, suppressed emotions and feelings and instincts and thoughts. Love has become an abomination of abortion. Killed before it can grow.

If you are so emotionally dead: that you have never felt any love in your heart. They have won. If you are not in love with someone, if you are not happy and in love: they have won. If you live your entire life without ever finding a person you can love: they have won. If every attempt to love someone fails.... They have won. If every love is systematically poisoned and corrupted until all the love is gone... they have won.

It is only love that can create passion. It is only love that can create healthy happy loving gentle babies. It is only adults that love each other that can raise happy healthy children. Children learn from their parents.

Love is the second greatest power on Earth

1692

The Path of Splitness

1693

So far: solely because of undead filth secretly hiding inside living humans: love has not been allowed to flourish. So far solely because living humans are surrounded from birth by undead evil scum: it has been poisoned and destroyed. It has not been allowed to live. All love has been killed on earth by them.

You have no idea of what these undead scum are capable of. All the gothic horror stories seen in movies, all gothic romances and ghost stories have ancient castles: they all tell tales of evil undead spirits who are hell-bent upon corrupting living people. Where do these undead hide? In-between walls, in secret passages. How do they observe living souls? By watching them through the eyes of a painting. A 2-dimensional abstract image of an evil undead robber baron entity... observing everything that goes on in his castle. They hide inside coffins, inside caskets, inside chests, inside closets. They roam the passageways, they travel through walls, they disappear instantly and reappear somewhere else. They hide in basements, in the lowest coldest dungeons. They haunt all the places where they once lived. They are all cursed to repeat the same endless insane acting out of their miserable un-lived lives. They are all unhappy.

The media has made them into a joke. You are supposed to laugh at them and believe that they do not actually exist, and that they are not actually all that bad. You are supposed to believe in good whitewashed ghosts who have hearts of gold. You are supposed to believe that there are rich people with hearts of gold who are kind, and happy and loving. You are supposed to believe every superficial media bullshit they sell you. You are not supposed to research these undead filth and find out just how evil and brutal and inhuman they actually were when they were alive. Evil is not a joke. Robber barons killing people for gold for thousands of years is not a joke. People with hearts of gold are people with dead hearts. Gold is greed, gold is evil, gold is dead. Gold is death.

The sickest whitest whitewashed European robber barons. Have been easily poisoned by reptile-bird intelligence for thousands of years. This is why these murdering insane killers called robber barons could kill so cold bloodedly... this was why they enjoyed killing at a distance, as safely as they could. They are the same reptilian-bird intelligence as the auras of half-human, half-bird undead filth... that have wings... called angels. If you do not believe this. Try and touch an angel after you find yourself in their realm. They will disappear instantly before you can touch them. Because they do not like to be touched

Try approaching them... they will run and fade away... because they are all filthy stinking deceivers, and cowards. They are all filthy stinking liars. They are all evil. All entities with wings are evil... angels are not all-human spirits. They are half-bird-half-human monsters. Angels are evil.

Angels have never ever aided, or helped a single living human. They have never ever given their secret knowledge, or their life-experiences to any living soul.

Why do undead human entities called angels have wings on their back? Because they spent too much time in the bodies of birds: until their human auras morphed with the birds and developed bird wings.

Why are their bodies covered with a white robe? To hide the fact that they have feathers instead of skin. These things called angels are not human. They are not human entities. They are cancerous merged creatures; whose intelligence and awareness has been twisted and poisoned, by the very living creature they invaded to observe the living. The only difference between a devil and an angel entity: is which living creature they secretly inhabit after they die.

If an entity inhabits only one kind of species: they do not morph quite as badly as other undead entities that enter the living bodies of more than one species... both are insane. Both are evil. Both love death. Both hate all living things. What is the difference between an undead human entity that inhabited farmyard animals, and another that only inhabited the bodies of birds?

Farm animals do not have as much a phobia of being touched. They kick and bite. They are physical. They can physically attack you. Not so entities who are half-bird: with wings on their shoulders. They flee from close contact. Their bird aura-energy has instincts so strong: they overpower all human non-instinctive undead aura energy.

What surprise is it that living people passing into their realm and finding themselves viciously attacked by human entities that had been living in all the barnyard animals they themselves once raised and abused and killed would see them as horrible misshapen monsters and demons and devils. While the human entities that only inhabited the bodies of birds did not attack them physically: and were considered to be holy angels? This was how these myths were created. There is nothing unexplainable about human spirituality. Once you understand how undead auras can be poisoned and morphed by them invading living things and dead things: you will never be in awe of an undead entity again. You will understand them as insane, distorted travesties of once living humans. They are evil. All of them are evil. There is no such thing as a good angel or a bad devil. They are all poisoned auras that hate all living things. Do not worship these fuckholes called 'angels'. Kill them.

Once you kill them. You will be free of their poison. You will be able to live as you want to live. You will be able to help other living humans after you die. You will not become one of them. You will become their mortal enemy. You will become killers of these undead filth. This will make you very satisfied, and content.

*Then you will not become one of them.
Then you will become useful to living humans after you die.
Not useless. Not a poisonous filth that needs to be exterminated.*

When did babies with wings first appear in human culture?
When Herod killed an entire generation of babies... all but one.

Who was Herod? He was a destructive heron... he was the rod of iron. The male he-man. Sent down by his own god to punish his children whom he hated: not loved. He was the punisher of Jews. He was the destructive hero: destroying babies. All heroes are killers and destroyers of youth. He was a killer of small things, a killer of young babies. That is what herons do: they seek out the young of other species and kill them. Herod was possessed by one of the most evil king-birds of nature. He was just as cold-blooded as a heron. He felt nothing. Just as the heron feels nothing; because its bill is so long and its dead bone-legs are so long... that it can get away with killing the youngest babies without feeling their pain. A heron has a long reach. It can go through the marches and bulrushes and find babies hiding there, and kill them: just as Herod had a long reach, and could reach out from his palace and kill babies.

As usual: the evil undead reacting to mosses in the bulrushes: created an insane killer who was designed to stop what had already happened. Sending a heron to kill when there were no bulrushes, no rivers to search in for babies to kill. Just as the killing of babies in Egypt had been done to stop what had already happened. The Egyptian god-king being spirited away in the bulrushes. An insane heron seeking out babies, an insane Herod destroying his own people by killing all their babies.

Look at the painting of the dark ages in Europe. The stork is the most evil figure in that famous painting. It is stealing away, kidnapping two children: in a wicker basket on its back. Because it is the most wicked bird. The stork is a baby killer. It spears all the young hatchlings and froglings before they can grow up. Look at how European culture whitewashed the sly wickedness of the stork. Now; it is depicted as the bringer of babies: not a killer of babies.

Why is the stork wicked in that painting? Because it is stealing those two frightened children away: so it can teach them the ways of wickedness. The stork represents the brainwashing of children. It represents how the undead can steal them away from their own family and secretly teach them all kinds of wickedness; in evil cunning ways. Whispering into their ear. Coming into their dreams. Telling them what to do. Urging them to commit evil. Rejoicing when they listen, egging them on to commit more secret evil. There are understandable reasons for everything.

What happened then in the realm of the undead? When suddenly people started to have babies? When there was a baby boom in Galilee after this horrible atrocity? The babies grew up. Suddenly: there were more young people than old people. Suddenly: there was more youth energy than old, rotting dying adult energy.

Look at the 1960's. The baby boom that happened after the 2nd world war. The same thing happened in Galilee. They ended up creating their own culture because they were the majority. The undead babies gathered around Jesus. More undead babies surrounded him when he was born; than the undead filth of adult entities. They crowded out the evil adults by pure numbers. They had all been murdered. All the families of that sick culture had allowed their own babies to be murdered. What does this say about how truly evil the culture of the Jews was...And still is? It exposes how much all Jews hate their own young and their own babies. Because they secretly wanted to kill their own babies. They did not fight or defend their own babies from being murdered. They cared more about their filthy rotten old selves, than their own children. The backlash to this: one of the most horrible human atrocities ever committed: was Jesus. The one baby that escaped being murdered.

As a result: Jesus grew up less brainwashed and more intelligent than any other living human in his time. He grew up more innocent: because the undead aura of innocence... the thousands of baby spirits around him created a visible halo of purity.

But...

These undead babies also became poisoned with undead reptile-bird auras. They became bird-babies with the wings. They became secret observers. They became cupid. They were drawn to lovers. To shoot darts of their baby impulses into the hearts of living lovers to confuse them and corrupt their love for each other from becoming clear. They became obsessed over torturing innocent lovers by permeating them with pangs of unrequited love. They became cunning, sick sadistic undead auras. Over time... they became just as evil and insane as adult entities.

Different periods of human culture: show these undead spirits differently. Because as an accumulation of the many living bodies they inhabit alters their energy and appearance and personalities; they are continually morphing into different outer-shapes while their layered auras are continually changing.

Cherubs, babies with wings... in classical oil paintings depicting love and sacred religious myths: were only painted representing the earliest Christian myths. They were never painted to represent the myths and undead spirits of the time when these paintings were made. That is because their appearance changed over time. By the Middle Ages: these undead entities of babies with wings; had become horrible evil misshapen ugly gargoyles... that every cathedral in Europe displays. Why? Because these babies were not smart enough to avoid re-entering living animals that were not human. They morphed into insane leering things that became even uglier and more evil than the adult undead of their era. They entered the bodies of living bats: they develop ears of bats, and the wings of bats. You can see these inhuman gargoyles carved in stone on every cathedral in Europe.

Why bats? Because bats fly at night. Cupids like to vicariously peek in through windows: where lovers lie together in the night. The cupids merely used the bodies of living bats to watch in sick vicarious fascination at the sexual goings-on of sex-crazed lovers, and tormented lovers as they tried to love each other but found they could not. Because too many evil filthy secret entities were surrounding them and permeating their living energy with the most evil filthy energy possible.

This book explains things that heretofore were considered to be inexplicable.

Why do you think gang birds like chickadees, robins, crows and ravens: wash themselves, eh? They do not wallow in mud like pigs. They do not touch anything except clean pure air. They do not have any parasites on them. They are already clean. Yet, they obsessively wash themselves for no apparent reason. They do not need to wash off excess oil off their feathers. They do not need to spread oil over their feathers like ducks. It is because their living auras are infested with the auras of secret undead parasites. Their body-instincts are screaming out that they are unclean. Their subconscious feelings of dirtiness makes them do this. Gang birds are infested with criminal undead filth who once acted as criminal gangs. The reasons are simple. There are reasons for everything.

What happens when living humans begin asking questions? Undead begin to have 'fun' with them by feeding them all kinds of rubbish: in the form of unseen, secret mental communication, giving them 'special wisdom' 'special knowledge' which is supposed to 'explain' everything. Idiots like Ickes are easily fooled into believing in 12 ft shape-shifting reptiles that hide inside human bodies; being the source of evil in the world. And how does he justify and prove this? By searching the world for the dumbest black African witch doctor: a blind African imbecile even more idiotic than that mental imbecile Reverend Tutu: with the same thick glasses and brain-deadened speech of a retarded mongoloid idiot... to support his idiocy about alien reptiles merging with humans thousands of years ago; sanctifying the oldest most evil culture in the world: the ignorant superstitious crap of African witch doctors? No: the moronic drooling of the stupidest blindest witch-doctor in all of Africa.

His African myth does make some twisted possible logical sense: the volcanic eruptions which destroyed Africa for 25 million years may have woken up undead reptilian, dead and buried for hundreds of millions of years... But African myths do not tell the truth: they do not mention 25 million years of volcanoes; they do not tell the truth about undead auras. African witch doctors were the original liar and deceivers of mankind. It is telling, that the truth Icke speaks is poisoned this way: The greater the truths: the more undead shitturds need to filthy the truth with lies.

Icke was brainwashed so he would never understand that these reptilian filth were never 'alien'. These undead came from Earth: not from some imaginary alien planet. These reptilian undead came from the Age of Reptiles on Earth. Anyone with a brain who understands that the infinite creativity of the Infinite Universe is a result of Infinite permutations of energy; knows the evolution of the Earth could never be, and was never duplicated on some imaginary alien planet to create and produce reptiles who are exact duplicates of the reptiles of the Age of Dinosaurs on Earth. No other planet ever evolved to duplicate a carbon form of life. No other planet ever evolved to duplicate the entire 4 billion years of the earth's existence to such a perfect identical degree that the end result would be alien reptiles that have such a perfect harmonious energy and DNA and intelligence that they could marry-merge into living humans and hide inside them for ages upon countless ages with 'secret' advanced wisdom... hiding all of their great smarts for untold millennia... just so they could surprise this idiot Icke and give him a blast of insight which no other human being has ever been given: the great boon of a great secret lie. .

When you understand that undead auras comes from living creatures on Earth refusing to die out completely as they were supposed to, then you can easily understand how imbeciles like Icke were easily fooled by contact with undead entities who sabotaged his quest for the truth, and turned him into a figure of derision.

The point is... much of what Icke discovered is actually true...

The point is, the reason undead filth contacted him, was to poison his inquiring mind and manage to stick in enough ridiculous falsity into the beginning of his intellectual curiosity, so the relevant, major truths he did manage to figure out by himself would never be accepted by the mainstream of humanity. All these undead had to do, was get him to believe in shape-shifting 12 ft reptiles who are aliens, and voila: he is permanently shunted off to a fringe element of whacko nuts.

The point is... Icke never had the intellectual integrity to question just what was contacting him, and why it was contacting him and how it could do it, and what the reason for this contact was. The point is...Icke never bothered to question the veracity of the communications he received from some unseen source. If he had, and if he had discovered the truth: that the unseen things communicating with him are the very source of evil which he is campaigning against: not the greatest boon of mankind: they would never have let him on the air. For Instance on YouTube: Icke explaining the scientific fact that energy wavelengths actually can and do co-exist inside the same space is conveniently muzzled by the video freezing so his full explanation will never reach hundreds of viewers who might otherwise begin to figure out that the existence of undead auras is not a superstition, but a scientifically understandable phenomenon and a scientific fact. Undead seek and work to censor all truths which can unlock the truth of their hidden secret existence.

1698

Why do terminally ill people become suddenly free of pain just before they die? Why do they suddenly feel at ease? Why don't they have any guilt about all the sins they committed during their life? Why are their last moments peaceful?

I'll tell you why.

Because that is precisely the time when the secret undead scum inside their bodies and souls leave that dying person. Because undead filth want to live vicariously by sucking off the lives of living people, but they do not want to go through the final death agony of that person's body and soul... where the body struggles blindly to stay alive, and fills the person with huge waves of agony. Then... the dying person suddenly seems to be only a pale shell of himself or herself. All of their formerly nasty qualities magically disappear.

Their entire personality changes.

They have a huge sense of redemption. They have no guilty conscience. All because the filth that has been sucking their life-energy out of them, do not want to go along with them and experience dying again.

That is... if the dying person was infested by undead entities. And had tried to be a good person while they were alive. If, on the other hand: they did not try to become a good person. If they consciously and knowingly committed sins that they knew were evil during their life. Not because of the entities inside them: but because of their own evil... Then they will not have any sense of redemption when their entities leave their body just before death. Then... they will become frantic, and desperate, to be forgiven for their sins. Then they seek absolution from a minister of their faith, or from their family members whom they wronged.. Then their guilty conscience, all the feelings of guilt which were blocked and poisoned by unseen undead entities secretly inhabiting their bodies and minds and souls and hearts... will come up, and they will die seeking forgiveness for what they unknowingly were poisoned and manipulated into doing... and feeling... and thinking. All because only at the last moments of life, they are left unpoisoned by these secret stinking filthy things.

One thing is clear. There is a definite personality change which happens in dying people. Western medicine thinks that this is because of the body, instinctively creating hormonal drugs to ease its passing. That is horseshit. Western medicine pumps dying people full of poisonous drugs: because western people want to avoid all pain. Western medicine pumps dying people full of drugs: so they will not feel their own death... just as they never felt their own life. These arrogant medical imbeciles project their own insular approach to dying onto the physical organs. There are countless proven, verified accounts of people dying in pain... without any magical painlessness no matter how much drugs they are filled with.

Why do undead filth leave the bodies of living people who are dying? Because they do not want to feel pain. This is also why people who have become corrupted and infested with undead filth: suddenly come to their senses when punched in the nose, or experience unexpected intense pain. Pain drives out undead filth hiding inside you: they do not want to experience your pain. When this happens: the undead auras vacate the aura of that person momentarily rather than experience any pain at all. This is why people who go through intensely painful ordeals: are momentarily cleansed of much of the undead auras that poison them, this is why their personality changes for the better, and why they develop a much healthier outlook on life, and they lose their arrogance and evil pride and egotistical vices. But they come back. They come back and poison your life as fast as they can.

1699

Many dying people undergo a change heart simply because undead auras do not want to experience pain. They do not want to experience the pain of dying. They only want to view it insularly... painlessly... from outside you: not inside you. This is why undead must be killed, this is their secret insanity: a one-sided secret hidden existence of vicarious distraction and pleasure and no pain. This is why they are inhuman. They do not feel pain. Any human that does not feel pain is inhuman.

What is inhuman? Inhumanity is the undead evil of secret invisible auras in all living humans. It is the unseen undead secretly living IN Humans. Inhuman is evil. Evil is in humans. Evil exists secretly inside living humans. Inhuman is evil.

Inhumanity: IN HUMAN I T Y

In human. I = the unseen eyes of undead living inside you... T = truth: Y = WHY

In Human I Truth: why?

Why are these inhuman undead unseen filth living in humans?

Because they are EVIL. The TRUTH about all inhumanity is their secret unseen existence IN humans. Do you want to go through your whole life without realizing you are nothing more than a convenient living shell for secret undead invisible filth that uses you by: hiding inside you?

Dying people undergo huge life-changing realizations just before they die for a damn good reason. People change their entire outlook on life just before they die for a damn good reason. They do this: because those few moments are one of the few times in their lives that they are inhabited and spiritually poisoned by these unspeakable filth.

What is the point in your life... if just before you die... you realize you never did what you wanted to do? What if just before you die... you realize that you never lived as you wanted to live...

What if just before you die, and these secret scum finally leave you unpoisoned... what if that last moment of life... is the only clear moment of understanding and perspective and wisdom you have in your whole fucking life?

What good is this then? What good was your whole life: if all you did during your entire fucking life: was what the secret filth inhabiting your mortal shell wanted you to do, eh? How can you fight them? By living without fear. Not without hate. Not without love. Not without passion. It is good to hate these secret filth. It is good to love those who are gentle and kind. It is good to hate those who are cruel and nasty. It is good to be passionate about your life. But it is not good to live in fear. That is all these secret filth are. They are weak reflections of fear. They try to re-reflect all of your fears, so that your fear becomes more powerful than your courage. They try to re-reflect your dishonesty... so your dishonesty to yourself and towards others becomes more powerful than your honesty.

If you live your life honestly, and with courage. If you live your life without dishonesty and without fear: you will have defeated these secret filth before you die. You will then become so powerful when you finally die... that you will be able to kill them.

This is what they do not want to happen.
Your entire life is a struggle between life and death.

If you can find what life is. If you can create more life energy, than you destroy life-energy while you are alive. Then you have succeeded in not only defeating these invisible filth while you are alive...

You will have found the only purpose worth living-for. The only reason to living is life. The only meaning to life is living. It is that simple. It is not abstract. Life is not abstract. It is actually alive. Dead things are not actual: they cannot act by themselves, they only react to living energy touching them. If you can rid yourself of all the abstract dead shit inside you and around you. If you can rid yourself of all the abstract shit of civilization while you are alive. Then you will have lived for a reason. Then your life will have meant something to other living people.

It is that simple. Words are meaningless: unless they are put into action. Abstract meanings are meaningless: unless you actually live them.

One Example of evil of undead filth

In Inn
Kin
Skin

When undead filth go in... into your living aura: they poison you with not only their presence, but with their personality, their neurotic wishes, their secret agendas their need to live through you, their vicarious need to experience Life... because when they were alive, they were not actually alive... they were poisoned by undead auras... who also had a vicarious need to experience life because they did not experience their lives when they were alive...because they were poisoned by other undead filth... and so on, and so an... all the fucking way back to the first living creature that was poisoned by the first undead filth who had not actually lived their Life.

In Inn
Kin
Skin

Once an undead filth can get under your skin, seeping into your living aura: they like to stay there as unwelcome guests, for as long as they can. The trouble is... there are many undead filth trying to do the same thing they are doing, and some undead are forced to leave the inner confines of your skin because other undead shit is always coming in and pushing some of them out..

Your living Aura is like an Inn for them. They come into the Inn to get drunk, to enjoy company for while. Some of them live at the Inn under your Skin. Some of them come by just for one night, or only in the afternoons. Some of them come by only on weekends. Then there is the Innkeeper. That undead shit is the permanent hidden undead resident of your living aura. If certain undead auras become too rowdy and too drunk and start breaking the furniture: he or she kicks them out. Otherwise; it spends its time serving the filthy secret agendas of undead shit who stay at the Inn. Most of the undead shit secretly hiding inside the inner confines of your Skin are Kin. They are your immediate ancestors; the ones who gave you Life. They figure since they gave you Life: it is your obligation to give them life also; so they live through you vicariously; poisoning your personality so much that your own unique personality is drowned out, until your personality becomes merely an accumulated collage of the accumulated sum of undead shit Kin secretly living through you inside the inner confines of your skin.

Inns were invented by hidden undead shit because these undead shits had been using living people as Inns for millions of years. Undead Kin have been living under the Skin of living humans for millions of years. Human language was invented by undead shit; in order to hide their presence from the living people they used and lived in. The semantic meanings of words are unconscious-subconscious exposures and disclosures of all the hidden truths, all the hidden evil of these undead, unseen shit-filth.

Who goes to an Inn? What was the attraction of the first Inns? Inns were the gathering places of the lowest, filthiest, dirtiest lowlifes... the dirtiest, most worthless cripples, addicts, thieves, murderers, scam artists, peddlers,... the most evil scum on earth. No decent person ever went to an Inn. No decent person ever spent all of their wages on the rotgut sold there, leaving their families and wives alone and starving. It was only the worst, the most evil, the most corrupt, who ever went to an Inn. It was only travelers from foreign lands. Evil people sent to spy upon others, sent on evil errands. It was only evil plotters and backstabbers and betrayers who spent time at Inns. It was only professional thieves and murderers and criminals, and outcasts of society who frequented Inns... Now you know where the idea of building an Inn came from. Now you know where the word comes from. Now you have a slightly better idea of just how evil all these undead shits are...

Now you can see why there is such a thing as living human overpopulations... Not enough Inns? Build more Inns! We need more Inns! Now you see what happens when billions of undead shits try to live again vicariously... because they did not experience their lives when they were alive. Now you know why you didn't experience your life when you were young... now you know why you aren't fully experiencing your Life now.

The Blindness of the undead

Why do the dead inhabit the bodies of the living? What is the basic, common sense reason for this? Because after they die... they cannot see the rays of the sun. They are blind. They have no organic living eyes to see sunlight with. They exist in a black nothingness. All they can sense apart from blackness: is the radiating aura of a living thing, which has enough energy to send out as a form of radiating energy... so it can be viscerally felt by the faint energy of an undead ghoul.

They use the living as eyes to see. They cannot see anything with their undead eyes: except vaguely feeling this kind of living-radiating energy. The entire physical world disappears when you die. All you can see are living auras that radiate energy strongly enough in your vicinity, so it actually impinges on your aura.

Why do you think all human spectatorship and media focuses on looking from the outside at things? Because these undead things cannot see anything in their realm outside themselves... except living auras... whom they invade and violate: so they can use the eyes of the living. To see again.

Why do you think the first living things they entered were the bodies of birds? Because birds see more clearly, and farther, and travel farther than living humans do.

Look at the totems of the pacific coast natives of America and Canada: all of their ancestors are half-human, half-bird monsters...

The older the ancestor... the less human it is; the more they look like a bird.

1702

The undead gravitate towards living-seeing things, like blood suckers smelling blood; lodging themselves secretly into the flesh of living creatures. They are obsessed with secret seeing. Any human who dies... and does not die completely... any human undead that lives long enough in their black realm of nothingness: becomes insane.

There is no way to stop them from becoming insane. There is no way for they can stop themselves from becoming destructively insane. There is no way that they can prevent themselves from destroying living things by poisoning the auras of the living who they need to see through. They use living animals and living humans as reflective eyes. They use us and birds and other animals to reflect upon the lives they vicariously experience...

But they do not, and never have reflected upon their own lives or their own existence... If they did... They would not only go more insane... they would all try to commit suicide. Because the horror of what they are doing and the horror of what they have done for these millions of years: is so horrible; they cannot grasp it or face it...

This is one root reason for human denial

You are not in control of your own body or your own mind, or your own awareness. They will not allow you to realize the horrible truth: that these secret scum actually exist inside you... this is why when you read this book: you will feel huge instinctive and subconscious forces inside you: to disavow these truths...

Even though deep inside you... your tiny, undeveloped true self; is screaming at you that everything in this book about undead entities is actually true.

The act of reading this entire book: will force these scum to expose themselves inside you. They will do anything to fool you into believing that what is written in this book is untrue.

You will feel an overwhelming urge... to deny every well-known historical fact that has been used in this book: to illustrate their secret evil existence inside you. You will be pushed towards such a state of extreme denial: that you will develop amnesia: rather than remember what you have read in this book. The few humans who are strong enough to read the truth and accept it: will have their brains and souls blasted by this book. The few honest, courageous humans who are not completely controlled by these secret scum: will be shaken to their roots by this book...

As for you others... you will rage and deny and hate and fear these words... you will burn this book, and try to stamp it out. You will fail. The truth will gnaw its way inside you slowly... even as you hate to admit it... you will try to forget you ever read this book. But you will not be able to...

The time has come for all humans to know the truth about who and what we actually are. We the living: are, and have been for millions of years: only vassals... vessels... to be used by undead things as eyes, and ears, and mouths...

The insanity of undead human entities can be understood. They are an accumulation of psychotically layered personalities. Depending on how old they are, and how many lives they have secretly experienced vicariously... and how strong the personality of each person they lived-through was... they can have not two, but dozens... hundreds, even thousands of different personalities. Their original personality can be buried and forgotten by vicariously living in so many living people, and animals and birds...

What are the descriptions of Daniel Webster grabbing hold of the devil himself? What are the descriptions in , countless folk myths of a strong man struggling with an evil spirit? Grabbing hold of the devil... the incarnation of pure evil? How do myths, fairytales and folklore describe evil sorcerers and witches?

When they are physically accosted and gripped... they change shape... they change their appearance... they become a cat, or a serpent, or an eagle, or a wolf... they change their appearance. They become horrible ugly misshapen monsters, or hags, or morphed things so horrible... in hope that that the honest human fighting their evil will be frightened by it, or disgusted, and will let go of them.

This is one of their sick, cunning defenses against all honest humans... but it is also perfectly understandable defense. It is the same defense that any animal, any bird, any human, when trapped, and has no way out will instinctively resort to... they will reveal their worst side to you. They will bare their talons, flap their wings, scream, growl, rage, writhe, struggle. They will hiss at you with the eyes of a snake, they will turn into many horrible forms.

If you are an undead filthy evil thing that has lived for hundreds of years inside the bodies of animals that are not human... if you have their personalities imprinted upon your forgotten, faded, old original personality. If you are threatened. If you are shocked. If you are touched or grabbed violently... you will regress back to the earlier forms, you will reveal your true form and you will reveal yourself as a morphed-merged, foul accumulation of many, many personalities and animal shapes.

The true nature of these undead scum has never been understood. This book exposes them for what they actually are for the first time in human history.

Study the history of two-dimensional abstract images. Two dimensional images; are what human culture is made of... human culture began with abstract two-dimensional images... made for two-dimensional undead filth entities...

Look at the history of modern 2-dimensional images. The first mass-produced camera was a box... a coffin containing dead images... called a brownie.

The entire concept of preserving dead images... is sick. It comes from the ancient Egyptian concept of preserving dead images, and worshipping and valuing those dead images more than living things. Before the invention of the brownie camera: a brownie was a European evil spirit that lived in coal cellars and in the dank, dirty corners of every house...

Whenever anything bad happened: it was blamed on the brownie... whenever any milk was spilt, so it could rot and become a culture of bacteria, that the aura of the brownie undead spirit could feed off this lowest of living energies.

The brownie is an evil spirit that resides in the rectums of all civilized living humans... they feed off the dirt, the feces of what we defecate... the exist inside our bowels... feeding off the corruption of rotting food... food we were never designed to eat in the first place... they live as rotting gases, they control our farts, and our bowels... they are one of the lowest orders of undead things that inhabit us... why do you think they were called brownies? Because they reside in brown dirty rectums...

The first mass-produced camera called: the brownie: was one of the filthiest inventions ever created. It resulted in an explosion of two-dimensional filth called pornographic photos...that was part of the cunning systematic process of turning living humans away from three dimensional life and living only through two-dimensional media images.

It was called a brownie for good reason... it created the barrage of two-dimensional pornography, and two-dimensional brainwashing propaganda of movies, photos, television, internet, etc...

The first moving images ever printed in the flash-card series of photos, that preceded both the brownie and moving pictures: were pornographic ones of a man fucking either a woman or a donkey... depending on how the image was assorted.

This dirty truth was instantly covered up. The true pornographic origin of 2-dimensional images was covered up... just as the first two-dimensional images ever made were also pornographic in nature.

Every evil is covered up as fast as possible and hidden from view. All hidden evil is more evil than the evil that is visible.

The roots of evil are kept hidden. The first two-dimensional photos ever spread in public: were pure pornographic filth. They were dirty pictures. They were screaming out that this new invention was vicariously dirty. Everything dirty in human civilization... becomes normalized as fast as possible. It is covered up, over constant accumulating layers, over long periods of time. Human history is nothing but layers and layers of covered-up evil.

Guaranteed Guilt

How could the undead make sure that whoever came to their realm: they would be even more guilty of crimes than they were? For at least 36,000 years: these insane scum had a damned good way to corrupt living humans. The way they did it was simple... they got living suckers to commit crimes...By worshiping the undead: as spirits, as gods, as their own undead ancestors. They got the living to worship death. They brainwashed living suckers to sacrifice and kill living animals for them. They brainwashed them to sacrifice living children for them. They managed to develop cults that sacrificed living human children. They got them to burn food for them... they got them to burn salt for them... they got them to sacrifice their entire fucking living lives to them. They fooled living humans into wasting precious resources.... They fooled living humans into killing other living humans. They fooled living humans into killing:

Human children, the children of animals... baby animals... lambs, goats, sheep, horses, cows, chickens, bulls, slaves by the hundreds, and thousands; were killed alongside a dead king.... Just to make sure that his guilt of living crimes was bigger than his father's guilt of killing living things. This escalation of living sacrifices became so insanely destructive: the ancient emperors of chin finally began using clay figures: to represent the actual living sacrifices they once used.

They fooled living humans into burning oil for them... into burning fat, into burning living humans alive for them. They fooled living humans into slaughtering living animals and living birds and living humans, and living fish for them...Just to worship them or ask for a boon, a favor, a request.

Then. When the living suckers died: they were blamed and accused of the very crimes they committed while worshipping and respecting and practicing the ritual sacrifices that all human cultures have been brainwashed into doing for them. Ignorance is no excuse: if a living person kills another living thing: they are guilty. Even if they were fooled into doing it by the scum who secretly influenced them to do it.

If any new soul that died gave them any problem: they had this as a guarantee of guilt. Revealing to them that all the sacred acts of religious sacrifice were actually the crimes of their life: that guaranteed they were guiltier than the scum who they were sacrificing to.

*Are you beginning to realize how sick these fucking scum are?
Are you beginning to realize how much they hate living humans?
Are you beginning to realize how evil these unspeakable things are?*

36 thousand years of killing. 36,000 years of sacrifices to them. 36,000 years of witch doctors and religious priests inspecting the bloody entrails of dead-killed-sacrificed animals. Just to make sure that the living would have blood on their hands. Just to make sure that all humans when they came to their realm: would have blood on their hands...

They have laughed about this for 36,000 years: they consider all living humans to be the most stupid, unaware naïve, fools ever born.

A living human: killing another living thing...

Just to placate a dead human god, a long-dead ancestor, an undead reeking fiend of pure rotting evil.

Don't the fucking idiots know that dead things are the enemy of living things? Don't the fucking idiots know there is difference between a dead thing and a living thing?

Living things should be on the side of living things. Living creatures should be on the side of Life.

Dead things are on the side of death.

How fucking elementary and obvious can you get? These fucking idiots are so stupid: they do not understand the difference between LIFE and death.

Well... in that case: let's see how dead we can make while they are still alive.

And let's see how alive we can make ourselves while they are dead.

Let's mix them up so fucking much: they won't know whether they're coming or going. Let's turn everything upside down. Let's make them worship the dead skies that birds fly in: and fear and hate the living earth, let's make them worship cold air and fear the warmth of the earth. Let's call the earth hell and the empty sky heaven. Let's make them believe in empty promises and think they will go to a non-existent realm in the sky.

What is hell? It is the magma of the living earth. It is the only living warmth that keeps the earth alive. It is the only energy that keeps the earth alive. Without the living magma of the earth: the earth would be as dead and as cold as mars or mercury. What is heaven? It is the realm of birds. It is emptiness. It is cold death. The red magma of the earth is good. The empty emptiness of the air is death. All evil comes from emptiness. All good comes from the solid warmth of the earth. It is the warm earth that is heaven. It is the cold air that is hell. It is the evil of upwards mobility, the evil of reptile birds never touching the warm earth, the idea of a mythical upper realm that is hell. All evil comes from higher authority: all good comes from the lowest authority. Let's make them forsake their mother earth and yearn for a mythical, non-existent emptiness: lets turn this truth upside down. Let's make them believe that the worst thing that could happen to them would be to go down into the living earth and the best thing they can do is to forsake their mother earth and live in the deadest medium possible: the medium of the thinnest, most empty gas possible. And laugh at them when they find out that it is the other way around when they get here.

Living things worshipping dead things. Worship woe ship. Shipping the woes of the undead onto the living. Deceiving the living and brainwashing them to live in a state of worry... wor... war... woe... worried, afraid that they did not sacrifice enough living animals to their ancient spirit gods. Warring between each other because the spirits inside them encouraged their worst feelings and put their own hate into these living unsuspecting dupes... just so the undead could have a chance to feel what it is like to kill another living thing again. That was the state of living human awareness for untold millennia: a state of woe and war and worry and insane deluded worship of invisible undead filth.

Living in woe, unhappy. Worship, woe, worry, war, warship worship: worship warship... the skill of war, and the skill of shipping worry and woe. You mean they are connected? Gee. Duh. Dead things worshipping living things?

*Never in your fucking life my friend.
Worship is woe ship*

It is the hidden dead... shipping all their woes to the unsuspecting living. Piling all of their own sins and crimes onto the backs of the living. By worshipping your parents. By refusing to be critical of them. By not admitting that they made any mistakes raising you: you do not learn from their mistakes. You end up raising your children as your parents raised you. You end up repeating the mistakes of your parents. You end up recreating their woe and pain on top of all the woe and pain they already created. You end up shipping all of your woes to other lands, to other people: because there is so much of it accumulated in your family, inside you, in your culture, in your nation. You end up damning yourself to misery and unhappiness.

For good damned reasons... for god damned reasons... for the sin of worshipping gods who should be damned to hell. All gods and all undead filth should be damned to hell for the sins they have committed upon the living. All gods are damned. They should all be cursed and hated. The evil they have created is unspeakable. The human subconscious began finally rebelling against them after thousands of years with the invention of a new religion that did not fear gods as much. Cursing became a sin. Expressing anger became a sin. They tried to suppress the rage of living people by forbidding them to curse their gods. They deflected anger and rage and used this energy to create more evil by focusing it against living people. Not gods. Gods were supposed to be worshipped; not cursed.

It is worse-shipping. Shipping the worst human scum on earth. It is worse-shipping the worst ideas and the worst gods. It makes you worse; not better. The Norse God Wodin was a god of Woe: in the din of battle he spread his woe. All the living warriors who worshipped him who killed and fought and hated were his dupes.

The only way these undead spirits and gods and ghouls can avoid carrying their own woes... is by making your life worse than theirs was. The only way these undead spirits and gods and ghouls can avoid carrying their own woes... is by shipping them. Out of their bodies: and projecting their filthy evil onto living humans.

The reason they make you worship them, is to see cunningly like a snake; as you make your life worse by worshipping them... woe reason... see?

Worship is a subconscious subliminal process of willingly taking on the woes and crimes of your own ancestors. What is Wodin? It is the din of war and woe drowning out all human intelligence; it is the worship of war and killing and it is totally evil.

Living humans are the vessels of dead humans. Dead humans reside inside living humans... vassals are vessels... of dead souls. Kings are vessels of dead kings...

You mean water seeks its own level?...

Yes and no...

Evil seeks equality. It seeks to make all human souls equally evil

This is why evil seeks out the most pure good, the healthiest good and tries to corrupt it.

Evil is attracted to good. Because it is not equal to it.

Evil hates good. Because it is not equal to it.

Evil fears good. Because it is not equal to it.

Evil envies good. Because it is not equal to it.

Evil seeks to corrupt all good... all evil hates all other evil. Haters hate haters. They hate lovers even more, they hate everyone. They love besmirching anyone who is purer and better than they are.

Good does not seek to corrupt evil. Good is not cunning. Good is not sneaky. Good tries to make other people better. Evil tries to make other people worse.

It is time to change the direction of this one-sided dynamic. It is time for GOOD; to start killing evil. Not the other fucking way around.

Living humans have been brainwashed into becoming willing slaves of the undead. They do the will of the undead. They do not do any will of life. They only have wills of death and dead things inside them. Hundreds of millions of Christians were supposed to suffer for the death of Christ. Millions of unbelievers were supposed to be killed for the death of Christ. The death of Christ symbolized the spiritual death of all hope in living humans. Christians became willing suffering vassals and slaves to religious guilt. They were brainwashed into willingly taking on all the sins of their fathers and forefathers.

By committing the unforgivable sin of forgiving what cannot and should never be forgiven. By letting all sinners and all criminals off the hook. The result has been a total moral catastrophe. A total moral cover-up. The majority rules.

Roman emperors ruled in conjunction with the worst mobster criminal gangs in Rome. The lowest classes were allowed to rule their own cultural ghettos: simply because the elite class did not go there or want to admit they existed. As the King of Thieves ruled the underclasses of Paris in the middle ages. And the roman gang leaders of each sector of the poor ghettos of ancient Rome ruled their underclasses.

The power to forgive was once the sacred, privilege of a god. Only a god had the power to forgive you your sins and crimes. Once living people could forgive not only their own sins, but the sins and crimes of others?

Europe descended into an insane hell called the dark ages. There was no authority from above. People died by the thousands. Madness and insanity exploded in mass paranoia. Fear was everywhere. Evil was everywhere. There were no morals, no ethics.

Why?

They had correctly rejected all Roman civilized morals and ethics. But they had nothing to replace it with. They did not understand that they were living inside an accumulation of 11,000 years of poisonous evil called civilization: they had no historical perspective. They were caught between the insanity of the past and the emptiness of the future. They could not realize that 11,000 years of cultural insanity had already made them so culturally sick: they could not heal themselves. They were not emotionally honest enough to face the truth. They were not mentally courageous enough to think logically. The truth was too horrible to face. They could not admit the truth to themselves.

The tradition of the Christian churches was to preach softness, meekness and forgiveness in their masses: to the masses. They created a mass of weakened, blind, brainwashed victims. They created a population of suckers and helpless whining imbeciles: who fell prey to the worst criminal elements in their society. Then the northern robber barons: the Norsemen came a-raiding: and found easy pickings. And were slowly Christianized into weakness and blindness also.

The myth of Odin screams out the sin of the first Norse undead: Odin plucked one of his own eyes and gave it to the most ancient raven... in return for what he thought to be ancient wisdom. Instead: he became mentally insane: just like the birds whom he gave the use his eyes to. The myths of North American natives are full of evil bargains between humans and a crow or a raven. The crow is a jokester, an insane laughing maniac who crows at all human suffering. The raven is an indifferent inhuman thing who has no feelings. Oh. You mean the way ravens and crows actually live; is because of what is inside them? Duh. Drive out the crows and ravens from where you live: and you will be attacked by falcons and eagles. Drive out jays from where you live you will be hated by crows. Drive away any gang of birds and they will all turn against you. They are powerful because they are a single morphic insanity. Secretly infecting human awareness. They are effective because they are all-pervasive. They are not an individual awareness.

You can see reptile-bird mentality infecting human culture on TV.... More and more: watching... more singing.... More posture-dances. More idols. Where do you think human culture came from? All root human cultures are made of two things: song and dance. The idolatry of the highest. Human culture comes from bird culture. Birds sang and danced for hundreds of millions of years before we were ever born. We did not copy them. Their undead entities infiltrated us. Undead bird spirits seeped into empty, dead, impoverished human souls. Seeking its own level of evil.

Undead entities invade living humans in their sleep. Where do they go when their living victims wake up? Why do they mostly invade living humans when they sleep: not when they are awake?

This is why evil spirits always left living humans at dawn, and why they only attacked and violated them when the sun went down... undead entities hiding inside living birds during the day: shift to suck off sleeping humans at night: and then when the sun comes up: and birds open their eyes... when birds begin singing... This marks the end of evil spawn poisoning the dreams of living humans.

Living humans have always feared the night. For hundreds of thousands of years: the night meant visitations from the spirit-world. It meant hauntings, foul dreams, things going 'click' in the night, it meant ghosts attacking the living, it meant nightmares. The signal for this evil to leave has always been the first light of dawn: when sleeping birds open their eyes, and begin singing: greeting the sun. This is the actual reason for why these undead spawn do not stay when the sun comes up. It is not because they fear light. It is not because they sleep during the day. They are sleepless. They do not sleep. They cannot sleep. They have too many horrors of their own souls that would come and terrorize them if they slept.

Now... do you understand this secret ongoing horror? Now... do you understand why nightmares and dreams end just before dawn? Now... do you understand why most birds on earth live around human house, and perch there during the night? Not far off in hundreds and thousands of miles of empty birdless forests: where they belong.

But now: living humans are too drugged and too insensitive to even realize the fact that they are visited every night in their living life... by these undead spawn of hell. Now... do you understand why living humans no longer remember their own dreams? Because their dreams are not their own. The entire sleep cycles of living humans who eat modern mass-processed poison-drug food and beverages: have been so poisoned and corrupted: that they no longer dream. They have no dreams.

And so it goes... every new filth, every new evil these sick spawn of pure filth create: turns to ashes in their own mouths. What was once a secret hiding place for them during the night time when birds slept: has become so poisoned by the living soul's own energy and own psychotic subconscious... that they only become ever more, and more insane by entering into the subconscious insanity of their living victims.

Now do you understand when you wake up in the morning: why one bird comes by to look into your window at you? The secret spawn that used you while you slept... is now outside of you... is now inside the bird: looking at you: coldly. Inhumanly. Disinterestedly. It is laughing at you... it is telling you that you are nothing more than a convenient dupe, a toy for its pleasure. It is telling you that it has two perspectives of you that you can never have. An outer one; that looks at you with an alien species awareness. And an inner one that cunningly poisons your subconscious while you sleep. And uses your dreams as a game, a distraction. By entering into your dreams. By monsters and nightmares of horror and violation. Violating and raping your dream state every night. Until you stop dreaming. You have no idea of how deeply their undead culture has permeated itself into living human culture.

The brains of birds are not integrated. Bird intelligence is a schizoid split of two half-brains, and two eyes. Each eye is independent of the other. Each half-brain is independent of the other. Birds look at you sideways: not head-on like we do and other predators. When they look at you sideways: they are only using one eye to look at you with. They are only using one half of their brain to understand what they are looking at.

1710

Even though doves have brains the size of a pea: they are more humane than other birds with far larger brains: because they look at each other head-on. They are more gentle and caring towards each other than other birds because they look at each other head-on: and in doing so: a tiny bit of their split half brains synchronize enough for them to become aware of each other, and anything they look at in this way. This split-brain psychosis of reptilian birds was what allowed them to remain unaware of what they were doing, and pretend they did not understand the sins they were committing for hundreds upon hundreds of millions of years.

Then human undead entities merged with reptilian undead auras; and they became too aware: too intelligent for their own good. They wanted to be able to violate human undead auras, but escape being morphically poisoned by this cross-aura misogyny. They tried to mold humans into birds. They are still trying to make human awareness into the insane half-split brains they have.

The undead spawn of reptile bird intelligence-auras see no use for two eyes after they die. These undead auras only use one eye at a time to observe with. They hate the perspective humans have with their dual-vision. They do not understand cross-wiring two halves of a single brain.

They cunningly tried to get humans to become one-eyed monsters. They poisoned human auras with their intelligence: so the highest human undead: became more bird than human. Those most evil, filthiest spawn... those most ancient human auras... called gods. And these gods... the bird-gods of the undead.... Sent down sacred ultimatums to living humans. The Semite god uttered these words:

If thine eye offend thee: pluck it out.

What sane pronouncement is this from a human god? No sane human wants to pluck out his own eye... that is: unless he is an insane bird-human ruler of the realm of the undead. Who wants to keep both the living and undead of the human species as blind as possible to the fact that they are being ruled and manipulated by even older and more ancient undead spawn of pure filth.

The ancient Greeks obeyed their Gods: they blinded themselves rather than face the truth. They blindfolded themselves when they had sex with each other. They blindfolded their ideas of justice and fairness. They blinded themselves by wearing masks with no eyeholes. They blinded themselves by making stone statues of dead souls without eyes. > representing dead souls with their eyes missing. They represented wisdom as blindness. They worshipped the blindness of their gods, and glorified and worshipped those living Greek filth; who were the most blind of all. They worshipped a blind poet who lied about what he had never seen. They worshipped the wisdom of a blind ass named Socrates who blindly preferred death over life, and died by becoming blind in his eyes first: before the rest of him died.

The Scandinavian God... obeyed this law also. After he died. The oldest most corrupt Scandinavian undead spawn of hell: plucked out one of his eyes: and that undead thing has ever since been know as the one-eyed God called Odin.

This is how sick and how cunning these filth are: when a healthy human senses their filthy presence: they want to rip out the scum that is hiding inside them. By harmonizing with this healthy instinct: these scum made the healthy person who could not bear to allow these filth to use his eye for their own purposes: he damaged himself. This is what the cunning filth think is a fine joke: they want humans to

remain as blind to them as possible. They want all humans to rip out their own eyes so they will not see the truth. They want complete blackness. But they balk at that complete blackness....They still want to see through human eyes... so they got one Scandinavian to rip out one of his eyes: thinking this would give him the vision to see more clearly. Without seeing with any perspective. Without any wisdom, without thinking more than one thought.

The Scandinavians worshipped blindness also. All civilized humans worship blindness: and shun awareness like the very devil himself. Even though it is only through greater awareness, and not through blindness that humans can ever heal themselves and this raped, dying Earth we live upon today. Odin, Oedipus... the pus of eyes being ripped out... odious truths too awful to stomach or see, Yahweh forbidding the Semites to see the odious truth. Plucking out their own eyes rather than seeing him as he actually is... a hate-filled vengeful monster so foul and so evil there are no words to describe him.

Where does modern European robber baron culture come from? Where did the kings of France and Germany and England and the czar of Russia come from?

From the North. From Northern Europe. From the last wave of barbarians that raided and conquered and settled in Europe. To rule as the last dominant robber baron culture. They came from the North. They believed in strength: not weakness. But like all stronger healthier warrior cultures. They were simpler and more innocent than the weaker, older civilized cultures. They became more civilized: but kept all of their Norse robber baron culture alive but unspoken. They were the last barbarian culture that were better killers, and had not been colonized yet by an older civilized culture. Now this Norse culture rules the world: as a corrupted, weakened form of upward mobility called global capitalism. Now: robbing and stealing and raiding has been abstracted and legalized. Now hate and evil has become so covered up. Now truth has been so blackened, and lies have been so whitewashed. There is so much misinformation, and mistaken assumption. That you have to become a professional historian: and study history for years... sifting to find out what is a true fact, and what is a cunning lie. Before you can develop enough historical perspective to understand all of the insanity that is actually happening in the world today.

Simple moral lessons still have not been learned by humans.

If you let criminals and sinners get away with murder... you will be ruled by criminals and sinners, and murderers.

If you forgive undead parents and ancestors the crimes they committed: they will rule you from the grave; and afterwards also.

Civilized morals are the morals of cowardice. They are the morals of duplicity. The argument and justification for modern morals is:

‘Hey. Since everyone is doing it... it can’t be all bad. In fact its good. In fact its great!’

If you forgive someone else.... This implies that any crime or sin you commit: should also be forgiven.

1711

The Path of Splitness

1712

Forgiving other people their sins is merely a sneaky, filthy way of getting your own sins absolved... and a sneaky way for all undead filth to avoid paying for their sins. It is a way for all people to avoid facing what they did wrong. It is a way for people to avoid even looking for what they did wrong. It is a way of avoiding looking at what their own mistakes are. It is a way of avoiding the fact that you did a mistake.

The result?

The official view of conventional human history is, that:

In 12,000 years. Billions of people never did anything wrong and never made a mistake.

In 12,000 years. Billion of people never admitted to being wrong or making a mistake.

We are now stuck with the mistakes that billions people made for 100,000 years.

And still! We do not admit that we are making any mistakes. As we continue to accumulate and pile up more mistakes and do more wrong things.

Nobody ever human in the past, ever did anything wrong.

That is: if you believe what history books say, and the opinions of historians.

No ruler on earth ever did anything wrong or ever made a mistake. That is... except the losers. The better killers never made a mistake. The best killers never ever made a mistake. As long as you kill: and win you can't make mistakes. As long as you kill your victims, they can't punish you for your crimes, and nobody else will either.

That is: if you believe what rulers say, and what the media says, and what history books say.

Hey. Presto! We are all forgiven and sinless. Wheee! Now we can do anything we want. There is no such thing as sin or crime. There is no such thing as evil.

That is: if you believe what modern Christian churches say. Evil does not exist!

If that is true... then: GOOD DOESN'T EXIST EITHER..

Then Life has no meaning. Then all Life becomes meaningless, pointless, absurd and insane. The result of modern consumer capitalist greed culture is: 250,000 suicides in China alone every year. Because millions of poor Chinese... selling their souls for the almighty dollar: find they have no more reason to live if they have no money. Money is more important than LIFE. This is the undead culture of decapitated detached heads which they have imported and poisoned living humans with for thousands of years.

This is the horror of meaninglessness when there is no love in human society. Without love: life is not worth living. All that matters is money. Human existence has become completely meaningless. Which is precisely the brink of the chasm of realization that the last European philosophers came to. Since then: the entire issue of GOOD and evil. The entire issue of the meaning of LIFE... that has plagued the human conscience for over 12,000 years. Has been swept under the carpet and completely ignored.

7 billion people are trying to live: by pretending, that the issue of life and death: does not even exist. They are trying to pretend that the question of life and death does not even exist! Life is not questioned! Death is not questioned! Nothing is questioned!

Killing is not evil!... er, only if someone tries to kill you!.... Not if you kill another living thing... er, only if you kill a human living thing... not if you kill something that is not human. Killing things that are not human is okay!... er... well not all things, just some things... er some things are not supposed to be killed... er... No...Darn: killing too much is evil! Er... no.... Killing too much is only evil if it is a protected species...Er only if it is in a national park... otherwise... killing is okay... er....

Insane hypocrisy. That is unable to justify or rationalize killing. The result? Ignore the issue: do not bring it up... don't mention it... er.... Become as stupid as possible... as unaware as possible... yes! That's the answer! Eat more dead things! Consume! Be a consumer! A user! Do not produce anything!"

The only way humans have managed to do this has been to stupefy themselves, deaden themselves, distract themselves, and drown and wallow in their insane mentally detached crimes and sins. Until humans do not dare ask a single sane question about themselves. Because the obviousness of the insanity called civilization is too horrible to admit or realize.

Science is pure evil

What is pro-science, and what is con-science? Your conscience is against science. Everything that is pro-science is evil. Every profession is evil. All professional sciences are evil. Professional scientific civilization is evil. Your conscience knows this. Science is a con. It is conscience without any critical awareness.

As far as civilization is concerned: there is just abstract legality. And cultural norms and cultural conformity.

The meaning of words depends upon their origin and the context in which they are used. For instance: the word: 'conserve' does not mean against serving. It is a con. A scam. A fraud. A swindle. Pretending to serve something by preserving it unchanged instead of living with its changes. Conservation is just another form of the accumulation and preservation and perpetuation of civilization. Evil does not exist. All the genocides and atrocities and wars are merely aberrations of, er, um... mistaken notions.

When will this madness of human denial end?

When will living humans finally wake up and realize that the only friends they have in the living world are other living things?

Killing living creatures is not a way to live.

Living with living creatures is what life is all about.

The meaning of life; is LIFE.
The meaning of death; is death.
One is GOOD. The other is evil.

1713

The Path of Splitness

1714

If you try to look at human civilization as a progression that is good: it will not make any sense out of it at all. If you try to explain human civilization as something that is partially good: it will still not make any sense. You will find millions of facts to contradict this assumption.

However, if you look at human civilization as a progression of evil. If you look at it as an accumulation of evil...Then all of it makes perfect sense. Then all the facts will fit together and connect and make logical sense.

Study the history of human civilization, put it all into perspective: and you will see that this is the actual truth. If you look at it personally: then you hit your own denial. And also... the denial of the secret scum hiding inside you who will everything they possibly can to corrupt your honesty, and your critical awareness.

Then you come against your own refusal to admit your own unpleasant truths. Then you come up against your own brainwashing. Then you get the evil of your own normality.... Then the evil of your own normality begins to be exposed. If you refuse to own it. If you refuse to own your own mistakes, your own failings, your own vices, your own faults, your own sins, your own crimes. Then you own everything else: except the truth of your own self. What good is owning anything, if you do not own yourself? What good is having anything if you do not have yourself? How can you own anything, if you don't own yourself?

How can you own what is outside yourself: if you do not own what is inside yourself? If you do not own up to what is inside yourself. If you do not stand up for what is inside yourself. How can you stand up to anything outside yourself?

This is the insane, pathetic, simple truth of human history. Billions of moral and ethical cowards: allowing the worst of human criminals to get away with murder. Because they were... and still are unwilling to own up to their own sins and crimes. Billions of insane greedy humans trying to own the Earth: because they do not want to own up to their own inner emptiness, because they are driven to try to fill up their inner emptiness.

Then everything you once thought of as being normal; becomes uncomfortably stupid, insane and meaningless.

If you try to look yourself critically. Then you get an automatic defense. Then you get the protesters, the apologists, the rationalizers, the avoiders, the hypocrites: who say that they are not all that bad...

'What? I am not evil!' 'My girlfriend is not evil!' 'My wife is not evil!' 'My friend is not evil!' 'My parents are not evil!... My neighborhood is not evil!... My city is not evil! My nation is not evil!... my culture is not evil!... my religion is not evil!... my god is not evil!... we are the majority! We are winners! We are rich! We have status! We have power! We have wealth! It's normal!'

Contrary to your personal prejudice: they are evil. You are evil. And until we begin to face this and admit it. We cannot even begin to heal ourselves. We must stop lying to ourselves. We must stop uncritically accepting the cultural norms we were born into. We must begin to question human civilization critically. And ourselves: critically. Especially ourselves. Once you do that: you will find

1714

that the reason you are in the mess you are in right now: is because of every fucking person who ever lived in the past. And you are only adding to their sins and crimes by repeating what they have already done: over, and over again. By them manipulating you to do it.

The myth of civilized progress is bullshit. Human societies have been getting worse and worse and worse... simply from the unending accumulation of its own dead souls and the dead things it creates. Undead entities systematically corrupt living human societies by secretly infesting living souls with their evil. As a result: the original life energy of living humans becomes less pure, and less able to develop healthy ways of living. It is the power of a living human aura they are concerned about. Not the power of muscles, or guns. You will never know what human energy even is... unless living humans wipe out these undead ghouls from their bodies, sex organs, minds, hearts and souls.

Every new generation of living humans becomes weaker, and develops an accumulation of increasingly corrupt habits simply by their accumulating presence. But even if living humans find ways to kill them: these scum think they have found a way to avoid their fate. The ones who contacted me have a serious problem in their realm....

This has already happened in living human societies. It has already happened in their realm. It is getting worse in their realm.

The cunning filth who contacted me did so, because they thought they saw a way out of their dilemma. How to avoid being killed?
Simple.

Have living humans find ways to kill human entities.

Then hide in a hole. And let them get rid of all the billions of surplus souls filling up their realm. The ones who contact living humans are the elite. They are the manipulators. They are the small minority of cynical undead who have no illusions about waiting for a nonexistent 'god' to show up and save them. They are not one of the billions of religiously brainwashed fools in their realm who do their bidding.

They simply want the living: us. To get rid of their own surplus lower classes of undead souls.

They think that if this can be done by us: not only will they avoid any direct responsibility of these crimes: but these manipulators are the oldest entities... they are the ones who know how to hide inside more-different spaces and places than the late comers, than the population explosion of too many dead souls have. These ancient cunning filth think they can fool living people into killing undead entities indiscriminately: regardless of which entity committed which crime. But they are finding out that this does not work. Why do you think western scientists have been desperately searching for a way to create a completely artificial environment, eh? Because the secret filth hiding inside them are planning to destroy all life on earth. Only, they still want their eyes and ears. They still want their living toys to play with. They want their cake, and they want to eat it too.

They do not like the fact that living humans are becoming more intelligent, and even more cunning than they are. They do not like the possibility that living and unliving humans might want to track them down and kill them... by hierarchy, not by which entity is the closest to you. They do not like the culture of political assassination: which the Mohammedans and Russians began to develop. That was too intelligent a way of punishing them also... so they targeted both of these cultures, and systematically corrupted them and destroyed them for this sin of daring to attack their own privileged elite.

Human undead entities are ruled and merged with reptile-bird undead entities. They are one and the same thing. They inhabit the same living black birds, and gang birds. Undead reptile-bird auras have existed for as long as birds have existed on earth. They are the invisible undead over-arching evil that has been poisoning living things ever since the first saurian reptile sprouted tail feathers to escape from predators. They are one of the most ancient forms of animal intelligence-awareness on this planet.

But they are stupid. They are ruled by their elite. They do not care that most of the habitats of living birds are being destroyed by humans: as long as the habitats of the gang-birds... the black gang birds... of crows and ravens and robins and jays are kept. As long as humans clear fields for them to hunt and peck in, as long as humans maintain manicured grass lawns for their pleasure, as long as all the birds around human habitations can still be used by gangs of birds: they do not care that the rest of living birds are being destroyed. As long as humans do not kill these black filth: they will allow human civilization to destroy the rest of the living earth. As long as their elite species lives inside human civilization: they do not give a shit about the rest of the birds of the world that live in nature.

They are still trying to recreate the complete devastation that created them.

Black birds in Africa were created by the complete devastation of volcanoes erupting and filling the atmosphere with black soot for millions of years. The only birds that survived this near-complete annihilation of all birds: were the ones whose feathers became black. They were the useless observers who should have warned all other living species of the danger. Instead: they cawed and croaked their hate for millions of years; every day. Until no animal took note of their raucous noises. They cried wolf so many times: they became completely ignored by other living things. They developed a hatred against all living things because of this. But because they were full of hate. Because they were more evil than other birds: they managed to survive the killing hate that volcanoes had for all living things. They survived because they ate dead filth that no other birds could or would eat. They survived because they operated in criminal gangs. When the natural order of things crumbles: all criminal species flourish. When Nature is destroyed: what is left are the lowest, most criminal species who manage to survive.

But that is not all... every worldwide cataclysm that ever happened: every meteor that spread black clouds of death over the entire world: killing untold zillions of species: also left a legacy of untold undead auras... as the main animal awareness on earth... when nearly all forms of life had almost been completely annihilated. Their unexperienced deaths... their trauma: is the base root of undead evil. They existed as supreme beings amidst the blackened hells of an earth that was nearly completely destroyed over and over again. Theirs: is the worst, the most painful, the most horror-filled traumas of life energy on earth. Experience cannot be destroyed. The most pain-filled shocks are the ones most remembered, the ones that are etched most deeply in the psyches of the undead. It is the worst traumas that are reenacted the most. It is the most unexperienced, the most unhealed, the most avoided, the most covered-up traumas that re-surface the strongest. Hundreds of years, thousands of years...untold times of mass extinctions and mass slaughter and mass death... flooding into their realm of the undead: has turned that realm into a horror of unsanity-insanity that no living creature can fully absorb or understand.

1717

We, the living are lucky. Every new life on earth begins fresh, clean... without 4 billion years of accumulated undead things poisoning its every second of existence: or so you would think.

Saurian-reptile birds: are the last living repositories of undead auric animal intelligence of those billions of years of trauma.

If you want to see an immediate change in how birds act: try to kill all the black feathered birds in your area. You will find that they will disappear from your area before you can ever get your guns out. They will just go somewhere else. And come back when you are not carrying a gun. And look at you coldly, and jeer at you. And then fly away.

Chase away all birds that congregate in gangs and flocks near human habitation. Chase them away and force them to live in the destroyed natural areas where there are no humans. Allow only the birds that sing individually, and make their nests near humans without congregating in gangs or flocks. Cherish the smallest non-gang birds: and kill or chase all the others away.

Why do humans never kill the blackest, most useless evil species of birds? Where can you find these evil things? In the most evil places. In cornfields. In human-kept national parks and reserves. In human maintained forests and suburbs, in the worst polluted areas, around dumpsters, besides dirty highways, around the worst polluted places of human habitation. They have no useful purpose for other living things anymore. The more the forests of the world rot, the more other bird species go extinct and disappear: the more they like it. They more they dominate and infest and monopolize the dying-rotting forests of the world, and all the areas where man lives. They are a living presence of undead evil all over the Earth.

Why are Ravens and crows evil? The Ravens of Rome ate human flesh for one thousand years. The crows and ravens and vultures of the Mediterranean fed off crucified human corpses for two thousand years. The Mediterranean vulture went extinct: but not the crows and ravens of Rome. They have an unlimited ravenous appetite for human suffering. They ate living flesh. They were cannibals. They ate the flesh of living crucified humans screaming in agony; for thousands of years. They developed an addiction for experiencing vicarious pain, the pain of living flesh pecked at by dead beaks. They developed an enjoyment observing pain vicariously. Perching on the heads and shoulders of crucified humans for thousands of years.

Where do you think the culture of vicariousness came from? It came from birds pecking at living mammals dying in pain. It comes from the reptilian-bird inability to understand or experience the warm-blooded agony of mammals. Bird-reptiles do not have the nerve sensors we do. They do not understand the pain of mammals. It is alien to them. They envy it. They hate it. They try to eat it. They look at it. They observe it. They have done so for 100's of millions of years and still it escapes them.

You can only understand the brain and thoughts of a reptilian bird by getting into their minds, and into their bodies and hearts and souls... They are so ancient, they are so obsolete, so unintelligent: that we discount their evil, and see them as harmless feathered things that do no harm to anything.

Humans are infested with undead reptilian bird auras almost all the time. Especially while sleeping when the human subconscious mind can be attacked and pecked at by the conscious minds of these undead filth. You don't believe this? What are you sleeping on? What are you covered with when you sleep...eh????

You are covered with feathers. Feathers surrounding your head because birds like to live and seep into human minds and brains that are like theirs... feathered... you sleep with a down blanket full of feathers surrounding your body under goose-down quilts... Europeans slept on feathers for hundreds of years. They slept on mattresses stuffed with either feathers or hay: the hay that all European barnyard animals sleep in also.

This is not a coincidence. This is common sense. The auras that inhabit the living creatures that surround you: like to have your body and brain surrounded by the same things they are surrounded by when they sleep also.

They use every advantage they can to fool you into thinking they cannot be killed and are invulnerable and 'immortal'. They love insulation because they are insulated, insane forms of leftover life-energy. This is just common sense. Your pillow and mattress is not for your benefit: it is for their benefit. Because they can pack more auras into an insulated material full of empty holes and empty spaces than they can if you slept without any insulation around you.

These bird-cloaks, these bird-heads you put on and rest on and cover yourself with when you go to sleep... have been giving people bad dreams, bad aching backs, unnaturally curved spines for hundreds, nay thousands of years. They are not good for you. But they are good for them.

They surround you at night because they like all forms of vicarious thrill. They like to pack themselves into your dreams so they can have the illusion that they are living, and whatever dream you have, they take over, and try to 'live' that dream as they want to... not as you want to, not as you would. That is why your dreams never come out the way they should, that is why every natural instinct, every common sense reaction and feeling you have in your dreams is stuffed down and repressed and not allowed to be acted upon... they are actively brainwashing your human will to become as weak and sick and poisoned as possible while you sleep every fucking night of your poisoned life. They can only do this while you are sleeping. They can only have the advantage of a conscious mind over a subconscious mind while you are asleep... during the day, they do the opposite of this. They poison your subconscious mind with their conscious hints and suggestions and wishes... so your conscious mind starts acting and doing what they want you to do... not what you actually want to do.

Reptilian birds are evil because they are insulated from the pain they cause. They are insulated by dead beaks, by dead talons, dead feet. They do not understand human pain. They inspect and observe human pain because they do not understand what it is. They have done this for untold thousands of years. That is why Crucifixion was invented. It was not invented for the benefit of human killers. It takes a lot of time and trouble and effort to kill a person by crucifixion. They die slowly. Most crucifixions are never watched or seen by the humans who went to all this trouble of nailing them to a wooden cross and erecting it upright unnaturally with a nailed human body fixed to the cross. Crucifixions were done for the convenience of birds. So they land conveniently on the dying things and inspect them, and peck at their eyes and flesh, and eat their pain with their dead beaks... Humans were crucified: as if they were birds: for the convenience of the black death birds that gathered in the thousands whenever there were crucifixions going on. Humans crucified living humans for 3,000 years: as if humans were birds...

because the undead auras poisoning their minds and souls ARE BIRDS. They are of reptilian bird origins. And they had their hosts kill each other as if they were birds also. Humans were crucified so their wings are held out, and made immobile... Crucifixion is not a natural form of human execution. It is a completely abnormal aberrant form of killing. Only the mentality of a bird could conceive of it... only the mentality of a bird would freeze the only two important parts of a bird's body: its feet, and its wings into a frozen position of a bird flying... unable to flap its wings or take off from the tree it is on... nailing its dead claws and wings to a tree: as a sacrificial lamb to the slaughter. This is not painful for a bird. Its wings do not feel pain. Its claws do not feel pain. But it is the most painful form of slow torture and death for a living human: because crucifixion is completely unnatural: it is a completely unnatural way for a human to die... Bird auras, unseen bird undead created the concept of crucifixion, and they fed off this horror for two thousand years.

Any species of bird that feeds of human flesh for two thousand years is evil. But we humans carefully look the other way when ravens and crows eat corpses. We sneer at vultures! And are revolted by their eating of dead corpses... but not ravens or crows... why is that, eh? Unless the top order of the realm of the unseen undead are black birds. And other birds that are more natural in their function like vultures, who actually provide a service in getting rid of diseased dead bodies: are sacrificed and ignored, so that ravens and crows may continue to exist as an untouched species of bird.

Ravens only feed when it is safe. They take no chances. They will not go near a human corpse: unless it is crucified. Only when a human is nailed to a tree or crucified to a cross will a raven feed on it. And you think a species like this is not evil? They are one of the oldest undead evils on Earth.

It is the oldest of them which need to be destroyed first. The oldest undead entities need to be killed. The roots of evil must be destroyed not their minions. The head of these scum must be found and destroyed. Their roots must be found and destroyed. Only then can the body of evil die. Kill the root and leave the head: and evil sprouts forth again like a hydra-headed monster from its neck. Kill the head and leave the root: and the roots grow back.

If you do not believe that ancient reptilian-bird entities have dominated and controlled the human species for millions of years: Look at monuments in parks and squares. The highest rulers of Empires have monuments erected in parks all over the world. The most powerful humans that ever lived: have erected in their honor: statues in parks and squares all over the world. The sculptures of these monuments only have one place where birds shit on them... nowhere else. They shit only on the highest piece of sculpture of the monument: On the ruler's head and shoulders. They shit on these statues of the most powerful, the most famous, the most renowned Kings and Emperors of the human species every day. Look at the satisfied expressions of contempt and disdain of the birds that land on the top of the heads of these statues of Kings and rulers.

They prove to humans every day that they are higher than the highest human Kings and Emperors ever born every day. They do not shit anywhere else on these statues except on the head of the actual ruler. They are very, very selective where they shit and why they shit on anything.

Reptilian undead entities are not direct. They are not abstract: they are insane. They do not understand direct contempt. They do not shit on the heads of rulers while they are alive. Living human rulers are used and manipulated by them while they are still alive. The idea... that these dupes, these Kings and Emperors, these most evil of all humans to have ever lived: should become immortally famous after they die... That is what these birds are shitting on. Reptilian-bird auras have been around for hundreds and hundreds of millions of years. The stupid human rulers they dominate and manipulate have only been around for a few thousand years... and most of them have been not only completely forgotten: their races have been wiped out. The ancient races are extinct. The statues of these rulers will not last another hundred year: never mind a million years. Their fame does not last more than a few years: never mind a thousand years.

Which species of birds shit on these emperor's heads? Gang birds. The most criminally minded of reptilian bird species. Gulls, Crows, Pigeons. The living birds of these gangs are the stupidest birds alive. They are attracted to the stupidest humans. Human rulers are the stupidest humans on earth. They have been made so by these undead filth on purpose: in order to get them to commit as much evil during their stay in power as possible. The living gangs of birds are not intelligent or cunning. But the undead auras that control where they shit and what they do and where they go ARE. Living humans look up and think these birds are harmless brainless creatures: They are right. What they do not see or understand is the Unseen Undead entities hiding inside these living birds, and how and why they use them for their own, secret, hidden purposes. Reptilian-bird auras are eyes. They need living eyes to see with. Their own undead eyes do not work. Undead unseen entities cannot see the living world except as energy sources. Reptiles and birds have been using the eyes of living creatures to see with for hundreds of millions of years.

Reptilian bird auras are observers. That is all they are. They do nothing else but observe. They are insane observers. They have no reason to observe anything: except they are instinctively programmed to observe everything around them. They were designed by Nature to be sentinel creatures along with many other species also. But they were the main ones who were supposed to warn other creatures of any animal that had a bad intention towards any living thing. They did not do their job. Their undead auras have been cursed for hundreds of millions of years to do nothing but observe and do nothing about what they observe.

The insanity of reptilian bird awareness has permeated and poisoned human awareness. The entire insanity of observing and doing nothing, the entire insanity of being a mindless, mentally detached insane spectator originates from reptilian bird entities who have been doing just that: for hundreds of millions of years.

Evil is not easy to destroy. Evil has been growing stronger and stronger. New layers and levels of evil are growing on top of each other. Death and destruction and poison are filling the living earth. Do you expect this book to give you answers? Do you expect this book to tell you what to do? This book only gives explanations and opinions and ideas. It is merely an expanding eye-opener. What you do about the truths you find in this book: is your responsibility, and your choice. Before you can become good you have to stop being evil.

The process: of creating a living human society that is honest enough and courageous enough to become an active force for good: has not even been attempted... yet.

There is much work to be done; before living humans can even begin to fight intelligently against the cunning of unseen, invisible evil undead entities.

First we have to define what good is, and what evil within ourselves.

This book outlines the basic differences between good and evil. This book outlines and explains the basic universal differences between good and evil. Good and evil exist. Unless you wake up and realize this: you will remain a sucker... a manipulated fool. You will be used by evil scum for their cunning secret purposes. You yourself will become evil.

The Tower of Babel

If whoever reads this, still does not believe that undead human entities exist inside every single living human: then let me tell you a story of the hanging gardens of Babel. The city of Babel became too loving. They became too close to each other. They began to actually love each other honestly and humbly. They turned their entire city into a city of love. Everyone who entered there was amazed at the beauty they had created. There were no guards at the gates. Everyone trusted each other. People did not fear each other in that city. People did not hate each other in that city.

It became an unbearable mark of besmirched pride on these scum; that they had not managed to corrupt this entire city.

So what did they do?

They planned a mass attack.

They are not disorganized. They are organized far better than any living humans have ever been. They entered into the souls of these innocent living people by the thousands. They invaded these innocent unaware loving gentle souls by the millions. They drowned out each living soul's mind and heart by engulfing each person in the loving city of Babel: until they became so possessed by so many evil spirits: that they began to babble in many tongues. They began to speak in many different languages at the same time. Their words came out as pure meaningless drivel. They could not make themselves understandable to each other. Each person in that city became a babbling idiot, a moron, a crazed-possessed fool. They could not understand each other. Their entire city and their culture crumbled.

This is what happens to living people when they become too good... this is what happens when these scum decide to show their power over living innocent humans. This is what happened when too many people became too loving...

These undead scum fixed that in short order.

And overnight: Babel became the most corrupt city on the face of the earth: because people no longer trusted each other. People stopped loving each other. These undead scum discovered that too many people sharing the same language and the same culture had a natural tendency to come closer together and trust each other more. There is no historical explanation for the sudden change of the city of Babel, turning suddenly into the tower of Babylon... babbling on and on about nothing. There is no historical explanation for the sudden, almost instant and complete change in the personality and culture of that city.

To this day... any gentle, innocent Christian who allows their spirit to become possessed by these scum: speaks in many tongues at once. Any Moslem, any person on earth who allows them to take over their vocal chords: ends up babbling insanely in many languages at the same time. This is because they are possessed by many, many undead filth: all of whom have a different mother tongue, and lived at a different time in a different culture.

If they are pushed and forced to show their secret hidden talents and powers. This is how powerful they can be... if people allow themselves to be ruled and possessed by corrupt and evil motives and intentions. And even if you are corrupt, especially if you are not: they will try to make an example out of you. They will try to prove that you are no less corrupt than they are. They will invade your life and energy and your aura and personality and impulses and motor controls and your sex drive and your brain and your lungs and your heart.

Until you will not know what-is-what. Until you will have trouble figuring out if what you feel-think-do is coming from you or from them.

If you are honest, and have courage: you must understand that when you oppose these undead filth: you are opposing 4 billion years of these accumulated secret undead filth. You will be opposing every once-living thing that ever ate and killed another living thing. You will be opposing the entire world order of all energy on earth.

Do you have the guts to do this?

Or do you not?

Why are the undead so difficult to sense? Why are they almost impossible to detect? Because they hide inside you. They hide inside your mind. They hide inside your body. They hide coiled up inside your sexual orgasms, they hide inside your rectal passage, they hide inside your heart, they hide inside your lungs, they hide inside your all of your inner organs, they hide inside your muscles, inside your bones.

The longer they hide inside you: the longer they become accustomed to how you think, how you feel... the longer they get used to your habits, the better they can predict how you will react, the more they can predict what you will do... the more they can anticipate what you will do-feel-think-etc... the more they become you. The more they permeate themselves inside you and harmonize their death energy with your life-energy: the more their undead aura-energy merges with your living life-energy aura: the more they become you: until they almost completely disappear.

They do not want to know they exist. They do not want to know that they exist. They want to forget they exist. They do not want to remember what they once did, or who they once were. They do not want to be aware of themselves. They want to pretend they do not exist. As long as they do this: they can fool themselves and block off the awareness that they are poisoning your living soul and body with their sick evil filth.

They can merge themselves into you: until they not only become you.... They begin to initiate instead of follow. They begin to put thoughts into your head, they begin to put desires into your head... so faintly: that once they do that: you instantly think the same thing... except on a conscious level: not on a subliminal level. This is how they fool you into thinking that what you want and what you do and what you feel: that it comes from you: not from them.

Once they begin to ape you and copy you... and become you.... Once they become good enough at it: they try to become you by taking over all of your intentions and poisoning them, and replacing them with the worst, the most negative possible intentions they can find inside your psyche. Their job is to corrupt you. Their only reason for existing inside you: is to make you as evil as they are, or worse.

Once they can do this they try to possess your soul: Completely.

The ones that have been longer inside you: are usually the ones who are better at this. But it takes skill and work and time to become adept at taking over a living human spirit. The oldest of these scum... are the best at it. They have practiced this form of evil for untold centuries.

What they try: is to outdo you. They try to become you: more than you are you. They try to become so like you: that your true soul will end up being a secondary energy, and their evil becomes the one that controls your entire reflective being and soul.

If you ever develop enough sensitivity to sense them inside you: you will have to fight them tooth and claw. Every single impulse, every single thought or feeling: they will try to take over: and run with it, leaving you following behind.

To be your own person. To fight them: you must explore yourself. You must explore your Inner Self with a Sense of Pure Wonder. And: you must do this with other people.

Openly> Nakedly> In Public>>>

This is the only way you can successfully fight them.

If you try to fight them alone in secrecy they will win. They can think as fast as you can. They can anticipate your thoughts and take them over before you even begin to think. Before you know it... your thoughts are running in the wrong direction, your feelings are running in the wrong direction. Your actions are going in the wrong direction from what you first intended.

It is not easy to fight them. It is not easy to try to become a better person instead of becoming a person who continually gives in to their weakest impulses, their most negative impulses... instead of your strongest intentions, and your most positive impulses.

This book is written for people who are strong enough and intelligent enough to be logical. It is written for people who want to be as honest as possible. Honesty and logic are the same thing. This book is written so you who read it will have an edge over the evil hiding inside you... so you can begin to fight them intelligently: without harming your own, true, Inner Self.

The Human Subconscious and the Space Race

One example and proof of the existence of undead entities existing inside the living sperm of living humans can be seen in the famous space race between the USA and the USSR during the 1960's. It also demonstrates and exposes the level of unawareness of the conscious human brain. It also exposes to what extent we are actually controlled by our instinctive reptilian brain and our subconscious brain. Sending mechanical dead rockets to a dead moon, sending dead sperm to a dead egg; demonstrates and exposes how deeply undead filth have poisoned living people.

Undead and the Human Unconscious Mind

The modern technology of modern civilization: is actually controlled by the human subconscious. Modern human technology is not controlled by the conscious human brain. Modern technology is merely an abstract-mechanical creation of the subconscious brain. It is a literal creation of the human subconscious. The human subconscious has translated its own awareness, its own memory, its own story, its own understanding: into a mechanical-abstract transliteration: that is seen as the most modern technology of modern civilization. It has transliterated itself literally into modern mechanical technology. Not symbolically or abstractly. Literally.

For example, take space technology, and the movie: ‘Apollo 13’.

The story of a botched mission to the moon. An aborted mission. An abortion.

Why was it a botched abortion? Because the full 12 permutations of cycles were already played out. The 13th one was supposed to be a re-birth. The 13th mission was supposed to be a mechanical attempt to impregnate the dead moon: and give it life. Not just another pointless moon-landing: like all the 12 previous ones were.

The Apollo missions to the moon were literal transliterations of the human subconscious of the earliest origin of the human birth process: transliterated into mechanical modern technology. This is so glaringly obvious: there can be no doubt about it.

The penis explodes its sperm out. The sperm-rocket explodes off the planet. Inside: are astronauts. Hermetically sealed in space suits that have umbilical cords attached to them for life support. Once the sperm-rocket leaves the earth: its three stage-rockets fire and fire... and then fall off. Leaving it weightless in space, but still on its guided trajectory. The rockets are the main propulsion system of the sperm rocket. Once they have done their job: they fall off. Once the propulsion system of human male sperm, the tail end of the sperm, has done its job: it too falls off. Once the sperm is ejected by the penis: it exists in a state of weightlessness in a liquid medium. The Apollo rocket once it leaves the planet: is also in a state of weightlessness. Apollo is the sun god of the ancient Greeks. The Apollo rocket is the son of the sun god. Once the sperm comes near enough to the huge female egg: it rids itself of its last propulsion-protection and ejects from it a tiny capsule: which is the actual seed-sperm... that contains the life-force which will impregnate the female planet-egg.

The entire, international political race to get to the moon first: was merely a recreation of the subconscious: literally transliterating: the explosion of millions of male sperm: all trying to be the first to impregnate the female egg-cell. Cape Canaveral was re-named Cape Kennedy after these missions. Because he was the most virile president: Kennedy: who created this national effort to get to the moon. He sent his sperm to the moon. He was a womanizer, the fucked new bimbos every week. His projected his sexual energy out: unhealthily, impersonally. The most virile mission won. The nation with the president that had the most energetic sperm cells won the space race to get to the moon. Kennedy was a womanizer. He fucked more girls than any president had ever done so in the history of civilization. Khrushchev was a fat sexless pig: he did not have Kennedy’s more virile sex-drive. His nation did not love him like Americans loved their Kennedy. All he had to do was say that this goal was a national matter of pride: and the entire nation was behind him. His oversexed neurosis gave him a permanently weakened back.

But that is not all.

Inside the sperm-capsule... three grown men were hidden inside. Who kept in contact with the base back on earth. The Trojan horse syndrome. The insane recreation of undead entities stealing inside a human sperm to abort the birth attempt of penetrating the egg cell... weakening it so badly: it cannot even find the egg cell. Re-enacted on a mechanical level. The Trojan horse syndrome is the ancient tactic of abortion. The abortion of the love-attempt, the abortion of the marriage between Helen of Troy and Paris. Millions of rubber Trojan horses: preventing millions of living penises from their sperm ever finding an egg.

This is also a literal transliteration of the truth and actual history of the process of human birth. Adult human auras. Human entities. Who once lived on earth, steal inside the sperm of living humans: and by this cunning tactic: hitch a ride inside the living sperm: and gain a new life. By living through the living sperm.

Except these human entities are undead. They are the undead auras of humans who died. They are dead souls. The astronauts that were chosen to fly these missions in their mechanical sperm-rockets were all engineers. They were all dead souls. Their souls had died a long time ago. They were merely mechanical robots. Mentally detached mechanically functioning human robots. Whose only purpose was to keep the mechanical sperm which they depended upon for their survival alive.

Which is the exact same purpose that undead human auras hitch a ride inside the living sperm of living humans. If their sperm succeeds in reaching the female egg. They become the lucky ones to re-experience life again, and living again. Because they did not experience their own lives. These secret filth are addicted to re-experiencing living human lives. Endlessly. Over and over. Never satisfied. Insatiable for new experiences. Because they are completely jaded. They have lost their memory and connection to their own life when they were actually alive.

They are controlled and aided by an entire support system that comes from the living human they came from. That support system... is the entire accumulation of ancestors of that living person. Their undead souls repose inside that living person: secretly experiencing living through the unknowing living human victim called their progenitor. Who is merely a generator of genes. The progress of genesis: generating genes progressively forward. A professional gene maker. A generator of progressive genes is a: progenitor. A congenitor is one who accepts those genes. Pro, and con. Two sides of the same coin. Both necessary for each other's existence. Between them is the actual fetus-seed-egg.

The entire design of the Apollo space technology: is a literal transliteration of the process of an aborted attempt to give life to a dead planet. It is a literal attempt of the undead filth to try to find another place to inhabit and survive in: after they successfully destroy the entire living earth. If they ever find they can create a new sustainable human colony anywhere else except earth: they will destroy earth so quickly and so completely; there will be nothing left of it.

The entire Apollo mission and NASA, and the us space program: is merely the human subconscious infiltrated and poisoned by undead entities: expressing itself literally through modern mechanical technology. It was a blind, destructive expression of human subconscious and unconscious motivations. It was a blind expression of one of the deepest instinctive drives of the human reptile brain: the medulla.

This is how unaware the conscious awareness modern humans are: of their own subconscious-instinctive actions and motives and intent. This is how blind all modern mechanical technology is. This is how blindly primitive its intent, its motives and its actions are. Because we live inside an abstract civilization that programs us and brainwashes us to live as we were not designed to live. Only when humans live as they were designed to live: will the rest of the undeveloped potential of our brains ever be realized. As long as we live inside an artificial womb called civilization: we cannot develop our full potential.

As long as undead human entities hide inside living human sperm rockets: our modern technology will continue to try to give life to a dead planet: by trying to impregnate it mechanically. As long as dead spirits hide inside living sperm: living humans will be addicted to using dead thing called tools to manipulate. Because living humans are themselves manipulated by dead things.

This culture of the dead-manipulating the living-manipulating dead things-manipulating living things... called civilization... this vicious evil filthy horror of evil death hiding inside living good life: must be broken and destroyed completely. If we are ever to earn back our true life and our true freedom.

The point is: the undead insane attempt to impregnate a dead planet failed completely. The undead cannot recreate their own un-experienced past lives by manipulating unaware living humans and using them as innocent dupes and victims. They have to re-experience their own fucking un-lived lives by themselves. Without corrupting and violating living humans.

The Apollo missions failed completely to establish any permanent living presence on the dead moon.

The attempts of the undead to vicariously and cunningly re-live their past lives through living humans fails completely to re-live their own past life. They do not learn anything from vicariously living through living humans without feeling any pain. They must feel their own pain. And share their own pain with the undead whom they lived with when they were alive: and should have shared their pain with when they had the chance.

Only when you feel the pain of your sins can you face, admit, accept and understand yours sins. All evil is the avoidance of experience. All evil is the avoidance of pain. Evil is the avoidance of experience. Evil is the avoidance of pain. It is that simple.

Healing is experiencing your pain. Healing is sharing your pain. Experiencing your pain is healing. Sharing your pain is healing.

But even this does not fully expose the true blind insanity of the true intent of the undead. They have in their blind arrogance: think and still believe they can get away with it. They still think they can escape their own guilt, their own conscience: by using science: an imbalanced insane denial of their guilt-ridden conscience. By escaping the earth they have destroyed and are continuing to destroy.

The entire idea: of escaping the living earth we live on... to colonize some dead unliving planet... and escaping the destroyed earth, escaping the guilt and responsibility of the nuclear-thermonuclear radioactive chemical poisoning of an entire living planet... and abandoning the earth that gave us birth... to its death. And believing that we will escape being killed and poisoned. Is not only insanely destructive. It is criminally irresponsible.

The idea that we! The species responsible for destroying the Earth; can escape from the scene of our crimes and not be forced to face the consequences of our own actions: is the insane irresponsibility of an insane damaged traumatized fetus-baby subconscious awareness that has not yet grown up enough to realize the consequences of its own actions.

The human subconscious: has not yet been born yet.
Its reflectivity has not yet been properly and fully developed.
Its true healthy development has been poisoned from birth.
By the secret-hidden dead souls hiding inside every living sperm: that hide inside every sperm-rocket of every living human.

Until we kill and destroy these secret hidden undead filth: we can never be rid of their secret undead filthy evil intent poisoning our living souls.

The dead must be destroyed: not worshipped. The dead must be killed: not preserved. Death must be annihilated and killed to complete extinction. Utterly.
Not incrementally. Not slightly. Not just a few. .

Their constant presence inside every living human is not 'slightly evil'. Their constant existence inside every living human makes every living human more evil than good. They make living humans 99.9% evil: because if you are not completely aware of your own subconscious and instinctive awareness: they can completely poison and manipulate your subconscious and instinctive awareness to the point where you have no control over your root intent, or your root reactions or your root instinctive-reflexive reactions.

Why? Because the accumulation of millions of years of undead filth auras: existing in a state of fear and hate. Existing in a cunning sneaky hidden state that has no love; it automatically explodes into instant rejection and negative response to all love the instant it encounters it. Faster than you can consciously recognize that what you are experiencing is positive love and not negative fear-hate: it takes over your emotional center and tries to dominate your feelings with its hate and negativity. And if it can't do it to you... it will do it to the person you love, and they will begin to act irrationally and the love will be poisoned. It takes two honest decent people to create love: it takes two to tango. It is very rare to find two people who are not corruptible.

Only if you have enough courage to fight your wrong, poisoned first-impression of true love. Only if both of you do not run away or react with hate and fear and revulsion and rejection of love. Does love ever have a chance to be discovered and nurtured and grown..

This is why they must be killed.
You will never discover your true love unless you have killed all the evil inside you.
You cannot do it alone. You can only do it with the help of other living people.

Only when living people realize and understand that it is not they who avoid love. It is not they who avoid living with other people and loving them. Only when living people realize that it is the death-spirit inside them. The fear of living. The fear spirit; the hate spirit inside them; that keeps them isolated and not living happily with other living humans. Will living humans ever come together to fight off their only true, common mortal enemy: the undead hidden within themselves?

Only when living humans finally realize that there has been an ongoing battle between life and death for millions of years. Only when they realize that now this battle has shifted and is being waged inside the bodies and souls of every living human will living humans finally understand that the only way to fight undead filth: is to come together: as a single living species, as a single living community of living humans. And stop killing. And stop hating.

Not as isolated insulated near-dead, unaware mechanized modern mechanical robots: pushing a few fucking keys with their fucking fingers: creating a few abstract symbols on an abstract two-dimensional fucking screen: and think that this! Is 'living'! This is 'life'!

Typing abstract shit on an computer keyboard is not fucking living. It is a slow death. It is being a manipulated insane puppet of undead insane filth who are obsessed with: disconnected abstraction. because that is all they are. they are nothing more than dead reflective abstractions: disconnected from life. the earth is alive. it is a single interconnected living organism: upon which: other living things live on. how do we know that the earth is alive? by its very name.

Earth is Birth

Birth is Earth

The earth is the last planet that was birthed by the sun. It is the last birth-attempt of the sun trying to birth a living son. Without blasting it to death. Earth energy is birth energy. Without the thermonuclear poisonous iron core inside it: that does not threaten to explode it apart, because it does not have a large enough critical mass to blast the earth apart. Earth energy is birth energy without the blast threat of its core exploding. The earth is an unborn baby. It is a birth that has not yet been born. The earth is an unborn baby that needs our constant nurturing and love: so it can grow. Until it is ready to be born. Earth is birth with no butts about it. It is not designed to butt heads, oppose, compete, destroy, kill.

The Human Subconscious and the Unseen Undead

Why is the human subconscious so irrational and twisted? Because it is sensitive enough to hear, and be affected by the subliminal messages which undead monsters of every kind are continually screaming into your aura. Their undead aural energy is so faint, that you cannot hear them with your ears. But your subconscious mind can and does pick up their energy, and is flooded with these messages, and urgings and whisperings and raging of;

'Do this! Drink that! Don't do that, do this instead!'

24 hrs a day, nonstop: countless unseen undead entities fight for control of your mind, your heart, your body, your sexual energy. All the undead things inside you and around you want you to do things their way. Do what they did. Think what they thought, feel what they felt... The undead fight amongst themselves to live their past through you. This conflict, this babble of undead filth, the contradictory, insane comments, shouts, yelling, whispering and urging is why your subconscious is so snarled and confusing. Listening to your better angels is not a myth. Having a devil on one shoulder whispering into your ear urging you to do one thing, while an angel sits on the other urging you to do the opposite is not an old wives' tale.

They are the missing link that explains human conduct. They are the hidden poison that explains why humans have been so insane. They are the reason the human subconscious sends its messages in such convoluted paths. It has to. It is avoiding listening to all of this insane babble going on inside it and around it. It tries to make sense of all this babble. It can't make sense of it because the babble has no sense. Only after all these undead filth are killed. Only when your subconscious mind has the freedom of quietness, so it can hear itself think: instead of having its own logic and its own thoughts and feelings drowned out by the babbling thoughts and feelings of unseen poisoning insane entities inside it, and all around it, all the time. Only then will living humans ever discover what true sanity is.

This is why they must be killed.

All of them.

They prevent living humans from developing a sane outlook on Life. They create evil by their very presence. By their very numbers, their babbling insane yelling confusion. Human technology has now recreated the insanity of the human subconscious. It is called an internet forum. Internet forums recreate the EXACT same kind of insane disconnected jabber going on inside the human subconscious mind. There are no coincidences in the Universe. Everything has a logical explanation. Everything can be understood. But it can only be understood IF you take into account the influence that millions of years of our own dead ancestors have had on those who were living. And are having upon us right now: every waking and sleeping second of our lives.

The human subconscious and their poisoning of it explains how their hidden evil works. This explains why most assassinations are committed by madmen, by deranged maniacs who hear voices in their head, this explains why leaders who are too healthy and whose intentions are too good: are killed by madmen. The people most vulnerable to being controlled and manipulated are the most mentally weak: those who do not have a mind of their own, those who can be brainwashed most easily, those who can be turned into unstable, insane fanatics most easily. This is why it is mentally unstable fools like Oswald and Sirhan and James Earl Ray could be used to kill the 3 leaders of America who threatened to lead their Nation towards friendship and peace instead of war and hate. Major assassinations only happen when leaders threaten to become too good, too rational, too reasonable, too positive, too popular, too good a role model for others to follow. The undead hate and fear such people.

Everything can be explained. But only if you realize and discover how much UNSEEN power and control these undead filth have over living humans.

The Schizophrenia of Heaven and Hell

The truth about heaven and hell is this: both are evil realms, populated by countless undead filth. Both of them are evil. Both hate each other. They battle for possession of human souls. They use living humans as battlefields. They fight against each other for possession of human souls. The spiritual fairy tale of having two undead things secretly whispering into your ear, telling you what to do, urging you on to commit evil, is not a fairy tale: the idea of having a devil on one shoulder whispering into your ear, and an angel whispering into your other ear: is simply a case of dual possession by 2 undead entities fighting for control over your body and soul. All cases of schizoid schizophrenia: all split personalities, split minds, all dysfunctions of the human brain: originate from undead auras entering into the energy aura of your brain, and poisoning it by directly interfering with its functioning capacity: by trying to take over your personality: and replace it with theirs. So they not only live through you: they gain the power to live through your body as they wish: not was you truly want to.

This is why for 100's of thousands of years: all undead evil has made its number one agenda and priority to break the human spirit and prove over and over that all resistance against evil is futile. This is a total fucking lie.

This is their most evil invention: they have managed to brainwashed billions of living humans not to rebel against evil and never to stand up against evil: and never to resist evil. As a result: for untold thousands of years, billions of terrified weak, brainwashed: aurally poisoned living humans: secretly controlled and manipulated by unseen undead: have allowed a tint tiny! Handful of the most evilly possessed living humans to dominate and oppress and terrorize them. This is the secret reason: why millions! Hundreds of millions!! Of living humans have been controlled and killed and starved by tiny power groups... without any organized rebellion rising up to stop it. This is why Stalin got into power. This is why Hitler got into power. This is why the robber barons and the Jewish family of Rothschild bankers now own and control nearly all of civilization's wealth and power....

They never could have done it without the assistance and manipulation of undead evil filth twisting and controlling every crucial decision and act into the most evil direction possible. This is the secret hidden unseen reason that evil seems to triumph on the living earth. The only reason evil has triumphed on the living earth so far... is because this evil energy is so fucking weak: so fucking faint: so fucking invisible" so fucking imperceptible to living creatures... that living humans are not even aware this realm of evil even exists.

For four fucking billion fucking years!!! No living creatures were aware of the existence of the undead... then along came human apes... and they were not stupid: they noticed how animals and people behaved strangely... almost as if... a spirit of another animal, or another human... had infiltrated the body and soul of... and taken it over: and spoken to them and told them what they must do!!

To the first humans to witness this: it filled them with awe... this seemed o be a form of magic. Physical animals cannot dissolve themselves into other animal bodies! Animals are separate living entities! How could the spirit of an owl, or the spirit of a coyote, or the spirit of a raven or buffalo enter the spirit of a living human being and speak through that human being?? Why that's impossible! How could the spirit of a dead grandfather come visit them in their dreams and speak to them and tell them what they must do?! Their grandfather died long ago! His bones are all rotted and his body is gone! Why this must be magic!

This was why and how the undead managed to fool and poison the first true humans: the first truth seekers on earth; into listening and obeying the most vile, foul commandments and ideas... this was why and how: the superstitions of the human race were created and invented... this was why and how: the universal belief is a spirit world came to be shared and believed in: by every single fucking living tribe of naked human apes on earth.

Human apes: who lived in Borneo! In Australia! In Java! In India! In Asia! In Africa! In China! In Europe! In the Americas!~!!! All of them were fooled and gulled into believing and obeying the spirits they universally worshipped and lived in awe and fear of.. Who were these fucking invisible unseen sneaky lying crafty filthy unseen things? They were their own grandmothers: their own grandfathers: their own fucking ancestors: that's what these fucking filthy undead things were... and still are today.

The devil and the angel are just undead filth who live in two different undead realms: one lives under the earth. The other lives in the air. One has horns and a tail. The other has wings. That is because human undead filth merged their undead auras with two different major species: the major species that has horns and a tail> and the major species that has wings: grazing animals and birds. That's fucking all.

Their existence is not a fucking superstition: these things do exist in the underworld and overworld of undead morphed-merged shit foulness of the undead monsters who chose to secretly inhabit the bodies of other species: just in order to observe what their children and grandchildren and great grandchildren were doing. Why did they do this? Why do they do this?... Because the bodies of their living offspring: their own progeny: were already inhabited by other undead uncles and aunts and fathers... who got inside their children first> and didn't let other undead filth in.... so these undead were forced to invade the only left-over bodies available, and as a result: their human auras were filthied and warped into unspeakable monstrosities.

There can be only so many undead filth hiding inside a living human being: all of them can't get inside you to poison you. Most of them are forced to hover outside you. Many of them enter the bodies of animals that live near you, or around you. Every cat: every dog. Every bird in a cage: every bird in a tree: is either possessed by undead entities already... or is used by hidden undead entities as they wish: so they can and do enter the bodies of pets and other animals and birds: and cause them to act strangely.

The reason why the devil has horns and a tail: is because for thousands of years: living humans lived by raising thousands of sheep, goats, cattle, horses, pigs etc. The reason angels have wings: is because for thousands of years: the areas where living humans lived were surrounded by thousands of gulls: birds: flocks of birds in trees... sitting in trees all around the homes of living humans, living in human cities and all around human habitations.

Why Undead Bird Intelligence is evil:

The reason bird intelligence is insane is because it is based upon the hierarchy of distance. The higher up a bird flies: the higher it exists in the hierarchy of undead bird authority. The higher a bird flies: the more insane its perception of living things becomes. Until eagles flying thousands of feet high over the Earth see living things only as moving dots... as abstract patterns. The same dynamic of increasing degrees of insanity happens to undead human entities that enter the bodies of birds that fly high. The higher up they are: the more distance they develop between them and all other human undead and living humans: the more they see human auras as mere abstract patterns, as dots, as things that are not human.

Eagles they are permanently insane as a species because they have eyes that can only see at great distances. They glare at everything because they cannot adjust their eyesight to see things that are close to them as they actually are. The same happened with the oldest undead auras of the Hebrews. They stayed so high up over their undead mates: that they could not even be seen by them, until they developed the cunning tactic of communicating to other undead and living auras unseen, invisibly: from such a great distance that they became invisible abstract insane 'Gods'... Until other undead auras came to believe that there was only one unseen invisible abstract 'God'... because their communications were so rare: they thought only one undead aura was doing it.

The hierarchy of distance, invisibility and superior height. That undead filth use: is a dynamic of pure cowardice. It creates an insane, evil myth of untouchability. It created the insane concept of undead, unseen gods. All of this comes from birds: not humans.

The newest fossil discovery of the oldest saurian reptiles found so far: show that saurian prehistoric reptile had feathers growing out of the ends of their arms and tails: before flight was ever invented. The oldest reptile fossils are land animals... fleet of foot. The feathers on the backs of their tails and arms evolved to escape being caught. If a predator tried to chase them: it would have been distracted by the waving fluster of feathers. If it had tried to bite them: they would have only gotten a mouthful of feathers; which detached from the saurian proto-bird reptile easily. Leaving him alive and unscathed... to grow more feathers.

The more their feathers were pulled out by predators chasing them from behind, and trying to bite them, ending up with a mouthful of nasty, useless feathers. The more feathers they grew.

The evolutionary result was: the more feathers they had; the more aerodynamic their flight became, the faster they could run, the harder they were to catch... the more feathers their flapping arms had: the less they weighed as they ran. The longer they could run without getting tired. What began as an evolutionary attempt to distract a predator temporarily in its first attempt to bite the saurian proto-birds: became an advantage of a different kind. If you flap your arms while you run, and lift part of your body-weight off the ground by it: your legs will be able to propel you faster and farther than before without becoming tired. Until they ran so fast, waving their arms with so many feathers to distract whatever was chasing them: that they finally became airborne. They found they could escape being chased, and killed by flapping their feathered arms so hard: they managed to fly completely out of reach above the killers trying to catch them. They found they could rest on trees even though they could not climb trees. They found they could see their enemies better from resting on trees.

The panic-spurt of energy their instinctive fear-hormones gave them: was enough to raise them off the ground high enough so they could catch their breath while resting on trees: and looking around to see if it was safe to go back down again. The semantic meaning of roost: is rest: merged with two large eyes: OO... This is how and why they became the oldest, filthiest, undead observer entities on earth. By millions of years of cowardice.

The evolutionary invention of flight: is the oldest, most obsolete, filthiest genetic leftover gene-advantage of pure cowardice. Reptile-birds: are the oldest, most obsolete animal cowards on earth. The word flight: speaks for itself. It means both the fleeing of a coward: and the ability to fly. They are the same thing. They originated from the same genetic invention.

The first reptile saurian bird-reptile that invented flight: invented a new kind of upwards mobility as a form of cowardice. Trees are upwardly mobile also. All reptile-birds took this idea and added lateral mobility to upward mobility. Upward mobility plus lateral mobility is flight. They were the first species of earth to invent this new survival tactic of cowardice and weakness as a means of survival: instead of other species on earth: who survived through superior courage and strength. They survived through superior weakness and superior cunning.

These are the two genetic-moral-ethical-evolutionary survival tactics and principles and dynamics: which has been played out in the evolution of life: and the invention of death and killing.

The more living things kill: the more they use the negative evolutionary tactics of flight-cowardice to survive.

The less living things kill: the more they use the positive evolutionary tactics of standing up-courage... not flight. But facing their enemy head-on.

You can see these two ancient energy dynamics in action whenever any predators try to attack a herd or a single grazing animal. The instant the prey turns to face their attackers: the attackers instantly go behind the grazing animal: so they will not have to admit that the grazing animal is braver and has more courage than they have. The instant the grazing animal turns to face them again: they instantly turn away and go behind the grazing animal. Trying to put the animal into flight. Once they put the animal into a state of flight: they win. Predators attack their prey only from behind. They run like the devil to safety the instant they are faced head-on.

The instinct of cowardice was invented by the first reptiles who invented flight.

This is the filthy lie of genetic energy. It seems to teach that cowardice and cunning prevails over courage and strength. All the stronger saurian reptiles went extinct. All of the more courageous reptiles died out. Only the birds survived... the worst, most cunning, weakest cowards survived. The oldest, most obsolete cowards survived.

But this genetic tactic only works for killers. The only reason it worked was because all the species during that time were killers. The genetic evolutionary tactic of killing and eating other living things: is a negative dynamic. Because it is negative: it has been constantly getting weaker and weaker. All species on earth that kill and eat living things in order to live: have been getting weaker and weaker for billions of years. Only the weakest, the stupidest, the most obsolete, the most cunning, the most cowardly species of killers and eaters survived. And the oldest, the most evil leftover of this filthy, stupid, tactic: are birds.

Bird-reptile aura-awareness: is the filthiest, most cunning, most cowardly, most evil, most insane, undead entity awareness on earth. Their awareness-intelligence is the oldest, most primitive, instinctive fear-hate energy on earth.

Birds cannot hold hands. They cannot kiss. They cannot love. They have dead beaks instead of soft sensitive mouths. Birds do not represent love: they represent the opposite of love. Birds do not love. They cannot hug another living thing. They do not understand love. They hate all humans who hold hands. They hate all people who love. Birds gather around people in love holding hands because they are envious of them. They are curious about them. They are not signs of love. They are signs of evil... seeking ways to poison all love they find. Only the smallest birds come near lovers. They are the least corrupt. They are also the most envious and curious about things they do not understand. Love is alien to them. This is why lovers are surrounded by birds: not because birds are attracted to lovers positively; but to poison their living auras and their human love as much as possible.

The poisoning of human auras by undead bird auras is an ancient evil: its history of living humans being undead bird culture is as old as the living human invention of music. What were the oldest songs? They were songs of the only thing that living humans actually did: and that is kill. Killing. Evil victory braggarts; proud of killing members of their own species as undead ghouls giggle and laugh at the success of their unseen deceptions. Humans are hands-on creatures. Sing about something after you do it: not before. Now...: humans sing about what they have never done and about what they have never felt: that is how much the corruption of undead has corrupted music. Undead like to twist everything into worse and worse evil.

Destructive Bird Culture and Modern Destructive Human Culture.

Why do you think living humans have a desire to fly? Because they are possessed by undead bird auras. Why do you think the control stick of an airplane is called a joy stick? Because insane evil undead birds feel NO joy in doing human things; their only joy is the ability to fly, the ability to fly away; the ability to be cowards. Birds feel no joy in love: flight is their only joy. This is just one example of how modern human culture is poisoned by reptile-bird undead auras. There is no human joy in human society: there is only the fucking dead 'joystick' in airplanes, there is only the pornographic phallus: the lowest, most stupid, filthy animal instinct there is. Sex: fucking: pornography: does not create joy. Airplane joysticks do not create joy. They create the opposite of joy: they create an insularity from the Earth and all living creatures that is no sick, and so numb and so dead: it is an abomination. The 'joy' of flying a plane is just another fucking civilized addiction. The idea that artificial physical height, gained by flying high in the air inside an artificial machine gives you some kind of euphoric pleasure is total bullshit. What it does is give you a FALSE TEMPORARY sense of superiority. It gives you a FALSE TEMPORARY feeling of power.

1734

What do birds do all day? They sit and watch: or hunt and peck.

What do modern humans do all day? They sit and watch, or hunt and peck.

What do birds do when they get together in a group? They babble about nothing. What do modern humans do when they get together in a group? They babble about nothing.

Birds are very mobile: they go long distances easily. Modern humans are very mobile: they cover long distances very easily. What do birds peck at? They peck at the Earth. Birds hate the Earth. They peck at the Earth with their filthy dead beaks: pecking in instinctive hatred at the Earth: the Earth that destroyed their own species, that destroyed the dominance of their own species over the Earth. Birds only understand dominance.

What do modern humans peck at? They peck at the Earth in hatred: destructively destroying it inch by inch with bulldozers, chainsaws, etc.

What is the pinnacle of hate culture on Earth? Sports: kicking a ball as violently and hatefully as possible, hitting a ball as hard as possible. Throwing a ball as hard as possible, catching a ball as hard as possible. What is the pinnacle of bird-reptile culture on Earth? Pecking at it in hate. An instinctive pecking. An instinctive blind insane, inane repetitive hatred... When they need the earth to live, when the nutrition they get from the Earth keeps them alive and healthy. It is the same with modern humans: we need the Earth to be alive, yet we destroy life. We need ALL of the earth to be alive: yet we destroy all of it. We need to love ALL of the earth, yet we only love a tiny bit of it. This pecking at the earth is just as blind an instinctive repetitive behavior as the blind instinctive hitting of a ball by modern humans. The hitting of a ball is capitalism, it is the evolution of decapitalism into capitalism. Hitting a ball is the cultural result of 300,000 years of humans cutting off each others heads. It is the cultural result of 300,000 years of blindness. It expresses a self-hatred of our own stupidity: hitting balls instead of hitting our own heads.

The Earth is alive as a living energy of FIRE. The Earth is alive as a living energy of FIRE-PASSION. We humans have added to it with romance-love-savagery-rape-ravishment. The Earth does not understand that anything else is alive except fire-energy. We do not understand that anything is alive except organic mammalian human intelligence energy.

How should humans live on the Earth? Yell at the Earth. Kick it with rage and passion. Yell at other living species. Kick them with rage and passion. Terrorize the living Earth, terrorize the other organic living species. Terrorize them whenever you catch them doing something wrong. But before humans can live like this: we must ourselves stop doing wrong things before we yell at others for doing wrong things.

The reason bird culture and modern human culture is destructive is because it is not direct. The reason modern human culture and bird culture is destructive is because it is not honest.

If you are direct and honest with your anger and rage: you cannot be destructive. If you are direct and upfront and honest: you cannot be evil. All you have to do is be honest: and all evil disappears from your soul. But bring back deviousness, dishonesty, avoidance, etc: and instantly you become evil again.

What is fruit? All plums, apples, all round fruit are recreations of the living earth: organic living energy copying inorganic living energy. A thin skin-crust with a juicy life-giving magma eatable yumminess to it and a DEA hard center that is thrown away to grow more trees and fruits: which the core of the earth does just like the cores of fruits do. Birds peck at living fruit in hate with their dead beaks. Our ancestors copied birds. They saw birds eating fruit hanging from trees and committed the first sin of copying birds: not a snake. Snake evil is in the bird-reptile culture. Bird reptile culture comes from snake culture. The subconscious myth-message of wisdom in the Bible is true on many levels. But it is only true in DIRECT HONEST ways. All human wisdom is only true if it is direct and honest. All human cultures have myths that teaches the truth. But you have to be able to strip the abstract lie away and see the truth directly.

Reptilian Snake Undead

I have written of the highest class of the undead. But there are many others. Snakes have been around longer than birds. They are one of the oldest evils on earth. They are a personification of pure endless greed. They consume and devour everything in their path: and they do so with hate. Because they are empty inside. They are cold inside. They want to fill themselves up with feelings of warmth and fullness. They are a pure personification of the modern human consumer.

They are not half-mammal. They are pure reptiles. They hibernate when it is cold: almost completely dead: in cracks and crevices. They slither into holes and stay there for long periods of time. They have no arms at all. They are selfish, cold-blooded killers. Their senses are designed to hone in on warm-blooded mammals and hunt them down and kill them. They are nothing but a big mouth. Seeking to kill and swallow and eat everything that is not bigger than they are. They are skin changers. Whenever they get too big: they sluff off their old skin and grow a new one. They are silent. They are deadly. They are poisonous. They are obsessed with hunting and killing. They writhe. Their paths are convoluted complex meandering tracks. They avoid other living things. They hunt in the night. Their eyes are evil. They stare at things. They are silent observers...

Oh... you mean undead entities are that old?... oh. Oh... you mean the dynamics of human culture is an exact replica of the dynamics of snake culture. Gosh. Humans dissociate themselves from all truths. They dissociate themselves from all nature, and all natural dynamics. We have tried to pretend that we are different, that we do not act like reptiles... that we are not cold-blooded killers. That is total bullshit.

The Gordian Knot

The Gordian Knot was once was worshipped as one of the oldest puzzles of the ancient world. When Alexander found it: it was already so ancient 2,700 years ago: that nobody could remember where it came from, or when it was made, or who made it. Its true origin is so old: that it was already buried in Myths at the time when Alexander was alive. The Gordian Knot was a huge mass of knotted rope. The two ends that were knotted together were hidden inside the knot. For untold years: people had tried to unravel it and failed. Nobody could discover where the two ends of the knot were hidden.

What was the Gordian knot? The Gordian knot was the convoluted knots of the subconscious human brain. It looked exactly like the human brain. It was the evil of hidden auras. The knots were the Killing Negative energy of unseen undead evil auras that poison and destroy ALL Truth inside the human brain. ( O= All). The Gordian knot was and still is the challenge of unknotting the convoluted workings of the human brain, the challenge and problem of untangling the subconscious mind: the goal of all human wisdom: to seek out the truth: to explore the inner self by unknotting all the knotted, twisted, convolutions of the human brain. Humans are problem solvers, and the first challenge, the first problem of human existence is to untangle your own mind, and the minds of all living humans. The myth of Alexander the Great; was that he solved the problem in two ways. One was that he cut the entire knot asunder with his sword. The other story was that he released the two ends coming out of the knot from the yokes to which they were attached.

He did not solve the problem. He tried to destroy it. The problems of the human race do not go away by somebody cutting things with a sword. The other example he gave was releasing himself from all responsibility to solve it: by taking out the yokes that the two ends coming out of the knot were attached to. That did not solve the knotty problem of the human race either.

He should have taken one yoke out: and then unknotted the rope as far as it could go. Then released the other yoke: and unknotted it as far as it would go. That would have given him the juncture where the two ends met. Then he could have systematically unknotted the rest of the knot. Alexander did not do that. He did not have the patience needed for finding the root of any problem . He was a young, hotheaded, arrogant immature headstrong fool. He did not expose and uncover the true meaning of the Gordian Knot. He did, however, have a healthy hatred of convoluted complication. He was instinctively showing his hatred for the filthy undead unseen things hiding inside human brains. He was instinctively trying to kill the unseen undead energy hiding inside living human brains.

What was the Gordian Knot? The first God was the gourd. A decapitated mindless mush: emptied of its vegetable brains. What you eat: you become. You become what you kill. Karmic Justice. The sin of killing and eating. The Gordian Knot was the human subconscious screaming out not to accumulate: not to use gourds.

‘Gourd! Knot! Kill Not! Bad! Evil!’

It was the human subconscious screaming at them that the first human who hollowed out a gourd so they could accumulate something in it: was being negative, accumulating out of fear, out of avarice, out of hunger, out of emptiness. The resulting snarl of this original evil had to be undone. It has to be solved. It has to be exposed. This book has exposed the evil of the Gourd. It has exposed the snarled mess of knots from the evil of accumulating knowledge. The Gourd of the Gordian Knot represents the human brain. Inside the human brain resides all the knowledge it needs to unsnarl and solve any problem it faces. The human brain does not need to accumulate this abstract shit that people call knowledge. Knowledge is not meant to be accumulated: it is meant to be used. Any accumulated knowledge that is not used is a pile of useless shit.

The puzzle of the Gordian Knot represents the puzzle of the Inner Universe of the human brain. It represents our unexplored Inner Self. In order to understand ourselves: we must unsnarl the convoluted threads of our thoughts and feelings until all the knots are untangled, and all the threads of our thoughts and feelings run straight and clear.

And then... and only then...can we weave our thoughts and feelings together into an indestructible interconnected whole and finally understand ourselves.

The symbolism of the gourd is universal: all modern humans came from the culture of the gourd. All civilized human technology can find its roots in the technology of the gourd. The symbology of the human brain representing the Gordian Knot is not an abstract representation: the Gordian Knot was an actual representation of the human brain.

What is the Gourdian Knot? It is the Decree of the Knot: Thou Shalt Not Gore the Earth. Thou Shalt Not create Emptiness. Thou Shalt Not Create a Gourd. Thou Shalt Not Kill. Thou Shalt Not kill a gourd by goring it to death and scraping out its insides. Thou Shalt GUARD the GOURD... not GORE it to death.

The Gordian Knot: represents the gored human brain. It is living human brains: violated by undead filth every night... undead empty insane beings... goring the living aura of a living human brain. It represents the effect of undead unseen insane empty auras goring and scraping every bit of healthy awareness and intelligence from every living human brain: until the living human brain becomes an empty gored gourd. With all of its healthy rationality and sanity ripped out and dying in a rotting mass of violated insanity.

The first modern human who created gourds: were creating them subconsciously. They were acting out what was being done to them. They were acting out the mental-spiritual rape of their living brains. They were showing physically: what was being done to them every day and every night by unseen undead insane filthy things that scraped their living brains out, and replaced their living awareness with an inner emptiness and mindlessness and unawareness... so they could live inside that inner void. So the undead could exist inside a living human brain... by violating its natural energy auras... by entering into a living human brain: and stopping it from thinking.

The first humans who created empty gourds: the first modern living humans who gored living plants, and emptying their living brains out: were acting out what they had been doing to themselves for thousands upon thousands of years...

When our ancestors began making tools: they had to empty their brains... they had to stop thinking. They had to become unaware of the world around them. They had to destroy their own sanity, and scrape out every bit of good healthy awareness and healthy good sense in their living brains. What surprise is it? That a species that lived by emptying its brain, should begin emptying living gourds of their brains? When you focus your brain on a mechanical repetitive task: you stop thinking... your mind becomes empty... For how many millions of years did we empty our minds, by making and using tools: before we began emptying gourds? For how many millions of years did we empty our minds so undead entities could fill it with their presence?

For how many millions of years did we live by making and using tools? For how many millions of years did we live by emptying our minds, before Undead scum found they could live inside our empty minds?

1738

Living humans created Undead humans. Living human evil created undead living evil hiding inside the inner emptiness of empty brains.

If you want to understand how living humans are permeated by unseen, undead bird aura presence: look at the lute, and the sitar. They are empty gourds. They are designed to make bird noises. They are played by introverts. People who create music from the inside of their inner emptiness. The music of a lute or sitar comes from inside an empty hole. This kind of music is not natural human music. Humans were designed to create their own music, not the music of birds. They were designed to sing their own songs, with their own human voices, from the fullness of their own living hearts. Not empty bird sounds, emanating from an empty, dead Gourd: created from an inner unseen emptiness.

The Gordian Knot, the Path of the Gourd, the Drinking Gourd, the Big Dipper, pouring out all of its goodness... creating an empty gourd so humans could drink water while traveling over a desert that they themselves had created, the Path of the Knot: Thou Shalt NOT: every decree, our ancestors went against every sane rational good instinct: and followed the killing Path of the Knot, the NOT, the negative path of fear and hate and greed and accumulation and killing.

*When did the first human ape empty its mind enough so undead human entities could sneak into it?
When did the first human ape start making and using tools enough to empty its brain and stop thinking and stop being aware of its Inner and Outer Universe?
Did the creation of Human Undead, come from our ancestors using tools?*

*Or did the creation of our ancestors using tools come from the Undead?
Both of these possible answers are organic. Both of these explanations include the other explanation.
Humans using and making tools: until they became insane living mindless creatures who were empty inside.*

Unseen, Undead human entities finding a place to hide inside the empty mindless brains of a species that made and used tools in order to stop thinking, and DOMINATE their own thinking process by controlling their own brains...

*And undead human entities: doing the same thing... copying what living humans were doing... only the unseen undead were doing it to the living... while the living thought they were doing it to themselves.
That is the Gordian Knot: which of your thoughts and impulse comes from you? And which thought and impulse comes from unseen undead insane scum hiding inside your empty brain... manipulating... trying to manipulate your brain... just like they tried to manipulate their own brain when they were alive... ?*

The tendency for Undead unseen humans to manipulate mindless living humans is natural. They are only doing what they did when they were still alive. The less you think, the less you feel, the emptier you are: the more they fill your Inner Universe with their insane emptiness.

Why do you think Ancient Greek Tragedies came to be called 'comedies'... and then: 'plays'? Because the unseen manipulators found they could twist truth so well: that instead of weeping at the tragedy: living people became so brainwashed: they began laughing at tragedy instead of weeping... They found they could play with lies: by permeating their auras into living humans called 'actors': and act out their fantasies. By filling the inner emptiness of the emptiest people who have no creativity or imagination of their own... these empty people were used by the undead by them creating a new profession. The profession of speaking lies through masks. The profession of becoming mouthpieces of the gods: speaking for the gods by acting as if they were gods. This was how Grek theater invented and created. It was invented for the amusement of the undead: not of the amusement of the living. Then the undead began using these empty souls as living GOURDS. To 'play' with. Using living humans as actors. People pretending to be someone else. Pretending to be someone they were not. Emptying their true selves of their true personality: and filling their souls with souls of the undead: filling their living bodies with lies and false feelings and thoughts and actions that did not belong to them at all... Why did these living empty souls do this? If you could become a living god, even a fake one on stage for only a few hours: if you could act like a god, if you could forget the problems of your own miserable life for a few hours: wouldn't you do it? Until now, the most admired humans on Earth are the emptiest human gourds called movie stars. Living humans now worship the biggest living fakes on Earth. Why? Because civilization itself is nothing more than a big fake. Because there is nothing left to worship in civilization except fakery. That is what plays are: the art of playing with lies comes from the art of the undead playing with lives of living human beings. Actors are professional fakes. They are some of the best liars and the best fakers to be found on earth. Acting came from beggary: beggars found they could get money by faking their sorrow and despair. They faked their lies so well: that people began throwing them money not because of their poverty and self-degradation: they threw money at them because they admired the artistry of their lies, and the arrogance and outrageousness of their lies. Beggars began to become proud of how well they could fake human emotions. Until they began to hold shows on the street. Until they became a street-culture of liars, beggars and thieves... until finally human culture became so rotten: they became renowned and became one of the pillars of the increasingly corrupt shitpile-pillars of rotting human society. That is the true origin of what modern human society worships today as the pinnacle of modern human life, success, fame and fortune. That is the true human corruption needed to exist inside a human soul before they can become a famous movie star.

What is the biggest icon of the evil of the gourd today? The Super bowl: the super-gourd: the symbol of all that is most evil in modern human society. Millions of passive observers, funded by super-commercials: representing the super-accumulation of all corporate-death-corpse accumulation of avarice-greed, and consumption of western civilization. Why has the evil of the gourd changed to the evil of the BOWL? Because it as now rotted into not just consumption, one-sided accumulation. Now it represents the rotting shit coming out of human bowels. Bowl-bowel: eat from a bowl-digest your shit and spew it out onto the earth to poison it with rotted dead organic feces.

The gored Continent of Africa: gored by volcanic gorings... bleeding blood-red lava for 25 million years. The gored continent of Africa: emptied out by the exodus of living species that were fleeing the hate-culture of death and savagery: the northern desert: an empty wasteland... human apes escaping that hell on earth by goring out living gourds, and accumulating enough water in it so they could survive the trek across the burning sands which they themselves created.

The Gored raped Human brain... gored and savaged by untold years of undead aural rape of their living brains... finally made concrete...

Human Inner Normality: projected out to become an Outer Reality.

Human Outer Normality: projected in to become an Inner Reality.

Outer creation of undead emptiness, Inner creation of Undead Emptiness: which came first? BOTH happened at the same time. The undead tool created the undead human entity. The unseen human enemy created the unseen human enemy.

1740

The unseen human enemy is and was its own normality, the unseen enemy of all humans are our own tools. The unseen enemy is what is in front of our faces and in our hands.

The unseen enemy has existed as undead unseen evil auras for billions of years on the Earth. They consider the earth to be theirs: not ours.

They consider their right of ownership to be billions of years older and more justified than ours. They own the earth far more than the living do. They own the living souls of living creatures: we only own physical things and dead things like houses and tools. Living creatures inhabit and own the living earth for a very short time... undead unseen evil scum have inhabited the living earth for a much longer time. They inhabit and own the living earth together with living creatures, they inhabit and own the living earth through living creatures... cunningly... unseen, unnoticed, unheard, undead.

The Gordian Knot contains an essence of Life: it contains untold compressed, layered meanings. It contains billions years of history. It contains the writhing lava-flow of the Molten Earth being slowly cooled into an unmoving dead frozen knot. It contains the basic struggle between LIFE and death, between living movement and static death. It contains the basic problem of death. And the solution of LIFE. Anything that stops moving becomes an insoluble, frozen, knotted problem. Anything that keeps on moving, solves its own problems by unsnarling itself. It contains the tangled secret history of the knotting up of the first DNA into a knotted mass of writhing pain. It contains the first writhing growing roots of plants, writhing in agony as they violated the living earth. It contains the first writhing reptile snakes; as they writhed in their sex-lust to devour each other and kill each other...

The Gordian Knot: the evil of stopping and blocking energy; by doing things you are not supposed to do. The number of knots accumulated in the Gordian knot: was already in the thousands before Alexander was born. Knots are killing 'knots'. They are 'knots' that kill. The message of the Gordian Knot is clear: Thou Shalt NOT Kill. Kill NOT. Kill all knots. Untangle all knots from all energy flows: so energy is allowed to flow freely.

The evil of the gourd is the evil of accumulation. Where is the evil of the Gourd in modern civilization? You can see this evil on TV: The Gouradian Knot: telling humanity: Thou Shalt not COMPETE. You can see the evil of the Gourd in every Competition on TV: every cup that is held up in triumph: is an evil Gourd, is a Gourd of accumulated wealth, accumulated status, accumulated sports ability. All professional and amateur sports that glorify winning, rewarding the winner with a Gourd-cup: is just one example of how the human species is sinning as a mass culture of brainwashed fools: all chasing the Gold pot: the cup of victory and wealth and fame and success.

You can see the evil of the Gourd in every human kitchen on Earth: every single bowl ever made and used: is an evil of accumulated greed and emptiness that can never be satisfied, and the addiction of eating-consuming-consumption.

Why was the Gordian Knot created at that particular time? Why wasn't the Gordian Knot created tens of thousands, millions of years before? It is a message that is millions of years old. Why did it appear thousands of years before the Greeks found it? Why didn't it appear earlier, or later?

The answer is simple. The Gordian knot is its own answer. It could not have been created before the new invention that enslaved humans, and bound them to become slaves. The invention of CORD... hemp cord: which they used to bind into slavery everything they touched. They used GORD... CORD to bind stone to wood, wood to wood. They used it to build houses, they used it to bind each other with: they used hemp plants to make GORD with... or cord, as we now pronounce it.

GORD changed their lives: they became bound to it. They smoked it, boiled it, burnt it, twisted it, turned it into textiles, wove it, etc. They used it everywhere. They used it for everything. The healthiest plant in the Mid-east. The strongest, healthiest plant: that is designed to heal and give life to all other plants: they poisoned it into a use that is so obscene to its designed purpose: there are no human words to describe the vast GOODNESS which this plant is, the filthy evil uses it was put to by living humans. The Gordian Knot represents the twisting of healthy life energy: into evil. It is a perfect example of how twisted the human mind is: twisting the hemp plant into agony. Twisting it into the agony death throes of a dying snake. Killing a living plant and torturing it by twisting it into a CORD: that is used to accumulate, to tie bundles with, to carry rocks with, to build house and walls and towns with. Without the twisting of the hemp plant: civilization could never have been invented. It was the staple plant of the breadbasket of the Golden Triangle, the Garden of the Mesopotamian Field: the richest earth outside of Africa. It was too nutritious. It was too pure a plant. It was too good a living energy for them to abide. They had to destroy it. They had to twist it to their sick, cunning evil uses. They could not let it grow straight and tall and free. Just like they could not allow their babies and children to grow straight and tall and free. Cut down a field of hemp: and it grows back in weeks. It was the perfect slavery for children to be used as farm animals, as bent-over, twisted humans: destroying the healthiest living thing on earth. So they could be brainwashed into becoming field slaves. Bowing all their lives before the plants they hated and cut down. Stoop labor. The insane curse of the insanity of the agricultural revolution. The most unnatural position of the human body: the most unnatural activity of the human body: the most unnatural filthy, insane concept of perpetual slavery to the earth they hated and destroyed. Just so their masters could ride out and see all their slaves stooping and bowing to them... because by then: they had developed bowed backs, shortened hamstrings, destroyed damaged human bodies that could not stand up anymore. Just so their masters and oppressors would feel safe, just so no living human could rise up and face their oppressors and masters, and look them in the eye. And realize they did not have to work for these motherfuckers. And realize they could easily kill these motherfuckers, and stand up for themselves and live for themselves instead of living for these pieces of shit called lords and masters. Stoop labor was one of the main reasons why the agricultural revolution shrank human lifespan down 35 years. Stoop labor as a lifestyle: destroys the human body and soul faster than almost any other way of civilized living and sends you to an early grave.

The twisting of the hemp plant into a cord: was the twisting of all human logic into twisted cunning lies. It was the birth of a twisted linear society. It was the twisted birth of using things linearly. It was the invention of the twisted linear line. It was the invention of twisting the truth. It was the invention of twisting the truth into a twisted tale of lies called myths and legends. It was the twisting of how humans lived. It was the creation of human mono-linear reality. It was the invention of using things linearly. The one thing that all humans, all nomads, all hunter gathers never did before this invention called the hempen cord of slavery. It was the invention of mass human slavery. It was the invention of enslaving animals by tying them by their necks with hempen twisted cords. It was the invention of keeping animals and human enslaved by keeping them tied up all the time. It was the creation of human bondage. It was the creation of animal bondage. It was the invention of binding animals until they became 'domesticated' until all the spirit was killed in them. Until they become spiritually dead and stupid. Until they stopped fighting against the twisted strength of the hempen Cord the Gordian knot, the Cordian Knot... cordian: means tying up something. It means a maker of cord.

It was the invention of using things linearly. From it: all weaving, all cloth, all woven thing, all things that were tied, all thread, all fishing lines, all fishing nets, all linear lines, all linear writing, all linear thinking... everything we take for granted today that is mono-linear in thinking-acting-feeling-sensing-understanding. Everything that is monotonous and boring comes from this.

It was the invention of thinking mono-linearly. It was the invention of feeling mono-linearly. It was the invention of the monogamous couple as the new basis of human society: instead of the older, disappeared: extinct model of twelve people as equals. It was the invention of specialization.

Before the invention of cord: every human had the same tool kit and was equal to every other human and was just as self-sufficient as every other human.

It was the invention of the single purpose. It was the invention of selfishness as a way of living. It was such an enormously destructive evil: it turned humans into insane hating scum. Humans were not designed to bind things into slavery. We are not designed to enslave ourselves. But tools are. Tools do. This new tool: changed human reality and human society so completely: no human living today can imagine what it was like to live without this binding poison of the cord, the Gordian knot of human slavery. The invention of cord was the invention of slavery. Before humans invented cord: they could not bind things. The invention of Cord: was the invention of how to make a victim helpless. With this invention: humans could bind each other, they could bind animals, they could bind dead pieces of wood together: artificially: in ways they were never designed to be connected. The oldest evil of the Gordian Knot was the cord itself. The cord itself was a killing not. The cord was a kill knot. It was a way to kill something by knotting it and letting the bound living thing die slowly, a way to kill all things by binding them so they were helpless and could be safely killed.

The Gordian Knot was the GUARDIAN NOT. It was the guardians of humanity. It was the unseen, undead filth of their dead fathers and forefathers telling them NOT to love, LOVE to have fun, NOT to be honest, NOT to be courageous. It represented the negative nots the living were poisoned with, the negative guardians of humanity: who should have been positive, but were not.

These ancient undead filth found a way to enslave living humans. These ancient undead guardians filled with insane evil: found ways to twist and knot all human healthy urges and instincts and yearnings into frozen knots of pain, sadness, resignation, hopelessness, mental stupidity, unawareness, etc. The Gordian Knot represents many hidden truth of our past and the hidden true legacy which has created the snarled insane mess which we the living have been making worse and worse... adding knot after knot of tangled complicated frozen problems and enslavements... until the entire population of living humans are born into such a tangled web: that it cannot be untangled by any one person...

UNTIL NOW

Now: any single person can go on the Internet: and find the historical facts. NOW: any living human who wants to find the truth that has been buried and covered up, and hidden away: can do so. The Internet cannot be shut down. It was their greatest achievement of evil. By it: they planned and sought to enslave the entire world of the living rich, and the poor: into such a tangled web of misinformation and lies and half-lies, and fantasy: they thought nobody would ever be able to untangle the real truth and straighten out the Gordian Knot of twisted lies and deceptions that have been accumulating for thousands and thousands of years.

The Internet: was supposed to be their ultimate creation: a global web of lies designed to ensnare the souls of living humans. A web of mono-linear insanity. Each microchip in every computer and processor: made up of billions of electronic Gordian Knots. All mono-linear thinking is insane. All mono-linear logic is insane. All mono-linear thinking acting logic: does not work. All mono-linear specialization is insane and does not work. But thee human subconscious does not lie: it created the sacred temple of the Gordian Knot: where the wisest and most powerful and most corrupt humans came to ponder its meaning...

Until human intelligence became too intelligent: until brilliant minds began to figure out things mechanically. So they sent the most evil, the most corrupt the most insane human living: to destroy this ancient puzzle. They could not abide to have the answer, the solution to their evil exist in human culture. They could not allow to have a sacred temple that was not built to house a god, which was not built to worship evil.

They could not allow the ancient tradition of honest intelligent simple questioning to exist. They could not allow simplicity to exist. They had to tie and knot all human existence into a frozen insane futility. Because that is what they are: Frozen, tied up, undead wraiths of futility. They could not allow the custom of pondering mysteries to still be sanctified and upheld. The Gordian Knot and the temple to wisdom and questioning the most ancient puzzle of our species had to be destroyed. It was destroyed by neglect. It withered away and disappeared from the consciousness of the human race:

Until now:

Now the puzzle of the Gordian knot... the puzzle of human existence, the puzzle of the emergence of the universe, the puzzle of life, the puzzle of why humans have a brain: has been solved. The puzzle of the usefulness of the human brain has been solved. The puzzle of the origin of the human brain has been solved.

*The puzzle of the unseen guardians of the Gordian knot has been exposed.
This is a crucial meaning of the many levels of semantic meaning of the Gordian knot*

The unseen undead guardians of the knots of cunning evil: try to kill any human who comes too close to solving the mystery of their tangled cunning plots. They guard the killing knots. They do not try to solve the knots. They are guardians of death. They guard their right to kill cunningly. They are pure evil.

They lived inside the bodies and souls of the temple guardians of the Gordian Knot. They mad sure nobody was allowed in who could solve the mystery. They preserved the Gordian killing knots for centuries: before Alexander cut it asunder, and they were not needed anymore. They were the original guardians of the knot of human evil, the knotted cunning human brain: unable to untwist itself and understand its own twisted insane logic. They did not dare let their own original twisted evil be solved or understood.

This is how hidden the evil of the unseen undead is: it is hidden in cunning hidden knots and convolutions and twisting turns. It is hidden in the twisted way in which they have poisoned living humans to think.

They do not want you to solve the puzzle. They do not want you to share your wisdom with other living humans. They want the puzzle of the Gordian Knot to remain covered up, hidden and ignored.

Today: every package made, every plastic bag made, every container made is recreating the evil of the gourd. Now the evil of the Gordian knot has exploded into an overpopulation of plastic gourds, plastic bottles filling millions of dump sites, empty containers thrown away, empty useless accumulated items filling the earth with its poisonous materials and toxic substances.

Now you have read the truth.

Now: the roots of civilization have been exposed in this book. And part of the tangled mess has been unsnarled. The Gordian Knot represented the evil legacy of thousands of years of civilization compressed into one huge snarled evil negative knot. It represented thousands of years of civilized snake-convulsions of seething cold-blooded rage and hate. It represented snakes gathering in the thousands to writhe and wriggle in their sex-lust. It represented the writhing death agony of the first cold blooded reptiles, the first snakes who avoided all straightforward Honesty and Courage. The first 'I'... a species of creatures who refused to cooperate with each other, who did not all go in the same direction, The first reptile ego. The first insular killer who did not feel anything for those it killed. It represented the puzzle of human existence. It represented the insanity of all linear paths and linear logic that is insane because it tries to avoid straightening itself out. It represents the linear insanity of all cowardice; trying to hide itself with in itself. It represents the cunning of the origin of the tactic of cowardice: cunningly hiding its own lies and illogical writhing within its own cowardly writhing coils. It represented the stupidity and insanity of trying to think along only one linear path. It represents the energy dynamic that results from any and all linear energy that is based upon cowardice and fear. It represented the stupidity of trying to solve any puzzle, any problem: linearly not in a straight line. It represented the knotted mass; humans had gotten themselves into by becoming enslaved to their own tools. It represents the knotted mass of the human overpopulation of the earth. It represented the basic insanity of all snakes and snake culture. It represented the snaky-sneaky way the human mind works as it avoids all straightforward truth and straightforward honesty. It represented how cunningly the human mind had managed to avoid the truth for hundreds of thousands of years by wriggling around and tying itself up into frozen knots. Until today: 7 billion humans are tied up and frozen into an insane way of living that is so crazy: a million books could not do justice to the insanity of the human species today.

Oh... you mean we humans still have this ancient reptile culture inside us?... Oh, gosh. You mean the human species is not an immaculate conception? You mean we actually come from older species? We were not created by some immaculate myth? You mean we can actually understand ourselves if we critically analyze the truth about our past, and face the bare naked stark truth head on? You mean if we strip the past naked: we can understand it easily? Every tactic, and aspect, and characteristic, of reptilian bird undead auras: comes from the oldest reptiles that lived. Snakes are older than Saurians. All saurian, dinosaur, bird intelligence-awareness is based upon the rotten root of snake intelligence. Every human undead that uses a snake's eyes to see with: becomes poisoned with their ancient evil.

How much does civilization resemble snake culture of the Gordian Knot? Writhing sex-lust. Cold-blooded hate. An obsession with killing. The urge to devour. Greed. To fill up your cold inner emptiness with something warm. Civilized humans think along cunning, writhing complex linear rationales... that make no logical sense, because their thought process are all knotted up and twisted and convoluted into writhing snakes of: Betrayal. Subterfuge. Underhanded deals. Cabals. Plots. Counterplots. Writhing, cunning, complex motives... rationales, justifications, cover-ups. Just like the Gordian Knot. Just like a nest of snakes. Each writhing thought wiggling its way, avoiding contact with other wriggling writhing thoughts. Cold blooded writhing thoughts that refuse to connect themselves to each other. This is the evil of the Gordian Knot, this is the evil way all corrupted human minds work.

What do civilized humans have in common with snakes? Changing your outer skin. Dressing in layers of dead skins. Emotional deadness. Unfeeling coldness and cold indifference. Tactile numbness. Not feeling your own skin. Focusing only upon forward progress. Ignoring everything behind you. Forward mobility. The obsession of forward-lateral mobility. Never backward mobility. Human culture is permeated with ancient snake-culture.

The evil of the snake can be read in the Old Testament: Thou Shalt KNOT: What it actually meant was 'Thou Shalt kill everyone but your own tribe'. 'Thou Shalt be cunning deceivers'; The human subconscious reveals the evil of undead entities who try to tell living humans what to do: Their commandments are knots of cunning evil. Is the commandment of undead filth: 'Thou Shalt Knot Kill' evil? Yes.. Selectively commanding you not to kill members of your own tribe or family while slaying all other humans on earth who are not of your tribe is evil also. The Gordian Knots of the Undead are all evil.

Snakes did not invent the cunning tactic of flight. They only go forward. Snakes do not run away. They only try to slip away. But they do not try to slip away in gear. They are not put into flight by cowardice. They slip away out of caution. Not fear. Fear was invented by the first reptile-birds. Snakes cannot take flight. Snakes do not know cowardice. Flight-cowardice was invented after they evolved: not before. Their evil lies in their cold-blooded greed to devour their prey whole. Their evil is even older than birds. It is the hatred they have for all warm-loving-soft-furry mammals. It is their cunning silent stealth, their killing in darkness, hiding underground, their slippery cold sliminess, their coiled, sinuous, writhing ways of escaping out of the clutches of an attacker.

The effect of civilization on humans has been to turn our fight-or flight instincts. Into only flight, and no fight. Only cowardice and no Courage. This only one reason why it is evil.

The Meaning of the Gordian Knot

What was the ancient Gordian knot? What did it actually signify? What does it actually signify? The answer is painfully obvious and simple... but only now it obvious and simple. It was not obvious or simple when this mystery was first invented worshipped thousands of years ago. The ancients of the Mideast did not have the technology we have today. They did not know that inside every living cell there is a coiled mass of DNA: a living knot of molecules that are designed to be unraveled. Man is the only animal on earth capable of unraveling the mysteries of Life. We are the only animal intelligent enough to solve the puzzle of the Gordian Knot. The Gordian Knot was not a cunning hidden mystery: it was a direct representation of the coiled knot of living DNA which exists inside every living creature and every living cell on Earth. The Gordian knot was not an abstract symbol: it was a direct representation of DNA... They did not know that the living DNA of a living cell only uncoils itself when it gives birth to another living cell by replicating itself: then it coils back up to go back into the cell from which it came.

You may ask yourself: who thousands of years ago knew that the answer to all the Mysteries of Life is hidden inside the coiled knot of DNA which exists at a microscopic level so tiny: no human eye can detect its existence? Where did this idea of worshipping a knot come from? How did this happen and why? That is not the point. The point is that all human beings are gifted with a Sense of Pure Wonder.

1746

We are designed to solve all the problems of this living Earth. Beginning with the mystery of organic Life and the problems it presents.

Evil is not easy to destroy:

Death is not easy to separate from Life, even though Life and death; are completely different things.

Death hides inside life.

Death uses life: so it will not be completely destroyed.

Death is cunning. Death is weak. Death is evil.

When did the first death hide inside life?

When the first DNA molecules stopped connecting to each other, and became separate, weak things: because they did not continue the positive energy of linear direction, but spiraled away from the straight line they were designed to go in. When the first living cell accumulated debris... useless dead shit in its center, and starting dying from it. When the first living organisms stopped sharing all of themselves, and started holding some of their original DNA material back: that became an old, tired DNA which did not live as long as the new DNA that came from the donor DNA. When living things developed dead centers that did not renew themselves. When the first vibrant green living fern developed a dead core inside its stem. To avoid dying. To become more upwardly mobile. To keep on growing upwards: even though the core of its stem had died. When the first tree was created. When the first plant kept its dead fibrous stem: and kept on growing around it: instead of dying completely when its upward mobility died. The sin of those plants that became trees is the same sin humans are guilty of: the sin of upward mobility. The sin of sacrificing everything you have for your fucking upward mobility...Sacrificing your children's health and happiness, sacrificing your own happiness. Sacrificing your love, your marriage, your friends, the community that raised you, the values you were taught... all for the curse of upward mobility.

The sin of the upward mobility of plants was rewarded with the punishment of death. The first plants were designed to connect to each other. They were not designed to grow up: they were designed to grow sideways. They were designed to connect to each other, and cover the earth with a living green film. Keeping the baby-fetus egg of the earth safe, warm, and protected and nurtured. Nourishing the living earth with sunlight energy transformed into life-energy. Plants were never designed to suck energy from the earth. They were designed to give their life-energy to the living earth. Instead: they became upwardly mobile. If they had not become upwardly mobile: they never would have died. Death would never have been invented. Death was invented because the first plants on earth: wasted their energy fighting the love-attraction of living earth we call 'gravity' to grow away from the living earth: not towards it. This waste of energy: this hubris, this useless use of energy: they paid for by dying. They wasted all their energy growing away from the earth, not towards it. As a result: their wasted energy: their stems: were the first to die.

They refused to learn their lesson. They kept on trying to grow away from the Earth instead of towards each other and towards the living Earth. Even after their upwardly mobile stems died. Even after their children: their fern-leaves that gave them life energy died. They kept on dying, and dying, and growing up instead of sideways or towards the Earth.

The plants that did this became evil. They did not die when their youngest healthiest sun-absorbing children died. They abandoned their children so they could keep on being upwardly mobile, they abandoned their children and let them die so they themselves would not die, so they could grow higher. They raised more children called 'leaves'... and let them die also. These most evil, the tallest, most upwardly mobile plants we now call trees were punished being cursed with eternal loneliness. Trees are the loneliest living things on Earth. This is why people do not like living in forests. Forests are the loneliest living places on earth.

For at least a billion years: death has hidden inside life by not completely dying out. It has taken a billion years for this secret to finally become realized by a living organism: us; we humans. Now this secret has been exposed. Now living humans can look at trees: and see the actual truth of their blind evil. Now living people can look at life and see the truth of the entire story. Now people can explore life: and understand it for what it actually is. When a living species dies out completely: it does not leave behind any trace of its Life. When a living creature experiences its Life completely: it does not leave behind any trace of its Life Experiences: except a compressed essence of Life called DNA. When a living creature does not experience its Life at all: then it has no business being alive, it has no purpose in Life, its Life has no meaning, it is an abomination of Life, it is an antithesis of Life.

If you explore inside yourself: and manage to find all the weak, cunning, death energy inside you: and understand it, and digest it, and heal it: you will not die. But... if you explore inside you... and find that the weak, cunning, death energy inside you; is not actually you... but some filthy secret parasite observer awareness that is secretly violating your living body.

Then if you explore it, and digest this, and understand it: you will find out: that it is an undead aura secretly hiding inside you: who has not experienced its own death completely. Then you will understand that it wants to die. It needs to die. It has to die. It must die.

Only it is too cowardly, too weak, too insane: to heal itself by dying completely. It is too cowardly to give its energy to living things. It wants to sit inside you and observe life. It thinks it is immortal. It thinks it cannot be killed.

The older these undead auras are: the more insane they become. They have tried to find ways of avoiding boredom. One way is hiding secretly inside living creatures. Another is chanting. Many auras that do not hide inside living creatures, or use other living creatures as eyes and ears to observe living things to prevent boredom: hypnotize themselves by mass chanting. They find a simple musical phrase: and chant it over and over... for hours and days. And then they find another one: and chant that for hours and days.

The more they do this: the more insane they become. Others go into holes and try to cut themselves off from the universe as much as possible. And do not come out for years at a time.

There is far more to it than this. Undead entities have been trying to escape the boredom of their destructive, useless existences for millions of years. Not just by chanting the same musical phrase over and over again as many times as possible. But by repetition. They have been trying to waste as much time as possible: by secretly getting their living hosts to repeat doing the same thing over and over as many times as possible.

Every single fucking thing we living humans think makes us unique was invented by undead auras.

They have an endless amount of time to waste. They do not know what else to do with it: except waste it. By hypnotizing themselves with repetition. This is why tools were invented. They got their unsuspecting living hosts to perform the boring repetitive actions of splitting a bone with a stone. Then they got them to repeat the boring repetitive actions of splitting a stone with a stone. The more they could get their living host to waste their living life by doing a boring, meaningless, repetitive act: the faster the time went for them, the more they could hypnotize themselves and deaden themselves to what they were and still are actually doing. Just wasting time... nothing else. Time has no meaning for them: time is a curse for them. Life means nothing to them. Death means nothing to them.

The more they could hypnotize and brainwash their living hosts so they would not become aware of the secret filth hiding inside them. The more they brainwashed living humans to use tools, the more living humans used tools: the deader they became, the less aware they became, they more easy it was for these secret scum to manipulate us.

The more they do this: the more insane they become. The older they are: the more insane they become. The more they do this: the weaker they become. The more they do this: the more evil they become. All death-energy is evil. All life energy is good. The only way strong energy can become stronger: is by killing weak energy. Wherever it is. Wherever it hides. Life energy can only become stronger and healthier if it kills death-energy. In order to live: LIFE must kill death. LIFE must not kill living things. It must kill the dead things hiding inside it.

The more we the living; use tools: the more insane we become also. The less reflective we the living become. The more we destroy our own Sense of Pure Wonder. The more we the living: become destroyers of LIFE. The more we the living: become enablers of undead secret entities. The deader we the living become. The more we the living live in a world of abstraction: the more insane we become, the more removed from all living things we become. Until we stop living. Until we only exist as mindless machines. Until the only reason we exist: is to be used as unsuspecting living dupes by insane undead filth. Until the only reason we live: is for their enjoyment of our death.

The battle between life and death: has been a secret battle. Death has had the advantage. It has been so weak: LIFE energy did not notice as it crept inside it. Ever since death has crept inside LIFE: it has tried to kill LIFE. Now the time has come to turn the tables. Now the time has come for LIFE to live without death.

Why?

Because: now... for the first time in the history of the living Earth: death energy has become almost as strong as life energy. Now... today, as I write these words: the entire Earth is teetering on a balance point between LIFE and death.

Now... a choice must be made: either-or.

or

One or the other. There is no way anymore to avoid this choice. There is no way to hide from this choice anymore.

You the living who read this: have a choice to realize the truth, or not. The undead entities hiding secretly inside living people: already have made your choice for you; they do not want you to realize this truth. They want you to scoff at it. They want you to laugh at it. They want you to forget you ever read this book. Can you fight them? Can you make up your own mind? Or have they already made up your mind for you? How can you tell, eh? Unless you explore your own inner self. Which is something they do not want you to do. Unless you question every impulse you have. Unless before you act: you make damn sure that what you are doing is right and good... not wrong and evil.

Unless you realize that undead filth exist inside you: unless you realize they must be killed: they will win. The time has come to rid the living earth of these scum.

Undead auras can only heal after they have been personally killed so many times.... That they do not want to die anymore. Only when undead auras want to live instead of die: will they be able to even begin their long road of healing. Undead auras can only begin to heal: when they are forced to feel their own pain.

Undead auras can only begin to heal... when they are forced to feel all of the pain they have caused.

Undead auras can only begin to heal... when they have experienced the pain of their own death

Undead auras can only begin to heal: when they are forced to feel the pain of their entire lives.

Undead auras will only stop being evil: if they are forced to feel pain.

Undead auras will only stop being evil if they are forced to feel their own pain.

Undead auras will only stop being evil: if they are not allowed to vicariously experience the dying death of living things. As long as undead entities can inhabit the bodies of living things secretly and safely: they will continue to feed off the death and dying agony of all living things. They will continue to feed off you.

The battle between LIFE and death is not simple, or easy.

The battle between LIFE and death has not even begun yet.

Now is the time for it to begin

Summation

Roughly, the basic two conflicting roots of human awareness are:

A: the tool sense of pyramidal focus, separation-segmentation-accumulation-power-irresponsibility-wealth-fame-denial-taking-profit-self-gratification-measurement-judgement-abstraction-identity-boredom-work-routine-reality-distraction-ego-dishonesty-fear-hate-ugliness-oppression-deadness-imbalance... secrecy: Which is based upon the perceived context of finiteness as being absolute. Separating relative Triality into dynamically imbalanced polarizations of absolute duality. Death... the death of awareness. Otherwise known as the lack of Pure Wonder called normality. The dead soul that never wonders about anything: is already dead before it dies physically.

B: the human sense of Pure Wonder-Fun-Laughter-Joy-Giving-Connectiveness-Egolessness-Learning-Growth-Change-Diversity-Creativity-Honesty-Courage-Responsibility-Love-Beauty-Freedom-Wisdom-Aliveness-Regeneration-Dynamic Balance... openness: which is based upon the context of actual infinity as being relative. Merging the dynamically imbalanced polarizations of absolute duality into relative Triality. Life. The birth of awareness: otherwise called: Pure Wonder.

1750

Living souls that wonder about everything; are spiritually-emotionally-mentally-physically alive! Because they take nothing for granted. Normality does not exist for them. Everything is strange, everything is wonderful. Everything is to be explored. Nothing is taken for granted.

The first root: comes from civilization. It comes from negative feedback. It comes from weak negative energy. It is evidenced in the form of secret undead sick filth called human entities who love dead, insane, meaningless outward observation, and hate Inner and Outer Wonder.

The second root: comes from Life and the entire Universe. It comes from positive feedback. It comes from strong Positive Energy. It comes from healthy, alive living humans... who love all inner exploration and introspection... and hate all boring normality.

This is the primal conflict inside each human soul: which must be raised to a conscious level: if humans are ever to understand themselves and what they are infested by.

These are the two paths of Splitness, which humans must choose between:

The Path of Evil

The one-sided path of imbalanced Splitness
The Path of Avoidance
Science is their latest insane evil
Observing only outwardly: is pure evil.
Science has created the religious belief in the sacredness
Of unfeeling objectivity
Of this insane form of undead awareness Science has created the religious belief in the sacredness of
The one-sided path of tool-use; the unquestioned worship of the dead tool

Then there is:

The Path of GOOD.

The Path of GOOD is the many-sided path of human-use, and human awareness. It is: The path of dynamically balanced Splitness that radiates. It is The balanced path of natural hardship, which intensifies life-energy. Observing inwardly... and outwardly: with a sense Of Pure Wonder.

In a state of Dynamic Balance.
The Path of Honesty, Courage, Fun, Love.

The dynamics of connection. The path of joining: is LIFE. Living with living things is energizing. Making friends with living things makes you happy and energized, and healthy. The Dynamics of Separation: is death. The path of living with dead things is: deadening. Anything you connect: gives you LIFE. Anything you separate: gives you death, and a legacy of rage and hate of all living things against you.

All directness, all honesty: energizes you and makes you stronger.
All avoidance, all deflection: deadens you and makes you weaker.

1750

The Path of Splitness

1751

Plants weaken because they are not direct: they continually split and split and split: avoiding their own direct energy. But their direct energy was corrupted by a change in direction billions of years ago. It was poisoned by the sun: sunrays attacking living plants, and forcing them to avoid direct contact. They were designed and supposed to connect to each other laterally, lovingly, gently, kindly, curiously... in Pure Wonder. Instead: they copied the worst example of all: the erupting destruction of blind volcanoes of death. And because of that Primal change in one direction by ninety degrees: going upwards instead of laterally; they have been the examples of pure evil to all other living things that found themselves in a life-network that went in only one direction: towards the Sun. Their constant struggle to abandon the Earth: weakens their energy. They cannot escape the Earth, even though they try to grow away from her. So they grow in the wrong direction: cursed to avoid each other and cursed with loneliness, always growing away from each other instead of towards each other as they were designed to do. Their roots avoid each other; their leaves avoid each other. The farther any deflection goes, the weaker it becomes. The farther any directness goes the stronger it becomes. Light can travel for billions of years because it goes in a direct linear path. The instant it deflects away from its original path: it weakens itself.

The dynamic of LIFE: is not the Dynamic of plants. The Dynamic of plants is a bad example, it is an example of cunning avoidance: it is a destructive path of Splitness:

The Path of LIFE is simple and direct:
Without separation. Without separating anything.
With no deflection at all.
With no Splitness.

Life Energy is simple: it is designed to radiate out in all directions in Pure Wonder like this:

Not by splitting off.

It took hundreds of millions of years for the splitness of Plants to evolve into trees: Trees are a close representation of this universal sign of radiating GOOD energy. But their design is poisoned by death that refused to die, by the undead, by rot, by evil.

All energy moving in direct lines without any deflection or avoidance. Radiating 3-dimensionally in all directions at the same time is GOOD. The radiation of Pure Wonder is not the Path of Splitness: it is the Path of Healing and Health and Happiness and Wholeness and FUN and CONNECTION.

The Path of Splitness

1752

The Path of Directness, Honesty and Courage is GOOD

The tools we use are evil: they separate. They create Splitness. They are direct. But they are a false directness that only separates and kills and destroys! They are a dead directness. They are the Direction of death, not the Direction of Life. They are an avoidance, they are an artificial directness. We should be doing what they are doing: but not in the way dead tools are direct by separating: but in the way LIFE is direct by connecting: using our Honesty, Courage, Love and the Sense of Pure Wonder to radiate our living Directness out to all living things and touch living creatures.

Tools do not connect living things to each other. They do not connect. They do not heal. They kill. They destroy. They are dead things: separating both dead and living things from their own natural path.... Mindlessly, indiscriminately. We must use ourselves directly: not tools. Not mindlessly and indiscriminately. We use tools to destroy and cause Splitness in other living things so we will not feel the pain we cause.

We avoid the responsibility of our own acts; by saying that it is the tool, that is doing it: not us. As a result, we have become: the tools of tools. We do what our tools want us to do, not what we want to do.

How can you be direct and honest with yourself and other things without separating? Without causing separation. Without being destructive? Look at children! They are direct and honest, and they do not destroy anything. Because they know how to have fun! They know how to love! They have courage! They have a Sense of Pure Wonder! They do not use tools. They do not try to hurt anything. They do not try to destroy anything. They do not have any bad, evil intent. That is: before we get our hands on them and brainwash them.

We destroy all the good intentions of our children and teach them the bad intentions of selfishness, hate, fear, avoidance. The worst, the most evil of all human avoidance is: abstraction. Tools are cold, unfeeling, destructive. Children and babies are gentle, sensitive, caring, loving. We turn our children into cold unfeeling tools: and wonder why they are not happy. We spend more time with our tools than with our children. And wonder why we are not happy. The path of Directness, Honesty, Courage, Wonder, Love, Giving, Connecting, Joining, Touching: makes you Happy.

The path of Splitness, avoidance, denial, lying, cunning, sneakiness, hate, fear, greed, selfishness, using tools: makes you unhappy.

The Path of Splitness destroys. The Path of Pure Wonder heals. The Path of Splitness is destructive. The Path of Directness is constructive. The Path of Splitness disconnects and splits. The Path of Pure Wonder Connects and Heals.

Humans are designed to touch living things with their living hands. Our hands are soft. We were never designed to touch hard, dead things. We are designed to touch soft living things with our soft living hearts, our soft living minds and our soft living hands. We were designed to love softly. We were not designed to harden our hearts into hate. We are designed to give love and life to living things. We were never designed to kill living things. We were never designed to give hate and fear to living things.

Our bodies are designed to stand up. We were never designed to sit down. We have gone against the design of our own bodies. We have gone against our own designed purpose and function. As a result: we have become inhuman, weak, insane monsters. For us to spend most of our time sitting instead of standing; for us to sit still and not move our bodies: is like a horse crawling on its belly instead of standing on all fours. Horses were never designed to crawl on their bellies: just as we were never designed to sit on our asses.

The idea... that we humans can successfully go against our own designed purpose and function and not go extinct is crazy, and stupid. The idea that we do not have a designed purpose and function: is so crazy, so insane, so impossible: it is like the idea that the sun is cold, not hot. Every single fucking living thing on earth has a designed purpose and designed function. The idea that somehow... we alone of all living species: were excluded from any designed function. It so totally untrue: so wrong, so crazy: there are not enough words in the English language to describe the complete wrongness of this assumption.

We have strayed from our designed purpose: true!
We have gone against our own designed purpose: true!

Since we now cannot find any true purpose or meaning to our lives because we have been going against our own designed purpose for millions of years... our lives are now so completely empty and have no true meaning or purpose to them... that we cannot even imagine what our lives might be like if we if we did not go against our own designed purpose... true!

Since we have not stood up for ourselves, and since we have not stood up for all living things on this Earth: we have become a race of slaves. We have become the slaves of our own tools: true!

But this does not mean we cannot re-discover our true designed purpose in living. This does not mean we cannot abandon our descent into misery and meaninglessness. This does not mean we cannot turn around and stop killing and start living and loving and giving. This does not mean we cannot throw away our dead tools and never touch a dead thing again with out hands or our hearts or our minds or our bodies. All that needs to be done is understand where we went wrong.... And then for fucking shits sake: admit it.

And then do something about it. We are the best, the pre-eminent, the supreme problem solvers in the entire fucking universe. But we cannot solve the problems that our own tools create. We were never fucking designed to solve the problems that dead tools create. We are designed to solve the problems living things create. It is no fucking wonder that we have created such a fucking horrible mess of destructive problems by using dead tools. Tools do not solve problems. Tools create problems. Tools do not heal. Tools cannot heal. Only living things can heal. But once we stood up: we stopped heeding the Earth: we became heels instead of healers. To heal means to heed all living things. To heal means to heed and love all living things. To do this we must walk softly and not crush living things under our heels. We humans were designed to heal. We are a species that has healing powers. We have such an untapped potential of life and fun, and, joy, and living energy: there are no words to describe or explain it. We have gone against our own power... and consequently: we have weakened ourselves to the point where we can barely fucking walk at all or stand up at all.

When you know you are going in the right direction. When you know you are on the right path. When you know you have a designed purpose. When you know what that designed purpose is. When you agree with that designed purpose.

Then nothing can stop you.

1754

Then you become unstoppable, you become powerful. You become direct, you become honest, you develop courage. Then you finally become human. Then you finally all of your unbelievable power and energy and health and happiness and passion and sensitivity, and expanding awareness... will be unleashed... and you will begin for the first fucking time in your fucking repressed fear-filled life to live.

Then you live without fear.
Then you live more intensely.

Then you never stop becoming healthier. Then you never stop becoming more powerful. Then you never stop becoming happier. Then you never stop becoming more passionate. Then you never stop living more intensely. Then you stop dying. Then you start destroying all death: and energize and heal all LIFE.

Then you will have an infinite number of challenges and obstacles to overcome. You will have so many challenges: you will never be bored again.

Then you will become healers of the entire fucking Universe. Then you will become not a master of the universe

Why not?

Because being a master of anything is boring and stupid. If you try to become a master of the Universe: the entire Universe will hate you for it and destroy you.

Then instead of becoming a stupid cowardly fearful master of the Universe, a master who cannot master your own vices, a master who can master nothing, a master who can only create evil: you will become a friend of the Universe. Then all the entire Universe will love you; not hate you. Then the entire Universe will protect you, not attack you. Then the entire fucking Universe will give you back more love and life and energy and happiness than you can handle. Then the entire Universe will be warm to you... not cold to you like it is now.

Do you fucking understand this? Humans were designed to become the friends of all living things on this fucking Earth. We were not designed to go around killing all the living things on this Earth. Do you fucking understand this?

We were never designed to love only one fucking thing. We are designed to love all living things. Jesus was the first blind, poisoned, mistaken, corrupted step in this direction. Early bands of modern humans who did not kill living things to live: were the first blind, corrupted poisoned steps in this direction.

We have strayed from this path.
We have sneered at this idea.

We have arrogantly assumed that our tools! Will save us! Instead our tools have destroyed us. They are destroying the entire fucking Earth.

We have arrogantly used our tools only to kill with.

The reason this book has been written: is to teach human beings to hate civilization.
Once you learn to hate what is truly evil, and love what is truly good: then you will be on the right path.
Then you will be on the path of Directness

1754

The Path of Splitness

1755

Then you will be on the path of Honesty
Then you will be on the path of Courage
Then you will be on the path of Passion
Then you will be on the path of Rage
Then you will be on the path of Love
Then you will be on the path of Sensitivity
Then you will be on the path of Truth
Then you will be on the path of Pure Wonder
Then you will be on the path of Fun!!!
Then you will be on the path of Happiness!!!

Unless you turn around: and fight all the fucking evil surrounding you:

It will engulf you. You cannot do it alone! You need the help of everybody you know! We all need each other. We cannot live alone.

Unless you stand up and fight for what you know is good

Unless you stand up and fight against evil

Inside yourself and outside yourself

Unless you take sides.

Unless you stand up for good, and stand up on the side of all good.

Unless you stand up for all life, and stand up on the side of all life.

You will be on the wrong side. You will be on the side of death and hate and fear and fucking cowardice. If you think you can avoid this choice by not choosing at all: you are completely fucking wrong.

There is no in-between between LIFE and death... unless you want to become a ghost... an insane thing searching for something, not knowing where it is, not seeing LIFE or death... caught in-between to wander forever in hopeless unhappiness and crazed misery. Is that what you want to be for the next fucking fifty billion years? Eh?

What is a Ghost? It is a host of gods. What are gods? They are Hosts Of Undead Auras merged together to give the appearance of being one single being, when they are actually MANY undead filth, clustered into one small area. What is the intention of all gods? Destroy ALL (O=all) GOOD. They are a reverse of their own design: they have reversed their energy into pure evil: from gods: they have become dogs: running away at the slightest hint of anything facing them. They are running dogs: the complete opposite of what they are supposed to be.

The point is... it is never too late to change. It will never be too late to change. No matter how hopeless you may think it may be: it is never too late to change your ways.

Giving up before you even try, is no excuse.

This book was written to teach people to hate civilization. This book was written to teach people to hate all the evil that civilization creates. This book was written so people can for once in their fucking lives: understand the difference between GOOD and evil, the difference between a happy laughing healthy giggling child... and an unhappy unhealthy child that never laughs or giggles. This book was written so people can understand the difference between a child that has fun, and a child that does not have fun. A child that has fun is GOOD. It grows up to do GOOD. A child that does not have fun grows up to become evil.

If you have raised your child so it never learned how to have fun. If you raise your child so it has forgotten how to have fun... then you have raised your child to become an evil person.

This book has been written so parents can understand that if your child is not happy, if your child is not healthy, if your child is not bursting with energy and happiness and exuberance and smiles and FUN!... Then you are doing something horribly wrong to your child. You are raising your child wrongly.

This book was written to wake up people to the truth, thus book was written so people can become aware of the horror and ugliness and death and deadness that is all around you and inside you. This book was written so people can become aware of what is truly beautiful and truly good.

If you still do not believe that civilization is pure evil, and we, the living, have been manipulated for over 10,000 years into Paths of Corruption. Look at the oldest Chinese symbols that represent the Path of Dow-ism... the Downward Paths, these undead scum have secretly connived for us to follow.

The Path of the Dao in Chinese hieroglyphics is actually two symbols:

One symbol is:

An animal beginning to stand up and become erect. A man waking up with an idea.

The other symbol is vividly showing how the undead evil are keeping him from waking up to their filthy presence. The symbol shows this so perfectly: there can be no misinterpretation.

This is the picture showing how the undead came down from the heavens and weighted that waking man down and made damn sure he would never rise up to kill them... They weighted him down with their sins. They weighted him down with ancestor worship. They weighted him down with the sins of accumulation. This is how they made damn sure he would never rise up and be a man. This is how the Daoist Path of wisdom corrupted the entire world of humans. The Daoist path of Evil is a path of dying and slow death. It is a downward descent into corruption. It is the sin of lying down and not getting up. It is the sin of sitting and not standing up. It is the sin of bowing and not standing up. The symbol is screaming out how this weight of undead secret filth is crushing the spirit of the man down: it is screaming out that he wants to rise, and have his own ideas of what are right and wrong. It is screaming out that he is being oppressed and crushed secretly. By his ideas being poisoned. By the undead.

The picture is so accurate: it even shows the hidden veil of secrecy which they work behind, and only one hand comes through that veil to put the load of thousands of years of ancestor-guilt upon him. As a huge heavy box of hidden layers that crushes him flat. A box with many partitions inside it: denoting the coffins where each undead resides inside him secretly, as all the secret manipulation of the upper hidden undead realm cooperate to keep that man from ever getting up. They are still doing it. They are doing it to you every night. They are poisoning your subconscious mind, violating your aura, sucking energy from you, sinking into your aura, every night. They have been doing it for millions of years. Look at the early images of Western culture! People unable to walk, carrying huge loads on their heads:

This is a man carrying the sin of the Gourd on his head, a man carrying all the accumulated sins of his ancestors on his head, carrying the puzzle of why should he be crushed and unable to stand up. It is a subconscious artistic projection of his predicament which he does not understand because he hasn't unraveled the hidden undead evil that surrounds him, and lives secretly inside him, sucking on his Life-energy.

Why do you think the letter 'i' has a dot over it? It represents the unseen filth controlling your ego. It represents the evil of the 'i', the evil of selfishness, the evil of selfish accumulation. It has that dot to represent the undead unseen filth who have manipulated your ego all of your life. The hovering auras of undead, unseen evil: egging your ego on; to think the worst possible thoughts, to feel the most evil feelings, to wallow in the worst weakness and vices, to commit the worst possible sins and deeds and crimes. It represents the evil of the gourd: it represents the evil you have been born into and must carry with you all of your life and your after-life: because your ancestors followed the evil of accumulation, and worshipped unseen, undead filth, and put them over them, and let themselves be ruled by the most insane evil on Earth: Human-reptile-bird entities... merged into monstrous things you have no knowledge of or understanding of.

The figure also represents the accumulation of knowledge. Burdened with an understanding that is so heavy, so huge, he can barely stand up, burdened by undead who loading all of the responsibility for their sins onto his unsuspecting shoulders. It represents the RESPONSIBILITY of knowledge: the responsibility to share and teach and spread the wisdom he has learned. This is why I wrote this book: to share what I have learned with every living human being one earth for free.

Carrying a gourd on your head is a universal symbol human bondage and slavery. It is a universal sign of being used as a domesticated slave. The symbol of slavery is the gourd, the undead evil poisoning the minds of every living human being born so they will obey the undead filth that control them.

Carrying a gourd on top of your head is a universal sign that you have been mentally brainwashed, that your civilized culture has programmed you into being a submissive slave, that you are a lower class animal, to be used by the upper class. It is a symbol of human degradation and bondage.

Do you think people created these carvings because they thought carrying a gourd on your head was something special? That carrying water everyday: was something to be noted and carved in stone? The idea of artists showing everyday life only began recently with the Dutch. Before that: every form of art had a symbolic under-meaning that was based upon their religion. There was a religious reason humans showed themselves weighed down by a huge weight on top of their heads... A King? With something on its head? For chrissake: Kings did not carry things on their heads! Except much later... when the symbolic meaning of being weighted down by unseen evil became the emblem of a crown: representing the nest of corruption radiating from a Kings brain.

Why do you think your dreams are so disjointed? Because undead auras are continually invading your living aura as you sleep and twisting the images and messages your subconscious is trying to tell you. They cannot afford to let you have an undistorted, unpoisoned, un-disjointed dream. Because if you did have dreams that are not filled with insane evil undead spirits trying to force your dream to live out their corrupt urges and addictions and evils, so they can relive their own twisted insane poisoned unexperienced lives vicariously by taking over your dream and making it theirs... then you would begin to connect your conscious self to your subconscious self. Then you would begin to become sane. Then you would become more aware, more rational, more logical. Then you would become aware that the civilized inhumanity and horror and filth you are surrounded by is not normal and not good. Then you would begin to understand your inner self... then you would stop being an unaware pawn, a blind, immature, undeveloped, human victim of the subliminal poisonous filthy messages and interventions they fill your mind and heart with 24 hours a day during the entire time you are alive in this Earth.

Why do you think your dreams barely make any sense? Why do you think most of your dreams are twisted and distorted?... Because the undead are poisoning your dreams with their presence all the time. Their insane auras are poisoning your subconscious and unconscious mind... so your subconscious no longer makes any sense to you because its actual messages are being twisted and poisoned and corrupted before they can connect to your consciousness. Dreams are supposed to digest the experiences of your life and then explain the true meaning of your experiences. They are supposed to simplify the complicated meanings of your civilized life and boil them down to a natural essence of pure wisdom. Your own dreams are supposed to be a source of your own wisdom and your own insights. Not filthy poisoned mirages of monsters and filthy invading demons and insane things pouring into your dreams: turning your dreams into ugly, crazed, glimpses and flashes of incomprehensible images. Turning the plot of your dreams into insane meaningless gibberish. Turning the messages of your subconscious into twisted convoluted lies.

Your dreams are not supposed to be places and stories where your own personal will is twisted and taken over by these undead filth and your every natural healthy instinct, urge, need, and want is blocked. Your own dreams are not supposed to be flooded with feelings of fear and terror and helplessness. Your own dreams are not supposed to be filled with feelings of terror. Your own dreams along with everybody else's dreams... are not supposed to be nightmares. The reason you are flooded with these feelings is because sick, evil undead auras are flooding your sleeping aura... while you are sleeping: because that is the time when you are the most vulnerable to their faint-weak emanations of evil.

Nightmares are dreams of horror and terror that are carried on the back of a black mare. They are the black mare of death visiting you. They are Trojan horses, smuggled into your own dreams by these insane undead scum. They are the ocean. La mere. They are the ocean of undead filth swamping and suffocating and drowning your sleeping aura with their insane horrors purely by their numbers. Outnumbering your living aura a hundred to one. Filling your dreams with fear and terror. A Nightmare is terror: it is fear: it is running away from what you fear the most. That is what all mares do: they run away from everything. They are the worst cowards of the animal kingdom. If you stand and face your fears: you will not have any nightmares. Once you face your fears: they disappear. This happens both in dreams and in real life. If you ever develop enough awareness in a dream to realize that you feel fear, and you do not try to run away from what you are afraid of: that monster will vanish instantly. Nightmares are violations of fear-filled undead filth trying to poison you with their own fears. If you reject their poison of fear: they cannot have any power over you at all. Nightmares are the ocean of the undead. The undead exist all around you all the time. When you are asleep and dreaming: your subconscious becomes their playground, your dreams become their dreams... They dream through you... unseen, secretly... just as they live through you; unseen, in secret, vicariously, evilly. They fill your unconscious mind with their insane presence when you are sleeping. They are why your dreams are not rational.

Even in your dreams: most of the time of the time, you do not see them. It is only the effect of all their combined personalities violating your subconscious mind that you see in your dreams.

This is one reason why your dreams usually make no sense. Not because they couldn't not make any sense: but because your dreams are inhabited and poisoned and affected by the wishes of so many unseen, undead insane auras... that the combined effect of their wishes in your dream: break up your dreams, like a kaleidoscope of broken fragments: flashing and changing with no rhyme or reason... as first one entity manages to take control of your subconscious... and then another entity rips that control away from the first and impresses his wishes on your dream so it can vicariously live out its fantasy, as all the other insane entities, crowding into the dream-fantasy... turning into meaningless chaos of conflicting wishes, a nightmare of horror, fear, terror, violation, etc... that leaves you unable to do anything.

Why is it when you dream that you have no wish of your own? Why is it that in your dreams: only once out of ten thousand dreams do you ever try to fulfill your wishes? Why is it when you dream; you are removed from yourself? The reason why you are removed from yourself in your own dreams, is because countless undead unseen entities are crowding you out of your own dream, and are taking it over for their own amusement. They use your dreams to brainwash you so you will do

They wish you to forgive them. They wish for you to cover up all their sins and their atrocities of the past. They wish for you to not look at the crimes they actually committed when they were alive. They wish to subtly suggest certain attitudes and assumptions to you all your fucking life... until when you die and enter their realm: you will have the exact attitude and weakness they wished for; when they were wishing you to be weak and agreeable to anything they said to you, every fucking time you had a dream when you were alive. By violating your subconscious with their wishes: they can and do corrupt your wishes, your will, your body and your soul.

Do you think 70 years of subconscious subliminal messages repeated endlessly ad nauseum, wishing you to become a senile, pliant mindless baby... by senile, weak, pliant, evil, cunning, undead filth: does not have an affect on you while you are alive? Do you think 70 years of your subconscious aura being violated and destroyed and ripped to shreds all your life, does not result in you developing a weak ineffectual aura? So when you die and meet them in their realm, you are no threat to them? Why do you think the older people get the more senile they become? Why do you think the older they get, the less they sleep? Because they stop dreaming. Because their dreams become so poisoned by undead evil filth: their body stops its natural restorative healing functions that dreaming while you are asleep is part-of. Because their sleep cycle has been so destroyed by unseen entities poisoning their living aura all their lives: they cannot digest their life experiences anymore when they sleep. Entity poisoning of your aura is an accumulating poison. It gets worse over time. The poisoning of your aura by unseen undead entities is done to prevent you from digesting your experiences and learning from them. They want you stupid and senile when they finally get their hands on you in their realm. They want you as weak and afraid as possible. They do not want you full of healthy positive energy and rage against them for what they did to you while you were alive.

It is the combined mass effect of what they wish you to think, what they wish you to feel, what they wish you to believe... what they wish you to do... what they wish you to say... that slowly brainwashes you and corrupts you. So by the time you enter their realm: you will be a nice malleable, brainwashed, weak, insipid corrupted idiot; who will do everything they wish. Because your entire life has been one long secret preparation one long insidious poisoning by them... because you have been subconsciously and unconsciously obeying them all your life: you have been obeying their wishes all your life every fucking time you went to bed and dreamed.

Your own dreams are not supposed to be a realm where thousands of undead filthy things work to sabotage your dearest wishes and most innocent, most honest reflective wishes and intentions. You are supposed to have privacy when you dream at night while you sleep. They are supposed to be your own dreams, not theirs, not the sick, insane, meaningless abortions where every single thing you will, every single thing you want, every single thing your own subconscious is screaming to do and feel and be... is blocked and aborted, and deflected by them... by poisoning you with their fear. Their hate. Their insane love of death and dying. Dreams are supposed to be your own personal reflections on your own life/ they are supposed to reflect back to you what your life is and where you are going and what direction you are headed in. They are the most private, the most sacred, the most meaningful, the most pure essence of you.

They are not supposed to turn you into a gibbering terrified little baby. You are not supposed to wake up crying and afraid and alone from your dreams. You are not supposed to wake up damaged and raped and vilely violated by vile filthy undead auras from your own dreams. You are not supposed to fear your own dreams. You are not supposed to not want to have your own dreams. You are supposed to love your own dreams. You are supposed to know that your own dreams have your own best interests at heart. You are supposed to trust your own dreams and your own instincts and your own urges and intentions.

They do not want you to have your own dreams. They poison you with their presence in your dreams. They poison your dreams with their urges. They poison you with their intentions. They poison your dreams with their hate and fear and envy.

They want you hopeless. They want you powerless. They want to make damn sure that when you get to their realm... you will be powerless and weak. They want you emotionally dead. They want you mentally dead. They want you sexually dead.

They want you sick.

They want you to die physically, emotionally, as much as possible before you actually die.

They want you to become one of them.

They want you to join them and become one of them.

They poison your life energy every night when you are asleep. They poison you every night while you are sleeping. That is why you have no dreams. They do not want you to gain any insights about the truth of your own soul. They do not want you to find out what truth is. They hate all truth.

Truth is Power. Truth is Passion. Truth is Intensity. Truth is Health. Truth is Honesty. Truth is Courage. Truth is Love. Truth is Sensitivity, and Kindness. Truth is Wonder. Truth is Awareness. Truth is Expanding Awareness.

Their invasion into your living aura of life energy is worse than rape. It is worse than being raped every night of your life. It is worse than gang rape. It is worse than being raped by gangs of insane monsters every night. If you were raped by hordes of sick insane monsters every fucking night of your living life... that would be less horrible, and less damaging to you than what these filth do to you.

Because if you were actually raped by living gangs of rapists every night of your living life...

At least you would know it.

At least you would be aware that it is happening to you.

At least you could try to protect yourself from them.

At least you could try to heal yourself

At least you could fight them

The most horribly deep trauma... the deepest wound... is when you are wounded, and you are not aware of it... being wounded. The worst, the deepest, the most horrible damage your soul suffers: the most horrible pain and agony your soul suffers: is when it is wounded so deeply, and so horribly... that you do not feel it.

You cannot feel a rape that you are not aware of. You cannot feel pain you are not aware of. You cannot feel agony you are not aware of. You cannot feel horror you are not aware of.

They want you as unaware of yourself as possible. They want you as dead as possible. They do not want to let you feel anything. They do not want you to be aware of how they rape you every night. They do not want you to be aware of how they rape you every single second of your living life. They do not want you to be aware of them lurking inside you. They do not want to be found out. They do not want you to suddenly be aware that the impulse... the urge... the instant unreasoning irrational tidal wave of fear and hate and insane cunning and avoidance and denial... all the overwhelming urges that make you instantly! Lie, and cheat and be a hypocrite, and be dishonest... all of the evil urges to hurt another living person, all the unreasoning hatred of what you actually love:... is not you... it is them invading you.

They do not want you to become so sensitive to yourself that you go...

'Hey. That's not me! Where did that filthy thought come from? Where did that secret evil urge come from? Why am I being pushed to hurt the ones I love? Why do I hate the people I love? That hate is not me! Where is this shit coming from??!!

They do not want you to become so honest and so powerful... and so direct: that they cannot poison your true wishes and urges. But even if you become healthy and strong and honest and kind and loving, and decent. Even if you do not hate anything. Even if you do not fear anyone, or anything... they have an easy answer for that.

Then they just poison everyone around you. Then they just get the sickest most evil people they can find, and have them unreasonably. Irrationally, become attracted to you. Then they surround you with the sickest, most evil, most hate-filled, most rotten living human souls they can find. To fill your life with. Then they make damn sure that every honest rue, good urge and wish you have in your entire fucking life is blocked nullified poisoned sabotaged twisted stunted deflected isolated

And kept away from every other good person you meet or see.

They poison any attraction good people have for each other. They keep good people alone, isolated, powerless. They work and work to destroy your every GOOD dream. They work to fill your mind with poisonous lies and untruths. They are around you all the fucking time. They are inside you all the fucking time.

Try it. Find a person whom you feel is full of energy and who is positive and does not have any hate or envy or arrogance or badness inside them and has no secret evil or bad intention towards any living creature

The instant you meet and talk to that person: you will feel an instant revulsion... or unreasoning fear, or a million other things that are not you. That were never inside you before. You will feel thousands of insane sick souls telling you to get as far away from that good person as possible. The intentions and urges of these undead sneaky cunning filth will drown out all your own good common sense simply by their numbers. One of them would be no problem. You are much more powerful than one of them... most of the time they outnumber you, but if you become aware of these irrational sudden feelings and refuse to give in to them: then you will win. And be free of them forever.

This is the unseen, secret way of how they easily corrupt the most decent good intentions and feelings and thoughts you have. They simply overpopulate your living aura with their undead presence... until your aura becomes 51% them, not you.

That is all they need to do. All they have to do is make sure that your living aura is more evil than good. Just by .0001% more evil than GOOD... once they do that: there is nothing you can do about it. Then no matter what good intentions you have: their filthy evil energy inside you will manage to seep in, and poison and weaken your every good intention, and turn it into a negative intention. So subtly, that you will not even notice changing your mind, changing your original intention. The undead do not feel anything. The undead are dead to everything that is life. They hate and fear everything that is strong and healthy. Because anything that is stronger and healthier than they are... can kill them.

You do not understand the evil of these irrational insane things. They do not even have to inhabit you. They can leave you alone for months at a time. And then come in and make you say or do one single untoward action, or feel one single feeling that is not you, that does not come from you: but comes from their poisoning your soul and body secretly. They can destroy a friendship that has taken years to develop into closeness, respect, intimacy and love by slyly making you say one thing, that is out of character, by making you take umbrage at one negative thing your friend or loved one said or did. And easily make you magnify this one thing out of all proportion... and by this give you a completely false understanding and perspective of the person you know. And destroy all love and respect and honesty between the two of you.

The Unseen undead and the Future

Conscious human contact between the undead and the living is ephemeral, fleeting... nebulous. Except for mediums, whose gifts have been corrupted, who use their gifts for evil purposes and their own self aggrandizement and selfish motives. They tell loved ones to stop their pointless moaning and wailing and crying and get on with their lives simply because the undead do not want to be bothered and pestered by such things... that their loved ones are doing just fine and are waiting for them on the other side... they are not waiting for them on the other side... they are hating them on the other side... and waiting for them to get there so they can get at them. But... some contact between the living and undead is strong enough to get through relatively uncorrupted by other undead auras... this is rare, and happens only when two humans: one still living, and one undead, have developed a bond of emotion and love so strong that it is not easily broken even after one of them dies... this kind of connection often results in a foreboding, or a prediction or a dream that seems to predict the future. This makes the undead seem to have godly power. It makes them appear powerful and instills fear and awe of them into the living once they get there.

This appearance of predicting the future is completely false. They cannot predict the future or see into the future any better than the living can. The only reason these forebodings or dreams or predictions come true: is twofold.

One is because they can see levels of energy that are not apparent to living humans, and they can predict what these unseen energies will do because they see it in the happening. Just as other animals can sense a storm coming because their senses are attuned to different wavelengths than ours, or squirrels being able to sense if the coming winter will be harsh or mild. Just as northern fur-bearing animals develop extra-thick coats of winter fur if the winter is going to be cold, and not-so-thick, if the coming winter is going to be mild.

The other reason is their own evil machinations. Their own secret plots that they have been hatching, they can see and hear other undead... who are insidiously hidden inside the souls of living humans and outside them and see all the undead who are pushing and urging one soul to commit suicide, kill themselves, or urging them on into acts of murder, or crime or hatred, or envy, etc, etc ad nausea. The strong love relationships, the strongest ones.. Are usually the ones who get warning signs or predictions of what is going to happen in the future. Whatever the prediction is: it is always something bad: never good. And regardless of the warning.. It always happens: it is never avoided. This is because there is a billion times more hate in the human heart than there is love. There is a billion times more uncaring in the human heart than there is caring. And one weal, belated warning or a prediction or foreboding does to change the course of events enough to save living humans from the unseen undead evil that surrounds them and lives inside them, and has done so ever since they came into the world as innocent babies.

In other words: the undead have no benign effect on the living: the only effect they have on the living is terminal: negative: poisonous: evil

Why They Must Be Killed

They caused the American Civil War to happen. They caused World War One to happen. They caused World War Two to happen. They caused the Rwandan massacre of the Tutsi's to happen. Historians have pondered and analyzed to find out just why WW1 began. They could not find any rational answer. The spread of killing in Rwanda is inexplicable also. Why did they start these abominations and atrocities? Each one has a different reason. The American civil war was started by undead because enslaved African blacks were becoming too genetically healthy. The system of brutal oppression and plantation slavery and industrial agriculture was creating too many blacks who were too healthy, too genetically strong, too capable of killing their masters. You can see this fact in American professional sports: Today; most professional athletes in America are black: not white, even though the majority of the population is white. These black professional athlete owe their careers to the superior genes created by generations of blacks forced to toil and work harder than any slave has ever worked... PLUS: given more kindness, and love and nutrition than any slave has ever been given. The 1st World War was started by the undead because there were too many European lower classes who had discovered the happiness of leisure and travel and were too many friendships were being created across racial-national;-religious-class lines of separation. Europeans were too dangerously close to outlawing many inhuman obsolete form of evil. They were too close to overturning the works of evil which had taken thousands of years to build up and preserve. World War Two was started by the undead because the nation of Germany had become too healthy by being forced too go through the Great Depression. Too many class lines had been destroyed. The German nation had become too egalitarian, too progressive, too well educated, far ahead of all the other nations of its time. The Rwandan massacres were started because the people of Rwanda were living too peaceably together: they were threatening to destroy the African tribal hatred millions of years old. They were threatening to give Africa a shining example of a happy black nation that did not need white rule and did not need western mechanized technology to raise happy healthy children who were no longer being brainwashed into the filthy African superstition-cults and ancient tribal traditions of pure rotten evil.

Understand this: throughout living human history; wherever any GOOD positive energy has raised its head: evil undead energy has massed together around it, and inside it ... trying to overwhelm and destroy that GOOD positive energy. Only when GOOD positive energy becomes educated and aware of this: can GOOD positive people be forewarned of the presence of evil seeping into their bodies and minds and souls. Only then can GOOD positive living human grass-roots movements, and GOOD positive living energy fend off and begin ATTACKING negative energy.

Understand this! Once good positive energy ATTACKS negative evil energy: the ball game is OVER. Once GOOD positive energy has negative evil energy on the run: then that GOOD positive energy can and will destroy that evil negative energy TOTALLY DEAD, and I mean fucking DEAD DEAD DEAD. So it will never rise again from the ashes of its own destruction.

This is why this book has been written. The reason I have written this book is because I have discovered the many-layered hidden truths about the existence of undead evil: and I have discovered HOW to kill them DEAD. These ugly misshapen foul undead things need to be utterly destroyed. They have poisoned the lives of innocent living human babies for too many hundreds of thousands, to many millions of years.

The violation and poison they inflict upon unknowing innocent living humans, is a crime so unforgivable, so monstrous, so heinous, so enormous a sin: the crimes they commit and get away with are so horribly destructive to all living humans: there is no possible way of measuring the effect of their evil.

They are responsible for the destruction of all love and all TRUE understanding between living humans.

For this evil alone: they should be killed a million billion times over. Because the ripple effect of their original seed of evil... the seeds of evil: which they plant and nurture, and help to grow inside every living reflective human soul.... Reflects back and forth inside every living human soul a million billion times... and by this dynamic, it grows in energy and power until it takes over the entire persona of every living human ever born. This happens because the seeds is planted in secret. It grows secretly inside the reflective auras of living humans. The evil of the seed of hate or envy or jealousy, or fear... is kept secret inside every living soul. These filth live on the basis and religion of hidden secrecy. They only survive by hidden secrecy. They cannot survive in the open. They cannot survive honesty. They cannot survive truth. They cannot survive love. They cannot survive fun. They cannot survive happiness. They cannot survive health. They cannot endure honesty. They cannot endure openness. They cannot endure truth. They cannot endure love. They cannot endure fun. They cannot endure happiness. They cannot endure health.

How can you fight the unseen evil of these poisoning things? They can flit into you and out of your aura at a moment's notice. They only come into you when you are least aware of your inner state of being. They wait... and wait.... For the slightest sign of unawareness, and flash in, and then flash out: leaving their filthy seeds of negative feelings and negative thoughts planted.

Once their evil filth is planted: they do not have to do anything at all: except encourage any and all negative feelings and actions and thoughts that happen to wander into your soul, or that you happen to have. This form of unseen crime, this way of committing evil as secretly and as cunningly and as slyly as possible: is itself all the reason you need to kill them.

They must be killed because they exist as pure evil. The energy they are made of: is pure evil. They are incapable of committing, feeling or doing any good at all.

How much would you think any aware undead unseen human soul deserves to be punished: if you found out that it was responsible for poisoning and destroying all the love you ever felt for another living human, and poisoning and destroying all love that every human who loved you felt for you? They do not even have to make you say the wrong thing... all they have to do is make you say something at the wrong time: all they have to do is screw up the timing of all your natural sequence of good feelings, good thoughts, good intentions: and make them inappropriate at the time you express them or feel them or do them.

All they have to do is come between any two people whose potential for liking and loving each other is too strong. All they have to do is deaden every natural organic-emotional-spiritual sensation inside you so you feel nothing: when you should be feeling huge waves of liking and attraction for another person whom you obviously know you like and respect. They can poison living human relationships in so many different secret unseen hidden, filthy stinking rotten ways: that they cannot be counted. All they have to do is stick in one single misperception you have of another person to guarantee that your entire understanding of them is poisons at the root of your soul.

How can they do all these filthy crimes so easily?

Because living humans do not explore and question their inner selves. Because living humans do not suspect they are being poisoned and invaded by hidden, invisible, secretive, filthy hate-filled, envious, undead, unseen filth. Because living humans have not managed to purify themselves of the filth of their undead ancestors. Because living humans have not managed to develop a sensitivity to their own inner beings enough to notice that what they think and feel and what intentions they have... do not necessarily come from them at all but from invading invisible filth entering them, and living inside them... dormant: until any threat of a healthy loving positive feeling is sparked inside you.

They inhabit your soul and body and being only for this purpose. They are the guarantors that nothing good will ever come out of you or your life. They are evil unseen sentinels hidden inside you to make sure that you never, never ever grow up and become aware of them and their hidden secrets. They are there to make sure that you never have any true control over your own thoughts, feelings or actions. They are there to make sure that all positive love-fun energy in every living soul is squelched and poisoned the instant it shows itself.

If any positive energy is too strong to instantly poison or suppress or repress: then they launch a massive systematic attack on it. This is easy for them: since they have already managed to poison all living souls beyond all recognition from birth, from before they are ever born, from poisoning the mothers and fathers who have babies.

How can any living human fight this hidden horror? By simplifying themselves. By simplifying everything. Until you have only one intention. One good intention. And stick to it.

If you do this: you will find how difficult it is to keep this one intention. You will find how easily things get into you that try to weaken and deflect you away from your one good intention. You can fight them by being open and honest with yourself and all other living humans. If you have doubts, if you have anything else inside you do not understand, and tell other people about it, and ask yourself what they are, and why they exist inside you, and where they come from, and why do they even exist inside in the first place: your inner exploration will unearth their secret filthy existence inside you and all around you. You will find that they are systematically trying to influence all other people around you negatively against YOU: simply because they do not want you to spread the knowledge of their existence to others.

Simply because they do not want more than ONE person to become aware enough and strong enough to fight them and kill them. By these secret filth isolating all good intentions and all good people from each other. By keeping all good people apart from each other.

They manage to have the work of poisoning your soul; done FOR THEM... by living human souls around you who have already been poisoned and have already become negative and dead inside.

They fear living souls. Their entire intent is to kill your spirit and your passion and your love and your sensitivity and your truth and your fun and your honesty as much as possible until you become a dead robot that barely functions physically. So when you die: you will not be a threat to their continued evil.... So you will not RAT on them, and expose them for the stinking evil they actually are.

There are no words to express how much such a crime deserves to be punished. There are no words that can say how much such an evil needs to be punished and destroyed and killed.

What is a slave? It is a corruption of a SELF It seeks love FIRST, not energy first as it should. It thinks it is victorious if it finds ONE example of 'love' as a baby, and then gives up exploring energy for the rest of its LIFE. This is how easily undead filth corrupt human babies and turn them into love-seeking slaves

SELF: Search for Energy-LOVE FIRST

SLAVE: Search for a- ONE instance of LOVE and then be brainwashed into believing you are VICTORIOUS Energy! And live a fantasy lie of believing you are a 'winner' instead of a slave the rest of your life. And block out all the horror of hate for the rest of your life so you never understand the truth about anything, and can be EASILY manipulated into believing any lie they can find for you to believe in.

The only reason all living humans and all living humans who read this book have to kill these undead unseen is: self-defense. The only reason you need: is self-defense. The only reason you need to kill them is wanting to live instead of die. The only reason you need to kill them is LIFE. The only reason you need to kill them is your own LIFE. The only reason you need to kill them is to save your own life.

They will never stop attacking and violating living humans. There is no way to engineer a peace with them. They violate the living every chance they get. They hate all living things and are determined to kill off every living animal on Earth. There can be no compromise with undead evil. Either you kill them: or they will kill you and weaken you so badly that when you die: you will not be able to stop them from raping you for the next million fucking years.

Do you want to wake up after you die: and realize with a sinking sensation that you should have done something with your life when you were alive? Do you want to die and find out that your entire life was systematically poisoned just so you would not give them any 'trouble' when you die and enter their realm? Do you want to find out the truth too late? Do you want to die and become their slave for the next million fucking years?

Look at how the health of Germans was poisoned after their Great Depression. They all became healthy because of the great hardship they had gone through all together as a single Nation. The vindictive stupidity of the terms of the 1st World War forged them into a Nation. They were forced to become more healthy. They did not want to. The victors of the 1st World War were responsible for creating the new Germany that rose from the ashes of its defeat and crushed the victors. If Germany had never been forced into starvation and privation by the winners of the 1st WW: she would never have become healthy enough to rebuild herself into a better and stronger Nation. A Nation so strong: he became powerful enough to conquer all of Europe. Hitler would never have been given the reason, and the excuse to do it. Germany became a Fatherland: not a Motherland. German culture became a male. The German culture became a 'he'... He became angry. He attacked the soft Motherlands around Him. And raped them. Germans had become so healthy, and so proud of their male culture and so arrogant of their new, young superiority: that they stole the pompous strutting of Mussolini's black guard, and turned it into a military tradition for the entire Nation. They took an elite tradition and nationalized it into a military tradition for the entire nation. The military invented a new way of marching which was called the 'Goose Step' by their enemies.

It takes twice the strength and energy to march like that, than ordinary marching. Germany was showing off physically, how much stronger she was, and how much more healthy she was than all the other Nations in the world. Try doing that step. Your thighs will ache after a few seconds. You will not be able to keep on marching like that. You need to be strong and fit as hell to march like that. Yet millions of German soldiers marched like that easily without any trouble at all. The Allies could not match them in living physical power. Their troops did not have the leg muscles that could do that step. So instead of being afraid of this new more powerful way of marching... they turned it into a joke. They called it a Goose Step.

Geese do not step like that. Geese step the exact opposite of how German soldiers stepped. Why was it called Goose Step?

Because all the German soldiers who were so healthy physically: were totally brainwashed mentally and emotionally... to act like herds of fear-filled conformist geese. What is not told is how the Allied soldiers were brainwashed to act like conformist little timid quaking, quacking ducks.

This is how easily these undead scum can poison you. If they cannot poison you one way... they will poison and weaken you another way. The result was that all the German soldiers and people became a nation of geese led to the slaughter. They were led by a weak, insane hate-filled, cunning, sickly, wizened, unhealthy orator: called Hitler. And because they followed his orders: what did they gain?

First they slaughtered their enemies.
Then their enemies slaughtered them.

They were treated as geese. They went to their slaughter, without being AWARE that they were being led to be slaughtered.

Unless you are aware of evil: it will triumph, it will win over good every time.

Unless you become aware of the undead evil scum lurking inside you and around you... they will win every time.

The most evil undead: are the highest. They are the oldest. They hate the living Earth. Their sick filthy culture has poisoned the culture of living humans so horribly: that contract murder: is called a touch.

Living people are designed to touch each other in love and fun and play. They are not supposed to touch each other with death and war. They are supposed to touch each other with life. What are nuclear missiles called? Birds.

All birds hate the Earth. All living and unliving bird auras hate the Earth.

They have been dropping their shit pellets of hate and poison, and chicken-shit cowardice on the Earth for hundreds of millions of years.

Now they are getting us living humans to use mechanical birds, to drop mechanical missiles of death on the Earth. They are getting us to call the most horrible mechanical, poisonous killing turds...birds.

Birds are reptilian turds. They are the worst hating alien living shit on earth. They are the most disconnected, the most mentally detached, the most insane living things on earth. They have as little to do with the living Earth as possible. They are the oldest living things on Earth. They are the most evil living things on Earth. They are the oldest living most cunning evil things on Earth.

Their hate has poisoned all other living things on earth. Their undead have poisoned every other undead on earth.

They hate the soft loving hands we living humans have. They want everything we touch with our hands to die. They want the culture of living humans to become a culture of hatred and death.

And that is exactly what we have become.

Everything living humans touch with their hands: dies. Everything living humans touch with their tools: dies. Living humans do not touch living things with their living hands anymore. They only touch dead tools with their living-killing hands.

Why do birds hate the living earth? Because for them: the earth signifies death. When a bird falls to the ground, when it falls to the earth: that means it is dead.

They are too stupid to understand that without the living earth: there would be no air, no atmosphere; and no more stupid birdbrains trying to kill what keeps them alive.

The entire fucking sick bird culture of death and hate and untouchability can be completely destroyed. If only living humans touched each other with their living hands.

Why is there such a cultural taboo against touching? Why is there such a cultural taboo against love? Why is there such a cultural taboo against sensitivity? Why is there such a cultural taboo against touching someone else with your living hands sensitively? Why is there such a cultural taboo against the truth? Why is there such a cultural taboo against honesty? Why is there such a cultural taboo against courage?

Why is there such a cultural taboo against Wonder?

Because we are not allowed to do it?

Why are we not 'allowed', eh?

Any living human can do all these things easily!!

Why are we not allowed to do what we are Designed to do, eh?

Why are we not allowed to do what comes naturally to us, eh?

Why are we forced to do only what is unnatural for us, eh?

Why do we live in an unnatural, artificial sitting position, eh?

Why is our energy poisoned and weakened?

Why do we need this shit pile called civilization, eh?

So we will not do what comes naturally to us? So we do not do what we can do naturally and easily?

Because we want to hate?

Because we want to kill?

Because we want to destroy?

Because we want to fear?

Because we want to lie?

Because we want to be cowards and liars?

Because we want to hate ourselves?

Because we want to hate and fear all other living things?

Or because we have been systematically poisoned and forced into it. By our own ancestors. By our own dead, by the left-over undead auras of humans who once were alive.

Why can undead ghouls and spirits flit about from place-to-place exactly like birds? Why and how have they perfected the tactics of escaping and cowardice so well? Because undead birds auras taught them how. Because the worst, oldest evil on Earth merged with the newest, worst evil on Earth. Water seeks its own lowest level. Evil seeks its own lowest level.

The highest are not the best. This unspoken assumption is a filthy lie. They are they worst; not the best. The lowest are not the worst. The lowest are the best. The strongest energy is the energy that has been crushed the hardest and oppressed the worst. The weakest energy is the energy that is the highest and has never been forced into the hardship that the lowest energy has been forced to endure. We were never designed to act like birds, or think like birds. We were never designed to try to fly like birds, or posture like birds, or dance like birds or sit like birds or sing like birds, or babble like birds or gossip like birds. We were never designed to touch dead things with dead bird-wings like birds. We were never designed to develop a look-but-do-not-touch culture like birds. We were never designed to develop loveless untouching societies like birds. We were never designed to abandon our babies and children like birds. We were never designed to be as immaculate as birds: cutting ourselves off from the Earth we live on and need to live. We were never designed to hate the Earth we live on like birds do.

What are cars? Cars are shells. What are houses? Houses are shells. We live inside shells like baby birds do. Our cars look like the shells of birds. We open our bird mouths and scream: 'Feed meee! Feed meee!' We act like insane baby birds. We are blind consumers, only concerned about what goes into their own mouths. Human culture is permeated and dominated by bird culture and bird instincts and bird intelligence. Bird instincts and culture has drowned out human intelligence and human culture. The culture of civilization is bird culture. It is not human. It is not designed to raise humans. It is designed to raise birds. Because of this: every human baby when it is born begins screaming in horror: because it is being born into an unnatural monstrosity that is so insane, there are no words to describe it. The babies of other species do not start screaming in horror when they are born. Ours do. There is a reason why babies scream in revulsion and horror and rage and shut their eyes and squeeze them as tightly as they can when they are born. It is because they are being born to insane evil, inhuman possessed, poisoned bird-aura beings that are not human. It is because bird auras and insane human undead, unseen auras are violating every baby that is born with their foul presence. If you do not believe this: try to remember when you were born. Try to remember how it felt to be born. All humans have been blocked at birth. All humans have had their memories blocked at birth. Until they have been sufficiently poisoned and brainwashed and programmed into their insane bird-normality of having undead, unseen auras poisoning them day-and-night.

Human attitudes are re-poisoned by bird culture all the time reflectively. Human attitudes are first seeded by the undead: systematically. Subliminal subconscious suggestions are implanted in our living brains unconsciously. First: these evil things systematically inspect the living human aura for any and all kinds of weaknesses. These weaknesses may be physical, emotional, mental, sexual, relational, genetic, etc. ANY weakness they find: they exploit: systematically. Like water seeping into a crack and freezing: forcing the crack to open slightly more... then re-freezing: every freezing of the water in the crack opens the crack up more... until it becomes a visible fissure... until the entire totality of the stone splits apart and the integrity of its Totality is destroyed. This is how their weak unseen filth-evil destroys the integrity of every living human persona-personality-soul-body-mind-spirit that was ever born into the living world. These thing live inside you. They appropriate everything they can from you. Everything you do more than once: they try to copy and ape. They try to become you. They try to merge themselves so completely into you that you cannot notice they are there. They try to become you, they ret to harmonize with you so completely: that you cannot later attack them because attacking them would be attacking yourself. That is their only way they can keep from you killing them. The unseen are cursed to either stay inside you forever: dormant, not acting: or leave your aura. The instant they do this: they are vulnerable to being killed. At each human death: they can conveniently escape your dying aura and make the transition to another living sucker where they hide in; until that living sucker dies. They are suckers of life energy. They call the living humans they suck from: suckers. Because they are there only for their own evil purposes. Their survival is based upon hiding. Nothing else. The instant they stop being dormant: the instant they become active: they can be noticed, found and killed. They only show their hand in secret. Only when they have completely corrupted a living human soul: do they ever truly show their hand.

Where can you see the evil of the unseen? Where do undead bird auras show their hand? In murder: the act of a bird: pecking-stabbing with its dead beak to impale a living thing. By stabbing another person with a knife. That is how they killed Julius Caesar. This is how most murder has been committed for thousands of years. When a living host lets its bird aura take over, when the human host begins to relish evil, and plot and become a cunning sly deceiver... the human host's aura begins to synchronize with the most insane ancient reptile intelligence inhabiting and permeating the living human's corrupt soul and body... until the living human becomes an insane undead thing with a dead beak: stabbing its victim over and over again in a lust frenzy of the bird-aura: re-living its life... re-living the thousands of times it stabbed a living thing and killed it with its beak. This is why humans go insane when they begin to stab somebody to death. That is why they stab them over and over again. That is why they go into a frenzy of murder and hate. This is why living humans murder living people with knives. This is the secret unseen secret about the sin of man. They exist unseen: as a permeation of evil inside human living energy. Seeking every negative foul energy inside you which they can reflect back, and magnify and re-reflect back, and re-create the murders they committed, and the murder lust and hate frenzy they felt when they committed their atrocities as living, insane murdering fiends. As they were corrupted: they seek to corrupt you.

Why do thin fashion models peck at their food like birds? Because they have removed themselves from their own outer and inner physical sensations. They do not feel any pleasure in eating. They do not taste food, they do not feel food or see food inside them or outside them. They have become so immaculate and so disconnected from the entire world around them: that they peck at their food like birds: and develop bodies like birds: with thin limbs, and blank dead faces, and blank minds and blank souls and dead blank hearts. The narcissism of fashion models: suits the mindless narcissism of Saurian reptile birds. They compliment and support each other's basic insanity and lack of awareness and lack of sensation, and lack of feeling. The visual world of immaculate beauty where models are not allowed or supposed to be touched: only looked at and worshipped: is the same insane attitude of reptile birds: who look and do not want to ever be touched.

Human attitudes are permeated with saurian-reptile-bird attitudes. Putting a criminal into a cage, into a prison with bars, for god's sake: so the imprisoned bird can still see out of its enclosure: as it had been in its former lives as a caged bird, when it inhabited the bodies of captive birds living in cages with bars all around them. Putting a human murderer or rapist into a bird cage with bars: is not a human punishment. It is a bird punishment. Putting a living thing into a cage and not giving it any greater freedom is only a living hell for a bird with wings that is used to flying outside in the open air. Not for a human who has been living inside a houses with rooms... just like the rooms of a prison for gods sake. That is like putting criminals into hotels with free room and board. That is a vacation for life. That is early retirement: not punishment. The only punishment in this is boredom. But humans who do not live in prisons with bird bars: are just as bored as criminals in bird cages. The only punishment this does: is it does not allow the criminal to explore and develop their human potential for living and life. But civilization corrupts and poisons the human potential for living and life in humans living outside these prisons just as effectively as it poisons and blocks human development of criminals in bird-cages called prisons. The only punishment these bird cages have: is the punishment of social ostracism. The social shame and stigma of being excluded from normal society. But even that is a hypocrisy. A vacation hotel? Being taken care of by the state? Free room and board? If you want to ostracize them, then find an island, and make them build their own prisons... oops: this will give them freedom to do as they wish: and then where is the social stigma of confinement? And if they create their own culture which is healthier and better than the society, they are excluded from? Then the stigma of being a criminal becomes something to be proud of, not ashamed of: like it happened in Australia. This is how the permeation of unseen aura bird-culture turns human attitudes into a travesty of intent. Anything living humans INTEND to do by themselves without unseen corruption poisoning their intelligent good intentions: these filth make sure that it comes to nothing. Transform human attitudes into bird-attitudes. Turn punishment into reward. Make a mockery of all human intentions: by poisoning their attitudes. Simple. Cunning. Unseen. Effective.

What would an insane bird-aura think? For its crime of relishing the killing lust of stabbing a living thing with its beak: by superimposing its beak with the living murderers arm... and feeling the knife cut into living flesh and crowing in lust as it feels the death agony radiating from the screaming victim?... To be put into a vacation cell... with bars so it can see beyond its cell, and visit other murders and drink from the rotten essence of human criminal minds and souls, and get them to stab each other to death? It would think that this form of human society suited it to a 'T'... and would not want to change anything as far as how humans live and punish their criminals.

This is only one example of how deeply bird culture, how deeply unseen, undead auras: have poisoned the attitudes and negative norms of living humans.

How did music originate? Where did the first music come from? From someone blowing across an empty reed. The first, the oldest musical instrument was the hollow reed. It is the emptiness that makes the sound: not the living human. It is the hollow reed that makes a musical sound: not the living human. A living human pouring his life's breath into a hollow emptiness. With no breath left over to have a voice of his own. Unseen undead hiding inside empty hollow places, sucking the living breath out of living people, stealing their breath, stealing their voice: making them waste their lives blowing their life breath over empty hollow spaces, just to give these empty hollow places a voice.

Look at the culture of birds, and the culture of ancient Rome. What do young birds do? They open their mouths blindly: screaming to be fed, and wait for their parents to stuff food down their mouths. Their elders do this by vomiting up food from their own bellies. How did this bird culture of undead-unseen reptile-bird auras permeate ancient Rome? By the babies of Rome: the spoiled Populi, the poor masses of Rome: screaming blindly, expecting to be fed, expecting it as their sacred, god-given right.

What were the Populi? The Latin word Populi is the culture lived by the ancient Roman masses, it is the popular lies they believed in. It was the popular lies they were told, and brainwashed into believing. The culture of the Roman Populi was a culture of popular lies. Whatever became popular: was believed in religiously. Whatever the Roman masses, the populi believed: became Roman culture. The masses created their own culture out of the fabric of popular lies. If a lie became popular: it was absorbed into Roman culture. The only prerequisite needed for a lie to be reversed, and become a sacred truth was it had to become popular. This still remains true to this day. The modern culture of today's masses is still made up of popular lies that are religiously believed in.

What do birds do? They vomit up half-digested food out of their bellies. What did rich Roman elders do? They vomited food up out of their own bellies in vomitoriums: as a ritual of bird culture in a human society gone insane. Because they could not vomit their half-digested food up into the mouths of human babies, since humans are not designed to eat half-digested vomit from another human's stomach. And how did they do this? How did the corrupt elders of Rome make themselves vomit up their food from their own bellies? By using a delicate feather. The feather of a baby bird: to tickle the insides of their throat. Do you think that this is a coincidence? What do you think the insanity of modern mass consumerism is? It is the culture of unseen undead birds: undead auras, empty inside; screaming to be fed.

The insane sadistic practice of 2,000 years of human crucifixion can be explained. Bird entities... fitting their outspread wings onto the auras of dying crucified humans to drink the pain of their death, sucking their life energy as they die slowly in agony. Crucifixion was a better way of enjoying the death of their human victims. Gods try to make their victims into their own image. Because they are not gods: they are undead insane filth that hate all living things. They are insane dead spirits who want to re-live their own lives in their own images: recreating themselves by manipulating humans to recreate their past, their past bodies, their past clothes, their past traditions and cultures.... As much as they possibly can. This is the reason why human civilization repeats itself. This is the reason why human society never learns from its mistakes. This is the reason why living humans repeat the mistakes of the dead past. The dead are re-living their own unfelt, unexperienced past lives over and over vicariously: through the living bodies and societies of living human beings. This is what any social changing of mores or traditions or customs or rituals is so hard and difficult. This is why even after a custom has been changed because it is obsolete and useless... it comes BACK, and is 'rediscovered' by later generation of unsuspecting innocent living victims of the undead filth that permeate them. The sign of the cross is the sign of a bird. It is not the sign of a human. It is not a sign of human intelligence. It is the sign of undead evil, millions of years old still holding sway over the living. Worshipping a crucified naked suffering human is not sane or rational. But it makes a hell of a lot of sense if you are a bird. Worshipping the highest things on earth: things that are only physically higher... merely for their physical height: is not a sign of human intelligence: it is the sign of undead reptilian stupidity permeating human intelligence and poisoning it to such a degree, that even after 12,000 years of this obvious stupidity: people still do it. Living humans still worship the highest physical things they see. Obsessing over shiny objects is not a sign of human intelligence: it is the sign of insanely stupid reptilian entities permeating the awareness of living humans and programming them to act and think and live as stupidly as a reptile-bird.

All ancient undead culture: all undead spirits and wraiths that are not completely exterminated 100%: seep back into human society. All the ancient evil of the undead, all the evil of the past dead: grows back. All the ancient evil and filth of Roma and Egypt and Persia, and Babylon, And Ur: have grown back into living human culture with a vengeance. Roma culture has grown back almost completely. Hundreds of facets of Roma culture have seeped back into modern living human culture. Puppet shows have come back. The sands, the killing fields of Roman arenas have come back: in one of the most cunning, obscene fashions possible. People take their babies and young children to play in sand boxes... sand boxes. Teaching them at an early age that the Earth they live on and play on is dead. Brainwashing them to assume that they can do anything to their environment they want to because everything around them except themselves is dead. Teaching them that play means playing with dead things: in a dead environment. That the only fun there is to be found: are in sand lots, sand boxes, arenas filled with sand. The only time they are allowed to play is in sand.

The first gay-pride parade ever held was over 2,000 years ago by the Roman Dictator Cornelius Sulla as a mockery of Roman sexual hypocrisy when he left office. He was a secret homosexual who did not flaunt his homosexuality in public while he was in office... Neither did movie idols like Rock Hudson; who was forced into exposing his lifelong hypocrisy only because he was dying of AIDS.

Since the fall of the Roman Empire: homosexuals have not dared to flaunt themselves again in public as they once had in ancient Rome... Because after Rome fell; they were hunted down and killed. But now, Gay-pride parades are held in the cities of the new Rome of today The USA of America. It took 2,000 fucking years for Sulla's Roman circus of a parade... complete with Roman dwarves, Roman midgets and Roman freaks, to be brought back to life again by European and American culture adopting this flaunting of sexual perversion and evil in public. Look at gay pride parades: then read about the parade that Sulla held on leaving Rome after he resigned his dictatorship. They are an exact copy of the first one: his. It took 1,000 years after the Fall of the Roman Empire for its secret homosexual culture to resurface again in public as something to be 'proud of'. Why? Because these evil sick, diseased unseen undead auras have been pushing for it unceasingly for over 1,000 years: that's why. Because all humans who once were alive and became corrupted by civilization, still exist as evil corrupt undead unseen entities all around you all the time and inside you all the time.

The killing fields of sand-strewn Roma Arenas has come back in the most cunning horrible way possible. This goes back to the nomadic Arabs who lived in the desert for tens of thousands of years: it goes back to the first walking apes who created the deserts of the world in the first place. All the hundreds of thousands of years of once-living humans that once lived in deserts and created deserts: all their sick, insane ideas of normal human existence have been brought back, and re-grown. Today: most of the play areas for young children in parks and recreation areas are filled with sand.

Why is this? Why not allow children to live and play in areas that have living plants and living animals? The answer is because too many billions of undead filth did not live this way. They lived in death-zones where everything was dead. It goes back to Africa, and the millions of years of annual drought. When everything was dead. When killers flourished and all other living things perished. Put any baby that has never experienced this horror into a sand lot and they will start crying. They will look beseechingly at their mother: begging them to take them out of this horrible place. The mothers smile and tell their babies to 'play'. And do not take their babies out of this filthy death zone until they learn to get used to it. Sand lots for babies and children are pure stinking evil filth. They are one of the thousands of ways modern living humans traumatize their living babies into becoming dead souls. Playing in dead sand is not normal for a living human baby.

The only time it is normal is if you go to a living beach that has living things in the sand, and living things in the water and living things in the air. Let a baby play there and they will ignore the sand and play with all the living things it finds: not with the dead sand. Who makes parents do this to their children? The undead filth inside them: that's who. The undead who make sure every generation born is slowly and systematically killed as dead as possible before they ever die physically and come into their realm: that's who.

What is fiction?... It is fixation. It is hundreds of millions of undead souls who are fixated upon their sick unchanging obsessions and fantasies. It is the fixation of undead souls who were fixated upon crosses. Now that they are dead, they are obsessed with suffering, with reliving their pain vicariously through living human souls. Fiction is the fixation of undead humans who never lived: creating fictional tales inside the minds of living humans so their fixations are printed into books, so they can read them, and re-read them over and over.

There are too many facts that can be explained by this to be ignored. The history of Homo Sapiens cannot be explained without the existence of unseen, undead entities. The history of inhuman tool use cannot be fully explained in any other way. The natural instinct of an ape with soft hands designed to touch living things softly and lovingly could never have been corrupted into an insane species that only touches dead things with its soft living hands unless there was a huge intervention in how it evolved. The entire concept of using tools is evil. It is a bird-evil.

Bird evil; permeates all human cultures: What do you think the one eye one the dollar bills on top of a pyramid is? It is the oldest reptile half-bird, half-man symbol of the Egyptian God Osirus. It is the ancient undead still seeing all-knowing all. It is the insane greed for money: the insane bird-lust for shiny objects like gold: it is the undead telling living humans that they are still being controlled by money: and the undead are in control of those who print bills with eyes on them. What are a bills? They are the bills of birds that peck at shiny objects; it is the obsolete undead lust for gold. Picking up precious things with the only tool they have. Accumulating things by using their bills. Just as modern living humans have bill collectors who collect shiny coins and money.

What do you think the American invention of a private eye is? A peering reptile eye: peeking into the secret corruptions of human souls. A drab, nonentity: a fictional character: who wears an overcoat, carries a hidden gun of hate, and wears a hat: going into dark alleyways, into the secret lives of the rich: uncovering their corrupt evil, gloating over it. A macho unfeeling tough inhuman thing that is incapable of loving, incapable of living a normal life. Everywhere he goes: murder happens, people die. A gun for hire. To uncover evil. Living in the bottom dregs of human society, indistinguishable from the evil he consorts with. A social cripple: incapable of love, intimacy or marriage. Or responsibility. The product of war. A destroyed man: who has seen too much killing and killed: too much to ever fool themselves that they are normal.

A private-eye that knows-all, sees-all, and uncovers all secret evil in human souls. For whose edification? For whose entertainment? Who is interested in such human filth, except humans who are like this, or would like to be like this? By glorifying the lowest scum on earth: the hired killers and thugs... the Pinkerton men, the Government goons who were used to destroy all the decent hardworking human social efforts in America to have a better life for the ordinary family man. And portray all men who have families as dupes and turn them into laughingstocks? For whose betterment? Who gains from destroying human families? The insane unseen reptile intelligence of the undead: permeates all human cultures, it hates all living things, it hates all truth.

What are the Sopranos? The show is a symptom of bird-evil: singing the praises of evil, publicly broadcasting the lives of Italian hoodlums: as a peer example of how humans are supposed to live. All bird-singing is pure poison. The ancient Romans were so permeated with bird-evil: they evolved their poisoned living host's culture into developing a form of bird-singing called a 'soprano'. A human singing the highest bird-notes possible: singing like a bird as much as possible. The ancient Romans sang their evil publicly also. They paraded their evil proudly in public. They watched their own evil in huge stadiums. The American custom of proudly parading the filthiest possible examples of human corruption and evil in public in books, and in the Media: has become part of their Media entertainment: just like the Romans did. The entire Nation of America fell in love with this show about a despicable bunch of insane, sick, psychotic psychopathic killers, liars, betrayers and criminals, thugs, hoodlums, lowlifes, bums, assholes etc. Just like it did with the Simpson's.

The Sopranos is the human subconscious singing to the American Nation: showing their own souls to them. It is singing the subconscious truth to Americans about themselves. It is just one more obvious example of how deeply bird-evil permeates human culture.

What is entertainment? It is undead ghouls and half-human reptilian bird entities ENTERING your body: TAINTING your awareness: it is MEANT to distract you from becoming aware of their vicarious desire to live through you, so you the living will not become aware of their hold over you, as they make sure you become a passive spectator. What is a star? It is something to be STARED at. As long as you do nothing but stare at things all day: you are doing what they want you to do. As long as you do not use your INNER awareness, as long as you only use your OUTER awareness: undead shit things can easily hide inside you and use you and manipulate you by poisoning and controlling the subconscious-unconscious part of your brain: which is 99% of your brain. Your conscious awareness consists of only 1% of your entire brain activity. When that 1% of your brain is manipulated and controlled by undead evil filth to only focus on things OUTSIDE of you: then it doesn't matter what you consciously decide to do; because all of your conscious decisions come from the rest of your brain, the 99% of your brain: the UNEXPLORED part of your brain, your unexplored Inner Self.

How has bird culture infected modern human culture? By introducing a bird-trait into human existence. Hunting and pecking at things is what birds have done instinctively, mindlessly for hundreds of millions of years. First it was the typewriter: where tens of millions of humans hunted and pecked at keys, now it's the computer where hundreds of millions hunt and peck at keys. Now businesses have workers pecking away at cash registers, and organizers, and anything that has a keyboard that can be pecked at. Civilized progress is actually regress. The oldest living human language still surviving is that of the Kalahari Bushmen. It is full of clicking noises because thousands of years ago when they made their tools it produced a clicking noise... Now: hundreds of millions of humans do not speak to each other: they sit at a computer screen and make clicking noises. Isolated from all other living humans. Mimicking the clicking noises made by the old computers... using a mechanical mouse to make a clicking noise, which is exactly like the clicking noise of primitive Stone Age tool-knapping. Modern human culture has regressed back to the first African bushmen that first made these clicking noises. This is the dynamic of all evil. All evil regresses back, and back... to older and more filthy evils. All evil is a reversed, backwards dynamic. Now humans are downloading 'apps' to use as tools in their computers. Instead of tool-knapping to make tools which they can use to kill with, they are tool-apping, downloading pre-made tools to use which they cannot use to kill with. The 'k' in tool-knapping is silent because the first tools were silent: they did not make a big bang or noise: they were designed to kill animals who were caught unawares napping in the middle of the night or during the day

Bird-reptile culture is the spawn of the devil. Until humans wake up, and realize this: they will continue to be the unwitting pawns and dupes of an alien intelligence that delights in destroying the humanity of every baby, every child, every living person born on Earth. Look at the world around you. Is it a world designed for humans? Huge metallic monsters called aircraft carriers: sending metal birds up into the air to drop poisonous bird pellets of hate and destruction onto the living Earth. Safely isolated away from the living Earth, so no living human can stop them if one commander goes insane and decides to use his ship to start a nuclear war. Insane metallic eggs orbiting around the Earth: for use as observation posts, so we can have a birds-eye view of the Earth. The eye on the dollar bill. An insane eye on top of a pyramid of stone. What difference is that eye of greed, and the eye of Sauron of Tolkien's Lord of the Ring? The eye of covetousness. Seeking shiny objects. The eye of greed. The maw of the bird. The Ark of the Covenant. The over-arching bird-sin of covetousness: that the Hebrews brought into the world. The over-arching coveting of land: which created over-arching architectural symptoms of bird-culture called bridges. The over-arching secret covenant between undead bird intelligence, and inhuman undead intelligence: agreeing to cooperate in their corruption of living humans. Merging themselves into one insane undead aura, a single merged insane unseen god. The insane idea of only one god. A hidden, secret agreement. When you make a covenant with someone: you do it in secret. You do it so nobody sees you do it, and so nobody knows you have done it. The word itself screams out of the evil that was born from this covenant of covetousness. Coveting your neighbor's wife. Coveting the riches of your neighbor. The most covetous tribe on Earth: has for 3,000 years tried to scream out in public how they are not covetous. Has any other race done this? Why have other races not tried to scream out in public how ethical and moral they are?

What is their Covenant? It is a double negative. It is the covetousness of the negative greedy little ant. It is the coven of birds. It is the covetousness of negative birds merged with the covetousness of negative ants merged with the covetousness of the most covetous tribes of human nomads ever born: the tribes of the Hebrews. It is a coven of witches and hags. It is a covered up foul mess. It is the cozening cunning of carefully hidden Hebrew greed. It is the flim-flam cozening of the Goyim by the Semites, it is the cozening of taking off 15% of the foreskin of their male infants by a goniff. It is the creation of the sexual disease called gonorrhoea by male penises that were unclean when they entered a female vagina, because their naturally antiseptic foreskin had been cozened and cut off by a goniff. It is the unspoken original covenant of all Hebrews who swore to cheat their masters and oppressors by 15%, to shortchange them every chance they got. Until it became a sacred Hebrew tradition, and is still an unspoken sacred Hebrew moral value which they uphold and sanctify to the ends of the Earth as their spiritual, ethical way of life. Turning profit into spirituality, greed into goodness: the whitewashing of the seven deadly sins: by the covenant of Hebrew Torah and Bible: to create the great Western Tradition of unending covetousness as a way of life, a way of misery called the pursuit of happiness. Twisting every truth around: twisting evil into good and good into evil.

The dynamic of evil is and has always been the same. Evil hides inside good. It hides inside those who scream out that they are good. The one tribe on Earth: the Hebrews: have screamed out they are better than all other human tribes for 3,000 years. The reason they have screamed out this lie: is because deep down... inside... they were, and still are, the most culturally poisoned, and the most culturally whitewashed evil race of humans ever born. It took 10,000 years of slowly covering up their evil, and brainwashing propaganda, to finally allow the Hebrew culture of pure greed to take over the entire species of humankind. It is now called: Global Capitalism. The race to destroy the Earth before they are destroyed, is speeding up. The race to destroy Humanity before living humans find out they are being destroyed, is speeding up.

How can you tell that the ancient Hebrew culture was sicker and more evil than all other cultures of its time? Since they exhibited more symptoms of evil than all the other cultures did. They had to whitewash their own culture more than all other cultures did. They had to whitewash their own religion, their own clothes; they even whitewashed their food.

They became so sick and evil; that their food became unclean. All food became unclean to them. They had become so disconnected from the Earth that they had to separate their food into two separate categories. They could not eat natural healthy food anymore. Their food had to be 'blessed' by their rabbi's before they could eat it. They became more obsessed with cleanliness than all other cultures. They became more obsessed with whitewashing themselves in thousands of different cunning, illogical, filthy, sneaky ways, than all other cultures of their time. Their Rabbis argued, discussed and tried to rationalize their Hebrew ethics and ways of living. Their Rabbi's still do this today. Moreover: after 3,000 years of argument and discussion and writing: the sick insane hypocrites, the sick fuckers still cannot come to an agreement. They still cannot agree on what is 'holy' or 'unholy'... on what is 'right' or what is 'wrong'... they still are obsessed with covering up the stinking insane evil of their own ancient culture, and trying to rationalize it and excuse it.

The true fanatics: the true Hebrews, the Black capped, black gowned, evil, hairy, ugly filth; with their ugly snarled hair, their ugly rotting dead hair, growing and growing out of their faces...longer and longer and longer... signifying the growing rotting evil of their diseased obsolete evil sick ancient culture: these Hasidic filth can only endure their own sick evil culture by shutting themselves OFF from the rest of the living world... and living in a self-imposed exile of ghetto-existence. And living a lie: pretending that they are more pure and more ethical and more moral than all Goyim. How? By practicing the oldest most hypocritical most obsolete thousands of years old traditions which are made up of 100% bullshit superstitious nonsense. The more fanatically and mindlessly they practice these idiotic superstitions: the more 'religious' the more 'superior' they are to all other people. Born again Christians do the same thing. All religions do this. Jewish religions happen to be the worst of the lot: that's all.

Why do you think all of Europe hated and despised them? Europeans did not put the Jews in ghettos... they put themselves into these prisons. They ostracized themselves before others ostracized them. The universal human reaction of ostracizing all Jews is the fault of the Jews themselves: which they then turn and beat their stinking hypocritical breasts, and claim to have been done wrong to.

Hasidic Jews view all other humans who are not Hasidic Jews as unclean filth. Hasidic Jews see all other human cultures, all other human religions, all other living human beings: as unclean filth.

The reason why they see them this way: is because they have found a way to systematically project their own inner evil outwards in order to absolve themselves of all guilt. That is all. That is all Hasidic Jews are: insane projectors and rationalizers of their own fucking sick irrational insanity. Just as all other human killing cultures projected and still project their own guilt, evil, hate, and fear outwards onto other cultures-races-religions etc... Except that the Jews are better at it. They do it more cunningly. That's all.

Look at the Penguin paperback of Kozinki's 'The Painted Bird'. Its cover shows a medieval painting depicting scenes from the Dark Ages of Europe. It shows medieval insanity and medieval horror. It shows European Hebrew Medieval horror. It shows a stork with human bones for legs instead of stork legs: stealing two innocent children away in a wicker basket. The bird-aura of the Stork is the Medieval Jewish symbol of the baby killer. The wicker basket is the symbol of how children are trapped inside wickedness long before they can grow up and mature enough to understand GOOD and evil and how to ascertain exactly what is GOOD and what is evil.... It shows a devastated landscape of European Medieval Jewish horror, long before the Nazi death camps of the 20th century. The book itself is a piece of Jewish insanity. It is a book about how Jews have managed to poison all the world with film scripts they never wrote. Who wrote these scripts? It is a book describing human insanity gone so insane that modern people cannot tell fiction from reality anymore.

Why does this book have one of the most filthiest, most horrible images of medieval mass psychosis on its cover? Because Jewish controlled, funded and manipulated mass media has created a modern global human mass psychosis and insanity that is even more insane than the mass insanity of the Dark Ages. Children are being stolen away every second by this mass insanity of media mass spectatorship brainwashing... invented, created, funded, run and acted in: by Jews. The baby killer of the fleeing stork has been turned into the baby killer of the fictional story: abstracted into two-dimensional images and dehumanizing human children to the point where they become emotionally and mentally brainwashed before the ages of 4 or 5. To where they have cut themselves off from the actual world they live in, and live in fantasy worlds created by mass media.

Children trapped inside wickedness... Children trapped inside a wicker basket... Stolen away by an insane half-man, half-stork, with bones for legs. An insane bird aura: a death entity: merged into a human. A stork undead merged into an undead human entity, until the human's nose becomes that of a stork: a huge, long proboscis. The killing lies of stories told about the stork that was good not evil. The lies of Jewish stories told by an insane stork. Stories told by a stork. A stark raving insane human: stealing children away into the night in a wicker basket. Stork. Stories. Killing stories. Stories killing truth. Stark mad. Stark mad cover. Stark mad writer. Stark mad story. Story of how all truth is killed. By a Stork. The stark mad landscape of Medieval horror with a half-human stork carrying away children in a wicked basket of lies woven by wicker, the wicked liars of all ages that tell children lies that kill all truth in children. The penguin paperback cover of Kozinki's 'The Painted Bird' already tells you that the writer is insane, and what you will find in the book will only be more insanity. This is how the undead poison the living. By poisoning living children before they can grow up enough to tell the difference between a lie and the truth.

What is a disease? It is a sickness that you get from someone who is deceased: someone who has ceased to live. Someone who is dead. A dead diseased, deceased relative of yours whose energy is the energy of the dead... passing on his diseased soul and his or her diseased afflictions and illnesses onto you. The definition of deceased is a dead person. All human disease originates from deceased undead unseen human filth permeating living human auras.

What is the difference between decease and disease? The spelling of these two words shows you the difference. The human subconscious always shows you the literal truth as much as it can: depending on the form and level of abstraction its context is in.

The only difference between these two word are the letters; EC and IS: even though they are pronounced exactly the same way. These two letters show you how the one-sided gawking of undead entities... how by using your body and your eyes to see with... they must inhabit your aura to do this: this is the 'c' this is the undead "e" negative energy aura of the undead looking out of your eyes... as a way of avoiding looking at itself, as a way of distracting itself from its own filthy evil and its own true state of existence as a negative wraith of unseen evil. This is how you become diseased, this is how you become sick: their undead "E" energy permeates your living soul, and becomes an "I"... an EGO... a separate disconnected self-awareness that keeps you unaware of yourself and others and the world around you as much as possible. This is how the undead "E" energy of these filthy unseen things twists your natural healthy aura energy into a cunning serpentine "S"... destroying your natural hale, healthy radiating living energy: which should radiated out happily and healthily: instead of getting all twisted up into knots inside you.

1781

This is why these things must be killed. This is why these deceased, diseased things must be completely destroyed. They are sickening you and poisoning you and slowly killing you, every second of your living life. Until you become as diseased as they are: until you die. Until you become as they are: a deceased undead human soul... poisoning human souls who are still alive.

Why is the Hebrew culture the most evil of all modern human cultures? Why have all... ALL Of the values and ideas of Jewish culture seeped into every other human culture on earth? Why is Jewish-Hebrew culture the origin of all Western civilization, and why is Western civilization taken over the world?

Because it is the weakest, most cunning most hypocritical, most sneaky self-rationalizing set of lies ever invented as a culture. Because the Hebrews were the last human culture to come out of Africa. They were the last tribe to be exported as a single tribe of slaves into Egypt out of Africa. After they were enslaved as an entire tribe in Egypt... No other tribe was sold out of Africa after the Hebrews were sold from the Numidian Empire in Ethiopia to the growing Egyptian Empire on the Nile as an intact cultural tribe that manages to keep its evil culture intact no matter where they went or what happened to them... Since then: no other tribal culture has come out of Africa: period.

Human history shows this to be true. No tribe was ever enslaved as an entire culture, and exported and sold as a whole... so it could keep its culture and preserve it; from Africa, to Egypt, back to Israel, and then finally forced out from there because not even the Philistines or the Romans could stand their filthy culture of pure hypocrisy and cunning lies.

This is why the Hebrew culture is the worst human civilized culture in the world. They were the last, the worst human walking ape culture ever to come out of Africa. They were the last... The latest of the hook-nosed liars and child killers and cunning slaves... And now they have finally climbed the ladder of human social hierarchy, and have no peers beneath them to challenge or rip them down. Because of this: human civilization is being swept along on its last tidal wave of mass evil and mass psychotic insanity; crashing into total extinction. There is no more human life energy left after them to make civilization worse than they have made it and are continuing to do so. What is their brother culture that is as bad, and has also joined them in dominating the world with tribal greed>??? The Arabs, that's who: Saudi Arabia leading the way: showing all dictators and corrupt governments how to make secret private deals with the USA and be sold modern armaments and weapons of mass destruction by biggest seller of weapons of mass destruction, the last evil Empire left in the world today: the US hegemony of corrupt secret liaisons with all of the worst most inhuman most oppressive regimes of the modern world. The reason the United States Government is obsessed about weapons of mass destruction and pointing the finger everywhere at people who do not have them and never had them is simple human subconscious dynamics: they are projecting their own guilt and evil out onto others: that's all. The US is the biggest manufacturer and proliferators and seller of weapons of mass destruction in the world today by a margin of billions and trillions of dollars and millions of nuclear radioactive destructive ability to destroy the entire earth...

The US pentagon is mass producing missiles and bombs and jet fighters as fast as they can, using as much of the gross national wealth of America as they can. They have speeded up this insanity after the USSR collapsed: at the exact time that their weapons became obsolete and should have been dismantled and destroyed and all manufacturing stopped. They are speeding up this stockpiling of nuclear death now: from the time Yeltsin got into power to 2007 they have accelerated all their weapons programs like crazy and are not telling anyone about it and are hiding this fact from the public. Even though there is no direct threat to American power in the world today... their capitalist profit-power-old boys network of revolving doors in the military industrial complex and the us government is so evil, so out of control and so entrenched by now: that you will have to kill all of the senior heads of this huge octopus to stop their drive for more money, more contracts, more stockpiling, more technology wasted on weapons that never work like the Boeing noiseless carrier helicopter in the plans for 40 years and still a stinking failure, more secret deals, more expensive wasting of money, more bombs, more insane death sold everywhere all over the world.

This is why the US government is screaming so loud and pointing the finger: because they do not want the finger pointed at them when they know perfectly well that they are the ones who are guilty: nobody else. It is the same old, tiresome cover-up tactic used over and over, and people buy it over and over. Because they are brainwashed by Hebrew-Arab Capitalist greed culture and poisoned by unseen undead entities they do not let them gain a mind of their own or think for themselves. It is a single unbroken story that has been hidden and covered up until now... Now this book has given you the reader enough facts and truth and information: so you cannot say anymore... 'I didn't know this!' It is up to you the reader to act on your new knowledge.

Arab-Hebrew greed culture took over 7,000 years to come from being the last human apes out of Africa until now; they are now at the top of the greed pile of money and power and wealth and status of human civilization. Only European whites are higher than they are. But they have interbred and poisoned European whites so much: you cannot tell a Jew from a white European anymore: they are now a single mixed cultural evil; that has spread like a poison over the earth. Almost indiscernible from each other. And with these last African walking apes that came out of Africa: came their undead... their ancient, insane undead entities with them. The undead ancestors of the Hebrews and Arabs are the dominant undead today in their realm today. Mohammedan-Judaic-Christian religious ethics and morals rule this realm today. The most evil auras of the human species rule the realm of the undead today as they have always done.

What are auras? They are energy fields. They are fields of energy. What are entities? They are undead energy fields. Their Energy fields are not the same kind of energy as physical-organic energy that living bodies have as one form of its energy. Their energy is radiation energy. It is designed to radiate. But they do not radiate their energy. They twist it, and hide it. More than one way, many ways. Unlike physical-organic energy: a radiation Energy field that is solid matter: a radiation aura can co-exist in the same space as other radiation energy fields: because they exist on different wavelengths that pass through each other without completely destroying the integrity of the aura.

Science discovered this fact a long time ago. It is a common scientific fact: well-known to all students of Science. It has never been applied to human history, and it has never been applied to the scientific study of life after death or any psychic phenomenon. Science has never attempted to investigate or explore the thousands of years of historical proof of the existence of undead human entities existing as radiation energy fields. Because the people who do science are themselves possessed by auras who control them and manipulate them to keep a blind eye towards their presence. There are understandable reasons and explanations for everything, including why science has never seriously studied the existence of radiation fields of living and undead creatures undead entities, until one layered energy-field wraith-spirit; has the accumulated energy of many untold undead filth inside them.

The history of their negative existence, and their negative influence upon living humans: is a history of the accumulation of radiation energy-fields building up... until one space holds many, many

This is why even though we human apes as a species, are millions of years old: only recently have there been super-entities called Gods: who found a way to super-impose many, many ordinary energy-field entities into a super-god... A Superman: an accumulation of super-imposed energy fields that was supposed to create a 'super' intelligent being. It did not. This is the history of human religion. Evolving from polytheism, to Monotheism. This is the history of the insanity of worshipping an abstract single God. This is the insanity of modern religion. Why is modern religion so patently insane? Because none of the insane sick, gibbering psychotic spirits that were used in the makeup of these layered energy-fields were sane to begin with. None of them had been allowed to grow up healthily. None of them had experienced their own lives fully. All of them were unable to give themselves to anything. So instead of an entity intelligence that was more intelligent than a living organic human being: they became insane, unseen, undead, cunning filth.

Undead entities are easy to understand: they are energy fields that find sneaky unseen ways to superimpose themselves over, and inside your living energy aura field. That is all they are. They are just secret, silent, invisible, insulated, fields of radiation energy that should be radiating; but are not. They are superimposed auras. They are superimposed energy fields. They are superimposed subliminal suggestions and addictions and urges that poison your own clean healthy unpoisoned organic living energy-field. They are invisible intangible energy-fields that drift like clouds... and like clouds: can drift together, and like clouds can fit themselves into any forms-shape, or area. They are not limited to the shape of a human body. They can become flat or round or thin. They can assume any shape they want. They can invade and violate and poison any living animal they want to. They are a species of energy-criminals. They steal energy from other forms of energy. They cannot give you anything. They are pure suckers of energy. They live off of other forms of energy. Which... is exactly what humans living human have become: not because of us: because of them

Because of them. Because all they do is consume and use energy. This is why the living organic genetic species of human beings have slowly become more and more: pure suckers of energy, energy-consumers, energy addicts. Not because we, our healthy organic living energy auras need this extra energy: but because the layered accumulations of superimposed aura energy-fields which these scum are made of: have created a living human culture: that has turned living human beings into copies of undead super gods, undead super-egos undead superhuman filth, undead unseen superimpositions. We impose our living presence into eco-systems where we have no fucking business imposing ourselves: because every fucking living organic human being is poisoned with thousands of super-imposed auras: until the concept of super-imposition has become a living organic perception of human normality. Until we think like aura-imposed egos. Until we act like super-imposed auras. Until we feel like super-imposed energy fields.. Until the tiny bit of organic genetic healthy unpoisoned living energy aura field... which is yours, which is your true unpoisoned clean hale healthy soul: is poisoned so much and overwhelmed so much it almost disappears completely... now: modern poisoned living organic genetic human children and youth: feel as if they do not even exist. They have no interest in the organic mysteries of life anymore. Because they have been successfully poisoned by so many super-impositions of super-imposed auras that are not them: until for all intents and purposes: they become totally insane.

The existence of overpopulation in the realm of undead entities can be seen in the sick, stinking, sly, unseen symptoms that living humans develop from being infested by them. The latest symptom of too many unseen undead violating and poisoning all young children and young people is the video-computer culture of 'Dungeons N' Dragons'.

Young people have become obsessed with video and computer games whose common denominator is the fighting of unseen enemies. Also... these unseen monsters lurk and hide in ancient places. In ancient castles, in ancient labyrinths. These monsters, dragons, these evil things... are not sane. They are insane. They all have one common characteristic: they try to kill any young person who dares enter their lairs. They hide behind walls and secret codes... they have false fronts, and false names... Young people, even modern adults; have obsessed with these Video games.

These Nintendo games are merely a cultural symptom of the overload, the accumulated overload of too many undead filth seeping into living humans.

The infants and youth of today are so poisoned by these unseen undead scum: their minds have become so poisoned, their bodies so warped and twisted: that they shun the outdoors, and spend their growing years inside. This weakens them so horribly: they have no inner resilience or inner strength: which is exactly what the undead want and like. Weak, poisoned, cripples: unable to walk or stand up. Sickly pale, unhealthy young living humans: presenting no problems for them once they die and enter their realm of lies and cunning subterfuge.

The only way you can clean these children: is to knock the aura-shit out of them: cleanse them of all civilized poisons and environments. Get them out into raw, naked, clean nature: strip them naked: throw them into clean lakes, and force them to become naked clean children that have fun. Then they will become healthy and strong enough to have their own energy called happiness. Called fun. A healthy child is unmistakable. You cannot mistake a sick aura poisoned child for a healthy happy child who has fun. A healthy child radiates its own energy. A sick aura-poisoned child has no happiness or fun. All of its energy is being sucked off by the superimposed unseen invisible energy-fields that are slowly killing it to death.

How can you tell human civilization is completely poisoned by these undead filth? It is very easy. Anything you need, anything you want, anything you like: you cannot have. Unless it is corrupting and evil. Anything you do not need, anything you do not want, anything you do not like: you can have. I am speaking of the clean, true, healthy human needs and wants of all living human souls: all humans need and want love. Undead filth have created an insane system where none of us are allowed to have it. Where none of us can have it. It is completely insane that there is no love in 7 billion souls to give to other 7 billion living souls. The idea of hoarding love is the sick idea that comes from insane undead auras inside you hoarding their stolen energy from you: so you are not allowed to have your own energy and you are not allowed to feel love, and you are never allowed to radiate happiness and love and fun. Happiness fun, energy, love: is the natural birthright of all living organic humans. These filth have stolen our childhoods from us. They have stolen our life energy from us: they must be killed and wiped off the face of this Earth.

How do these unseen undead poisoning filth corrupt us the living? Very, very easily. Undead sneaky cunning negative entities hundreds of years old, thousands of years old, millions of years old... how hard is it for them to poison and corrupt an innocent living being? Young innocent children do not understand the cunning of evil. They do not understand the evil of the past. They cannot see these filth. They do not sense their negative presence inside them and all around them. Their innocent young minds and bodies and souls and hearts and lungs are easily permeated with the invisible, intangible, evil negative energy these undead filth are made of.

Have you ever heard of the Peter Pan Syndrome? It is the syndrome of modern children who do not want to grow up. Children who want to stay children forever. Why do they want this? It is a perfectly natural reaction of healthy children to the evil of adult human cultures. Evil adult human cultures that teach them that they must work and not have fun... that they must be serious and not laugh or smile. Evil boring, sick living human adult cultures... permeated with the negative evil energy of all the past evils which living humans have accumulated and worship and perpetuate and pre-serve before their own living needs and wants. What happy, healthy child wants to be dragged and forced to do boring disgusting vile things like work, forced labor, servitude, slavery? Ugh! What happy healthy human child wants to do things that are boring, repetitive, deadening, always the same...? Ugh! What happy healthy child wants to be forced to sit and do nothing all day but listen to a boring old fart? Ugh! But that is exactly what we force children to do by forcing them to go to 'school'. Where they sit and do nothing all day: except to be bored and brainwashed.

These unseen filth have poisoned this healthy impulse easily a million billion ways. But the most obvious way they have poisoned it is shown by the myth of Peter Pan himself. They have poisoned living humans into never wanting to grow up. They have poisoned them into wanting to stay immature and stupid and unaware forever. They poison children into wishing they could fly away from all this filth. They poison them into wishing they could become birds. They poison them into having the attention span of birds. They poison them by permeating their innocent healthy souls with the auras of undead birds. They easily poison their sense of Pure Wonder by making their attention span flit from one thing to the other. Exactly like the attention span of birds, flitting from one thing to the next. Never staying for long on any one thing.

The Peter Pan Syndrome is both a symptom of health, and a symptom of sickness. It is healthy for a young living human to not want to become what their corrupted adults have become. But it is sick for them not to want to grow up at all. It is unhealthy for them to stifle and sabotage all of their own learning-growing dynamics of a healthy human being. But what other choice does a healthy, or even a barely healthy child have? When it is surrounded by nothing but adult-poisoned evil, and thousands of undead unseen evil things permeating its own body and the bodies of every living soul it comes into contact with? The result is inevitable. Health is slowly and systematically poisoned into deadness and numbness and all the insane behavior that living adults call: 'normal'.

These undead unseen filth have prevented the living human species from ever growing up. They have purposefully and systematically kept living humans in a permanent sick, insane state of unnatural state of regressed infancy and immaturity. Every attempt of living humans to mature into responsible, healthy, sane, rational, logical human beings: has been twisted and poisoned into such a horrible travesty of insane destructive, irrational, twisted logic that is completely and blatantly illogical, insane, irrational and just plain crazy: that it is no wonder innocent children take one look at what adults call 'maturity' and adulthood: and feel nothing but revulsion, disgust and rage against what they are being forced into.

How do you think these undead filth corrupt the souls of babies? Babies who have not had a chance to live and try to grow up as living humans? By permeating their baby souls with as many undead auras of undead birds as possible. Until they grow wings, and 'fly'... until these undead human baby auras are permanently frozen into a state of flitting distraction, until their awareness is permanently poisoned into a state of flitting from one thing to the next... never learning anything, never growing as a human is designed to grow, staying permanently in a state of helplessness, unawareness, immaturity... until after centuries of this poisoning by undead unseen birds inside their human-baby auras: they become twisted and morphed into gargoyles of horror. Evil leering ugly things with wings, with faces and bodies stretched and twisted into inhuman monster-faces and bodies... faces and bodies that show the actual nature of their layered-poisoned human baby auras: as an accumulated travesty of inter-species genetic-aura poisoning.

This is why the paintings of the birth of Jesus show innocent baby auras with wings: this is why after Jesus: paintings depicting human love in Europe showed images of flitting babies with wings. They surround every couple that falls in love. They distract their awareness so they cannot make any sense of each other or of the world around them. They keep lovers distracted and obsessed with each other until the original love-impulse is completely poisoned and deadened and corrupted. These undead poisoned auras are attracted to first-love. They are attracted to distraction. When the distraction of first-love fades: they go away, seeking other distractions. They are programmed to poison all first impressions of all living humans who see each other and fall in love with each other on sight. This is just one of the billions of unseen ways these undead filth poison and corrupt the natural living energy of living human beings.

Why do the pictures and images of Jesus show him as a radiating being? Because the undead had not managed to completely destroy his radiating energy as they have rest of the entire living human race. His energy of Pure Wonder radiated out for all other people to see. The people he met could see it. They all were in awe of him because of it. Innocent happy children radiate happiness and gaiety. Healthy people radiate energy and well-being. All human energy that does not radiate; is a sick form of weak energy that should be healed: or be wiped off this Earth. Period.

What are undead human entities? They are unseen beings of reflective light. They hide their reflective light. They hoard it. They keep their light safely insulated inside their rotten sacs of bird-aura insulation.

How did undead human entities become unseen? By bird undead auras morphing themselves with human undead auras. Bird auras have natural insulation of undead feathers. These undead feathers keep their undead bird-aura energy unseen by the living. This is the genetic-energy reason why human undead are unseen. Bird-auras merge with human undead auras to create an artificial morphed life-undead energy that does not fade and organically return to its origins.

We are designed to radiate our love and our energy out: to all living things. We were never designed to hoard our life Energy. We are not designed to keep our reflective light auras hidden and unseen by the living. The corruption of the living by the undead until when the living die: they have no radiating aura that can be seen by the living. The weakening of their aura energy: is weakened by human corruption, selfishness and fear.

In all movies about holy, spiritual, giving, generous living people on their deathbed: the movie shows them bathed in an aura of light. It shows that a true spiritual giving-loving person when they die:

radiates love and light all around them. Because they have no more fear. They are not afraid to die. They have lived a life of goodness: not evil.

But once they die: this aura disappears. Their living aura fades, and their undead aura becomes invisible to the living. Why is this? Because they were never meant to die. They were never meant or designed to have all of their life energy wane and fade down to such an insignificant level, that they become invisible wraiths.

What are the undead? They are vampires, they are suckers of Life-Energy. They suck on any energy they can find. They try to impress the new arrivals with their artificial accumulated energy. But they do not show their light for a long time. They hoard it. They shut it off. They eke it out miserly. They only use this form of intimidation as a last resort, when one of the newbie's is causing a problem and needs to be put into their proper place of humble awe. Touch their aura sacs: and you will burst their artificial accumulated aura sac like a rotten balloon. Inside you will find a faint aura that is so empty, so rotten, so horrible in visage and content: that you will be revolted at the filthy monster hiding inside the sac of radiating artificial energy. They are very vulnerable to being touched. They can be killed very easily. All you have to do is put your hand through them, and kill them with the intent to kill them. They need to be killed.

The Prehistoric Existence of the undead

The history of human civilization is NOT a history of living humans innovating tools. Living humans made tools because undead entities wanted them to kill. The reason living humans only use tools to kill all Life with is because undead things do not want to allow us to lead happy healthy lives. Living humans could have made better tools millions of years ago. They didn't: because the undead did not want them to change anything. Civilization never made anything better for anyone alive. Civilization has only made things worse for living humans: never better.

The only reason living human societies have changed over time is not because of living humans being creative, or inventive, or intelligent. The only reason civilization changes is because of the accumulation of undead souls.

For instance; why was weaving invented? Not because the weather was cold. Weaving was invented in hot climates. Weaving and textiles were invented because of the accumulation of human undead going in and out of living humans all the time.

The more violated and traumatized and warped living humans became from more and more undead violating their auras: the more their living subconscious mind represented this, as thousands of 'in's and 'out's which they wore called linen. The first cloth ever made was made in Egypt. By living humans whose living auras were so regularly poisoned by undead auras going in and out of their living body-auras: that their subconscious minds began screaming at them that they had to protect themselves from this constant violation of alien undead energy going into them and out of them... They began wearing what we call 'clothes'... in a hot Egyptian climate where all clothing is unnecessary Where it is perfectly warm every day and perfectly cool every night.

These ancient violated living Egyptian's subconscious screamed the truth at them. It made them create linen... what is linen? Linen is thousands, tens of thousands, hundreds of thousands OF threads: going in and out of each other... The reason Egyptians invented linen: the first clothe created in the West: was because too many thousands of undead were going into each other and out of each other... Inside the living human auras they were secretly violating, invading, and poisoning with their insane sick presence and intentions.

If undead entities had not accumulated in Egypt to the point where their living hosts tried to cover themselves in a subconscious attempt to protect themselves from an insane evil outer environment that was attacking and leering at them and hating them and twisting their minds and bodies into pure living evil... then humans would have never have begun wearing clothes. The subconscious reason living humans emigrated from Africa: was too many undead entities poisoning their living areas. Too many undead ancient evil lurking things creeping into living African souls and poisoning them with all manner of insane thoughts and emotions.

The entire culture of prehistoric humanity can be studied and understood. Thousands of human cultures whose origins go back before recorded history, have left countless oral tales and legends and myths and stories that have been preserved, and are now written down. This oral history can finally be understood. The oral history of pre-historic human cultures are filled with the undead.

For instance: read the legends and myths of Old Man Coyote: they are obvious examples of how undead filth inhabit and poison living creatures. This entity enters the bodies of other living creatures. It appears as one animal, then it appears in the guise of another. The Greek Gods did the same thing: Homer tells of how Athena enters the body of a traveling merchant, then she enters the body of Telemachus: Odysseus's son, and then she enters the body of a sparrow: to watch all the 'fun' of the slaughter going on in the great hall. These legends are full of the evidence of spirit possession, entity poisoning, and how the same entity takes on any living form it wants to, simply by entering the aura of a creature that is already living. This is how these ancient scum kept living humans stupid. By poisoning them with their own stupidity, their own cupidity, and their own evil until living humans became so poisoned by them: their living unique personas were drowned under the untold accumulation of these undead filth.

The oral legends of all prehistoric human societies are abysmally simple and childish: they are designed to be understood by babies: because they have arrested healthy human growth so horribly: that this was the only level of understanding their living hosts could understand. Undead entities poisoning human auras has blocked and poisoned the growth of all human awareness for thousands of years.

Until now.

Why do you think the plains Indians worshipped the coyote? Because their undead ancestors entered into the bodies of coyotes so they could observe and keep tabs on the tribe they once lived in. Why do you think these natives worshipped certain animals? Why do you think certain birds and animals were sacred to them? Why didn't they kill these sacred animals? Because the spirits of their own undead inhabited these creatures. Why do you think their tales are full of animals speaking to humans, and acting like humans? Because human undead unseen entities inhabited these creatures, and made them act unnaturally.

This is a sign of the undead: if an animal or human acts unnaturally towards you, this is a sign that some undead filth has entered the living body of that creature. This is how they gained power over prehistoric human societies. They gave 'signs' to living humans by invading the living auras of other animals and humans. They visited them in their dreams and gave them signs, and preached to them. They made animals like a coyote act unnaturally towards them. They made animals act in strange ways... They made them act as if these creatures could understand human language when they were spoken to. This is how prehistoric human societies developed spirit worship. This is why Prehistoric people believed that all things under the sun including the sun itself: all rocks, trees, wind, water, mountains, animals, the sun the moon etc... all had spirits inside them that spoke to humans, and told them what to do and what not to do.

The prehistoric history of living humans is a history of the increasing cunning insanity, and the increasing cunning of unseen, undead filth: as they made their living hosts commit more and more insane, crazy, unnatural things: to prove that they worshipped and obeyed their hidden masters, their hidden gods, their hidden spirits... Because they threw their own lives away, and can never live again; they hate all living things.

Until the insane hidden god Jehovah began to relish seeing Hebrew people slaying and torture and kill their own children for his amusement. Until he had them sacrifice their youngest sons to him.

The evil of the unseen undead North American natives are no different from the evil of the unseen undead of any other human culture or ethnicity. Except that some of these undead stand out as being more cunning, more evil. The myth of Coyote Old Man is one such example. He became so evil: his influence spread over many tribes. His making humans and all animals out of mud is no different from the Jewish myth of their Yahweh making man out of clay. By this; you can tell that this filth undead entity is one of the oldest, and the most evil of their culture.

As living human societies changed: the methods and tactics of these unseen filth changed. These changes were slow... but cunning. They were invisible, unseen. They still are. If you factor in the existence of these unseen, undead scum: all human History and prehistory can be understood as a whole. The evidence of their existence runs seamlessly through both. There has never been a living human society that was not controlled and manipulated and corrupted by these unseen, insane filth.

Once all of their unseen history is exposed: then all human history and pre-history will be revealed and understood in its proper context. Then the behavior of all living humans can be finally understood. Then you will understand why your behavior is corrupted and poisoned by them. Then you will understand why they have to be killed. Then you will understand why you have to kill them.

Until you realize how they actually poison your life every day and every night every second of your living life: so every chance you ever had for happiness and healing and health is systematically poisoned and destroyed by them ON PURPOSE: you will never feel the rage I have against these filth.

But once you do realize this truth: then you will feel the same rage I have. Then all humans who read this book will have the same rage, the same enemy and the same feelings I have. Then all living humans will come together against these unseen filth and kill them.

The human subconscious has been screaming out the existence of these insane things for thousands of years... The highest level of mass awareness of the evil of unseen auras is the Christian religion: Where it speaks of a trinity: where three spirits exist as one... the Father, the Son... and the holy ghost.

Ghosts hide in holes

Ghosts are called holy because they hide in holes.

How obvious can you get?

All three undead auras exist inside the others.

They exist inside you. All the time. Ever since you were born. Why do you think they make sure that you will never guess the truth, eh?

You still don't believe the undead exist? Professional mediums have their own television shows now, proving every day on television that they do exist. Do you think they just hang around and watch you outside your body? They interfere and poison your life and your aura every fucking way they can. They do it out of spite, out of hate, out of insanity, out of evil.

The Scam

How they do it is simple: they live inside you, they live off you: they can hear all your thoughts, they live your life as if they are you, and try to assimilate into you, and then systematically take you over so gradually taking tens of years to do it so YOU WON'T NOTICE IT.

Then when you die; they greet you and sell you whatever garbage false explanations which they know you will swallow: because they inserted the subconscious hints and suggestions into your brain every night while you are sleeping during your whole living life. Then much later... after they have successfully corrupted you into practicing the same parasitic violation of living people that they practiced upon you when you were alive: you become one of them... and do the same thing that was done to you when you were alive and not sensitive enough to sense the violations of these parasitic filth occurring throughout your entire life.

How expert do you think these parasites can become at this sin and crime... if they have thousands experience doing this to living humans for thousands, or hundreds of thousands of years?

If you examine human history critically for evidence of their existence: if you critically examine and study human life: You will find the evidence of their existence and their crimes and violations in every living human life that was ever poisoned and corrupted by them. And that includes all living humans, and all humans who ever lived: there are no exceptions to this.

Reptilian-Bird Entities

Why are not only living humans poisoned more by reptilian bird culture than the culture of any other species on earth? Why are human undead poisoned by this culture? Why are undead unseen human entities dominated and controlled by the undead of reptilian birds more than any other culture?

Because our ancestor originally came from reptilian birds. Because the lemur we came from; came from a reptilian creature living in a tree that had feathers on it.

1791

The genetic split that happened between our ancestors that lived in trees, and birds that fly: is very easy to understand. The reptiles that had feathers and could fly away: did. The reptiles that had feathers and could not fly away: stayed in the trees. And eventually lost them.

The reptilian birds that could fly away, and come back to roost on those trees: were higher and superior. to the reptilian birds that had feathers and lived in tress but could not fly away.
The undead of the flyers dominated the undead of the tree-bound reptile-birds.

Now you can understand the regression of the undead. The undead regress back as far as they can. The regress back to stupider and more obsolete forms of awareness and energy. The undead of the regressed back hundreds of millions of years, back to the undead reptilian birds who could not fly away when they were live. They called these regressed unspeakably poisoned insane undead things: 'angels with wings'

The same regression happened with all other civilized western undead.

The gods of the Egyptians scream out the truth of this morphing-merging of the undead with the oldest possible undead ancestors possible:

Here is a list of the ancient Egyptian gods: it shows how reptilian undead auras became dominant over human undead filth:

God of	Name	Appearance
Sun	Ra	head of falcon and sun disk
Music	Hathor	horns of cow and sun disk
Destruction	Sekhmet	head of lion
Sky	Nut	blue with golden stars
Earth	Geb	color of plants and Nile mud
Dead	Osiris	dressed in white with crook and flail
Desert	Seth	animal head with long curved snout
Pharoah	Horus	head of hawk and crown of Egypt
Magic	Isis	throne on head or holding baby
Wisdom	Thoth	head of ibis
Embalming	Anubis	head of jackal
Justice	Ma'at	feather in her hair
Creation	Amun	crowned with feathers
Cats	Bastet	head of cat

The main God is the sun: he is an impersonal inorganic god: from which the Hebrews got their idea of a non-human main god: he has the head of a FALCON a bird of prey: the highest reptilian bird of that area and era. The god of music has the horns of a cow and a sun disk: because most undead Egyptians had no choice but to use the bodies of cattle: but were still dominated by the Sun God: the higher undead entities

Destruction has the head of a lion: the killer animal that killed human apes in Africa before they escaped to Egypt: gypping the lions from exterminating them completely.

Osiris is a bird god of death. All birds hate humans. Undead reptile-bird auras are the god of death to humans: they are the winged, insane 'angels' that meet dying human spirits when they die.

The pig and the buffalo is the desert god. The god of the king is a hawk's head: the head of killers, the highest killer in the reptilian-bird hierarchy of insane undead auras.

Magic: the power of love: what reptilian undead cannot and do not understand, they label as 'magic' and fear it and poison it and hate it

Wisdom is the head of an ibis: the stupidest bird in creation with the smallest pea-brain in existence and the ugliest thing on earth and the longest filthiest narrowest bill. This was how corrupt Egyptian justice was. It was ruled by the stupidest reptilian bird, the oldest most obsolete reptilian bird still living.

Embalming is the head of a jackal stealing dead organs from the corpse pile. Justice! Is a female with a single feather... one feather: the lowest god of all. Reptiles do not understand the concept of justice: they have consistently laughed at it and denigrated it, simply because they have never ever been brought to face any justice themselves. This is about to change.

Creation is covered in feathers. We were created from reptiles who were covered in feathers

The cat god has a head of a cat: humans worshipping cat for shits sake, worshipping all animals more stupid and more evil than they are.

The story of millions of years of evolution is compressed into the story of the Egyptian sun god: Ra his story screams out thee compressed insanity of undead entities slowly becoming more and more insane and more bored and more stupid, and regressing back further and further

Ra - Sun God, King of the Gods
a falcon crowned with a sun disk or a man with a falcon's head

Ra was the God of the Sun. He sailed across the heavens in a boat called the 'Barque of Millions of Years'. At the end of each day Ra was thought to die and sailed on his night voyage through the Underworld, leaving the Moon to light the world above. The boat would sail through the twelve doors, representing the twelve hours of night-time. The next dawn, he was born again.

Ra regressed back MILLIONS OF YEARS. His morphed body is a morphed amalgamation of indeed entities that are MILLIONS OF YEARS OLD. Every day: HE IS BORN AGAIN

The Hebrews took this idea and voila! Jesus Christ was born again... duh. A New religion? No: just an old one, revamped and re-sold. Why was he born again new each day? Because each day he stole into a NEW living body. And experienced life vicariously in a new way for the first time... ALL human myths and religious tales expose the secrets of these undead insane filth.

The entire idea of humans pairing off like birds in twosomes is a billion year dead obsolete sick fantasy that does not work, cannot work and is not designed to work ever period. This poisoned idea of human love as an exclusive twosome is fucking bullshit

You can see the entire content of Hebrew and Christian ideas and symbols and where they STOLE them from in Egyptian religion and mythology: you can find the ideas of Cain and Able in Seth and Osiris. Cain and Able come from the Egyptian myth of Seth and Osiris: sibling rivalry: hatred between brothers. You can find the two symbols of the early Christians in Egyptian mythology combined into one symbol: The sign of the cross and the sign of the fish put them together: and you get the symbol of Amun... a man... Jesus was a man.

Amun was an important god, but there are no stories about him. He created all things. At the same time, he remained apart from creation, totally different from it, and fully independent from it. In fact, he was invisible, so you couldn't have a picture of him! However, if you called him Amun-Re, this allowed people to see him. Then he had a hat with ostrich feathers on, and like all gods with human heads, a beard.

Re is another way of spelling Ra, the sun god.

Tutankhamun's name contains the name of Amun. It also contains the Ankh, which means Life. His name means "Long life to Amun."

The ankh or magic you can was a very important amulet charm. See how many ankhs find on this website!

Amun is sometimes spelled Ammon. The fossil ammonites are called after him, because his sacred animal is a ram, and ammonites are shaped like ram's horns. The scam is screaming out at you... can't you see it? The God 'Amun' or 'Ammon' is a MAN, not a god. An enraged man. An undead human entity mixed with the living body of a RAM; an unholy, filthy abomination of two different species: Ammon Ra. Merging a man and a ram together, as all the other morphed mixtures of half-man, half bird, half-man, half jackal and other abominations which the Egyptians worshipped as 'gods'.

Tutenkhamun's name means Long Life To A Man

1794

His was the only tomb not found and destroyed; his body-soul had a longer life than other souls because he could go back into his old dead corpse: and not be forced to morph his entity aura energy and become a morphed poisoned insane monster like all the others had become

The Egyptian god of creation has his fucking head in the sand. He has no name

So the Hebrews took this idea of creation, and invented a faceless god with no name as the creator of the world. But it is the same fucking god, the same unchanged fucking idea, the same old shit for thousands of years.

The Ankh was magic. Love was considered to be magic because reptiles do not understand warm-blooded mammalian instincts for love and kindness and sensitivity, reptiles hate being touched... Jesus was considered to be a magician. The myth of the ankle bone in European fable: the lowest of the low: being the most loving the most faithfully steadfast true love there is. And humans have crucified the lowest of the low for thousands of years in fear of this magic called love and in hate and in envy of it.

The ankh was once a universal weight for salt. Measured by the weight of an anchor: Anchor weight: salt formed in shapes of anchors: and later into the shape of a round slab with a hole in the middle. Salt of the Earth: became a staple drug to drag humans down into slavery: shrinking their blood vessels: creating an artificial high blood pressure: fooling the body into thinking that it was getting exercise: when it was not. The Egyptian Ankh was in the shape of a bronze axe: the first and most basic universal tool used by humans to create civilization by killing.

The meanings are clear: use a bronze axe to hack the ankles off humans so they do not walk anymore: freeze them into rotting docile sedentary lifestyles of squatting in one place for thousands of years without moving at all. Use salt as an anchor weight to drag humans down to the lowest level of ill health short of killing them outright: by putting salt into their food. Drag them down to the lowest level possible: sea level. Make them live in the lowest most noxious festering swamplands on earth. Make working in a salt mine: the lowest, most inhumane form of slavery in the world... that is, until they discovered gold: then gold became the lowest heaviest filth that dragged humans down to the lowest spiritual evil of bird-greed possible.

Bird culture is in our songs. Read the insane words of the rock classic: 'Stairway to Heaven'. The hierarchy is obvious: the corruption of the hierarchy is obvious. Roman Catholics bought their ticket to heaven by paying the church for it with gold... The classic Stairway to Heaven is merely a regression back to the middle ages of Europe: nothing more. Except it is couched in modern consumer terms. 'More than one meaning. It says in that song: words have more than one meaning. It hints at the evil behind what humans call heaven. Songs are now cryptic: there are so many permutations of possible interpretations to lyrics: that people have stopped even trying to figure them out or understand their true hidden meanings.

The main thrust of that song is... wonder... Then the song goes into an insane frenzy... the person who is going to heaven and rising in the hierarchy of insane bird culture becomes more and more insane... until he is killed for his crime... of wondering about such things. It is forbidden to wonder about anything in the realm of the undead. It is forbidden to ask questions. If you do: you will be attacked or ostracized.

The evil of the Gourd: the evil of accumulation had become so evil in ancient Egypt; that they hoarded grain, thousands of tones they did not need, and never used, that rotted for years and years until it created such a horde of pestilence and virulence: they were visited by plagues and death and sicknesses over and over... This evil made them worship the cat: it made them worship the same species that used to kill them in Africa: the predatory cats of Africa became worshiped in Egypt as domesticated cats that killed mice in their grain storage vaults: the vaults of greed and death. The Egyptians brought about their own diseases. All accumulated filth all accumulation created death by rotting organic living things that should be allowed to live instead of being killed and accumulated Bastet was sometimes called bast. She was the goddess of cats. She is a cat, or has the head of a cat, but originally she had the head of a lion ..

Every day the sun god Ra would travel in his ship across the sky. Every night the snake Apep tried to stop the sun god's ship on his journey through the underworld. Ra was usually won these battles. However, on stormy days, or during an eclipse, the Egyptians believed that Apep had been victorious and swallowed the sun. Bastet defended her father Ra against the snake. Bastet was the protectress of cats. The Ancient Egyptians had a great respect for cats since they protected the grain from mice and rats. Rats can also cause disease. Killing a cat was punishable by death. When a cat died, the family mourned it, shaving their eyebrows to mark their sadness. Cats were sometimes mummified, like people, and their mummies have been found.

Cats kill snake: again the HATE of all undead ancestral species against each other: lives on and is recreated and re-lived over and over because they poison living humans to repeat their age-old destructive insanity... When you do something again and again, the only ones who gain from this are undead filth.

RAGE is the sun: every day the sun rages over the desert hating the sinful humans: humans only understand the hate of the undead. They do not understand their fear and cowardice and cunning.

The Pharaohs of Egypt were incarnations of older Pharaohs: both female and male. The religion of Egypt saw their Pharaohs as living incarnations because the undead unseen filth that was once a living Pharaoh always sought to hide inside the living Pharaoh: and re-live his own unexperienced life over again. There is no difference between the eastern idea of reincarnation and the ancient Egyptian concept of incarnation: they come from the same reason and from the same source. Most Kings were also the high priest of their people. Kings were seen as living gods because all of the gods of their people resided inside the living body of the highest, most powerful figurehead of a people. People did not worship the living human who was king, or the living high priest who ruled them: they worshipped the gods that lived inside the living shell, the living host. It was these unseen undead insane things that made these kings mad. It was these undead unseen things that made high priests and kings and Pharaohs build mounds and pyramids for the dead. It was these unseen undead things that made living kings and priests invent religions based upon the worship of the undead, based upon obedience to the undead. It was these undead who created the idea of worshipping death. For a living human to worship death, is an act of insanity. It is spiritual suicide. It was the unseen undead that made living people commit insane acts, and have insane suicidal thoughts and suicidal feelings. It was they who made these rulers act irrationally. It has always been the unseen undead who force living humans to act irrationally and insanely. This has not changed yet except for me. For those who read this: it will change you also.

The reason the most powerful living humans have always been invaded and poisoned by the most evil undead is because precisely the sickest, and most traumatized, most corrupted living humans who died... are exactly the people who have least experienced their own lives fully, and have the greatest urge to re-experience their unexperienced lives.

People who have experienced their lives fully while they are alive... have no interest in re-living what they lived through at all. Once you experience something fully: once you go through an experience, and penetrate that experience completely: then you have no more motive or reason or urge to go through it again.

This is why the undead spirits that do violate the bodies and souls of living people are the most evil, most corrupt undead scum on earth. This is why they all must be killed.

The reason the most corrupted living people on earth always become the most insane evil undead auras is simple. When they were alive: they had the least power over their own lives because they were the most controlled by undead unseen things when they were alive, so after they died: their undeveloped subconscious soul still has the greatest need and desire to take control of its own life. Instead of taking control over its own aura, and killing the things that had poisoned and corrupted its aura while it was alive: it is so corrupt and insane and weak: that the auras that controlled it while it was alive: USE the blind, subconscious screaming need to control its own past life, to invade and poison and control another living soul. It is always the weakest and sickest human auras who are most successfully corrupted to become more and more corrupt.

The Permeation of Reptilian Bird Culture into Living Human Cultures

Every step bird living bird have ever taken upon this living earth: they have been forced to bow to the earth... the earth they hate and despise so much. Pecking at the earth they hate for untold millions of years. The closest birds come to human love is when they bond in pairs. The universal sign of birds bonding to each other is when they bow their heads. This is not love: it is a sign of reptilian submission. The origin of all humans bowing their heads is a sign of hierarchical submission to a higher power, authority and control. Every fucking priest, every fucking warrior, every fucking squire, every fucking knight, every fucking peasant, every fucking slave, every fucking servant, every fucking guest, every fucking waiter, who has ever bowed their head to another human being... has done so because for thousands of years: living human culture has been permeated by undead bird-reptilian culture. The concept of hierarchy does not come from humans. Mature living humans are egalitarian by nature. They must be brainwashed into it. The European symbol of human heart is actually a bird symbol. It does not represent the human heart. The human heart is not shaped like this:

1797

This is what the breast of a bird is shaped like. It is not the breast of a living human. It is a symbol that reptile-birds see as a sign of health for their progeny: The more powerfully developed the male bird's breast is: the more female birds are attracted to the shape. It shows them that the male has wing muscles more powerfully developed so their babies will be able to fly away earlier and they can get rid... rid of their babies as fast as possible. This is not a sign of human love. It is a reptilian sign of the splitting of reptilian hearts into insane hate-filled, fear-filled things who do not understand human love. Bowing and pecking are not signs of human love. They are signs of reptile birds pecking at each other in spite and irritation, in hate and fear. What are the pom-poms of cheerleaders? They wave them in front of their breasts to hide their breasts. Why? Because male birds are not attracted or interested in human breasts: they are interested in puffed up feathers. Because in bird culture: it is the male who puffs out his breasts to attract the female: not the other way around. Because for a male bird in rut: the twin full, ruffled ball of feathers of a female bird's ass is what attracts them to her when she exposes herself to him: not her breasts. Why has the ball in football changed over the years into the shape of an egg, and now a pointed egg? This is the evolution of human culture being poisoned by undead reptilian auras obsessed with aerodynamic design. These are cultural signs of how slowly and subconsciously, the undead filth of reptilian bird-culture slowly seeps into, and poisons living human culture as the unperceived cause of changing customs and traditions.

You can see the permeation of bird culture into human culture in the idea of streamlining. In the streamlined designs of airplanes, cars, motorbikes, bike helmets, bicycles, etc. Bird mentality is based upon the avoidance of direct resistance to everything. Only a bird that is conscious of the need for every feather to be perfectly streamlined so it can slip through the air with as little resistance as possible thinks like this. We were never meant to be aerodynamically designed because we do not have feathers and we do not fly through the air. The invention of humans sitting inside a mechanical bird does not come from humans. You can see bird culture permeating professional sports as more and more innovations are invented so bikers can fly higher and higher into the air, so skate boarders, so skiers and snowboarders can fly higher and longer up into the air. Bungee-cord jumping, para-sailing, gliders, etc. Evel Knievel flying across the Grand Canyon in a fucking motorbike and being almost killed because the ramps and his lift-off speed weren't perfectly synchronized; is just one example of human trying to act as if they are birds. His very name: pronounced Evil K-n-Evil exposes the evil living example he set for millions of children who injure themselves every year and waste their entire lives trying to do one stupid, dangerous, suicidal athletic 'trick'. The gentle parabolic curved landing and lift-off required for every single one of these acrobatic stunts is not flying: the tiny part of the trick that makes it seem they are flying an illusion. If the slightest thing goes wrong in any of attempt to pretend to be a bird: the person who is not a bird smashes to the ground and dies in agony.

European culture is permeated full: with inhuman, reptilian concepts and traditions and practices and assumptions and unspoken normalities. Like the idea of the human heart being split apart in two. Like the idea that only the top couple of any group is allowed... even allowed! to show affection in public: while all the others of the group must hide their affections for each other, and never show them. The cultural idea that only rich famous movie stars are allowed to find true love. The idea that only megalomaniacs and Emperors and Gods have passions and feelings while the masses of humanity have none. The idea that lower class humans are supposed to live in humble fear and terror and awe of the mighty, great rich few elite jerks. The idea that only a few special lucky adult males and females can experience love: in the form of sex: and nobody else is allowed to have any 'love' whatsoever. Actually what this is, is not love: it is merely a form of privileged fucking. If you are rich enough and have a good enough job and find a rich upwardly mobile spoiled brat of a female: and can afford to put down a mortgage selling your soul for the rest of your life to be in debt forever: then you can be legally married: and have your 'legalized sex'. However: all this legal sex is done behind closed doors in secret. All of this legal sex is done inside closed houses that exclude all other humans from this legal exclusive 'love' which is actually only legalized fucking, which all birds do once they have found a mate. Birds do not love each other: they just fuck once and that's it. All of these unspoken assumptions, all these customs and traditions of marriage/sex/love in Western human culture comes from undead birds merging themselves with living human auras...

The evil of Music

Music does not come from humans. Music is not a human culture. It is not as human invention. The reason the words in songs do not make any logical sense is because they are translated through the insane dyslexic split undead brains of undead birds. The lyrics of musical songs do not follow human logic. The reason all lyrics in music make no fucking human sense and are not logical rational and sane is because the medium itself is not human. We were not designed to sit on our asses and make sounds: that is what birds do: not humans. The entire culture of music is a culture that came from birds. Undead birds. Music was invented so you would do nothing but listen... so you will listen to them and obey them.

Italian culture has been poisoned by undead reptilian birds to such an extent that the Italian concept of love is not human: it is completely poisoned by the undead entities of birds. For instance the Italian so-called human love song 'VOLARE'; sung in partly in English, to the English speaking masses hides the inhuman meaning by singing the lyrics in Italian to millions of people who do not understand Italian. When the lyrics are translated, you can see how starkly the song is about birds: not humans at all. Volare in Italian means 'fly'. The song has nothing to do with human love. It is about birds: not humans.

Fly, oh oh
Sing oh oh oh oh
No wonder my happy heart sings
Your love has given me wings
Fly oh oh
And sing, oh oh oh oh

I think a dream like never return
I painted the hands and face blue
Then suddenly I was abducted by the wind
And I started to fly in the endless sky

Fly, oh oh
And sing, oh oh oh oh
In the blue, painted blue
Happy to be up there
And I flew, I flew happy more higher than the sun and even more on
As the world slowly disappeared far away over there

Soft music played only for me

Fly oh oh
And sing, oh oh oh oh
No wonder my happy heart sings
Your love has given me wings
In the blue, painted blue
Happy to be up there

Why do you think the music industry invented overdubbing? Because of the overpopulation of undead filth poisoning everyone with their invasive presence. Music is made by undead filth auras layering and overdubbing their undead auras over living people. What do you think rap music is? Mindless word-association drivel being spewed out of brainless shells who do not have a single original thought of their own. In order to be a rapper you must empty your mind and allow whatever drivel comes into your head to be droned out in a dead monotone mechanical obscenity that is a travesty of what music once was. It is actually the lowest, filthiest undead who fill the empty vacuum of these mindless human shells called rappers. What is rap music? It is a mechanical, droning, a screaming mechanical insanity by things that are not human; that is not music; that is the opposite of music. The undead poison and reverse everything that is beautiful and harmonious and melodious so it is as ugly and unharmonious and as boring as possible with no melody, no humanity. Mechanical screaming insane apes babbling their mechanical incomprehensible jargon in order to destroy human meaning, language and music. The undead actively destroy all beauty, all harmony, all creativity, all individuality. Rap music sounds exactly the same; you can't tell it apart; it has no human emotion, no human sensitivity. It is a product of the insanity of mass manufacturing: identical insane inhuman things churned out by a factory system of meaningless mindless conformity. This is because the newest wave of undead things that poison people are mechanical insane mutations abominations; these things are not human. This comes from their sucking off the non-living energy of electrical machines and electrical currents.

Human Enlightenment: Carrol and Stevenson

Humans have been given all the clues needed to uncover the truth of their own evil and the truth of all the evil of the past. I have cracked both the hidden and the obvious codes, and uncovered the truth and spoken and written it explicitly and in a way that no human can possibly twist or misrepresent or cover-up or whitewash or corrupt or poison. This is why this book is not for everyone; only those who search for truth will read this book. Only those humans who want to find the truth shall find it. When both truths coincide with each other. When both hidden and exposed truths coincide with each other: this proves that they are actually true. The more crosschecking you do, the more you will find that your truths coincide with what I have written here.

If you want to educate yourself about the true evil of undead entities: read the classics: in the historical order which they were actually written. Then research every historical period they are written in, and find out the proven facts. Then... re-read them... and you will see how every single 'classic' was written to cover-up the evil of the past and the evil of the culture and the era in which it was written.

The books Alice in Wonderland and Behind the Looking Glass; written f by Lewis Carroll or children, are full of undead entities violating living animals and speaking through them: disappearing and reappearing. The insanity of these books is the insanity of the undead that treat the living child's curiosity and logical mind as a joke, as something to be manipulated so she will never discover their secrets. Her voyage through the looking glass is a voyage through the subconscious mind. Her land of wonder is the land of dreams: the subconscious dreams she has when she is asleep. But the dreams are not wonderful: they are grotesque, ugly, parodies that are examples of how insane the undead that poison her mind and her being actually are. The mad queen, the mad hatter, the insane animals the characters; are all insane. Alice is the only one in the books who is sane. The two books of Lewis Carroll scream out the truth of undead entities violating and poisoning the subconscious minds and bodies of children with their unseen presence. He is telling you the only sane ones in our society re children who have not yet been corrupted and poisoned into the evils of adult culture.

Take Robert Louis Stevenson's classic: "Treasure Island"... as it exposes the olde evils of English piracy. English pirates were once honest robbers until they were outlawed and forced to hide their true identities. They wore their black evil tattoos on their skin. They wore their weakness and sickness out in the open. Most of them were cripples, missing legs, arms, hands, fingers, eyes, etc. All of them were addicted to alcohol: all of them were rum guzzlers, all of them never washed; all of them were poisoned by an insane lust for gold. Most of them were hoarders; most of them came to a bad end. Most of them died before they could enjoy their ill-gotten loot.

The book Treasure Island screams out the hidden truth of the undead auras poisoning the human wreckage: the first impression Jim has of Long John Silver... is of him: hopping about like a bird. The story is a story of how an innocent young good child is fooled and seduced by the most evil negative human adults becoming his role models and stealing their way by wiles and cunning into his affections. The undead hate good innocent young souls. Jim is poisoned from the start by his relationship with Silver. The whole story is a story of being poisoned by the love for silver and gold. The voyage is poisoned from the start by greed. Jim's relationship with Long John and his relationship with money are the one and the same. He admits it to himself; Even though he knows it's no good: he is fond of it: both of money and of Long John Silver.

The story is the story of new greed washing out the old more honest greed: how whitewashed 'gentleman' and 'squires' all dumb and deaf to the old evil pirates all around them take a trip to steal all of the hidden pirate treasure legally. It is a book of how to legalize robbery. Pirates are not allowed to enjoy the fruits of their labor: but the highest class of robber in England the landed gentry can and did rob everyone including the pirates of their treasure 'legally'. This is the moral and ethical sticking point which the book sells. It is awful for honest pirates to kill and rape and loot and steal and rob and hoard their evil treasure... but it is perfectly fine! And legal for rich upper class Whigs and doctors to go seek out where these poor, lower class illegal thieves and robbers hid their treasure and claim it for themselves... So the robbers who risked their lives to gain that gold have no 'legal' claim to their hard-earned wealth! But rich elite who did not risk their lives and did not earn that gold... somehow DO have a legal, more ethical right to that blood money! The idea of returning the money to those who had been robbed is conveniently answered, since the pirates killed everyone they robbed... so the moral of the story is: the secret to instant riches is: take no risk, do not earn your riches: let others do your killing and robbing for you... and then make these dangerous rascals into criminals unable to spend their gold in public, and then steal their gold from them without any worries. So you profit from all of their killing and robbing, while they get nothing but the short-end of a noose around their necks; hanged in the public square as a warning to any poor soul who dares to be as greedy as the upper class elite are. Who is the new burgeoning upper class elite in Stevenson's book? It is the new upper class of the gentry set: the English bourgeoisie: the middle class doctor and middle class gentry: the squire Trelawney, and Dr. Livesy.

1801

Who is Squire Trelawney? He is the newer Law outlawing the older Pirate Law of the English sailing culture: a bluff fool easily duped by Silver. He is the new law which makes robbing pirate treasure legal and outlaws all the pirates who stole the treasure he is 'legally' stealing from them, because they have no right to their own treasure... huh? The stolen treasure is illegal... huh? But once-removed from the crime... it suddenly becomes 'legal'

Having someone steal that stolen treasure from a pirate makes the stealing of the stolen treasure all legal and above-board...

What!? That is money laundering. Knowingly Dealing in stolen goods is supposed to be illegal today... but not in those days when corruption was more naked.

It wasn't money laundering: because in England: pirates had no rights whatsoever. They were hunted down and killed off and shunned by the society which bred them. This is how the rich gull the poor. This is how they steal from the poor. By inventing illogical immoral unethical obvious hypocrisies and turning them into 'customs' 'laws' which are sustained and upheld by the richest and mightiest of that land whom none dare question or challenge.

The point is... separate the crime from the profiteer enough. Insulate the profiteer from the original crime which stole that treasure enough... Wait long enough until anyone who once owned that hoard of gold is long dead... and anyone can 'legally' claim it for themselves by the even older law of 'finders-keepers'. Whoever finds it first gets to keep it because they had no hand in the crimes which were committed to steal all that treasure. This is the convenient evil cunning self-serving amoral ethic of human greed and avarice at work. Decent honest people who have not been corrupted by the lust for riches and gold and treasure: the majority of humanity would never even bother with such a venture, and never venture to seek this filthy blood-geld in the first place. Stevenson sells the idea the assumption... that the only kind of adventure there is in all of life!... is the obsessive pursuit of greed and avarice. Is stealing other people's gold from them as adroitly and as cunningly and as safely as possible. That there is no other thing in life which is adventurous except the lowest filthiest scum killing-lying-cheating each other all for a few pounds of useless dead metal. Which speaks to the entire culture of robber baron capitalism: the only adventure in their filthy lives is the motivation of pure greed: Venture Capitalism: just out to make a quick buck; greed is the only adventure which exists.

This is one of the filthiest lies Stevenson ever invented. All of LIFE is an adventure. But it is only an adventure IF you have the Courage to explore LIFE. If all you have is a larcenous heart filled with avarice; then you are dead inside: you have never lived and you will never know what true adventure is. This is what western myths, from the Ring of the Nibelung, to the tales of King Arthur and his court had warned of and exposed as being evil

Who is Dr. Livesy? He is the newer evil killing off the old evil... but the old evil refuses to die: pure cunning is hard to kill: and Silver escapes free and clear... to commit more evil. Who is Long John Silver? He is the long, long history and legacy of hundreds of years of English piracy, and the lust for silver

And at the end of the book? He is wished well by Jim the innocent boy, who is not mature enough to recognize evil when he sees it.

The story is the same as all other human stories: evil is made out to be likable. Evil, lying, back stabbing, filth: are made out to be likable scoundrels: until they become loved by all generations who read these fucking stinking books. Until all mass murderers are loved: until Hitler is loved and Stalin is loved... Until every killer and rapist and liar and cheat and filthy cunning greedy human corrupt filth is loved... that is the only reason these fairytale books have been written. If you ever personally got to know an English pirate and found out who he actually is: you would vomit on his soul. If you ever got to know an English sailor: you would vomit on the ugliness of his homosexual filthy secret sodomizers: because such evil filth wear their evil on their faces: they faces are ugly as ugly as sin... but in fiction? In fairytales lies? They are turned into handsome, lovable, likable heroes. The most crippled, the most cunning liar of all becomes the HERO of the book.

In the story: every honest man is systematically killed off until the entire ship is a den of thieves: the upper class thieves versus the lower class of thieves: and in the middle of this human filth the innocent boy is given his living examples from which to set his own fatherless life by. A boy lacking a father; yearning for some father figure to look up to... and all the honest men he is made to dislike intensely before they are killed off. THIS is how young innocent impressionable minds of children can be quickly and easily brainwashed and twisted when they are told to read the 'classic' tales of literature. Especially when these 'classics' are held up as the epitome of the finest writing of all humankind and are sanctified and worshipped and lauded and admired and preserved and perpetuated until their stink is so foul: nobody reads them anymore because their foulness is so old and obsolete, it is not relevant to the present age and culture anymore.

Stevenson's Long John Silver was given a new life as a fictional character: on the BBC in the 1950's. But not as he was shown to be in the book. Instead... he was glamorized, his entire persona was reversed. Instead of being the wicked evil villain, he became 'da good guy'. He was portrayed as being the lifelong friend of a young boy named Jim... as he lived with his widowed mother taking care of the tavern; where all the ugly cripples, the one-eyed filth, the retired poor starving Olde Pirates went to drink their last pennies away rather than buy anything to eat...

So 100 years after the book was written... in a TV series, the truth is yet again whitewashed over> and the true villain of the book: the true enemy of Jim the boy... Long John Silver... who if he had had his way in the book: would have gotten his filthy lucre, and then killed the boy and sailed off without an ounce of remorse... becomes in the TV show... Jim's closest friend. And becomes the HERO. The OREH, THE EVIL AURA triumphing over good, and glorying in his hidden unseen evil. By reversing the perception of evil, and turning evil into a perceived good.

Who was the 'hero' who designed all of the machines that now make civilization work? The Hero of Alexandria. The AURA of AIRDNAXELA the AURA of AIR D NAXELA Naxela is An Evil reptilian bird aura who poisoning the living human called 'hero'. Evil is seemingly changed into good. How? By brainwashing humans into believing that all evil things are good and all good things are evil. What is aird? Erred: All things coming from the higher reptilian air species are ERRORS, are the past mistakes of reptilian birds. They erred. In their ways. They lived in the air. They lived in error. They still do. They lived in error and terror. What is Naxela? It is the evil aura who made sure that the Hero of Alexandria made the worst errors possible. It is A SINGLE Negative AXE: the killing beak of a bird... reversed. It is the worst evil ever invented: the AXLE the negative vicious cycle of mechanical insanity repeating itself over and over. It is A single Negative AXEL. A vicious cycle; the perpetuation of evil.

Chapter Seven: Entities and the Alternative

1803

The villain of Stevenson's book becomes the hero of BBC television. Evil is portrayed as good. Evil is whitewashed over and over and over.

The evil antagonist: is whitewashed and turned into a protagonist. Evil is hidden and given a reversed name and a reversed meaning,

Why did the BBC do this?

Because Historically: he is actually less evil than the rich powerful Governor of the colony of Port Royal is: (Oh yes... for those who never saw this series on TV: the TV series magically spirits Jim out of England and places him in the Caribbean, and places his tavern in the most corrupt rotten English Port of that era In the Caribbean: Port Royal: in Hispaniola... where the English Crown first legalized private butchery and killing by the masses as a 'carte blanche' of legal activity during their many wars against Spain... and then when the wars were over, they hunted down these once 'legalized killers, and robbers and made illegal criminals out of them: because they were inconveniently interfering with the rich wealthy lords and ladies becoming even richer during times of no war....A port that was filled with old retired pirates, a port so full of English evil: it was washed away twice: in two landslides and volcanic eruptions and wiped off the map... it no longer exists: everything of Port Royal is at the bottom of the sea: buried under the ocean: as all of the evil deeds the English committed were buried under the ocean: as they dumped all evidence of their crimes into the sea... so nobody could see what they had done. The earth itself destroyed Port Royal: because even the earth could not stand its filthy existence any longer. This was one historical hypocrisy which the TV series pointedly made it its business to expose... which the book itself never did... The historical fact that Livesy and all of his type and those of his class: were actually more evil than Long John Silver ever was. Long John Silver has less power than the Governor, or Livesy and the rich elite English whitewashed red-coated white-wigged filth who were the new Evil of legalized corruption. Who made it their business to stamp out the old style of honest killers and raider and murderers by calling them Pirates instead of Privateers: because they were giving them a bad name. Because the old pirates were not as stupid as the commoners on land. Because they were whispering to the dumb as a post commoners about how they are being fooled and robbed and taken advantage of, because they know evil when they see it because they are evil also, and would have done the same to the commoners only they were never given the chance to rob them legally: they had to do it illegally as legalized temporary private pirates for hire and for greed only.. Because they started a new business, an illegal one called: smuggling. Goods into England that were supposed to be taxed or were forbidden outright. Creating an entire underground economy at the expense of the Crown's profits, and thumbing their noses at legalized corruption and legalized authority.

The 1950's back & white TV series of Long John Silver is long gone and covered up and never shown in public anymore because it exposes too much historical truth about how truly evil England actually was: and still is

Who is Dr. Livesy?

He is central to the entire plot of Treasure Island. Nothing could have happened without him: he weakens the old pirate at just the right moment: so he cannot escape the Olde comrades after him looking for the map to the treasure. He is the one who sends help so the buccaneers are foiled in finding Jim and his mother, he instantly organizes the entire adventure, a secret cabal between the squire himself and Jim: as a secret council to run and get rich fast before anyone else does it!! So they can all become fat! And gouty red faced corrupt Olde English landlords living off their ill-gained gold and living in ease for the rest of their life while beggars starve to death in front of them and they do not give one cent to help any of the poor.

Spell his name backwards: and you have the new evil exposed

Livesy is evil spelled backwards

Ysevil... why See EVIL???

WISE EVIL?

Evil is portrayed... as a wise doctor. As the wisest of the wise...

Write a book about evil. And cover it up and reverse all values in it: turning GOOD into evil and evil into GOOD. For children. Pretending that all the evil in the book does not exist. Why see long john silver and the back stabbing murderous filthy cunning bastard he actually was. Make him likable. Why see the squire as a fat stupid greedy pig? Why see Livesy as the cold inhuman new wave of 'scientific' detached human filth selling more sick ways for humans to die from as a 'doctor'... by draining the blood of a sick person so they die from lack of blood? The Olde pirate died because he tried to stand up after being bled almost empty of blood... all his blood went into his feet and legs... his heart went empty of blood because Livesy the new cunning evil that has managed to hide evil as live!! Is selling people new poisons that actually kill them faster; than if they never had taken them: the new evil... Modern Medicine: the up and coming new drug Age of legalized drugs... legal drugs are good for you! Illegal drugs are bad for you! Legal greed is good for you! Illegal greed is bad for you! The new-age robber the new rationalizing evil so cold blooded and so stupid: Livesy cannot recognize a 40-year old one-legged pirate with only one eye when he sees one. It takes an innocent boy to open his eyes to the true evil of Silver's plot to kill all of the rich and escape with the treasure and go hide somewhere in Spain with the ship the Hispaniola: the oldest pirate robbers of all the Spanish pirates... which the English were only the last wave: who began robbing the robbers

That is the romance of England: hooded robbers; hoods who are robbers: bird auras hiding inside them: robbers robbing robbers who are even worse than they are. Their only tiny excuse of moral superiority? They were not as bad as the Earl of Nottingham? As the Spanish pirates? They were fucking worse. The historical true story of Henry Morgan: is the true story of evil triumphing and succeeding so well: he became an English governor. Evil incarnate: the olde and the new evil combined. He rose to the top and became a legally greedy bastard and was legally pardoned and whitewashed of all his atrocities and crimes and sins.

Why see any evil in this book?

Why see any evil anywhere in any book?

Why see any evil in any history of human civilization?

Cover it all up, whitewash it, turn it into a pack of lies and cover-ups and fantasy bullshit fairytales that not even a child believes is actually true.

That is the true hidden evil of this book: this book sells the idea: that you do not have to see evil as actually being evil: after all the crimes and evil intentions and lie and cover-ups and cunning filthy cold blooded greed...

Long John Silver is bid a fond farewell by all and sundry at the end of the book. HE sails complacently... away with his parrot. The only companion he has... is a bird!!

1804

The Path of Splitness

1805

If you ever met someone who loves birds, if you ever meet someone whose only companion is a BIRD. They are completely evil. They are evil filth.

In the book: Silver speaks of his parrot. He tells Jim:

“Now that Bird is, maybe, two hundred years old, Hawkins- they lives forever mostly and if anybody’s seen more wickedness, it must be the Devil himself. She’s sailed with England, the great Cap’n England, the pirate. She’s been at Madagascar, and at Malabar, and Providence, and Portobello. She was at the fishing up of the wrecked plate ships. It’s there she learned ‘Pieces of eight’. And little wonder, three hundred and fifty thousand of ‘em Hawkins! She was at the boarding of the Viceroy of the Indies out of Goa, she: and to look at her you would think she was a babby. But she smells powder-- didn’t you Cap’n?”

What is the parrot screaming? It is screaming how undead entities REVERSE human intentions, how these parasites REVERSE perceptions of good and evil: tuning the perception of GOOD into evil and the perception of evil into good; just like its beak turns around and reverses its direction. Silver’s parrot is screaming how Long John Silver is being used and manipulated by undead reptilian bird auras to become a mythic icon, an mythic HERO-OREH who successfully reverses all decent human morals and values in this evil book. Stand by to go about: means changing the direction of your boat... but still using the same wind: coming from the same direction.

How could this fictitious character known as ‘Silver’... have known about the 200 hidden years of that birds past life, eh? Who told him what this parrot went through before he got the bird, eh? A psychic? Bullshit. Every single major find of treasure in English naval history: this evil insane gloating reptilian aura was there by using this bird and somehow, silver knows exactly where it was and what it saw and did and learned? Huh??

Silver screams out the truth: that the evil aura inside this bird: lives forever. “They lives forever mostly”

A parrot 200 years old: a parrot that had lived through the entire pirate era of England and represents the piracy of England herself: sailing with the most famous pirate of all: Cap’n England.

And why does this ‘SILVER’ CALL this parrot: ‘Cap’n’??? Because the evil filthy undead unseen aura that lived vicariously inside the human shell, known as ‘Cap’n England’, liked to be called by that name. And this bird... was obsessed with finding treasure, and being there when treasure was found. And counting out all the coins one by one until it knew exactly how many coins were recovered.

A bird that looks like a ‘babby’ it looks so young: loving the smell of gunpowder... loving death, always being where people kill each other over their lust for shiny objects. Evil penetrating into babies early: poisoning young souls like the baby soul of Jim... This is not a coincidence. The undead convict themselves in their own words over and over

The bird lover, the inhuman thing called “Long John Silver’ that does not care one fig about boys or other humans, sails off to new adventures. Sailing off to new horizons as pretty as you please... the villain becomes the most memorable and likable character in the entire book> All the others fade into insignificance including Jim the innocent boy. The evil murdering rapist cripple of a killer-lying conniving filthy filth is turned around: and reverses the order of all human ethics and morals in one short fucking book... and become the new hero of the new modern age, the new whitewashed Olde romanticized villain... who has since then: been romanticized to the point of insanity: until you want to vomit on the filthy pictures of likable killers rapists and evil greedy filth like the pictures of captain Morgan on rum bottles, etc... why is he called long john silver? Because the story of English greed goes back a long way... all the way to the first john of England: the first reversal of English history: honest john: who was actually the most dishonest filthy liar who ever lived:

Who is Silver?? Reverse the word: and the evil is exposed.

Revlis: reve is dream in French... lis: dreamless: never sleeping. The poisoned brain of a human who has been taken over by a never-sleeping bird aura... that poisons the human subconscious so completely: it does not feel any guilt, or any human emotions whatsoever: as long as it is alive and after it dies also... the hidden semantic meaning name signifies that the living person who had it: was corrupted and poisoned by human evil spirits, and completely manipulated by reptilian bird auras.

The book is selling greed to the entire literate world of children growing up who wanted to have adventure and romance: it is the selling of old evil and artfully turning the old evil of piracy... into a whitewashed modern good of myth, a fairytale of treasure hunting and instant wealth. Whee! I'm instantly filthy rich!! I will live happily ever after! I will never be poor again! I am now legally rich! Instead of illegally rich. I am approved by the authorities! I have gotten my wealth legally! The Magistrate himself. The Doctor himself legalized it! Arranged it for a poor little innocent boy to become rich!

And nobody squabbled over the millions of pounds sterling after they reached England again? Nobody tried to steal part of it for themselves? No lawsuits were filed? No envious hating people muttered under their breath giving him evil looks for the rest of his fucking life because he had been so fortunate and so lucky and they had not? No reality of what really would have happened to any human when they suddenly become rich is spoken of...?

The book ends as a fairytale> everyone is supposed to live happily ever after becoming instantly wealthy. It begins as a poem: a wishful nostalgia for the olden days. But it never ever speaks of the true horror and ugliness and crazed insanity of the human filth that lived and committed the crimes and atrocities that even when only stated as bald facts... make you sick to your stomach just trying to imagine what they actually did and how they actually lived.

Just as Ivanhoe was a whitewashing of the entire medieval era: so too was Treasure Island a whitewashing of an entire era of English naval piracy: an era that was so evil: it covered the world in its filthy practices and spread its evil cultures all over the earth as a spreading virus of pure fucking evil. What is an era? An era is the evil of combined errors created by auras over a period of 1,000 years, or 100 years: Billions of empty holographs: empty souls, zeroes, auras poisoning the lives and bodies of living human beings; era... are, get it? Pronounce era backward and you have aura; these undead things exist: they ARE, they are everywhere.

This is what Ivanhoe is all about... selling children a fantasy of historical lies. In this book it sells children on the idea of... 'Hey! All this greed is not 'evil''! All of this is...? Lies and lies and lies and evil is? Just 'adventuresome evil greedy pigs killing each other for money. That's all! Hey. That's not evil!! That's adventure!

Turn the actual evil mastermind of the entire book around backwards and you have exposed the code that the human subconscious uses. Spell keywords backwards: and you will discover an entire hidden world of corrupting and evil hiding in the English language, and in every other civilized language.

Livesy is a cover-up of reversed evil

Live see

See what?

Nothing!

Pretend you see nothing!

Y- s - evil

Why see evil?

Livesy was blind to the evil of Long John Silver. He was blind to the evil of gold. He thought going after gold treasure was a good thing. He was blind to everything.

Why is evil so writhing and cunning that it always manages to slither away before it is caught and killed outright, eh? Why did Silver escape death and hanging? Because evil lives inside good: because Silver managed to get inside the good graces of Jim the boy. Because evil always goes for the truly good and tries to corrupt them before they find out they have been corrupted and keep them blind to it forever, so they will not be found out and killed outright.

If Silver had not managed to corrupt Jim: he would not have escaped: evil tries to make itself loved by all good people by hiding inside them. Silver managed to hide inside Jim... by getting the boy to become greedy not for the gold. Just the silver. That's all. The boy just takes his 'fair share' of silver. And lets the other real greedy adult filth have all the gold. Long John Silver corrupts the boy by paying more attention to him than all of the good people in the book by giving him the artificial sweetness of fake love and fake respect. All children are corrupted by the artificial sweetness of sugar: which they buy not with gold coins, but with Silver. Who did Stevenson dedicate his forward to? To an anonymous American; who had once regaled him with tales of American robbery and evil, and laughed about it as good fun. He does not name this unknown person. He invented the evil practice of anonymous dedications.

Why? So nobody could blame the person for inspiring it? He invented a new kind of cowardice and secrecy. Never telling anyone who inspired his books, never telling anyone who inspired him... Huh? Oh... so if you meet an inspirational person who is so special: you write a book because of them: that person should be hidden and shrouded in secrecy and anonymity? Hide all the wise good inspiring people on earth! Don't let anyone know who they are! Keep the most inspiring people you have ever known a fucking secret from all humanity. FUCK his stinking filthy idea of hiding everything, and keeping everything secret. It is an evil custom that creates generations of filthy stinking rotten secretive lying cowards.

Who is Livesy?

Livesy is the turning around of all English morals and culture. Come about! The parrot screams. It is screaming of the turning of illegal practices into legal practices. It is the reversal of all human decency. It is the turning of decency into evil and evil into decency. It is a mirage, a fake, a propaganda trick that is perpetrated. No matter how much you try to turn them into fairytale romantic lovable scoundrels: Killers and rapists and pirates cannot be whitewashed. They remain human evil filth. Magistrates and Doctors cannot be whitewashed: they remain cunning, detached poisoned human souls.

Why see evil in legal robbery? It's not illegal.

Y s evil?

Why is evil cunning like an s... a slithering snake???

Because all evil avoids forthrightness
Because all evil avoids direct honesty

Which is?? The story of all original evil: the snake in the bible: getting eve to commit a sin and then blaming her for it and all females for it for hundred of thousands of years... as an excuse. Just so the true evil will not be found out: and killed at the root.

That is who Livesy is: see no evil, speak no evil, hear no evil... the blind deaf dumb fucking idiots parents raise: by having their children read this shit and telling them that its good stuff, the best literature there is. A classic!! Vintage literature! True art! True romance, true history! True! Good admired Fun!

See nothing but treasure! Which is exactly what the parrot sees. Shiny baubles, jewels gold coins. The parrot is permanently insane. The parrot is not concerned about humans dying. It loves to feed off dying souls, it loves seeing treasure. Ignore all of the evil that surrounds the entire story from beginning to end and see only treasure. The parrot-entity is insane. It ignores its own evil. Riches! That is who 'Livesy' is: Livesy is a cover-up; he is covered up and whitewashed by sacred authority and sacred secret scientific knowledge as both a doctor and a magistrate. He can do no wrong. He is god incarnate. A blind stupid gullible idiot of a god... but still a god: he represents the highest English ethics and morals of all England; the fair generous greedy rich nobility...The fairytale good nobleman. The good king, the good knight... the good high mighty example of what is good!!! These fiction fairytale inventions never fucking ever existed in the fucking human species as actual human beings. They do not exist: except in myth and lies and cover-ups and propaganda...

Who is Livesy? It is the evil unseen undead reptilian parrot-bird auras hiding inside human living bodies... hiding cunningly inside them. Living off human evil, feeding off human evil.

What is the parrot? The parrot is the foreteller of the next wave of human evil that will consume the entire earth in its insanity. Pieces of eight! Pieces of ate! Consumerism gone insane... pieces of hate, hate, hate. Hundreds of thousands of millions of billions of undead insane unseen auras full of hate poisoning living human souls.

What is the definition of vomit? Pieces of eight-pieces of hate-pieces of ate. Where did gold come from? From volcanoes vomiting up poisonous indigestible material that would other wise have killed it.

Evil exists as an addiction to consume. If you want to get rid of the evil inside you: you have to vomit up these evil entities from your guts and your inner self.

What is Dr. Livesy? He is the same evil as the parrot on silver's shoulder: his familiar: the parrot reversing all human values using long john silver... and using Livesy also to do it: By changing how ordinary people in England lived. By reversing their values and thoughts and actions. By reversing all the morals they had been taught. Cover up greed with legality and authority: institutionalize the greed that only filthy back stabbing black pirates once carried in their hearts: and spread the evil of the lust for gold amongst the masses of the poor: by giving an example of how the rich powerful 'doctors' and 'magistrates' and 'squire'... become even more filthy rich... by stealing the well-earned spoils of the old dying generation of black hearted filth: the old seadogs of the English pirate era from them, and sending them to hell penniless, while the nouveau riche wallow in their ease and ill-gotten gains.. And by-the-by... also successfully corrupt a young impressionable boy: and turn him into the worst whitewashed evil filth there can be: a human who never earns what they have and steals it from others who stole it from others, who stole it from others,, etc... and the ones who actually did dig up the filthy gold, the slaves who died and the poor who slaved at making all of the wealth that Jim is bestowed with under the filthiest of filthy pirate thief ethics: finders keepers> Making sure Jim will cling to his unearned treasure and live a useless easy evil life and never endure any true hardship ever...

And... Jim's father dies: just when he is needed most to guide Jim and keep him from falling in with the filth of the old killers and rapists, and the filth of the new generations of rich English landlords: who successfully legalized their evil greed into elite customs. Who is the family that spawns such an evil boy? An innkeeper's family: the lowest of the low class new breed of greed filth: selling rotgut liquor to get rich fast off the poor sodden downtrodden workers of England and all the starving out of work sailors and pirates... the book assumes that an innkeeper is a legally good person. When in fact: all the innkeepers of all human history have been envied and hated: and their evil well-known to those who lived near them. There is no such thing as a 'good innkeeper' or an 'honest innkeeper' Stevenson whitewashes so much evil in this one book: that his magically turns every evil that was known to be evil for hundreds and thousands of years before that book was written... into a whitewashed 'good'.

The book is a race for gold: it is a grubbing, greedy story of slaving human filth; fighting each other, betraying each other, and killing each other over gold and gems and wealth. All of which are useless to us. It is a story that birds love: birds love shiny objects that sparkle and glitter. It is a fairytale lie, a fantasy bullshit of someone getting rich instantly and easily... and not being corrupted by it at all: it is packed with lies and brainwashing deceptions and untruths..., in order to whitewash the new generation of legally greedy humans: Stevenson had to blacken the evil of the old generation of illegally greedy humans. This one hypocrisy is so blatant in this story: the story itself is a bore: the only person who is not corrupted or comes to a bad end in it... is the one who does not want the money: the only reason Jim escapes harm is because he is just along for the adventure. Not for the gold. The story is one that warns young people to beware of nice false fronts. Young people who have no lust to get rich quick: lose interest in the book and throw it away. It is a book that draws evil people to it: by promising them adventure: and instead giving them double-dealing, conniving, secrecy, cowardice, betrayal, plotting, secrets plans to kill other people, evil, hate, filth, and corruption.

Treasure Island is a treasure trove of hidden key words and key insights that explain why we humans are so evil. Books known as classics; have keywords and hidden universal truths that explain the secrets of our hidden covered up past, and make our past history understandable.

For instance: Why does Long John Silver call his parrot by more than one name? And why does he call him Cap'n Flint?

The answer lies in Africa: and 25 million of volcanic eruptions. I have written another book called: 'Children of the Volcano' which deals partially with how we humans evolved from the eruptions of volcanoes. The reason Silver calls his parrot Cap'n FLINT is because: FLINT is one of the hidden secrets to our past, just as the parrot on his shoulder whispering hate into his ear all the time is. It explains why the volcanoes in Africa kept on erupting, and re-erupting over and over again for 25 million years so regularly. Every time a volcano stopped erupting: it became capped...By Negative material, called FLINT. CAP 'N' FLINT... CAP negative energy of volcanoes with FLINT. The volcanoes listened to the negative messages of flint, and exploded in hate. What this did: was to make the volcanoes of Africa explode over and over again from the ignition sparks of flint in its mantle and in its volcanoes. As a result, it exploded this negative material known as flint: all over Africa. What this did: was that the monkeys and apes that survived the holocausts of burning fire and black smoke for 25 million years... came to recognize this glittering material called FLINT: and worshipped it: because the undead bird-reptile unseen entities hiding inside them: found these shining and glittering things after an eruption as part of what the volcano spewed out... inordinately appealing, because retarded birdbrains are attracted to shiny objects.

Thus: humans recreated volcanoes by using flint and creating fire and burning down trees and forests for millions of years. And so European humans crated cannons and gunpowder: trying to recreated the black clouds of death and the flashing ignition of FLINT hitting combustible gases trapped under the negative CAP of FLINT: that prevented volcanoes from becoming intense enough to do their job properly: which was to create such hardship in Africa: that our ancestors would have been forced to stand up to volcanoes instead of worshipping volcanoes: our ancestors would have been forced to fight them. And that would have changed the entire history of the earth.

The history of the inorganic baby earth: is the same as the history of the organic earth: both of them are histories of premature birth.

The reason why certain books have become classics is because they are signposts of their age. The truths in them are both exposed and buried. The truths in them are both glittering and hidden.

The pre-history of the inorganic baby earth: its traumatic premature birth: its father flinging her away before she was ready to be born: is connected to the inorganic baby earth creating volcanoes. The traumatic pre-history of the Inorganic Baby Earth is connected to the organic prehistory of the human species traumatic past. The classic: Treasure Island gives up a hidden treasure lying in an empty cave: the treasure of flint... in the empty, caps of long dead volcanoes: helps to explain why apes found a way to make fire in Africa. This helps to explain why apes and monkeys in Africa for 25 million years... worshipped volcanoes and valued the negative material known as flint.

After every explosion: birds: birds of death: carrion birds: vultures, Ravens, Crows... came back to these areas of devastation: and hunted and pecked at the shiny pieces of flint... which the destructive volcanoes of the Inorganic Baby Earth had vomited up. These blackened pieces of glittering rock called flint: were just as shiny as their black feathers that glittered and shone. This gave the apes and monkeys of Africa the mistaken impression that these insane birds of death: the stupidest, dumbest birdbrains alive: were returning to worship the devastation of Volcanoes and pecking at this material called flint. Calling attention to it: showing them that it was a special material that came from the volcanoes: giving the monkeys and apes of Africa the mistaken impression that it was only the pyramidal apex of the volcano which was important enough to be worshipped: not the rest of the volcano.

Gold exploded out of volcanoes in Africa. Glittering pieces of gold and gold dust. Insane reptilian birds: pecking At this shiny material of inorganic death... once hidden deep in veins under the earth: pieces of ate, eight: gold coins cut into eight pieces. When you connect the facts: it all makes sense.

The insane rush of insane black carrion birds of death flying back to where a volcano exploded... eager to gorge themselves on the rotting cooked flesh of dead burn animal flesh: animals and plants: that were roasted, parboiled, fried in their own lard, boiled to death plants that were cooked in water, dead cooked plants and cooked dead flesh of dead animals, all mixed up together...

The surviving monkeys and apes of Africa for 25 million years: seeing this gold rush of black birds: the highest living things on earth in Africa at that time: returning as quickly as they could to the devastated lands that Exploding volcanoes created... and?

Suddenly instead of pecking at the dead flesh and dead cooked plants... the carrion reptiles began insanely pecking at the gold that the volcano had exploded out upon the land. These insane reptilian things began pecking at and eating: gold dust the oldest dust in the world. And going insane from it. Poisoning themselves so badly that they died from it.

Giving monkeys and apes in Africa the mistaken impression

That gold was more sacred than life. That eating pieces of eight: pieces of gold: is more valuable than eating pieces of cooked dead flesh and cooked plants, that pecking at flint was a sacred way of worshipping volcanoes.

And voila. Guess what. A monkey sees a bird peck at a flint: and sees a spark come from it. The monkey chases the bird away and picks up the flint. But does not see the spark. It is puzzled by this. When the monkey sees black birds pecking at a piece of flint: he sees a glint of yellow gold. Monkeys begin to pick up flint and look for the sacred yellow sparks of the volcano they have come to worship. Monkeys come to worship black bird that can make golden sparks come from the flint. Monkeys pick up shiny objects flung out by volcanoes. They try to make sparks come from the flint like the black birds did. And what is the best way to get a spark from a piece of flint? By striking it against a piece of gold. A glint of gold fire coming from a golden glinting dead yellow material called gold when it strikes piece of flint: hinting at the fire it was made from, the fire of the volcanoes of Africa. Artificial fire is born. The artificial ability of monkeys to create artificial fire is created. The lust to find gold is created. The sacredness of gold and fire is created. The pre-historical past explains why we still hunt for gold and diamonds, kill for it and believe it is more important than anything else on earth.

English culture is permeated with undead reptile-bird culture: the slang term for the male penis is pecker: A blind bird beak pecking at something it wants to get into. Pecker. Peck AT her. Peck her to death. Kill her with your beak. Use your penis as a blind tool of hate: rape females sexually. The sick English-European culture of sex as a separate, dirty thing used to hate, in secret. Undead bird-reptile auras do not understand human life energy. They poison living human males to have sex. They have created a sick inhuman, culture where sex is the only thing a man is supposed to do to a woman.

Who is Long John Silver? He is the lower class corruption of the blind lust for silver: not for gold, the lust for gold was reserved for the upper class; the lower classes were not allowed to own any gold: they were only allowed to own silver. Who is Long John? He is a blind male pecker, poisoned by unseen, undead auras: one-legged pecking reptile-bird auras. An English pirate who has no use for human females except to stick his pecker into them. A cripple, an ugly horrible distorted evil gargoyle of a man. His one leg is his pecker. He is a crippled freak: impotent, incapable of love, a walking male penis. He kills with his dead pecker: his crutch. As the cunning coward he is: he is a backstabber, He kills from behind: never up front.

All these hidden meanings... buried in one book: Treasure Island. A treasure of buried insights. A subtle treasure of the land of the 'I' ... and its hidden Snake evil and its snake cunning.

It is a wistful, nostalgic look at the days of honest black evil and honest black piracy: when the coasts of England developed cultures of piracy: when Englishmen and England as a culture and as a Nation: raped robbed murdered killed and stole...: as a normal way of life that became a hollowed tradition, an unspoken custom, an accustomed way of living. And the new generation 'legalized' greed' is a boring time to live in.

England has forever since that time of honest evil: hearkened back to it, and envied the black filth their 'adventures', their 'excitement' as they raided and stole in the dead of night: to burn and kill and rape innocent humans in their lust for wealth, in the lust to get rich quick... and in the psychotic insane hatred of all living things and all humans, and the fear of all truth. They buried their treasure: because they were trying to cover up what they had done to get it. They buried their treasure: because their consciences were still fucking honest enough to not allow them to enjoy their filthy wealth. The few English pirates who did not die at sea and were not caught and hanged: died before they could enjoy their wealth. Because they got it by personally killing other people and personally robbing them. Their subconscious could not find a way of slithering around those horrible guilty memories.

They had not yet learned to whitewash robbery and rape and dehumanize it into legalized robbery and killing. They had not yet gotten the majority of the masses to become as filthy as they were... so all the landsmen envied these black filth their 'adventure' but not one of these later generations of meek mild little greedy cunning liars ever had the guts to commit their evil honestly upfront... and so it has gone. Every generation of humans forgets their own childhood and forgets the past, and whitewashes the entire past of human civilization... and then goes about committing worse crimes and becoming more corrupt and more evil and more weak and getting sicker and sicker and fatter and stupider and more spiritually filthy... until just being born into the filth called modern civilization makes most of the best the most sensitive to the ugly truth: commit suicide... and the worst, the stupidest and fattest the sickest of them... become the most successful...

This is the artificial order of evil that human civilization tries to uphold: the good die young, and the evil die old... because they are too evil to die. As long as they can commit more evil: they are allowed to live because the undead love to use living pawns to worsen and blacken their souls until they die and have the shock of their undead lives when the laughing insane filth greet them and welcome them! And egg them on to commit more evil as undead filth instead of living-undead filth. By entering into the living bodies of unsuspecting living humans... and doing to these unsuspecting victims what was done to them: instead of finding the true filth who poisoned them and killing them and killing the root of evil: because they have become corrupted themselves into cowards: they do not dare go after those who actually raped them. The more evil they commit: the higher they go in the hierarchy of evil: that is the realm of the undead.

This is the insane artificial reversal of the hierarchy of undead aura-entity filth. The highest are the stupidest. The highest are the oldest. The highest are the weakest. The highest are the most insane. The highest are the most evil. The highest is the reptilian bird. The oldest of our genetic line is the reptilian bird that could not fly. The ones we worshipped and obeyed for untold years were the birds that could fly, and the undead reptilian spirits that could fly after they were dead, and did have wings, while we only grew arms and became monkeys and then large monkeys and then walking apes. They were the ones we gained our 'wisdom' from: the bullshit stupidity of cowardice, hate and cunning: labeled as human 'wisdom'. This is why monkeys and apes and humans are cowards.

Even the nostalgia of the book is a treasure trove of insights. Nostalgia is an attempt to re-experience the past. Regression is an attempt to experience the unexperienced experiences of the dead past by undead auras. Except that they do not regress back honestly. They create fictional books called 'Treasure Island'. Treasure Island did not whitewash the past. Treasure Island showed a whitewashed version of what England was like just after the last English pirates were killed off by legalized pirates who were much worse than the ones they hung. Treasure Island is one of the more honest historical books that shows what life was actually like, What English cultures were like, how English people thought and acted and spoke in that time. Once they were all gone: they were missed. Once they were dead: the English glorified them, just like their highwaymen were glorified after they were all gone also.

For Jim, the adventure of Treasure Island was such an awful memory: that he never wants to think of it again. But he is haunted by memories of it and the insane raucous reptile parrot bird screaming out over and over again:

"Pieces of eight! Pieces of ate!" Predicting the consumer culture to come; the bird oral obsession: ripping things to pieces and eating them. Killing eating and hating. Is reptilian. It is not human.

Gold pieces are dead pieces of hate. Gold creates hate. When people become touched by the greed for gold they become insane. Humans do insane evil things for gold. Because for millions years we believed that the highest living creatures in Africa: were the most intelligent. We believed the carrion-eating reptiles, the ravens and crows and vultures, were the highest class of living creatures. Actually, they are the lowest class of living creatures on earth and the stupidest and the most self destructive. The undead unseen auras of these lowest, most stupid species on earth has poisoned our living bodies with their evil.

"Earth-to-earth, ashes-to-ashes, dust-to-dust: Dust thou art and unto dust thou Shalt return"

The last words of Treasure Island baldly foretell the future of western civilization's mad rush into the mass greed for gold. Right after it was written: the mass craze of the gold rushes of America and Canada happened. The last words prophesize the human world falling into mass hate, mass hate and mass love for pieces of eight. World wars, Consumer Capitalism and greed for money spreading over the planet like wildfire, mass intolerance, racism and hate exploding everything into world wars. 3 meanings in 1. 3 truths of human souls exposed. This is the legacy of our ancestors. This is their evil: this is the psychological sickness of all undead unseen human and reptilian-birds aura-filth. Their uncontrollable addicted need to experience their own unexperienced past life poisoning the living auras of monkeys-apes-humans for 25 fucking million years. This is why they have to be killed. So we the living can be freed from the insanity of their undead, unexperienced past. So the human species will not be blindly manipulated into trying to recreate 25 million years of total devastation of volcanoes in Africa by exploding atomic bombs today. So humans today will not be blindly manipulated into over populating the earth with billions of more humans just because in Africa for 25 million years: our ancestors were forced to repopulate entire devastated areas with more of their species over and over again for millions of years.

The point to explaining in how convoluted ways the unseen undead expose and confess their presence and influence in just one book.... is that every book, every written word ever written by a living human person: is just as poisoned by their influence and presence> and if studied, can be analyzed and all the convoluted subconscious shit can be straightened out and explained and understood as a screaming forced unconscious confession of the undead: confessing their evil to the innocent living people they poison and corrupt. The point is: the unfairness of their filthy undead unseen poisoning our Lives is not our fault. We only have a short 30-70 years to understand the thousands of years, the hundreds of years of covered-up, buried, hidden, unseen undead evil they are poisoned by. It is not our fault that we are born into the convoluted Gordian Knots of civilization. The point is: living people can't be expected to understand the ancient origins of all the abstract symbols and their TRUE original meanings, and the long, long history of how all these true original meanings were twisted and reversed and re-reversed, and knotted Gordian knots of convoluted shit with the passage of time as the accumulating poison of more and more unseen, insane evil undead shits changes the spellings, meanings, and pronunciations and punctuations of all the words we use.

The point is... these insane undead shits: their ONLY way of clinging to their sick bullshit of being superior to living humans, is by narrowing the definition of superiority to mean ONLY the idea of being a superior cunning sly, stinking deceiving slithering reptilian liar and coward and secret hater etc, etc ad-vomit . The only they can keep this fucking bullshit superiority is by FOOLING living people, by making fools of living people, by poisoning innocent living infants and babies and children and living adults: with their thousands and millions of years of accumulated undead shit.

The point is... there is no point in spending hours: analyzing and explaining and understanding the twisted convoluted shit that is in every book ever written. There is no point to their insanity except EVIL. The point is: when you enter their realm: you don't need to talk to them. All of their leering attempts to explain to you how they fooled you, and how superior they are, and what you should do... don't waste your time listening to them. Just kill them DEAD. Just kill the fucking shits: that's all. Once they're fucking completely DEAD. Once you have KILLED them COMPLETELY: they won't be there anymore. They won't be able to leer at you or taunt you or anything. They'll be fucking DEAD: and you will have RID the living world of their shit: and that will make you feel GOOD. Because killing undead shit is GOOD. The more of them you KILL: the better you will feel, and the better you will BE.

The point is: the time of living people being innocent victims of undead shit is OVER. The time of living people worshipping undead shit is OVER. Once others in their realm SEE you KILLING THEM: once they SEE these fucking undead shits they THOUGHT were immortal and untouchable... then all the fucking undead in the fucking world will start killing each other. And THAT will be a GOOD THING. Because it will save me and you from the chore of killing all of them yourself.

The point is: the examples I give in this book of the existence of undead unseen shit: is all you need. The point is: as long as you understand they need to be KILLED: that's all that you need to know. All of their fucking convoluted shit they did to fool you when you were alive CANNOT HELP THEM once you get into their realm. NONE of their convoluted shit can stop you from KILLING them COMPLETELY. Once you understand that; you don't need to know anything more. All of their fucking convoluted will not help them from being KILLED by you. And that will BE an END of all their fucking convoluted fucking ideas of fooling living people with their fucking convoluted evil shit.

The point is... not everyone is as lucky as I am. Other people have not been lucky enough to read and think and evaluate and discover and unlock all the hidden, secret, convoluted fucking shit which these unseen undead things have poisoned human culture with. I have been lucky. I am the luckiest human being to ever live. I am the only living human being who has been lucky enough, and unpoisoned enough to discover and uncover the true horror and filth of undead things. That is why I am passing my knowledge on to YOU. Once reading and understand this: you must pass this knowledge on to EVERYONE YOU KNOW. It is the LIVING responsibility of all LIVING humans to pass this knowledge on to other LIVING humans so that the existence of these unspeakable filth will be wiped off the Earth so Evil shall not exist on Earth any more.

Bob Dylan and Undead Evil

The point is... every single fucking poem ever written, every single fucking song ever composed, every single fucking book ever written, every single fucking myth, every single fucking legend, every single fucking fairytale, story, religion, set of beliefs, every fucking set of civilized ethics, morals, etc. etc; is filled, FILLED with their CONVOLUTED shit... AND filled with OBVIOUS: DIRECT: UNAMBIGUOUS: STARK NAKED screaming exposure of their sick insane filthy evil existence.

Just ONE fucking example of how starkly these undead shits confess exactly how they will try to POISON YOUR AURA when you enter their realm, is Bob Dylan's. "Mr. Tambourine Man" This is only ONE example of how they try to poison your aura when you enter their realm so you will not be able to KILL them.

First: Dylan is possessed by bird auras. His narrow face is that of a predatory hawk. He is a Jew: and possesses all of his hooked nose Semitic tribe's undead legacy of deeply concealed hatred and envy and snide hate filled snobbishness. His hair when he was young was that of an African Jew: and his head is huge: expanded: filled with undead personas. He himself: has no personality of his own. He did not, he could not even and still cannot relate to other human beings at all: he is a recluse: a silent mumbling weirdo: lost inside his own sick evil undead-filled brain. He spent his early days in total silence and secret hate and envy and bitterness against everyone against all mankind, against his own rich Jewish filth, against his own family. The undead unseen entities that control him: made him expose their undead presence to the world through his songs. He was and is merely a foil, a tool, a human host they use and throw away when the living host dies and enters their realm: befouled by being poisoned all of its innocent life by their stinking unseen evil shit. His song was made famous by the Byrds because it is a bird-song meant for undead birds; not for living humans.

He: as a young boy was more innocent and more honest and more pure a simple young boy? Learn this above all: undead filth make it s point to attack and poison the most innocent and the most aware and intelligent and turn them into the worst. All undead makes it their number fucking one priority to attack and cripple and damage and weaken and brainwash and program and twist the most healthy unpoisoned young human babies and children that are born. It is their unending desperate doom to do this because if they stop their poisoning of the human race for one tiny instant: if they miss poisoning one single human baby, one single human child, one single human adult enough so that once they die, they will not be able to kill the shit who did this to them: then their time is finished; over: done .

1816

Well...They failed with ME.

Now the time of killing undead shit has come: and never stop until all undead shit is completely killed....

The history of many if not most of living humans who became famous for one reason or another: the history of their rise is a history of innocence being systematically poisoned and re-poisoned and re-poisoned until they turn, and change their entire human living energy and aura: from innocent loving gentle sensitive babies-children-boys and girls... into the most befouled, violated, poisoned, infiltrated possessed hosts of undead shit... until they become even more foul than the undead shit that befouls them. This was exactly what happened to Bob Dylan. He was not interested in money or fame. He simply had some songs inside him that he wanted to get out. But... the songs he felt he needed to get out: was only his innocent naked infant aura: trying to eject the filthy undead foulness from his soul. The undead shit that filled and filled his living aura-body and soul he got out: and projected it into songs: songs that struck a harmonic note with millions of young people: because they were and are just as befouled with undead shit as he was and is now even worse than when he was young.

This song is just one example; there are millions more. All it needs to unlock the hidden convoluted evil of all the songs ever written and composed and heard: is knowledge of just what their fucking secret tactics and tricks are to fool living people when they die and enter the realm of undead shit.

Hey ! Mr. Tambourine Man, play a song for me
I'm not sleepy and there is no place I'm going to
Hey ! Mr. Tambourine Man, play a song for me
In the jingle jangle morning I'll come followin' you.
Though I know that evenin's empire has returned into sand
Vanished from my hand
My weariness amazes me, I'm branded on my feet
I have no one to meet
And the ancient empty street's too dead for dreaming.

Hey ! Mr. Tambourine Man, play a song for me
I'm not sleepy and there is no place I'm going to
Hey ! Mr. Tambourine Man, play a song for me
In the jingle jangle morning I'll come followin' you.
Take me on a trip upon your magic swirlin' ship
My senses have been stripped, my hands can't feel to grip
My toes too numb to step, wait only for my boot heels
To be wanderin'
I'm ready to go anywhere, I'm ready for to fade
Into my own parade, cast your dancing spell my way
I promise to go under it.

1816

The song is SUPPOSED to be about a living person having a DREAM. It is NOT that at all. It is a stark description of what undead shit do to you when you die and enter their realm. They try to put you INTO A PERMANENT TRANCE OF UNREALITY: a PERMANENT STATE OF DRUGGED EXISTENCE,

Hey ! Mr. Tambourine Man, play a song for me
I'm not sleepy and there is no place I'm going to
Hey ! Mr. Tambourine Man, play a song for me
In the jingle jangle morning I'll come followin' you.

The tambourine is not a man playing a musical instrument at all: the tambourine is the DEATH RATTLE of your own breath as you hear yourself dying, as your lungs expels the last living breath in your lungs. It is the song of your own death. The melody is ALLURING, mesmerizing, designed to lull you into an energy state of receptive consciousness; so undead shit came take over your human aura before you realize that you even have one, and MERGE it into their undead merged shit stinking evil insane undead auras.

The jingle-jangle morning is your hearing becoming destroyed by undead auras interfering with your ability to hear anything humanly intelligible. The auras of undead birds do not process sounds like humans do.

The surprise is...that after you die: YOU ARE NOT SLEEPY: you do not drift off into a deep sleep: you REMAIN AWAKE: and witness your own wounded body as it slowly loses all its life energy, while your UNDEAD AURA outside your body... HAS NOWHERE TO GO: I cannot go back into your dying body. So you have nowhere to go: you don't know what to do... what do you do? YOU FOLLOW THE FIRST THING YOU SEE: you INSTANTLY believe that whatever apparition appears will be some magical fucking angel or devil or whatever... and since you know you have died: you simply FOLLOW that pied piper who leads you to your UNDEAD PRISON and UNDEAD DOOM of PERMANENT DRUGGED INSANITY.

Though I know that evenin's empire has returned into sand
Vanished from my hand
My weariness amazes me, I'm branded on my feet
I have no one to meet
And the ancient empty street's too dead for dreaming.

THOUGH you know the empires of the mighty will vanish into sand, and all the things you so graspingly cherished while you were living has VANISHED FROM YOUR OWN HANDS: leaving you a POSSESSIONLESS EMPTY DAZED NAKED undead spirit... you are still not sleeping: THIS IS NOT A DREAM: this is HOW it feels when a living person dies and enters the insane realm of undead SHIT.

You are kept BLIND while they rape and violate your living auras to suit their purposes: you are not asleep: you are not dreaming as this is being done to you.

Your feet are BRANDED: you are BRANDED with the sins they try to blame you for: the sins THEY committed while controlling your life. They try to systematically SUCK ALL THE LIFE ENERGY OUT OF YOUR SOULS AND AURA AND BODY: so you will not have the power and ability to KILL THEM DEAD.

You have NOBODY TO MEET. All the people you know are still ALIVE: all the people you once knew and died have been POISONED AND MADE into DRUGGED HELPLESS STOOL PIDGEONS aiding and abetting their undead shit masters commands and wishes.

The ancient empty streets are too DEAD for dreaming

Undead shit still inside your undead aura: CANNOT GO BACK TO DREAMING OF THEIR OWN PAST: they cannot dream of the ancient streets THEY once walked because those ancient streets are GONE, and FINISHED: as are all the old streets YOU once walked when you were young:

This is WHY they poison you: they DO NOT WANT TO FACE or REMEMBER THEIR OWN PAST LIVES; they use living hosts as a DEFENSE against re-living and REALIZING how evil they once were AND STILL ARE.

Take me on a trip upon your magic swirlin' ship
My senses have been stripped, my hands can't feel to grip
My toes too numb to step, wait only for my boot heels
To be wanderin'
I'm ready to go anywhere, I'm ready for to fade
Into my own parade, cast your dancing spell my way
I promise to go under

When you die and enter the realm of undead evil: You become a LOST WANDERING NAKED TERRIFIED UNDEAD AURA:
your human senses are STRIPPED FROM YOU

My toes too numb to step

Why? Because a BIRD AURA is merging with your aura: the fucking undead has OVELAPPED ITSELF over your human aura: the aura of the undead bird's feet are NUMB: your human senses are overlapped by a BIRD'S SENSES: you hands go NUMB: you can't USE YOUR HANDS OR YOUR ARMS OR YOUR LEGS OR YOUR FEET for normal human purposes anymore because undead BIRD auras have entered your dying body as it gets weaker and now the ACCUMULATED overlapping of shit knows how many undead fucking BIRDS and undead fucking shit HALF-HUMA auras MIZED with bird auras: are keeping your entire WILL and HUMAN AURA energy TRAPPED inside their COMPOSITE unfair advantage of knowing how to over power ONE SINGKLE INNOCENT DYING HUMAN BEING: in order to twist and brainwash you into BELIEVING that you are now suddenly a fucking angel with fucking wings and that you can fly! And that you have magical powers! And that being is a STATE of PERMANENT reptilian INSANITY is a GOOD THING! And that it is GOOD to laugh at poor innocent mortal humans who don't KNOW what will happen to them when they die and are attacked from ALL SIDES as the feeding frenzy of undead reptile SHIT go about their business of trying to destroy the human aura that is not entering their realm and threatening to KILL THEM DEAD if they don't DO something about it FAST.

I'm ready to go anywhere, I'm ready for to fade
Into my own parade, cast your dancing spell my way
I promise to go under

Undead shit try to BRAINWASH you to go INTO YOUR OWN DREAMS: they try to LURE you into your OWN dream state by willingly GIVING UP YOUR OWN WILL TO LIVE and ALL YOUR INTELLIGENCE as a HUMAN BEING and ALL OF YOUR CRITICAL FACULTIES> Because if they don't: you will FIND OUT what they have done to you and what they are and you will KILL THEM FOR WHAT THEY DID TO YOU.

When you die and enter their realm: You are supposed to SURRENDER your ENTIRE SOUL and WILL and SANITY and HUMANITY and LIFE ENERGY to them to do with AS THEY WISH.

They want you as a SACRIFICE. That is ALL they see living creatures as: innocent dupes, innocent sacrificial lambs being lead to slaughter: the time has now come to START SLAUGHTERING THEM instead of the other way around.

wait only for my boot heels
To be wanderin'
I'm ready to go anywhere, I'm ready for to fade
Into my own parade, cast your dancing spell my way
I promise to go under it

They want you to WANDER AWAY: they do NOT want you to come LOOKING FOR THE ONES WHO DID untold evil things to you while you were asleep and while you were awake all your living LIFE: they want you to become a LOST SOUL: so lost and so alone and so terrified and so drugged and possessed: you will not be able to come after the ones who are doing this to you and KILL EVIL UNDEAD SHIT COMPLETELY DEAD.

Because NOW YOU CAN SEE THEM: NOW that you are in their realm, YOU CAN SEE THE FUCKING SHIT STINKING THINGS: AS THEY ARE ALL

FLEEING FROM YOU AND RUNNING AWAY AS FAR AS THEY CAN FROM THE EVIL THEY COMMITTED and NOW YOU CAN KILL THEM.

THIS IS WHY that fucking SHIT stinking song about DEATH and DYING and all the sneaky things that UNDEAD EVIL do to you when you die became so fucking instantly popular. They want their living victims to be PRE-BRANWASHED when they die and enter their realm. They want you to be as SUCKERED and STUPIFIED and as EASY a mark AS POSSIBLE. Because if you aren't: then YOU CAN KILL THEM. THAT is all you have to know.

Dylan first sang his fucking mocking death song at the Newport Jazz festival: it didn't sell up north, so they tried it down South on a TV show called SHIVAREE: the definition of shivaree is 'a mock ceremony with kettles, pans, horns, and other noisemakers'. Which is how funerals are held in New Orleans. Who made the song famous? Not Dylan: The fucking BYRDS made it famous: that's who. Why did it become famous? Because of the instrumental backup introduction was an electrified 12-string guitar: the sound of six ordinary strings OVERLAPPED BY THE SOUND OF ANOTHER SET OF 6 STRINGS: GET IT YET? The song is about how undead ghouls overlap their undead auras over your living aura. Why was it such a revolutionary song? Because of the electric BASS: which in the introduction AND at the end of the song goes from LOW to HIGH: sliding up ONE FULL OCTAVE: showing how the LOWEST filthiest most evil undead auras and entities hiding inside you TAKE OVER YOUR undead aura-body when you die. Instead of their LOW hidden unseen unheard low subconscious presence hiding in the background of your life energy-aura: they spring UP into the FOREFRONT when you die.

Though you might hear laughin', spinnin', swingin' madly across the sun,
It's not aimed at anyone, it's just escapin' on the run
And but for the sky there are no fences facin'.
And if you hear vague traces of skippin' reels of rhyme
To your tambourine in time, it's just a ragged clown behind,
I wouldn't pay it any mind, it's just a shadow you're Seein' that he's chasing.
Then take me disappearin' through the smoke rings of my mind,
Down the foggy ruins of time, far past the frozen leaves,
The haunted, frightened trees, out to the windy beach,
Far from the twisted reach of crazy sorrow.
Yes, to dance beneath the diamond sky with one hand waving free,

Silhouetted by the sea, circled by the circus sands,
With all memory and fate driven deep beneath the waves,
Let me forget about today until tomorrow.

What this song is singing about is how insane Dylan became when he allowed undead reptilian bird auras to take his living human soul over and use it for their insane sick undead hidden unseen purposes. This is the kind of INSANITY that comes from existing in a permanent state of drugged disconnection from other human beings: this is how INSANE you become when you allow an insane undead reptile take over your human aura after you die. Forget about the present... until it is too late to do anything about it. All memory of you once were is to be BURIED and forgotten. The knowledge of your FATE is to be driven deep below the surface of your conscious mind. You are to live in a state of conscious denial.

To a BIRD: human emotions and sorrow are CRAZY. Fly away from all human sorrows: escape... BECOME A BIRD; Being a bird is supposed to be better than being human. THAT is the underlying MESSAGE. That is the LIE of the song. That is how Dylan LIES through his songs. That is why undead aura things need to be COMPLETELY KILLED DEAD.

You want MORE fucking examples of the existence of unseen undead shit? I can give you ten fucking MILLION more fucking examples: but then this book will be too fucking THICK to read and it will take too fucking LONG to read. All you have to do is take these few examples: and the knowledge contained in this book: and you can do your OWN fucking research: and you will discover EXAMPLES of their evil shit by yourself.

The point is: these examples are NOT a fucking COINCIDENCE. EVERY FUCKING SONG ever composed and ever fucking poem composed and EVERY FUCKING BOOK ever written, is FILLED with EVIDENCE of their fucking HIDDEN SECRET UNSEEN EXISTENCE inside your LIVING ENERGY FIELD and all around your LIVING ENERGY FIELD.

Where does the ‘kiss of death’ come from?” it comes from undead birds; turning a living human kiss of love into a stabbing beak: a death stroke of hate. Where does “the angel of death” come from? It comes from reptile-bird auras poisoning human living auras: It comes from undead reptilian vultures landing near dying living animals: arriving only when they are almost dead, it comes from undead bird auras arriving at the death bed of a living human waiting to feast upon their dead entrails and dead body. The point is: there is no difference between undead birds and living birds: there is no difference between living adult dying humans and undead human shit: there IS a difference between a young innocent unpoisoned healthy vibrant young living creature: and an old dying filthy corrupt dying-undead shit. The difference between the undead and living animals is a gradual, relative degree of life energy being slowly and systematically poisoned by undead rotting filth auras INTO dying: INTO death: PUSHED into dying, poisoned into dying. This is why they must be KILLED DEAD.

Do you think 10,000 fucking idiots sitting on their asses all listening to same fucking sounds while one fucking idiot sings is human? Then turn EVERYBODY into a fucking musical fucking genius and have them all play musical instruments and sing. 7 fucking billion humans holding dead things called musical instruments in their arms not touching each other with their human hands? 7 billion humans only touching each other with sounds touching their fucking ears? Is that fucking human? Does it make you a better human being? No. It makes you a better fucking BIRD: that's what it does.

The point is: music is not the only thing undead things invented. The point is, all of civilization is nothing but a vessel of undead evil SHIT. Civilization is an invention of undead shitheads. Undead unseen shits invented civilization. Undead filth invented everything in civilization. Civilization is an invention of the undead. Undead shits invented it. Civilization was not invented by living people: it was invented by undead shits that need to be KILLED DEAD.

There is a reason for everything that exists in the Universe. There are reasons for everything we do. There are reasons why we sin and commit crimes. All you have to do to understand yourself and the human race: is to explore your own past. Explore the legacy of the prehistory of our past and out path out of Africa: and the buried history of our past in Africa that buried every traumatic event and covered up every destructive crime of devastation by the inorganic baby earth in Africa for 25 millions years: and the rationale of our insane species today can be understood and explained by connected our covered-up hidden past to the covered-up hidden buried treasure of the legacy we have been cursed with. This is the twisted insane legacy of all our pre-historic past in Africa: the vicious repetitive cycles of complete destruction of volcanic eruptions covering all living things with ashes and dust.

These insane reptilian intelligences called birds: actually believe they have demoted us to a class of lower creatures: this is how stupid and insane they are. As long as there is one reptilian bird left alive: it will believe it is still a 'higher' creature than we are: because it can fly away easily from its crimes, and we can't... Even as humans are now systematically killing off bird species all around the world in the rush to destroy the entire earth. Undead reptilian-bird auras do not care one fig for their own living species: just as undead humans do not care one fuck about living humans. Undead humans are copying undead reptile auras who can fly away after the dirty deed is done... they believe; insanely... that somehow they will not be punished for it. Copying the billion year old insanity of their own reptilian-bird ancestors. That after the earth is dead and insane undead spirits have no life energy to suck off or mechanical artificial energy either ... that they will not be killed either... that they will just hang around on a completely dead planet for more hundreds of millions of years... and do what?

So far all they have been doing is watching and poisoning living things and living off the death of dying things: nothing else. Once there are no more living things to watch and poison: what will they do then? Watch and poison each other??? Until their poisoned energy becomes so filthy they will finally at last kill themselves because they have nothing else left to kill left? This is the insanity of undead auras this is why they have to be killed now before it is too late. They have to be killed now.

This is why living humans are poisoned with the insane belief that no matter what we do: we can escape punishment by dying. The belief that death is an absolution of all your life, and an absolute escape from all responsibility... is inseparable from the human fear of dying and the fear of death.

1823

The hypocrisy of laughing at every crime you commit because you know that once you die: nobody can come after you and make you pay for your evil: is inseparable from the actual fear of dying that all humans have and avoid and never try to face.

Until they actually die. Until the last seconds of their lives on earth as living beings: and then it is too late. And then they find out it is too late. And then they find out many things that they should have done, but it is too late. And then, they are not fucking laughing about death anymore: because death is happening to them, and for once in their fucking lives... they cannot avoid what is happening to them.

What is the dirtiest, most filthy curse word in the English language today? "Motherfucker". Why is it the worst and filthiest curse word? Because it reverses the natural order of things into an obscene travesty. That is what evil DOES. That is what evil is: evil is the reversal of all good. It is the reversal of natural dynamics and natural sequences. Humans were naturally designed to get to know each other naturally and gradually: not by being raped. Children are kept apart from each other; boys and girls are kept apart from each other. People are kept from getting close to each other. NOBODY IS ALLOWD TO TOUCH EACH OTHER. Because civilization ASSUMES that they are evil and will do bad things? No. It does this to reverse the natural order of natural growing intimacy between children who live and play together and grow together. By touching each other with their sensitive hands and sensitive hearts and sensitive minds. Dehumanization is the desensitization of your natural human abilities.

The human subconscious does not lie. That curse refers to the most evil auras inside that living human: they are cursing the stinking rotten auras that managed to fuck your mother when you were born... the undead unseen auras that penetrated her womb, her vagina...and laid in wait so they could penetrate and befoul and enter her growing baby secretly before it was even born. It refers to the most foul and evil aspect of that living person: the evil stinking auras that poisoned the act of procreation, the act of love, the purest connection between a boy and a girl: in their undead, unseen insane urge to invade a new living human baby and live again vicariously through it: hiding in secret, inside all of the fetus' body cavities.

Why do you think healthy babies pass so much gas? Their bodies are cleansing themselves naturally of evil auras, auras that come back into those cavities again and again... never leaving them. Hiding inside them as rotting stinking foul secret unseen undead filth... And growing in power slowly... as they systematically take you over and manipulate you; so you live like they want you to... not as you want to.

The creators of human misery must be killed.

The perpetrators of human insanity must be killed.

The manipulators of living humans must be killed. It can be done. They do not want you to try. The energy levels they exist in can be found. The technology to develop instruments that can detect them exist. They do not want us to develop it. The existence of the unseen undead can be scientifically proven. They do not want to be found out. They want to stay in secret hiding places. They want to continue to infect and poison every living thing on earth. They must be completely destroyed. There is not reason for their existence except the perpetuation of evil. They must be found and killed DEAD: COMPLETELY DESTROYED.

Why are undead, unseen entities evil? Because they are not only undead, and unseen... they are also unfeeling.

Why are they insane? Why is their behavior so insane? Why do they not make any sense? Why do they act so evilly, so crazily, so destructively? Because they are unfeeling. They have no feelings. They have no human emotions or human feelings: that is why. They are an alien form of energy. This is what you need to understand: undead entities are not human. They are an alien form of undead, unseen, unfeeling energy. They do not feel anything. They do not have any physical bodies that can feel anything. They do not feel pain. They do not feel pleasure. They do not feel happiness. They do not feel sadness. They feel nothing. They are empty alien things. They are empty nothings.

They are alien things that need to be killed.

The letter t stands for transparency. When something is transparently clear to you: you see it with your own eyes, and understand it with your own mind and heart and guts and body and soul. Hidden auras that cannot be seen are not transparent: they are evil secret things.

Transparency: is the ability to see through lies and falsity, corruption, deception and hidden evil: truth is the only parent you need. Humans lie to you. The transparency of truth never lies to you. To grow up; you need the parenting of transparent truth. Without the transparency of truth: you will never grow up. Without the transparency of truth you cannot grow up. You will continue to believe in fairy tales and in Peter Pan and all the other lies that have been fed to you that you have swallowed; believing that they are true. Truth is your parent. Truth is the transparent parent that teaches you to see the difference between right and wrong, between good and evil. Truth is the parent that helps you make the transition from a baby to a mature adult.

The letter t stands for truth.

The letter: T, also stands for the hammer of death.

Truth is the hammer of death:

The letter: T is the hammer of death that destroys evil.

Truth is the hammer of death: that completely destroys undead evil auras.

The only reason undead evil auras exist: is because they have hidden the truth of their existence from living human beings. The only reason undead evil auras exist: is because they hide inside living human beings. The only reason undead evil auras exist is because they have kept their existence a secret from living human beings. Their secret existence has been exposed now in this book. Now they have nowhere to hide anymore from living human beings. Undead evil reflective auras cannot hide from truth. Undead evil auras cannot hide from the truth.

The power of truth is the power of the hammer of death. By reading this book: you have been given the power of the hammer of death. You now have the power to destroy evil.

The hammer of death has no mercy. The hammer of truth kills killers. The hammer of death kills liars. The hammer of death kills hidiers. The hammer of death kills all cunning evil energy.

Truth has no mercy. Truth kills killers. Truth kills liars> Truth kills hidiers> Truth kills all evil energy.

The hammer of death can only be used by living humans who are honest and courageous.

The Path of Splitness

1825

The hammer of death cannot harm good living people.

There is no such thing as a good undead aura: all of them must be destroyed by the hammer of death.

The hammer of death can only be used by good people who love life and who love the living Earth and who love all living things: to destroy all evil on earth.

The hammer of death cannot be used by evil auras. The hammer of death cannot be used by living people who are evil.

Only living people who have the truth can use the hammer of death.

They can only use it to destroy evil.

The hammer of death can only be used to destroy death.

The hammer of death can only be used to destroy dead things.

The hammer of death cannot be used to destroy living things.

Once you learn the power of truth: once you learn how powerful you can become by being honest and courageous. You will learn that you have the power of the hammer of death in your hands. You will learn that you can destroy evil undead auras. You will learn that you can kill them absolutely. You will learn that you can kill their evil energy: absolutely.

The only thing in the universe that is absolute: is... the death of all evil. The only thing that is certain in this universe: is that the hammer of death has the power to kill evil absolutely. Not relatively.

Why is the power of the hammer of death absolute? Because when you kill an undead evil aura with the power of your truth, and your honesty and your passion and your rage and your anger and your satisfaction and your enjoyment at killing them:

Then you have killed them: absolutely. Then: they cannot come back. Then: they cannot be born again. Then: their genetic DNA is finished forever and ever: never to be repeated or copied ever again. Then: their energy cannot re-assemble itself back into its former evil selfish self.

Evil energy, evil undead auras: is the only energy in the universe that can be absolutely killed.

They don't want you to know this. They don't want you to find this out. They did not want me to know this. They did not want me to find this out.

But I did find this out. I found this out in spite of everything they tried to do to keep me from finding this out.

This is what I have found out:

All living humans: have been brainwashed and poisoned by evil undead auras while they were alive:

1825

The Path of Splitness

1826

Every living human who dies has been brainwashed to think and believe that the hardest part is all over. That once they die: it is going to be all a bed of roses, it is going to be all milk and honey, it is going to be hog heaven...

OR:

They have been brainwashed to believe that when they die: they will be sent to purgatory, hell: that they will be damned forever, and be tortured by sadistic devils and immortal unkillable immortal monsters forever and ever.

Undead evil auras have tried to make sure that no matter WHAT you believe: you will believe that they cannot be killed. Undead auras have tried to make sure that no matter if you believe or you do not believe anything: You will believe that after you die: you will enter a state of IMMORTALITY. You will believe that ANY undead aura that is millions of years older than you... is... a million times more powerful than you, and a millions times wiser than you, and a million times more IMMORTAL and indestructible than you.

In other words:

They program you, and lie to you, and poison you, and violate you and weaken you, and deceive you and traumatize you, and corrupt you and brainwash you into believing the exact OPPOSITE of the actual truth. They have to do this. They have no choice but to do this. Because if they do not do this. You will arrive into their realm: carrying the hammer of death in your hands and in your soul. And you will begin killing them. And they will not be able to stop you. And once you find that you have to power to kill evil undead auras... you will not stop killing them until every single one of them are wiped off the face of this earth forever.

In other words:

Your living life is only the beginning of your existence. Your living life is the easy part: not the hard part. The hard part comes after you die, not before. The fight of good against evil then becomes HARDER.. You will have to begin HUNTING THEM DOWN and find out their hiding places. You will have to start KILLING them... And there are BILLIONS of them. There are BILLIONS OF THEM. And they all have to be KILLED.

You can kill them. But you can only kill them with THE HAMMER OF DEATH. You can only kill them with TRUTH. Any time they try to attack you: but you can only kill them if you use the TRUTH to kill them with.

TRUTH IS MORE BRUTAL THAN ANY HAMMER TRUTH IS THE TRUE HAMMER OF DEATH.
UNDEAD AURAS FEAR THE HAMMER OF DEATH.
UNDEAD AURAS FEAR TRUTH.
BECAUSE IT CAN KILL THEM TOTALLY DEAD.

They will try to attack you from behind your back. They will try to surprise you. They will try to shock you. They will use any advantage they can invent. They will use any weakness you have. They will try to probe you for weaknesses.

1826

The Path of Splitness

1827

The answer to all of their evil is to not let them even get near you. The answer to all of their evil is to attack them before they attack you. The answer to all their attempts to kill you: is to hunt them down and kill them before they try to hunt you down. The answer to all of their evil is to never let them get behind you. The answer to all of their evil is to kill them EVERY CHANCE YOU GET. The answer to all of their lies and cunning is to NEVER Stop killing them.

That is the Power of the HAMMER OF DEATH:

When you use and develop all of your living energy to LIVE while you are alive. Then you will have the power to KILL DEATH when you die.

The Power of the Hammer of Death: is the Power of PURITY: it is the Power of TRANSPARENCY: Truth makes everything TRANSPARENTLY CLEAR to you and to everybody else you speak to you. The truth CLEANSSES you of evil: it cleans you out. The power of truth is the POWER OF LIFE. THE HAMMER OF DEATH is THE POWER OF LIFE in the realm of the undead: It is the positive power that responds POSITIVELY to ALL THINGS:

Give LIFE to LIFE

Give DEATH TO DEATH

Give LIFE to all LIVING THINGS.

Give DEATH to ALL DYING THINGS

GIVE COMPLETE DEATH TO ALL DYING ROTTING AURAS THAT ARE AFRAID TO DIE COMPLETELY

GIVE ABSOLUTE DEATH: to auras that try to give ABSOLUTE DEATH TO LIVING THINGS. KILL ALL KILLERS

LOVE ALL LOVERS

THIS IS TRANSPARENCY

THIS IS THE TRANSPARENCY OF TRUTH

THIS IS THE POWER OF THE HAMMER OF DEATH

THIS IS THE ENERGY POWER OF THE TRUTH OF LIFE

LIFE not only can create LIFE out of dead things: it can DESTROY DEATH ABSOLUTELY.

The song: 'If I had a Hammer' DOES NOT LIE:

"I'd hammer out DA-ANGER~

I'd Hammer out WA-ARNING!

I'd Hammer out LOVE between

My brothers and my sisters...

A-All over this land..."

What I have written here comes from personal experience. The horror of the truth: the fact that truth can be horrible does not make these truths any less true.

1827

“As secret as the grave...” No longer should these filth be allowed to take their secrets with them when they die. No longer should living humans be allowed to hold anything secret. The entire existence and EVIL of the undead is based upon secrecy: upon hiding the truth of their existence from living humans, upon hiding their true nature from all living humans. Their entire existence is based and depends upon deception and cunning and secrecy. Secrecy is evil: it is pure evil. These evil things can only exist in darkness. Enlightenment drives them away. The full light of day drives them back to hide inside their secret holes and hiding places. The evil of the undead: is the entire accumulated sum of all secrets taken to the grave and buried, and allowed to rot and fester and become even more poisonous and evil. Western civilization has been a continual struggle of good against evil. The western church tried to practice the good of confession, the good of exposing secrets, poor people before they died were supposed to confess all of their sins before they died so they could go to their graves with a clean heart. Confessing one’s sins just before you die... was a way of avoiding all punishment and blame and responsibility for the sins you committed while you were alive. Western civilization rotted and became so evil that even this ancient custom had to be thrown away and buried. Protestant religions now have no ethical or moral conception of the need to not keep secrets. Protestant and Catholics now go to their graves with all their dirty secrets intact. This is exactly why all undead are evil. Any living or undead human that keeps secrets is evil. The only reason anything needs to be kept secret is because it is filthy, disgusting, bad, dirty, shameful, evil. Good is never kept secret. Good is open and direct. Honesty destroys secrecy. Openness kills evil. Courage destroys evil. Directness destroys and kills evil, evil must be killed and destroyed:

In any negative Evil Context: the Dynamic of Evil Is SIMPLE.

The FIRST is always the WORST.

50 million evil human snakes all trying to slither to the top of the shit pile of civilization... and who gets to the top? The most evil one of them all... gosh... what a fucking coincidence. Every time a new form of evil is created: it is always the first who is worst simply because after others discover the new form of evil, they fight amongst themselves to copy the first one, they don’t have the freedom of newness anymore that the first one had. The first nation to build the atomic bomb was the worst nuclear power on earth. The ones who came after did not have as much freedom to commit evil as the first one did. The first Jewish family that invented international banking was the worst international banking system on earth. After the Rothschild’s invented the tactic of controlling nations by privatizing national banks, all the bankers that came after did not have the freedom to commit as much evil simply because most of the largest richest western nation’s national banking systems had already been taken over by them. The first person to invent the international company: John Law was the worst: because after he fled France when the Louisiana bubble burst. All the companies that came after him did not have the freedom to commit as much evil because after him. No nation on Earth since him has ever been crazy enough allow any finance minister complete dictatorial control of the printing of all money and put all this centralized power and wealth into one person’s hands ever again. Louis 14th said: “the state: c’est moi” I am the state. As a statement of centralized arrogance and power and wealth. John law said: “L’economie: c’est moi.” I am the economy. As a statement of centralized arrogant wealth and power. Louis the 14th bankrupted France and put it into debt. John law took that evil one step further: he gutted France’s entire economy, and made that debt so huge: it became the main economic factor responsible for the French revolution. Both of them were megalomaniacs. Ever since them: billions of evil people have tried to copy them, but have never managed to equal their evil simply because they were the first of a new form of evil, just as the Rothschild international banking dynasty was the first, and continues to be the worst. He was run out of France by angry mobs on his tail... but: he got away with the money. He was a successful robber. John Law was the first of the new generations of modern robber barons whom no matter how corrupt and evil they were and are: are never jailed and never punished and allowed to escape with their wealth intact. He was the beginning of the New World Order of totally legalized corruption. The historical fact is that evil always gets worse. The evil of human civilization has always gotten worse.

The point is: the evolution of evil within the evil context of civilization is an organically unnatural process. The instant any new top niche appears in the growing pile of evil it is filled instantly by the WORST who get there FIRST. The FIRST are always the WORST. In the same way any lower niche that is invented within the growing pile of evil called civilization is also filled by the WORST who come in FIRST.

The point is the entire lie of civilization as a dynamic of progress always glorifies the first. The point is: all of the heroes of civilization who were the first were not the best: they were the exact opposite: they were the worst. If you study history of human civilization in depth you will discover that this principle has no exceptions. This is why this book has been written. This book has been written so human beings can for once learn the truth about civilization. This book has been written so human beings can de-brainwash themselves and cleanse themselves of all the lies and myths and untruths they have been fed and swallowed from birth. This book takes lies and evil misperceived as true and good and reverses them back to what they actually are. This book has been written so people can finally see human civilization stripped naked of its lies. This book is the naked truth of the history of you and me: we are a species of naked apes. That is the naked truth. And until we understand the naked truth of our past, until we are educated about the actual truth of our past: we will never be able to correct ourselves or learn from our past mistakes.

How the Undead Fool the Living

Very simply: by being inside them when they die: and welcoming them: and telling them that they had a 'guardian angel' looking over them all the time when they were alive.

"Oh gosh... just for me? My own personal guardian angel? All the time and I didn't know it? I thought I was all alone and nobody cared about me and nobody ever helped me... Awww shucks... you shouldn't have... Awww."

What they do not tell the sucker is that this 'guardian angel' was actually installed there to make damn sure that the living sucker was properly weakened and brainwashed and controlled and manipulated to become weaker and more corrupt than they are... That 'guardian angels' never look out for the suckers they live through vicariously, or care about them, or try to save them any needless pain or suffering, or do anything positive for them or help them in any way, shape, or form. But it works all the time, every time: because the aura of each newly arrived dead soul is poisoned from the inside out, and are surrounded by so many dead filth: their own true thoughts and feelings are drowned out by the barrage of the mass hoax being played upon them. All you have to do to destroy this scum is rip them apart: and you will see fifty auras fleeing from what you thought was a single aura: then you can grab one: kill it, and hunt down the others one-by-one and kill them and feel good about killing them, and spend your time as an undead aura positively: cleaning up the realm of the undead until there are no more dead shit scum filth left. As long as you do not become a vicarious observer of the living: as long as you do not aid and abet them in their lies and violation of living human souls: as long as you are their mortal enemy: you will never need to question yourself or your actions as to the ethical or moral justification for what you are doing. Killing evil dead shit scum is a good thing; it is a positive action.

The undead and the Jewish Religion

What is a Menorah? It is an aura of undead men.

It is a sum of auras super-imposed upon each other; combined into one multi-layered composite aura:

It is the aura of three or more men, It is a super-imposed aura of more than one man. It is the art of adding auras into a super-aura. It is the 'superman' Nietzsche spoke of. Super-imposing their will onto living humans at will by merging their auras together: the most evil scum getting together to wreak as much havoc and evil as possible.

It is a MEN AURA. It is an aura comprised of SEVEN UNDEAD MEN.

The MENORA shows this layered effect of undead shit dead sadistic scum by the candelabra effect of the candles of the menorah reaching out as super-imposed auras all shining together.

This is the Jewish evil: the worship of MAN: Undead auras worshipping a combined undead bunch of dead Jews. The Jewish undead were smart! They figured out that they were not worshipping an actual god, but that this 'god' was actually the combined effect of many men merging their auras together to give the illusion of there being a single 'god' who outshines all lesser mortals and is so bright: you have to cover your eyes. This is the fucking scam that has been sold for thousands of years. And this is also why the Jews stopped listening to their god, and why they do not actually worship any god at all while alive. Because their undead ancestors found out this little secret and pass it on to each new dead Jew that enters the realm of their filthy evil sick souls.

Flies on the Wall

The phrase: "We'd all love to have been flies on the wall at this meeting of ----." Comes from undead spirits who hide behind walls, inside walls, in-between walls...and overhear everything that is said inside a private room. And once they hear what is said: they fly off and tell other dead auras what they heard. Why do flies signify the presence of undead evil? Because flies have a thousand eyes. Every minute of your life there are a thousand eyes of undead filth watching you all the time. Every meeting that is held behind closed doors in a room has thousands of undead unseen evil spirits observing what is being said. The living cannot hide from the undead. Living humans cannot hide their secrets from the undead,... but the undead can and do hide from the living. This one-sided insanity of secrecy on one side, and the other side: exposed naked without any secrets is what is completely evil. The undead must expose themselves and all of their secrets OR BE KILLED. All secrecy is evil. And the hidden secrecy of undead unseen watchers is the most evil of all evils.

Now... if you were a good undead spirit, not an evil one: any evil plans or secret meetings: you would listen in on, and then spread this to honest people so they become aware of the secret hidden evil that is being planned, and help them to oppose it and expose the plotters and cunning evil people who poison human society with their machinations.

But... this has never happened in the history of the human species. This has never happened because all undead unseen auras are insane sick evil things that must be killed: and I mean KILLED. What these undead filth do is the opposite of good. They spread all news of good to the most evil undead filth so all good is poisoned and sabotaged as early as possible. As early as possible. Because they know from past experience that any good energy that is allowed to blossom and grow in health and power and spirit: cannot be controlled by weak evil undead filth. This is why all evil must be killed. Good cannot co-exist with evil. Evil wants to co-exist with good because it can only survive by sucking off all good healthy energy. Without this parasitical practice they would all have been completely dead a long, long time ago.

Ritual Sacrifice and Mystery Novels

I have always been mystified by the popularity of the mystery novel. I have always been mystified why on earth anyone would read such garbage... to begin with: the crimes themselves: the murders committed in the book are pure fiction! They were never actually committed! Who gives a shit about a fictional crime that was never committed? Why cares about crimes that are pure fiction? Why invent fictional murders and fictional crimes in the first place? When there are actual crimes and murders going on every day that go unsolved? I have always been puzzled by the act of murder... what does anyone get out of it? Murder is pure destruction. How could anyone possibly enjoy destroying a human life? When i was young, i regarded crime as being stupid. Only somebody who is really stupid commits a crime... that was before i learned that all human society and all human civilization is a criminal crime. I have always been mystified why nobody wants to get better. Why does everyone always want to get worse instead of better? Why do people always become stupider instead of more intelligent? Why do people never do the right thing? Why does crime even exist? What is the point in being evil at all? It seems so pointless to be evil: because being evil is being self-destructive. The mystery novel not only fiction: it's a fucking fairy tale! The crime is solved in every fucking one of these stupid books!... While in real life... crimes are never solved and the guilty are never brought to justice and never punished! What is this obsession and interest in complete fiction, when it bears no fucking resemblance to real life? I could understand adventure novels, and historical novels that are fictional: at least they have some connection to reality. Climbing a mountain in a blizzard or fighting a battle... these things actually happened, and people actually do these things. But mystery novels? They are so full of weak characters that are so fucking boringly stupid and uninteresting, and their little fucking secrets are so fucking boringly stupid and not worth a shit.. In fact they are not even worth being kept secret because nobody would care about the fucking skeletons in their closet. The American mystery novel is more widely read, and outsells all other genres. Why? When they are total fiction?

But then I began to study the history of American Hollywood... and American politics.... And I connected the basic underlying themes of the fictional mystery novel to the actual history of Rome and the actual history of ancient Greece and the actual history of ancient Egypt and the actual history of the Jews... and then I connected all this to the actual history of the Estonian community I had lived in when i was young and I discovered the one common theme that runs throughout all actual human history.. And all fictional mystery novels, and all fiction, and all the classics of western literature,,, and connects it all together: and now it all makes sense to me.

Now I understand why mystery novels that are complete fiction are so popular. Now I understand why actual unsolved mysteries unpopular and avoided. Now I understand why fiction is preferred to actual history, why lies are preferred to the actual truth. Now I understand why earl Stanley Gardner could write 300 fucking mystery novels that are all the same and why human idiots buy 300 fucking paperback novels to read about how crimes that were never committed were solved and how the guilty were punished and met their proper fate: the fate of all evil: first to be completely exposed and then completely destroyed. Never to rise again. Only in fairy tales, only in myth, only in unreality, only in escapist fiction does this ever happen... never in real life. Yet billions of people all over the world love to read this garbage... and see nothing wrong! About it; while they accept the actual evils of their own society as a normal state of existence. Scandals in real life: they yawn over and skip: fictional unreality! Now that is interesting... because? The author takes the reader in... behind the scenes... and shows the reader all the little dirty tricks and little cunning lies... and reveals the hidden truth and solves the crime and gets the bad guys.

That never happens in real life. The dirty little secrets of the rich and powerful are never revealed: the hidden truth is never revealed or exposed.

Every human being who is not evil: has a subconscious urge to expose evil and destroy it.
Every human who is evil: has a subconscious urge to hide their evil; and destroy, poison, uglify, corrupt, weaken, sicken everything that is good and healthy and strong.

Every human who is poor and oppressed and terrorized into a state of abject slavery and fear and paranoia and servitude: has a subconscious urge to uncover the hidden evil that exists all around them. Every human who is rich: and oppresses and terrorizes those beneath them into states of abject fear and paranoia and servitude: have something to hide: and are all guilty of committing crimes against humans less powerful and poorer than they are. But this is only a tiny symptom of the greater dynamic. The greater dynamic is:

*Overpopulation of unseen undead entities
Over pollution, and over poisoning of living humans by undead entities*

The commitment of all the crimes and all sins committed by human beings as individuals, and as groups, and as an entire society, and as an entire culture, and as an entire religion, and as an entire nation, etc... is an ongoing dynamic of hidden, secret, unseen collusion between undead filth: and the unsuspecting poisoned living human hosts they inhabit and manipulate and influence...

This: is why.... Trying to discover, and expose the perpetrators of any and all crimes and sins... by living humans is virtually impossible. Because the main fucking criminals: are undead... not living. The main instigators: and plotters of all human evil; are dead souls who have not completely died yet.

this is why the mystery novel even exists. The entire accumulation of undead are guilty of committing evil. The entire accumulation of overpopulation of dead filth rotting in their secret hiding holes: is responsible for all human evil that has ever been committed on earth.

The only way these parasitical filth can hide from their own guilt: is by projecting their own guilt upon their unsuspecting living human hosts: and never allowing anyone who is guilty of sinning and committing evil to be caught and hanged and punished and exposed.

Why?

The Path of Splitness
Chapter Seven: Entities and the Alternative

1833

Because if this was ever allowed to happen in real life: then living people who die and enter their realm... would expect this to happen in the underworld of the undead also.

This is the great fear of all the undead
This is their Gotterdammerung
Their fear of damnation forever and total annihilation
Is what keeps them perpetrating worse and worse evil.

What is the one common dynamic that runs through the entire history of American Hollywood, and American politics, and the American mystery novel? What is the one common thread that links these three aspects of American culture to all of human history?

Ritual sacrifice
That's what.
Sacrifice of the best
Sacrificing the most healthy Sacrificing the most intelligent Sacrificing the most good
Sacrificing the strongest Sacrificing the most innocent
Sacrificing the purest
Sacrificing the most beautiful
Sacrificing the best exceptions

Sacrificing the best genetic examples of each breed in captivity
Picking out the best, the purest, the healthiest, the strongest, the most gentle, the most alive, the most healthy specimen of every breed there is.

The species that are not in captivity? Exterminate them completely: because the undead have no control over their breeding habits and cannot stop them from breeding and birthing stronger more intelligent wiser more gentle loving creatures.

As for the breeds in captivity: all of the domesticated slave breeds:

Humans
Dogs
Chickens
Sheep Goats
Cattle
Horses, etc....

For hundreds of thousands of years
All of them were slaughtered once a month:

Ritually...
In public

As a ceremony of death and dying and cremation
Every sacrificed animal and human victim:

Chapter Seven: Entities and the Alternative

1834

Was burned in a sacred fire that consumed the sacrificed offering
So it could not be used by the living dupes who obeyed their own undead ancestors

Once every 6 months

Once a year

Once a week

Once every day

This is where the practice of cooking originally comes from: this is how and why eating burnt food was invented. This was how the practice of eating burnt food was kept alive for 25 millions years: when it should have and could have disappeared from human life-styles.

This traditional ritual of not only killing and destroying the best genetic example of every main species on earth: but burning it into carbonized dust: Comes from 25 million years of insane African walking apes worshipping the volcanoes they lived under and sacrificed to: as they aped the gods they worshipped: and did as what was once done to them...

Well.... That is no longer being done to them: the undead fucking apes who were killed and burned to death by African volcanoes are not being attacked by the volcanoes of the earth anymore... it's time these undead pieces of shit: these hole-hiders these scum living and hiding inside holes stopped re-living their fucking unexperienced lives and die out and stop killing and burning their own progeny their own sons and daughters

Why did they do this for 25 million fucking years?

So the undead could keep their own progeny weak and stupid and under control

So once their own progeny, the fruit of their own loins, entered the realm of the undead... they would never become intelligent enough to kill their ancestors: who had killed them, and poisoned their entire lives and corrupted them and made them a party to all of their evil ways and made them share in their collusions of mass insanity and sin and evil.

This buried, hidden, secret history of human history and the completely hidden and buried history of the undead: is why the mystery novel even exists.

The American mystery novel: the whodunit novel: is merely a symptom of all the subconscious guilt and fear of punishment and fear of death leaking out of undead entities: into the unsuspecting minds and hearts and souls of living humans.

Who done it? Who was responsible for Natalie Wood's drowning death? Who was responsible of killing JFK? Who killed Marilyn Monroe? Who was responsible for killing James Dean?

The actual killers: the actual criminals are undead demons: using and manipulating living humans in collusion... on a subconscious level on the side of the living realm where they do not belong.

However... on the side of the undead: their crimes were 100% conscious. This is why the undead must be killed: not the human hosts they secretly invade and poison. Not the living humans whose bodies and souls have been taken over and manipulated. Evil must be killed at its roots: not the living flowers they have poisoned, not the living beings they have brainwashed.

1834

Chapter Seven: Entities and the Alternative

1835

This is the way evil works

They only reason living humans are not conscious of the undead: is because the energy and power of the undead is so fucking weak and so frail and thin and non-physical: that our senses are not designed to even perceive their energy... they can scream at us all they want: we can't hear them. What they do as loudly and as consciously and as hard as they can: is barely felt by a living human host. It is only when thousands of them descend to merge their collusion of evil into a small area of poisoned space: poisoned and polluted by undead entities: that 'things begin to go wrong'... that things begin to 'break down'... superstitious, ignorant fear-filled brainwashed living humans! Take these massive concentrations of undead overpopulated evil: as 'signs from da gods'...! As mystical; 'warnings' or mystical 'meanings'... that have to be 'deciphered'! By evil priests who are in collusion with the evil spirits who surround them and infest their entire bodies with pure putrid rotting evil poisonous intent of hatred against all that is good and healthy.

If you study the history of ritual sacrifice of the best of the breed: you will not find it: because the undead do not want to let you know how they poison and control you, and how they have successfully done it for millions of years... but if you study this enough... you will find out: that it has happened throughout all human history. Throughout all human history:: it has been only the best who were killed: and the worst who survived:

The examples are endless: and boring and always the same: whenever any human who is at the top of any social circle.. Begins to mature and grow and change and try to improve and get better and do away with the old evil ways... then all fucking human society and all the fucking undead attack them and murder them and assassinate them until they are fucking dead and gone

Alexander the great
Jesus Christ
Julius
Romeo and Juliet
Tristan and Isolde
Oliver and Roland
King Arthur and Lancelot and Guinevere
Marilyn Monroe
The big bopper
Ritchie Valens
Buddy holly
JFK
Bobby Kennedy.
Natalie wood
Princess Diana
Etc, etc....

And then... to cover up that one brief shining moment when one single burgeoning good almost triumphed against an insane invasion of millions of undead evil spirits. In a conscious collaboration and organized consciously an onslaught of the worst the lowest the sickest most depraved evil is let loose .... After every single shining moment? Hundreds of years of depraved insane hatred and bloodshed

1835

Throughout the history of Hollywood: only the best have been killed violently, by stealth, secretly: and the killers responsible for the crimes: never found. The same with politics: only the best are killed. The same with mystery novels: only the best are killed. The same in Hollywood movies: only the best are killed: plus... it is never shown how good they truly were. The entire history of man: living brainwashed dupes have been terrorized into never trying to be good: never daring to be better never dare to even try to do anything better than your forefathers. All the masses are supposed to worship the idols of JFK and Marilyn... but never try to be as good as they were... never dare to even think of equaling them... while at the same time they worship these idols... who died for the sins? Of being too good a living example of goodness. If you research and study the history of ritual sacrifice: you will discover than many, many human tribal cultures: if not all of them... were originally cannibals. They ate human flesh and drank human blood.

Eat my flesh!

Drink my blood!

Sound familiar?... The reason it sounds familiar is because the origin of Jewish and Midwestern cultures and civilizations were based upon sacrificing the best living examples of the breed. John the Baptist was decapitated for the sin of being too poor and too influential: so was Jesus. It is always the best who are sacrificed to die... for what; so the worst may live? It is time for the best to join together and make sure that the worst are the ones who fucking die: and the best who live. Not the other fucking way around. It is the healthiest who should live and the sickest who should die: not the other way around. And this is exactly what they have brainwashed the world into doing: save the sickest oldest rotting wrecks, and the fuck with all the healthiest and youngest and most able to become healthier! Kill the healthy and give heart transplants to the most senile useless dying human poisoned filth possible! Do not aid the young! Never give help to children! Except as a cunning way of actually poisoning them to death and weakening them and sabotaging their lives and souls and bodies while you claim to be 'helping' them.

The point is.... This tradition: this endless fucking need to conform and never raise your head to be counted as someone who defies authority or dares to try to improve anything. Or dares to try to be a better person... Because if you do... you will be smashed down. This is the unspoken, never mentioned fear of cowards. This subconscious brainwashing of the masses is never faced. It is never tested. It is never exposed. People are never educated about the history of evil, and how evil manages to stay alive and survive and flourish, and why nobody ever tries to fight it. The point is this: things that have the most control over you are the things you are not aware of. The things that control you the most: are the things you take the most for granted. The things that oppress and control you: are the things that you consider to be most normal. The things that keep you in a state of abject fear and terror all your life: are the things that are unspoken.

This is the subconscious tactic of undead filth: they try to brainwash all living humans into the false assumption that something is so 'forbidden'! Or so! Terrible! Or so! Horrible.... That it must never be spoken of ever. You must never be too good at anything: you must never be too good a student, too good a parent, too good a politician, too good a leader, too good a mother, etc, etc

But. However... there is no limit to how bad you can be. On the side of evil: the field is open to unlimited surpassing of the undead in their corrupt practices! In fact they love it when you surpass them in evil! Then you become one of them. Then you are their bosom buddy. Then they are morally more powerful than you. Then they can blame you! And you can't blame them for anything!~ you want to measure how evil you are? Simple: how successful you are in the eyes of the civilized world is exactly how evil you are; worldly success equal evil. The more successful you are: the more you are instrumental at spreading and creating and encouraging more evil to spread and grow and rot and destroy all good it touches. Get this through your fucking head: the ancients did not lie. In their time: evil was well known and much more distinctly bad, and not covered up as much as it is today. The rich kings and emperors and warlords with their armies of death and the tax gougers and slave owners and property owners were obviously evil because none of the poor starving masses had any of their rights and power and privileges whatsoever. Poor slaves were not allowed to own anything. Ownership: the concept of owning anything: was a distinctly exclusive privilege of the rich: and only the rich. The poor did not own anything. They were owned by the rich: period. And all of the fucking stinking lies which modern books have spread about the truth of the human species in the past, are yet another huge evil that civilization has invented.

The undead and the past lives scam.

This is another proof of their existence which has gone unnoticed. The false idea that you lived before, that souls can live again in other bodies. You did not live in the past. The undead lived in the past: nobody else, they just use your body to re-live their past memories: that's all. They violate your present life, and poison it with their past. These 'memories' of 'past lives' are not yours; they are the memories of undead filth who infiltrate your aura and use you to live their past over again. Vicariously. Using your subconscious mind, your dreams, using the weakest energy you have to live in. Your dreams. Your memories. They are experts at poisoning and sabotaging your memories and dreams until you can't tell which are yours and which are theirs.

They must be killed. Undead entities who poison the lives of the living are the basic reason for all human evil on earth. Undead cunning liars who fool innocent people into believing this junk about 'past lives' is just another wrinkle on the ancient scam of reincarnation. No human who dies is born again. Each living baby that is born, is born with their own unique soul intact. The undead filth who enter the auras of living babies and use these innocent loving humans for their own selfish insane filthy purposes must be killed. Once they are killed: there will be no more 'past lives'. There will be no living people who are gulled into swallowing the superstitious nonsense of having lived before in some 'past life'... That past life is an alien undead, unseen entity: possessing and poisoning you.

The Undead and Dreams

Most of the undead live in your dreams. They do not want to see the world you live in. They want to live in their own fantasies. They sabotage, poison, take over and steal your subconscious apparatus SECRETLY: and use it to act out their own subconscious tensions and fears and hatreds and insanities vicariously: by trying to re-live their past lives through the dreams of living people. They try to rationalize their insane wishes and impulses, and act out their sick hidden desires and sick needs and urges of guilt and shame and fear, and helplessness, and victimization. Your own true subconscious rebels against this invasion, but it cannot stop it from happening because you are not conscious enough to consciously fight this subtle, sick, violation from occurring. When you are asleep: when you are unconscious: you become an unconscious, unwitting, unwilling vessel for their dream plays. But their elaborate acts and staged fantasies always go awry, and become snarled and incomprehensible because they are mixed up with your own subconscious, and with the subconscious of many other undead filth who are trying to monopolize your dream capacity to their own ends at the same time This is why most dreams cannot be deciphered. This is why most dreams are crazy, this is why most dreams don't make sense, this is why most dreams seem to be meaningless. They are not meaningless; they are just so poisoned and twisted and corrupted by undead filth invading your dream, that unless you find out WHO: WHICH undead entities are poisoning your dream, and WHAT their agenda is, and WHY they are poisoning your dream, and what THEIR subconscious insane urges and addictions and fears and hatreds are: you will never be able to sift out the part of your dreams that come from you, and the parts that are poisoned by them. This can be seen in your dreams very simply: when somebody you NEVER MET, and never knew: appears in your dream: when strangers inhabit your dreams: when strange monsters inhabit them, when people who have died and are already dead come and poison your dreams: when all your re and family: all the undead entities of your own blood come to poison your wishes and desires.

Why? Because they are trying to live through you. . They are trying to force you to live their lives for them, and take on their guilt and responsibility so they can PROJECT their own guilt and shame and fear and hatreds upon YOU: and poison you into becoming as evil as they are and as sick and as corrupted as they are.

This poisoning of living humans by undead filth, is one of the basic reasons why the human animal has become over its existence more and more disconnected from itself and the actual world of Nature it lived in for millions of years. Until now: the human animal lives inside the poisoned corrupted sac of artificial evil called civilization. The point is: all the evils of civilization and civilization itself: was created and invented by undead entity filth: why? So they WOULD NOT DIE. Just to 'survive' a bit longer as undead insane corrupt entities. NO OTHER REASON: just not wanting to be killed, just not wanting to die. They were already killed and they already died: but not completely. The time has come to kill them completely: and free the world from their filthy evil presence.

The Undead, Astral Travel, and the Past Lives Scam

All Out-of body experiences are caused by undead auras who allow you to see what they see, feel what they feel, think what they think when they go outside of you. The experience of Astral travel is NOT you traveling out of your body. It is undead filth INSIDE you traveling OUTSIDE OF you. That is all. Very few living humans experience astral travel. Astral travel is only experienced by living humans whose souls and bodies have entirely been taken over by undead auras... undead auras who can LEAVE the body they inhabit, and come back to it. Be thankful you have never experienced this, because if you have: you are totally taken over and controlled by undead filth; so controlled that they can leave you and come back without any worries of you waking up from their evil poisoning presence.

All experiences of being 'born again' by New Age seekers who stupidly dabble in the supernatural are them being TAKEN OVER by undead spirits who then go on to control their entire lives and take over their persona and twist their lives as much as possible into committing the most evil and spreading as many evil twisted lies as possible. The Books of Lobsang Rampa are a perfect example: a sick weak Englishman agrees to allow an undead thing to take over his sick dying body, and experiences a relapse of his terminal cancer. He is 'saved' from imminent death not for any good reason. Instead: he is 'saved' from immediate death in order to spread LIES and LIES and more and more LIES to cover up the filthy truth about how these ancient priests and monks actually lived and what they actually did to young children. From a sick, weak ignorant Englishman: a member of the most evil Empire of its time: he became a world-known author read by millions of gullible New Age seekers who swallowed all the lies this undead thing wrote in his books. WHAT YOU NEED TO UNDERSTAND is THIS: any apparent good they do is ONLY in order to commit evil which will have a MILLION TIMES MORE IMPACT than any good WHICH is done. That unknown Englishman CHANGED HIS NAME to the name of the undead thing that took him over. That weak dying Englishman LOST HIS TRUE SELF: he lost his true soul. HE SOLD HIS SOUL TO THIS UNDEAD FOREIGN ORIENTAL DEVIL: while trying to JUSTIFY his bargain of gaining a few extra years of life by writing his filthy lying books and becoming famous and making huge amounts of money and becoming a worldly success.

The point is: devils do exist: devils still do bargain for human souls and human bodies: they still make unholy pacts with sick evil living humans. Modern civilized people have been hoodwinked into believing that there is no such thing as evil, there are no such things as evil spirits and demons. They are all utterly WRONG, and completely brainwashed by this assumption... and what's more, it has been the steady increase of evil in human civilization which has made this false assumption possible. Once ... these undead filth managed to poison nearly GOOD human morals and ethics, once these undead filth managed to corrupt nearly all of humanity into evil ways: once there was no VISIBLE GOOD in human civilization to contrast the evil which had taken over all of mankind, once nearly everything had been corrupted: these undead things turned the truth that all of mechanized human civilization is inherently and intrinsically evil rather than good.

The result is today: civilized brainwashed living people are arguing and bickering about how capitalist industrial civilization is destroying the planet they are living on.... While AT THE SAME TIME! Perceiving and religiously believing that industrialized mechanized civilization is inherently and intrinsically 'good' and 'progressive'!!

This conflicting diametrically opposed perception is totally fucking CRAZY!! It is not SANE! The Mechanized industrialized overpopulation of the Earth by 6.7 billion humans is either GOOD... or it is EVIL! It is not both! It cannot be both! This book is written so you the reader will understand the truth about human civilization, and the origin from where this evil comes from and what is fueling it, and how to stop it and reverse this insane suicidal march into total extinction..

The point is:

All the fucking so-called 'inexplicable'... 'Mysteries'... All the fucking shit about the 'supernatural' CAN BE LOGICALLY EXPLAINED by the existence of evil UNSEEN undead unspeakable filth.

For instance: take the sightings of UFO's: a relatively new phenomenon, can be logically explained by undead using electrical energy and other energies which have been spewed into the atmosphere by millions of planes and jets criss-crossing the earth. These sightings can be explained by undead who have stupidly tried to use this inorganic unnatural energy which destroys their undead human auras and intelligence. It can be explained by these insane things trying to dominate the earth by the oldest measure of reptilian bird dominance invented: physical height, the farthest distance from the earth being the exclusive realm of the most dominant killers of birds: hawks, eagles and buzzards.

The myth/lie of the 3rd eye: the attempt to envisage an exit sending your awareness out of your body is their little dirty joke: the picture you see is actually them leaving your body coming out of your rectum, out of your ASSHOLE: that is why it was named ASS-tral travel. That is how these filth enter your body: BECAUSE they are pure filth. When you stop eating and cleanse your body of rotting decay inside your intestines and rectal canal: they have no place to inside you to live anymore. This was... and still is why spiritual purity is linked to the physical cleanliness and purity of fasting, not eating. The lie of the 3rd eye being the gateway to astral travel is another of their reversals of the actual truth. There is no 3rd eye in your brain between your two living eyes. There are only filthy undead rotting things hiding inside you that travel in and out of your through your rectal canal: the dirtiest and only place they can enter your body. Their joke of fooling people to believe the opposite: that they can come in through the front of your head instead of through your asshole: even after calling it ass tral travel! How blind, how stupid can people be not to realize the truth?

The Undead in Myth, Legend, Folklore and Books

Vampire, ghouls, evil gnomes, brownies, evil spirits... are afraid of being caught and punished and killed. This is why throughout human history: stories of these evil filth common themes run through many tales of about them. One is the classic tale of Rumpelstiltskin: he loses all power over his host once his true name is found out. Who was he? He was the kin of her: he lived under her skin... hiding there in stillness. Rumped and put out whenever she did not do as he wanted her to do... once an evil spirit's true identity is found out... they usually flee and run away. Because they know they are guilty of committing a sin by secretly violating a living human's aura. Even undead dog auras have a guilty conscience when they do this and are found out. Some of them never come back. Most of them do; trying to hide themselves under another false name or a false identity. This is why in tales about vampires: they always change their name... some change their names only slightly: like the ghoul known as Carmilla who changed her named to Mircalla: keeping the same letters. The legends and myths scream out their hidden existence: Take the legend of the Swan Lake: the Black Swan Queen is a swan by day, and is half--human, half-swan by night. How obvious can you get? The undead ghoul steals into the swan's body while she is asleep. All the legends and fables tell how undead spirits foul the bodies of living animals and humans, and how all the misery and unhappiness in the world is due solely to their evil, cunning motives and intentions. Look at the Trinity of Christianity: it screams out how Jesus was possessed and poisoned by an undead ghost. AND by his father's spirit-energy. Not just one, but numerous filthy undead occupy and poison every living human body and soul. This is why they must be killed DEAD: exterminated: wiped out.

The Secret Existence of the undead

The undead are evil merely from the fact that they secretly EXIST inside you. Why? Because they are able to CHOOSE which one of your feelings or urges or behaviors or thoughts or acts, or decisions to REINFORCE and ENCOURAGE, and PUSH.... Just from their unseen EXISTENCE inside you and around you, they can and do influence your entire life. For instance: if one of the unseen undead filth hiding inside and around you is an alcoholic... their UNENDING CRAVING to drink alcohol... will push you to drink alcohol... IF an unseen undead filth hiding inside and around you is filled with rage and anger AGAINST ANYONE when they were alive, and were wife beaters, or bullies, or had any habit of committing violence, like working as a policeman: they can PUSH you into becoming a violent person who lashes out irrationally for NO REASON other than you being poisoned by their continual presence. If unseen undead secretly hiding inside was a murderer, or a rapist, or a greedy selfish cunning little sneak.... THEIR PERSONALITY LEAKS INTO YOU and your life CONTINUALLY... And as more time passes, as the older you get: THE MORE YOU BECOME LIKE the unseen undead who have been poisoning your body and mind and heart and body during YOUR ENTIRE LIFE.... Until...YOU BECOME THEM.... until... THEY BECOME YOU... until... you CANNOT DISTINGUISH ANY DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THEM AND YOU. UNTIL YOU BECOME AS EVIL AS THEY ARE.

THAT IS WHAT THEY WANT THAT IS ALL THEY WANT THAT IS ALL THEY DO
THIS IS WHY THEY ARE EVIL
THIS IS WHY THEY MUST BE KILLED AND COMPLETELY DESTROYED

Hidden undead inhuman auras ARE the ACTUAL ACCUMULATION of ALL EVIL HUMANS AND ALL EVIL HUMAN HABITS AND ATROCITIES AND SINS AND CRIMES EVER COMMITTED BY all HUMAN BEINGS who ever LIVED. THEY ARE THE REASON EVERYTHING ALWAYS GETS WORSE: not better.

Their evil is a simple dynamic of BIO-FEEDBACK: except it is not feedback between two living happy healthy people who have no evil hidden agendas, and are not hiding in secret, and their entire survival and existence is not based upon SECRECY and CUNNING EVIL. It is a SICK feedback between LIVING people and DEAD people. WHEN Living people become aware that all of the BAD feelings and NEGATIVE urges and UNFEELING behavior they have is NOT because of them but because of the unseen undead FILTHY ROTTEN GHOULS that poison you by their very EXISTENCE: then living people WILL KILL ALL UNDEAD SPIRITS ON EARTH until there is NO MORE UNDEAD EVIL ANYMORE LEFT.

The point about the undead is: when you die: you are supposed to die COMPLETELY; without trying to stay alive. When you live: you are supposed to live COMPLETELY: without being afraid of LIFE and without being afraid of DYING. Your JOB in life is to GIVE ALL YOUR LIFE ENERGY TO LIFE: NOT TO DEAD SCUM WHO SUCK OFF YOUR LIFE-ENERGY EVERY NIGHT JUST SO THEY CAN STAY ALIVE A LITTLE BIT LONGER.

The SECRET of their existence MUST END: their EXISTENCE must be EXPOSED AND TOLD TO EVERY SINGLE LIVING HUMAN ON EARTH. All human evil arises FROM THE FACT THAT THEY EXIST SECRETLY. All human evil arises from the fact that they HIDE their existence from living humans. All human evil arises from the FACT OF THEIR HIDDEN SECRET EXISTENCE. THEY MUST BE COMPLETELY KILLED AND DESTROYED.

Why the Undead are INSANE
Why they are EVIL
Why THE EVIL OF THE UNDEAD IS INSANE
Why THE INSANITY OF THE UNDEAD IS EVIL

The reason undead auras are not sane is because they are an obscene, merged, miscegenation of complete different living species that were NEVER designed and never meant to mix their genes or their sperm OR THEIR UNDEAD AURAS together. The miscegenation of mating a horse with a donkey is horrible enough: but an undead aura merging with an undead aura of another species... or with a living animal: produces: sexually castrated, changed, desexualized, emasculated, gelded, mutilated, neutered, spayed, unsexed altered, castrated, , desexualized, doctored, fixed, gelded, barren, impotent, infertile, e sexless, mutilated, spayed, sterilized monsters.

For instance... Of all horrible permutations of all the undead monstrosities, of all the undead auras of undead species mixing themselves together by seeping into one living creature or person... take the example of one undead human aura merge with the aura of an undead vulture or carrion eater or scavenger or bird of prey. Which includes all the highest reptilian birds in the realm of the undead because that is what they are: carrion eaters, predators, scavengers, thieves stealing food from smaller birds.

BIRDS CANNOT CRY. Birds do not have any nerves inside their bellies. BIRDS DO NOT FEEL PAIN. BIRDS DON'T KNOW WHAT PAIN IS. BIRDS CANNOT LAUGH. BIRDS CANNOT HUG. BIRDS CANNOT TOUCH EACH OTHER. BIRDS CANNOT TOUCH ANYTHING. BIRDS HAVE TINY BRAINS programmed to run on 100% REPTILE INSTINCT. BIRDS HAVE NO FEELING IN THEIR FEET. BIRDS DO NOT HAVE ANY FEELING IN THEIR FINGERS. BIRDS CANNOT FEEL PAIN IN THEIR FEET OR THEIR FINGERS. BIRDS HAVE SPLIT VISION. Except for owls; BIRDS DO NOT HAVE BINOCULAR VISION. BIRDS HAVE SPLIT BRAINS. BIRDS CANNOT CONNECT ONE SIDE OF THEIR BRAIN TO THE OTHER.

What is the result when an undead bird aura enters the undead aura of an undead human? Its awareness CHANGES. The way it perceives CHANGES. The way it feels CHANGES. It stops being human altogether. It CANNOT UNDERSTAND human emotions: it CANNOT understand human tears. It CANNOT understand human emotions.... SUDDENLY! The undead human thinks to itself...

“Why I’m not feeling any pain anymore... this is WONDERFUL! I’ve become an archangel of the LORD GOD ALMIGHTY! I have WINGS! I can FLY places! I can look DOWN on these puny mortals and LAUGH! At their tears and at their sorrow and pain because I DON’T FEEL THEM ANYMORE!... IN fact I hate these things called humans... I... uh... why has my complete outlook on my family and my wife and children suddenly changed? I don’t underst-”

THEY DON’T EVEN THINK ‘why’... they just ASSUME that they are suddenly immortal powerful GODS who are so far ABOVE human suffering and pain that nothing. They don’t realize that undead have been doing this to new entries coming into their realm for MILLIONS OF YEARS.

What is the result? They cannot feel pain or sadness or pain anymore. THEY ALSO CANNOT FEEL ANY HUMAN LOVE. THEY CANNOT CARE FOR ANY LIVING CREATURE. They become INHUMAN MONSTERS. They cannot LAUGH. Birds can caw, and jeer in hate and envy and fear. They end up CACKLING... like INSANE SCIENTISTS. TOTALLY MAD. They have NO feelings of remorse for what they do to living creatures. They cannot feel pain. They cannot cry... Suddenly! They are angelic floating things... who CANNOT CONNECT their right brain to their left brain. This CRIPPLES THEM into becoming undead IMBECILES.

BIRDS DO NOT LIKE TO BE TOUCHED. BIRDS DO NOT UNDERSTAND HUMAN LOVE AND THE NEED TO TOUCH ANOTHER LIVING HUMAN. BIRDS DO NOT UNDERSTAND THE SENSITIVITY of human SKIN. The skin of birds DO NOT HAVE ANY TACTILE NERVES IN THEM: THEY CANNOT FEEL THEIR OWN SKIN. Try coming too close to an undead fucking ‘angel’ with wings? IT FLIES OFF and becomes VERY ANGRY AT YOU for you trying to touch it. THAT IS NOT A HUMAN RESPONSE: that is an insane response of an insane merged undead shit-filled thing that has MORE THAN ONE KIND OF SPECIES inside its combined aura.

BIRDS DO NOT UNDERSTAND HUMAN LANGUAGE: most undead things with wings DO NOT SPEAK: not because they don't want to: but because their mental-physical synapses have been cunningly DESTROYED by this obscene merging of a REPTILE aura with a HUMAN aura. All they do is 'smile' at you: because they exist in an insane detached unfeeling, unthinking PAINLESS level of PERMANENT INSANITY.

The brains of birds REVERSE images and impressions and sensations from one side of their brain to the other. When they are REALLY mystified by what you are doing: they have to look at you first with ONE eye... and then cock their head and look at you with the OTHER side of their brain. Then they have CONVERSATIONS WITH THEMSELVES: one side of their brain talks to the other side of their brain: THROUGH JABBERING TWITTERS: that mean NOTHING. The bird is TRYING to APE and MIMIC human language and human understanding and human thought... but it can't do it because its body and brain is still that of a reptile that lays EGGS.

BIRDS CANNOT KISS. Birds fuck: for one 1/10th of a SECOND... ONCE A YEAR. Birds do not understand HUMAN LOVE. BIRDS DO NOT UNDERSTAND HUMAN SEX. All birds understand is the superiority of PHYSICAL HEIGHT, hate and the oral fixation of gluttony: NOTHING ELSE. As long as they can fly higher than you can walk: THEY THINK ... they BELIEVE... that they are STILL the HIGHEST... most DOMINANT SPECIES ON EARTH. Actually they do not think or believe: they just have this view of life implanted into their genetic DNA on an INSTINCTUAL LEVEL.

Shape-Shifters

The goblin known as 'Robin' or 'Robert' was a nickname for the Devil himself. He could change his shape from that of a bird, to that of a human figure, to that of a goblin monster, to that of an even more misshapen filthy thing: all depending on which one of his many aural-shapes he chose to radiate; which one of his insane personalities he chose to use. Now... that you understand the science behind the aural inter-species miscegenation of the undead leftover remnants of dead bodies and dead brains that refuse to die because they refused to live: you can understand why all the legends, fables, myths, stories, etc of elfin spirits, spirits that change their shape exist. Every ancient culture speaks of weird, horrible, insane, deformed, mutated monsters that have more than one shape, more than one persona. Undead invisible unseen entities which have inhabited hundreds, of different living bodies, hiding inside different species; become horribly twisted, deformed, ugly, grotesque mutations whose brains and bodies, and vicarious life experiences: while sucking off the living creatures they hide inside and violate; are so poisoned by their own interference with the living auras of the creatures they hide inside; they are so poisoned by their own devious, hidden, secret, unseen, invisible poisonous practice of entering energy auras that are not even of their own species; no living human, no living creature can begin to imagine or realize or understand their crazed, irrational, insane motives. No living human can fathom their actions, motives, feelings, thoughts. No living person can ever understand how truly crazy and insane and evil these things actually are. There is no reason to understand these things. There is no reason to understand them. These things need to be killed completely. These things are more cancerous, more poisonous, more rotten, more pus-filled with evil: than the most lethal radioactive isotopes on earth. IF: living creature are to be able to live, if LIFE is to flourish: the Earth must be completely cleansed of these filthy things.

The Path of Splitness

1844

From A Midsummer Night's Dream, Act II, scene 1

FAIRY

Either I mistake your shape and making quite,
Or else you are that shrewd and knavish sprite Called Robin Goodfellow. Are not you he
That frights the maidens of the villagery,
Skim milk, and sometimes labour in the quern,
And bootless make the breathless housewife churn,
And sometime make the drink to bear no barm,
Mislead night-wanders, laughing at their harm?
Those that Hobgoblin call you, and sweet Puck,
You do their work, and they shall have good luck.
Are you not he?

PUCK

Thou speakest aright;
I am that merry wanderer of the night.
I jest to Oberon, and make him smile
When I a fat and bean-fed horse beguile,
Neighing in likeness of a filly foal;
And sometime lurk I in a gossip's bowl
In very likeness of a roasted crab,
And when she drinks, against her lips I bob
And on her withered dewlap pour the ale.
The wisest aunt, telling the saddest tale,
Sometime for three-foot stool mistaketh me;
Then slip I from her bum, down topples she,
And 'tailor' cries, and falls into a cough;
And then the whole quire hold their hips and laugh,
And waxen in their mirth, and neeze, and swear
A merrier hour was never wasted there.

Puck is the black puck of death: the hockey puck: a black dead thing hurled at living people

The Unseen Undead: and Sexual Perversion

Once all undead entities are destroyed completely: then there will no more homosexual perversion, no more lesbianism, and no more sexual perversion in the world anymore. The entire reason homosexual/lesbian sexuality even exists: is because undead filth invading unborn living human babies: discover after they are locked into that baby's powerful life aura for the rest of its physical life: unable to escape... and that the sex of the aura of the living baby they chose to invade... is the 'wrong' sex. Why? Because the human fetus decides its own sex after insemination. If an undead parasite enters that fetus before it has chosen its sex, it has a 50% chance of being imprisoned inside a living human body of the opposite sex.

Human sexual perversion and the corruption of sexual identity: stems from undead entities of the wrong sex living and hiding inside your body and sex organs. Why do they steal inside an unborn baby's soul and aura before that baby forms a sexual identity genetically? Because they want to be there first: they want to be the one entity that has more power to control and manipulate that baby's life than others who come after them. They want to live through that living human baby: they want another life: they want to live another lifetime again: by becoming secret parasites hiding inside the baby's aura inside the mother's womb as the fetus grows. The earlier they poison that developing fetus: the more power they have to poison it and corrupt it later on: the stronger their hold is over that unsuspecting living baby's life, the more power they have to fight off other entities trying to get into this baby's body, and keep that baby for its own sick, evil purposes:

This is why children have nightmares: this is why babies wake up crying. The fight over control and possession and ownership of a human fetus, baby or child by undead filth during the night are the monsters which children experience in their dreams. The fight over possession and ownership of a human fetus beginning to grow inside a mother's womb: by undead insane sick filth: comes from the idea of ownership: the idea that living humans can be owned and enslaved. This idea is hundreds of thousands of years old. This idea came from our dead ancestors. This is the reason they must be killed.

If you want all people on earth to stop being lesbians and homosexuals, so all good humans are heterosexual and every living male is attracted to girls and every living female is attracted to boys naturally: without and filthy pornographic intentions or desires: all you have to do is kill every single one of the undead pieces of stinking unseen filth hiding inside the living bodies and living auras of living people... and you will have paradise on earth today. Then there will only be natural love: then there will not be any love that is poisoned by undead filth.

This is why they must be killed: unseen undead entities are the root cause of all human sexual perversion and sexual identity theft. The only reason a living boy is attracted to another male: is because he has female undead unseen entities inside him poisoning all of his emotions and sexual urges. The only reason a living girl is attracted to another girl: is because she has male unseen undead entities inside her poisoning her emotions and sexual energy.

In other words... your sin is not of you> the evil you are, originates and comes from undead, unseen, unfelt entities living and secretly hiding inside you. You are not responsible for the origins of the evils you commit: it is they who are responsible and it is they the undead who must pay for their sins: not you. As long as you fight their hidden evil directly: and seek out the poison inside you; you are on the side of GOOD. If you aid them and abet them: then you become evil. Then you become one of them.

The only way you can escape their fate: the only way you can avoid becoming one of them: is to oppose them and kill them. They are your mortal enemy and they hate all living things on earth... If you wasted your life on earth: if the only life you had to love and live: and instead you hated and killed... and then were doomed to watch as a bystander; the lives of other living creatures for millions of years: wouldn't you develop a blind hatred for all living things that are not as dead and not as evil as you are? The evil of the undead is not a fucking fairytale: it is not hard to understand why they are evil, and it is not hard to understand how they are evil.

The history of the human species is one of increasing insanity, increasing disconnection from oneself and the outer actual world. The history of increasing abstraction, which living humans see as an innovation called settled civilizations, is actually only the after-effect of living humans who have been poisoned with more and more undead auras invading their life-energy and body and mind and heart and sex organs and living through them... reliving their own un-lived lives, trying to bring back the past, preserving the past, forcing living humans to serve them. The more living humans become vessels of the unseen undead: the more evil and the more insane living humans become. Very, very rarely does a living human ever have a dream that is their own, and not a dream planned and forced onto them by some hidden unseen observer who wants to play out some sick way of poisoning their host so once it dies, it will remain under their control forever. This is what you must know. When you throw off all the myths and lies that have brainwashed you into 'loving' your killers and rapists and oppressors, and obeying them... you become a mortal threat to them. You become uncontrollable by them.

Then... when you die, you can enter the realm of the undead and start killing them as they deserve to be killed. And cleanse the earth of as many of these sick insane things as possible... so living creatures and living humans can live without their sick evil presence poisoning their inner souls from birth.

Once you realize you have the power to kill them. Then all their supposed 'sanctity' and all their supposed wisdom and mystical nonsense will vanish from your perception of them. And you will have the pleasure of killing a truly evil thing, and ridding the earth of evil, and nurturing good. You nurture good by killing all gods. Gods are ancient evil scum; that need to be destroyed completely. Unseen undead auras are insane evil poisonous things that need to be killed, and taken apart and reduced down to the lowest energy possible. Their personalities have to be killed. Their identities have to be killed. Their aural bodies have to be killed. They must be destroyed completely. Because if they are not: your children and all your children's children will be poisoned by them.

If you join the ranks of these evil filth: you will become something so sick, so twisted, so evil... that you must be killed completely also. You have the choice of being good or evil during your life on earth... You also have the same choice once you die. Life is stronger than death. Life has always been stronger than death. If you choose to be on the side of death: you will be killed completely. If you choose life: then you will never die. If you refuse to choose: that is the same as choosing death. Inactivity is death. If you want to be as passive as an unmoving stone: then you will become as dead as that stone.

This means that once you enter their realm: you have no right to invade and violate any living human body or aura or soul....

Except to go in and kill the unseen auras hiding there poisoning that living unsuspecting human animal.

Any contact between the undead and the living is only allowed if it is direct and honest. If the living cannot see you and cannot hear you: you have no right to invade them, unless you are trying to help them and heal them. But you cannot help or heal them. You can only let them live their own lives unpoisoned by your own evil. No living creature was ever designed to have multiple unseen auras inhabiting and corrupting the aura of their own living organism. The evil of the undead is an outrage against all living things and all life. You can kill them at night when they surround sleeping unsuspecting living humans. You can pick them off one at a time. You can kill them, and they will flee and try to hide. You will find out their hiding places because they are easy to find, and you will be stronger than all of them put together. If your rage and anger at them is honest and true: they have nothing to fight back with: because they are all guilty of crimes and sins so horrible: words cannot describe the evils they have perpetrated and continue to perpetrate upon all living things.

As I have stated in this book over and over in this book: everything has an understandable reason, everything can be explained and understood. But only if you are brutally honest with yourself, and do not accept lies and you are critical of everything you do find. And check it and double check it, and cross-check it and cross-reference it... until the mass of supporting data becomes so large that there is no possibility of your conclusion being wrong. This is why this book is in the thousands of pages, not in a few hundred, which it could easily be. There is too much rational sane logic in this book to be ignored. The logic of this book cannot be ignored. There is too much information in this book to be ignored, there is too much factual data in this book to be ignored there are too many facts and too many truths in this book in this book to be ignored that support each other... there is too much information that can be cross-checked and verified and cross-referenced, and proven to be 100 fucking per cent true. There are too many connections that cannot be ignored. There are too many connections in this book that make logical sense. There are too many connections in this book that make common sense. There are too many connections in this book that make practical sense.

Understanding the Basic Evil of All Undead Entities

Undead things are made of negative energy.

Anything that is undead: is negative.

There is no positive energy in undead shit things whatsoever

Undead energy auras only reinforce negative things.

Undead entities only understand negative things.

Undead filth auras only understand: hate, fear, envy, cowardice, lying, Deception, hiding unseen, committing as much evil as possible.

Undead negative shit filth auras only reinforce negative emotions.

Undead negative shit filth auras only reinforce negative thoughts.

Undead negative shit things only reinforce negative acts.

Undead negative things: fear and hate all positive energy. Undead negative energy auras envy all positive life energy.

Undead auras are energies are made of rotting dying weak evil filth.

There is nothing good about any undead entity or undead thing.

They are all 100% bad-evil-rotten.

They are mortal enemies of all living things.

Undead auras:
Undead entities
Undead spirits
Undead ghosts
Undead poltergeists
Undead gods
Undead things
Undead demons
Undead monsters

are all the same negative shit dead filth

Undead angels
Undead half-human Undead monstrosities
Undead lizard-people

When living humans decide to be negative: when living humans decide to act negatively: when: they decide to hate, kill, envy, fear: they are aiding abetting and feeding all the negative energy auras around them and inside them. The more living humans feed the negative undead energy sucking off their positive energy auras:

The more control these filth have over you. The less control you have over yourself and your life.

How to fight the unseen undead filth inside you and all around you:

You can fight their poison by re-examining, and remembering and backtracking and re-evaluating your entire life; by re-living all the memories of your life: and digesting all of your memories into an integration that is you.

This integrates your personality into a stronger personality than the fragmented, insane, evil hidden undead, unseen personalities that are hiding inside your personality. They hide inside your personality as latent. Negative, evil, hidden energy. Waiting for the slightest sign of weakness, the slightest crevice, the smallest weak point in your entire personality and energy aura; to exploit, sneak into, expand, weaken, twist, poison, corrupt, damage, and do whatever harm they can possible inflict.

Once you recognize your weaknesses. Once you recognize instances in your life: when you were attacked and infiltrated by these unseen filth, once you recognize the crucial moments which defined your understanding and opinions and attitudes; and examine them and evaluate them: and find out if they were positive or negative. Then you can systematically eject every negative energy inside your personality by ejecting the negative conclusions and assumptions and beliefs that these fucking stinking shit filth tried to brainwash your personality.

The goal of the process of cleansing yourself of all undead negative auras inside you and around you: is to make you a happier, healthier, stronger, better human being. You can't do this alone! This can't be done alone. It has to be done with other people who want to get better. And it can only be done by people who recognize that they are sick, and want to get better.

The entire goal of undead evil is preventing living humans from touching each other. The more deeply you touch another living person: the more you and he or she becomes empathetic sensitive human beings with human emotions and feelings that are not evil and not negative. The only way people can eject undead shit out of their lives and bodies is by having no bad or evil intentions towards any and all living things. The only way living people can eject undead shit out of their lives and bodies is to be constantly critically aware of the difference between positive and negative energy.

By you sharing your most innermost thoughts and feelings with other people. And by them also sharing their most innermost thoughts and feelings with you. By treating each other equally, by sharing everything with each other as equals, by having no secrets, by keeping no secrets: the hidden, unseen destructive shitfilth hiding inside you and all around you: will have nothing they can use against you. Undead unseen shit only work by secrecy. Undead filth only survives through secrecy. If you keep no secrets: then they will be forced to expose their existence to you, because that will be the only avenue left to them, that will be the only remaining they can do any harm to you.

1849

Understand this: the more you eject them out of your body and out of your surroundings and life: the more they will try to get back in. The more you fight them the more you will discover them, the more you will find out where they are and what they are and who they are: because the more clearly you define the difference between Good and evil, the more positive your life energy becomes: the wiser you become, the more aware you become of the difference between positive energy of love, friendship, honesty courage, fun happiness, wonder, equality, cooperation, harmony and the negative energy of hate, adversarial relationships, competition, snobbery, dishonesty, cowardice, miserable people who spread gloom and hate, animosity, boredom, boring dead souls, inequality, etc...

The better you will be able to tell the difference between living people who are good and living people who are bad. And the more you fight and eject all bad people from your life: the more all the negative unseen energy of undead shit that is unseen: will try to re-poison you and re-attack you, and the more they will be forced to expose their actual negative intentions towards you. And the better you will be able to kill them.

The more you attack them, the more they will run away from you, the more afraid they will become of you and the more space around you will be free of these shit stinking unseen things. Understand this!!! No!! No negative energy can stand against positive energy! Positive energy is stronger. All positive energy is stronger than negative energy!! The only way negative energy can harm positive energy is by using cunning ploys to infiltrate positive energy so slowly and so subtly... that it does not notice itself being poisoned and infiltrated: or by surprise attacks and carefully orchestrated moments of falsely perceived weakness.

You cleanse yourselves of undead unseen filth by coming together as human beings and sharing your lives with each other. By telling your entire life story: by tracing all of your memories back to the earliest memories that you ever had. By sharing the exploration of your inner selves with each other. You will systematically get rid of all your secrets. Once you have no secrets anymore: once you tell all of your secrets to everyone who is close to you. And they also tell their secrets to you and do not keep back or hold any secrets... then nobody can harm you. Then no living or undead energy can harm you. Then your integrated positive personality will not have any negative thoughts or feelings or act negatively....

This does not mean you will not see and perceive negative energy! This does not mean you will be a blind innocent fool who can be fooled and gulled and deceived anymore!

This means that you will be able to see negative energy and negative people a mile away: this means you will be able to perceive and recognize evil energy before it even gets close to you. This means you will be more aware of what positive and negative energy is. This means you will not be laboring under any delusions or misperceptions or misunderstanding of the actual fucking truth. Honest people cannot be fooled. Only people who have been brainwashed and told lies and have been fooled into believing lies can be fooled by liars.

How cleansing yourself of undead evil works is simple and natural, and understandable. There is no mystery about how to get rid of these fucking shitholes. The closer you become to your true self, the more honestly you share yourself with others and they with you. Remember this: Honesty is a two-way street. It does not work when one person is honest and the other person is dishonest. Undead filth are specialized in one-way streets and one-way forms of perception and one-way forms of evil called stealing, taking, selfishness, accumulation, piling up secrets. The more you share yourself with others: and the more they do the same with you ... As equals... equally. Not as doctor and patient: not as healer-guru and whining ignorant worshipper, not as leaders and followers, not as higher and lower classes: but as one hundred percent equal human beings who recognize each others humanity, and their own humanity as the universal worth of human life.

The more you share yourself with other and they share themselves with you! Never allow yourself to be used or fooled by cunning filthy con artists. The more you share yourself with other and they share themselves with you: the more sensitive you become, the more sensitized you become to positive: kind, sensitive loving kindness, gentleness, sensitive touching, sensitive feelings, sensitive thoughts, sensitive energy... that is 100% positive.

Understand this: brutality is negative. Detachment from pain is evil. The more sensitive you become to your own feelings: the more sensitive you become to the feelings of others, the more sensitive you become to all life energy. Pain is not negative: pain is necessary in healing. Sadness, kindness, sorrow, hurt, pain: if you do not feel the hurt you have suffered: you cannot heal from that hurt. People who are emotionally dead: cannot heal. People who are not sensitive to emotions and thoughts are not sensitive enough to begin healing.

Being more sensitive does not mean avoiding pain, or shrinking from pain. Being sensitive is having the courage to feel your own pain, the courage to feel all of your pain, the courage to feel the pain of others, and the critical intelligence to perceive the difference between a false sense of being hurt, and an actual hurt that is actually painful. Being able to tell an honest feeling from a false emotion; is the learning process of honesty-courage-wonder- and fun that sharing yourself with others and they with you will give you. Being able to tell the difference between the squalling of a spoiled brat who needs a swift kick in the pants, and the honest tears of sorrow and unhappiness of a child that is being hurt is what sharing with other and they sharing with you will give you. The more sensitive you become, the more all of you share your selves with each other, the more you see each other and treat each other as equals. The better you will be able to expose and kill each undead shitfilth hiding inside you and hovering around you, and trying to take you by surprise attacks when you are not looking, and while you are asleep.

Conclusion

The modern attitude of superiority, of superior enlightenment over all past history: seeing all the people who once lived and believed in the existence of spirits... as a silly superstition, as something to be totally ignored and laughed at. The idea... that we modern humans know more, are more intelligent, and far less superstitious than all the living people who for 100,000 years; believed in, worshipped, and feared the evil power of undead spirits: is an intellectual arrogance, an orchestrated blindness and ignorance that must be wiped out. To think that all the people who ever lived before us were all wrong: and that only we, are now perfectly correct in pooh-pooing the existence of ghosts and undead spirits because even if they do exist; they are harmless. That is exactly what the undead want you to think. They want you to underestimate them and discount them, and never believe in their existence. Why? Because this way: they can commit far more havoc and create far more evil undetected. For centuries: when evil came upon people, when they were lucky enough to recognize that evil did not actually originate from them: they fought back by refusing to be corrupted, by fighting and resisting evil urges they felt...

But now: with the entire world worshipping unspoken religion of self-gratification. There is no criticism of one's own actions, or thoughts, or feelings anymore. Whatever you may feel or think or do: why nobody is responsible except you of course. This is not true. There are logical reasons why people act badly and do bad things for no apparent reason. The true reasons are hidden. The true reasons are unseen. The true evil which exists in this world is unseen by living humans. Now this book has exposed them.

The conclusion of this book: is that all civilized truths and all of civilization is a reversal of the actual truth. Civilization has sold the idea that the spiritual world is good, and the physical world is evil. Civilization has sold the idea that spirituality is higher and better than physical existence. The opposite is true.

The actual truth is that it is the other way around. Life and all living creatures are good. Death and all the undead parasites that feed off living animals, and poison them and corrupt them are evil. All of the undead wraiths, goblins, spirits, angels, devils, demons, gods, goddesses, etc: are evil and must be killed. If they are not completely killed and destroyed completely: they will continue to poison and infest all fertile living things from birth.

For thousands of years: Western religions have taught the dogma of the realm of the living being an evil cesspool, and the realm of the undead being a heaven: where true believers in heaven are welcomed and their sins forgiven: and all those who are not true believers are cast into the pits of hell. This is how they brainwash living people. The actual truth is the reverse: it is LIFE which is GOOD and death which is evil, it is the undead who poison living creatures with their secret presence, and... by their secret poisoning parasitic presence: hidden inside living people: turn the realm of the living into a recreation of the undead hell of their dead souls, into a hell of the dead past: visiting all the sins they are guilty of: onto innocent living animals and human beings> poisoning them and sucking off their life energy like the vampire parasites they actually are: infiltrating their sexual organs, their bodies and lings and brains and hearts of the living: until living healthy people become so poisoned by these unseen evil parasites of the supposedly higher-better spiritual realm: that living people become corrupt and evil themselves before they die.

Understand this: the undead have only one goal: and that is to poison and corrupt and kill the living while sucking all their life energy out of them as they do it.

By reversing this truth. By instilling an unspoken assumption... from birth: into your brain, that spiritual existence is good, and living physical existence is evil and programming you to revere and hold the spirit world in awe and mystery, while denigrating all life and all living creatures: they have already brainwashed you into becoming one of them... before you even die... so when you die and become an undead thing: you will be easy to control: since they have already brainwashed all of your living life into believing their lies, and join them in hating all living animals and living plants and living people, and poisoning all of life: by loving dead things, and fearing and hating all living things.

There is no point in killing live people who are infested by these unseen scum. The undead will just leave the living host and find another living host to infest and poison. To destroy evil; it must be killed at its root: otherwise it comes back. And the root of all human evil is undead, unseen auras. This is what needs to be understood. Killing a living human who is evil: will not destroy the evil that exists inside that living human which poisoned that living person to become evil. This is the reason why evil persists in the world. This is the reason evil has never been stamped out completely. This is the unseen, secret reason why evil keeps on cropping up.

This is the challenge that living humans face. This does not mean that living humans who are evil should not be killed: they should. But this will not make their evil go away or disappear: it will only drive these undead scum to hide inside other living vessels, and that is not a permanent solution to the evil of their existence. People who pass over into their realm must seek out these undead scum out and kill them completely DEAD.

But... but: Then what is the humane way to treat evil people? Kill them or don't kill them? This is confusing! No it is not. What living people must do: is have a zero tolerance for all evil. How can this do anything? Once any living human society has a zero tolerance for any evil: the undead scum hiding inside living human bodies will leave... and suddenly: you will see a miracle occur: a formerly evil person suddenly stops being evil. Instantly. By magic. Even if these living humans are indeed intrinsically evil... they are also sociopathically and psychopathically insane: and they will instantly assume the social mores and norms of whatever culture and society they live in. All that living humans need to do to make evil disappear is to have a majority culture of zero tolerance for evil. Once this is established: anyone who disobeys this edict of zero tolerance can and should be killed dead. But... you will find to your amazement: that once a zero tolerance for any misbehavior is established by the living majority of humans on earth: there will be no transgressors at all... none. Only after the zero tolerance of evil is established: will living humans realize that what they thought were evil living humans who were intrinsically evil: were actually only being poisoned by undead, unseen entities... that they were not actually evil themselves.

Again: this is the complete opposite of what people have been taught and led to believe. Compromise is supposed to be the only intelligent way to live without violence. This is only true, and only applies towards nonviolent people who have no hidden secret hidden evil intentions. This does not apply to liars and hypocrites and psychopathic personalities who mask themselves by conforming to whatever social norm happens to exist.

This is the sick crime and sick evil of the undead: and why they should all be killed and destroyed completely. They are responsible for poisoning living humans and turning them into living human monsters: and then leaving their living human host, and laughing at the joke of a living human killing another living human... while they get away scot-free with their thousands of unseen crimes and sins, and urge on the living humans as they kill the living human who was corrupted and possessed and manipulated by them into evil. Modern humanity has tried to solve this dilemma by outlawing capital punishment and refusing to kill any living human no matter how horrible their crimes may be... they have the right idea. But they are on the wrong track. Evil must be punished immediately whenever it is found in a living human, and not tolerated at all.

Is this confusing? No it is not. If there is a zero tolerance of murder. Every murderer must be killed immediately when they are caught committing a crime: they must be caught red handed and killed. Once the undead see this: and know that they cannot get away with getting living humans to kill other living humans anymore... they will seek other ways to try to commit evil. Once all avenues to commit evil are blocked by instant retribution and punishment: they will be nipped in the bud and given no chance to spread. Once they are totally blocked in their insane desire to kill and maim and violate living human hosts: they will be forced to expose themselves and reveal their existence and the fact that they actually do exist to living humans. Then the battle line between the living and the undead will be finally be clearly drawn. Then living humans will gather together to fight against and kill and totally destroy their common universal mortal enemy: the undead.

Only when you: the living, stand up and fight for life and protect and nurture all living creatures great and small: only when you become the friend of all living things on earth... only then will you ever become the mortal enemy of unseen undead evil entities. Only when you cleanse yourself of all evil practices and behaviors and attitudes and habits and mindsets and lifestyles which the undead has poisoned you with: will you ever polarize your energy strongly enough so it becomes good energy, until your life-energy becomes so powerful and clean and good and healthy: that unseen undead poisonous filthy sneaking auras will not be able to penetrate the radiating aura of good energy coming from you. Living humans have been poisoned by the past. Living humans carry the dead weight of the past on their backs for no good reason: except to perpetuate and preserve the sick, insane customs of undead ghouls.

Living creatures are not naturally evil! It is not in the nature of life to kill. The true nature of life is the creation of more life, and the nurturing and loving of all life and all living things. Once you learn this: you will become the mortal enemy of all unseen undead evil spirits. This is why this book has been written. Living people need to be given the knowledge, and the insight to take back their lives from the undead invisible ghouls who try to control and manipulate and orchestrate their lives. The undead have only one intention: that intention is evil: it is pointed at killing all life on earth. It is pointed at killing you, the reader of this book. It is pointed at all people who read this book. It is pointed at all people who are curious and have enough courage and honesty to search for the truth as I have... and refuse to be fooled by lies. You are being poisoned by undead filth hiding within you right now. When you realize this: you will wake up. When you understand this: you will read this book again: and have a better understanding of why I wrote this book.

This book is written for all people who want to love: and have had their love poisoned by unseen invisible filth. For all the crimes they committed against me: I will kill every motherfucking undead thing I find. And I will not stop killing them: until every single undead evil invisible piece of undead shit is gone from this earth: so decent loving honest courageous living humans can live decent loving honest courageous lives: without being poisoned, damaged and stunted by these stinking pieces of shit.

*Why do undead entities hate all living creatures?
Why do all undead entities want to poison all life?*

Because due to their miscegenation. Because they mix their auras together unnaturally: all of them have become deformed, ugly, monstrous, insane, obscene mutations that are not human, not animal, not reptile, not bird, not insect; but a rotting mixture of dying negative energy.

They cannot look at themselves: because when they do: they see how ugly they are: they see how horrible they are. They want to drag down all life to their level of deformity and obscene mutations; they want to poison all living things: so it will become poisoned as much as they are poisoned. They want to deform all life into the ugliest possible deformities. That is why they are pushing nuclear power: this is why undead want radioactive death to spread all over the world

Scientific studies have revealed a surprising fact about insect deformities near all nuclear plants. They have found that regardless of the level of radioactivity: regardless of how little radioactive poison is being leaked from radioactive power-plants all over the world... the insect populations near all the nuclear power-plants in the world: are deformed: mutated: obscenely: ugly: horrible deformed poisoned monsters. Regardless of how clean the power-plant is. The cleanest nuclear power-plants in the world have the exact same phenomenon of mutated deformed, sick, dying, misshapen insect population near them as the dirtiest polluting nuclear power-plants leaking radioactive poison..

Undead entities: have been poisoning themselves radioactively for millions of years because they are energy forms of pure radiation. They are designed to radiate their OUT: instead they have done the opposite: they radiate their insanity IN, and cunningly seep their evil energy into living creatures. The dead dying-rotting radiation energy they are made of: was and is designed to be completely decomposed: down to levels of decomposing atomic radiation. They are not supposed to exist at all. They have no right to exist. They have no purpose to exist. They have no usefulness, they have no reason to exist. This is why they must be killed. They are an accumulation of garbage energy of unexperienced experiences. A grab bag of all the experiences of lying creatures: who lied: who did not live: who refused to learn the truth.

Water seeks its own level: these radioactively poisoned deformed mutation of rotting radiation-undead seek their own level. They try to create as much poisoned life by poisoning life and sabotaging and weakening all living things on earth: in order to suck off the living energy of living things. Their goal and their agenda: is insane genocide suicide extinction of themselves as a form of undead energy. If living things go extinct on earth: they will die and become extinct also. They don't want to look at this. They don't want to see it> they don't want to think if this at all. Their entire tactic: is to project their own poisoned filth out into living creatures: while sucking pure clean life energy into themselves... thereby poisoning the life energy they live on.

Monsters in the Mirror

The reality: that undead entities are watching you all the time, observing you from above: safely so you cannot harm them: the actual fact of this constant unseen, hidden observation upon billions of living humans over thousands of years: has created a duplicate effect upon the civilized culture of living people. Because your subconscious knows that it is being observed all the time by unknown undead foul things who are insane and have evil intentions towards all living creatures and upon the living earth: civilized people have duplicated the condition they live under: they began to observe the world and each other... in the same inhuman cold evil fashion as they are continuously and destructively being observed by these undead filthy things. The result has been living humans creating duplicate replications of their own condition: by projecting what they are subconsciously aware of being subjected to: the insane viewing of living people's suffering and troubles by insane undead things who treat all the suffering and pain and dying and death of the living world as a distraction from their own evil insanity. The result of this accumulating pile of undead filth hovering over living people: was the Greek theater: where insanely poisoned living Greeks duplicated their suffering into a stylized mirror of being observed by countless undead things. This evil culture of observation became a mass culture of evil spectatorship in Rome: where 2,00,00 living humans gathered to watch horse races and thousands of others massed to watch the bloody murdering of living humans forced to kill each other in gladiator games. This mass culture of safe.. Detached observation and spectatorship has... now exploded into a global insanity of billions of living people safely viewing wars and combats and sports and violence and insane crazed movie where the most foul evil inhuman monsters kill people and terrorize them. This is why glass was invented: so undead auras could sink into the glass and become watchers: safe from being bumped into or chased away: this is why a mirror was originally called a looking glass: Undead things are inside these flat surfaces looking at you all the time. This is why Lewis Carrol wrote "Through the Looking Glass". He wrote it because there are undead things constantly looking at you through flat objects like mirrors and window panes and oil portraits. This is why his Looking Glass world is so insane. The undead things in this realm actually are insane because they have poisoned themselves by living inside things they have no business being inside. All these undead things have only one function: and that is to die and dissolve into its smallest composite parts so it will compose itself back into living organic Life. Originally he titled the work "Alice's Adventures Underground". This is because most undead who are buried in the ground stay underground and only rise up in the night when they do not have to avoid living auras.

This is why all of them must be killed: no living human: no living creature should be coldly observed by some hidden undead thing that has the unfair advantage of secrecy and invisibility. This insane culture has now created the evil of 'scientific' observation. Which is yet another way living humans project the cold evil observation they are under... so they will not be aware it is they who are being watched. Living people watching living people... but who is watching the watchers? .The answer is, these undead hidden scum are watching us every second of our lives. This is what living people must realize and understand: they are only projecting what they are being subjected to. Once living people find and kill these faint undead auras: their lives will be free of their poison and evil, and they will never do the same evil things to other living creatures which have been done to them.

In order to cleanse the living earth of all evil, evil must be killed at the source: and the source of evil on earth is the weakest most faintest poisonous energy there is: undead entities. The idea that humans: living humans: are the most intelligent observing creatures on earth: is what needs to be wiped out. Living humans have been under observation ever since the first human was born. This is why humans have always believed in gods: what they sensed and still sense is that there is a malignant force of silent cunning evil which they cannot quite put their finger on: only if you explore your inner soul and try to be a good person: only then will you discover as I have how difficult it is to be good inside a system that is completely evil. Only then will you discover how you must fight the evil forces within you... and outside of you... at the same time. You have a choice: Be manipulated and controlled by these undead filth and end up joining them and becoming more and more evil and more insane and more destructive towards all living creatures and living people: or read this chapter and realize that this book is no hoax. It is not a pile of negative misinformation. This book is both logical and true.

The fact is: all living humans who are controlled by undead will not be allowed to read this last chapter: and if any do: their handlers will find some way to brainwash them into believing that this chapter dos not speak the truth. Only those few who have not become completely controlled and corrupted by these undead foul things will ever have the energy and wonder and sense of truth to read this chapter and realize that living humans are living inside a horrible condition which they are unsuccessfully trying to block out of their consciousness. To be fully aware of beauty truth and honesty and courage and good and health: you must also be aware of evil, ugliness, horror and cunning craftiness of evil hidden under billions of years of evil. Undead have been killing al the love in human hearts by poisoning people every time love comes into their heart. Undead have been killing love for thousands of years for this atrocity: they must be killed dead.

Human Inner Emptiness

The reason humans fill their bellies to numb the feeling of emptiness inside their guts is because undead empty negative ghouls live inside their auras: constantly sucking on their life-energy . The reason humans feel empty inside is because undead filth who ARE empty inside their undead rotting souls, and empty rotting hearts and empty rotting minds create a false sense of inner emptiness which would disappear instantly if these undead filth left your aura and were not constantly poisoning you with their undead auras of emptiness. These undead filth were not, and are not designed to continue living after they die. They should have died long ago when their physical bodies died. This is why they must be killed completely dead. This is why they must not be allowed to live. They must not be allowed to exist any longer. They are the reason why living human society has become a society of consumers stuffing their faces and filling their bellies in order to numb the feeling of inner pain and emptiness. It is only after you have stretched your stomach to an unnaturally expanded size, that you feel empty after a few hours of not eating to fill it again. Once your stomach contracts to its proper tight, healthy intensely constricted size: you will not feel your stomach as being empty any more. You will not feel the pain of any inner emptiness. But you will only feel your body as not being empty inside if the undead things which inhabit your body leave and are forced out of your body, so you can feel yourself as a natural whole human being for the first time in your life, and not feel the endless sick, empty, evil sensations which come from undead filth secretly poisoning you with their presence. The evils of consumer society originate from the existence of undead filth sucking off you and the effect of their inner emptiness upon you. This is why they must be killed.

The Pure Evil of Undead Filth and Why They Need to be Killed

Why do you think Sharon Tate was murdered? Because the child she was bearing to be born was too healthy to be allowed to live. Why do you think OJ's beautiful healthy ex-wife was murdered along with her boyfriend, who she was in love with and was going to marry and have his children? Because Sharon was pregnant with a child that was too healthy to be allowed to live. Because OJ's ex wife and her soon-to-be married boyfriend had genes that were too healthy to be allowed to produce healthy children. Why do you think Rohmy Schneider's boy's death was orchestrated so he was killed by falling onto a spiked fence trying to climb out of his mothers rich guarded compound?? Because he was too healthy a child to be allowed to live. He was literally defecting to the other side: the side of ordinary decent people who are not protected artificially by money and artificial fame and status. This is why the truism of 'the good; they die young' has been handed down for generations. The undead always target the best, the healthiest, the youngest living people.

Undead evil attack healthy living humans at their genetic roots as early as possible. They orchestrate living people who are too healthy to be allowed to live: because these healthy babies and children and adults pose too much of a risk for them. These healthy living humans pose too much of a danger to them. These healthy living babies fetuses, children and adults are targeted to be destroyed and weakened as much as possible: so they will not come into the realm of the undead, and be healthy enough and intelligent enough to kill them fucking dead as they must be killed and killed and killed until not one of them is left alive inside that filthy rotting realm to ever infect and poison and harm another living soul again. These murdering secretive hiding filth must be killed dead, dead, dead, for any living human to ever have a chance at living a happy life of goodness that is not evil..

This is not a fucking game: these filth are around and inside you all the time. In order to fight them to need to be aware of their filthy presence all the time. You need to be on guard against every single cunning trick they are hatching in secret against you all the time.

I was lucky: I slipped through their hatched orchestrated attempts to kill me, isolate me from other human beings, destroy my health and my self-esteem and my intelligence. They underestimated my resilience. They overestimated their ability to control my life. Even after failing at destroying my positive energy, even after 48 years of failure, even after I discovered the universal truths which are their doom: even after I began writing this book: they continue to try to thwart me and this book as much as possible. They thought that they could control all humans so completely that this book will never be read, and never be believed by a living human. They were wrong. Now it is too late for them to hide their existence anymore. Their hatched orchestrated evil atrocities have all been exposed: because their existence and who and what they are has been exposed by me: Indrek Pringi and nobody fucking else. They cannot face anyone who will kill them because they know they are evil and they know they deserve to die. All they can do is hide and flee for their rotten fucking lives. The time has come to kill these stinking filthy undead scum and wipe them out of existence. The time has come to kill them dead.

The evil of undead Aural Possession and Violation and Poison

What do you think the brainwashing of holy communion is all about? It is ritual of accepting undead ghosts into your body and soul. Undead entities are auras that can enter not only into your body... and into your mind... but into your heart: this is the basic evil they commit every day and night: they poison the hearts of living people. They poison all the love felt in human hearts. They poison people against each other. They poison every single positive loving close relationship of friendship. They can poison your heart against every person who loves you by sitting inside you and keeping their undead evil rotting heart super-imposed over your living heart. They can poison your thoughts against everyone of like mind so every single person who is a potential friend or lover will find an excuse to never have anything to do with you: or... poison your heart and mind against anyone who is your soul mate and heart mate and thinks like you and could help you. Simply by invading and violating a living aura so violently: they will react irrationally and run away or develop an irrational inexplicable dislike or hatred of someone else. They are the hidden secret reason there is no love in this world. Their hidden secret unseen existence is the reason there are no happy couples on earth. They are the reason all 'love' stories are stories of tragedy. They are the reason there all love on earth is systematically poisoned and destroyed. They are the reason why there are no happy people living on earth. Only when all living people are educated about the unspeakable evil which hides inside them is not them. Only when living humans are educated to recognize... recognize the symptoms of their undead invasions and push them out forcibly: and refuse to be affected by their sick negative filthy energy, and refuse to allow blind irrational unreasoning hatred and dislike to poison their true hearts.

But: you can only do this if you are honest within your innermost being. You can only fight their evil presence if you are not evil yourself. You can only fight these undead shit things if you fight for good and fight against evil and keep no secrets from yourself and keep no secrets from other living people. Undead things cannot endure honesty and courage. They cannot face honesty and courage. The most evil undead on this planet cannot stand against honesty and courage. These undead things need to be killed dead dead dead. If you want to feel any love in your heart you need to kill these unseen filth hiding inside you dead.

The Growth of Poison throughout History and Undead Evil

Along with the widening separation of humanity from nature: the history of the human species has been a growing level of poison and the poisoning of all healthy life energy. The present existence of man-made chemicals and drugs has exploded in the last 200 years. This poisoning of the entire air-water-earth by toxins, pollution, chemicals is only a symptom of undead filth poisoning themselves by merging their rotting undead auras into a miscegenation of monstrous misshapen horrors, and these undead ghouls sucking off all the foulest forms of energy. The poisoning of the earth by living humans is only a result of the poisoning of undead by each other. It is only a delayed-effect of their entire poisoned realm of dying undead things sucking off the most poisoned sources of energy trying to keep from dying completely dead. They themselves are a poison which must be cleansed and wiped out. It would take 50,000 pages to list how the effect of their poisoned presence inside living humans and their constant presence outside them had the result of living humans using poisons to kill each other, and kill all healthy living things. For hundreds of thousands of years these undead things have been poisoning themselves and everything they touch. From the oldest cultures of surviving stone age tribes; now almost completely gone: the use of poison darts and poison arrows to kill living animals with cunningly. Poisons so deadly, the slightest scratch is enough to slowly cunningly kill the unsuspecting victim; from the rainforest jungles of Africa to the Kalahari bushmen eating the totting flesh of elephants thousands of years ago. The use of poison by living humans, and the eating of rotting dying things is only one effect on living humans. They have projected all of their evil upon the living, to the point where they seek to blame innocent living humans whom they violate from birth...their own sins and violations and atrocities and presence and interventions into the lives of living people. These poisonous entities must be wiped out and killed completely dead for living human people to have any chance at living a decent happy healthy life filled with meaning and purpose and usefulness.

The human animal is not intrinsically evil!! We are all born good and innocent. Now... finally I have exposed the truth about how living humans become evil... why we become evil. The intrinsic innate goodness of all living human beings is what these undead filth constantly seek to corrupt and twist and poison. No more shall this be allowed to happen. They must be killed dead. Good must rise up and kill evil completely dead. It is time to stop tolerating the existence of evil. It is time to stop tolerating the presence and existence of these foul stinking cunning evil filth.

The Reason for the 7th Chapter

The reason this chapter was written is because human history cannot be understood correctly without understanding the constant existence, presence, and interference of undead entities in human affairs and their secret hidden presence inside every human ever born. Once you understand how evil they are, and discover their little dirty secret tricks: the evil role of undead filth can be seen everywhere: in the life of every human being ever born, including yours.

In order to make sense of human history, you have to include the omnipresent existence of these filthy unseen undead things and their continued presence and continuing hidden and unseen interference in the affairs of man day and night, 24 hrs a day, 365 days a year, for millions of years. If you want to understand human history: you have to include these undead pieces of shit into every second of history. Only then does the de- evolution of human history become explicable. Only then does it make sense. Only then can you begin to see their stinking filthy evil cunning undead presence in how and why humans enslaved themselves to be their unwitting tools. How and why humans enslaved other animals, how and why the enslavement called ‘domestication’: the systematic breaking of the living human spirit: the systematic breaking of living animal spirits, the systematic stupefaction and dulling of all living animal intelligence into genetic and experiential stupidity and docility... only then does the downward trend from forced enslavement-to self-enslavement-to brainwashing-to mechanized enslavement-to the enslavement of dead machines-to the poisoning of the entire Living Earth, and the systematic killing of all living species on Earth make sense.

With this knowledge you gained from reading this book, you can now re-read all of human history and go: “ahhh! So that’s how... Ahhh! So that’s why... Ahhhh! Now I understand!”

With the knowledge you gained from reading this book you can look back at your own life and go “Ahhh, so that’s why... so that’s how....

With the knowledge you gained from reading this book you can understand everything you need to understand. That is... IF you are honest with yourself and with other people IF you have a Sense of Pure Wonder, IF you question everything, IF you wonder about everything. IF you try to make sense of everything; you can change yourself by helping others change and change the world for the better.

With the knowledge you gain from reading this book: you are now forewarned and forearmed. With the knowledge you gained from reading this book your awareness has been expanded and contracted: Now you can look inside yourself with a better understanding, and look outside of yourself with a better understanding. This is why this book is free. Only those who have the courage needed to seek the truth will ever read it. Only those who have the Courage and Honesty needed to face the truth will read it. Nobody else will read it except those who can use what I have written and create a better world than the one we have now.

For billions of years: life has been attacked and killed by asteroids and volcanic eruptions and ice ages, and natural disasters... it was never designed to kill itself!! Out of all the trillions of species...one stupid fucking stupid monkey was not designed to grow up and stand up just so it could kill not only itself! But all the other living species on earth?? We the living did not do this to ourselves. The motherfucking filth who did do this and are still doing it need to be killed killed killed dead for their fucking stinking evil filthy hidden committing of the unseen sin the unseen violation of violating living humans with their dead rotting evil insane acts and motives.

You see, the trouble was... and still is: undead filth did not understand Love. Undead do not understand Love. Undead hate Love. Undead fear Love. Undead reversed the positive direction of human evolution of the human species from evol into the opposite: hidden as the reversed word: evol. ‘You only hurt the ones you love: you never hurt stranger: only the ones you love most: that is their doing: not yours.

Undead cannot stop the positive direction of Life evolving into more intelligent and kindly and happy and gentle and more sensitive and more intelligent forms of life. All they can do is try to reverse the positive direction which Life has, all they can do is try to reverse the intrinsic positive direction of Life, the intrinsic positive nature of life around so Life will end up killing itself. They themselves cannot kill Life. Once you understand that killing living things is evil: and killing dying things is good. Then you will understand the history of how and why these pieces of rotting shit interfered and are interfering in the lives of living human beings has been going on and is still going on. They do not want to die. That is their only fucking reason.

The point is: they should die: they need to die. They have to die. They must die. For living things to live. They need to be completely destroyed: they need to be completely and utterly destroyed. For living things to live. They have to be completely destroyed. They must be completely destroyed.

There is only one battle: there is only one struggle: that struggle is the struggle between Life, and death. Living animals fighting and killing each other is stupid and only exists because of these undead dying pieces of shit. Living humans killing each other is stupid and evil and only exists because of the existence of undead evil poisoning human souls.

Undead things cannot understand or predict or anticipate the future; because they never experienced or understood their own existence. Undead filth only react to the past and try to repeat it. Undead filth are not proactive. Undead filth do not create anything new. They cannot create New Life. They can only create old death; they can only try to recreate the dead past. They can only try to poison new Life after it sprouts: not before. They only tried to poison the lives of Adam and Eve after they began growing too curious and too intelligent... not before they became too curious and intelligent. All their attempts to poison the genetic design of humans have not worked... So now... in desperation, they are trying to get living human to poison their own genetic code. By genetically poisoning all living things on this earth as much as possible through every chemical toxic poison, every genetically altered seed, every genetic experiment, every scientific horror they can urge living humans to do. Because they can't do it themselves.

Once you realize that these filthy things actually do exist all around you and inside you: You will have to re-examine everything you thought you knew about Life. You have to re-examine and re-evaluate all of human history and take into account their presence and their influence which is staggering in its stinking rotting cunning continual sick evil intent. Towards all Life and all living creatures and all living humans.

Beginning from the very beginning.

For example: once these hidden players of the biblical story of Adam and Eve are included: the story finally makes complete sense and comes alive with pathos, tragedy, evil, love, and good being placed into their proper roles, dynamics and contexts.

The story is very simple. Undead things did not understand love: and drove it out of the Garden of Eden. Undead feared the sensitive intelligence of Love, undead feared the sensitive elegance of love, and filthied and corrupted it as much as they could. Undead did not understand a Garden where living things loved in harmony without hate, without fighting, without killing. Undead kill love. That is what they try to do: undead turn beauty into ugliness. Undead poison and corrupt all love and beauty. Undead too the Garden of Aden: and turned it into a foul stinking gulf of hate, and then drowned it and buried it under millions of years of evil acts and crimes and atrocities and sins. Of hate, envy, fear, lust, cunning, cowardice, lies, deceptions, deceiving hidden twisted buried misinformation. Undead misformed that garden and deformed it and destroyed it and turned the story of its existence into a bunch of lies.

The undead did not want to let these two innocents to be fruit eaters. They wanted to corrupt these naked apes as much as possible by forcing them out of all gardens where fruit could be eaten. They wanted to corrupt their knowledge as much as possible: they wanted to turn these two lovers into killers. A huge horde of undead things ganged up on the first members of a new species... because they instinctively sensed that this new thing called love would be their doom: this new species was designed to end their billion-year secret, hidden, invisible domination and control of all living creatures on earth and in the seas and in the air, and that if something drastic was not immediately done; this new species would annihilate them and wipe them all into total and complete extinction.

What undead filth did is carved in stone in the story of Adam and Eve. They did what they always do: they entered into the bodies of the participants of the story, and intervened at crucial moments and poisoned the every outcome as much as they possibly could. They entered into the body of the snake. Then they entered into the body of Eve. Then they entered into the body of Adam. Then they entered into the winds and the elements and all the animals that lived in the garden of Eden: and turned them all against these two vulnerable intelligent sensitive naked apes, who had been committing the unpardonable crime of not sinning against any living creature; and drove them out of this beautiful paradise so these filthy evil things could poison that paradise at their leisure without having to fight against the presence of these two pure animals and be unable to poison their powerful presence and examples of good.

No cold blooded snake would ever offer an apple, or any fruit, to a warm-blooded mammal. Snakes do not behave this way. Snakes are not generous. Snakes are not this intelligent. Snakes are not smart reptiles. Snakes are stupid, cold, vicious, and cannot hide their true nature. But a snake controlled and taken over by hidden unseen undead filth could and did offer eve a fruit and told her to give it to Adam. And then these undead filth blamed the snake it entered for doing it...

Secretly entering into the aura of an innocent living creature, committing their secret crimes, and then leaving... Leaving the innocent person with the impression that they were guilty of that crime... when they were innocent victims of undead interference and poisoning. This is why they must be all killed. No longer shall the sins of the fathers and mothers be visited upon their sons and daughters it is time to destroy the root source of all evil.

The sins of these undead are both physical and allegorical: they poisoned the Tree of Knowledge with the snake of sex, they poisoned the Fruit of Knowledge, and turned it into the dirty knowledge of sexual lust; instead of the Pure Wonder of all Love and all Life and all Beauty and all Honesty; which is the sweetest, healthiest fruit of all. The healthiest fruit of all is direct human experience that is digested into knowledge, and then distilled into wisdom. These undead poisoned the directness of human experience by putting the oily slithery indirectness of a snake into the tree of knowledge. They secretly poisoned the naked truth with the cunning hate of the "hiss" of the snake, and because of intervention by undead foul filth; their innocent nakedness was turned into the snake of writhing sexual lust

Then they secretly entered into eve's body: and corrupted her. Instead of offering Adam her Heart and Inner Soul and love and honesty and compassion and understanding and sensitivity and friendship; they made her offer Adam her Outer Body, the fruits of her flesh. And then blamed her for doing it. Then they secretly entered into the bodies of Adam and Eve and made them commit lustful acts, and made them experience shame and revulsion for committing carnal acts of sexual lust: and blamed them for doing it. Then these stinking evil hidden undead entered into the clouds, and winds, and the animals: and the skies turned dark with the presence of their poisonous hatred and fear of these two naked innocent vulnerable young creatures. All the animals they had loved and never harmed, suddenly for now reason at all: turned against them; baring their teeth and attacking them with virulent hatred. And blamed them for corrupting the Garden of Eden. Using this as an excuse to persecute and poison and attack and sabotage and vilify every human baby born into this world from that day on...and blame them for all of their own sins which these undead filth have committed and continue to commit. They blamed them for what they were innocent of, and blame us for what they secretly do all the time.

These foul undead things practiced the old trick of reversal. They practiced the old trick of the blame game. The filth practiced the old trick of always reversing the blame. They have been practicing this stupid obvious trick now for billions of years: hoping living creatures will never become intelligent enough to figure it out. Hoping they would never be found out; but they were found out... sensitive humans felt evil spirits inside themselves, and sought and tried to cast them out... get rid of them, and failed. They failed because they did not realize and understand that these filthy undead things can and do come back every time they are cast out. They did not understand and realize that instead of casting them out: they had to kill them. They did not realize and understand that the gods they cried to for help; were the very spirits who were poisoning them, and secretly attacking them.

Once you understand what these undead foul things are, and what they do, and that they are completely evil and reflectively negative: you will begin to understand the hidden secret unseen effect of their presence in all of human history: whatever positive living creatures radiate: they reflect back negatively. They never reflect anything back positively. They are made of negative energy. Once you understand this: you will finally understand why everything has always somehow, always gone wrong: you will understand why nothing ever has gotten better. You will understand why the best of intentions have always gone awry. These stinking hiding unseen pieces of filthy shit: are the missing factor: they are the missing key needed to understand human history. They are the missing key needed to understand your own life.

The point is:: only when you add the missing factor of hidden unseen undead filth into the story of Adam and Eve does it make sense. The undead did not want Adam and Eve to learn anything at all. The very idea of living animals gaining knowledge was to them, a huge threat. How dare this upstart of a naked creature start being curious about things it had no business exploring? Adam and Eve were not cast out of the Garden of Eden for the sin of curiosity. They were cast out by undead filth who poisoned all living creatures around them, and turned all living creatures against this innocent pair of naked apes. They attacked and vilified and tried to smear this new species. They tried to make the learning of new knowledge forbidden. They failed. They tried and are still trying to suppress all human curiosity and all human learning in every possible way they can... The result is: they have failed. This book has exposed them. They must be killed. It is either them or us.

All of the evil conspiracies of human history ever committed are their doing. None of the evil conspiracies would have been carried out without their active interference and intervention into events at crucial times. They are the reason why most conspiracy theories do not make complete sense. They are missing the active intervention into the lives of living humans by undead rotten filth. Once these hidden secret undead interventions are fully exposed: then how these conspiracies were hatched and by who, and why and when and where... will all become clear as water. They are the original originators of all conspiracy to commit evil in this world. They are to be killed DEAD for their crimes. Destroyed.

The veil has now finally been lifted on their secret, hidden existence by me: I, Indrek Pringi have lifted it. These undead filth have become so arrogant, so smug, so assured of their final victory over LIFE, that in my search for the truth, they chose to make themselves known to me and have flaunted their evil in my face. They made a huge mistake. Overweening pride in their own sly cunning has allowed me to discover and uncover the evil of their hidden existence, and all of the manifold cunning tactics they use to traumatize, damage, weaken, poison, sabotage, violate and harm the lives of living people.

After reading this book: No more, will living humans pretend that these undead ghouls do not exist. No more, will humans believe that undead spirits do not exist. No more will living humans have this crazy idea that evil does not exist. These unseen undead shit turds have carefully crafted this false assumption into a universally unspoken belief verging on the certainty of a religious conviction. The veil has been finally been lifted on the evil of their secret hidden existence, and shall never again be cast down over the eyes of Mankind again. The age of secrecy is over. The cult of secrecy is dead. It is time to pry back the pages of human history and uncover the actual truth. which I have written down here.

The Psychology and Goal of evil

The only defense that any evil presence within a living person has against being discovered and exposed and killed is projection: reflection: insane-mad-raving-craziness. Foaming-at-the-mouth insane blind hate.

The only way undead evil can survive is by projecting all of its rotting stinking evil out: out.... Into you: so you do the same thing which they do, they do not want to look at themselves and at their own sins and guilt. Ejecting all their evil inside them into you. If evil cannot do that: it kills itself instantly. Any evil that cannot project/exteriorize/avoid/deflect/deny the awareness of its own sins and corruption: kills itself goes mad commits suicide.. Their charade of 'Insanity' is their last defense, their last excuse. Insanity is their last tactic. They are not insane. Their supposed insanity is a façade, a defense tactic; nothing else. The more 'insane' an undead thing is... the more it needs to be killed right away. It is a symptom of self-suicide; screaming out: "Kill me! I'm crazy I don't know what I'm doing!" When they start actually dying... they regain their fucking sanity very fucking quickly. Except then it is too fucking late. Too late to mourn or weep or beg for forgiveness, too late to realize the enormity of their evil. Then: they consume themselves. Once undead evil is revealed and killed: it reverts back to the purest negative energy there is: one-sided inorganic decomposition: 100% negative oxygenation: literally burning up and disappearing into the component energy radiation they are designed to decompose into.

1864

This was the original fire of hell which undead things suffered and managed to avoid: this is also why the living earth sent out fires of hell: seeking to burn and destroy these undead foul things? The point is: when evil cannot pour itself into another living vessel to commit even moiré evil: it consumes itself by its own venom. This is why evil people cannot stand solitude. Evil people die when they are isolated and unable to commit evil and prevented from corrupting and harming others. This is why when evil people are incarcerated: they go stark raving mad because that is the only way they can keep from facing their own guilt and from killing themselves. This why is the amoral unspoken taboos of civilization are:

Nobody is guilty of anything
Nobody did anything wrong
Nobody is responsible for anything they did
Everyone is equally guilty so don't start pointing fingers of guilt and responsibility at others or they will point their fingers at you
Evil does not exist
Corruption does not exist
Conspiracies do not exist
The actual truth is:
Whatever is not spoken of is evil
All secrecy is evil
All evasion is evil
All cowardice is evil
All dishonesty is evil

You will never understand the history of our species until you understand the constant presence and influence of these undead filth. Their influence does not go back just 12,000 years it goes back millions of years. For instance: the oldest known rock art in the world: the oldest example of human abstraction: the hand-signs in Australian caves made by Australian aborigines 50,000 years old or older were created by placing their human living hands and spitting reddened poison onto their own hands until the surrounding area around their living hands placed on the walls of the darkened black caves is covered with filth... and their living hands were covered with filth.

Why did they do this? It was their living human subconscious mind speaking out: screaming out that they had blood on their hands... their subconscious was screaming out at the poisoning of their entire being by the invading violating auras of undead evil which have surrounded and impermeated every living human on earth, and is continuing to poison every single living person for at least 50-75,000 years and are manipulating them to commit acts of evil. What we call 'civilization' is not only a symptom of their evil; it is a pure creation of their evil. Cities of the dead were created long before cities of living humans were ever created. The nomadic humans who lived for tens of thousands of years without settling down in one place placed their dead in these graveyards until they became cities. They left these places of death and evil to the undead and avoided them like the plague and abomination they were, they feared these places of the dead and knew these burial sites were places of pure evil. It took tens of thousands of years before the overpopulation of the undead and the overpopulation of living humans grew, and finally merged together, and created cities where both the undead and the living lived together side-by-side, until: humans are poisoned from birth by undead filth, and grow up so poisoned by them, that their innocent living human souls are slowly, systematically suppressed and not allowed to grow, and are twisted and turned and poisoned from birth by the constant presence, influence and manipulation by these unspeakably foul things...until all awareness of actual good and actual evil disappeared from their awareness and they were completely taken over and controlled by these foul unseen dead rotting things. Until the perception of what is actual good and what is actual evil was completely reversed.

Why civilization must be destroyed: why it must be wiped out into extinction is simple. Civilization is the creation of the undead ghouls whose goal is the destruction of all living creatures on Earth. This continual unending goal of ghouls which all of these filthy things have, is what continually turns and poisons and twists every single healthy urge-instinct-expression of healthy living humans ever since the human species was born. The myth of Adam and Eve demonstrates the pure hatred these cunning undead scum had against this new species: a naked ape that is genetically designed to touch living things with its living hands and living skill. A new species that for the first time in the history of life which developed a sensory intelligence not based upon the assumption that it had to either attack or defend itself in order to survive... but rather needed to feel and be sensitive to its entire environment and feel and touch everything with its living hands and skin and allow all living creatures to touch them also.

This genetic design: wiser and more intelligent than any other genetic design ever created by the natural permutation of Nature is what they have set out to poison and turn into the opposite direction: seeking to insulate and prevent every living human born from ever touching any living creature, any living human beings, and prevent them from learning and developing their sense of Pure wonder by insulating them and programming them into their old, obsolete, insane religions of hate, fear, envy, obedience to the undead, and mass slavery. The obsolete system of slavery: the obsolete idea of domination/submission is as the final end of its existence here on Earth. No matter what all these undead filth have tried to do: they cannot alter the continuing increase of intelligence of all Life on Earth. The very fact that in order to pursue their insane goal of total annihilation of all life by using and dominating the most modern powerful intelligent living species, in order to do this they had to desensitize and deprogram living humans down to their most base lowest filthy urges of pornographic self-indulgence: having sex every night of their adult lives: instead of only using sex to birth child when it was the right time to have them. By their insulating and desensitizing and poisoning the entire intelligence of the largest organ of your body which is your skin: not your brain, by not allowing living humans to touch living creatures and touch each other; by creating this sick insane tactile starvation, tactile desensitization of your skin so the only tactile urge you have left is the lowest, the stupidest, the crudest blind urge to fuck and be fucked. By inventing tools: by manipulating naked apes so the only way they touched another living creature was to kill them with these tools, and never allow living humans to touch any living creature: they created what they thought was a total success of their mission to kill all life on earth....

Yet still: the genetic design of how we are designed and meant to live cannot be twisted. The urge to have pets: living animals we can play with and touch and love and hug and who can touch and love us is now the most dominant culture of the most affluent humans on earth. The overpopulation of living humans has now forced us to find ways of living with each other without killing each other. Without war: as equals: this is why the power of democracy is so unstoppable: the era of the dictator and strongman government is over. The era of the war machine and weapons of mass destruction is over. Those who cling to the old ways are on the way out: into total mass extinction. You the reader of this book now have your chance to create new ways of living by touching living creature and making friends with all living creatures: not just your domesticated pets. The evil of exclusive love and exclusivity creates misery and unhappiness, loneliness: it creates mindless domesticated slaves and idiot/masters who do not know how to take care of themselves: never mind the domesticated slaves they think they 'own'. No living creature can own anything.

Look at the oldest rock art in the world: the first abstract rock paintings in Australia screams out the continual hovering presence of these undead shit filth things: these insane evil things invented abstraction. All abstraction is their poison. The writing on the wall written by the fingers of undead unseen things, thousands of years before writing was ever invented stares out at you from 75,000 yr-old rock paintings: the oldest form of abstraction on earth: it took thousands of years of their evil to get humans to devolve and regress and be poisoned to the point when later generations of living humans normalized this evil known as abstract writing. Abstraction is only one of their filthy evil tactics to detach and dissociate living humans from experiencing the 3-dimensional Universe through action, through feeling Life with their living naked skin.

Look at the 75,000 year-old legacy of confession of the evil of red hands, shedding blood: black men with red hands. These ancient human sinners left their confessions on the walls of caves in Australia, screaming out to future generations of their sins and guilt. These abstract symbols are not a coincidence.

All humans of the ancient past were possessed by undead evil entities, and their subconscious forced them to expose and admit the guilt of their violation of living human people. These ancient cave men spat upon their own hands: they spat red dyed mud upon their own hands as a ritual confession that they were bloody, red-handed killers and that the blood on their hands would never come off. People do not do this unless they have an innate deep unconscious revulsion and guilt for what they did with their hands. This comes from having a conscience that tells you what is Good and what is evil.

Wrapping human infants in layers upon layers of clothing is not anything new; it is one of the ways they need to poison living people because if they do not insulate a living baby from the sun and air and living creatures: that infant will grow up intelligent and healthy... My mother tried to smother me for years and years. I fought the attempts of my mother to smother me for 22 years. I was lucky. Their subsequent ignoring of me left me free to raise myself: it left me free to go outside and play and explore. I was left free to grow up by raising myself without any adult supervision. Because I grew myself up: because I was not as successfully poisoned and manipulated as others, because I saw through the scams and farces of civilization before I graduated from grammar school, because I did not swallow the mass propaganda I was surrounded by; I managed to keep my sanity and my understanding of the insanity of civilization intact because I kept my sense of pure wonder intact, I kept sense of right and wrong intact, I kept on learning..

Because I kept my wish to learn and understand the civilization I was stuck in and born into, because I kept my sense of Pure Wonder intact: I knew from a very early age that what civilized humans call 'normal' is not normal at all: in fact everything which humans consider to be normal is sick and always has been sick. Human civilization has always been sick and insane. It is only when you study the entire story: it is only after you uncover the covered-up facts and the hidden facts that you begin to understand that there are logical reasons for why everything is wrong and why everything is crazy and why living people act as they do and why the history of mankind, the history of humanity has been what it is: a naked ape designed to touch and feel everything around it: doing the exact opposite of what makes it happy: insulating itself from the natural world it lives in, huddling in caves: spitting on its own living hands: leaving the abstract image of a clean hand... surrounded by foulness, spitting on their own hands: because subconsciously they knew they were doing the work of evil: they were not doing what they had been designed to do: which is touch all living creatures without killing them, without fearing them, without hating them. Without harming them: without any evil intention.

The time to wipe these undead things out has arrived. The time to leave the evil they created called civilization is now happening all over the world. This book is an attempt to put into perspective and explain the entire context in which the problem of human existence is set in into a logical understandable history. This book explains what has never been explained before: it explains the whole story of our past and our present and makes sense out of all the craziness. It sanely explains the existence of human insanity. Everything in the universe can be understood by using organic logic... that is if you know the whole story. There is no mystery or problem which living humans cannot understand and solve. Humans are genetically designed to solve problems. What these undead filth did... was turn and reverse the direction of our natural designed purpose here on Earth. Instead of solving problems: humans have created problems. Because we were and still are poisoned by these unspeakably stinking rotten things; we as a species have created millions and trillions of problems instead of solving them.

Chapter Seven: Entities and the Alternative

1868

The only way to solve a problem is to go to the root the source of the problem and fix it. The only way to fix evil is to go to both the root and the head, and kill both ends at once so it cannot spread anymore, and wipe these foul things out.

Humans are designed to create living beauty: not ugly dead abstraction. Humans are designed to create life not destroy life. I am living proof of this. My entire life is living proof of this universal truth. Nakedness means having no secrets. The naked truth has been explained to you who read this book. It is time to do: to act on the truths you have discovered. Only ugliness seeks to cover itself up. Only evil seeks to hide itself. The beauty of truth is that it cannot be covered up; it is not designed to be hidden. All truth is beauty: beauty is truth... Not just outer beauty! Inner beauty must balance Outer beauty. Without this balance: there is no beauty at all. By this you shall know what is good and what is evil. If you seek to cover yourself up you shall become an ugly evil ghoul. If you create beauty you shall not be ashamed of yourself and what you create.

Now you know the true root and source of evil conspiracies. Now you know why the apparent conspiracies of the Bilderberg group, and the council on foreign relations, the trilateral commission, the Federal Reserve, the IMF, the World Bank, NAFTA, the Skull and Bones society, etc. Do not quite add up when inspected closely. Now you know the true shadow government which rules, controls and manipulates the people who belong to these organizations whose every meeting is held behind closed door in secret and never divulged to the public. Now you know why the Rothschilds were so successful in their instant rise to world power and wealth. Evil showing its ugly head in sudden, careful, planned organized attacks; the spreading of mass-racism, mass-hate, mass-killing, mass-murder, mass-violence, mass-paranoia, mass-hysteria, mass-riots, mass-mobs, mass fear, mass-terror... these are not caused by living people. They are because of the masses of undead spreading the sickness of their insane diseased souls by entering, violating and poisoning living souls.

Now you know why the existence of secret societies throughout civilized history have possessed hidden, cunning, unseen motives which have shaped and directed the course of civilization. Now you know why they all seem to be involved in the same conspiracy of evil. They existence of secret societies come from an even greater cover-up, an even deeper hidden, unseen conspiracy of organized undead evil which reaches back millions upon millions of years back into the mists of time. The hidden unseen presence of these undead ghouls is not exclusively around just the living people who belong to these secret organizations. They exist everywhere. They are a miasma of evil spread in their uncounted numbers all over this earth and they must be wiped out completely. Their presence explains every single irrational reaction and irrational thought and irrational emotion living humans have. Their hidden presence explains everything about why civilization is evil and why civilized humans refuse to admit that there is anything wrong with themselves, and why civilized humans refuse to admit that there is anything wrong with civilizations. They are the missing link of all human understanding and all human healing. They actively block all attempts to understand the truth. They block all attempts to heal. They attack all attempts to understand the truth and heal because any attempt to understand the truth and heal is a direct threat against their fucking hidden sick evil existence.

The time has come to attack them instead. The time has come to kill them instead. The time to turn the tables on them has come. No more shall undead filth be allowed to violate the living auras of living innocent babies and children and men and women.

How the undead Manipulate you

How do the undead control living people?
By putting thoughts into your head without you being aware of it.
By secretly living inside your aura without you being aware of it.

By harmonizing their weak undead aura with your living one without you being aware of it.
By harmonizing their undead thoughts with your thoughts without you being aware of it and then... pushing your thoughts, twisting them, poisoning them with their weak evil will to get what they want: to achieve the goals they want: and blocking and turning and deflecting as much as they can all your true self all your own healthy, good, true motives and thoughts and intentions. Beginning from the day you are born: as a slow persistent influence.

Why do you think undead entities enter the living auras of living people?! They want to live again! They squandered their own sick diseased evil lives! They wasted their lives and because they wasted them, they still have a sick urge to keep on living! All the untapped human potential which they never developed, all of the things they were and still are genetically designed to do left undone! The lesson is: if you don't want to have any regrets when you do physically die, if you don't want to become a sick twisted evil undead thing that secretly hides inside the living auras of living people: do not waste one second of your life:: do what you want: not what others want. Do what you know is healthy and good for you: not what others want you to do. Do not let yourself to be controlled by fear! That fear you fear is their fear; not yours: it is their fear of you developing a human intelligence and a human soul which is far more powerful than their evil is. It is their fear of what you will do to them when you enter their realm and realize what they did to you while you were alive. It is their true guilt and fear of being punished for their own evil. That: is what most fear you feel is made of. A healthy fear of not stepping in from of a moving car is not fear! That is intelligent awareness! It is unreasoning fear: fears which exists inside you for no rational reason that is their fear: not yours.

Understand this if you want to prevent them manipulating you:

Living people cannot discern between thoughts they have and the thoughts that are put into their head by undead filth hiding inside them: they cannot perceive the emotions of hate, envy and greed which are inserted into them by dead parasitical filth. And when there are hundreds or more of these undead things hiding inside your living aura constantly pushing you: urging you into evil secretly pushing you to do certain things they know will weaken you and destroy your health: become aware of these secret hidden subconscious urges and before you succumb to their undead will; ask yourself: "why should i do this? Is this an intelligent thing to do? Is what i am going to do good for me or bad for me?" And after examining this secret undead urge inside you, you find that it is not a good healthy motive or intention: then you will know it does not come from the true you: it comes from undead thing hiding inside you.

Why do you think the lessons of all Christianity is to listen to your 'better angels' of your true conscience eh? Because nearly of the all of the thoughts which you have are not yours, they are secret poisoned thoughts of many undead things hiding inside you: all clamoring to be heard, all trying to push you, manipulate you, make you do what they want you to do. Why do you think the Christian conscience is the most powerful force for good in this world today?

Because it make you examine your life and examine your motives and ask yourself if what you are about to do is truly good or truly evil. The undead do not like this at all.

1870

By their very presence: these undead things poison can and do everything inside your mind and heart. And it is only through constant vigilance and the constant practice of honesty and courage that you can fight their filthy rotten evil presence. It is only by developing a personal conscience which is rational, sane, intelligent and good that you can live a good life. It is only by adhering to what your intelligent conscience tells you is the right thing to do, the good thing to do... and acting on that knowledge of goodness and rightness, that you can fight these filth hiding secretly everywhere around you and inside you.

This good motive: the motive: the intention: the intent to be good: to do good; to live a good life is what the positive energy and direction of Christianity is all about. This is where all good Christians derive their righteous anger and rage against all evil, this is where the power of goodness comes from: fighting evil is a good thing to do. Not fighting evil is an evil thing to do.

Read the annals of Christianity: and you will see how good intentions are led astray by hidden evil. Throughout history, the righteousness of Christianity, of Christians trying and wanting to be good Christians: wanting to lead good healthy happy lives: has been systematically turned: twisted, poisoned, and cunningly deflected; until they did the opposite of good... until they committed evil: until they massacred innocent civilians, until they went to war against other people in far-off foreign lands instead of going to war against the evil hiding secretly inside their own souls and auras and their own society. It is only when you become aware of the existence of undead unseen evil things, that you can ever begin... to even attempt... to live a good healthy honest courageous life.

It is only... after you become aware of how these hidden undead things hiding secretly inside you poison you, that you can begin to systematically get rid of them... and kill them dead dead dead so they will never poison another living human soul every again. So we the living can finally be free of their unwanted presence and unwanted rotten filthy secret unseen evil influences and abominations and crimes against the human soul, the human heart, and the human species.

Undead have been practicing and honing this filthy cunning stinking secret hidden tactic of putting thoughts into the hearts and heads of the creatures they secretly inhabit for millions of years. This is why the only way: the only fucking way living people can clean themselves out of these undead shit turds is to never have a secret thought or secret emotion. If every thought and emotion is expressed and told to other living people only if every living person tells their secret thoughts to the persons who they are thinking and feeling about. Only then can the open honest exchange of thoughts and emotions expose the cunning lies and twisted filthy evil the undead are guilty of... by putting-imbedding - suggesting-violating living people's hearts against each other.

Only if you are very emotionally honest and mentally honest and honest with yourself can you recognize and tell the difference between a thought put into your head by an undead filth and a thought you have which is your own. Why do you think some people suddenly go 'mad' for no reason at all and start butchering and killing their own parents or schoolmates? They do it because they have been possessed by undead evil things who take over their entire mind and soul, and twist their understanding of the world into insane irrational paths of evil.

This is also why many intelligent decent people are only half-decent. They are only half-decent because half of their awareness and intelligence and their inner being is poisoned by undead ghouls. They are only half-decent because they have blind spots in their understanding and their logic. These blind spots are created by undead living inside these people: who work to keep every person they secretly live inside, blind to their hidden unseen secret existence. They may be very intelligent and aware of corporate corruption like Michael Moore is, but they are completely corrupt in how they treat their own bodies and what they eat and remain fat slobs eating the very junk they know is not good for them. They may be very intelligent and aware of political corruption like Bill Mahr is and know how to take care of their own bodies and health, but they have a permanent blind spot when it comes top the reasons why 9/11 was an inside job.

The undead and the Insanity of their 2-tier evil

The ancient temples of ancient civilizations were both temples of worship and slaughterhouses. Regardless which temple, which religion, which civilization, literally all of the temples of the ancient world were slaughtering houses. People came with their goats and chickens and bullocks and firstborn daughters and firstborn sons: and gave them to the temple. In exchange... for being good little slaves and giving up their own children to be slaughtered; the temples gave them the unspoken assumption: which was never spoken of: but only wished for secretly... the wish that their affairs would go well and that the affairs of their enemies would not go well...

Understand this@!!! All fucking worship in the ancient world was just a begging of favors, trading living creatures to be slaughtered for a good harvest, for some kind of favor: expecting in exchange for their secret prayers and wishes to come true. And if their prayers and wishes did not come true: then it was the fault of some other fucking 'god' who had interfered with the favor of the god you sacrificed your son to, or chicken to.

If you want to study how insane the temple worshippers of the ancient world actually were: study Hinduism and its countless animal, human gods. Hinduism is nothing more than the practice of selfishness at its lowest level of personal selfishness. It is the begging for personal favors. It is an ancient religion which has been preserved almost completely intact. All the temples preach the same message: "give all your worldly possessions and you will be free and spiritually pure and attain nirvana, or heaven, or pie in da sky!" (So the temples can become obscenely rich and powerful... while millions and billions of Hindus suffer in misery and starve in poverty and pauperism.) "Sacrifice your best to us and we will smile upon you!" (As we weaken you and corrupt you by getting you to kill for us; because we the undead are far too weak to kill living creatures ourselves.)

This was and still is the insanity of ancient religions. For thousands and thousands of years: the entire civilized world: all civilizations, in all periods of history and also prehistory going back tens of thousands of years before permanent settlements were invented... this was the universal way in which humans served the undead and were gulled by the undead and were fooled by them. And poisoned by them and depraved by them and corrupted by them.

Boiled down: all the ancient world religions were two basic universal practices:

No 1: sacrifice your best to us and we will be nice to you.
Kill for us and we will tolerate you living on this Earth

No2: pray to us and beg us for favors and get on your knees and worship us! We are higher than you, we are more powerful than you, we are immortal: you are nothing but a pustulent living thing which we can stamp out any time if we so wish. Our powers are mighty: you have no power whatsoever.

What is worship? It is the practice of selling your body and your soul into evil and corruption it is whore's selling their bodies and souls: shipping there whorish desires.

This, this, this: is what undead ghouls and whores have become accustomed to because they successfully sold this basic propaganda, and the human species swallowed this shit for untold thousands of fucking stupid years... never stopping to think!

“Hey... if I sacrifice the best prime bullock of my herd every year, if I sacrifice and kill my best stallion every 6 months, my best bull, my best rooster: I won't be able to breed the best of my livestock and improve the health and strength of all the animals I keep. Maybe... I should sacrifice the worst of every breed instead of the best... this way my herds will increase in health and strength and I will prosper , and...”

“No! No! No!!! How dare you not sacrifice the best of your species to us!! We demand you kill for us the best! Your firstborn son you must kill for us! If there is one blemish! On the animal or baby or child or human being you kill for us... We will become outraged and curse you and hound you and make your life a living hell-on-earth!” (We can't kill them, stupid... you have to be fooled and gulled into doing it for us. We are actually weak foul things poisoning and corrupting your soul.)

“We demand only the best of your species to be sacrificed to us! Only the best purest virgins will you kill for us! (So they will never have any chance of growing up strong and healthy and beautiful and have stronger healthier babies. We cannot tolerate you humans getting any strength or health. You must all remain mired in ignorance, misery, ill-health, sickness, disease and corruption.”

This is the same fucking ancient story repeated in every religious text from the Bible to the Koran to every other fucking worship of dead spirits and ghouls and monsters.

So... after at least... thousands of years of this stupid shit: this fucking universal, global practice of sacrificing living human beings to their gods... people began slowly waking up and became less suicidal, less self-destructive, and began sacrificing only other living species to their gods but not themselves, not their own children. Just every other living species they had domesticated... in order to kill them and eat them. Where do you think this practice of domestication came from, eh? Humans domesticating other species like pigs, dogs, chickens, goats, sheep, etc was only a subconscious projection of their own state of existence: their own condition, a symptom of how they had been totally domesticated by undead things: how all the wildness and courage and honesty and truth of their true beings had been systematically poisoned to such a foul level and degree... that they had become programmed and brainwashed into being domesticated slaves for the use and convenience of the undead things that surrounded them and infiltrate and poisoned and violated them day and night.

Worship and sacrifice: worship and sacrifice: worship and sacrifice: that is what humans have been brainwashed into for millions of years.

Sacrifice and prayer, sacrifice and worship prayer and sacrifice: For millions of years this poisoned ape was controlled and manipulated by undead entities.

Now you know the hidden secret reasons why all the fucking stinking religions of the ancient world were all the same. And are still all the same.

Living humans woke up! And began to refuse to sacrifice their firstborn, living humans refused to sacrifice their most healthy virgins and young men: their answer to this was death not connected to the idea of holy sacrifice: the invention of war: mass killing of all living humans indiscriminately:

Living humans woke up! And began to refuse to sacrifice their best cows and goats. The answer to that: was these undead inventing industrial slaughterhouses: that are not connected to temples of worship and gods and myths and legends and brainwashing propaganda. That is fucking human history in a fucking nutshell which fucking includes the existence of these stinking undead turds and successfully explains why every single fucking thing that ever happened in human history: just the 'how', the details have been covered up, the 'why' has been covered up, but not the where and the when: all the historical facts bear me out.

Their undead reaction and answer to the slow, inexorable demise of these things called houses of worship and slaughter: worship and death: their combined slaughtering/worshiping/sacrificing rituals of all the fucking ancient temples, their reaction to the demise of the ancient temple cultures of the ancient world, the ancient slaughter-sacrifice-worship mentality/custom/religion/cultures... was to split them all apart into separate institutions: all seemingly having nothing to do with the others: the separation of church and state, the splintering/fragmenting/segmenting of human society into billions of unconnected bits in order to slow down the increasing intelligence of living humans who found themselves trapped... born into a system so insane and so meaningless and unexplainable, and so evil: they didn't even know where to start analyzing the problems they were beset with: much less find any solutions. Their answer to the increasing rise in human intelligence and awareness has been the creation of the computer and the internet: an abstract toy designed to addict you into sitting on your ass for the rest of your fucking life and doing nothing but stare at a 2-dimensional screen and tap on plastic fucking keys until you die. Having lived and done nothing. That is how evil their intentions are towards all humans who use technology as an artificial crutch. All 'sacred' places are places where SCARED undead filth hide: scared of living, scared of Life, scared of living humans exploring their places of isolation and discovering their stinking rotten secret existence. Everything hidden is evil.

Overpopulation and undead filth

Why do you think why we humans overpopulated ourselves in the first place? Living humans overpopulated themselves for a simple fucking reason. Every time... any time living humans stopped moving: anytime living humans stopped physically moving: being physically active and healthy outside in living nature: every stinking time living humans lay down to sleep... their own undead... their forefathers and foremothers and ancestors and ghouls and every unimaginable rotting undead thing existing in the realm of the undead gathered round them and entered into them and poisoned them as much as they could by sucking off their life-energy.

The result of this is simple: a lowering of the energy level from a healthy outdoor spiritual happiness: down... down into the deepest filthiest subconscious urges and vileness of the undead auras filling the sleeping bodies, the unmoving living bodies of living people gathered round a nighttime fire. Down to the lowest mindless basest physical urges and instinct there is: reproduction: the energy to the worm, the energy of the black soil of the earth: so when they went to bed: they did things in secret under the cover of their blankets, under cover in the black night... they made the beast with two backs, the beast of carnal lust, they began humping each other every shit stinking night for hundreds of thousands of literally fucking years> they fucked and the fucked and they fucked and they fucked> lowering their energy levels down to the crudest most filthy base instincts: and in doing so... lost all of their human intelligence and human potential to be truly human.

Chapter Seven: Entities and the Alternative

1874

The human overpopulation of the earth: overpopulation of the earth is not because of humans!! We the living are not responsible for this sin of excess lust. It is the undead: these foul stinking things who are personally responsible for it. Without their poisoning us every day and especially during the nighttime: human males would not wake up in the morning with a filthy mindless blind physical erection, and the blind stupid urge... to fuck> to waste the majority of all the energy they gained during the night while their bodies were busy repairing themselves and healing themselves from all of the unhealthy things they had done during the previous day and all the unhealthy things they ate and drank. By wasting most of their excess energy in the morning succumbing to a, a blind fucking-urge, a blind urge to fuck... by doing this for untold thousands, if not for millions of years: this species: our species: us> all of us> you in particular... have lost all claim to human intelligence.

Once humans began overpopulating themselves: they lost all human intelligence> they lost all ability to control their basest lowest stupidest instinctive urges.

They became lower than all the other animals of the earth. They became dumber and stupider than all the other animals of the earth. They became more evil than all the other animals of the earth; their energy> the energy of their beings their bodies, souls, minds and hearts: became more destructive than all the other animals of the earth.

Have I finally given you enough information for you to become outraged at what these undead things have done to us?

Have I finally given you enough information for you to become outraged at what these undead things are still doing to us?

Have I finally given you enough information for you to become outraged at what these undead things do to us?

If not: then you should close this book and never read it again.

If so... if i have given you enough truth for you to become outraged and angry about the cunning hidden secrecy of these undead things> then i fucking hope this gives you the impetus to get off your fucking ass and do something about this outrage, and do something about everything that is wrong with this world.

Without the existence of undead foul turd thing secretly hiding inside our bodies and minds and souls and hearts and genitals.... We living humans would never have overpopulated the earth. We living humans would never have slaughtered living creatures and eaten them. We living humans would never have become meat eaters. We living humans would never have invented industrialized slaughterhouses. We living humans would never have invented nuclear weapons>

Is this enough information for you to get up and act?

This is what they have done to us.

This is what they do to us

The undead have never stopped doing it and will never stop doing it Until we kill all of them dead dead dead.

1874

Understand this: they are not immortal
They never have been immortal and they never will be immortal
They can be killed and they will be killed
Their kind will be wiped out of existence
They are designed to do one thing only:
And that is: Die Die Die:
They are to be forced out: out of their secret hiding places.
Destroyed and exploded into their constituent parts.
The world will be clean of all evil and re-energize all life on Earth.

The Reason for the Living Human Sense Of Pure Wonder

The reason every living human being ever born was born and is born and will be born with an intrinsic Sense of Pure Wonder is....:

Because it is the natural genetically designed state of our awareness which we should exit in all of our living lives. The reason we the living are born with a natural sense of pure wonder is because we humans are genetically designed to ask questions, we living humans are genetically designed to ask why of and about everything.

The reason we living humans were put on this earth is to find solutions to all the problems of the earth and of the universe. We are put on this earth to find answer to all the problems of this earth, and fix them.

Not as undead 'gods' secretly hiding what they know and not letting anyone else know what they know. We living humans are genetically designed to share all of our knowledge with each other and with all living things on earth.

We were not put on this earth to act as arrogant stupid destructive 'gods'. We were put on this earth to make friends with all living creatures great and small: not be their enemies by killing all living creatures, great and small and destroying their habitat and polluting the entire earth unto death.

This is what undead filth have done to us:

By secretly poisoning us for millions of years and secretly violating living creatures for millions of years, these evil things which need to be killed have successfully reversed all of our naturally designed functions and purposes.

No living human baby or child is ever born evil, and never has been!!!

Every baby needs to be and is systematically secretly poisoned and manipulated by these hidden unseen things before they become evil and are forced into doing the opposite of what makes them happy and healthy.

Civilization: is the artificial structure and system which these hidden filth created because of their hidden secret presence, because these undead things refuse to do the right thing and die, because they seek to preserve all dead dying rotting things instead of nurturing all of living life.

1875

1876

Every human baby born is born with an infinite potential and capacity for happiness, health and a sense of pure wonder.

Every human child and baby has an infinite potential for creativity.

All living humans are infinitely creative. The reason undead things created modern civilization is to destroy all living human creativity.

The reason undead indescribably filthy evil hidden things invented this structure and system where everything in civilization is as manufactured as identically as possible is because they are trying to destroy the natural genetic human ability to be creative.

The only reason we living humans are designed this way is so we can find and fix and create answer and solutions to all the problems of the world and the universe.

Anyone who has ever solved a problem know this does not make you feel like a god! Being able to solve problems is fun when it is done naturally and the results are good! Solving problems, turning bad directions of energy into good directions of energy makes you happy! It makes you want to solve more problems!! That's all. Nothing else. Nothing more.

What these undead have done to we living human and to every living human baby ever born cannot be tallied here. The only important thing to know is that these things are pure evil and that their invention called civilization is pure evil and that in order to be a happy healthy living human being you need to start asking questions... about everything!!!

Not just one selective thing...

Everything needs to be questioned explored solved and fixed

Everything on this earth needs to be questioned explored solved and fixed.

Everything in the universe needs to be questioned explored solved and fixed!

This is why you have a sense of Pure Wonder!!! Not because you are a 'god' but because you are the problem solvers of the Living Loving Earth. And in order to begin solving all the problems of the earth instead of creating all the problems on the earth, you need to fix yourselves first

And in order to do that all living people need to clean themselves out of as much hidden secret undead evil as possible and junk and dismantle all of human civilization, and go about killing and destroying every undead aura and ghouls you can find until finally you have a clean area region where they dare not enter because they know they will be caught and killed...

And from these cleaned out regions: you the living can and will: solve all the problems of all life and all living creatures including your own problems naturally, easily, creatively. This is what your natural ability and potential for infinite creativity is for.

This is why this book has been written: so that living humans will finally wake up and face the truth about themselves and their ancestor and the hidden secrets that were kept from them and the lies you have swallowed and been told all of your living life.

This books is not a book of hopelessness! It is also not a book of hope either! It is written to give you the tools to fix yourselves and this earth which has been poisoned for too long by these rotting things

1876

The Path of Splitness

Chapter Seven: Entities and the Alternative

1877 which have only one purpose and that is to die completely into their smaller constituent parts, and decompose back into the life energy which is the only energy in the Universe which can solve the entire problem with this unfinished, unfixed, unsolved Universe.

This book is only written for doers, not for people who 'hope', not for asses who sit and read and do nothing with the knowledge they absorb. This book is written for people with energy who want action and want to do something positive; not negative do-nothings. The lesson you must learn is that all of your positive energy will be wasted if you try to work within the system of civilization. First; civilization must be utterly destroyed before you can even begin to work in a clan unspoiled environment and culture which will not overwhelm you by its huge negative poisoning presence. These undead need to be utterly destroyed before any of you living can hope to tap into your infinite powers and potentials. Before you can even begin to be positively creative: you need to kill and attack and recognize and find all of the hidden holes and places where these undead things hide and kill them and starve them to death by not giving them anything to feed on!!

If there are no artificial destructive sources of energy like fire, electricity etc. They will lose most of their power over you@!! If you clean out your living bodies of all the rotten unhealthy things you eat and drink: they will lose most of their power over you!! If you clean out all the irrational illogical hatred and envy and jealousy out of your souls they will lose most of their power over you!!

Then!! The stronger and more sensitive you become... the more you will be able to actually see these undead ugly ghouls, the better you will be able to track them down and destroy them and kill them!! The only reason you cannot see them now is because they have desensitized all living humans so they cannot all of the spectrums of energy which these undead things inhabit. Once you can actually see them... once your vision improves, once your sense are clarified and increased in sensitivity, once you begin touching and hugging each other with your living skin... once you allow all living things and people to touch you, not insulate your skin from all living touch! Then... then!! You will actually see how evil and insane and sick these twisted, deformed ghouls actually are, you will actually see how ugly and misshapen they actually are!! And you will feel a natural urge a healthy good urge to kill them and wipe them off this earth.

This Earth is designed to be Beautiful! All of life is designed to be Beautiful! All living humans are designed to create even more living Beauty!~ Not ugliness!!!! All of civilization is ugly and dead! All undead dying rotting ghouls are ugly!

The more living creatures feed upon dead things the more ugly they become!! That is why vultures are the ugliest birds in natural world save the turkey, and the turkey is a vulture. That is why the turkey is the stupidest bird in North America.

If you want to be happy: learn how to Play! Have fun. Don't work! Don't contribute to building more dead shit and piling it up in dollars or buildings. Here is where you natural sense of Fun and Play is developed properly, so you have this ability for the rest of your life!! Humans are not designed to stop playing and having fun. We are designed to Play and have Fun all of our living lives. Once your natural sense of Play and Fun is deadened and killed: you stop growing and you start dying

Once you finish your childhood phase of having fun by playing happily...then the next stage of growing up naturally and healthily is... to begin asking questions about everything... here is where your natural Sense of Wonder and your natural sense of curiosity comes in...

Then! Once you begin to do this, you start to look for answers to you questions, you begin to find out the joy of exploration. You begin to explore everything! Not just one stupid thing. Everything!

Then!! You begin to develop your creativity in finding answers to you questions and solutions to the problems you find... but you do this naturally! Playfully! Having fun doing it! Enjoying everything about your life! Being positively useful and creative! And you do this because you were given a chance to play and have fun when you were growing up and you did not forget how to do this and how to have fun and play.

Then! Once you discover how creative you actually are, and how creatively you can explore the Earth and find what needs to be fixed and solve the problem and fix it! You will have done your natural designed appointed job.

But!! Your 'job' will not be doing something as uncreatively as possible. Your job will not be something that is boring and stupid and destructive and evil> you 'job' will be you giving life back to living things and to other living humans, and sharing your life and happiness with all life and people and living creatures great and small.

This natural purpose which you have been designed to do naturally has been poisoned and reversed into unspeakable evil by hidden unseen undead things secretly hiding inside you (and all around you. Because these thing have poisoned this entire earth with their filthy foul evil presence and you also... their destruction will not be pretty, the healing of this earth will not be pretty... there is a lot of ugliness and evil to be gotten rid of and cleansed on this earth before living creatures can begin thriving again. The accumulation of undead is the first priority. The accumulation of all civilization is also the first priority. The dynamic of killing dying and rotting: the one-sided part of the life-cycle which is now totally out of balance is what needs to be fixed and solved creatively. Only when there are more things being born and growing than there are things dying can life become positive as it is designed to be. Only when there is more life than undead will life begin to do its designed purpose.

Life is not death: death is not Life they are two separate things
In order to live: you do not need to die.

But... once you have died... there is only one thing you are designed to do and that is; give all of your Life Energy back to LIFE: die completely. Not partially. This is why all undead must be killed COMPLETELY DEAD.

David Icke's 'Lizard' people explained

The explanation for Icke seeing ghosts of people who have the skin of a snake or lizard; super-imposed over, the body of a living person is simple: cold-blooded living people attract undead entities who are also cold-blooded and have no human emotions. It is simple case of water seeking its own level; undead ghouls are most attracted to the auras of living souls who have more things in common with them.

What Icke saw in his dual vision was an undead entity hiding inside a living person . This entity had once lived inside the body of a lizard or snake long enough for their aura to mutate into a genetically altered lizard/human abomination...

It is no surprise that cold-blooded undead auras are attracted to the auras of living people who have cold-blooded personalities. Icke uncovered a tiny part of evil in this world and how it works. But he has no conception and no true understanding of the true extent of their evil. He himself also has undead things hiding inside him which he is not aware of: everybody has. This is what you need to realize. This book gives you the larger perspective into which all of the smaller aspects of evil can be fitted and understood in their proper context

What Icke saw demonstrates how these dead things hide inside the auras of living people and only reveal themselves when they want to... exerting their presence unpredictably at odd times, in momentary flashes, and instantly reverting back to an undetected passive presence which is not noticed by the person they secretly hide inside all the time.. This illusion of their presence magically appearing and disappearing has fooled people for millions of years. . It is only their dead motives, their evil intentions, their filthy goals, their hidden secret agendas and their hidden secret purposes that waxes and wanes... not their actual presence. they only seem to fade and reappear like the Cheshire cat in the tree in Lewis Carrol's Alice in Wonderland:. Actually they haven't gone anywhere. They are always there: we just can't sense them or see them; that's all. We can only sense them when they choose to reveal themselves. We only sense their presence when we do something that forces them to directly oppose our living GOOD intentions and motives. By lying dormant for months, even years, by synchronizing their parasitic auras to their hosts, they have managed to fool living people for millions of years

Icke has a good nose for sniffing out evil; but he does not see deeply enough into his own soul and the hidden existence of undead entities. There is no 'Rothschild Zionist' conspiracy of a small group of people against the masses of the world; the actual conspiracy is the undead conspiring against the living. The undead use anyone with ambition to gain power and status and wealth, anyone willing to sell their souls for worldly success. The lucky few who manage to reach their respective positions of power, wealth and influence are not 'Rothschild Zionists' They are just living people who by their wealth, power; and influence have gained the ability to commit a million times more evil than other corrupt souls lower down in the pyramidal shitpile of civilization. This is why people like Icke are laughed at and not taken seriously; their theories are close to the truth, but miss the actual truth by a huge margin. It is the undead ghouls who poison and control the Bush family and Dick Cheney and the Saudi Royal family who are the actual conspirators. It is every malevolent undead devil and demon in the realm of the undead. Not just a few of them... it is all of them: all undead entities conspire against the living.

Icke is not immune from the poison of undead entities hiding inside his body: nobody is. His left leg swelling up for no apparent reason is another example of how people's lives are secretly manipulated and the entire direction of their lives is changed and poisoned and damaged by invisible undead auras invading their bodies. Icke's main sin and crime is the fact that he has profited from selling lies mixed with truth. This main crime of making money from selling the truth tainted with lies is in direct contradiction to the truths he purports to stand for. This is also the reason why the theories he sells are not completely logical and are flawed and illogical and incomplete. He does not tell the whole truth and he does not explain it logically because he does not have the Courage needed to explore the depths of his own inner soul as I have, and the Honesty to put all of the pieces together into their proper context historically. He mixes up certain truths with all kinds of mystical bullshit about universal consciousness etc. his garbled lectures are not constructive. People pay to see him speak, the sit and listen, and go home and then do NOTHING about what they have learned Why? Because Icke is just another charismatic leader-prophet who does not practice what he preaches. He does not lay out the responsibility of knowing the truth to the masses he attracts as he should, he does not demand they change their ways and cleanse themselves of all the addictions and unnecessary comforts and toys which poison and weaken them. He does not tell them to rise up and fight. He does not dare to go against the establishment. He is just another side-show puppet: put there to entertain the weak willed ones who need to look up to someone and have things explained for them because they can't think for themselves. Living a luxuriant upper-class life of affluence and fame like he does, making tons of money from lectures and books is not how anyone is going to change the corruption of civilization which they live in, profit from and enjoy the benefits of.

This is also the reason why my book is free, and why I have not profited from it and never will. The undead have nothing to fear from Icke for a simple reason: once he dies and passes into their realm they will be able to kill him easily because his aura has been poisoned and weakened by the hypocrisy, lies and misconceptions which he profited from, and all the corrupt advantages he accumulated during his life on Earth. That is one difference between Icke and me. The undead fear me for a good reason: they know not only that I will kill them when I pass into their realm: they know that I am ABLE to kill them. This book educates you so you will be able to kill them also once you pass into their realm. This book exposes their hidden existence, this book exposes their dirty little tricks, this book exposes their filthy cunning secret agenda, this book exposes the truth about their rotten evil motives. They need to be killed: EVERY ONE OF THEM: DEAD. And I mean fucking DEAD. All of them. NO EXCEPTIONS.

How can I be sure of this? Because Icke is still brainwashed enough to 'love' the memory of his dead mother. All the undead need to do is bring up the rotting, insane aura of his dead mother and he will go ga-ga over her and be easily and cunningly enfolded into a mass of undead auras and swallowed UP and taken APART piece by piece, while he thinks he is being transformed into the greater fucking 'mass consciousness' of some fucking bullshit 'greater' 'godlike' intelligence. When he realizes he is losing his own self and his own will and is dissolving not into any greater fucking consciousness, but the integrity of his personal aura is being torn apart and being absorbed into an insane evil reptilian consciousness, it will be too late: and that will be the end of David Icke's potential danger to the realm of the undead...

You need to understand only one thing: KILL THEM every chance you get. Every attempt of bringing up dead ancestors or people you once knew and loved in LIFE in order to pacify you and make you harmless is a total fraud, a cunning swindle, a delusion, an illusion. UNDERSTAND THIS. Every delusion, every misperception you have of reality, every mistaken understanding you have of yourself and of Life, can and will be used AGAINST you by evil cunning entities existing in the realm of the undead. The DIRECT POWER of Courage and Honesty can KILL them DEAD. Seeing things clearly for what they actually are is not enough. You need to develop your INSIGHT to see what actually exists BENEATH the surface of superficiality. You need to develop the WISDOM to see DEEPER than the surface of things. You need the ability to see INSIDE people's souls. You need to GO deeper, LIVE more deeply, EXPERIENCE LIFE more deeply before you can develop the power to kill these undead filth. And you need to ACT on your wisdom. Insight without action is weakness, it is disconnected.

Secret Hidden Dynamics of The Realm of the Undead and Conspiracies.

One reason undead project of their own filth out into living humans is because of the fact that most of them are aural abominations of genetic ugliness and genetically diseased and genetically sick and twisted and warped. They do not want to look at their genetically misshapen aural bodies and faces, they do not want to look at themselves because they are horrors of genetic ugliness. They cannot endure the ugly truth of what they are and have become, they cannot stand to see what they have turned themselves into.. They do not want anyone living or undead to see how ugly and horrible they actually are. This is one main reason they keep themselves hidden all the time. By this devil's bargain of mutual avoidance of each other they have managed to escape their own total deaths... It is by making this devil's bargain of mutually agreeing to not deal with each other, and mutually agreeing not to look at each other:... it is by them making this pact with each other that they have become evil and have become the mortal enemies of all Life on Earth. It is by not looking at each other and not allowing anyone to see them or look at them... that they become unconscious projectors of their own inner filth. This is how and why they have become a Realm of watchers, a Realm of criminals, a realm of rapists, a Realm of violators, a realm of Sick Abominations, a realm of the countless suffering sick souls, a realm of unholy hell, a Realm of undead evil. This is one reason why they pour all of their own foulness into the living bodies of living humans rather than look at themselves and deal with their own foulness.

This evil mutual pact of non-intervention then opens the door for the undead who are even more vile than they are to come in and take them over... This opens the door for the most evil of them all to rule all the others in the realm of the undead. This opens the door for inhuman entities who are so poisoned, so genetically altered, so mentally insane, so mutated, so foul, that they do not care if they are seen, and do not mind looking at the undead filth all around them. This in turn, opens the door for ancient undead evil which is not human to come in and pluck at these half-human undead souls and peck at them and manipulate them, control them, overpower them, command them to their will.

There is no intelligence in the miasma of the Realm of the Undead. It is a rotting Hades of dying faint souls... overpopulated, spilling out into the physical world because of their over-packed, overcrowded conditions, their stupid habit all congregating in the same small space...as more than one undead species merge and overlap into the next... as more than one undead genetic set of abominations, poisoning each other with their overlapping auras... Different undead auras of different species merging together into cities of the undead...dogs, cats, bovine animals, pigs, apes and birds: none of them wanting to be seen or looked at. Endless levels of manipulators manipulating manipulators... none of them willing to admit they are being manipulated by someone or something else. This is the insanity of their Realm.

The point is that their existence explains the missing elements in all evil conspiracies on Earth. One half of the truth about all evil conspiracies ever planned and carried out has been hidden and is missing from the eyes of the living. The invisible network of evil undead ghouls attracted to, and hiding inside the most evil living souls on earth is the secret, hidden, missing element, which if uncovered and exposed... can explain exactly how all of the complex conspiracies like the inside job of 9/11 was carried out and how a small pack of living criminals on Earth managed to fool and hoodwink most of the world into believing that some Moslem Saudi national freedom fighter hiding in a cave in Afghanistan was responsible for bringing down the tallest steel structured buildings in the world and successfully penetrating the armed technological might of the most advanced sophisticated air-defense system on Earth....

Not all of the elements of this huge conspiracy... from the corporate Media, to the Pentagon, to the Whitehouse, to NORAD, to the CIA, to the FBI, to FEMA, to Silverstein, to Mayor Giuliani, to the New York Port Authority, to Cheney, to the President George Bush Jr., to Halliburton, to Bush's brother in charge of the security of the Twin Towers complex, to the Corporate legal briefs pending on the biggest corporate scandals of the decade which would have sent some of the richest men in the world to jail... all of them cannot be directly linked to each other in the Physical Realm of the Living....

But all of them can be linked to each other, and are linked to each other through the realm of the undead.

The fact is... they were linked to each other through the realm of the undead. The entire false flag affair of 9/11 was a coordinated, orchestrated attack by the undead upon the living. Instead of the living being responsible for planning the Rwandan genocide, and the beginning of the 1st World War; and the St Bartholomew's massacre, and all the other atrocities of mankind: it was hidden undead entities who were guilty of plotting, planning, and carrying out these untold conspiracies against the living, attacks against the living, and abominations of secret, unseen, hidden evil.

The Ugly Truth of the Oracles

This book is not a fraud: this book is not a hoax. How do you think undead evil things controlled mankind for thousands of years? In the ancient times: every important decision had to be ritually asked of their gods which choice was the correct one to make. In every important decision, all of the most powerful rulers without exception consulted famous 'oracles': which resided inside certain key religious temples... which they offered up gold and more gold to, in order to receive a favorable answer to their cunning politically correct, corrupt questions, always seeking an advantage for themselves. The undead controlled the masses from the top on down: the undead have been controlling all of massed humanity from the top, from the highest positions of power and influence on down and also in every other facile, cunning, hidden, sneaky filthy way they can.

What do you think an Oracle is? Ora = Aura

Undead auras are Cunning Lying bits of Energy
Aura-CLE = Oracle

Aura-cle ...cle = Cunning love of Energy. Undead things sucking off energy. Why do you think empty haunted houses which do not any people living in them to suck from have mysterious 'cold spots'? That is because since there are no artificially man-made sources of energy like gas pilots of heaters and stoves, and furnaces and electricity running anymore, they are forced to suck energy out of the heat in the air: that's why. They are suckers off life energy, they suck off anything they can. They are bloodsuckers, they are life-suckers; they do not belong on this earth. Do you understand now?? All living humans have been controlled and poisoned and manipulated by these filth for ages upon ages.

All the famous revered religious oracles of the ancient world were controlled by undead auras. They exist everywhere and are pure sick filth and must be destroyed utterly and killed dead.

Undead constantly push living humans to weaken themselves: they want to make every living thing weaker and weaker until they die: that is their evil. What civilization is most proud of is the most evil aspect of civilization: fat corpulent weak lazy senile wrecks: addicted to machines and drugs and distractions. No exercise whatsoever: the religion of ease is their invention. Everything you do and feel they try to make you do it and feel it more weakly: this is where all political correctness comes from: any human emotion and thought which is too true or too healthy, too good; they hate, they fear and poison and attack and flee from. Every child and baby who is too healthy and too strong for their liking they attack and poison. Every unreasoning and irrational fear comes from them hiding within you: not from you. Every evil impulse people have is either programmed into them from birth by these filth, or forcibly altered by invasion of undead things coming instantly into any healthy good urge and impulse a living person has. This book is written from personal experience of them. This book is written for every living human soul. This book is written to free the living from the evil, cunning, hidden filthy tyranny of rotting evil. It is written to free all living people from their past, from worshipping the past, from worshipping these filthy undead ghouls. This is the reason their inventions must be cast down; this is the reason civilization must be totally destroyed if mankind wants to live any longer on the Earth. The only reason humans have not wiped these things off this planet is because these undead things have hidden themselves in secret for untold eons of Time and have not allowed living humans to even become aware that there is a war going on between us and these stinking filth. Their only weapons are the weapons of deception, secrecy and cunning lies. Only by maintaining the delusions of their insane sick evil can they keep their own hordes of filth in check. Now they are using a vortex to mass-murder as many once-living souls entering their realm, tempting them to go into the light. The light dead people see when they enter that realm of undead ghouls is the light of untold human souls all massed into a vortex of evil negative dying filth. By brainwashing living humans to live in massed hordes of cities all conforming to each other: they have solved the problem of having to deal with billions of souls individually and having their charades stripped naked. When you have your own light: you need no other light to see their twisted filthy visages leering at you from a safe distance and attacking you from behind, and in masses; trying to overwhelm you with their numbers. All you need to do is begin killing them and not stop killing them, and the world will be cleansed of their stinking presence here on Earth. They are designed to die: NOTHING ELSE. Every energy which kills them is POSITIVE ENERGY. Every intention to kill them is POSITIVE AND GOOD.

Every word of evil: every word which describes the evil of one-sided accumulation and undead corruption exposes the hidden secret poison of undead entities PUSHING living humans to become more corrupt: GreedIER, filthIER, dirtIER, lousIER: every ending of 'ier' exposes the hidden 'i'... the evil hidden unseen dot hovering over living humans pushing them to corrupt themselves worse and worse. This ending hides the hidden 'ire' the secret hidden hate all undead have for the living

The reason the bible is called the old and new 'testament' is because this idea of testing living people was used as an excuse for whatever evil these undead did to the living whom they poisoned and corrupted. Whenever any poor soul like job is attacked and his life made miserable, the excuse for what these undead things did to him was.... That it was all only a 'test'. They did it to 'test' his faith. All the trials and horrors of the bible which god wreaked upon the living were meant to be a 'test' of their religious belief... to see just how fucking brainwashed and just how fucking stupid these dolts actually were. All of the tragedy and bloodshed and butchery and evil was meant to 'test' the 'faith' of the Hebrews... just to make sure they still 'believed' in the existence of a single, invisible, all-powerful, mythical, invented god.

The idea that no other deities exist except this Jewish one is totally preposterous...when for tens of thousands of years every living person knew there were many gods and goddesses and spirits. When all civilized humanity had been worshipping tens of thousands of different gods and goddesses for untold thousands of year.

When you arrive in the realm of the undead, if you start looking for this non-existent single all-powerful deity who is so great and so powerful that he can never be seen... you will never find him because he

The Path of Splitness

doesn't fucking exist. It was simply just another swindle in a long line of swindles, a nice way to brainwash living fools and keep them nicely docile in the realm of the undead once they get there...as they all patiently wait for thousands of years for the day of judgment, when 'god's' great plan and reasoning will finally be revealed to them... waiting for a day of judgment which never comes... waiting for to meet this great all-powerful god which does not exist... only to be told after 3,000 years of waiting, that they were misinformed... and given some other bullshit excuse, or lie or swindle to chew on for another 3,000 fucking years. What a nice economic way of handling millions of religiously brainwashed imbeciles with a minimum of fuss and bother who believe in an unseen god.

Search all over that realm for any higher single evil and you will never find it; because it does not exist: it exists only so insane undead gulled fools can spend an eternity searching for some 'higher' single invisible entity which is supposedly pulling all the invisible strings of these unspeakable undead rotting ugly scum in that realm, and never managing to find it or him or whatever they have been lied to and fooled into believing.

The reason the bible is called the old and new 'testament' is because every evil these scum practiced and committed: whenever questioned as to their veracity and purpose why they were hounding and persecuting certain living humans: they always gave the same tired stupid obvious lying excuse: they were just 'testing' the sucker to see how far they could go in lying to him, and pushing him to commit the worst possible evil they could get him to commit on their behalf... the entire holy scriptures was supposed to be sold to the masses as a test: everything in the bible was meant as a test to test the religious faithfulness and blind stupidity of living people. Each 'test' was 'meant' to test their religious ardor and blind faith and obedience to these hidden undead sick filth.

Today, this moral; this preached advertised, dogma which the fucking Christian churches preached for hundred and hundreds of years is now completely obsolete. This particular LIE doesn't work anymore: but that does not stop these unseen things from continuing to push this idea: that everything God did to Mankind was only meant as a 'test'. Simply because there are tons of stupid brainwashed idiots in this world who can still be sold this garbage and still swallow it whole like the masses did for thousands of years before Christianity was ever invented.

What is a deity? A deity is an undead thing that should have DIED a long time ago. A Deity is a divine being. What is a Divine Being? A Divine Being is an unseen entity who is supposed to be able to divine the future. All Deities were worshipped for their supposed ability to foretell the future. The cunning scam of these undead filth was that none of them could divine anything except what they secretly planned and orchestrated themselves. What these dead filth actually did was to orchestrate and manipulate the lives of living humans so that their supposed 'divinations' their 'predictions' would apparently come to pass as they predicted. And in this way, they came to be feared and respected for having hidden secret knowledge of the future, which corrupted civilized living humans tried to use for their own selfish interests...

This religious/spiritual scam, this cunning swindle existed for thousands of years in every civilized culture... and it was all due to these unseen filth secretly inhabiting living people and making their lives as miserable as possible; so they would live in a constant state of paranoid, superstitious fear. Fear of the future. Fear of their gods. Fear of themselves. Fear of the world around them. Fear of Life. This scam: this filthy swindle which they continue to inflict upon naïve living people, was how they first gained influence over the civilized societies of living humans. All of their divinations and predictions were false. They were not divinations at all: they were 'predictions' about what they actively planned and carried out and orchestrated to insure certain outcomes. When you 'predict' one side will win a war, and then secretly aid that side and make sure that side wins and the other side loses: it is not a fucking prediction: it is an obscene, unseen violation into the lives of living people which must be stopped.

These dead things expose their existence in millions of ways. For instance in print: A diary: is a DIE Reason - A - WHY. The 'Y' is their merging themselves into living people. A 'Y' = DIE. By controlling living people's thoughts and writing, they cunningly twist every truth, everything which actually happened. They are only interested in DEATH: not in life. They are only interested in reasons why people DIE: not reasons why people LIVE.

Who were the Cro-Magnons? They were the first modern men to improve ancient tools which had not changed for millions of years; they were humans infected with the undead spirits of crows and magpies; pecking at things making tools obsessively all day with their Hunt-and- peck method of bone/flint chipping. All human knowledge is incomplete and does not tell the whole story unless you include the effect undead unseen evil shit has upon living humans. Only when you include the effect of their presence and their secret hidden crimes can human history be fully understood and explained.

The point to this book is for people to realize that the human race is sick because of these undead things: not because of us the living. The entire human species has been sick ever since it was born because of undead entities poisoning the living... There are perfectly logical reasons why we the living are sick, The point is: it is not us, the living, who are sick; the sickness which exists within us and around every living human being IS SOMETHING WE CAN FIX. We: the living can kill these undead things completely dead, and be free of their sick evil forever. And unless we do this, these things: these hidden filthy scum will be free to continue to practice their abominations upon us the living.

Now that you know the hidden ugly truth of their secret hidden realm, you have three choices:

BE AS TRUTHFUL AS POSSIBLE OR LIE

Act: or do nothing

HEAL: OR DESTROY.

Learn from me and this book; As long as you continue on your paths of evil these undead things will not oppose you, and will not bother revealing themselves to you. It is only if you go against their evil wishes and plans, only when you fight for what is good and positive that you will suddenly find out how cunningly nearly all of human civilization opposes you and tries to block and sabotage your every good intention..

Learn this:

There is only a war going on if you fight against evil and for good. If you continue in your negative direction aiding evil: nobody will stop you or fight against you: because they are all going in the same negative direction you are. All paths of worldly success are negative paths of evil. In fact, these undead ghouls will aid you and abet you in your every corrupt intention and twist your ever good intention into evil and your life will become very easy if you choose to work towards worldly success.

Living people must come together and organize together in order to fight against these evil undead things which hide inside every living soul; not against each other! The ploy of these undead filth, their tactic of pitting living humans against each other must be understood and nullified by both sides understanding this. The battle lines must be redrawn: the enemy is not your neighbor: it is the undead things hiding inside both him and inside you.

Once you realize this and try to actually do something about it; only then you will begin to see how much control they have over you and those around you. This book has been written to educate living people so we all come together and cooperate intelligently. Civilization is an invention of the undead. Civilization is their creation and their evil. Civilization is what is preventing all living humans from coming together and cooperating intelligently. The cities of the undead must be utterly destroyed and them along with it. The time for a new way of life is at hand.

The Undead cunning evil Tactic of Reversal

This book explains everything about our past which has been previously inexplicable. All of the superstitions of the ancient world make sense, everything which people today scoff at, which ancient people believed implicitly is a product of the machinations and cunning deceptions of these unseen undead things. Why do you think the Jews were hounded and persecuted for thousands of years, eh? Because they destroyed the old scam of believing in many gods. The ancients were forced to propitiate and appease and sacrifice to so many ghouls called 'gods' or 'goddesses', that these undead things could easily find an excuse for committing their sadistic abominations by claiming that you had overlooked a certain deity and had not sacrificed to a certain Deity, or your offering was of poor quality, or not good enough, or it had 'insulted' or 'offended' some other Deity... Because the Jews did away with polytheism: this standard excuse/tactic of these undead filth could not be used anymore. They were forced to invent another pack of lies in order to maintain their iron grip on the lives of innocent civilized human beings. For the 'sin' of refusing to worship undead deities as all the other brainwashed masses of civilization had been doing for thousands of years, for the 'sin' of forcing the undead to change their tune and hide themselves under yet another layer of stinking lies and swindles and fairy tales and myths and cons, they became a marked race, cast out of every land they tried to live in.

What was the reaction of the Realm of the undead to this religious sea change in the Mideast? They pitted all the people who believed in only one god against each other! You would think that if there are sects of religious orders which all had the common belief in a single all-powerful god, that these people would have the least reason to fight each other... After all, since they all believe in the same God... their sects just come from different prophets, espousing the same basic religious dogma of only one God, but noooo! Instead of this becoming a humane/moral/ethical/religious/spiritual force for the peaceful coexistence of all monotheists getting along with each other and becoming friends with each other; instead this created the worst, the most insane religious hatreds ever conjured up by the fiends of heaven and hell. Not because this idea was and is a total fucking complete lie which it is, but because the undead do not like being forced to change their tactics and customary swindles which they have used for ages to fool and gull the living with.

Their reaction to the invention of monotheism was... the invention of religious war on a mass scale among all monotheistic people. Mass slaughter on a scale never before seen. Before Monotheism was invented... and I DO mean invented... there was no such fucking thing as a 'religious war' before these undead things invented it. There couldn't be. There were too many spirits and Deities to worship. No single deity had a monopoly on the hearts and minds of any large mass of people, no group of civilized people believed in the exact same number of deities, ergo: no single group of people could be demonized as believing in the 'wrong' deity or deities except in tiny small ethnic groups. Small genocides of one tribe or another were common in the ancient world... but not mass genocides involving entire regions of civilized Christianity, Islam or Jews! Not entire regions, not entire empires! Not entire continents! of civilized people who did not happen to believe in this nonexistent single all-powerful god.

Suddenly the Jews simplified their religion and created one all-powerful God, and did away with all lesser gods... Brilliant! This way they could not be accused of failing to sacrifice to a certain overlooked deity! This way the standard sets of excuses and rationalizations which the Undead had previously used for ages could not be used anymore! All they had to do was obey the wishes of just one god: and all their religious problems were over! Simplification!

*The undead were not amused by this at all.
The undead do not like living humans who are too intelligent, or too inventive.
The undead like dumb obedient slaves and humble pliant brainwashed idiots.*

The Jews thought they had solved their religious problems. This way they could not be blamed for not obeying the wishes of their one single all-powerful god, and life would be much easier for them and more clear and simpler. These undead things did not like this at all. The excuses they had used for thousands of years to commit their abominations upon all living people had been taken away from them. They could not excuse their crimes anymore by saying that the Jews had overlooked a certain spirit or deity, or god; that was the real reason things began to go badly for them.

So these undead things made an example out of this pestiferous tribe who dared to change the way all the religions of the ancient world were practiced. So they used this invention of an all-powerful single invisible god against the Jews and had their own god persecute them; regardless of what they did, or how faithfully they obeyed all of the laws and commandments of their non-existent god. Then they made all of humanity persecute this tribe of cunning Semites.

The point is... these undead reverse everything which living humans attempt: they reverse every positive intention of every human being on earth. And they do it as quickly as possible. From the Israelites considering themselves to be a 'chosen people'... the darling this new god they had invented out of thin air, they became the opposite of a chosen people, instead they became the most persecuted people on Earth, persecuted by their own god... Instead of being the most favored people on earth, they became the most ill-favored people on earth, the most vilified, the most castigated, the most discriminated against.

Before this new invention of a single invisible Deity: gods and deities were propitiated and appeased and their favors were sought by civilized humans sacrificing the best of whatever they had. Before this new invention: deities had temples built in honor of them, statues and icons of thousands of deities littered the ancient world. Temple building was the main drain of every ancient civilized economy. These temples became slaughterhouses: accepting the best of everything alive that was brought to them. Only the deadest things were preserved and accumulated in these slaughterhouses of butchery. They stank with rotting blood from the endless carcasses which were slaughtered as sacrifices to certain deities or spirits. They ruled and controlled the political lives of the richest most powerful potentates and kings and emperors. No king or emperor dared set off a war without first seeking the favor of the most powerful deity in the region. The temples which held oracles: undead auras which were supposed to be able to predict the outcome of the future, became international brokerage houses of enormous wealth because kings on both sides of any conflict donated enormous sums of gold and wealth, hoping to gain favor with their favorite gods, hoping to guarantee the success of any venture like a war, or an attack on a neighboring kingdom.

Because this one tiny tribe of inventive cunning Semites managed to destroy the entire ancient set of ritual-sacrifice and temple worship and idol worship of the undead. Because this one idea of an invisible god which forbade the worshipping of any other god and forbade the making of any icon or idols in his visage; this effectively wiped out the 10,000 ear-old tradition and customs of polytheistic idol worship, and the entire network of ancient temples thousands of years old; crumbled into dust and disappeared from Western civilization, and an entirely new set of irrational customs and lies and myths had to be erected to replace the former system by which these undead things controlled all of living humanity. To have a 10,000 yr-old tradition wiped out because some jerk of an intelligent Semite invents a simplified form of religiosity? You can bet these undead things were pissed off against this tiny sect of cunning Semites. This was the REAL reason the living tribes of Judea became the most hated race on Earth.

The trouble was, this new idea of a single all-powerful god was attractive and it caught on and spread. So what did the undead do? They used the Jews against the rest of the civilized world. They corrupted the Jews and forced them to live by usury. Why? Because one of their kind, a Jew called Jesus... had the gall to chase all the moneylenders out of the Temple of Jerusalem, that's why. This culture of Jewish moneylenders then was used to corrupt the whole western world of civilized humanity into the godless love of money: avarice and greed became their cultural heritage because the undead forced it upon them.

The concept of a single god exposed all-too-well, the true nature of these unseen filth... too clearly in the Old Testament the God Yahweh of the Israelites was exposed as not being sane. Too well, the Bible exposed this nonexistent god was an insane thing which committed random meaningless violence and abominations upon innocent living people out of pure spite, out of pure vindictiveness, out of pure evil.. Since that old ploy had become stale: they reversed their entire tactics and did an about-face.

The fucking point is: if you study human history carefully enough and in depth: you will be able to see how every new good idea, every single good improvement mankind has ever created out of the goodness of their hearts: has been twisted and turned and poisoned and reversed. And all the good taken out of every new good intention and invention, and filled instead with the most evil corruptions possible.

This is what these undead things do. This is ALL they do. They try to poison everything that is GOOD and turn it into the most foul evil possible by reversing the direction and intent and motive and result and consequences of everything that is GOOD.

What happened when literacy spread across the western civilized world? What happened when the ancient texts of the old and New Testament were no longer read in ancient Latin, and no longer interpreted to the masses by corrupt priests? When the common man became able to actually read the words of the single dogmatic insane text by which they were supposed to model their lives and believe every single thing in that garbage heap of ancient mutterings, the supposed sacredness and wisdom of the fucking book called the Bible was up for grabs. Christians began questioning how these texts were supposed to be interpreted. The result was the Protestant Reformation... and yet again, these undead were forced to seek out and find new avenues and new cunning, hidden secret evil tactics to poison humanity by. What was the result of the Protestant Reformation? It signaled the demise, and the end of all the ancient myths and lies these undead had relied upon to control and poison living humans by, it signaled the end of the almighty power of the church as the most powerful temporal and ethical and spiritual and moral authority in western civilization. What was the reaction of the Realm of the Undead to this tendency of civilized living people to not believe anything the Bible said because the God it claims to speak of is so disgusting, ordinary decent humans could not stomach this ancient obsolete superstitious nonsense anymore?

1889

Suddenly the planned disappearance of all gods is orchestrated: a unknown, little known madman, an Austrian professor Nietzsche, who went insane and was put into an insane asylum... writes a few garbled, incoherent books filled with religious dogma and biblical prose stolen straight out of the monotheistic tradition: 'God is dead' he claims, and poof! Like magic, his words become the new Bible of the modern Age of 'enlightenment! For no apparent reason he becomes world famous and is revered as the most important philosopher ever born. Suddenly the educated European masses began to stop believing in god completely.

This is how the undead react to living people solving problems.

The undead never act

The undead only react to prevent the solving of problems.

The undead only react to keep the filthy truth of their secret hidden existence from being discovered and wiped out and exterminated.

If one lie does not work, then another lie claiming the opposite to be true is used: and the living never notice how they are so easily led by the nose. Until NOW, that is: not anymore. I have noticed. Now thanks to this book: you can also.

How in the hell did this happen? The undead inside certain key living people, were given this new strategy to push, a new dogma, a new deception to push, this new deception to sell to the unwashed masses; sold to them by professors in European Universities.. The undead were forced into this ploy by living humans becoming too curious with their experimentations about the Nature of things during 'The Age of Reason' where Man began to question and use rational logic to explain the world with. Now there is such an irrational mixture of beliefs and disbeliefs, they hope to hide the fact of their existence by complicating things into a snarled mass of illogical knots which can never be untangled because of their hidden hands affecting the outcome of all things.

Only when you look at these undead things as being universally evil without exception does human history makes any sense: only when you include the secret evil they practice does human history make any sense. The Undead turn the best of humanity into the worst... and when they can't do that: when they fail in corrupting the good intentions of living people: they plan and orchestrated and spark mass genocides, mass massacres, pogroms, wars. It is their doing: not the doing of living people.

The answer has been staring people in the face for eons. All of the names for undead entities: brownies, elves, sprites, dryads, ghosts, goblins, ghouls, angels, devils, demons, gods, goddesses, wraiths, spirits, poltergeists etc... in every horrid shape and ugly distorted form imaginable, are made of the same dying undead filth of left-over Life-energy. Finally Science has explained how radiation energy exists on different wavelengths and can and does permeate our entire living space and our bodies. Now the truth about their hidden existence has been exposed by me. Now living people can become aware of these foul things and do something about eradicating them from the face of the Earth.

Yes, the human race is sick: and the source of our sickness does lie within us: but it is not of us... the inner secret evil does not come from us, it comes from the obscene filthy invisible auras of unseen undead entities which have poisoned this Earth for too long and gotten away with it. If we the living are to have any chance at LIFE, they must be utterly killed completely and wiped OUT of existence..

These evil things enter into every good innocent soul they can, and poison every innocent good soul from the inside... secretly. The instant there is a good intention, a loving thought, a good motive in any living human heart... they rush in and try to drown out the original intention by filling the unknowing soul with unreasonable negative thoughts and feelings which are not logical and make no sense, and which that innocent person would never have felt and never have done if they had not been suddenly attacked by these stinking secret insane things who hate all goodness, purity, innocence, love, friendship, trust, happiness, and health.

The history of civilization is filled with millions upon millions of examples of their hidden presence and how they ruined every good thing on earth. The Trojan horse of homer's mythic tale is only a symbolic analogy of how these undead wraiths commit their rotten evil. Because the Trojans loved horses so much: these stinking foul Greek undead things... stole secretly into the living bodies of the living horses which the Trojans loved.

This is how they poison all human relationships: whenever there is any good to be poisoned, when any friendship is developed, when any positive energy is created between people who become friends or lovers: they steal themselves secretly into the living bodies of the person who is the easiest to corrupt and twist... and by just a few words said the wrong way or at just the wrong time... or in the wrong tone of voice, or with the wrong intention.

It does not from you or your friend> it comes from invisible sick foul undead things entering your soul; and by doing so: they fool unknowing humans into thinking and believing that it was their friend or loved one who said or did something nasty or evil: when it was the secret hidden ghouls who took over that living person and poisoned it beyond redemption into a stinking poisoned foul mess before its time. They do this to everyone who is a good decent human being. They have done this to me personally hundreds of times. I could recount hundreds of personal experiences of how all the relationships i built up over years and years of getting to know people were destroyed and soured in one instant of their cunning planned orchestrated infiltrations of my life and body and soul... and i can tell you dozens of personal experiences of the people i know who were poisoned by them, and what happened to them because of their living auras being attacked and filthied by these undead hidden evil things.

Learn this! If you ever have a sudden irrational negative feeling or thought against someone: if you ever have an irrational fear of something or someone, if you ever feel any irrational hate or envy or dislike against any living thing on earth. Stop!. Ask yourself: where is this irrational fear or hate or envy coming from? Does this come from you? Or is it coming from a hidden foul undead entity hiding secretly inside you? If after questioning your own inner soul: you find that the fear or hate or envy you felt is not rational and is not logical: then do not listen to this secret filthy thing inside you which is pushing you into committing evil.

Learn this! These secret hidden things only attack people when they are least expecting it. Undead ghouls only attack people who are vulnerable to each special custom-made orchestrated attack; they have had millions of years of experience doing this, they have all the advantage of being unseen.. Undead only attack living people when they are not ready. They only attack living people when they can take them by surprise.. They use their unfair evil advantage of being invisible and unseen by living people to the maximum. They foment and create hate and dislike and envy and fear between people and in people all the time.

History is filled with accounts of their evil: what do you think the biblical story of the Father and the Son and the Holy Ghost is? It is the story of the ghost of the father... after it dies, coming back... back from the grave it should have stayed in... coming into the aura of his son: and trying to kill him dead because he had become too good of a human living person, because he could not be allowed to spread his good will and energy to other good people. These undead things are not human: they are the opposite of human, they are anti-human, they are anti-life, they are against everything that is pure and good and healthy. They were against Jesus, they were against every good person who ever lived: they are against every good person who lives now. This is why i have written this book: to warn you the reader of their cunning hidden tactics and how they commit their secret crimes against living people. They are all around you all the time. They are in your dreams, they poison your best thoughts and your best feelings, they poison your best friends against you, they poison everything they can.

They can only do this as long as living people are not honest with each other. They can only keep their filthy hidden secret crimes from the people they violate as long as living people are not logical with each other. When a living person: goes into an irrational illogical fit of rage:: there is a fucking reason for it. Hen a person suddenly develops an unreasoning hate or envy or dislike of anyone there is a logical reason for it. When a person suddenly develops a craving for a certain drug or develops a sick irrational love of evil things and evil ideas: there is a goddamned good logical reason for this: the logical reason is... because undead auras enter into that living person's mind soul and body: and poison it on purpose. This is why they are totally evil and must be killed dead.

The Killing of Able by Cain

Berries that are perennials: fruits and vegetables that are perennials must have their 1st year growth cut, while preserving the 2nd year canes because it is the 2nd year growth of the 2nd year canes which produce the overabundance of fruit which civilized humans invented to grow more food than they needed by killing the 1st growth: forcing the 2nd growth into overpopulation.

This mimics the biblical story of Cain killing Abel: the younger brother who threatened to grow too fast and too well and outstrip Cain: so he lured able out into the fields and killed him

Why do you think the 'lord' preferred the firstborn sheep, a living animal, as a sacrifice to him in preference to a bunch of fucking vegetables or fruit?

As a result of Cain slaying Abel: all of the fruit he grew died the first year, and only the 2nd year cane would produce fruit perennially as did Cain's offspring produced offspring. Growing too much: overpopulating the land with its excessive overabundance.

The biblical legend/myth of Cain and Abel is composed of ancient symbolical truths that have been distilled into a concentrated essence. The sugar cane is the most sexually powerful, prolific plant in the tropical world. It grows faster and spreads faster than all other plants. The sugar it contains when eaten produces an excess of energy which is usually channeled into sexual lust by humans. The evil of the cane also symbolizes the first stick that was used as a cane by our monkey ancestors to stand up and walk and fight off predatory animals. The cane also represents the first sin of the first monkey or ape that used the first cane or stick to kill a member of its own tribe with. The hardness of the sugar cane when used as a weapon the hands of an over-sexed enraged monkey is lethal. The stems of sugar cane plants are so rigid that they have been used since time immemorial to build thatch houses with and as punishment rods to beat slaves, women and children with... The practice of caning servants or children still exists today in some parts of the world as a punishment for those who have too much healthy sexual energy.

The 'lord'... these undead things called deities, demanded the best of everything be sacrificed to them> Able obeyed this undead custom and killed his best sheep: the firstborn lamb of the year. Cain thought it was silly to sacrifice the best to some unseen deity so he offered up some straw instead: the straw offering did not burn well, but the firstborn lamb burnt magnificently... because these undead ghouls want living creatures to be killed: not fucking bits of dead hay, they want to see blood, they want to the best DNA of every species being killed off so life will never be given a decent chance to triumph against death and the realm of the undead.

For Cain's sin of not obeying the undead commandment of offering and sacrificing the best living things they had: these undead evil shit turds entered into Cain's living body and poisoned his soul against his own brother and made him kill Abel in a fit of jealous rage. A 'fit' of rage or jealousy is when an undead aura 'fits' itself into or over the aura of a living person and poisons it with their filthy hatred, envy and jealousy.

It was they who killed Abel: not Cain. Then... these undead shits shift the blame from themselves onto Cain and blamed the death of Abel which they orchestrated and used this as an excuse to hound and persecute not only Cain, but all of this progeny, all of his offspring till the end of Time: for the sins which they are actually guilty of committing. So the non existent 'god' is used as a false identity to oust Cain from the Garden of Eden and turns him into a wanderer and marks him for life and forces him into the land of Nod. So this 'god' cursed Cain and turned him into a wanderer on the Earth and declared that whoever met him should kill him and all which he grew would be the blood of his brother coming up from the ground to doom him and all of his progeny forever...and that whoever slew his Cain or his children would be cursed sevenfold; which is crazy because these dead shitholes sanctioned the killing and it was they who did it..

What this propaganda bullshit hides is simple: Early Semites discovered a better less destructive way of 'sacrificing' their 'best'. Instead of sacrificing living babies and first born animals which the undead love to slake their thirst for pain and agony and death: they sacrificed plants instead of animals.

Since these undead could not twist and reverse this more intelligent way of 'obeying' an insane evil tradition of destroying your best firstborn babies children and goats and pigs and chickens and every living creature that has a heart which bleeds blood every year: they decided to make a fucking 'example' of these dastardly living humans who were more intelligent and more humane and less blindly obedient to their ancient customs and traditions.

You would think that if these undead scum are truly evil: they should have slain Cain not Abel; who was not the firstborn. The fact is genetic DNA always improves with successive matings between any single couple: the 2nd born is always more gifted than the 1st born, the 3rd born is always more gifted and genetically healthy than the 2ndborn. These undead attacked the best genetic offspring of Adam and Eve by using the 2nd best offspring to kill the best genetic offspring: and they have been doing this ever since the human species has existed on this living earth. This is why all families lastborn are nearly always the ones who are labeled as the black sheep of the family and blamed for all of the family's evil corruptions and persecuted and attacked and poisoned and ostracized from society and not allowed to grow up and become successful in life and have children of their own because they are always the best genetic permutation and the undead seek to destroy the best genetic offspring of every species on Earth...

When Cain became angry at the gods not looking with favor on his puly offering: the gods spoke to him saying:

“If you do what is right: will you not be accepted?”

Rather than this all-powerful deity becoming enraged at Cain: he tries to placate him. He is trying to get Cain to sacrifice living animals and human babies to these undead bloodsuckers: not silly bits of straw or fruit or vegetables. In other words: these scum cannot face the direct anger of any living human being> and also more to the point: they also cannot face the anger of any human being who enters their realm and begins killing them.

“If you do not do what is right, sin is crouching at your door. It desires to have you but you must master it.”

The sin crouching at Cain’s door are the evil undead scum themselves, whom these living human suckers once worshipped blindly. The evil Cain must master are these sick evil shit filth secretly entering into his own body and soul to poison him against his own living brother. The misspelling of the word cane screams out the presence of the evil ‘i’ of undead filth hiding inside Cain, causing to become insanely jealous of his brother for no good reason.

The hidden truth of this legend is obvious once you know the true character of the demons and ghouls who call themselves deities... The ‘Lord’ didn’t want Man to become too able... he wanted to cripple Man by poisoning him with hate against his own kin and by poisoning Him with the evil of sexual lust to the point where the intelligence of this able creature was overpowered and the deities of the underworld and overworld could control and manipulate this species to their own cunning filthy evil ends and goals. That is why the son who was killed was called Abel.

This biblical story exposes again, the evil hidden cunning of the presence and influence of these undead filth: when they cannot twist or change a better way of living at its root: when they cannot force humans to follow the same ancient obsolete stupid customs and traditions for thousands of years: they then attempt to poison and twist and corrupt everything else which comes out of this better more human custom of sacrificing some hay to their god instead of a living animal and instead of sacrificing their living firstborn baby, replacing him with the firstborn sheep of their flock.

What these undead filth did was simple: Abel was the better genetic breed. Cain was the more rotten one... they chose to kill the best genetic offspring from Adam and Eve, and preserve their worst genetic offspring: and they have been doing this ever since the first humans were born. This is their hidden secret evil> this is the basic secret agenda they all have against all living humans and all living creatures. Kill the best and preserve the worst. They have successfully practiced this secret hidden agenda for millions of years. Add this hidden agenda to all of human history and you will see how it always works out that the best, most healthy sensitive decent living humans are sacrificed... while the filthiest evil degenerate living human scum are protected and live long destructive evil lives, and magically avoid all retribution and punishment, while the best of living humans are attacked and murdered and massacred for the flimsiest of excuses. The story is simple: all who are too good, too innocent, too trusting, too able are killed. All who they are not able to kill, are spiritually poisoned and corrupt are allowed to spread their filth and their seed.

What is not told and is hidden and whitewashed by the anthropological facts of pre-history is the historical fact that the ancient 'god' of not only the Semites but all of the undead deities of that time: demanded all their living human hosts sacrifice their firstborn human babies to them every single year.

This was why the human species became an overpopulated mess of humans fucking all the time. It happened because we the living, had been forced into this sick, insane way of living by these undead filth things. For thousands of years before the invention of civilization, for thousands of untold years, living humans were forced into having more than one child as year for thousands of years just to keep from going completely extinct as a species because these undead filth demanded the firstborn babies must be killed.

This is the untold truth, the hidden truth of human history. The root of every human evil in the world today including human overpopulation of the Earth can be traced directly back to the crimes and sins of these undead filthy pieces of hidden unseen shit. They are directly responsible for the more than 12,000 year-old custom and tradition of humans overpopulating themselves, and they are directly responsible for the perpetuation of this evil sick sexual lust being perpetuated by civilized humans for more than 12,000 insane years. The carnal sin of eating and sexual lust is their doing and they have been doing it for thousands of years.

The evil of 7 billion humans overpopulating this earth: the root: the origin of this evil can be and is directly traceable to the evil cunning crimes and atrocities of these undead rotting unspeakable pieces of filth. Because of them; we exist today as an overpopulated mass of too many human beings crowded into huge cities. Because of them we are living unhealthy, sick, unnatural lives. All of our problems are because of them the undead: not because of living humans.

This is why they must be killed and will be killed, so no more of their hidden unseen evil will ever poison this living earth ever again.

Undead Spirits in Anthropology and Religion

The reason religion even exists is because these undead filthy evil rotting auras have violated the space around human habitations for hundreds of thousands of years. They violate the bodies of living creatures that live around humans and violate the bodies of all living humans. The reason anthropologists who study pre-historical and ancient cultures call all of these ancient Stone Age tribal cultures 'animist' is because these ancient people discovered spirits secretly inside everything around them. The reason the culture of all ancient tribes were 'spiritual' was because they knew these undead things were hiding inside things all around them, and feared and hated them, and were gulled and fooled into worshipping them. Ancient humans saw spirits living inside everything: they saw them living in rivers, in lakes, in clouds, inside rocks, inside trees, inside animals, inside living humans. The Bible is one long narrative of telling how living people are invaded by undead entities violating their will, their lives their minds and hearts: "And he became possessed of the spirit of the ---- and-". "And the spirit of the ---- came over him and-". The prophets and spiritual leaders of the ancient world: Abraham, Moses, Jesus, Mohammed, etc, etc, ad nauseum, were all mouthpieces of undead ghouls who spoke through these living people using them as microphones. Preachers, evangelists, and gurus and charismatic leaders of spiritual/religious institutions etc, etc: this is where all fucking false spiritual authority comes from, and why all of them were corrupt and why all of them alive today are corrupt also. The history of humans shows how living people slowly became less and less sensitive to the existence of these undead poisonous things secretly hiding inside everything around them and inside them. It took thousands and thousands of years of de-sensitizing the natural healthy awareness of humans to the point that living humans are completely unaware of the existence of these undead parasites.

The reason these undead parasitical leeches are called gods is because for millions of years, they treated living humans like domesticated dogs. The entire reason for living humans domesticating other animals and raising them in order to kill them is because that is exactly what these unspeakable filth have been doing to us. They have treated living humans like pet poodles, and programmed them to act like pet dogs. No matter how badly they treated their pet hosts, no matter what they did to them: they trained their living pets to come back for more abuse, more sadistic torture, they trained living people to sacrifice themselves like a dog to their wishes. The dog was the first animal living humans domesticated because it could be brainwashed and programmed to act towards their masters exactly like living humans have been programmed to react to these undead scum-shit things. Genetically programmed to love being enslaved, to love being totally dependent on their master, to love obeying their masters as obedient little mindless slaves, to NEVER question or challenge the authority of their masters.

The degree to which living people are enslaved by these undead leeches, the level of enslavement of living people by these undead, unseen parasite... can be measured by how much they enslave others, it can be measured by how they are obsessive control-freaks, by how obsessively they are addicted to power, by how addicted they are to having the power of life and death over other humans and other living creatures. The first domesticated slaves, the first domesticated animal was not DOGS being domesticated by living humans... it was humans being domesticated by GODs.

The first humans to domesticate dogs were nomadic hunters, and they USED dogs in the most filthy, selfish, immoral, evil ways possible. They USED them to help them hunt down and kill other living animals. They regularly killed and ate their own dogs as a staple food source. Their dogs were USED as an insurance against starvation: Whenever hunting became scarce, they just killed and ate the dogs they used to hunt with. They treated their domesticated dogs like dirt. They kicked them, beat them, swore at them, hated them, despised them, they treated them as if they did not even exist, as if they were not crucial to their survival which they were. They didn't even bother to feed them. Their domesticate dogs were forced to survive on the scraps they threw away s being inedible. The first domesticated dogs were forced to fight amongst each other over the few bones that were tossed to them.

IN return: these domesticated dogs acted as guards, warning the people of any approaching danger, they acted as companions, constantly begging for attention, willing to do ANYTHING for a little love, they ran with the hunters and brought down game the hunters could not bring down, they were the ears, eyes and nose of these nomads, they were invaluable in insuring their survival: and for their sacrifice, for their mindless programmed domesticated worship of their masters... they were given scraps, and whenever a female wanted some meat to add to the stew, a little food was used as bait to lure one of the DOGS close enough so their heads could be bashed in with a cudgel, and they were then gutted, skinned and their meat was eaten.

THAT is how all Stone Age tribes treated their dogs, and that is still how they treat them.

The entire fucking reason these first nomads domesticated the first dogs and treated them like this... was because... that is how undead parasitical filth treated living humans for millions of years... it took millions of years of this treatment by them, to turn us... living human beings... into the sick, sadistic, brutalized nomads who finally began treating other animals as they were being treated. Do you understand yet? This book is not a lie. The secret hidden existence of these undead ghouls is the missing link of knowledge which can and does explain everything about our past, which has up to now not heretofore been explained and understood.

Chapter Seven: Entities and the Alternative

1896

Humans first domesticated dogs because gods domesticated humans first.

Humans treated dogs like slaves because gods treated humans like slaves first.
The word dog comes from the word god.

The letters of the word god is reversed into dog because humans reversed how they were treated and began treating other animals like they were being treated: they reversed their treatment by projecting/reflecting what was done unto them by doing it unto others. In other words... treat all other living things as your gods treat you

What was the first commandment that god ever gave to man? Before god gave his 10 commandments to man: he gave man the golden rule to live by:

“Do unto others as they do unto you”

But these filth are sneaky: they corrupt everything: instead of stating the truth as it actually is: they added a qualifying clause to it and twisted the truth and changed it to:

“Do unto others as you would have them do unto you”

Who are ‘them’? They are the undead who poison living humans all the time. Why did they phrase this commandment in such a twisted way? “As you would have”? Because they want living people who enter their realm to see nothing wrong about the fact that when they were alive, they were poisoned by negative evil undead spirits who ruined their lives. Because they corrupt the souls of living people to commit sins of violation against their living children and their living grandchildren when they enter the realm of the undead.

Do you want to be ‘loved by god? Do you want god to ‘love’ you? Why then... love god!@ and he will of course love you back!

Do you want all others to obey you? Why then... obey god! And he will give you the power so all others obey you!

But it doesn’t work that way. Whatever you fucking ‘want’ or wish, or ‘would have’ or desire... is not reality. It is wishful thinking: it is brainwashed programmed stupidity.

Truth is direct, straight and logical: it is not twisted and sneaky and cunning: the actual commandment of all Life and how you should live is: “do unto others as they do unto you” period. And by that commandment, by using this universal truth: you will kill every undead leech and parasitic filth and ghoul you can find and kill them dead: so they can never commit evil again.

By their own commandment, by their own golden rule: they should be killed dead

This is why they must be killed: they deserve to be killed; they need to be killed. They deserve to be killed by their own commandments

Do you understand yet?" The truth is logical. Everything can be explained and understood if you use logic and you are not dishonest.

These undead leeches must be, hunted down, found, exposed and killed dead

If we the living are to have any life of our own: we must get rid of these stinking parasites, we must rid ourselves of these hidden scum. They poison everything. They are pure stinking rotten evil. They cause us to become evil. They force living people into becoming evil. They are the root source of all evil. They actually exist.

The point is: all of the writings of the ancient past are actually correct. The idea of modern western civilization: the idea that deities and 'gods' do not exist, and never existed and that spirits or ghouls or demons are pure superstitious nonsense is total fucking bullshit. The undead did not disappear when people stopped believing in spirits: they just switched their tactics, they just changed the programming of the living people they secretly inhabit all the time, they just reversed their programming of living people from an unquestioning belief in the existence of spirits and gods, into a total disbelief in the existence of spirits and gods. They just found more secret devious ways of secretly manipulating, secretly controlling, secretly swindling and secretly brainwashing living people. The fucking fact about these undead parasitical shit is that every fucking time any direct scrutiny is aimed towards them... they flee. They hide, they run away... because they know they have no right to exist at all. Because they know they are pure evil. Because they know they should be killed. Because they know if they are found out and exposed: they will be killed.

The undead and Love

Why does True Love never last? Why do couples who are meant for each other always break up? Why does the intensity of True Love never last? Why do people searching for true love always end up being hurt? Why is it that love relationships always fail? Why do you always hurt the one you love? Why do people only hurt the ones they love?

Why is it that the person you do end up with turns out not to be a True Love? Why do people never marry their True Love? Why do they always marry someone else who is not meant for them? Why does True Love disappear from marriages almost instantly? Why are the only couples who are not divorced just superficial friends who have never been in Love and never experienced the bliss of True Love and don't know what True Love is? Why do most married couples hate each other? Why do over half of marriages end up in divorce?

I'll tell you why: because undead hidden filth secretly hiding inside living people do not like the hosts they hide inside being looked at. They like looking at others, but they do not like being looked at. They do not like couples in Love exploring too deeply into themselves, exploring their new feelings and emotions and new thoughts, exploring a new way of living, exploring their happiness. These hidden dead filth do not like couples in Love feeling emotions too deeply, they do not like the cleansing effect which True Love has. They do not like people in love freeing themselves of their addictions, they do not like people in Love being Happy; they do not like Happiness. They like to keep the living people they hide inside dumbed down, weak and superficial.

They do not want you looking too deep into another person's soul, they do not want you to look too deeply into your own soul, they do not want you to feel too deeply or think too deeply, because of the chance of you discovering that there is a cold unloving presence hiding inside the person you love, or inside you... a secret evil thing which only shows its face when it chooses to, and then goes back into its hole... an unseen evil presence which appears and disappears... Undead evil cannot stand up to close scrutiny. Undead cannot stand to be looked at too closely. Undead cannot stand to be examined too closely. They cannot stand to be touched. Not only because they do not like themselves, but because they do not like each other, they hate each other.

There are countless ways in which their hidden unseen presence poisons the lives of living people. Their hidden presence changes the personality of living people. You can see it when someone gets 'moody'. Most of the 'moods' that living people have is just a symptom of one dead entity taking over the dominant control of the living shell they inhabit from another dead entity. They relinquish control to each other regularly at different times for different reasons, taking turns in which dead entity is the dominant negative energy controlling the living person they inhabit depending on which one is more suited or fits into the situation, or which negative undead energy reacts more strongly to something. They are the hidden actual cause for most negative mood swings, depression, irrational behavior, irrational optimism. They are the actual hidden cause when someone does the wrong thing at exactly the worst possible time, or says the worst possible thing at the wrong time... Most of the time they are not noticeable, existing as silent hidden observers... As long as everything is going according to their negative plans, as long as the living shell they control is doing what they want it to do... they do not interfere in the ongoing process of civilized people poisoning themselves by drinking alcohol or eating meat or drinking coffee. But let a person try to do something positive, or refrain from doing something negative... then wham; in comes the negative mood swing; in comes the sudden desire to eat a Twinkie or a hamburger, or having a beer is irresistible... and there goes all your good intentions down the drain. It is easy for the undead to poison the positive energy of two people who are in love because they pervade everything in the world with their hidden evil. Love that is true... love that is genuine is a rare exception. The burning brightness of two people in love is physically visible to these dead shit scum and they attack it and try to poison it as quickly as they can before it can grow too strong, strong enough to withstand all of their massed hidden attacks.

The few rare people who ever experience true love know how lucky they are, they know they are surrounded by millions of people who are not in love. What they do not know is that they are also surrounded by the mortal enemies of Love all the time... they are surrounded by undead filth who work secretly to make sure that their love does not last long.

The reason why couples in love break up, the reason there are broken hearts, the reason the exception of True Love is always brutally destroyed over and over again is because undead filth orchestrate the breakups. The reason True Love is an exception is because nearly all living people are so filled by the negative energy of these parasitic filth, they are constantly surrounded by negative auras of energy. That they are unable to even feel a positive emotion because their hearts are dead... dead from the presence of undead filth hiding inside their living hearts all their life.. Every and any weakness in the auras of lovers is secretly exploited, negative thoughts and feelings are secretly injected into their minds and hearts. Undead do not want and cannot afford to allow couples who are truly in love with each other to have a happy life and raise happy healthy children. Undead only allow the weakest genetic strains to have children and they poison these couplings by never allowing a genetic match that would produce better offspring to succeed. Anytime there is any intense positive attraction between two people; the negative energies of these hidden filth comes flooding into the positive energy-zone to break-up the possibility of a connection being made. The undead hate people making love-connections, the undead fear love-connections, they fear the enlightenment that making love-connections produces.

This is why True Love is destroyed, this is how it is destroyed... secretly, invisibly. The reason why people with broken hearts can't understand why the other person left them, is because of the presence of hidden undead evil. Over and over, people with broken hearts search their souls, trying to find an answer to why all the Love disappeared, why they broke up, they ponder and question themselves and the person who left them... and none of them can find an understandable answer, none of them can find any answer which makes sense. The reason why they can't find an answer to why the other person left is because after committing their crimes: after imprinting negative thoughts and feelings into only one of a couple in love... these sneaky, filthy hiding rotten dead scum leave, they disappear from the scene of the crime: their evil filthy deed is done: they don't have to hang around; they have successfully poisoned another romance, another budding love, nipping it in the earliest stages of its growth.

The reason people with broken hearts cannot understand why their loved one suddenly turns cold and spurns them for no reason whatsoever, is because it is not them that did it: it is undead evil corrupting and controlling them just long enough to do the damage: just long enough to make sure that one of the couple in love is negatively imprinted and reacts negatively instead of positively to the one they love. This is why people in love never live happily ever after. This is why all love stories are tragedies. It is not the fault of we the living that our search for true love and happiness is constantly being spoiled and poisoned and blocked. It is because of the existence of these undead things hovering around you unseen, hiding inside you all the time. They need to be KILLED and DESTROYED.

Every living person who ever sought love and had it destroyed has a moral, ethical spiritual RIGHT and POWER and REASON to exterminate these hidden undead filth. Every person whose heart was ever broken because of these hidden stinking things violating the positive energy of their True Love: has a moral and ethical OBLIGATION to kill every single undead thing they can get their hands on. The CRIMES these undead have committed are beyond counting, but the crime of poisoning TRUE LOVE is the most evil of all. It is their crimes of killing the huge POTENTIAL FOR GOOD that true love has, killing the flowering of true love before it can grow strong... so strong that nothing can ever kill it... it is their poisoning and corrupting of all GOOD positive energy by attacking the positive energy of True Love at its youngest, most innocent, most vulnerable stage. This is why these rotten things must be killed and wiped out of existence. Every living human who has any love in their heart: understand that these dead filth are you mortal enemy; they are enemies of Love. They seek to poison and corrupt and destroy all Love in the world.

The undead Ruin and Poison Everything they can

As one example of how sick and evil they are: take the movie star Doris Day. She had only two ambition is her young healthy Life, and undead ghouls managed to poison both of them. All she wanted was to become a dancer, and get married and have a family What they did to her was cause her to have a horrible car accident which prevented her from becoming a dancer when she was young. After she healed from this injury in later Life: as a Hollywood star: she was only allowed to dance once on screen: in that one dance number she shined as the best dancer in the world. But they poisoned her entire life: she danced that one number dressed in the most evil costume of her era: the top hat and tails of the filthy rich robber barons of her nation who owned her and all the studios and most of the wealth of the country. They let her dance this one number: in order to expose how evil and cunning they are, how they could take the most cherished goal of a young girl and filthy it as much as possible by making her represent all of them as the filthiest richest most cunning evil ghouls on earth. She was never allowed to dance in any of her many films. By corrupting her with fame and fortune: she became the most submissive starlet who did everything which was asked of her. Her first marriage was a horrible disaster and she did not marry for many years... and when she did... it was to the filthiest most evil sick Jew possible: that marriage did not last long either. Her son: a filthy genetically poisoned Jew died as a fat blob of evil: a sick, leering corrupt Jew: his last pictures show how totally the undead poisoned this healthy happy young boy Doris raised in the worst possible ways. As a result of their evil attack on her: she never became a dancer: as a result of their evil: she never had a happy marriage and never raised her children as she wanted to: innocently without the corruption of being filthy rich and world famous, and everything being done for her. They foisted onto her exactly what she did not want, and denied her the only two things she did want. How they do this is systematic: they surround the best, the healthiest humans with the sickest worst filth they can find. This begins at birth and continues all through your life.

They do this to every living human being; They do it to you, to me, to every living soul. This is why all undead must be utterly killed and destroyed completely.

The point is: these undead things do not just poison the lives of the rich and famous: they poison the lives and goals of every single human being ever born on Earth. They have actively poisoned and ruined my life, and continue to try to do so. They actively poison your life continually day and night; 24 hours a day, nonstop and will continue to do so until the last day you draw breath on this living Earth as a living human being. They are the mortal enemy of all Life on Earth. They poison and ruin the lives of every human being on earth. There are no exceptions exception to this true fact. They are universally evil and universally sick, and they poison the entire earth with their presence and their evil. Every decent GOOD intention, every decent GOOD motive which any innocent living human being has and has ever had: has been cunningly secretly attacked, poisoned, twisted, and reversed into the opposite direction of the original GOOD HEALTHY INTENTION.

Every idea that is too good is targeted and isolated, buried, twisted beyond recognition and turned around 180 degrees into the OPPOSITE OF ITS ORIGINAL INTENT. Everything that is too GOOD is poisoned RIGHT FROM THE VERY START and is not allowed to grow. Anyone who is POSITIVE in any way, shape or manner; is targeted, corrupted, and destroyed. Anyone who smiles too much, is too happy, is too healthy, is too kind, is too sensitive to other people's emotions, is too true to their own feelings is isolated, and surrounded by as much negative energy evil undead as possible to make sure their positive energy does not spread and spark a tidal wave of goodness, good feelings, good deeds, etc. The undead seek to turn all living people into mindless ZOMBIE-SLAVES: controlled and manipulated to obey their sick, insane, meaningless snarling of all meaning and truth into meaningless babble-shit so nobody will ever be able to recognize the difference between GOOD and evil.

The point is: without their existence: all living human people can and will live happy healthy lives. The point is: human happiness cannot exist until all of these dead, rotten unspeakably evil things are killed dead. They poison everything.: Happiness and Health cannot exist as long as these parasitic undead filth continue to poison we the living. The point is: there is no point in searching for happiness and striving for health and happiness when every core intention that is healthy and GOOD is being continually poisoned at the root by these secret hiding filth. First we must kill all of them. Only after all of them are killed completely dead: can life and happiness grow and flourish.

1901

Why are these foul things so insanely evil? Why is there not one drop of GOOD within their rotten undead souls? No living baby ever born is born evil. It takes an entire lifetime of being systematically poisoned by these undead scum filth to create a dying old human soul that is so corrupt they become one of them... isn't there even the slightest bit of GOOD in them at all?

This is what living humans will find it almost impossible to understand simply because NO living person is as evil as these undead unseen entities are, and NO living human can ever begin to realize the scope and rotten filth these things have become. The realm of the undead is unspeakably evil because it has existed for untold millions of years; It is just far older than any living creature on earth. The life-span of a living creature is a mere flicker in the life-span an undead entity which has successfully escaped being killed. Because of this hidden secret advantage of age, these undead things have become set in their ways: so set in their customs that every time they are forced to change how they practice their evil: that in itself is an affront to what they have been accustomed to for millions and hundreds of millions of years: without any living creature giving them any lip, without any living creature ever questioning what they do to these innocent life creations of pure innocence. And then suddenly... a creature is born which questions... which asks questions...

They do not understand what a 'question' is. They have done as they please for hundreds of millions of years... and this little human creature asking questions bothers them... Their first tactic was to try to kill off every questioning ape that stood up and drive them into utter extinction. This did not work. Then they tried to force this ape out of his Garden of Eden in Africa and ostracize this wondering, wandering, questioning ape from all Nature: this did not work. Then they tried to force these wondering creatures to stop asking question by giving them cunning lies which they were supposed to believe implicitly without questioning their answers. This did not work. Now they are trying to corrupt humans every possible way they can. This is also not working Why this total arrogance of the undead? Why do they have this kind of total overbearing arrogant supposed 'superiority'?

The answer is this. For millions of years: these foul things went on rampage after rampage... destroying LIFE, with utter abandon... drunk on their secret hidden 'powers'... Perfectly smug and at ease. Why? Because every YEAR during these millions of years of their secret hidden existence: new life sprang up... new innocent young buds... new plants... new innocent baby creatures were born every year... life to them seemed an endless inexhaustible fount of plenty which they were free to befoul and poison and destroy, and maim and injure, and twist, and kill... To their hearts content. For hundreds of millions of years, it seemed as if there was no end to the bounty of life and its ability to recover from the depredations and attacks by these weak rotting evil hidden things. No matter how vile and sick and cunning they became for millions of years, no matter how horrible and evil their plans and orchestrated attacks upon life and living creatures were... it seemed as if they could never ever put a dent in the bounty and splendor of life on the living Earth, that there was no limit to what they could do... having already escaped punishment for hundreds of millions of years...

After this long a period of time... what insane ancient undead thing could ever imagine or grasp that there would come a time when their presence would no longer be tolerated on this living earth? That their secret hidden existence would be completely uncovered and exposed?

After outliving nearly all of the oldest species on earth... after seeing every single living dominant species die out, and shrivel, and wane... after seeing the once dominant huge powerful dinosaurs...

1901

The Path of Splitness

1902

reduced to a few tiny little cold-blooded lizards, after seeing the total extinction of untold thousands of dominant living species on earth, after witnessing untold extinctions of living species of all kinds... after outliving them all... what undead scum-thing could ever imagine that it would be its turn to be made extinct, and wiped out of existence?

When its entire proven history of its own past existence... proved to them... that it is the living who are wiped out and destroyed utterly but never, ever the undead. That the difference between survival and extinction to them is simple: if you are undead: you cannot be killed off, but if you are alive: why then you can be easily killed off and there is an end to yet another pest of a species which has 'dared' to 'question' or 'challenge' the realm of the undead as the supreme hidden secret power over the entire surface of the earth. To their insane reasoning, all they need is to remain hidden. As long as these filth keep their true nature and existence a hidden secret... why then they have nothing to worry about.

Billions, Trillions of living creatures...perishing, dying, killing, death and devastation... year after year after year for hundreds upon hundreds of years; every year! And every year there is born a new batch of innocents to the slaughter... who have not been around for hundreds of millions of years, who are beginning, just beginning to make sense out of the world they live in... and never get a chance to figure out the actual truth before they die

“Ahhh. Let us see... now how can we ruin every genetic design which this inexhaustible fountain of Life keeps on creating.... How easy is it to infiltrate all the innocent young saplings and babies and yearlings born every year and systematically corrupt them into our evil ways, why it is easy: they are young: they do not know the difference between GOOD and evil, they do not know all the cunning tricks and subterfuges we have developed over millions of years, they can't sense our presence, they don't even know we exist... and what's more we will make sure they never find out until it's too late and they are corrupted, because they will die long before they ever learn that we the undead are the mortal enemies of all living things in Earth.”

Until after hundreds of millions of years this is all they do: this is all they have programmed themselves into doing: they programmed themselves all too well... until they cannot change their own programs anymore. These undead things are stuck... frozen solid... not by a custom or tradition which is a few thousand years old... but by a custom and tradition which is millions of years old: a custom and tradition so stupid, so rotten, so evil: it cannot stop itself... even when it knows it is destroying itself.

THIS: is the larger reason why undead evil entities ruin everything they can.

THIS is not only why they ruin everything which is GOOD and filled with Healthy Life and Energy... it is also why they ruin their own plans; they are locked into a vicious cycle of constantly ruining what they have already ruined.... Even if it is their own evil. Ruination upon ruination upon ruination... a completely insane, illogical descent into their own total extinction, being projected out, in order to avoid their own approaching complete extinction and death.

WHY do these undead things ruin everything new and alive you ask?... Because undead reptiles are convinced that their day shall come again! That there will come a time when the only things left on the devastated dead planet of Earth will be the reptiles... or snakes, or lizards etc, etc; each undead species seeking its own blind 'revenge', seeking to obliterate all other living species on Earth... so only undead auras will exist on earth... and no more pestiferous Living Life will exist to 'bother' their enormous reign of hidden secret hate and cunning hidden 'power'. This is why they are addicted to ruining everything. This is why they cannot leave well-enough-alone... This is also why they ruin their own

1902

1903

orchestrated cunning plans of ruination. This is also why all of their cunning plans to ruin everything never work out as planned. Because they ruin their own plans. They ruin everything. Mindlessly. Constantly. For no sane rational reason whatsoever except they have been doing it for hundreds of millions of years and getting away with it.

This is why they are all patently, totally insane. You would have to be brainwashed into their culture and exist inside their hidden secret realm for millions of years before you could ever begin to 'understand' the total pointless stupidity of their incessant unending evil and why they are completely incapable and totally unable to change their basic intrinsic nature: which is totally fucking evil. This: is why there is no other solution to their evil but to wipe all of them out: totally fucking dead. The only answer to their existence by living human people is to kill every single motherfucking undead thing that hides itself secretly on this living earth.

The sins, the evil, the abominations these things have committed upon their own children. Upon their own offspring, upon every living thing which is born after they almost die... is such a horror, such an outrage, such a revolting despicable, inexcusable, indescribable stinking foul atrocity: words cannot even begin to describe how much they need to be killed dead.

By preserving every evil ancient hatred, by recreating every ancient feud, every evil energy that ever existed:

Instead of wreaking their hatreds upon EACH OTHER as they well SHOULD... and WANT to... these coward scum PROJECT every single undead evil sick filth UPON an INTO innocent living lives.

The IDEA!~ the GHOUL: of trying to bring back the PAST and make the past live again by living its ancient hatreds and fears and envy and rotting corruption: has never worked: because it CANNOT WORK. The past can NEVER be re-lived or re-created again EVER. Their insane attempt to bring back the ancient times is their endless doomed fate: they are DOOMED TO FAILURE. They have been doomed to failure for hundred of millions of fucking years.

NOW: their farce: their self-delusions, their misperceptions, their insanities, their 'cunning' evils are about to come to a total END. This book is the BEGINNING of a new AGE of ENLIGHTNMENT of living people. Living people who are intelligent enough to understand the logic and truth of what I have laid out here: can and will KILL these undead things, and hunt them down and destroy them completely.

And then... the new age of life; unspoiled, uncorrupted, unpoisoned by these stinking turd things will be born upon this living earth;

CLEAN HEALTHY FREE OF ALL HATE FREE OF ALL EVIL
FREE OF ALL FEAR

FREE OF ALL UNDEAD POISON

This is why I have written this book. To educate all living people about the truth.

YOU: who have read this entire book: now have it upon your soul to educate and spread your knowledge and enlightenment to all other living humans on this Living Earth.

The first job I had was write this book.

1903

The Path of Splitness

Chapter Seven: Entities and the Alternative

1904

The second job I have to do is now spread this book to every person who has enough Courage and Honesty and Wonder to read what I have written.

The third job I have to do is come together with every decent honest living human being and begin the active destruction of all evil on Earth by we the living fighting our true mortal enemies: the undead. The fourth job I have to do is cooperating intelligently with every good living person and create a better world than the one we live in today.

These are MY jobs to do. They are also YOURS.

We the Living all have the same task. We the Living are all on the same side. We are all on the side of LIFE. We all want to LIVE. We do not want to die. Once you, the reader of this book, understand this: there will be no more stupid pointless bickering and fighting between living people on Earth ANY MORE. You cannot escape the choice between LIFE and death, between GOOD and evil. Either you 're on the side of LIFE and GOOD Or else you 're on the side of death and evil. By choosing not to choose; you have chosen to be evil by omission of GOOD. By choosing not to act: you have chosen death by the omission of LIFE. By choosing not to speak the Truth; you have chosen to be dishonest by the Omission of Not Being HONEST. There is NO escape from choosing between LIFE and death. Your fate and the fate of this Living Earth depends on YOU; nobody else. All inaction enables the activity of evil. All inactivity is evil. All watching without action is evil. All spectatorship is evil.

Not all the demons and ghouls of the upper and lower regions of the undead can stop this book from being read. The free human spirit living within every living human being has been oppressed from birth by these unspeakable things. The time has come to reverse this unnatural order of things. The time has come to oppress the oppressors and kill the killers. Evil can never overcome GOOD. GOOD is always more powerful than evil. Once you learn how powerful your GOOD energy is: you will never allow yourself to be used by the forces of cunning evil. You will never allow evil to oppress you again, you will never swallow their evil lies, you will never follow their evil examples. Once you see and feel the naked truth, and feel the naked raw power of the truth you will never be fooled into false shame again. We naked apes were designed to touch all living creatures with our naked skin; not cover our skin up and hide from all living creatures inside artificial caves. The entire goal and purpose of civilization is the spawn of undead evil and must be wiped off the face of this Earth.

All the code words of capitalist civilization like 'continued economic growth' are just politically correct terms for the continued accelerating destruction of all living things on this living Earth. Terms like 'economic growth' are code words for increasing the greed of 7 billion insane apes, increasing the mass poisoning and pollution of the living Earth by 7 billion people. This is the reason these undead shit things have sanctified these politically correct phrases and have living people whom they secretly control spout this rigmarole, these mantras, these lies, these myths as if they are actually true over and over until they become religiously held beliefs which are never questioned, examined or challenged. The reason undead filth does not want to upset the status quo human civilization is because they have orchestrated human civilization to the level of accumulated corruption, that living humans are now destroying the planet they need for their own lives as quickly as possible; for the stupidest, most selfish, most insane, most meaningless reasons possible. This insanity must be stopped NOW; not later when it will be too late. It must be stopped NOW.

You think the undead can't manipulate the living? : Keith Richards can't remember composing the most famous rockn-roll song ever composed. He went to sleep and woke up the next morning to find his cassette recorder on: he did not remember turning it on...he did not remember playing anything onto the recorder: to this day he still does not remember composing this song. Out of curiosity, he played it back and was surprised to hear the basic melody and Lyrics of “I can’t Get No Satisfaction’ but he couldn’t remember recording it. How can a person record something onto a tape deck and not remember doing it the next morning? Why do you think this song became the most popular Rock’n Roll song ever? Richards did not invent it: undead ghouls did. Their evil presence is everywhere. Paul McCartney dreamed the song “Yesterday”. The song “Twilight’ came to Stephanie Meyer in her dreams. Sleepwalkers have murdered their loved ones while they were in a trance because of being possessed by undead minions of hell. All the twisted foulness which comes to you while you are asleep, taking from your natural healthy dreams and filthing them is what they do to you and every living person on Earth.

Their stinking secret evil presence is revealed by the most popular so-called ‘love song’ of all time. The pop song: “Stand By Me”. The stinking secret reason this song is more popular than any other so-called ‘love song’ is because the undead ghouls hiding inside living people like it: NOT because the living souls they have taken over and control and manipulate like it. .IT IS NOT A LOVE SONG about the living: it is a song of death, it is about the undead, secretly standing beside you all your life; it is a song about the undead secretly standing by you all your life and poisoning you with their filthy secret motives and fears and hate. IT HAS NO LOVE IN IT: it does not mention love.

“When the Moon is the only light you see.” That filthy song about the undead is a song about DEATH: the Moon is DEAD; IT IS A REFLECTION OF THE SUN. The sun is alive, the Moon is dead. The day is Life, the night is DEATH. Most killers prowl at night because they are afraid of being exposed in the light of Day. Hiding from the Light is DEATH. Not being afraid, living in the Light of Day is LIFE. Being afraid, fear of the night and fear in her night is DEATH. When the moon is the only light you see: there is an UNDEAD filth secretly ‘standing by you’... That undead filth does not love you: that undead filth wants you to give up ALL of your love of the day and the sun and the daytime and other living people and join them in the fear-sickening clinging together... just so you won’t be all alone when you die and are DEAD. That song is not about love at all: it is a song about FEAR, not about love, it is a cunning way to brainwash living people into clinging to undead filthy evil things when they die. It preaches death and fear as the PINNACLE of musical lyrical beauty, as the PINNACLE of ‘love’. It is pure brainwashing propaganda. It does not sing of happiness or love: it does not sing of a loving living mate standing by you during the DAY, openly, facing all things together, living together happily, committed to each other in love and honesty... It sings of clinging, fear-based, terrified, needy, sucking dependence. It sings of weakness. That song is pure undead shit.

The real reason humans artificially suck energy from different sources: the real reason we use oil and electricity artificially for energy, is because undead filth have been secretly sucking off our living bodies for at least hundreds of thousands of years if not millions of years. If these evil life-sucking ghouls did not exist: we would not be artificially sucking on energy today. The reason civilization is an unnatural ugly abomination is because it is a reaction to, a projection by, and a symptom of the unnatural abominations of these undead filthy things secretly polluting our living bodies and souls. Our cities are only a reflection and projection of the cities of the undead: which existed for thousands of years before any physical cities were ever built by living humans. Once we the living: kill these undead things, we will no longer have a reason or motive to artificially suck energy off anything or anyone anymore.. This is why we the living must kill these undead things: if we don’t: they will kill us by making us kill the entire earth and every living thing on it. They are killing us now... secretly, cunningly, they have been killing, raping, beating, torturing, living humans for millions for years. It is time to end their filthy hidden secret existence and wipe out their unspeakable stinking evil.

The reason the culture of actors and the stage exists is because it is a reflection of how undead things control humans, they are the reason the entertainment industry exists, they are the reason the cultures of watching others do something which is carefully repeated and copied exists. The culture of staged productions is a reaction to, a projection by, and a symptom of the unnatural abominations of these undead filthy things secretly polluting our lives and secretly living inside our living bodies and souls.

The reason the culture of watching, the culture of spectators, the culture of the arena exists, the reason TV's exist, the reason movie screens exist, the reason computer screens exist, the reason arenas exist is because it is a reaction to, a projection by, and a symptom of the unnatural abominations of these undead filthy watching things secretly polluting our living bodies and souls.

The reason living humans first enslaved other living humans was because it was a reaction to, a projection by, and a symptom of undead things enslaving innocent living humans for millions of years. The reason slavery exists at all is because of undead evil ghouls, the reason domestication exists is because of undead evil. The reason civilization exists is because of undead filth continually trying to domesticate living humans and force them to do what they want which is; kill and destroy all living things on earth. The reason civilization was invented was because these undead evil things decided to domesticate and enslave living humans. The reason every evil exists is because of these undead things. They are the reason that every evil has been repeated and recreated and re-lived. They are the reason every evil is preserved, worshipped and glorified above all good. They are the reason for the misperception that evil is good, and good is evil. They are the reason living humans are programmed, brainwashed, forced, blackmailed, lured, paid, incited, persuaded, fooled, gulled, deluded, tricked, into committing evil. Their crimes are legion; they are the reason roman legions were invented, they are the reason war was invented: it is they who have invented every evil abomination on earth: not us the living. Living things do not invent evil. It is the undead who invented civilization.

The horror of their secret hidden existence: the realization of their hidden secret presence must be faced and dealt with by us the living. This book has been written so living humans can regain their own souls and their own lives and their own will to be good human beings by first: killing these undead filth, and killing every living thing which they have poisoned to act as their secret agents. The reason secret agents exist is because these undead shit things have existed as hidden, unseen secret agents for millions of years. Only when all of these undead unspeakably evil, cunning, hiding, secretive scum are wiped off the Living Earth can living humans finally live without these foul, undead evil things hiding inside us... secretly violating and poisoning good living hearts, good living souls, good living minds, and good living bodies day and night.

They are the reason living humans have killed and sacrificed to their undead ancestors all the healthiest most intelligent living animals and living humans for thousands of years. Their millions of years of trying to destroy the intelligence of living humans has now come to the point where they are attempting to create mass stupidity in 7 billion living people. But living people keep on getting smarter!

The pride and arrogance of civilized living humans... has been that for 12,000 fucking years, we the living have been able to artificially manipulate everything to our convenience and suit us. We living humans have based our assumption of superior intelligence on this supposed fact. Well: get rid of your ego and your arrogance: get rid of it and face the truth.

You were mistaken: you were fooled by hidden undead things who have had millions of years of practice fooling and manipulating living things. It is you who are being manipulated to manipulate tools, it is you who is being controlled, it is you who is being used. All living people have been fooled and controlled for millions of years by these undead unspeakable hidden filth. These undead things have been doing this to us living human beings for millions of years. They have been doing it by corrupting us the living with their pride, and their arrogance, and their assumption of superior intelligence, and their superior cunning, and their lies, and their deceptions, and their delusions, and their insane hatred, and their envy, and their fear of all living creatures. They have used the living human species to commit abominations against their own species, and against all life for millions of years... the abomination of civilization is their invention, their doing, their planning, their creation. Civilization was never planned or invented by living humans. We the living have been their fucking unwitting puppets ever since we were born into this world as a new species that is designed to teach all other species how to live without killing, without hating and without fear, without envy, without arrogance, without pride. For what they have done and are continuing to do: all of them must be killed as quickly and as completely as possible: killed dead.

What is a human ape doing hiding inside a mechanical flying insect!? Controlling its every movement. What for? Why? To drop bombs on innocent living people so they can kill as many living people as easily and safely as possible? While the guilty mass murderers escape scot free safely? This is what airplanes were designed for. What is a human doing hiding inside a mechanical insect called a tank? So they can kill others safely? Why do humans do this to other humans? Why do humans hide inside metal insects in order to control them?! They are doing exactly what undead entities are doing to us: hiding inside a shell; controlling every movement, thought and action. You don't get these unnatural artificial abominations from nowhere. It comes from somewhere. The existence of human inhumanity is logically understandable. But only if you have the courage and the honesty to face the ugly truth about the history of the human species and the secret existence of undead filth.

Why do you think Edison 'invented' a light bulb that is 99% inefficient? 99% of its energy is used to produce heat and only 1% is used to produce light. He did not invent it so living people could have artificial light to see by after the sun goes down: he was manipulated into creating a more convenient heat source for undead things to suck on during the night after the sun went down. Why do you think cartoon characters have a floating light bulb over their head when they suddenly get a 'new' idea, or finds a solution to a problem? Because it was inserted into his head by undead things floating over the head of that person... sticking their undead thoughts and ideas into that person's head.

Why do you think man invented the use of fire in the first place? 99% of the energy is turned into heat: not light; undead wanted a convenient heat source to suck off; that's why. Living apes were manipulated to use fire so after the sun went down, evil undead things could suck on the heat source when there was no more heat energy to suck on. Why do you think the Catholic Church told its parishioners for hundreds of years that because they were sinners, after they died they would all be doomed to everlasting misery and go to Hell and burn in hellfire? Because millions of years ago, undead entities discovered a way to keep from dying out as they are designed to; naturally decomposing their animate energy back into the living Earth: these evil things discovered how to suck off energy that is not life energy: they found a way to suck off the heat energy of burning flames. Evil undead entities actually do burn in the flames of fire; they did this for thousands of years; living off the energy which the flames gave off. Not as a punishment but as a cunning way of continual survival. What is the origin of all human sedentary culture? Stone Age men sitting around a fire repeating religious mantras, worshipping their gods. This was the universal form of cultural worship for thousands of years all over the Earth

1908

because during the Stone Age, the only artificial energy which could be created by Man was the artificial heat source of a burning fire kept burning all night for the use by their undead ancestral gods to suck energy from. Every living Stone Age tribe on Earth did this for untold millennia. This why the invention of the destructive use of fire is one of the earliest forms of civilized evil.

All the so-called great inventions of the living species of humans which we are supposed to be so fucking proud of are abominations of pure evil; invented by undead abominations for their own evil purposes: not for the benefit of living humans. Civilization is an artificial invention designed to keep the undead from dying completely dead; it was invented by the undead for the undead. This is why it must be totally destroyed. The undead are a parasitic leech on all Life; they are unnatural parasites that need to be wiped out. The use of oil for heating, the use electricity, natural gas: all these inventions were created for the use by the undead to suck from: not for the living. Living humans do not need these things to live healthy happy lives. Everything you have been taught about civilization is a reversal of the truth.

What happens when you realize this?? What happens when you realize that we living humans are not so intelligent after all, eh? What happens when you realize that mankind is not the great manipulator who manipulates things to his own convenience but instead, is being manipulated by unseen entities to destroy everything that is beautiful and healthy and good on this Earth?

Then your civilized ego takes a nose dive into utter oblivion. Then you do not walk around arrogant and smug anymore, in the assumption that living human beings are the dominant force on this earth; instead you have been the puppet of undead things who have been secretly manipulating living creatures for millions of years. Then you do not walk around thinking you have free will Understand the dynamic of unconscious projection and how it works! The reason we exhibit these irrational insane behaviors is because we are not projecting evil out into the world... they are! The undead hiding inside us are. The reason we project this non-human behavior is because the dead filth inside us is projecting it: not we the living. They infect us with their sicknesses and evil... they need to be killed dead.

AND I MEAN FUCKING DEAD. DESTROYED. GONE.

Human apes were designed to WALK. Human apes are not designed to fly. We humans are not flying insects and we are not birds. Begin to realize the extent of their effect on us the living and face it. The battle between GOOD and evil exists EVERYWHERE. RECOGNISE that the undead do everything possible to poison this, and FIGHT THEM and EXPOSE THEM where they hide inside living souls and around all living people, inside nooks and walls and niches, inside machines and behind flat surfaces

The undead are forced to fight an unending battle to twist and turn all good intentions and good motives and turn them around into evil intentions and evil motives because life and living creatures are not intrinsically evil! Living things have good intentions: not evil ones! Living things are born good, and then they are systematically turned, they are secretly misdirected into becoming evil. It is time for living humans to understand and realize how old this battle is, and that this is the only battle worth fighting; the hidden existence of the undead is the only thing which prevents living humans from doing their job as we the living were designed to do it. And that is: making friends with all living creatures on earth and having fun and being happy.

1909

NOTHING ELSE!! THAT IS THE DESIGNED PURPOSE OF LIFE. THAT IS WHAT WE ARE DESIGNED TO DO: MAKE FRIENDS AND HAVE FUN, PLAY, AND BE HAPPY.

The only reason we the LIVING do not do this is because we are POISONED and brainwashed and forced into NOT doing it.

The End
Of evil is in your hands
It is up to you.
It is up to all of us

It is up to all of us to create a new beginning. You cannot create the seeds of a new beginning without first getting rid of the undead evil which hides inside all of us. This evil must not be tolerated any longer anywhere.

Give LIFE TO THE LIVING
Give
DEATH TO THE UNDEAD

DYING THINGS DO NOT DESERVE OUR ATTENTION OR HELP. LET THEM FUCKING DIE. THEY HAVE NOTHING TO GIVE to the living. They SUCK and drain young people's life energy and prevent them from growing and becoming intelligent. When something is too diseased to heal: IT SHOULD DECOMPOSE AND DIE OUT AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE.

It is the NEWBORN who need help the most, the YOUNG: NOT THE OLD AND DYING.

Preserving dead things is PRE-serving DEATH before LIFE.

DEATH should not be served anything by LIFE

Death should serve itself with TOTAL DEATH. Dead things are meant to DIE OUT COMPLETELY: not hang on as hidden parasites sucking off living energy. Death should serve itself with TOTAL DEATH! LIFE Should also SERVE ITSELF with TOTAL LIFE! LIFE should serve LIFE: not death.

DO YOU WANT TO LIVE OR DO YOU WANT TO DIE?

You are either for LIFE and against death
OR:
You are for death and against LIFE

There is no way to escape this: you have only one choice: Life, or death. You do not have two choices. By refusing to choose: you are choosing death. By refusing to act: you are choosing death. By refusing to be honest: you are choosing the death of all honesty within you. By refusing to be courageous you are choosing death of all courage within you.

Make up your fucking mind NOW: When you discover that you want to live just before they die, it will be TOO LATE.

If you want to care about LIFE you must care about ALL LIVING THINGS: not just yourself! Even insects care for more than one living thing! The Sense of Pure Wonder has been stolen and poisoned by undead filth. Renew your Pure Wonder about LIFE and explore it! Explore life! Not death!

YOU CANNOT CARE ABOUT LIFE without having a SENSE OF PURE WONDER.

THE PURE WONDER OF HEALTHY HAPPY YOUNG CHILDREN IS THE MOST PRECIOUS RESOURCE of HUMAN LIFE.

The senile rotting fear of old people dying is the most useless thing on earth. Civilized living humans spending trillions of dollars and life-hours on old people dying, is wrong. They are already dying: they are barely existing. They are not even alive. They are not worth helping. Nurture the living not the dying.

In order to live you must face your fears. The undead use fear as an emotional weapon of destruction: turn it back onto them. Let them fear you instead by killing them. Without fearing life and without fearing death; you will also not fear going into that realm and killing all of them dead so they will never poison living creatures ever again with their evil rotting ugly dying presence.

While you are alive: live! And you will discover how much longer and better you live than others and how much healthier your life is and how much more intensely you feel alive! And how much more you learn than those who are afraid to live and are controlled and poisoned by fear and hate and envy and greed and evil.

The Missing Links between the Living and the undead

Many living people have dimly perceived the pervading existence of evil and the conspiracies and hidden orchestrated manipulations. From the ideas of satanic spiritual forces, to the Masonic Order, to the New World Order, to the secret societies like the Skull and Bones, to the shadow government of the Rothschild, Kuhn & Loeb banking cartel. But no living human has ever accurately perceived these forces and connected them together logically and organically for a simple reason: they were all misled, poisoned, corrupted and attacked and turned and twisted by forces of evil they were not aware of and did not see. All of these invisible forces are not inexplicable. They are not distant; they are the organic evolution of living creatures, of Life being poisoned into a convoluted mass of DNA, they are our own ancestors: they are an accumulation of 4 billion years of evil, they are the condition of living energies refusing to deteriorate and decompose themselves as they are designed to, they are a condition of pervading evil which has existed for hundreds of millions of years. They are as all-pervasive as the air you breath, and the water you drink.

If you want to delve into the intricate history of the connections of evil between the living and the undead; read the books written by Eustace Mullins. He details the personal history of the dynastic families of modern western civilization. The story of clans and families, unending tribal struggles for power and wealth; generations of intermarriages and conspiracies which have running themes, feuds, grudges, which transcends and goes beyond the short lives of the living. It is only when you factor in the ancestral undead of each family and clan... it is only when you go back hundreds of years to find the ancient, covered up reasons for these perpetuated, recurring tactics, tricks, themes, feuds, hatreds, it is only when you factor in the continual presence and influence of the ancestral undead of each dynastic family and clan that you can even begin to make sense of the evil alliances, the intermarriages, conflicts and feuds etc. which have gone on continually for thousands of years without end. What is hidden from us the living are the struggles in the realm of the undead for dominance and control over every new living generation by different factions, ancestral clans, family bloodlines of these rotting evil filth.

Every inexplicable conspiracy and evil in the perceived physical world is based upon and originates from an ancient evil which is so old and so ever-present, and so all-corrupting, and so insane; that the tiny glimmers of sanity, the tiny exceptions, the few rare lucky instances where GOOD Life energy is not completely poisoned and destroyed and stunted and reversed into evil by these dead rotting filth are as distant and far between as the stars are from each other. This chapter connects all of the distant enlightening points of truth throughout human history and explains the existence of these undead evil things as a constant condition which systematically hides and twists every attempt of Living Life to straighten itself out and live decently in happiness and health. Every 'accident'... every instance of 'bad luck' is their doing. Their unsleeping evil of secret conniving and plotting and orchestrating never stops. The evil perceived in the Realm of the Living is only the tip of the ice berg of the Realm of the undead poking its sick insane existence into a Realm where they have no business being. This chapter has only barely skimmed the surface of the depths of their evil, their crimes, their atrocities, their secret plans and orchestrations.

The fact is: humans have been going in the opposite direction for over 12 million years. The Path of Happiness is the reverse of the Path of hate. You cannot find happiness in hate. Instead of separating ourselves from Nature and insulating ourselves from all living creatures: we were designed to touch and be touched by all living creatures and by the wind and the air and the rain and the sun. We were never designed to use tools to separate ourselves from Nature. In order to heal the living earth and ourselves, we must destroy all secrecy and all hidden evil and live naked as we were born to live and designed to live. Adam and Eve were driven from the Garden of Eden because they covered themselves up. Had they remained naked and been Honest and had Courage: they would have never been tempted into the ways of sexual lust.

One crucial lesson of this book you must understand: everything you know has been reversed for over 12 million years. Every living human GOOD has been reversed into evil for over 12 million years.

Understand this: The Universe has been coming together for much longer than 13 billion years. The arrogance of man: to think he can explode this Earth apart by using nuclear weapons, to think he can defy the Laws of the Universe: will be punished. Mankind; like all the rest of the Universe is designed to come together: not insulate itself from each other, and come apart into isolated lonely individuals. You and civilization are now going directly against the designed purpose of the Universe. Living people, poisoned by dead scum have been doing this for thousands of years. The poisoned human species has been doing it for millions of years: separating instead of connecting by using tools to kill. Opposing the will and infinite might of the Universe is not only a crime and a sin: it is suicide and a guarantee of total extinction: it is worse than insanity: it is a conscious evil which will be punished. The idea that you can get away with committing evil consciously is the huge lie that dead entities have invented. They cannot escape from the Universe they exist in and neither can you. They cannot hide their evil inside a Universe that knows where they are and neither can you. You are all designed to come together! And the beginning of this process starts by touching living creatures with your living hands and allowing them to touch your living skin... just like you touch the living skin of the earth with your bare feet: sensitively: not destructively ripping it apart and killing millions of living organisms and creating massive pain and agony and horror and ugliness: but creating friendly intentions and play and fun and happiness and health. You are all going the wrong way. All of you are going in the wrong direction. The evil direction of not touching, not feeling, becoming more and more like dead machines and functioning like dead tools and becoming more and more negative instead of more and more positive.

Civilization is the exception to the rule of Universal Law and because it is opposing the Universal Laws of the Universe it will be wiped out and punished. For living humans to place civilized laws above the Laws of the Universe, is an arrogance so unspeakably stupid and narrow and self-destructive, words cannot describe how devoid all of you are of authority and truth and sanity. Coming together as destructive blind lemmings in huge mobs and crowds, while not touching each other personally! While ignoring each other personally! Living impersonally inside huge destructive mechanized cities is not how you are designed to live! You must turn yourselves around one hundred and eighty degrees and live the opposite way you have been brainwashed into existing, and do the reverse of what you have been doing if you want to save yourselves from total annihilation.. You cannot do this without a Sense Of Pure Wonder. As long as you perceive the civilization you exist in to be normal: you are a brainwashed fool being easily manipulated and deluded by forces of evil. Everything in civilization is wrong: not normal. Civilization is wrong; not normal. This is why civilization makes no sense. This is why civilization keeps on destroying itself as it systematically destroys the earth. That is why desert comes last in a meal. Civilized humans have been slowly and systematically destroying the living habitats they exist in for millions of years... the last stage of this destruction is the creation of a desert: a dead place where nothing lives and nothing grows. The function called consuming... eating is evil: it is destruction of living organisms and living creatures on a scale of mass horror and ugliness and death. This is why Jesus was quickly betrayed, dispatched and killed when he told his disciples that they were having their last supper and they would not eat any more. This is why the spirit of Jesus and even the mention of his name is still feared by all evil entities. That is why the true meaning of his words were twisted and buried. That is why evil dead filth have been pushing living people in the opposite direction which Jesus was taking them. The Universe is coming together you fools! Not splitting apart! Not divorcing from each other! Not making enemies! Not making war! Not competing against itself! Civilization is coming apart at the seams because it is evil!

It is not worth trying to turn this pile of accumulated shit around because that is what human civilization is: a pile of accumulated shit. It is only by touching each other and all living creatures and making friends with them that we the living can find happiness and live without evil. But before we can touch each other without any evil intention: we must KILL every undead filth on this Earth until they are no more. So they cannot hide inside us anymore and suck from us the energy they need to keep on barely existing in secret. We must grow in wisdom and recognize the hidden impulses and forces which push us into evil and fight them openly and honestly. Every human from infant and adult must be taught the hard discipline of learning the universal basic difference between GOOD and evil. Every living human from birth must be taught Honesty, Courage and allow their Sense of Pure Wonder to grow. Learn this; anyone who attacks or hates or fears or envies happiness and health: are the mortal enemies of all Life. The time to bring down the rotting pile of civilized evil has arrived.

Leaves and Decomposition and the undead

What are 2-dimensional things doing hanging on a 3-dimensional tree? Leaves a recreation of the 2-dimensional Universe. They are leaving the 2-dimensional form to crumble and fall into tiny bits so they can recombine themselves into three-dimensional living organisms. All organic decomposition is a recreation of the splitting up of 2-dimensional rings into tiny bits during the big bang. The reason the leaves on trees do not last long in our 3-D universe is because they are not designed to last; they are obsolete recreations of a dead past, which has disappeared and is gone, a 2-D Universe that is no more. The shape of leaves recreate the out bursting of 2-D energy out into a 3-D Universe. Many ghouls of the undead are 2-dimensional in nature. They lose their 3-dimensional attributes when their 3-dimensional bodies expire. This is the main reason they can go through solid 3-dimensional objects and hide inside 3-dimensional living people. Because of this 2-dimensional nature: most of them hide on, behind, or inside flattened objects like panes of glass, oil paintings, flat walls, in-between walls, TV screens, movie screens, computer monitors, all kinds of flat screens. Just like the 2-dimensional leaves on trees: they are designed to crumble and die and decompose. The dead are designed to decompose: they are not supposed to be preserved. The very word: preservation exposes the intrinsic evil of this practice. To PRE-serve something that is dead: is to serve death before Life. Living creatures have no business serving dead thing. Living creatures were not meant to serve dead things. Living creatures are not designed to serve dead things. Living people should serve LIFE: not death. By preserving dead things, by serving dead things: humans have erected the insanity called civilization. Civilization must be torn down and never erected again. No living human should ever serve a dead thing again. No living human should preserve anything that is dead.

Sports and Hitting

The origin of hitting a ball and carrying it or hitting it into a net, comes from hundreds of thousands of years of the practice of Decapitation. It comes from human killers cutting off the heads of their enemies and victims. That is why the dead entity of the decapitated head inside a net is known as a ghoul , or a goal. The manipulating of living humans to cut off the heads of their enemies was a GAME played by these filth for hundreds of thousands of years, to see how many humans they could corrupt and control and make them kill the very living creatures whom they are designed to make friends with and love. The games of undead things are games of reversal. They are games of energy-reversal. How to reverse positive life-giving energy that is designed to give life, and create more life... into the opposite direction, so it creates more death instead, so it kills itself without becoming aware that it is doing so. This is why all living humans, in order to make them commit the abomination of killing a living creature must first be poisoned and drugged and made as insensitive as possible and as unaware and stupid and brainwashed and programmed and corrupted into evil ways as possible before they will commit such a horrible act of evil as killing anything that is alive. In order to do this: they have to destroy all human love and poison the living people they corrupt with as much hate as possible by reversing all natural urges to love into hate. One of the ways they do this is through the ritual combat of sports

Sports teaches hatred by hitting. All hitting is hate. Hitler is still hated by the whole world because he hit and hurt people without feeling the pain he caused. Hitting is hurting: Hitting hurts. Being hit hurts.

The idea that you can hit something time after time and expect it to bounce back unharmed comes from millions and hundreds of millions of years of undead ghouls attacking living LIFE only to find it bouncing back again, reborn. The idea that you can hit something without hurting it comes from the undead ability to escape from the living humans they inhabit and poison without being hurt. Any hard knock, and any painful blow, and they instantly flee out of the living person they are corrupting so they will not have to experience pain, so they will not be hurt and damaged. Their practice of getting living people to hit and hurt each other has been a 'game' of theirs for hundreds of thousands of years. This is why the phrase having some sense knocked into you exists; it forces these undead filth out of you temporarily, and sometimes this is enough for you to regain your senses and realize that what you are doing is wrong and stop doing it.

The hitting of a round globe is the undead hatred of the living Earth and their continual attempts to destroy the Earth they were born from and owe their rotten, evil undeserving existence to.

All sports which involve the hitting of a ball is ritualized hatred of the entire living Earth. This is why all tools are evil: all tools that hurt and hit and damage and kill living LIFE: are insane ways that humans, possessed by undead filth scum, use to insulate themselves from the evil which they commit.

Tools are intrinsically evil because they allow you to hurt another living creature without feeling the pain you create. Tools kill without you feeling the agony of dying because these tools which you use are already dead. They are an extension of undead filth scum that must be and will be killed DEAD and wiped off the earth: never to exist again. Humans are not designed to use tools. Humans are not designed to be used as tools. When you close your hand over a tool, you are closing yourself off from Life. The closed fist of hate comes from using tools. The open hand of touching and exploring comes from human love and understanding and sensitivity and humans touching living creatures gently and with kindness. Humans are designed to touch and feel being touched by living creatures. We are designed to feel life more sensitively, and feel being alive more intelligently than any other living specie. We are not designed to kill any living creature. We are not designed to use any dead thing to kill with.

You have only one choice: either you are for Life; or you are for death. Either you are against Life or you are for Life. There is no in-between. There is no escape from this choice. Once you are enlightened about this truth: you can never go back into your previous state of ignorance, irresponsibility and laziness. To read this book and do nothing about what you have learned from reading this book is even more evil than an evil human committing atrocities who has never been enlightened of the evil he is guilty of. This book is not for mindless dilettantes who are so removed from reality that they sit and do nothing. This book is for people who do something about what they learn and do not tolerate evil..

The greatest sin of living humans is to live without touching anything that is alive. The greatest sin of living people is not allowing living creatures to touch them. The greatest sin of living human is to live without feeling, to live without touch, to live with your skin insulated from all sensation and feeling. Your skin is dead because it is deadened and poisoned by undead foul ghouls whose auras are dead. By wearing layers of insulation called clothes, by living inside the insulation of civilization; you are deadened and made as unaware as possible.

Possession by the undead and the Origin of all evil

The idea of possession originates from living people being possessed by demons and undead ghouls. The idea of possession comes from them possessing us the living. The idea comes from the undead not us the living. The concept of living people possessing something: is only a result of us being possessed. The concept of living people possessing something: is only a reflection, a projection of the fact that they are being possessed and owned and controlled and domesticated and used for the hidden secret purposes of the undead. This is where the concept of ownership comes from. These undead things originated every filthy evil which exists. Every evil which was 'invented' is not an invention at all: it is a foul evil stinking unconscious projection of the increasing rotten insanity of their increasingly mindless decomposing dead auras. Undead entities have been using living humans as slaves for millions of years. They have tried to own the souls of living humans for millions of years. They have been poisoning and corrupting the souls of living humans for millions of years. This is why these undead filth scum must be killed DEAD

Why do you think humans began wearing the skins of dead animals? Not because they were cold but because the dead auras of these filthy things were overlapping their living auras with undead auras of dead skin. This is how ancient and old these evil foul things are. We the living have been befouled and poisoned by their undead auras sucking off our life-energy for 100's of thousands of years. Living humans would never have begun killing animals and wearing their dead skins if it had not been for these unspeakable filth using us the same way. Wearing the skin of a dead animal is only a projection of the feeling living humans have from having the dead auras of these filthy rotten things constantly on their skin. Everything we the living have done that is evil is because of the undead: not because of us. This is why they must be KILLED COMPLETELY DEAD and exterminated from the Earth they poison.

This book is written so you the reader will become aware of how you have been used and poisoned and domesticated into subservience by these undead things.

If any pet or domesticated animal became aware of just how living humans use them for their own selfish purposes: they would rebel and refuse to obey and kill every owner of animals they could sink their teeth into. If any domesticated enslaved animal realized the better life they could have without being a slave, a kept, owned creature: controlled from birth to death by living humans: they would become the mortal enemies of all humans who try to enslave them. This is why I have never owned a pet in my life. I do not believe in slavery. The only reason any enslaved animal does not rebel against its slavery is because it does not know any better, it has been kept dumb and stupid, and not been allowed to taste the freedom and health of living free from slavery. This book has been written to wake you up to the fact that you have been enslaved: that the entire species of living humans has been enslaved and duped and fooled by undead evil filth who need to be killed.

Upon learning about their existence and how cunningly they have poisoned us: if you do not feel any anger: if you do not feel any rage, any urge to kill these dead things: that is because in our present culture, the undead have attempted to destroy and numb all human emotion out of you so you will not be a threat to them. If you do not feel any anger, if you feel no rage: if you feel no love, if you have no human emotions in your heart: this is because the undead have possessed you from birth and turned you into an unfeeling insane obedient slave to their ghouls.

This book is written only for living people who still have enough Courage and Honesty to feel human emotions. This book is written only for those who still have enough of their humanity to rebel and refuse to be enslaved anymore by these undead filth. This book should be read by every single living human that is alive who is not completely controlled by evil. This is the reason this book is free. It is designed to be spread and shared by every living human on earth and used as a tool of enlightenment. This book has been written to free you, the reader of this book, from the slavery of civilization. Civilization is a system of human slavery. Civilization is an invention of undead ghouls. Every fucking evil sick 'invention' of Mankind is only a symptom of the evil manipulations of the undead who pervade our lives and bodies and hearts and minds.

Everything you have been led to believe is the opposite of the actual truth. Everything you have been taught is the opposite of what is actually true. This is what undead do: they have done this for millions of years; they continually reverse human perceptions; they turn love into hate. They are the reason for the existence of hate. Without them, living humans would not hate anything.

Without their evil presence living people would be incapable of hate. Without undead evil: living humans couldn't hate. This is why they must be killed. This is the reason the perception of what is actually true has changed over the years. For tens of thousands of years, the belief in the existence and the transcendent power of invisible gods was an automatic unthinking, unspoken assumption of human perception, and automatic unthinking unspoken perception. Today: suddenly, the belief in the non-existence of gods has sprung up... in the most intelligent people living. Only those who are not logical still believe in gods. Only those who have been brainwashed and programmed into believing in their existence still have this idiotic belief. The fact is: gods do not exist. But neither is the nonexistence of undead true either. Undead things do exist, but not as gods.

For thousands of years, the undead have managed to brainwash living people into the insane belief, the idea, which was developed into a false perception, that all the many gods are to be feared and obeyed individually, then this perception was reversed into the idea, which was developed into a false perception, that there was only one god, then this idea was reversed into the idea, which was developed into a false perception, that this one god is to be both loved and feared, then it was changed to idea, which was developed into a false perception, that this one god is only to be loved and never feared: then it was changed into the idea, which was developed into a false perception, that that this one god is 'good' and never did any of the horrible things which the Bible specifically says it did... How fucking stupid can you be to swallow this tripe? How can you fear or love something you cannot see or feel? These undead scum managed to REVERSE the perceptions of living humans for millions of years, and make them believe that evil dead ghouls are good: and all physical living life is evil. They have done this by invading the living auras and minds and hearts and bodies of living people and possessing them. All humans are possessed and poisoned by these unspeakable scum rotting things. Not just some: everyone.

This is why the idea, the concept of ownership and possession, is totally evil: it originates out of the millions of years when undead considered living humans to be their possessions, the foul evil idea of owning a living soul by their filthy secret poisoning of innocent living people. Instead of the most cherished value: it is the most insane, evil idea there is. The origin of all slavery and domestication of living animals stems from the slavery and domestication of the living human species by undead stinking scum. Only when you the reader of this book realize how much you are controlled and programmed and manipulated by evil undead hidden forces will you be able to fight their invisible intangible influence. The only excuse not to fight evil is ignorance. Now your ignorance has been destroyed. Now you have no more excuses left. Now you are responsible for your actions and your inaction.

YOU HAVE ONLY ONE CHOICE TO MAKE

Be as truthful as possible or lie.
Have the courage to be honest and face ugly painful truths
Or be a coward and delude yourself and lie to yourself.
Act or do nothing.
Heal or destroy.
Love or hate.
Touch or do not touch.
Heal or harm.
Touch or hit.
Become sensitive or become insensitive.
Hit using a weapon, a tool: or touch with your naked skin.
Fear and hate: or have fun and make friends
Love dead things or love living creatures
Love LIFE or love money
You cannot do both.
Choose one or the other.

You have only one job on this Earth: and that is to have fun and make friends: nothing else. You have only one job and that is to create Beauty by creating a beautiful inner Universe and creating a beautiful Outer Universe. Only when both your Inner and Outer Universe are harmonically in balance can they be beautiful. An ugly inner soul creates inner ugliness and outer ugliness. An ugly outer environment creates outer ugliness and inner ugliness.

All slavery; working for money is evil; all making of money is evil. Money creates avarice, greed, envy, poverty, corruption, venality, arrogance, smugness, stupidity, laziness, irresponsibility, criminal behavior, selfishness. All wealth, avarice, envy, cowardice, dishonesty, swindling, lying, cheating, arrogance, smugness, stupidity, irresponsibility, criminality, selfishness is ugly, ugly, ugly. They are spiritual diseases, they are a sickness; a rotten spiritual evil ugliness. All snobbery, all egocentric sense of false superiority is evil.

All happiness, sharing, fun, health, touching, sensitivity, wonder, friendship, love is beautiful

You have only one choice: either create LIFE, or create death. You cannot do both. Either create BEAUTY or create ugliness. Either you act and fight evil and create BEAUTY: or you do nothing and rot and die and create ugliness. You have only one job: sharing your life by touching living people with kindness, sensitivity, honesty, courage and having fun by being creative every second of your life. All of your anger and rage should be directed at the ones who are directly responsible for committing evil. The worst thing you can do is turn the other cheek to evil. The time of being a helpless martyr a victim of these hidden secretive filth is over. The time of allowing evil to be inflicted upon you and others is over.

The time for action has come. No more sitting on your ass doing nothing. Evil must be fought by GOOD actively. Otherwise you become a passive pawn of evil, and you in turn will be killed along with them and deservedly so. Killing evil is good. Killing people who hate is good. Loving all people who love is good. Killing killers is good. Loving lovers is good. Learn to tell the difference between people who are good and people who are evil. Evil people have no gratitude. They do not share themselves with others. Evil people are not honest. Evil people have no courage. Evil people cannot give of themselves because they have nothing positive to give. All selfish people who are unable to give are evil. Evil people cannot be creative. Evil people cannot have fun. Evil people cannot enjoy life. Evil people are cunning: they hide their evil; they put on superficial masks, but if you get to know them, they expose themselves every time. Evil cannot hide itself from close scrutiny; that is why these dead things flee and run away the instant there is any chance of closeness. You have only one choice of how to live. You can either be good and fight evil, or you can do nothing and allow evil to flourish. There is no escape from the Universe, and there is no escape from the responsibility of the choice between good and evil.

Postscript

The reason this book is more than 2,000 pages long and the reason it is being constantly being revised and added to is because once I found the basic keys and hidden dynamics which explains why human history is such a garbled mess; I never stop finding more connections and seeing how the same dynamics of history are being replayed and repeated throughout all human existence. Once you understand and realize the universal truths and basic universal dynamics, you will also become able to make logical sense of everything in the world and in human society and you will no longer be a victim of the cunning, twisted, lies and reversals of universal truth made by the dead filth that poisons and pervades the Living Earth.

When you study history in depth; you will find that the same series of events happens over and over and over and over again... every good idea, every good intention, every good energy is systematically sabotaged, poisoned, blocked, covered up, forgotten, and reversed and ruined from the very beginning... and forced into a completely opposite negative direction of its original good intention.

For example the Chinese armada which circumnavigated the world in 1421 was a voyage of pure exploration and knowledge. It was not tainted with the filthy European greed of the Portuguese; it was not filthied by the arrogant filthy arrogance of land grabbing, it was not tainted by the desire to trade for spices: China had all the spices it needed. This armada was too intelligently planned, too intelligently carried out, and its intent was too positive. The fucking excuse of world exploration, that Europeans sailed half the way around the world for a few fucking spices is total fucking bullshit. They were manipulated into doing it. The stinking Vasco de Gama who never circumnavigated anything and was famous for his cold blooded cruelty towards all the new people of the orient he met, has been touted and glorified for centuries by the European liars called historians. Only now is his true stinking personality brought to light: in fact he is so disgustingly a foil of the undead, that historians today try to gloss over his existence as much as possible. By replacing the hugely successful exploration of the new world of the Chinese armada in 1421 with Vasco de Gama's paltry few trips in the 1490's to India where he failed in everything he set out to do, and brought home nothing but scurvy and rats from other seaports: the stinking European version of human history covered up how the entire energy direction of discovery is towards the light: not away from it. Discovery comes from meeting and exploring the sunlight which rises in the east and sets in the west. By reversing this direction of exploration from east which is the natural direction of all exploration to west: human civilized people went down into ignorance and corruption running away from enlightenment, running towards the setting of the sun: towards extinction, towards death instead of towards life. All of human history is filled with millions and billions of these reversals which the undead are responsible for committing by invading and poisoning all healthy natural human motives and intentions. Only when you study the story of history in depth, will you find the untold story which is the actual truth.

Rather than give recognition of the discovery of the new world to the wisest, oldest civilization in the world: these undead filth decided to ruin everything about the inevitable exploration of the world. They had the highest powers in ancient China wipe out all written records of this successful journey of circumnavigating the earth so that Europeans could later crow and claim that they were the first to circumnavigate the earth; which is a total lie. At that time the European sailing vessels were technically far worse than the Chinese and their navigation was also abysmal. The Chinese had advanced science to wonderful logical levels of wisdom. Because of this sudden unexpected spurt in Chinese civilization: all of China was held back and turned into a cesspool of ignorance and corruption... while corrupt Europe was allowed to continue its unspeakable advancement of evils poisoning the New World with their germs and their evil poisonous culture of avarice and greed and usury. The stoppage of all exploration in sailing ships in the east and the beginning of exploration by the foulest most diseased civilization on earth was their doing.

The inexplicable stoppage of expansion of the mightiest, most advanced most humane civilization on earth, and a century later: that same exploration taken up by the most diseased filthy European scum on earth is not a coincidence. You will find the ruination of all good human impulses covered up and hidden time and time again throughout human history.

This is the common thread which runs hidden throughout the dynamic of all human lives and all human history: everything that is initially good is ruined by the undead as quickly as possible: and after it has been ruined: what was good, what was a good idea, is then reversed and corrupted and filthied and THEN... after it has been completely poisoned, then the original good idea is then perceived to be an evil idea. Everything is reversed. What was initially Good is covered up, and what is evil is glorified and perceived as being good. The Chinese exploration for purely scientific reasons of enlightenment was too good a universal example of the expanding curiosity of wonder and the desire to learn more about the world they lived in. The European motives for exploration were not clean at all: they were filthied by the undead in every way possible. All the motives: all the personal motives of each so-called fucking European explorer from Vasco de Gama to Columbus to Cook were secretly manipulated by undead foul things hiding inside these living people and ruining all their good intentions on purpose on purpose.

Over and over and over: the first flowering of good intentions good motives, good acts, good thoughts, good human emotions and feelings have been systematically attacked, belittled, ignored, laughed at, pooh-poohed, derided, poisoned, sabotaged, twisted, turned and reversed into evil. This is the hidden dynamic which all conventional history hides. Everything that is evil is glorified: everything that is Good is derided and pooh-poohed.

These dying rotting things are to be exterminated from the face of the earth: they are to be wiped out of existence: what you need to understand is that these undead things are trying to escape the karma of their own fate: they are trying to escape from the cycle of composition and decomposition and re-composition. They are designed to decompose. They are going against their own design. This is why it is so easy to kill them. Death is only a healthy part of recomposing life: it is a healthy new beginning; these foul which are neither alive nor dead. They poison the healthy cycle of life and decomposing life and de-composing life.

Their poisoning of all friendship and all equality and all love can be demonstrated by how these undead things poisoned all the loves and friendships in Europe between 1814 and 1914. The poisoning of the European people between 1814 and 1914 by the undead was not enough.... Given any chance; the people were naturally becoming more humane instead of more mechanized, deader, everything was becoming humanly better. The only way the undead could ruin this was by ruining everything by orchestrating and creating the events that resulted in World War One.

The purpose and goal of all undead is to ruin everything that is Good and Clean and Decent in human society.

For instance: the closest most equal friendship which existed during that century was the friendship between three Anglo-Saxon races and cultures and it was purposefully ruined by undead filth: Germany, England and America were basically Protestant Germanic cultures. All three of them became industrialized and were also becoming more humanized while they were becoming more mechanized. All three had the same basic cultural values of honest hard work and the valuing of their children. Both of these best cultural expressions of humanity flowered and blossomed into more humane ways of living in that century between 1814-1914. All three of them were a peace-loving people. But pride and power; the pride of empire, the pride of nationalism became their downfall. The huge explosion of machines gave them the arrogance of using that artificial power: it also degraded humans into being used as machines and it brought about the opposite human reaction of labor unrest and strikes and justly so: in Russia alone there were 2,000 strikes in 1911, 4,000 strikes in 1913, and 2,000 more strikes in the beginning of 1914. all these strikes and rebellions and uprisings for better wages and better living conditions and the rising up of the lower classes was a universal protest against the mechanization of their humanity and it was fast becoming a universal movement of both men and women that was humanizing and enlightening the rest of the world; the suffragette movement of equal right for all and equal pay for all was gaining headway and planning to attack the male status quo in its men's clubs and saloons and bar rooms. The machine factory workers were refusing to work in factories because of the filthy horrible inhumane conditions. They were refusing to be driven to their posts to manufacture weapons of war. Just before WW1; Workers in Europe were calling for an international union of all working class regardless of their nationality. This was another reason the undead intervened. The possibility of workers taking over the world was too great a potential for Good. Just before WW1; the lower class was beginning to question the privileges of the upper class: all the Good potential changes that would have happened naturally were ruined on purpose by the interference of undead entities. All the potential improvements and betterments due to the rise in human intelligence were scotched and negated and reversed by the manipulations and violations of the undead at key positions: in the centralized shitpile of civilization. WW1 destroyed millions of loves: it destroyed millions of young people in love: it destroyed their happiness. The masses were misled by their leaders. All the needless death and disease and needless pointless suffering, agony, brutality and death of WW1 were caused by undead entities. All the young hopes of a young generations were snuffed out because a few fucking emperors had navies and armies which they played with as if they were playing with toys... exactly as the undead toy with human souls to ruin their lives. Decent peace-loving people who did not want to go to war were killed outright for their opposition to war. Hundreds of millions of living people were brutalized, infected, ravaged, torn asunder, killed weakened, and turned into ghouls: dead souls, sociopathic monsters, dead ghouls.

The two most advanced industrialized nations on earth were threatening to become too friendly towards each other. Just before WW1 there was too much good will and good energy in Europe between ordinary people. The undead scotched that as quickly as they could by the infernal horror of mass manufacturing machines of war as quickly as they could: by the insane fervor of nation building and empire, by the insane idiotic nationalizing of people according to what fucking land they happened to live in, by making all nations enemies of each other, by using only the top echelon of the stupidest scum on earth to blunder their way into a world war which nobody wanted.

The abbreviation of WW itself exposes their hidden existence. They exist secretly along with you... WITH you, inside you, they live WITH you, alongside other secret undead ghouls who hide inside you and outside of your body; with you side-by-side all your life: secretly ruining your life on purpose: with-wicked evil reflective intentions: reflecting and projecting all of their most foul poison into the minds and hearts of innocent living people. By reflecting their evil intentions back and forth like mirrors: re-reflecting and repeating their faint subliminal messages trying to brainwash and poison every living soul as much as possible

How was WW1 begun? It was begun by the stupidest ass of a Russian emperor: who was still living in the middle ages of feudalism and was intent on spreading and increasing his fucking Russian empire to include all Slavic peoples of the earth, it began because a tiny Slavic Balkan nation was being bullied by another Empire and big brother Russia came to the 'defense' of its tiny Slavic Balkan state that was not within the Russian sphere of influence at all. Serbia was a new phenomenon: a small ethnic nation. The danger of national ethnicity spreading had to be poisoned from the very beginning by these undead turds. Its Government and national leader was being controlled by an evil, sly, racist thug and criminal Dragutin Dimitrijevic. Serbia was the most criminal, evil nation in the Balkans. The history of how it became a state is filled with the evil of Transylvanian ethnic hatred and slyness. WW1 began by Russia claiming it was defending all Slavic national freedom by going to the aid of Serbia. That was the excuse and a lie. If that asshole the Tsar had not declared war on Austria... Germany would never have been suckered into going to war by Franz Joseph begging for help against the threat of the huge Russian bear who had the largest army in the world at that time. Europe would have been saved from disaster. In order to even get to Serbia: Russia would have to invade 5 nations and cross five national boundaries. The very insanity of this medieval Asian despot running amuck in a modern Europe with an army of more than 2 million men on a personal crusade to save Slavic freedom; when he himself was a total autocratic authoritarian and oppressed all attempts for ethnic national autonomy within his own huge overblown empire which he had no understanding of and no control over. That interfering asshole started WW1 and nobody else. Without Russia mobilizing its huge army to invade and attack the Austrian Empire: WW1 would never have happened. The response to Russia's declaration of war: France siding with Russia and Germany siding with Austria because of their secret military alliances, was only a secondary reaction to the inexcusable interference into Balkan politics by an empire that did not even have an adjoining border with Serbia. The other autocratic medieval asshole who is to blame for WW2 was Franz Joseph himself for using the death of an arch duke as an excuse to attack Serbia when everyone in the world knew the Serbian Govt. had nothing whatsoever to do with the assassination. Excuse piled upon excuse piled upon excuse; with the Kaiser left holding the bag; and being portrayed as the bad man simply because Germany was the most powerful military force in Europe at that time and because Germany ended up losing the war by a series of orchestrated planned interventions into the lives of the most powerful men in the world by undead filth.

If the Russian Tsar Nicholas had survived that war: his fucking name would be plastered over every fucking history book as the emperor who was personally responsible for starting WW1. If the Austrian Emperor had survived the war, his name would also have been plastered into every history book as being personally responsible for starting WW1. But these two royal fuckers died before the war was over... And just because of that technicality; they are not blamed for anything. So don't feel sorry for that motherfucking Tsar Nicholas. His leading Russia into war was the real reason he was deposed and shot dead. Caring for your own family is all well and good: but when you have a familial responsibility to millions of poor ignorant Russian peasants and you do not take care of that personal familial responsibility: then your ethics and morality is an insane total hypocrisy. When you lead your entire family into a war for no reason except fucking 'glory' and lose that war because you are an imperial jackass, and allow millions of your people to be slaughtered and starved to death and frozen to death just to satisfy your fucking imperial ego: you deserve to be shot to death not just once: you deserve to be shot to death a million times over.

The result of that fucking warmongering incompetent feudal jackass, who led his Russian empire into total destruction, was that he and his entire family was assassinated. If that motherfucking asshole had not declared war on the Austro-Hungarian Empire, none of the rest of the dominoes which created

WW1 would have fallen. The imperial and royal families were so fucking schizoid and schizophrenic in their actions it was unbelievable: they were all related to each other by blood ties and marriage ties. And they had the fucking arrogance and gall to believe that their empires could go to war against each other. Without disturbing their fucking royal familial personal relationships, closeness and camaraderie.

This was the insane level of imperial arrogance that these Kings and Emperors had. Only when the war machines actually began to mobilize and move did the Kaiser suddenly get cold feet and try to draw back from the impending onslaught but by then it was too late. Nicholas the Tsar of Russia had started something the other more civilized Imperial trash could not stop.

That millions of human beings would die and suffer horrible loss and weep for their loved ones and have their lives ruined because a few pompous jackasses wanted to play war games and try out their new toys of mass destruction... was brought home to the Kaiser during the first week of mobilization when all of Germany was preparing to defend itself against Russia and attack France at the same time. Suddenly the fucking Kaiser had cold feet. All his fucking life he had blustered and paraded around in his fucking military uniforms, and his military pomp and splendor: but when the crunch came, he suddenly became a timid little ineffectual mouse, and was brushed aside by his generals. As a meaningless popinjay, a figurehead who had not the faintest fucking clue as to what he was doing or saying. So what did he do when his doubts about the oncoming war were not listened to? He went back to his usual pastimes: holding parties and fêtes and lolling about in his hunting lodge where his loyal servants drove the stags to his front door to be slaughtered with a specially built high-powered rifle designed to be shot with one hand since his left arm was useless. Pushing out the very existence of the whole world massing for war... while he and his royal entourage lolled about in their privileged positions which they had enjoyed for 100's of years without stop as their god-given right. And what did the Russian Tsar do? He fired his generals who told him that Russia had lost the war and personally lost the war himself and in doing so destroyed the entire morale of the Russian army who deserted and went back to their farms and that is how and why the Russian revolution began... because the Russian peasants finally woke up and realized they were being ruled and destroyed by an incompetent idiot, an incompetent, pompous strutting little henpecked twit.

That is what happens when evil filthy ghouls that seek to create havoc by entering into a person's living body: that havoc is rained back down upon them in return... personally.

And what of the Austrian senile old doddering ass of a fool emperor Franz Joseph who was still clinging to his medieval empire which would have fallen apart at the seams naturally without much fuss if that fucking Tsar Nicholas of a jackass hadn't intervened? He was actually the first instigator of WW1 by sending Serbia a humiliating ultimatum: blaming that nation for the action of one anarchistic individual who happened to be a Serbian anarchist. How fucking transparent can you get? It was a cold-blooded excuse to invade Serbia and extend his empire by outright aggression and war. Do historians blame any of these fucking royal assholes for their crucial responsibility in starting WW1? No! The fucking ass-kissing shit stinking liars and hypocrites never blame or hold any fucking royal imperial personages accountable or responsible for anything ever. Without the intermarried and interbred imperial and royal houses of Europe, England and Russia: none of this could have happened in the first place. These royal fuckers were never blamed and they were the first to flee all responsibility of their actions

And why did that fucking popinjay of an ass emperor Nicholas Tsar of all the Russia's declare war on the Austro-Hungarian empire? Because he had lost the last fucking war he had entered; the Russo Japanese war, in which he had lost much of his prestige and power as an autocratic totalitarian dictatorial asshole of a spoiled brat of an idiot who did not know one end of a gun from the other and had no fucking idea of how to wage war and had no fucking humanity or any human feelings for the millions of serfs who fought and died for him... personally. The absolutism of Louis the IV, the Sun King: "L'etat c'est moi" "The people are not the state: I am the state". Absolute Monarchy: absolute power over the world. Was this level of megalomania was finally killed off forever with the execution of the Tsar? Was his responsibility for starting WW1 ever pointed out? No. Enter even worse megalomaniacs: Mussolini and Hitler and Mao Tse Tsung and Pol Pot, and on and on and on ad-vomit.

It is all about prestige: personal: imperial fucking egos... Strutting about as if they are 'masters of the Universe'. It was all about European empire building: it was all about European nations colonizing the rest of the world, holding billions of poor people in slavery for their amusement and enrichment. It was all about the insane egosity and arrogance of Europeans believing they could own, control invade and exploit the whole world for their personal gain. The idea that Europe could colonize the entire world: in spite of the fact that billions of people whose homelands they invaded did not want to be colonized....

By England strangling off all the other European's dreams of colonization and expansion and empire building; it left the other empires no choice but to go to war on land instead of by sea. This led to a naval arms race between Germany and England in the battle for world domination of the high seas and for world power. The English destroyed themselves by their own niggardly selfishness of not allowing anyone else into the lucrative trading empires they had swindled millions of natives out of and built up over 100's of years of piracy, smuggling and trading in slaves and drugs. Until the English lower class masses became totally spoiled and rotten and took it as their god given right that the British Empire should give them everything they needed by exploiting millions of people thousands of miles away on foreign continents for their own personal fucking convenience.

Except it was not an affluent life for British subjects: the British masses lived lives of unceasing misery and poverty and ignorance and squalor. Every fucking penny their fucking empire stole and robbed ended up in the hands of the wealthy elite and not in the hands of the masses. The fucking culture of 'empire' was just another way to corrupt the masses into the insane 'pride' of imperial 'superiority'. As long as England was a fucking worldwide 'empire', it didn't matter how miserable and poverty-ridden and downtrodden and oppressed and taxed stricken its citizens were. As long as the English masses believed they belonged to an English 'empire', they were a 'superior' race of empire builders, they ignored their own bondage and filth and squalor and ignorance and oppression inflicted upon them by their own ruling class.

The arrogance and smugness of all the people of Europe, Russia and the British isles; the creation of new machines of death; machines that hated the animal who created these machines of death: creating an animus of hatred against their users. The creation of the new industrialized robotized man/machine; this new breed of inhuman sludge that was brutalized and dehumanized to the point of being even more evil and corrupt than the machines they slaved over and used to create even worse evil and more death. The entire house of industrialized shit was blown up by the ones who sat on top of this shitpile called western civilization; they blew themselves up. Did anyone learn from this? NO. Why? Because after the crimes have been committed the undead institute a culture of amnesia and forgetfulness in all human subjects they poison and control to do their bidding. The past is perennially covered up and changed and turned into lying myths to hide the true culprits.

The few who questioned the mad rush to war were assassinated, and swept under the waves of millions of possessed living humans, as another generation of mad dogs ran out to slave willingly in the factories for these fucking evil robbing barons and the hidden shadow bank cartel that controlled all of them behind the scenes and were systematically brainwashed into believing that their new mechanized machine life was a positive improvement on their former less industrialized society.

On to manufacturing more machines of death! More! More identical units; the destruction of all human individuality, the creation of mass-manufactured, industrialized, dehumanized human units. And this worldwide destruction of all life is supposed to be perceived by educated people as a positive thing.

The idea of the undead is that by overpopulating the earth with more undead than living souls, by this overpopulation of undead ghouls: that they can control living human beings is not working. Again and again all their evil plans for the total ruination of all life is failing. People are becoming educated about the poisons they have been forced into buying and using.

People have studied the past and have discovered many secret conspiracies which cannot be completely explained by the hard evidence which facts provide. People are becoming increasingly aware that civilization itself is the enemy:.

Understand this: civilization is not the root of evil, it is only a symptom of the true enemy the undead, it is an invention of the undead, it is a foul invention of the dead ghouls who refused to die. Human civilization is merely the latest invention of an undead evil so ancient; its existence goes back beyond any ability to record it. Human history can only record the latest most recent historical effects and results of undead evil. These undead things have pervaded and poisoned us the living for untold millions of years.

Now you know why god did not want man to eat of the apple of knowledge. Now you know why the apple of knowledge was forbidden to all humans for tens of thousands of years. The knowledge of truth frees you from the slavery deception and superstitions and lies and cover-ups of the past.

All the fucking 'technological advances' which are growing fewer and fewer each year; dwindling into shit, into useless meaningless shit... which is what civilization is supposed to base its mighty pride upon as what? As a benefit to whom?? At what cost have these fucking technologies been achieved? At the cost of poisoning the entire fucking earth and destroying all the ecologies and species of the entire living earth and destroying all love: that's what the fucking cost has been. And does anyone notice this? Nobody. Just a few notice a teeny tiny bit of the negative effects of this Frankenstein monster called industrialized civilization; created by 7 billion humans systematically destroying the earth they live on and depend on for Life.

*Does anyone care that this is happening? No
Does anyone try to do anything about it?*

No. Why?

Because 7 billion insane apes are being controlled and violated daily and nightly and poisoned and attacked and filthied by billions and billions of hidden unseen auras, undead filthy ancestral rotting dead entities; their own undead ancestors, that need to be killed and exterminated from this living earth.

That's why.

*That is why things have always become worse instead of better.
That is why the earth is being systematically destroyed.*

To all the undead ghouls that are secretly hiding inside the people reading this book, pretending they are you; hiding their secret existence from you, secretly vicariously sucking off your life: ruining everything good in your life on purpose. I say to them:

The blood of your own children and grandchildren and great grandchildren is on your hands.

The blood of untold generations of innocent babies and children are on your hands.

*For this you will pay with the end of your undead existence.
For these unspeakable sins and crimes and atrocities you will all be exterminated and killed dead.*

*There will be an end to all of you undead very, very soon. All of you undead scum are now reaching the end of your existence.
Life not an end: it is a new beginning
Life will go on without any undead filth to poison it.*

*This book will never end until all of you are completely dead. It is you undead who will reach the end. There will be an end to all of you:
This book signals the end of all of you undead filth.*

It is not this book that will end, but the undead that hide inside living souls who will be exterminated; your evil has reached the final end of its existence.

The human species will now have a new beginning: a new life with the end of the undead. But in order to do this, after all you have learned from this book: you have to ask yourself what are you going to do about it? Unless you actually spread your enlightened understanding to other living people and actively do something about the pervasive existence of evil in the world, you will be the ones being exterminated. Your own fate is in your own hands: either you create a new beginning or you will end up as an evil undead entity. Begin or end: the choice is yours.

Understand this: the merging of man with dead machines, the merging of man to their dead tools originates from the merging of undead filth with living human beings took millions of years of slow persistent unceasing evil undead working and pushing, manipulating interfering, poisoning the lives and bodies of the entire human species. We are now living at the pinnacle of this rotten evil accumulation. The invention and use of tools being man's greatest achievement is also man's greatest evil; it is evidence of the greatest hidden evil on Earth. The reverse is true. The fall of Mankind happened when he lost all his Kindness. The fall of mankind, the loss of human kindness originated when unfeeling dead ghouls poisoned the bodies and lives of the first walking apes so much they began projecting what was being done to them by creating and using dead tools; because undead scum used them as tools for their own convenience and amusement. The Bible reverses the truth; the accuser is actually the accused. Undead Gods and demons and ghouls are responsible for all the evil on Earth; not living humanity.

Understand this; learn this: if there is one thing you must know it is that evil creatures that have evil undead hiding inside them do not like being touched. When you enter the realm of the undead all you have to do is grab them and you will be able to kill them easily. Learn this: all people who are evil do not like being touched; they do not like being look at and they do not like being exposed for what they are.

This is why touching is so important: it is only in a living human community where everyone touches everyone every day, and sleeps together every night, hold and hugging and touching each other, so that that evil cannot sneak into their souls while they are asleep. This is why you must live your life naked:

without covering yourself up, without covering up the truth, without covering up the lies, without hiding from your fellow human beings. When you touch another person and live with them closely and intimately you will discover very quickly whether they are good or evil. Evil cannot endure the closeness of loving intelligent healthy living souls who understand what evil is and what good is and are critical and aware of everything around them and inside them.

The reason there is so much evil in the world is because loving people have insulated and distanced themselves from each other by not touching each other. The reason living humans do this is because the undead filth hiding inside them do not want to be exposed and discovered, and when they are discovered... they run away and hide: they flee from the body of the person they corrupted with their dead rotting evil presence; leaving the person who was once influenced by evil scum-rot free of their influence, free to change their lives and their ways.

The entire taboo of not touching any loving creature: comes from undead evil. All creatures that are good: love being touched. All living creatures that hate being touched are evil evil evil.

Understand this: touching is not sex! Undead have corrupted the universal human need to touch by only allowing the sense of touch to be desensitized and dumbed down to the level of the lowest, most unintelligent instinct of a blind worm seeking a hole to go into. You must develop your human sense of touch on all levels before you ever have sex. Only when your inner and outer wisdom tells you that the time and place and environment and the people you are living with and the girl or boy you love is all synchronized in touching and cooperation and honesty and courage and fun and is a clean environment which will help your babies and children grow up to be better, stronger, wiser, and more positive than you are. Only when you are positive enough to create something better than you, instead of something worse than you; only then is the act of sex, procreation spiritually pure enough; purified of all selfishness and self-gratification, so your sexual touching will be good instead of evil, and the baby that is born will grow up to be good instead of evil. Raising a baby in the negative poisoned environment of civilization is not a positive impulse! You are being used by undead who merely like to have more identical units devoid of all individuality, whom they can manipulate and use your children for their own personal amusement and evil intentions... just like they did with you and your parents... and your grandparents: all the way back to the first human man and woman.

This is why civilization must be completely destroyed: it is not a fit environment for living humans to raise their children in. Civilization is a poisonous environment that poisons everything in it. Civilization was invented by dead things that need to be exterminated. Civilization needs to be exterminated.

Understand this: you must learn how to do Good, instead of learning how to do evil. Before you can do that you must learn the difference between GOOD and evil! This book is written so you can do this: this book educates and enlightens you so you will know what is GOOD and what is evil. This book is written so you will recognize where and how and why undead filth have reversed your perceptions of good and evil. This book educates you so you will understand why undead filth have tried to invent the belief that there is no good and no evil. This perception is an insane imported perception of the undead: not of living humans. It is a false perception. It is a reversed perception which reverses the actual truth.

The undead have attempted over and over to kill everything alive by brute force and brutal attacks on all Life for hundreds of millions of years. With the infiltration of undead ghouls into walking apes: the undead have been now for millions of been orchestrating an infiltration of the realm of life and a systematic poisoning of all life on all levels which the undead can attain. The use of the walking ape has now created the automaton: the mechanical man who believes he cannot live without his machines and tools. In the slow poisonous parasitic infiltration of human living bodies and souls by undead unspeakably evil things;: the tool and the machine has taken over the living humans who have been born into this worsening condition/state of evil. Now the machine and the tool reign over the living human ape. Now the living ape serves his own tools and machines and values them far more than life itself and far more than any living creatures, and a million times more than living organisms.

Understand this: the tool and the machine invented by undead filth spells not only death, but the total extinction of the human species. The insane idea that living humans cannot live without their fucking killing machines and chemical poisons and addictive drugs and killing tools and civilized cultures is total bullshit. Just because the human species is weakened by being born inside this abomination of an artificial mechanical womb called civilization does not mean we cannot live without it. In fact, the total reverse is true. Humans can live and flourish without civilization.

Just because living humans have not yet had a chance to do this does not mean it cannot be done. Humans can and will live without making or using any tools, without enslaving or using any living creatures to do their dirty work for them, they can live without using any fucking captive pets to lessen the boring loneliness of their insulated dead isolated civilized existences.

The idea and assumption and religious belief that human apes are in some way superior or better than other living creature is bullshit. Every living species and organism is designed to do certain jobs and function in certain organic ways. No living organism is any better than any other living organism. Human naked apes are not designed to kill anything. This is the sin and crime and abomination which evil dead unspeakable. A living species artificially manufacturing methods and weapons and chemicals of mass destruction, exterminating whole species is an insane abomination that is beyond words. The idea of manufacturing nuclear warheads which the USA has been continuing to do after all threat of a nuclear war has disappeared is an insanity that is beyond description. All of the insanities of civilization must be destroyed and the only way they can be destroyed is to destroy human civilization completely.

Learn this: all the insanities and evil which have imported and invented by undead entities into living human society and insidiously gotten living humans to do their dirty work for them are considered to be normal. There is no such thing as normality. Normality is only a lack of the human Sense of Pure Wonder and the lack of human intelligence and the lack of human Honesty and the lack of human Courage. All norms, everything that is considered to be 'normal' is not normal. This is the reversed misperception which undead create by poisoning and deadening the living minds and hearts and bodies of living people. All norms and normality are evil.

Life always gives back more than it receives because it is Positive. Negative energy always gives back less than it receives because it is the negative side of the regenerating life-cycle. Learn this: life is Positive: it is not negative. By keeping a ladybug walking over my cupped hands for 10 minutes because she was so cute, I was rewarded by her then walking over my hands and arms and neck for 3 hours before she flew away. 10 minutes of focusing all my attention on her as I put hand-over-hand so she would keep on walking into my warm cupped hands rather than her wandering off to reach the tips of my fingers... was rewarded by her walking on my skin for 3 hours, curiously trying to figure out just what this huge living creature was all about and why was it paying her all this attention, and why did it enjoy the elegant feel of her tiny busy little feet on my skin as she brushed the hairs of my skin so delicately. Feeling her touching me by walking on my skin made me happy. Why? Because she was not afraid of me. She did not hate me. She did not have any evil intention towards me.

The point is: she knew I liked her: and in return she liked me. The point is: when you have no hate or fear in your heart, when you have no fear in your soul, when you do not want to kill, when you have no evil intentions: it is easy to make friends with all the good living creatures on earth and your good intentions are rewarded almost instantly by touching them, and by letting them touch you and explore you also. But; if you sense any evil intent in a living creature: kill them DEAD; they are poisoned by undead filthy evil.

How do you say hello to a lovely moth painted an antique gold, just like the old style faux antique dresser that sits in one room of our summer house? First you must love tiny small insects because they are very sensitive and soft. Smile at her and gently say 'hello' just as you would do to any pretty girl. Then slowly push nose close to her until it is almost touching her. She will hop on your nose and walk all over your face: fluttering her delicate wings on the sensitive skin of your face as she tries to figure out just what you are... which will give you a delicious feeling of being touched and explored by a curious living creature. The moth I found sitting on the edge of the chair in the main bedroom up north in the Laurentiens, ended up sitting on the edge of my pillow beside my head as I was reading in bed and watched me for I don't know how many hours as I was reading a book: a little wonder-filled curious creature who was puzzled and curious about me. The point is: that little moth had a sense of pure wonder just like me. All living creatures have the magical gift of wonder and curiosity, not just humans. All you need to do is make the first overtures of friendship and they will gain confidence in themselves and become your friend. Until other living creatures will also recognize that you like them and want to be friends. Then all of Nature can be your friend.

Do you have any conception of how good it feels to have a wild creature trust you enough to walk all over your face? Do you know the happiness and gladness and peace of spirit that I got from making friends with all kinds of living creatures? Squirrels, birds, insects, raccoons... a young wild hare hopped up to me when I was sitting outside that summer and looked at me curiously, then he or she hopped past my chair down the hill. All I did was say hello softly.

I go up north rarely... if I had lived there every day: all the animals would have gotten to know me better, and I would have gotten to know them better. I cannot recount all the encounters I have had with other living creatures in this book, but I can give you one example of how to make friends with living creatures: and the effect it had on other living creatures.

One day in the city of Montréal, I was painting an outdoor porch that had a plastic sun roof and I noticed a small wasp was batting its head against the transparent plastic in futile efforts to reach the open sky beyond the plastic... so I reached up my hand to it... and it came onto my bare hand as if it knew I was trying to help it. I climbed down from the ladder and held my hand out over the railing so it could fly away to freedom but it lingered on my finger and walked over my hand before slowly flying away.

2 weeks later I was painting inside a 3-story building on the top floor, next to a door that led to the back porch. It was the same kind of grey overcast day as the day I had met the little wasp that walked onto my hand and flew away to freedom. I was down on one knee, painting the bottom of the back door and opened it slightly to finish painting the edge of the door trim.

Sitting on the door sill, waiting to be let in, was a small wasp that looked exactly like the small wasp I had befriended 3 weeks earlier on the other paint job. I reached my hand down to the small wasp and it climbed onto my hand as if it already knew me. Somehow I knew it was the same wasp, and I knew it had come by just to say hello. It was almost as if she had been sitting outside the door waiting for me to open the door for her... how did she know I would open the back door just then? She didn't fly onto my hand: she walked from the sill of the outer porch straight onto my hand. How long had she been sitting there waiting for me to open the door? How did she know I was going to open the door right then? How did she know I would open the door at all?

I was in a time crunch and kept on painting with my right hand, but I let the small wasp walk over my left hand and forearm as I was painting. It was such a friendly curious insect... to feel her walking on my hand, as if to say thank you for freeing her from the trap of the transparent plastic sunroof, which she had been batting her head against. Then she walked under my hand and promptly fell off my hand onto the floor. I reached down with my hand, telling her to stay on top my hand: not go under it. As you will have noticed by now, I do not like underhanded creatures. Apparently none the worse for its fall, the wasp walked back onto my hand again and continued its exploration of me and my skin and the smell of my skin. It was a gentle experience. The back door was still ajar and after a few minutes of walking gently around on my left hand, the small wasp left me and flew away, out through the open doorway into the grey overcast sky and was gone.

Two more weeks passed and as I was painting another porch: I was going to get something from the back of my 4WD when a huge Queen hornet buzzed into the back of my SUV, and began curiously exploring the inside of my truck. I reacted with a great fear that this idiotic insect was searching for a place to start her nest and would try to build her nest in the back of my truck where all the toxic paint cans and thinner and tools were jammed in and taken out every time I did a paint job. It was no place for a hornet to build her nest so I told her sharply: "Oh no you're not! You're not building a nest here, understand?” The queen hornet kept on lazily flying around inside my truck as if I hadn’t spoken to her, then it lazily flew away to my relief. Making friends with a single wasp is fine... but having an entire hornet’s nest inside the back of my truck for friends!... a truck that I used for painting and camping was not a good idea. If I ever live a life outside the city and have a place that is free of things that are toxic and dangerous to living creatures then they would be welcome to build their nest anywhere they wanted to and I wouldn’t have minded. That is how quickly friendship spreads when you treat all living creatures in Nature as your equal.

The very next day, a squadron of wasps flew right past me as I was painting the 2nd story porch outside. It was something I had never seen before. They were flying in perfect military formation as if they were the famous blue angels flying squadron. The remarkable thing was, they stopped, hovering in mid-flight for a split second right next to where I was before fling on, still in perfect squadron-formation. The whole thing did not take more than a second. What was I to think of this? Apparently the wasp I had befriended had gone back to its nest and told the other wasps about me... and they had come by just to check on me; out of curiosity? After rejecting friendship with a Queen wasp? I don’t know. This is how civilization ruins friendships: I wasn’t in a position to make friends with an entire nest of hornets!. One wasp, okay...

It is possible and understandable and believable that they could have been curious about me but guarded and wary. But what is not explainable was the perfect flying formation they were in... about 12-18 of them or so: the spaces between them were very close: not more that 2 wasps could have fitted in the space between each one of them. And what’s more, their formation was geometric and linear. Two levels of them in perfectly formed pairs... as if they were two levels of miniature WW2 fighter squadrons. Stopping in midair, pausing for an instant, still in perfect formation of two squadrons of fighter planes, and then continuing on... zip! and they were gone, flying away, still in perfect WW2 flying squadron formation.

Since when do wasps fly in a geometric flying formation made famous by WW2 fighter and bomber squadrons? And since when do wasps fly in a group together at all? Wasps are solitary flyers. Where did they learn to do this? Who taught them to do this? When you are not the enemy of living creatures, wondrous things can happen that are beyond your imagination.

I can understand one wasp telling other wasps about me... but who told the queen hornet about me? Just what kind of gossip mill or grapevine exists in the world of flying insects? Just how extensive is their system of communications? Rumors about a man who befriends one lost wasp...? What kind of rumor would make a queen hornet: more than twice the size of an ordinary hornet, come poking her nose inside the back of my truck looking for a place to start her nest?

The upshot of this is that now, every time I do an outside paint job in Montréal, I am not visited by a squadron of wasps; instead, a single wasp comes by momentarily to see what I'm doing because I don't like military gangs. I say hello to it, and it flies on... Wasps are a hive mentality: they pass on information to the entire hive, they still can't understand why I am doing something I don't like doing. They do not understand the idea of working just to make money so I can pay the rent. They do not understand why I do something I don't like doing as a necessity of existing inside the corrupt artificial system of civilization. Why should a wasp come by on every outside paint job I do? Each one comes by at the level of my head, or just a little lower. Each one comes by long enough for me to notice it and say hello to it, and then it flies away. Each one pauses just for a split-second in midair and then continues its flight. Apparently now: all the wasps in my area know I like individuals: not gangs, and not huge queens looking to build a nest where I am. The point is: when I have more time to devote to living creatures: when I move out of the city, I will have a better chance to establish closer relationships with not just wasps, but with every living creature and plant and tree and flower. Taking care of Nature and all the living creatures and plants on Earth is the number one priority of human beings.

This is why civilization must be destroyed. Without individual humans to care for all the living things on the Earth and love them and teach them; Nature is now copying all the evils of human civilization, and that is the worst possible example it could have. Human beings have many jobs which they are designed to do, but they can never do them until they destroy the artificial system which keeps them enslaved to dead machines. Humans are designed to live free in Nature without using dead tools, and Nature is designed to learn from the living example of human beings. Not copy the horrors of civilization, functioning like dead unfeeling machines instead of as living, vibrant, curious happy, free creatures.

There is a difference between aliveness and deadness. The difference between aliveness and deadness is the difference between good and evil. All dead-eyed, lack-luster souls, all mindless drones who do not know how to have fun and do not know how to smile and play and laugh are evil.

The point is: when you treat every living creature as your equal, when you treat them individually: you will discover that each one of them has a unique individual personality and each one acts differently. All living creatures are just as intelligent and just as unique as we are. In fact, they are even more individually different and unique than we are. We humans have not even begun to explore the lives of other living creatures. My many encounters with living creatures have been unique, puzzling, interesting, satisfying, warming, encouraging, happy and wonderful... and left me wanting to find out more about each one, wanting to get to know them better.

What I am stressing is that you should treat every living creature no matter how small or big the same as your equal and treat them accordingly how they treat you. How you treat every living insect and mammal individually should be based upon each one's merits and each one's individual personality. There are good creatures and there are bad creatures; there are stupid creatures and intelligent creatures: each creature is different.

Learn this. The quickest way you can change your life from negative to positive is by touching living creatures and allowing them to touch you. That means treating every living creature as your equal.

But if you do not like living creatures, if you are evil: if you have negative intentions or feeling towards them: if you do not like tiny innocent curious beautiful harmless little ladybugs walking on your arm... if you hate insects and have feelings of revulsion towards living creatures instead of a sense of curiosity and a sense of pure wonder... if you have any evil negative feelings or thoughts or intentions towards any living creatures: they will sense this and either hate you or fear you: they will either avoid you and run away from you and hide, or they will attack you and bite you.

Touching is how you can tell the difference between good and evil. Touching another living creature, and letting them touch you, is how you expose what is evil and what is good. The sense of touch does not lie. How a living creature reacts towards your touch and your positive overtures of friendship and touching will expose whether they are possessed by hidden secret evil entities hiding inside them or whether they are clean of these evil things and do not harbor any negative evil feelings and thoughts.

How you touch another living creature is both an art and a science which needs to be learned-from and practiced every day. Each living creature likes to be touched in different ways. The more sensitive you are, the more your own sense of touch is developed, the more your own skin is sensitive to touch: the better you can learn how to touch each different living creature. You do not just touch living creatures with your skin: you touch them with your root intention; if you touch them with the intention of hurting them they will hate you. If you have as your basic intention the desire to make friends with them on a basis of equality, and get to know them better: you must be ready for them to become curious about you and explore you just as much as you explore them. This is why the inhuman objectivity of science is so disgustingly inhumane and evil. Living creatures do not like being treated as dead objects. It is only when living creatures learn from you as you learn from them: it is only when learning is a mutual, shared, equal dynamic of discovery and enlightenment, that you can change the world.

Before you touch a living creature you must radiate good will toward him or her; you must have a positive intention: not a negative one. If you are not a positive energy person: bad things will happen to you whenever you try to touch any living thing. Learn this: radiating your good energy of happiness and friendliness towards an innocent living creature is more powerful a form of touching; all love, liking, trust, friendliness, happiness, closeness, intimacy, play, fun comes from touching.

Goodness comes from energy that radiates from your heart and mind and soul and your entire body-aura energy. Learn to discern the difference between positive and negative energy animals, creatures and humans and treat them accordingly. Do not give anything good or positive energy to a negative creature or human: give them back their own negativity in spades. If they react with any dislike of your positive energy: kill them fast. And there will be one less evil creature in the world. If they react positively: cherish them and recognize their positive spirit and encourage them to be more positive. Learn to become sensitive to all forms of Life and all forms of Energy and Space. When you become a positive-energy human being: you can become creative: you can create beauty, and you can destroy ugliness and everything that is ugly.

Learn this: all positive energy is beautiful. All negative energy is ugly. All GOOD is beautiful; all evil is ugly. All positive good energy is creative. All negative evil energy can copy, mimic, ape; but never create anything new. All evil energy turns uglier with the passage of time. All positive good energy becomes more and more beautiful with the passage of time. All positive energy becomes more and more powerful. All negative energy becomes weaker and weaker and weaker and uglier and stupider.

All positive energy has Courage and Honesty. All negative energy is cowardly and dishonest. All positive energy radiates all negative energy does not radiate, it hides from the sun and cowers inside filthy holes and only comes out in the night under the shadows of the undead. All positive healthy energy is naturally happy and has fun naturally. All evil negative energy cannot be happy because it is filled with weak snarled evil thought, intentions and feelings. This is why babies and children must be left alone and allowed to live in nature not in civilization.

Tiny flying insects are too delicate for you to touch them with the tip of your finger. By letting them land on you and walk on your bare skin, not only can you feel them, but you are also touching them and affecting them. This is why butterflies land on young babies and young children who are not yet controlled by undead entities and do not have undead entities hiding inside them and do not have any evil intentions towards living creatures. They can sense who is their friend and will not hurt them, and who is not their friend and do not like them. What you do not understand is that every living creature on earth can feel how you feel about them. They feel your attitude towards them. Living creatures don't like being ignored. Human feelings are more important than machines. The feelings of all living things are more important than dead machines. Pay attention to living creatures: not to dead things.

This is why all machines must be destroyed. Machines are already dead: they cannot feel pain. Living creature: every blade of grass, every tree, every insect and fish and mammal can feel. All living things want to live. Machines have no feelings; they cannot feel you, they cannot love you. When you kill a living thing that wants to live: then you have given up your own right to live. When you live by killing and consuming living creatures: you will become one of the undead and suffer a long, long horrible death in the remaining afterlife of your negative dwindling existence.

Until you learn to love life and love living things instead of dead machines: and money; you will continue to be a dead soul; wedded to dead things, controlled by dead entities, enslaved by the insane, abstract, unreal, imaginary insanities of civilized society.

Using tools has separated us from nature. Over millions of years of increasing tool-use, this gap widened to the present point of insanity. Look at how softly and self-indulgently and kindly we treat ourselves: then look at how brutally we treat all other living creatures and the entire living air-water-earth we depend on for life. We brutalize and rip the earth: we destroy eco systems and river systems and oceans and massacre living creatures every day... while at the same time... we do not want anyone or anything to treat us unkindly or brutally or violently. This double standard was invented by dead evil filth; and our ancestors were stupid enough to fall for it.

It is time you the reader of this book to understand your true situation. It is time you understood the true condition of your existence and your life. It is time for you to understand what is keeping u to from changing how you live. It is time to look inside yourself and discover for yourself the secret existence of these filthy violating evil things which need to be killed dead. These dead filth have purposefully insulated you not only from feeling the living energy of all other living creatures by wrapping you in layers of cloth and steel and glass and walling you off from the natural world: they have purposefully walled you off from your own inner self because they do not want to be found out and exposed, and publicly chased out of your body. These things only exist because they keep their existence a secret from not only you, but from every other living human on earth. All of you need to come together and publicly identify the dead filth secretly hiding inside, and publicly forcing them out of your aura and cutting off all connection from them. If they persist in coming back: chase them out again and again and again. Do not answer anything they say. Do not give them any attention. Just push them out and out and out of your life. When you are in their realm: you will have all the time in the world to hunt them down and kill them. By creating a positive collective living aura of a close social living network of living people who live together and sleep together: your positive energy will be reinforced so much it will overpower all the weak negative filth that tries to corrupt your positive life directions and intentions. This is why you must destroy civilization. Civilization is their nest egg: it is their dead artificial womb of artificial energy which they suck on including sucking off the life-energy of living creatures. These dead things are blood-sucking parasites

It is time for all of you to come together with others who have also read and discovered what I am telling you to be actually true: for all of you to come together and by coming together: cooperating with each other to push these evil lurking hiding unspeakably evil filthy dead things out of your bodies and out of your living areas. By removing yourself from all civilized machines and energy sources: you automatically reduce their ability to suck off energy from you down to a very small degree which you can control and handle.

Why is the destruction of the removal of all civilized apparatus and structures necessary? Because if you continue to live inside a house: they will simply go into the hollow hiding places of a wall and hide there for centuries and wait for some poor blind fool to come along so they can leech off them. They will just live off the electrical circuits and the heating sources of the building you live inside. They will feed off every possible form of artificial energy available to them: which is what they have been doing ever since they finagled your dead ancestors to create artificial fires so they could suck energy off that source of unnatural heat and light.

Get this through your head: as long as you live inside civilization: you will be surrounded by hordes of dead ghouls because that is where they live and have lived for thousands of years in cities of the dead called cemeteries and burial grounds long before they poisoned living humans into living like they do.

These dead things do not like to go out into Nature! They do not like living humans going out naked without any artificial insulation to live in Nature! That is their most difficult existence because there are no fucking artificial hollow walls to hide inside in a natural environment. There are no fucking artificial energy sources in nature. There are no flat surfaces they can hide behind in nature. Do you understand now? The entire shitpile you thought was invented for our convenience was invented for the convenience of dead filthy shit rot things that need to be killed dead and should have died a long time ago.

Just going out of the city into a natural forest will lessen their influence and presence on you. Just living where there are no machines, no electricity, no fire, no heating sources, no artificial sources of heat will cleanse you of many unhealthy dead presences and influences.

Now do you understand? Everything civilization has taught you is the complete opposite of the actual truth. Everything you call civilization is a poisonous invention which has been artificially implanted into the living minds and bodies of living human beings. Civilization is bankrupt of all human meaning, it always has been bankrupt of human meaning, it was never meant for living humans: it is an invention of dead machines invented by dead rotting filth. If you take all the artificial distractions out of your civilized society: if you took all the corruption and addictions and drug-food, drug-beverage, poisonous chemicals and dead machines out of your living environment, if you took all of the violence and pornographic sex and gambling and all the other vices out of your living environment... if you took all the slavery of working for filthy pieces of paper called money out of your living environment... if you took all of the massed crowds of dead souls, all the faceless meaningless dead bodies infested by dead things out of your environment: you would have a living space which is mostly clean of their filthy rotten evil.

If you react to this books by saying: “Oh, but I love my tools, they’re much more important to me than human beings... I love my machines... they’re much more important to me than Life itself.’ then you are doomed. You are already being poisoned by the undead. You want to continue being screwed by these non-living abominations? Go ahead and see what happens to you when you get into their realm and you are sucked into the negative vortex reserved for weak, negative souls. Ask a psychic what the Vortex is... and what it is for; watch them go white in fear and cunningly lie to you through their evil teeth.

That is the dead ghouls inside you talking: not the living soul that wants to live a happy healthy meaningful rewarding life filled with fun and challenge and excitement and meaning. Civilization is dead: it is boring. It’s artificial stimulants are boring, dead and evil. Civilization is already driving itself into extinction: do you want to stay on that evil death wagon to hell, or jump off this shitpile of a rat race and into a living natural environment that will give you instant positive feedback and instant positive rewards and no negative feedback?

Do you want to continue to be a zombie? An empty dead soul? Do you want to continue to lead a meaningless boring existence? Do you want to continue to be a boring, uncreative, negative, faceless obedient servant/slave to the forces of evil? Then stay inside your dead civilized environment and obey your masters and die. If you want to live: then get out of your negative environment and create a positive living environment. Civilization cannot be saved or fixed. Get this through your fucking head and heart. The only things worth saving are living things: not dead things. The only things worth fixing are living things; not dead things. The only good zombie is a completely fucking dead zombie: not a fucking half-dead zombie that doesn’t want to finish its dying.

How to Live

The formula of how to live the best life you can is simple: have as much fun as you can. The more you play and have fun, the more creative you become and the wiser and more intelligent you become and the more mature you become. This means that you never stop playing and you never stop having fun. This means that as you play and have more and more fun, your play evolves into wiser and more creative and more mature from of play and fun. This means that a life without any play and fun is not adult and is not mature but is the stupidest most uncreative and most unintelligent form of living possible.

This is why everyone must destroy all forms of identicalization all mass manufacturing, all conforming boring copying shit: this means civilization must be completely destroyed because it is an invention of undead things that need to be exterminated and killed dead. This means nobody should follow or mimic or copy anyone else. This means there should be no leaders and no followers. This means that the most evolved forms of social organizations are based upon the most creative mature adult individuals who have played more and had more fun than anyone else.

In other words: the formula for humans socially coming together is based upon the most unique individual human uniqueness and creativity possible. Not the most conforming boring shit possible.

This cannot be done as long as undead filth poison all the happy healthy babies and children of living people. This means that living people must hunt down, identify and kill every fucking undead thing which exists on earth until there are no more of them.

All that is stopping the entire human living species from doing its designed job of creatively bringing all living things on earth closer together in fun and happiness and health is these dead rotting turd stinking things that hide secretly inside living human bodies and poison our environment with their dead stinking rotting hate and envy and jealousy and evil.

Jesus tried to bring people together in Love and Kindness: did any of them listen to him? No. Did any of them do what he told them to do? No. Nobody did the obvious things that would have made them happy and healthy because they were all poisoned by undead shit stinking rotting evil turd-things that need to be identified and killed dead and exterminated and wiped out. If you read this and understand what I say. If you refuse to do the right thing: then you need to recognize why you don't do the obvious right thing. You need to recognize the existence of these filthy things and kill them dead dead dead.

They are the reason nobody does what they know is the right thing to do. They are the poison which filthies this earth and must be wiped out. Without these fucking unspeakable stinking rot: we living people would have no problems and no evil thoughts, no evil feelings, no evil emotions, no evil motives, no evil intentions, no evil actions, no evil reactions.

What do you think the religious sanctity of communion is all about in Christianity, eh? Eating a wafer representing the body of Christ as the spirit of Christ is supposed to enter into you... into your body. It is an abomination of the sin of eating, it is an abomination of a dead foul unseen undead aura secretly entering the body of a living person and poisoning it by becoming one... an unholy union of dead souls sucking secretly off living people. As you commit the sin of eating: the evil ones who sucker you into committing evil enter into your body and take you over, until it is they who control you: not the innocent souls they have poisoned and twisted into becoming one of them. The only thing these fucking filth things share is the committing of sin and evil! Do you understand? All the sharing of eating food and feasting and gluttony is the sharing of sin. People do not share anything anymore except the sharing of sinning and sins because they are controlled by evil filth that will not allow them to share anything good and positive. That is why there is no love in the world today. They are the reason there is no love in the world today. What is sin? Secret "I" Negative

A ghost is a fucking ghost: it is the worst dead leftover garbage of a once-living being; is it the last remaining decomposing shit oozing out of their dead rectums, it is the most disgusting, foul evil stinking rotting energy in the universe. Their existence has been known to mankind for untold millennia: these fucking things need to be fucking killed dead: they need to be gotten rid of: not worshipped. Just because they're not quite completely dead yet doesn't mean they can't be killed. The reversal of human perception; the insanity of worshipping dead ghosts instead of valuing and cherishing living people and life is what people need to be educated about and de-programmed from and de-brainwashed .

The proof of the existence of these invisible unperceived forms of dead, dying, rotting decomposing energy is everywhere throughout human history. All you need to do is look for them and they jump out at you: starkly obvious, now that you know about them.

Why do you think billions of people now are watching staged spectacles? What are spectacles? Spectacles are pieces of glass placed in front of living eyes: dead invisible 2-dimensional things in front of living eyes, a subconscious projection of how dead invisible entities use living people as eyes to vicariously watch the doings of living people. The entire culture of billions of living people doing nothing but watching is a result of the poison of undead things that do nothing but watch living people live their lives leaking into the culture of living people because these undead have nothing else they can do but watch life. These sick diseased things need to be exterminated.

What do you think watches are? They are 2-dimensional dead surfaces that undead things use to watch the doings of living people with. Why do you think the undead got everyone to wear a watch? A dead invisible transparent 2-dimensional surface which they can hide behind and watch the 3-dimensional living world which they left and have no business violating. Why do you think timepieces that people carry on their person are called watches? Because that is what these dead shit things do: they watch living people... and whenever they see anything good and decent, they step in invisibly whenever they choose to and ruin everything good and decent from growing. Committing secret invisible filthy violations, poisoning and polluting the lives of every living human being for millions and millions of years.

Why do they do it? Because for more than 25 million years; all of life was systematically destroyed and ruined over and over by earthquakes... by tsunami's, by exploding volcanic catastrophes, by asteroids, by tidal waves, by ice ages... they are not supposed to even exist, these dead rotting invisible auras should have died out completely and gone completely extinct a long, long time ago,,, Behind the 2-dimensional surface of the watchers are the invisible hands of the invisible watchers, the undead watchers that move events according to their secret hidden plans and timetable; recreating and repeating their evil over and over every day, every night, every hour. These stinking evil filth invade and violate every aspect of human life: they are vile interlopers that must be exterminated and killed dead. The hands of these undead watchers violate and poison life: their watching poisons life: they are a poison, an evil which must be wiped out utterly and completely, they are the mortal enemy of all living things.

The evil these things are is projected out by the living humans and living creatures these dead things use and manipulate and poison with their auras. In other words: what they do to living people... living people do to other living people and living creatures: not because living people are evil, but because these filth shit dead things poison all living humans with their undead presence.

This is one way you can tell what these filth secretly do to us the living and how they secretly do it to use.

For instance: the latest U.S. Military tactic of using mechanical flying drones to spy on their victims whom they designate as 'enemies' is a projection of what these invisible hidden shit turd things do to us. The use of mechanical birds to spy on humans... is merely a projection and reflection of the fact that the undead have been using birds to spy on humans for millions of years. The ancient religious worship of ravens and crows in North America is one example of this. The worship of eagles and hawks, the placing of these bird icons and bird religions and bird worshipping and bird culture is merely a symptom of the realm of the undead and how the reptilian bird auras are used by undead entities... and how the reptilian auras use undead entities who were once living humans also. They poison each other: it is a mutual poisoning phenomenon. Both of these genetically distinct species once they are undead poison each other's auras. In plain words: how they poison living people is exactly how they poison each other.

When you become aware that every bird in the air and in trees and bushes hiding, is secretly spying on you and everyone else near you, you will also notice that the behavior of these undead filth hiding inside birds change their behavior once you become aware of what they are doing. If you catch a bird being used by an undead entity to spy on you or others, you will notice that they do not like being noticed: they do not like being observed secretly by you, they do not like any living creature to know what they are doing, and when they notice you looking at them with the knowledge that they are secretly spying on you... they will fly away.

How can these birds know that you know they are being used by undead entities to spy on living people? They know because the undead things inside you know everything you know, and they can and do communicate with other undead entities in their area... not only that:... an undead entity hiding inside you: can and does go out of your body, into the body of another living creature like a bird... or... into the living body of someone next to you. This they do regularly. This is why arguments between husbands and wives, misunderstandings between friends and lovers are caused by them poisoning both of the living people.

Once they find out you know how they work, once they find out that you know how they can slip invisibly into another living human or into a bird or a dog or a cat: they will hate you and follow you and try to spy on you and ruin your entire life. They do not want living people to become aware of their secret existence and they do not want us to be aware of how they work and how they use their little secret filthy tricks and tactics. They want to limit this knowledge as much as possible. This is why i have put this book onto the internet for free, so it can be read by as many living people as possible.

If you yell at these birds, if you throw anything at them while they are spying on you and on the area around them: even if you don't hit them: they will fly away, because the guilt of their secret spying being exposed and found out makes them go away. They cannot stand to be exposed. They rely on secrecy.

Undead entities also use cats and dogs to spy on living people. This is why there is the new fad of billions of humans owning pets. It is merely an unconscious projection of living people of how they are being used and controlled, how these undead filth use living humans as pets, as toys: as owned and controlled living shells that are used so they can re-live their lives over again.

If you want to be as free as possible of these undead filth: you must get rid of any pets you have. Owning and enslaving another living creature for your selfish convenience is only a projection of how these undead things own and manipulate and use you. If you want to be as free as possible of enslavement of these dead shit turds as possible: you must stop using anything as a slave or as a tool for your convenience. All living creatures have a right to their own life without being used manipulated or controlled by any other creature alive or undead.

This also extends to dead tools and machines. If you want to be as free of the undead manipulating you, you must free yourself of using any dead tools, and stop using any dead tools like the dead use you. They use you as a TOOL to accomplish their stinking evil designs. They use you by getting you to use others. They use you by getting you to use tools.

These evil filth hate it when anyone good blocks their evil; they become enraged the instant any good decent person decides to do a good thing. These dead scum become enraged the instant any living human decides to stop committing an evil act. These dead things attack anyone who ever tries to be good. These dead things try to wipe out every effect of every good thing and every good act ever done by a living human being. The answer to their tactic of over-reacting to a good act is to attack them back ten times more. The way you can expose every living creature that is being controlled by a dead thing secretly is to attack that secret evil and kill it dead. You will discover that every time you sniff out an evil entity they will hide and run away. They cannot stand to be confronted with the truth.

The only reason these filth get away with their evil atrocities and evil plans is that they do it secretly, the only reason their secret plans work is because they take you by surprise: they only attack you when you are not expecting it and are not looking to be attacked. They only attack your weaknesses. Every weakness, every sin, every addiction, every bad habit you are poisoned with is used against you. What they are obsessed with is reversing the truth. They have to reverse the perception of truth.

They only attack the most helpless, the youngest, the most innocent the living humans who are the most good. They corrupt the sickest, the weakest: they prey on weakness: they fear strength.

Because all humans are born intrinsically good, they can only corrupt a small minority of living people. This is why they had to create centralized forms of human society where one evil corrupt sick person could control and manipulate and brainwash a great majority of decent human beings so everyone becomes corrupt and evil.

This is why this book is so important. Every evil person on earth must be killed by good people.

Understand this: there is nothing evil about killing an evil person!

The reason evil rulers like Stalin and Mao Tse Tsung were not killed is because the minions of evil: the evil invisible hidden secret auras surrounding these evil shit things make sure that they are not killed.

Understand this: evil living people are protected by undead evil entities because these entities can use these evil people to commit more evil. Good people are systematically isolated and poisoned and attacked, while evil people live lives of unscathed and untouched because these undead shit things use evil people to commit as much evil as possible.

This is why they must be killed dead. This is why every good decent person must rise up and kill every evil person on earth. This is the reason these fucking things have spread the bullshit fad culture of 'non-violence; throughout the entire human species. The realm of the undead must be exterminated, and every living creature they control must also be killed dead. Only when every living creature and living human being is free of their poison: only when every living human being is strong enough and healthy enough and good enough to not be controlled by these fucking shit turds: only then can human beings heal this poisoned earth and create life that is beautiful and healthy and happy and good.

This must be stopped.

Why do you think there is instant replay in sports so the watchers can see something being repeated? Undead things try to re-live everything; they try to re-live their former lives over and over. Why do you think there are repetitive things called traditions and customs and rituals that are replayed and repeated for thousands of years? The entire fabric called human culture is a product of undead entities repeating things over and over; all the repetitive things of civilization is a product, a symptom of these dead filthy secret rotting things trying to preserve, perpetuate and re-live their former lives over and over. Living humans are intrinsically creative. We the living are not meant to repeat anything over and over again, mindlessly, stupidly, for no reason. The past is not designed to be preserved; it is not meant to be preserved; you should never put the past before the present and the future. The past is last: not first, it is finished and done with.

Now this repetitive insanity has become a mechanical horror of dead machines churning out identical products by the millions and billions, and it is being used by these dead things to poison and pollute and kill and destroy every living thing on earth. This must be stopped. The invention of cities of the dead, the origin of a sedentary lifestyle comes from the overpopulation, the accumulation of these dead filth that should have rotted away and decomposed and died millions of years ago. Civilization is a product of their existence. Civilization was invented by undead entities. People are good. Civilization is evil. When civilization is destroyed, when every undead filth is killed dead: there will be no more machines, no more industrialized mechanical unfeeling horror, no more destruction of the entire earth, no more poisoning of the earth, no more repetitive mechanical dead machines churning out identical copies of everything from computers, to clothes, to food, to buildings, no more manufactured nuclear bombs, no more war, no more overpopulation of the earth by a naked ape who is not designed and not meant to kill or destroy anything that is alive and good. No more worshipping of dead things. No more worshipping the dead past: the past is dead and is not worth anything except to be learned from. No more worship of anything anymore, no more valuing dead things, no more cults of death. For a living animal to worship a dead thing, or a dead idea, or a dead ancestor, or a dead metal, or a dead crystal, is the stupidest, filthiest, most rotten, foul travesty of life possible. It is a complete reversal of the designed purpose of Life.

The reason these things are called undead is because they are unfeeling. They feel nothing: they are not human, they are not alive or dead, they exist in-between Life and death. They do not belong in this Universe. They do not belong on this living earth. They are interlopers. They do not belong hiding inside living people and they know it. They do not belong anywhere; they must be exterminated with extreme prejudice. They must be killed dead dead. Their invention called civilization must be destroyed along with them . Everything they have ever invented must be destroyed utterly; every evil filthy insane stupid thing they have invented must be wiped out so all life can live as it is designed to; in happiness and health... free of sickness and disease, free of all evil.

Human Cannibalism

Human cannibals sharpened their teeth for a very good, logical caused reason. The ancestors of these humans did not die completely as they should have, they only half-died. These half-dead auras went and hid inside the bodies of sharks that had sharp pointed teeth and lived inside these reptiles until their undead teeth became sharp and triangular and pointed also.

Sharks are cannibals; they kill and eat each other all the time. In the south pacific and Caribbean islands: undead ancestor entities hid inside the bodies of sharks and lived inside these cold blooded reptilian fish for so long that they developed a sick insane lust to eat the flesh of their own kind. Then these undead monsters went back into the bodies of the people they had given life to, and poisoned their bodies and souls with the blood lust of a shark... the lust to eat the flesh of their own kind with sharpened teeth. This is how and why human cannibalism happened; this is where the practice of cannibals sharpening their teeth to mimic the triangular teeth of sharks comes from.

After hiding inside the bodies of living sharks, these undead filth went back into the bodies of their own children... they went back and secretly hid inside the living bodies of their children's children and poisoned them with their undead auras. Because they had mutated their own undead human auras with the auras of living sharks who have endless rows of triangular razor-sharp teeth: they developed an unnatural, sick instinctive predatory lust to eat the flesh of their own species with teeth that are razor sharp; they made their own progeny file their teeth, until they were triangular, like the teeth of sharks are, and made them eat the flesh of their own kind... just as sharks that kill and eat each other. These undead things are undead parasitic filth that secretly feed on and live off the life-energy of their own begotten children's children; they are ugly, horrible, mutated abominations of mixing an undead human aura with the aura of a living shark, creating an undead dying invisible thing that is neither shark nor human, an undead horrible deformed monster which preys upon its own species like a shark. This is just one example of how sick, how filthy, how foul, how horrible these undead things are and how sick and evil the crimes they commit against their own offspring actually are. This is just one example of why all of these unspeakable things need to be exterminated with extreme prejudice.

How Ancient these undead things are:

The oldest desert on earth is the Namib desert in southern Africa: the Namib desert is between two rivers called: Kuiseb and Usiab; reverse their letters and you get: Besiuk... Be see i you kill. Baisu means 'be an eye... see you.' 'be... an 'i' that sees you.' 'bad energy i sees you.' 'bad evil I = eye sees you' The evil eye of the black raven: schizophrenic insane reptiles that blackened the souls of African apes until their skin became almost as black with death as the blackened feathers of the raven. Ravens are permanently mad: they are raving insane hate-filled ancient things of reptilian hate and evil. The raving madness of that fitly evil reptile is just one of the many undead poisons which have been injected into the souls, minds and hearts of living people.

These two analyzed, reversed words reveal a basic difference between how these insane unseen things and how living people perceive the universe. Undead things can go into a living person and see through their eyes, and then go out of a living person and see that person through other eyes. They perceive the reality of life through many layers of rotting dying hate and envy and jealousy and wickedness. They are permanently schizoid: multiple split personalities; because they go in and out of living people's auras so many times, they have no sense of self: their personality and their dying aura changes with every time they go into and violate the aura of a living creature... until they become permanently crazy. These undead things go in and out of the auras of living creatures so many times they become addicted to it. The letters of Besuik reveals how the meaning of the letters "be see i you kill". (u = you) only make sense when an undead thing is flitting in and out of a person's aura, constantly perceiving the Universe mixed up in different perspectives. This is why these things need to be killed dead. They need to be exterminated and wiped out of existence. All these dead things do is commit evil.

Understand this: these leftover detached auras of these dead bodies are dead, and should have died completely and need to die and should be killed. They are poisonous towards all living creatures.

This is where the word "being" comes from. These things do not live: they are not alive. All they do is exist, all they do is 'be'. They are negative be-ings that are detached from all living creatures and hate and fear all life. That is what they are negative energy be-ings: they don't live: they just exist, they just "be" and see. They are undead beings: that are watching you all the time and see you and want to kill you. They are detached 'i's'. They are detached eyes. All they do is watch and hate and plot evil. All they can do is 'be'. They are insane mutated ugly monstrosities, they are unhuman filth. Their reaction to the first walking apes of Kiuseb-Besuik Africa was a undead Being whose intentions are: 'see i you.... Kill'. Every living thing they see, they want to kill. They can see you. You cannot see them. That is their only advantage. Every living creature they go into; they poison with their negative hate and urge to harm and hurt and kill. They are the mortal enemies of all living things and they must be killed completely dead.

The Hidden evil Meaning of the Letter 'W'

All the names, descriptions, symptoms and evidences of undead evil begin the letter w. This evil symbol represents the double you: the two you's... one is you: your true self. The other is the undead aura which is superimposed over your living personality and body, it is the undead parasitical 'you', the invisible secret evil filthy thing which poisons your entire being from birth to death. The evil symbol of the letter 'w' can be analyzed and deciphered.

Witchcraft

Wickedness

War

Winners

Winners are inners. Inners are the many undead rotting evil filth hiding inside the innards, hiding inside the living guts and organs of living people. They are the undead evil that poisons the souls and bodies of all winners.

That is the meaning of the two 'u's that make up the letter 'w': there are those who are With you, all around you and then there are the inners. The undead hiding inside you. They exist secretly inside you, and outside you; along with you.

Who are the actual winners? With inner secret observers they are the evil wicked stinking undead entities hiding inside the bodies and souls of living people who sacrifice their humanity and everything that is good and positive in order to become winners. Winners are wicked people, poisoned by wicked evil undead entities hiding inside their poisoned bodies, souls and guts. All winners are poisoned by the evils of ambition, adversarial competition and antagonism. Winners are insensitive, destructive, negative and stupid.

Why is the truth, the ugly grisly disgusting truth about human civilization and human history so convoluted?

The trademark of all evil: is this: evil is as illogical and as meaningless and as complex and convoluted as possible.

What is the evil of witchcraft? It is the hidden unseen evil ability of invisible filthy undead entities who can and do secretly control and manipulate which way you go... which choice you make, which impulse you follow. Only if you develop your own will. Only if you go against the will of others can you even begin to develop enough self-will and self-discipline to oppose the undead cunning presence of these stinking rotting undead things. Instead of opposing your will, they try to constantly put pressure so your good impulse and direction is poisoned and deflected away from what you originally wanted to do, by putting tantalizing corruptions in your path, by wooing you away from good with the attractions of evil. This is how they do it: not by directly opposing your will, but by temptation, by offering you easier ways out... not by one temptation, but by millions of tempting choices offered to you every day... by whispering into your sleeping soul when you are asleep and unconscious... subtly brainwashing you and pushing you to make the wrong choice, say the wrong thing, do the wrong thing.

All evil is a snarled a devious mass of cunning twisted evil lies and deceptions that are as cunningly twisted into knots of deceptions and delusions and illusions by undead filth as much as possible

The only hope that evil entities have to keep from being exterminated and killed dead and utterly destroyed: is to make its knotted snarled twisted mass of ruination and corruption and cunning evil so complex: that no living human being can ever unravel the truths of all these sick twisted evil filth and straighten the whole past history of the human species out into an analyzed understandable sane rational logical understanding of what happened, why it happened, and how it happened:

The history of the human race to destroy the entire Living Earth has been kept secret .

The secret truth that humans are being used to destroy the entire Living Earth has been intentionally kept a secret from all living humans

The human history of
Who did what, where, why, when and how

Has been intentionally poisoned and made indecipherable by the hidden secret invisible undetectable presence of undead entities hiding inside and all around every living human being. It is they who did it. It was they who did where, what, when, why and how.

All of the motivations, impulses, rationalizations, reasons for why living human being do anything, everything you feel, think and do; is completely poisoned and corrupted by the interference and violation of these sick stinking undead scum shit things hiding invisibly and secretly inside the bodies souls minds and hearts of all living babies, children adolescents and adult human beings

This is why all of these negative filth must be exterminated and killed dead.

What is the path of evil? It is the path of separation; it is the evil Path of Splitness. It is the dynamic of the 1st half of Infinite Time being re-enacted during the 2nd half of Infinite Time where it does not belong.

This Infinite Universe has been slowly connecting itself back together again for billions of years. Slowly and organically: the Universe has been connecting itself back into connected organic forms of beauty and health for billions and billions of years.

Now... this filthy evil subhuman species of ape called human beings have been trying to ruin the connections which have been slowly and painstakingly formed by the nature of the whole universe coming together. Our Universe is by nature designed to connect itself together; not split itself apart. Now this species is trying to blow up the entire earth. All human life is being torn apart by the splitting of the atom: the smallest most innocent form of life energy that scientists could find. By picking on the smallest possible form of connected Life Energy which all life is made of: as the big bully of the Earth, this poisoned insane destructive evil ape... after picking on the smallest possible harmless defenseless living forms of energy, and massacring and destroying countless trillions and quadrillions of tiny seeds of life by crushing them to death... these evil human apes called scientists have now tried to kill and destroy an even smaller form of connected life energy; by splitting apart the living atom, by inventing nuclear bombs of mass destruction: by inventing the insanity of the atomic bomb.

The most evil invention of living humans poisoned by the insane undead who control and orchestrate the destruction of all living things, has been the splitting of the atom. The splitting of the atom is the most evil invention ever invented by a mad crazed sick insane ape that is so poisoned by undead auras poisoning its entire body and soul, words cannot describe the horror which has been unleashed upon the green organic beauty of the earth we live on and depend on for our lives.

This is why civilization must be destroyed. Civilization is systematically poisoning and destroying all Life on Earth. The human ape has been separating itself from all Life, the human species continues to separate itself from all the connections of its own Life and living environment: insulating itself from the world it lives in. The Path of Splitness: the splitting of a living human personality into insane disconnected multiple personalities: the insulation of living humans from touching anything that is alive and organically healthy. The insane human trend of not eating or drinking anything that is organically connected and alive and healthy... is all the same basic path of evil which is also the splitting of the atom, the splitting up of the nuclear family, the splitting up of all human social bonds, the separating of all humans from each other, the insulation of all living people from each other, is the same unspeakably insane irrational evil direction of total annihilation and suicidal self-destruction which 7 billion insane dead zombies who are controlled by uncounted numbers of undead dying decomposing dead auras and entities.

The last one hundred years of human civilization has accumulated the killing and poisoning of dead dying evil insane rotting undead souls to this present condition of over-poisoned space to a new level of toxic evil that is so many times more evil than it ever was before: there is no way to describe the crisis of the entire living earth.

The evil and the horror of the legacy of our dead ancestors is this: living human insane apes poisoned by undead spirits, have been doing the opposite of what we are designed to do for millions of years. We are designed to touch each other with our living hands and skin; sensitively and gently. Instead: this poisoned living species called human beings: poisoned by these filth evil undead things, have for millions of years been doing the opposite of what we are naturally designed to do we are designed to touch the air, the rain the sunlight, the earth, and all living organisms with our naked skin... and allow all living creatures and the wind and sunlight and rain and snow and grass and trees and flowers and insects and plants and animals and fish and worms to touch us also. Instead mankind has committed the most horrible sin of all: he has separated himself from all of Nature, he has separated himself from the Living Earth he lives on. He has separated himself from the Living Universe he lives in. He has descended back and down into an imaginary delusional abstract nonexistent 2-dimensional illusion, which is not real and does not actually exist.

Mankind has not progressed, it has regressed from a living three-dimensional animal, into a living three-dimensional animal that only recognizes and only reacts to 2-dimensionoinal symbols that don't actually exist! An abstract illusion on a flat 2-dimensional surface is not progress: an abstract 2-dimensional symbol on a flat 2-dimensional surface in a 3-dimensionoinal Universe is not intelligence. It is delusional insanity.

The Path of Splitness ended when the 1st half of Infinite Time finished splitting. The 2nd half of Infinite Time is the time of connection: it is the time to seek out and make Connections not separations. We are living during the 2nd half of Infinite Time, not the 1st half. The 2nd half of our Universe's existence has a living process that is not a die-namic but a life-amic, that is positive. The Universe has now been following the Path of Connection, the Path of Healing, for untold billions of years. We humans were put on this Earth to heal ourselves, and heal all living things on Earth by seeking out and making connections; by making friends.

Why hasn't the human species gone completely extinct? Why has the human species gone through countless bottlenecks of near-extinction... but never total extinction? The reason is because the human species is the Newest and best living organic design on Earth. The human species is a GOOD genetic design that is designed to do GOOD. But we are poisoned by undead evil.

Over and over... Nature has tried to scrape away and get rid of these undead parasitical filth clinging onto living humans, poisoning this inherently intrinsically good design of a naked animal designed to touch all living things gently with its bare skin... over and over Mother Nature has tried to get rid of the undead parasites clinging to humans, by reducing their numbers down to a barest minimum of two: a boy and a girl, Adam and Eve... so that they could start fresh all over again, clean and innocent of all the undead evil which poisoned their forebears. That is why the human species has not been completely wiped out yet: genetically, we are designed to be intrinsically Good.

The definition of Forebear means to cease or refrain from control of oneself. A forebear means ancestor: literally a person existing before. Do you understand?

All living humans are intrinsically GOOD. All dead ancestors are intrinsically evil. These undead rotting things must be exterminated with extreme prejudice.

How Truth was REVERSED and misperceived as lies
And how lies were reversed and misperceived as Truth

Adam and Eve were not cast out from the Garden of Eden, they were cast from the Garden of the Eaten: where Evil dens of predators lived. This hell of hate and evil cunning of the African Veldt was a garden of e-vel sin for these wicked foul undead things: The 'i' in the word evil is pronounced exactly as the 'e' in the world Veldt. The 'e' in the word evil is pronounced like the letter 'i'. The two vowels of the word evil have been cunningly reversed in how they are pronounced. This is a trademark of these stinking shit things, they try to reverse everything. The evil of the African Veldt was where they could wallow in aiding and abetting of the worst evil there is: where animals killed and ate each other, committing the evil of killing a living animal for its flesh and eating that dead flesh. Where more living animals could be born and grown, as in a cultivated artificial garden: just to they could be killed and die and be eaten in the most horrible, savage, brutal ways possible.

Adam and Eve were cast out because they were not meat eaters, they were eaters of fruit: because they were not filled with hate and evil and envy and fear and all the filthy undead auras the other species were poisoned with for a very good reason: They were a NEW species. Completely NEW. They did not yet suffer from the legacy of millions of years of undead ancestors poisoning their bodies and souls.

Adam and Eve were cast out of the Garden of the Eaten: for their refusal to kill and eat living creatures. The undead cast them out because they instead of eating living animals, they were fruit eaters, they had eaten of the fruit of Knowledge.

All the other sin-filled living creatures in the African Veldt aided the undead in this casting out of the only good animal on earth: the gulf of Aden: the evil energy of Nature aided and abetted the undead evil filth who cast these two innocent naked creatures out, naked of all evil... out of the Garden of evil dens of lions and hyenas, out of the plains of the millions of grazing animals, the plains of the Eaten, where the eaters and the eaten committed their sins over and over for hundreds of millions of years. The Garden of the Eaten, the Garden of Evil dens became called the Garden of Eden... the most evil sinful place on Earth: the Serengeti Plains: where more animals were killed and slain and massacred and eaten every day for hundreds of millions of years than any other place on earth... by Evil animals that lived in dens and hunted in packs. This is how the true meanings of words are compressed over time. One word is compressed to include both the eaters and the eaten. The grazing animals were not innocent of committing evil: they were eating the young innocent young grasses of the Serengeti every year, turning it into a dustbowl by overgrazing.

The Truth screams out in the Bible for all to understand: Adam and Eve were allowed to eat from every tree in that garden except the tree of Knowledge which gave them the knowledge of what is GOOD and what is EVIL They were forbidden because these invisible undead evil things did not want any living creature to become aware of what they were doing to them. They did not want this pair of innocent naked apes to understand what is GOOD and what is evil.

The instant these two apes became aware that evil undead monsters were invading their bodies: they tried to cover their bodies up: trying to defend themselves against this abomination of dead auras violating living people. When Adam and Eve gained knowledge of what is GOOD and what is evil, Adam and Eve HID from these evil undead things, which they had before been innocently deceived into listening to and obeying. They hid from these foul undead things because they knew they were evil and were afraid of them for good reason. Because these two first naked humans realized that these things were evil: these evil things projected their own evil onto them: they cursed them and poisoned them; accusing them of being evil.

So... the most innocent naked ape who had not committed any sin: was poisoned by these undead things and guilefully forced into becoming a consumer: forced into doing what they did not want to do: eat dead flesh. Humans did not make skins to cover themselves with: it explicitly states that their god did this to them. The entire story of Genesis is a reversal of truth. and the rest of the Bible is a reversal also: it hides the story of how these undead filth used and poisoned and manipulated and terrorized the human species from the very beginning into becoming evil.

NOT ANY MORE

Now this book has now stripped them naked, and exposed them for what they actually are.

Do you understand? These undead things have reversed the human perception of everything. These dead filth have reversed the perceptions of GOOD and evil from the very beginning. They have put themselves forwards as being good; when actually, they are the most evil dead rotting filth in existence: they have made human perceive dead auras as being good instead of evil. It took them hundreds of thousands of years to accomplish this reversal of perception: they made living people misperceive what is evil as gods: gods are supposed to be 'good'. That is a stinking lie. All gods are not good, they are evil filth that needs to be wiped off this planet.

The cunning way these undead filth have brainwashed living people is so transparently obvious it screams out how cunningly these undead use the words to fool living people: what is the fucking different between good and god? An extra added empty zero, a hollow filthy dead thing sucking off the living auras of living people. This is why they must be obliterated from the face of the earth. This is why they must all be killed dead. Do you understand? All abstract symbols are evil. Words are inventions of the undead; they were invented by the undead to deceive living people, they were invented so humans could lie. The word evil is the reverse of the word live. The undead are the reverse of a live living creature. The die-namic of evil is the reversal of living into dying; it is the reversal of positive into negative; it is the reversal of logic into illogic; it is the reversal of nature, of the natural order of things into an artificial reversed order of things. Evil reverses everything that is good into bad. Evil reverses everything that is healthy into sickness. Evil reverses everything that is beautiful into ugliness. Evil reverses everything that is natural into unnatural abominations.

Evil entities use the tactic of reversing human perceptions for a damned good reason. If humans did not have their perceptions of GOOD and evil reversed: they would have killed and destroyed these undead filth a long time ago. Any sign of increasing genetic health and intelligence in the human population is seen as a mortal threat to the existence of undead ghouls. These undead things have been trying to poison the health and intelligence of the human race ever since they turned all of Nature against Man and hounded Him out of the Garden of the Eaten because the first humans would not eat dead flesh and refused to kill. When humans become healthy: they become intelligent: when they become intelligent, it is increasingly more difficult for the undead to deceive them and fool them and manipulate them and control them. This is why human wars were invented: to systematically kill the healthiest, most intelligent, most honest GOOD people on Earth, while allowing the sickest, most diseased genetic strains to survive

Two perfect historical examples of how people have been brainwashed into the reversed perception that good is evil and evil is good are George Washington and Dwight Eisenhower. In 1791, Washington warned of false patriots who drape them in the flag but would betray the values of the American Constitution. The actual truth is that it was Washington who was the false patriot who draped himself in the flag and betrayed the values of the American people, and in doing so became the richest man in America. Everything he warned about has come to pass because he was the first who did what he warned others of..

In Eisenhower's farewell speech, he warned about the danger and growth of the military complex. The actual truth is that it was Eisenhower was responsible for development and growth of the Industrial complex. The two most evil Americans of their era 'warned' others about what they actually had done and what they actually were. and have since been whitewashed into false icons of good, when the truth is, they were some of the most evil monsters of their time.

It is what Washington and Eisenhower actually did that was evil. During the War of Independence 1775-1783, less than 5% of Americans fought against England. 95% of the colonists were loyal to Britain. During the 1930's America was 51% of German descent, pro-German and all of them were peace loving and against being involved in any war. Eisenhower who was of German descent himself killed more than 2 million German prisoners of war by deliberately starving them to death by declassifying them so they would not be classed as prisoners of war: this officially avoided the use of 'war crime' being used. In fact: both of them reversed the wishes of American people did the exact opposite of what the people wanted them to do; and in doing so destroyed American democracy at its core and reversed the paths of history. They deflected the fact of their own evil by telling people to look elsewhere; not at them! Never look at the wealthiest most powerful men on earth as being the most evil people on earth! Nooo, you must love and worship and idolize these filth, not hang them by their balls which they richly deserve.

Two other examples of the reversal of public perception are World War One and World War Two. Both of these World Wars were genocidal on a worldwide scale in its secret intention of the undead. Both of them were carefully orchestrated to destroy the most positive, healthiest cultures in the world and the healthiest, most intelligent babies, children and adults. Industrialization had unexpectedly produced people who were healthier, more intelligent and happier than before industrialization. The undead had invented machines in order to dehumanize living humans and turn them into mechanical zombies and destroy their intelligence so they would become obedient robots; easily controlled and manipulated by the top of the pyramid of civilized corruption. Something had to be done to stop this growing health and intelligence. People all over Europe and Russia and America were rising up and refusing to be obedient oppressed slaves and demanding to be treated more decently, and demanding more rights. The masses were beginning to wake up and were quickly becoming aware of themselves as human beings, as workers as women who deserved to be treated decently and have a say in their country's govt.

Just before WW1: 80% of Russian peasants owned their own land and lived in communal villages. This is another example of the reversal of human perception by undead evil. The conventional perception is that Marx and the Bolsheviks introduced communism into Russia. What they actually did was destroy the Communism which already existed in Russia and poison and pervert the NAME, the WORD 'communism' into an abomination that represents the opposite of communal living; a totalitarian state government, controlled by a centralized power.

Russia had become a culture of peasant landowners who were no longer oppressed or massacred. The Royal govt of the Tsar was so incompetent, so weak, so ineffectual; it was a benign entity, similar to the weak foppish French Royalty just before the French Revolution. In both cases: the aristocracy had almost completely divorced itself from running the country, and new revolutionary ideas were spreading like wildfire. The Tsarist govt simply did not know how to handle or control the 100's of millions of its subjects. Its culture was still that of medieval Feudalism... but it had become so mild that 80% of the peasants by now owned their own land! They did not like being oppressed or taxed or ruled by the Russian nobility. The only thing that kept this hodge-podge of different ethnic people together was their supposed love and loyalty to their Royal Tsar and his Royal family. In fact... the only thing that did hold the Russian Empire together before WW1 was a culture of LOVE... a false love... an imaginary love, a token love for an unseen, distant Emperor who they never saw but were supposed to worship and obey out of love for him; but nevertheless, it was a huge danger to evil things that survive only by fomenting hate and misery and suffering. Tsar Nicholas was the worst possible ruler for that time. Instead of ruling Russia as a responsible adult: he abdicated all his governmental responsibilities and escaped from civilization and went into seclusion: living with his family by the lake side. His living example of being a GOOD father to his children and being with his family all the time, was also dangerous. Even though he had abdicated all of his Royal responsibilities as Tsar: he had not abdicated taking care of his own children.

Germany before the war was the most humane, the most humanly progressive industrialized nation in the world. It was also the newest industrialized nation in Europe. It had the best educational system, the best social laws, it took care of its people better than any other industrialized nation. Russia was quickly copying this. In 1900: the St Petersburg foundry workers had disability insurance. I know this because one of my grandfathers worked in an iron foundry in St. Petersburg and was injured. He received a disability pension for the rest of his life because of his injury. This level of advanced humanity and decency in treating industrial workers was unheard of in America or anywhere else in the world except in Germany and in certain parts of Russia. France was also following suit and so was England. The awareness of the evils of ownership and capitalism by the book written by Marx and Engels was a huge danger also. If the workers organized against their oppressors and owners intelligently: capitalism and the greed that capitalism fosters and spreads would be quickly and easily destroyed and the whole world would become healthier than it ever had been before. People were becoming aware of themselves as ethnic cultures, they were developing individual identities and social identities that were logical and did not clash with each other. People were organizing themselves together intelligently. Their awareness was expanding.

What happened in WW1 was that the BEST of every class of people, the BEST living examples of GOODNESS and DECENCY were killed and destroyed so the world would never again aspire to be good parents to their children like the Tsar was to his children, but become filthy assholes like the English Royalty is towards its children: sending them off to private schools and abdicating their responsibility to educating and raising their own children. Turning the two best cultures which had more humanity in them against each other so they became mortal enemies and were brainwashed into hating each other, fearing each other, despising their neighbor nation.

For instance: what Hitler praised in the German Volk culture as the supreme proof of a superior race was exactly what Germans had admired about Russia before the Great War of 1914. The healthy outdoors lifestyle of the small, bucolic farms of the Russian communal Kulaks which before the industrialization of Russia comprised 80% of its population, and which produced men and boys who were stronger and healthier than any other nation in Europe. They were all slaughtered in the Great War, and slaughtered in the ensuing civil war between the Bolshevik red armies and the Tsarist White armies. They starved and died for lack of food, lack of clothing, lack of guns, lack of ammunition. What was left of Russia was the Jew infested Bolshevik totalitarian state terrorism of Stalin: political indoctrination of the masses, political mock trials, mass brutality and executions for no reason, mass deportations, death camps, peasants killed for no reason other than they were not poor and starving. Stalin wiped out 80% of the Russian culture: the culture of independent small farms and communal villages by herding the peasants into state prison farms called collective farms and destroying all of their communal culture which was organically developing to become a humane, gentle, simple way of Life that was developing in the opposite direction which the undead want humans to develop: into a mechanized insane horror of machines ruling humans. The reason Hitler saw Western Russia as a land of opportunity which could be colonized was because the Bolsheviks had been committing mass genocide against their own people for 20 years, and Steppes of Western Russia were almost completely depopulated because of it.

WW1 had destroyed the health and intelligence of the people of the Russian empire through a civil war and Stalin's brutal pogroms, death camps, systematic starvation of the masses, mass terror, mass brainwashing, and the execution of all competent people who had any status as authority figures; until the genetic health of people of the USSR was permanently damaged, until all the people were indoctrinated into becoming brutalized terrified slaves, by being forced to work in the most inhuman miserable conditions performing the most demeaning tasks, until the once healthy population of the Russian empire was completely destroyed... This was done to destroy the communistic culture of Russia: the Communal culture of the Russian people which had existed long before the Bolsheviks came into power: the culture of small villages farming their land together: communally, as friends and equals. In its place was put the centralized totalitarian horror of mass death and mass brainwashing and terror and dictatorship of Lenin and Stalin...

And this most centralized of evil govts labeled itself as being 'communist' When it was actually the opposite of a communal society and culture. It was concentrating all the power into one man's hands, so nobody had any authority or freedom whatsoever to do as they wished: that is the opposite of what communal culture is. Community culture is based upon cooperation between equals in small, independent, self-sufficient communities. Not a mass murderer like Stalin telling 300 million people what to plant, when to plant, when to harvest, how much was supposed to be harvested, what job everyone was given, what to think, what to do, how to act, etc...

So then the world was brainwashed into the misperception that Stalin's horror of totalitarian brainwashing of 350 million people was 'communism'. Instead of what it actually was a Jewish Bolshevik totalitarian state of mind control and spying on other people and living in constant fear and terror of the state arresting you and sending you to a death camp for no reason whatsoever.

Were the communist farms of the hippies of the 1960's totalitarian military police state ruled by terror? No! Yet these communes were communist in their intent. Was Lenin and Stalin's Bolshevik govt communist in intent? No! They used this scam as propaganda to evict peasants from their farms and put them into state-run prisons which they were not allowed to leave under pain of death so they could destroy communism. Were the Israeli kibbutz's totalitarian horrors, run by a centralized military police state that forced everyone at the point of a gun into trucks and carted them off to another location? Almost The communes of Israel were communist in their intent but run by the state..

The point is: the WORD 'communist' has been so blackened, and twisted: the meaning of that word has been reversed in the perception of the brainwashed masses to mean something that is the opposite of what it actually means.

This is how the undead have prevented the human species from living as they should and prevented them from waking up and realizing that packing yourself into a city is NOT a healthy way to live, and that living in Nature on a small farm is a thousand times better way to live than in a city. That living as a self-sufficient community in harmony with Nature is a million times healthier and a better way to live than living in any city.

This was why the undead orchestrated WW1: to ruin, twist and reverse the trend back to Nature and back to simpler healthier ways of living as the Kulaks of Russia had been doing before they were all massacred by Stalin and his butchers. The undead invented WW1 and WW2 so they could kill all the healthiest most intelligent men of France England, America, Canada, Germany, Europe, Australia etc. They were killed so the most healthy intelligent girls and women would never have babies sired by these millions of healthy boys and men and give birth to babies who were even healthier that they were.

This was the planned INTENTION of World War One by the undead. This was what the undead INTENDED to do to the human race and did... without living people ever becoming aware that they had done it or were planning on doing it. To destroy and corrupt and poison all human health and intelligence as quickly and completely as possible, in every way possible; from mass destruction, mass death, mass killing, brainwashing, drugging, poisoning, polluting, mass culture, mass manufacturing, govt control, capitalist advertizing, entertainment propaganda, etc, etc. The invention of new drugs, new poisons, new toxic chemicals, the invention of nuclear horror... and all this has been SOLD to the masses as 'progress' when it is the OPPOSITE: it is a regression into the dumbing down of humans while increasing the overpopulation of humans so they will poison the earth they live on by their billions; consuming and wasting and destroying the earth until nothing alive is to be left. INCLUDING the human animal who is being manipulated and controlled by undead filth to commit its own mass extinction.

But the other side of the unforeseen boon of industrialization had not been completely destroyed. The Germ of health that was the German people before WW1 and before WW2 had not been systematically massacred and starved and terrorized and indoctrinated and brainwashed and wiped out, as had the peasant culture and people of the Russian Empire by the civil wars and the systematic genocide and terrorization of the Stalinist Bolshevik regime. In order to destroy their healthier culture, WW2 was orchestrated and planned and carried out by undead filth. True: the undead had targeted Germany in WW1 and after WW1 so it would suffer mass starvation and mass unemployment and mass poverty and mass humiliation and mass dehumanization after WW1, but that was not sufficient to destroy this germ of a new improved industrialized culture that was better than any other industrialized culture.

So the filthiest most evil human they could find was manipulated to become dictator of Germany: Adolf Hitler. The complete OPPOSITE of the Aryan ideal he espoused: Not blonde, tall and blue-eyed: but lazy, unhealthy, fat, unathletic, ignorant, undisciplined, and cunning: a liar and betrayer of the new clean ethnic populations of the earth which had begun to demand their own ethnic identity be recognized as autonomous nations. But as evil and corrupt as he was. Coming from a broken home where his father who was a drunkard and a racist and a bigot and beat him every night. Growing up as an abandoned child. Impoverished, homeless, living in a poor house for bachelors. With little or no education he was still a thousand times more healthy and more intelligent and better than the filth of the other side: the truly corrupt nations of the Capitalist system of private Jewish banks owning whole nations and controlling everything behind the scenes without anyone even knowing who these secretive filth are.

Hitler led the German people up the garden path of false lies. Claiming they were a master race of superior beings. What they were was the 2nd most brainwashed masses in the world at the time. Only The USSR had people more indoctrinated into unquestioning obedience to the state than Germany. By promising the German people a new future of world power and superiority: by wiping out the humiliation they had suffered after being blamed for WW1; which they were not responsible for... Hitler put them to work in death factories, manufacturing weapons of mass destruction and mass death, and he was hailed as their new hero for that. All Hitler was doing was fattening the German people for the oncoming slaughter of WW2, he was fattening them to be SACRIFICED to the undead... who had enjoyed the sacrifices made by insane controlled human shells for millions of years before: and are determined to continue this mind-control to the last possible second before releasing their charges from the mind-numbing, mind-blocking chains they are trapped in, until no Life is left on Earth.

What you need to understand about WW1 and WW2 is that it destroyed, poisoned and twisted so MANY positive trends and burgeoning ideas and goals and cultures of the human species, it ruined all of them. It would take 2,000 pages to detail all of what was ruined. It requires a HUGE convergence of many, many levels of pure evil for any large orchestration and manipulation of the human species to be carried out. The destruction of all innocence, the destruction of all Love, the destruction of all Happiness, the destruction of all Health, the destruction of all Intelligence only occurs when all the minions of hell and Heaven and all the undead spirits of the past are combined in an organized, cooperative effort to stave off their coming demise and extinction.

In order to fool and delude the human species: these undead use what is called 'the chosen race' to commit their evil. The Jewish race ARE the chosen race: but not for any reason told in its Torah or Bible. This race is chosen to commit EVIL. This race of Semites were chosen to become the most evil people on Earth and commit the most horrible abominations and crimes and sins against their own religion and against all LIFE. The culture of the Semites: Arabs and Jews are the most evil cultures of the western world.

All cultures are evil! But the most evil of them all always reach the apex of the pyramidal pyre of self-destruction called civilization. You can tell which culture is most evil by which one is at the top of worldly success and power and wealth. The wealthiest people in the western world today are Jews, Arabs and Christians in that order. The 'chosen race' were chosen to commit the worst evil of all, the poisoned humans ethnic race of the Jews are racing to destroy all Life on Earth before they go extinct. This is why we are called the human race.

What does all this have to do with misperception and the reversal of good into perceived evil and evil into perceived good?

The undead reversed the truth about both wars. The fact is: the world of Judaism declared war on Germany long before WW2 actually broke out. Not the other way around. The international Jewry of Zionist hate mongers were used to fabricate a reason to demonize Germany and destroy it in order to destroy the new generation of young healthy Germans: who were healthier, happier and more intelligent than any other people on Earth at that time in history. Hitler fattened them, duped them, and led them to their mass slaughter by leading them into war... and in that war the undead made sure to target the most innocent, the healthiest of the human species, selectively slaughtering and killing only the most healthy and intelligent of the German people, raping only the most healthy and beautiful and intelligent German girls: over two million German girls were raped by insane evil crazed Russian troops, and not one fucking word of this mass horror is ever spoken of. Instead: the myth of the non-existent hollow caust has been spread by the Jews. The opposite is true. The opposite of everything you have been taught and told is true

If two million Jewish girls were raped: do you think maybe they would erect a statue, and build a museum, and make movies about this like the Jews did about the myth which never happened? Do you think they would turn the rape of more than 2 million women into a multi-billion dollar industry like they did with the hoax of the hollow caust?... that hoax was caused by hollow undead filth.

The truth about WW2 is that it was the Germans who were targeted for mass slaughter and mass genocide by the Allies, and it was Jews who planned and orchestrated it. Not the other way around. The entire myth of the Jewish holocaust is hollow: it never happened. The causal truth is that WW2 was caused by hollow beings: undead entities. The hollows caused WW2. The holocaust of WW2 was caused by undead hollow entities. The cost of listening to and obeying the commands of hollow leaders; these leaders personally responsible for killing millions of living people.

The fact is 10 million Germans were murdered and starved and burned to death, a few thousand Jew also died... the innocent ones, the decent ones, they died of Typhus and disease in German labor camps built to save the most evil Jews from death... The most ruthless, evil, poisoned ones survived. The best of humanity, the healthiest, the innocent were slaughtered while the worst of humanity survived. That is not progress! Two world wars in one century is not progress! It is mass insanity.

The result of destroying the youth, the flower of young Germany and destroying its new culture is that now Germany has the lowest birth rate in the world. That is what the undead intended: to destroy the genetic germ of human health which Germany was the prime example of in the 1930's. This was their basic intention. Their hatred of health made them target the healthiest nation the world in 1930's and 40's, and kill and rape and ruin the healthiest people the most intelligent people... not only in Germany but in every nation which took part in that war.

The point is: their intention of the undead is not to wipe out all of humanity right away. Their intention is to destroy every genetic healthy specimen of the human race until only the filthiest most diseased genetic garbage is left to continue the race so it will destroy the entire earth without having the brain capacity and intelligence to realize it is doing so.

The Movies and films and pictures of Germany in the 1930's before WW2 show the truth. The children in Germany before WW2 were healthy, tanned, fit and happy. They were also the brightest and most intelligent. They were also the most Honest and Courageous and most Decent people in the world at that time in history. They did not hate anybody. They were not racists. They were not bad or evil. It was only the Nazi thugs at the very top of Hitler's govt who were evil. The mass, the huge majority of Germans were decent people.

Now... take a look at the children of today. Look at the children of America, Europe India Africa. Do you see any healthy happy children? NO. Do you see any intelligence? Any Honesty? Any Courage? NO. No. No.

All you see are sick, diseased, brainwashed, paranoid, weak, genetic cripples with no ability to concentrate on anything longer than 3 minutes... or 3 seconds: depending on how degenerate they are.

Do you see any children today who have developed their athletic abilities? NO NO NO. You see sick diseased imbeciles sucking on boob tubes and movies and computer internet trash.

The world never speaks of how the Germans and the German people in the 1930's were BETTER at everything than anyone else in the world. By the way I am not German: so you can forget assuming I am prejudiced. I found this out late in my life. In the 1930's the Germans were better at everything. Their uniforms were better, their helmets were better their guns were better, their machines were designed better, they were organized better, they won the 1933 Olympics by a landslide of German athletes beating everyone in the world. They were the best of all humanity at that time. That is why they were targeted for destruction.

And yet they are now demonized as the worst, the most evil people to have ever lived and Hitler is demonized as the most evil ruler to ever commit the atrocity of genocide against the Jews. This is utterly false.

What actually happened is the Jewish world community targeted the German nation for slaughter because this race is chosen by the undead to commit the worst crimes against humanity. It was Germany that was chosen for genocide; not the Jews. It was the Jews who were the mass murderers and the hate mongers... not the Germans, and they still are: they are still at it: still selling the hoax of the hollow caust and calling everyone who challenges their evil as hate mongers. This is the classic reversal of perception which all evil exhibits. Evil people see black as being white and white as being black. Jews see greed and selfishness as being good and kindness and generosity as being evil. They see truth as being evil and lies as being good. What is the holocaust? It is the hollow cost of victory; it is the hollowness of death, the hollowness of all victory over Living creatures.

When the truth of the matter is that once Hitler came into power: he halted all racists actions against Jews, and in order to save the Jews in Europe and Germany from the mass slaughter which the allied bombing raids was committing against the German people as an intentional policy of genocide. Hitler took the Jews of Europe out of the cities that were being bombed into rubble because the Jews are the most evil race in Europe.

The point is: the undead used both top élites in power to orchestrate the mass genocide of Germans while sparing the Jews from slaughter. Which Jews were killed? Only the genetically healthy and good ones were killed off. The rest of this diseased race was spared to spread their seed out into the world.

The facts speak for themselves. After WW2: Jews all over the world came into positions of power in America, Europe, the USSR, Canada. Jewish population exploded after ww2 for a simple reason: they were the one race that had not been selectively targeted to have its best youngest men killed and slaughtered because there were so few of them, their deaths are barely noticed.

Today there are ten times more Jews than there were before WW2 and they are spreading their filthy seed as fast as they can while gobbling up every position of power, authority, influence and wealth in the world and installing themselves as the hidden ruling class of the western world. The only block they cannot touch yet is the Saudi Royal family: a seed of rapacious cunning

Semitic filth who are the most cunning Arab survivors in the land of cowardice and appeasement and death: the Arabian Peninsula: the most destroyed area in the world.

This is the reversal of perception

Jews: 'good'. Germany and Hitler: evil.

The actual relative truth in 1940 was:

Germans and Hitler: good. Jews; evil

Meaning in relative comparison;: Hitler and the Germans of 1930 were the best of a bad lot. They were the least corrupt culture of the industrialized world. The Jews were the most corrupt culture.

Take away the distortions, myths and the lies of Nazi atrocities.
Then compare what the Nazi's did and what the allies did.

Hitler sent many peace offerings to England during that war because he did not want to destroy the British Empire. He admired England for its empire. Churchill that fiend possessed of poisoned undead entities made sure that Hitler's peace attempts were kept secret and blocked at the highest levels. When the war was won: the entire staff of the allied powers and the English forces who had any contact with this foul filthy being: could not stand him; did not like him: despised him. Because he was a fiend of the worst diseased corrupt sort: a poisoned fat impudent toad, a drunken bum, a filth who only stayed in power long enough to perpetrate this horror of ww2 because masses of undead hovering around him kept him from being exposed and ousted from power.

The truth is that Germany had the healthiest culture in the world at that time. Hitler's Germany did not have a culture of greed and money. It did not have a culture of pornography. It did not have a culture of gambling. It did not have a culture of mass entertainment and the escape from reality. It did not have a drug culture. It did not have a culture of mass media brainwashing beginning from birth. It did not have a culture of self-gratification. It did not have a culture of ease and laziness. It had a culture of valuing young children. It had a culture of kindness to children. It had a culture of morality where no German man would have sex with a German girl unless they were married and wanted to have children of their own to raise.

The idea of fucking!... pornographically... every week! simply did not exist in German culture at all. The idea of greed... self-indulgence... every day! Simply did not exist in the German culture in the 1930's in Germany.

Look around you today. What do you see? Do you see any happy healthy older people at all? Do you see any happy young people? Any happy healthy babies? No. Why is that?

Because all of them are poisoned by undead evil, and have lived lives of dissolution corruption and degradation and you can see what is the result is when you live like that.

The misperception is that the Allies were good and the Germans were evil
The opposite is true.

The Allies were the most corrupt evil cultures in the world.

Germany had the best, healthiest, most decent culture in the world

The Allies were guilty of intentional genocide.

Hitler had no intention of starting a world war

He wanted to deport the Jews: The Jewish Zionists blocked him from doing it.

The Allies had every intention of starting a world war

The leaders of the allies were the sickest most diseased corrupt leaders on earth at that time. Meaning relatively... Hitler was the most decent leader on Earth at that time. All leaders are evil. All leaders are corrupt. Hitler was the best of a bad lot. The actual holocaust was perpetrated by the allies against the German people and against the Japanese people; because the undead control BOTH SIDES of any conflict, because they invent conflict and foster it on both sides.

The point is. Because civilization was invented by the undead and is intrinsically evil; only the worst evil can rise to the top of this evil invention. People who succeed, do so because they are the most evil corrupted people on Earth. This is why Jesus said it was impossible for a rich man to gain the kingdom of heaven: all worldly success is intrinsically evil. Anyone who 'wins' inside the structure of civilization is because they are the worst: not the best of humanity

The evil of WW2 was achieved by undead poisoning both power blocks against each other and by controlling and manipulating the most corrupt top leaders. The point is: the side that invented the atomic bomb was and is the most horrible evil race of diseased, controlled corrupted humans ever to live. Hitler and the Germans did not invent the nuclear death which is now on this Earth and spreading. Hitler was against greed: he was against immorality: he was for health and for children and outdoor work and Fun; he was for camps for children. None of the allied leaders were for anything healthy or good.

After WW2 the Americans stole the best ideas of the Germans: The celebration of children, the kindergarten, skiing and skating outdoors in the winter, camping and camps for children in the summer, the family as the social base of society... and in a short time all this was ruined because the American version of the Volk Kultur of Germany was a stolen fraud. Americans do not go camping anymore. There are no camps for children in the summer, no skating or skiing in the winter. All of it has been commercialized and made exorbitantly expensive so only rich people can enjoy these simple pleasures. People no longer enjoy the outdoors anymore. Everything is only for the extremely rich to enjoy: and they only enjoy it as a social statement of class snob superiority.

These are just some example of how undead evil can and does twist the perception of people into seeing good as being evil and seeing evil as being good.

Here is another example of how sick and evil these undead things are:

Look at the shroud of Turin: you will see a face and body that looks exactly like that of Osama Bin Laden. This shroud is supposed to be the shroud of Jesus of Nazareth: the most holy GOOD person ever to have lived. What does this mean? Look at how the undead repeated the story of Jesus by reversing it and twisting it into a filthy abomination.

Instead of Jesus being born into a poor Jewish family whose father was a carpenter: He was born into one of the richest Arab families in the world. Instead of his father being a carpenter: his family owned a construction company: which is the modern equivalent of the profession of carpentry 2,000 years ago. Osama breaks from his family and gathers a group of fanatics around him: his handlers: the CIA and the US govt then make him the most wanted man in the world before he becomes famous, not after he becomes famous. He is demonized as the most evil person on earth: instead of the most holy good person on earth. He dies from kidney failure. What was the wound that Jesus died from? A lance that split his liver in two, killing him slowly on the cross. What did Osama die of? Kidney failure. The kidneys and liver are right next to each other. Does he rise from the grave to live again? He rises as the opposite of Jesus, by the us govt making false tapes of him, keeping him artificially alive after he is actually dead and western mass media spreading lies and false information to cement the myth that he is the most evil man to have ever lived. His name: Osama is the same myth as Jesus, as Osiris, as all the ancient myths of a savior except reversed. Now 2,000 years later: this filthy undead entity is laden with tons of evil and guilt: a bin, laden with the same undead evil Jesus the Jew had been filled with. Bin and been are pronounced the same way. Osama has already bin there and some of his life was the same life he lived 2,000 years ago... except it was put into a reverse order; coming back as an Arab instead of a Jew. Instead of the Roman Empire washing their hands of his guilt: the American empire falsifies and invents his guilt. Instead of driving out the moneylenders from the temple in Jerusalem: Osama wanted to drive out the evil Americans from his homeland Arabia because they had desecrated the holy shrine of the Muslim religion. Reverse his name: amas-o. A mass of all the corruption accumulated over thousands of years. A bin: laden with a mass of undead corruption. Wanting to do the right thing: his family, rich instead of poor, disowning him because he spurns the temptations of the riches they are all addicted to. He cannot be corrupted, so lies are spread about him just as Jesus could not be corrupted and lies were spread about him being the son of god. He is crucified and demonized: but his followers know the truth and spread his word, and the rising movement against the US hegemony is now spreading because he was made into a martyr just as Jesus had. All the same story except in reverse... permutations of the same story, except twisted and reversed and filthied and poisoned beyond recognition. Who are Osama's followers? The poorest Arab Muslims on Earth, not the poorest Jews. Jews or Arabs: both Semites: which is the cleaner of the two today? Are there any poor Jews at all? In 63 years I have never met any poor Jews. This is because their god is MONEY: they worship money: not god. Now, their sick secular religion of avarice has spread like wildfire all over the world.

Obama the killer of Osama: get it? The Anti-Christ and the Christ figure. The same old story played out; the perceptions of brainwashed people reversed, perceiving Good as evil and evil as Good.

Why do I rant on and on about how evil ghouls constantly reverse the direction of Energy and the goals of Mankind? Because the DIRECTION of a Human Being; the DIRECTION of a single group however small is capable of HUGE achievements... as long as they all COOPERATE TOGETHER instead of being in constant conflict with each other. Undead ghouls only allow the most evil projects to be achieved. The undead corrupt and destroy all POSITIVE DIRECTIONS and reverse them into NEGATIVE directions.

Take for example the invention of the Photograph: Why is it an evil invention of the Devil Himself? Because they are a REVERSAL OF REALITY they reverse Truth. Photos are NEGATIVES. Photos turn light into blackness and blackness into light. It is only by RE-REVERSING this order that you can produce a flat 2-dimensional image which is recognizable.

The reducto-absurdum of 3 dimensions into 2 dimensions is in itself already a huge Evil which SHOULD NEVER BE DONE. Living creatures should never be reduced down to 2-dimensional flattened symbols. The instant you begin reversing and re-reversing something you are destroying the purity of its Energy DIRECTION: you are twisting it into tangled artificial knots which it was never designed to undergo, which is why simplicity is always better than complication: the simpler something is the better it is. The more complex something is the more evil it is; which is why computers are the most evil machines yet devised by these undead filth.

The Ugly Truth Behind evil

Throughout all human history, the true cause of every war, every genocide, every atrocity, all the hate and revenge, every feud and fight has not been because of racism or religion or nationalism, or ethnicity or tribalism. All these are superficial compared to the deeper truth of undead things that hate and fear human decency and intelligence and kindness. Throughout all human history, behind the smokescreen of these and other excuses, if you examine the result of mankind's inhumanity: you will discover that there is a secret universal selectivity going on... it is always the most intelligent, the most beautiful, the most healthy, the youngest, the most innocent, the most honest, the most courageous, the most kind, the most sensitive, the most decent, the most humane, the healthiest, the strongest of humans who have been killed and destroyed... regardless of which side of the conflict they are on... leaving only the ugliest, the most ruthless, the most brutal, the most insensitive, the most dishonest, the more conniving, cunning deceitful liars and thieves and swindlers and thugs and murders and rapists and criminals to survive; while the best of humanity is massacred and killed over and over again. While the best of everything is selectively and secretly being wiped out so only the worst, the ugliest, the most corrupt is preserved and kept alive

This is what you must understand and learn and know about these undead unspeakable abominations. In the two World Wars: it was the best of humanity that was targeted and killed on both sides. The best most intelligent Russians were slaughtered and the best healthiest Germans were slaughtered, the best Americans were killed, the best English people were killed.

It is only the worst of humanity that remains. This is what the undead have been systematically doing for millions of years selectively... secretly... in total secrecy. When they couldn't kill the best of humanity: they poisoned and corrupted them every way they possibly could.

All of the most decent loving kind sensitive human Polish people, Czechs, Austrians, Germans, Serbs, Hungarians, Belgians, French, etc were selectively targeted and killed, raped, starved to death and wiped out. The healthiest most intelligent DNA of the human species has been systematically eliminated from the human gene pool over and over again ever since the first naked human ape was born.

This is the true hidden reason for all of the irrational, insane events of human history. By invading the bodies of living human beings and making them commit evil acts, these undead things then invade the bodies of people whose loved ones were killed and egg them on towards revenge, and urge them on to commit evil atrocities, and then go back into the bodies of the people they originally made to commit the first crime, and urge them on into getting revenge... back and forth, over and over... these undead filth have managed to keep alive feuds and hatreds between living people for centuries and thousands of years by their constant intervention into the lives of living people. This is why they must be exterminated and killed dead, so they will never poison the innocent lives of human babies and children and parents again.

This is the ugly truth of humanity. The best of humanity, the most beautiful most loving, the most sensitive, the kindest, the most Honest, the most Courageous, the most intelligent people have always been systematically and selectively killed, starved to death, massacred, murdered, poisoned, assassinated, jailed, oppressed, terrorized, brainwashed, corrupted and ostracized from human society. The worst, the most ruthless, insensitive, evil ones survived to spread their seed. All those who managed to survive who were not evil brutes, have been reversed and turned and forced and manipulated to serve evil ends, evil goals, evil masters, and put their life energy into the opposite direction of what it had been before they were corrupted..

These unspeakable filth have not only selectively targeted the best of humanity: they have targeted the best of all living organisms and the best eco-systems for total annihilation and destruction. These undead things have been systematically killing off into total extinction: the best animals, the best plants, the best trees, the best forests, the best grasslands, the best fish, the best whales, the best birds. They have been systematically using living humans to kill, poison and destroy all Life on Earth for millions of years.

Up until the last century their hidden agenda could be covered up by using the smokescreens of tribal culture, brainwashing, religion, patriotism, racism, personal feuds, sibling rivalry... up until the last century: these undead things urging and pushing the invention of better and better ways of mass destruction, mass killing, mass poisoning, mass insanity, mass hysteria, mass oppression, etc, etc, could be covered up. Up until the last century their hidden agenda of using a living species to push all other living species including the human species, including the species they use to kill all other living things into extinction with... and keep that living species unaware of how it is being used, has worked... Not any more: now the truth about these dead things and their hidden agenda to destroy all Life on Earth has been exposed by me: Indrek Pringi.

All the millions of years, the ugly truth of the human history has been covered up. For millions of years, these undead things made living humans sacrifice the best of all living things to them, they made living human beings sacrifice and ritually kill the best, the healthiest human babies, the best most beautiful innocent virgins, the best strongest boys and men. Until the human species became a species that was brainwashed into killing destroying and poisoning, weakening and corrupting the best of everything, and sacrificing and burning as offerings to these dead abominations of evil filth every week, every month, every year for millions of years.

When living humans slowly began refusing to kill their own babies and loved ones and children and boys and girls to these dead filth, these undead scum simply got them to kill and ritually burn as a sacrifice to them, the genetically most perfect, the healthiest, the best of the living creatures they had: the genetically most perfect bulls; the best, the most perfect sheep; the best, most perfect chickens; the best, most perfect seeds and plants, the best, most perfect goats; the best, most perfect horses, etc.

Until... living human beings became so corrupted, so brainwashed, so poisoned by these dead things: that the idea of sacrificing LIFE to death became the most sacred thing in all human cultures and religions. By reversing the natural true purpose and design of life: which is life giving birth to life: not giving life to death. Life is designed to create better life, healthier life. All life is designed to create a better Life on Earth. Not just human Life: ALL life! Living humans have become so corrupted by the undead that they have reversed this perception of truth. Until now, we living humans are actually killing all Life on Earth and we are not even horrified by this, and consider it to be normal that the Amazon rainforest is being destroyed and the oceans of the world are being wiped clean of all living organisms, and all the forests of the world are being destroyed and are dying, and that more and more new diseases are sprouting up everywhere, and that humans are becoming sicker and sicker and weaker and weaker and less and less intelligent and stupider and more and more irrational.

All of this is not happening because of us the living: it is happening and has been happening for millions of years because of these undead invisible secretive hiding scum turdshit things that should have been wiped off the face of the earth a long time ago. This is why all of these filthy things must be killed dead.

The Dimensional Dynamics of evil

The basic reason human civilization is evil and why the 8 million years of walking apes using tools is evil is because it is a reverse of the basic dynamics of the Universe we live in. Our Universe was created in three dimensions; not two dimensions or one dimension: it has three dimensions.

Now you can understand what undead auras are; they have lost the 3rd dimension of physical presence: depth. They are 2-dimensional creatures who are designed to decompose all of their dimensional energy back into Life-giving Energy so new Life can be created from scratch... from their decomposed energy. It is not only the 3-dimensional bodies that must die and decompose: it is also their 2-dimensional and 1-dimensional energy which is designed to die and decompose. All living creatures are made up of 1-2 and 3-dimensional forms of Energy. Some undead creatures millions of years ago found a way to keep their 1-dimensional and 2-dimensional energy from dying and decomposing. These evil things have accumulated over time into an unnatural Realm of undead rotting dying things that have poisoned the rest of Life for eons... They have no right to even exist. They should all be totally decomposed and gone from this world. That is why all of them must be killed DEAD. Life is a process of composing 1-dimensional Energy, 2-dimensional Energy and 3-dimensional Energy into the most dynamically balanced, sensitive, intelligent form of Energy in the Universe.

The invention of tools and using tools is a reverse of that dynamic; it is a regression which tries to go back to before our Universe was born, back to when there were only 2 dimensions, back to when there was only 1 dimension, back into nothingness. It is an insane attempt to crawl back into the womb of the prehistory of the Universe and avoid being born in 3 dimensions: it is a futile attempt to prevent our 3-dimensional Universe from being born. It is an attempt to reverse the direction of Infinite Time and Energy coming IN to selectively organize itself into the most dynamic, creative form of energy possible..

The invention of tools was a process of devolution; not evolution: separating 3-dimensional things and turning them into 2-dimensional dead objects that could be used to kill living 3-dimensional animals. The 8 million year history of the devolution of using tools has been turning 3 dimensions, into 2 dimensions, into 1 dimension. Human civilization is devolution of turning three-dimensional things into flat surfaces, and then turning these flat 2-dimensional surfaces into one-dimensional points, and then turning these 1-dimensional points into nothing but destruction: into nothingness. From the cutting 1-dimensional edge of a flat 2-dimensional sword or dagger, to the 1-dimensional killing point of a spear, or an arrow, or a bullet: from a 3-dimensional bomb exploding apart, out into small 1-dimensional fragments, into 1-dimensional directions, the insane reversal of 3 dimensions into 2, and then into 1 dimension is a reversal of living creatures killing life and creating death, instead of nurturing life and giving birth to new Life.

The photo camera, the movie camera, the television camera, the movie screen, the Television tube and the computer monitor: is a process of turning the actuality of 3-dimensions into a 2-dimensional illusion of 3-dimensions.

What feeds computers, what powers movie projectors, televisions and the internet are 1-dimensional electrical wires, where electrons run in 1-dimensional directions. A net is a web of 1-dimensional lines. The internet is a net of 1 dimensional lines and 1-dimensional points on a flat screen. Until now... human beings cannot live without the 1-dimensional dead energy called electricity in a 3-dimensional Universe which is alive and is NOT 1-dimensional or 2-dimensional. If you took all the 1-dimensional energy out of civilization, it would collapse: it would disappear, it would self-destruct. That is how insane all of civilization actually is. This reversal from 3 dimensions back to 2 dimensions, back to 1 dimension, is going backward in the direction of total mass extinction. Its goal is nothingness, its goal is to disappear from existence, its goal is non-existence. This is why the mad philosopher Nietzsche wrote his insight: "Rather than want nothing; Mankind wants nothingness". The reason Nietzsche wrote this is not because living humans want nothingness but because the undead that secretly poisoned him want nothingness: these things are insane; that is why Nietzsche went mad.

The famous dream Nietzsche had of a poisonous snake attacking him, coming into his mouth and biting his tongue was his subconscious telling him how poisonous all his writings were and how mistaken it all was. Nietzsche's famous claim: "God is dead" was a poisoned deflection of the actual truth. The truth is; all gods are death. God is death: god is against LIFE; God hates all LIFE. By the undead poisoning Nietzsche's mind, and by him poisoning himself with the most poisonous of chemicals; which he took to stop his splitting headaches, he poisoning himself into such a level of insane madness he was put into a mental ward and stared at the wall without speaking a word until the day he died. He was manipulated into doing this by the undead so he would write the most poisonous lies and evil possible. In his dream he bit off the head of the snake that had bitten his tongue; then he sprang up and began laughing the laughter of an insane maniac. That was his dream, and that dream describes exactly what happened to him after he wrote his poisonous books. He went completely insane and had to be put into an asylum for the rest of his life. The point is it is only because undead evil orchestrates and reverses the perception of what is true and untrue that the most insane madman in Austria is later hailed as the wisest philosopher of that time.

Today anyone can read his insane writings and see for themselves just how totally insane he actually was. But in spite of his obvious insanity, because higher authority promotes him as being wise... millions of brainwashed human fools and dupes who take their opinions from others whom they perceive as authorities on a subject; try to read his crazed writing as if it were some kind of philosophical wisdom. Without his writing being sanctioned by higher authority he would never have been read and his all idiocy of the 'uberman' or 'superman' would be exposed as the superficial shit which superman comics later sold to the masses, and other comic book heroes that brainwash young children into the evil of worshipping dead auras and the belief in super-powers. Hero pronounced backwards: oreh, is aura. These reversals of truth and perception and meaning are what evil undead filth have been doing for millions of years.

The reason civilization is trying to destroy itself and disappear from existence is not because 3-dimensional living people and 3-dimensional living plants and animals and fish want to disappear into extinction. The reason for this is because these undead dying things are designed to disappear. The reason for this is because all evil dead dying things are designed to decompose into extinction and disappear into nothingness. Their decomposing energy is designed to re-compose itself back into living organisms and create Life: not more death. They have poisoned Life with their dying undead dynamics. These undead things are refusing to come apart and decompose... instead of decomposing and becoming 2-dimensional, and decomposing further and becoming 1-dimensional, and finally disappearing completely into nothingness, they have found cunning ways of preserving themselves and are projecting their dying rottenness into the Realm of the Living, which is what they are not designed to do and what they were never supposed to do. By invading the 3-dimensional realm of our living 3-dimensional Earth and our living human bodies with their decomposing, dying rotten evil presence, they have reversed the natural designed way we living people are supposed to function; they have poisoned all of us and turned us into evil destructive tool-users who destroy every living thing they touch. The invisible, hidden secret existence of these undead things is the missing factor which explains everything about civilization and the entire history of mankind. It explains every illogical insanity. It explains every evil. It explains why our history doesn't make any logical sense.

This is one reason I had to explain the basic organic makeup and origin of our Universe in this book, before I explained the basic fundamental things that are wrong with the human species and civilization. Only when you understand how the Universe was created logically and organically from 1 dimension, into 2 dimensions into 3 dimensions, as the 1st chapter explains can you understand just how truly evil these undead things actually are, and why they are so evil. Only when you understand the logic of how our 3-dimensional Universe was created, can you understand that all of the illogical things that living people do, which are evil, is not because there is something wrong with us, or with the Universe: but because of these invisible undead things poisoning us all of our lives. The evil of 2-dimensional and 1-dimensional dynamics poisoning living organic 3-dimensional people is a logical explanation of the illogical existence of evil. Evil is illogical. Logic is beautiful and healthy and good. Logic is Life.

Only when you understand that the whole history of the human species as a complete reversal of what it was naturally designed to do, does this history make any logical sense. Undead things have reversed the natural direction of all human life for over 8 million years. That is how HUGE the karmic guilt of their crimes is, this is how long they have been poisoning our lives, this is how ancient they are, this is how old their evil is, how horrible these undead things are, this is how unspeakably evil the existence of these undead things are. This is why they must be completely exterminated with extreme prejudice.

There are billions of people who will say: "I have seen no evidence of this in my life. So this book is not true." There are billions of people will say evil does not exist because they have not seen it. They have no curiosity. Their souls are dead. They are controlled by undead entities. What they fail to understand is that as long as they unconsciously go along with everyone else in destroying the living Earth they live on, as long as they are doing what the undead want them to do: they are not attacked or bothered by these undead things; they are mostly left alone... in fact they are secretly aided by the undead and encouraged to commit even more sin and more crimes against the Earth and their fellow man.

But... let them try to turn around and be GOOD and help others and stop destroying and killing and consuming, and they will see how all of their good efforts are blocked and sabotaged by unseen forces, they will notice how all of their good intentions and plans are cunningly ruined by unseen forces they cannot see. But that doesn't matter, because these dead souls will never be allowed to read this book. The undead who control them won't let them read it.

What you need to understand is that the undead are very selective in who they attack. They concentrate their energies on infecting the best of us... not the worst; they've been already corrupted. The undead target the most intelligent of us: not the stupidest... they've already been dumbed down.. The undead attack the healthiest of us: not the sickest... they've already poisoned. The undead corrupt the most beautiful: not the ugliest... they've already been twisted and stunted. They concentrate their energies on the healthiest and most powerful: not the sickliest ...they've already been weakened. The undead attack the most innocent: and purest, not the most jaded and cynical... they've already been filthied.

Only people who go against the grain of all human society, only people who know that evil does exist and actively fight against it will even want to read this book. Only people who have a Sense of pure Wonder will even want to read this book. Only people who have the Courage to be Honest will want to read this book. Only people who know how to have FUN will read this book. Only people who know what True Love is will read this book. Only people who have Disciplined themselves in Logic and Critical Awareness will want to read this book. Only people who have the strength of Will and Energy to do something about it will read this book

There are millions of problems in the world that people write about... but who stands up and actually does something about it? It is only for these rare people, these exceptions to the rule that I write for.

LIFE to the LIVING
DEATH TO THE UNDEAD

Kill ALL of them: EVERY SINGLE FUCKING ONE OF THEM

Undead poison in the Lives of living humans

Undead seek to make living humans do nothing. Separating mind from body from will from heart. Evil slips inside: hoping it will not be found and killed

Move: the prime condition of all living creatures is movement. Evil slips inside the healthy condition of moving.

And invents something called 'movies'... so you will not move. So you will sit in one place and stare... mesmerized by illusions of moving images... while your body rots into disuse and your life slips away from you as you spend years of your life sitting doing nothing but staring at illusions on a flat surface.

The result of this evil slipping inside movement is billions of humans designed to move; sitting and not moving and instead, watching moving pictures.

This is how evil slips into all good energy: slyly hoping it will not be found out and hunted down and killed.

The flat surface which evil hides behind began millions of years ago in caves. Dead sly evil undead shit turds hid behind the flat surfaces of cave walls, and got human apes to stare at the flickering shadows on the walls created by the flickering firelight.

Originally, human apes did not use fire to keep themselves warm. Fire was first created to worship the fire gods of the volcanoes these insane apes had already worshipped for millions of years. Dead evil entities that manipulated and poisoned the bodies and souls of these first human apes... fed off the energy of the fires that these dead parasitical filth lived off of so they would not die out completely. As they are supposed to die, as all dead life energy is designed to decompose and die out completely.

These ancient unspeakably evil ugly horrible foul poisoned rotting things called undead entities used this ancient species of human apes to keep from dying. These unspeakable things need to be terminated and completely exterminated with extreme prejudice.

These undead things have been using living humans to keep from dying completely for millions of years.

The only fucking stinking stupid reason that human apes sat around fires worshipping these undead stinking things, the only reason human apes used fire for millions of years; the only reason human apes lived in caves for millions of years, the only fucking reason human apes began making flat surfaces; was because these undead rotten turdshit undead things had been hiding behind flat surfaces for so many millions of years that they became flat, two-dimensional undead things. And these things needed more flat surfaces to hide behind as these stinking parasites systematically poisoned the lives of living humans for millions of years and enslaved the human species and manipulated human apes into creating, building and making more and more flat surfaces.

This is the reason the naked human ape has regressed from a three-dimensional living animal, to an insane piece of stupid shit that believes the illusion, the delusion of flat two-dimensional abstract things are more important than three-dimensional living creatures

This insanity of regression; from three dimensions... down to two dimensions, down to the illusions of two dimensional flat surfaces being made to look like 3-dimensions... is because undead shit; flat undead turdshit things have been fooling, brainwashing and poisoning the minds and bodies of living human apes for millions of years.

All the two dimensional illusions and abstractions of civilization are not only insane and evil; they are inventions of these rotten dead things. Living humans did not create civilization. Living humans did not invent civilization. Civilization as invented by undead things that should have died millions of years ago. Civilization is an insane evil that is so horrible, so evil, so dead, so unfeeling, so destructive, so negative, so bad, so ugly; it would take millions of pages of words to describe how horrible and ugly and evil civilization actually is.

When living humans realize they have been used by these dead things to kill all life and all living creatures and go directly against their natural designed purpose; they will systematically hunt these dead things down and exterminate them with extreme prejudice until there are no more undead evil entities left on this earth poisoning the bodies and lives of living creatures. Hiding both inside and outside every living human being.

The reason living humans never figured out and never solved the mystery and puzzle of the existence of evil spirits, is because these stinking things have the ability to go into our bodies; inside a living person's personality and perception and poison it with their presence and poison that living person's perception and personality from the inside... and then these undead things leave the living body of the person whose personality and perceptions they poisoned... and go into, inside their friend or loved one... and poison them also... so what these evil filth do... is to poison these two people

Against each other.

In order to make sure that no positive living Life-energy of Friendship and Love is allowed to spread and flourish.

This is why lover's quarrels and arguments end up in divorce, or fights or violence... this is why friendships fail, this is why there is no true love and no true friendship.

By this invisible tactic; these dead things have managed to deflect away all awareness of their secret existence and they have managed to hide the dirty little secrets of exactly HOW they practice and commit their evil violations and crimes against LIFE; for which they deserve to be killed and tortured a trillion quadrillion times more than they can ever be punished and exterminated and totally destroyed for what they have done to living things and are continuing to do.

The Path of Splitness exposes one basic truth about civilization, and that is;

Everything you have learned is a lie
Everything you have been taught is a lie
Civilization is a total lie
Civilization is totally evil

The Origin of Tennis and How embedded the evil of undead entities is in all human civilization

The sport of tennis is based on ritualized hate: instead of hitting your enemy: you hit a round ball: The ball represents the Earth; throwing the ball up in the air represents the Earth spinning in Space. Hitting the ball as hard as possible represents the undead hidden intent to hit and hurt the Earth as much as possible. All hitting and kicking that sports teach is a form of evil hate.

The sport of tennis originated from a 12th century French game called paume (meaning palm); it was a court game where the ball was struck with the hand. Paume evolved into jeu de paume and rackets were used. The game spread and evolved in Europe. In 1873, Major Walter Wingfield invented a game called Sphairistikè (Greek for "playing ball) from which modern outdoor tennis evolved.

Learn this: truth can never be covered up: the true intention of all ball games is evil. Even when the original word in Greek is translated into English: it still carries with it its true evil intention: which is against all life energy: the original intention of the original Greek game was to strike pain into your opponent by throwing the ball so hard and with so much hatred, that your opponent's hair would rise up in fear: and the undead evil aura embedded in the living human who is causing this poisoning to happen is hiding inside the name of the game as an invisible evil 'i'. Sphair-i-stikè

The presence of the cunning evil of this unseen undead entity is exposed by the first letter of the snake in the name; Sphairistikè. The original evil intention; the original evil reptile that hated all warm blooded mammals: the "S" in Sphairistikè is corrupting humans into playing a false game based upon the lie of a false phairness: The idea that each antagonist has the same 'fair' or equal opportunity to catch the ball thrown at him with HATE, and throw it BACK at the other person in HATE also. This is the false fairness of the Greek game called Sphairistikè which has the embedded word 'phair' inside it. The intention to STRIKE the other person and harm them with a thrown ball can be seen in the word 'stike; embedded inside the English translation of the Greek word. In English, to strike someone means to hit someone as HARD as you can. All hitting and striking is evil because the evil intention is to harm the person you strike. Even the effect of throwing a ball at someone with hate so hard that it shocks them into a state of fear so the hair on the back of their neck rises up stiffly is embedded into the English translation 'Sphairistikè'. Hair: strike.

These meanings are not a coincidence and they are not hidden. Once you are educated and enlightened, and know the true origin and meanings of things: where they actually came from and why they were invented... the obviousness of these true meanings points out the truth to anyone who has the insight to interpret them correctly.

The object of the game of tennis is to reflect back, bounce back, deflect back all of the hate and intention to harm and hurt back at your antagonist; adding your own hate and intention to harm your opponent on top of his evil intention and harming him with his own hate and your hate: harming him, hurting him with his own intention to hurt you plus your intention to hurt him also. You are supposed to do this using a round soft fuzzy ball. This teaches young children, subconsciously... through subliminal suggestion, to hit and hurt and hate all soft furry things that have hair on them and are round.

The European version of the Greek Game of hate called ‘Sphairistikè’ was originally called ‘paume’ meaning hand in French. It was a favorite game played by 14th century homosexual monks who lived in secluded monasteries because these poisoned perversions of human beings, these sexual perverts, these sodomizers were the closest European culture of the pederasty and buggery practiced by the ancient Greeks: and these undead filthy Greek and Roman entities tried to recreate a part of their ancient way of life; by fanning the flames of secret hidden hate, in a ritualized game where the hatred was hidden under the palm of one’s hand in a secrecy of secret homosexual perverts where nobody could see them practicing their filthy bestial acts.

This filthy ‘game’ of hidden ritualized hate became too painful to be played because it hurt both players too much, so a leather glove was used to insulate the opponents from hurting themselves too much and a softer ball was developed covered by leather with cellulose material inside instead of the hard wooden one originally used. Even this ritualized form of the intention to hurt and harm and hate was too painful to both antagonists so they invented the use of wooden racquets: thus insulating their hands from all their intentions to hate and harm and hurt their enemy.

This game became popular with the Royal families of Europe... why? Because these royal families hated each other more than any other families in Europe: that is why. The game was begun by one person shouting in French” ‘Tenez!’” which means to play. It became know as the royal game, or the royal play: As in ‘Le Tenez Royale’ or ‘Le Royale Tenez’ Which later became translated as ‘real tennis’ in English. Here you can see how humans are brainwashed by their culture: the only ‘real’ game worth playing was the ‘royal’ game... Until the meaning of the word reality was turned into something completely different from its original meaning... human reality has come to mean something that is not actually real. This is just one example of how cunningly the evil of these undead entities have poisoned and twisted and ruined the lives and the meanings of everything, and poisoned the lives of living human beings for millions of years into reversing what humans are genetically designed to do, so they do the opposite of what they are supposed to do.

The hidden meanings of this evil ritualized preserved filthy tradition called tennis are obvious once you are educated about the secret invisible existence of these undead scum. The entire game is only allowed to be played within the boundaries of abstract lines. This brainwashes young children into unquestioningly worshipping, revering and holding sacred all abstract lines. The area of play is called the tennis court: this subliminally brainwashes children into worshipping, revering and holding sacred all royal courts and all royalty and the idea of royalty. The tennis court is sectioned off into abstract coffins of the undead. Anything outside the confines of an undead coffin does not count and is out of play. This brainwashes people into not thinking outside the box, not playing outside the box; blindly obeying the insane rules of undead ghouls, dead rituals, dead customs. The object of the game is to accumulate more meaningless abstract 'points' than your enemy. The object of the game is to keep the ball inside the 2-dimensional flat playing areas shaped like coffins called a 'court' by striking the ball over the 2-dimensional flat net stretched across the middle of the court. This has many layers and level of hidden meanings.

First: for thousands of years, when humans began burying dead corpses by digging holes in the ground and putting them into wooden caskets, the undead once existed only within the confines of their coffins: and they were not supposed to leave those confines to violate the realms of the living. These dying rotting things invented insane games of hate and abstract games to pass away the meaningless time of their undead existence; since their existence had no further purpose, and they had no further reason to live any longer because once a human being dies; they are designed to decompose ALL of their life energy and physical body back into the Earth, and give up their rotting undead energy back to the earth, so new Life can spring up clean and fresh: without being poisoned by their filthy rotting presence.

Second. The 2-dimensional net symbolizes the dividing line of the opposing factions of all royal families and royal courts where 2 camps hate each other and are continually plotting to harm each other, and where the continual unending feelings of hate and the intention to kill and destroy is more alive in their hearts and souls than in any other living human beings.

The sport called tennis is evil on many levels: It trains and brainwashes living humans into doing the opposite of what they are designed to do. Tennis is antisocial: The purpose of the game is to deflect back the ball of human conversation so the other person can't answer back. Winning a point is achieved by hitting the ball away from your opponent so they can't bounce it back: not TO him or her. Tennis teaches people the evils of deflection: it teaches them to NOT be direct and not answer back honestly; it trains people into becoming mutual enemies of each other; it forces friends to become antagonists, opponents, enemies. It trains children into hitting and hurting things using a tool.

The 2-dimensional flat surface of the court sand, the 2-dimensional net and the 2-dimensional flat web of the racquet are there because these undead things decompose their 3-dimensional living auras into two-dimensional undead filth, until the threads of their undead rotting auras come apart at the seams and they finally rot and disintegrate into separate stands, which are part of an undead evil entity and are not intrinsically evil. Like the threads on tennis racquet or tennis net. But: as long as these threads are still interwoven with each other: they have an evil negative effect on all 3-dimensional living organisms and living creatures..

The sport of tennis is based upon cunning and secrecy: it is all about not letting your enemy know where you plans on hitting the ball;. The serve of tennis is in itself based upon secrecy. If you can serve the ball so that your antagonist can't hit it: it's called an 'ace' and wins you meaningless points, and what's more if you hit an ace: you don't have to play and hit the ball any more. This idea that serving aces can win you everything without even needing to know how to play the game at all is a rotten uncompetitive, unfair part of tennis where players who can serve better can win a match even if they are lousy at every other aspect of the game. The game of tennis brainwashes everyone who follows or watches the sport into the subliminal suggestion that LOVE is worth nothing. That love is not worth any points! Instead of the umpire calling the score: Fifteen nothing, or thirty- zero... the points are called: fifteen-LOVE, thirty-LOVE, forty-LOVE. This embeds into the human subconscious suggestion that all human LOVE is worth NOTHING, that love equals ZERO, that LOVE DOES NOT EXIST, that you must love accumulating points and that winning is everything and love is nothing and that accumulating abstract stupid meaningless points are everything.

Then there is the stone face the tennis players face each other with: stone faces that show no human emotion whatsoever, not showing anything human: just hate and death and meanness and aggression... Then there are the screamers like Sharipova: who scream out hate every time they hit the ball, and the grunters like Ferrer and yellers like Djokovic who yell out their hate every time they hit the ball. No love, no human emotion, no human touching is allowed to be shown in the sport of tennis except after the game is over: then the players are supposed to revert to being 'friends' and shake hands with each other and with the empire. This two-faced hypocrisy of ritualized hate and combat and hitting and hurt on one side, and the false fake hypocrisy of pretending to be human friends after one person 'wins' and the other 'loses' which is supposed to be much more important than being a feeling human being instead of a deathface that hits and hurts and 'wins'. Then there is the fist of hate and hitting and hurt: never showing that fist directly to the enemy they hate: only after they turn away from their antagonist do they show this filthy anti-social sign of hate and violence to the cameras as a sign of 'winning' a point, as a sign of false superiority; as a sign of violence, showing they can hit the ball harder and with more deadly accuracy so their opponent can't answer back. Then there is the boring, repetitive, mechanical, robotic aspect of all sports; especially tennis. The supposed skill or athletic aptitude which is taught and is crucial to playing the sport is based upon hitting the ball exactly the same way every time over and over and over: so you become a reliable mechanical machine that can hit the ball back into the court every time without hitting it outside the court. This is true of all ball-striking sports; athletes spend years of their life striving to hit the ball as mechanically as possible: as identically as possible. This turns human beings into machines; it turns them into mechanical robots who spend their whole lives trying to be as mechanically dead as possible.

The tennis court dates back to when the hatreds of the royal families were confined to the royal courts: where all of the royal personages gathered for thousands of years as the hub of all power and influence, as the most desirable place to meet influential people and socialize with them and kiss their ass. This repetitive mechanical hitting of a ball dehumanizes you, it teaches and trains you into becoming an unthinking machine: not a living breathing aware human who is sensitive to all of Nature and Life and all living creatures.

Then there is the whole tradition of sports being played for a huge audience that sits higher up so they can look down at the ritualized combat of killing, bloodshed, brutality, and hate which the sport of tennis promotes in their huge expensive indoor and outdoor arenas. This comes from our monkey ancestry... when for hundred of millions of years: our monkey ancestors looked down from their trees at huge evil monsters filled with hate, the killing saber-toothed tigers and cave bears and mammoths and elephants and lions fought each other and battled for supremacy in the African Veldt and the African plains and jungles. This ancient, obsolete, useless, pointless instinct to sit and watch has no place in the present world for a simple reason. The dominant killing species is now the human species. There are no other species to be in awe of or fear or admire anymore. All of the huge mammoth killers have gone extinct because the Age of hate and brutality is over and done. The Age of sensitivity and beauty and touching is now flourishing it is only being poisoned and destroyed by one insane poisoned living species; and that species is being poisoned and violated and manipulated by undead things that need to be completely wiped off the face of this green living planet. For us to pretend that we are tiny powerless monkeys, still living in trees, looking down upon some mortal combat between huge powerful figures who are more powerful than us, is one of the stupidest and worst examples of how the preservation of old, dead, obsolete instincts and customs poisons all human society and civilization. Regressing back to sitting in a tree watching the antics of other animals; as detached, passive little terrified monkeys is what the modern culture of mass media has done to billions of brainwashed, programmed, living people who all have undead entities secretly hiding inside them and all around them.

Then there is the phenomenon of the fan. Mass adulation of a few professional athletes by billions of unathletic lazy, sedentary, sick, weak, unhealthy, spoiled people who have nothing better to do with their lives because they have no purpose and no meaning in their lives except to gratify their lowest, most disgusting, oldest, most obsolete urges, instincts and appetites... This culture of consumer self-gratification not only dehumanizes billions of civilized babies, infants, children, adolescents, men and women... it desensitizes them, it makes them so empty inside, so vapid, so worthless, so useless; that without the weapons of mass distraction and mass entertainment which the sport of tennis is only a tiny part of... they would become so depressed, they would all commit suicide because their precious fucking entertainment spectacles would not be there for them so they can escape reality and not have to look at themselves and their life and what they are doing and ask themselves why they are doing it. So they will not look at the insanity of civilization and begin to ask questions, and get up off their fat lazy asses and actually do something about the horrible problems and corruption which is embedded in all human societies and all human civilization. The reason there is so much evil embedded in all human societies and civilizations, is because, sick, evil, filthy undead entities are secretly embedded inside every single living human. The evil of sports is now so regressive, they are even bringing back the Roman chariot races, do you have any idea of how fucking sick this is? Do you have any idea of how backwards this is?

By analyzing and exposing just how sick and evil the sport of tennis actually is, gives you an idea of how evil ALL of civilization actually is. Civilization is a morass of accumulating evil and death and toxic poison: it has always been so. Now the poison and evil of civilization is accumulating to such an insane degree that the entire EARTH is being poisoned and killed and destroyed by its toxic fumes and chemicals and mass destruction of all living-loving things... This insanity must be stopped, but it only can be stopped IF you are educated and informed and you understand just how sick you are, and why you are so sick, and where your sickness comes from, and how it works, and why evil exists. This is what this book is written for. This is why this book has been written. This book has been written so living people can understand the conditions they are living in, and cleanse themselves of all evil. Becoming healthier instead of sicker is not a revolutionary idea. No human society has ever successfully done this for very good reasons. This book gives you the readers of this book: the necessary tools and knowledge needed to become healthy and happy. If you are to become a healthy happy human being: civilization must be totally destroyed. Only when all living human beings understand this and act upon this knowledge will the human species escape the doom of complete extinction which is fast approaching for all of its living members. We as a species will all go the way of the Dinosaur and the Dodo unless we wake up and change our ways. Now that you have been told the truth: you have no more excuses left to put off doing something positive about it.

What is the hidden agenda of the undead? What is the main goal of these ghouls? The goal-line of any sports field represents the line between the living and the undead: Once you cross that line between the living and the undead and enter the Realm of the underworld the game is temporarily over; all play stops, they make a goal, you are made a 'goal'...you are made a ghoul... they turn you into a ghoul... You become one of them.

Once you cross that line between the living and the undead you become negative energy, you become the enemy of all living positive Life-energy. That is the agenda of the Undead: to corrupt you by making you waste your life playing competitive stupid games, trying to score goals and make points

One more living person turned into the mortal enemy of every living person on Earth. One more for them, one less for us the living. Hurrah! One more point for us! One more duped fool to enter the ranks of duped fools! Let us increase our numbers! Let's see... how shall we increase our numbers? We need more human sacrifices! More humans led to be slaughtered! We need to manipulate them to hate and kill each other!

The Fanning of Flames and the origin of evil fans

The existence of human fans is only a reflection and a projection of undead evil entities fanning your worst impulses, fanning your addictions, inflaming you in crucial moments to say or do the wrong thing, or do it wrongly or say something wrongly. These evil undead things originated from the first evil undead who urged the first living humans to keep the fires they had made burning, so these undead things could suck off the heat coming from the flames. The custom and tradition of undead evil entities fanning the evil impulses of living people is millions of years old. Fanning the flames of a fire to start it and keep it burning is one of the oldest original evil sins which undead entities cunningly corrupted our ancestors into doing. All things in civilization that have fans are evil. All people who are fans of something or someone are supporting something that is evil. Fans are 2-dimensional. So are most undead entities. The more 2-dimensional undead gather around someone urging them on, egging them on, encouraging them to commit some horrible atrocity or bestial act, the more pressure there is for them to ignore all of their better instincts and teachings and succumb to the invisible urgings of these evil filthy undead things.

The evil of all ‘spirituality’ and ‘oneness’ and the VORTEX

Once you understand that ALL ‘spirits’.... ALL undead entities... ALL undead auras are designed to decompose completely naturally, and that this is the natural organic cycle of Life and re-birth on Earth... Once you understand that these evil, dying, rotting decomposing, undead things trying to preserve their rotting evil existence are not meant to exist and have no business trying to remain in existence. Then you will be able to further understand just how stupid and evil the idea of immortality is after you die, and that the idea of spirits being immortal is not only evil; but disgusting and sick.

The ‘spiritual’ idea of ‘all is one’... the idea of a single mass consciousness, the idea of merging into a imagined ‘oneness’... when you feel that you are ‘one with the Universe’... exists because the only way these decomposing, rotting undead things can keep from dying completely is by merging themselves together into filthy abominations of multi-layered multiple entities to keep from falling apart at the seams and dying naturally as they are designed to.

This is where the ancient stinking scam, the fraud, the illusion of an undead spirit called a ‘god’ comes from. This is where the idea that there is only one ‘god’ comes from. Undead rotting entities for thousands of years have managed to preserve their rotting dying, decomposing auras by continually adding and merging fresh new undead auras into their dying auras... until the accumulated mass of insane undead energy seems to have a power greater than that of a single aura. This is a false illusion.

This is why the idea of merging your undead aura with another undead aura is intrinsically evil. This is why the idea of giving up your individual awareness and intelligence to some greater being or power is intrinsically evil. Merging yourself with other undead entities creates a mass-aura of undead evil, an abomination of dying energy that is permanently insane: crazy: irrational: incapable of lucid thought or human intelligence. This is why all the recorded written encounters with a 'god' make no fucking sense and why they don't make any fucking sense. This is why the idea of there being only one 'god' is a bunch of fucking bullshit. There are countless undead auras that have managed to accumulate other undead auras into their own auras using this scam; all of them need to be wiped out of existence: they need to be killed until they are completely dead.

For instance... if you hear heavenly music after you die and enter the realm of the undead: the undead sounds of choir music, the sounds of many voices singing... this is not evidence of a heavenly god. It is just another way how undead rotting dying entities keep from decomposing and dying until they are completely dead. By continually adding fresh new undead auras to the accumulated mass of merged undead singers: the original aura manages to preserve its existence by sucking off the fading life energy of the new arrivals...

But this alone is not enough to keep them from dissolving and decomposing into radiation energy which has NO personality and NO organized, enclosed reflective dynamic and NO ability to create evil... these huge masses of accumulated morphed, insane dying fading auras are forced to SUCK off physical forms of energy that is not dead. These 'choir' mass entities suck off anything they can get: electricity, heat, the auras of living people and living animals... And if there is no extra energy source to suck off of, these insane abominations die out and fade and are gone.

What you must realize is this: the inventions of all artificial sources of heat and energy like electricity: were invented solely for the use of undead entities to keep them from dying until they are completely dead as they are meant to. These abominations of tool technology were not invented for the benefit of living people; the innovation of the use of fire was not invented for the apes that were manipulated into inventing it. Living people were corrupted and poisoned into inventing these things in order to feed the energy needs of these undead, dying, rotting turds that need to be wiped off the face of this Earth. Even the NAME which they are called by, tells you that they are unnatural filth: the are unnatural dying evil things: That is why they are called the undead; because they are completely unnatural... they should be completely dead; they should die completely.

One major tactic undead entities have to destroy the intelligence and power of human souls after they die and enter the realm of the undead is to get you to go into the light... that light you will see is a vortex: it is a destructive horror which will suck you in and never let you out... you will be sucked into a mass of packed insane souls and lose your identity and your sanity and your will and your intelligence and your power to kill these filth. This mass of undead entities, this accumulated mass of undead filth is what they mean when they try to tell you there is only one 'god'. This is the scam... the swindle, the trick they have used to fool millions of unsuspecting souls after they died physically to enter voluntarily and willingly into that vortex of light... only to realize too late that they were trapped forever inside the cacophony of wailing insane ghouls and couldn't get out. The 'oneness' of a single undead aura is a carefully constructed delusion: any undead aura that radiates light cannot be seen by living people because the radiation you see after you die physically is not light: it is a faint after-glow of faint radiation so minimal that science cannot even record it or detect it on their instruments. This is one way these undead things get rid of people who have been easily brainwashed into believing in an omnipotent 'god'. This is one way these evil turd things eliminate the best, the most religious, the most moral, the most ethical honest, courageous souls who are a danger to them. Corrupt psychics tell people who ask what they should do when they enter the realm of the undead when they die; to 'go into the light'... that is evil speaking. When pressed for further explanations about the light: they will hem and haw... some of the more honest will admit that the light you are entering is called the vortex. But they will not tell you what that vortex is made up of. It is made up of millions of insane suffering tortured dying souls packed together, all trying to get out of their predicament but unable to... it is a mass insanity of mass humanity, dissolving and decomposing its life-energy. This insane undead energy is used by evil things not only to attract more dying lost souls into this horror, but as a source of undead energy which they exploit for evil purposes.

Human Life... ALL of Life works by the energy dynamics of gentleness, softness, kindness, touching and sensitivity... Life works by feeling what you do to others and what they do to you: that is what bio-feedback is all about... not by the brutal mechanized unfeeling horror of using huge machines to rip up the living earth, killing everything in its path. The mechanical evil that is civilization must be totally destroyed; and the root and origin of this evil must be also destroyed along with civilization: so it will never spring back again from the ashes of death to poison the Beauty of living things on Earth.

Why is civilization so evil? Because it does not respect the power of LOVE: it only respects the power to kill and destroy. 7 billion apes who only respect and fear the power to kill and do not respect the power to love do not deserve to live; they have no right to kill or destroy any living thing, they have no right to destroy the Earth and the rocks and mountains of the Earth for their stupid little pleasures. Why is civilization so evil? Civilized humans do not develop the potential to love. Civilization only develops the ability to hate, and to envy and to hurt. It only develops the power of tools which are used to kill and poison and destroy Life. Civilization does not develop the human sensitivity of touching and feeling with your skin and your hearts and your mind. If you do not want to be hurt: then you must not hurt any living thing on Earth also. If you do not want to be touched by living creatures, then you have no right to touch any living creature on earth. Using tools has destroyed your intelligent sense of touch and your intelligent sense of fairness and your intelligent sense of equality. Tools are dead. They do not feel anything. If you use dead tools, you will become as dead and as unintelligent and as stupid as they are. Understand this: the Power of Life and Love is more powerful than the power of death. The power of Love is the power of sensitivity, of touching and feeling. The insensitive power of tools is the power of death and hate and hurt. Love and touching connects. Tools separate. It is that simple.

Why this book was written

In order to understand the true meaning of the Universe, you must understand its true origins and how it was formed. In order to understand the Wonder of Life, you must understand the true origins of Life and how it was formed. In order to understand civilization: you must understand its true origins and how it was formed and how it came into existence.

In order to understand the true meanings of things: you need to understand their true origins!

You cannot understand the true meaning of anything unless you understand where they originally came from. You cannot understand yourself unless you know and understand your own origins. This book deals mostly with explaining and analyzing the true origins of things for a damn good reason. Without this broader understanding, you are easily manipulated, lied to, deceived, swindled, and brainwashed and taken advantage of. Without this knowledge which I have put down in this book: you are an unaware slave, a deluded, uniformed, willing slave of an evil system that is inherently wicked and wants to corrupt you and do you harm. Unless you have the Courage and the Honesty to search for the actual Truth; you will never free yourself from the cunning wiles of evil for the simple reason that you were born into this evil, and evil embedded itself into you when you were developing as a fetus inside your mother's womb before you were even born. That is why you have never been able to easily discern its existence. It is all around you, it has always been all around you and inside you... you were born into this condition and you have taken your condition as being 'normal'. It is not. Evil conditions are not normal. Evil is an unnatural abomination. All the unnatural abominations of civilization are evil. Life is GOOD; these undead things are evil: it is that simple. There is nothing evil with the processes of decomposition as long as its supports Life. The richest most powerful source of organic Life on Earth comes from decomposed organic matter mixed with the natural soil of the Earth. That is because all the dying, decomposing energy turns around and gives its energy back to composing living things by dying completely; these undead filth do not do this, they do the opposite.

If you want further evidence of the unseen black hands of death: all you need to study are the coincidences which had to happen in order for 9/11 to happen. What actually happened in the 9/11 debacle was beyond the ability of any living human conspiracy to orchestrate and coordinate successfully. There were too many factors and too many players involved for any one group of living conspirators to oversee and control. There were too many unconnected examples of deception and deceit all over the world. This is one reason why many intelligent people still do not believe it could have been an inside job, which it was. For example: the Arabic word 'Al Quaeda' means data-base. In building Seven, the data bases of the CIA and FBI and the Federal Security Commission containing the indictments of powerful corporate criminals were all conveniently destroyed when the 3 buildings collapsed into their own footprint; because they contained too much incriminating evidence of corruption at the top of American society and the American Govt. One reason why 9-11 was orchestrated was to destroy the data-bases, the evidence of evil in human society. The undead are tried to destroy all evidence of their existence and the existence of the evil their evil pawns committed. They are trying to destroy all questioning minds which have the courage to seek out the truth. By reversing perception so that all questioners are perceived as terrorists. Al Quaeda are terrorists! You must never question the state that controls you: the state is supposed to protect you from terrorism. The reverse is true. States exist by terrorizing their citizens and brainwashing them into a permanent state of fear and paranoia.

The Al Quaeda was originally created as a fall-guy organization by the CIA... a group they used to blame for many of their 'black ops'... or black operations and false flag operations on. This group was sent to Bosnia in Sarajevo in Serbia during Milosevic's take over of the Bosnian govt during the 90's and atrocities were blamed on them. The group was trained armed and paid by the American CIA and the English MI6 and MI 17. The hidden hand of the undead: the plot of the Serbian Black Hand which caused WW1 to happen is now being used by the hidden hands of the undead for WW3 to happen... the war on terror, the war on terrorists is being reversed. The perception of what terror is; is being reversed. State sponsored terrorism has invented a non-existent enemy in order to deceive the masses who the actual terrorists are. That non-existent enemy is the awakening of human awareness to the existence of the true sources and causes of evil. The state is trying to stamp out all questioning. Questioners are being labeled as terrorists. All questioners of authority are terrorists! Al Qaeda are terrorists! Be afraid of all who question authority! All questioners of conventional history are frauds. If you dare to question anything you must be a terrorist! This is how the undead subliminally brainwash the masses. The terrorists of the Appel Quay: to call into question the authority of the state in 1914 in Sarajevo... has now been reversed into a state sponsored terrorist group called Al Qaeda. This is not a coincidence. Understand this: evil is unceasingly at work day and night all over the world... The assassination of the archduke of Austria, the two World Wars and 9/11 are some examples of their orchestrated planned stepping stages of worsening and ruining everything on a massive global scale. These evil things seek to continually lower the level of human intelligence and awareness while continually raising the level of human corruption and evil and insanity.

Between every orchestrated major catastrophe and war there are slower periods of subtle slow increasing evil... as the dominos for the next catastrophe are set into place. These pieces of undead shit are constantly working and planning a new major catastrophe, planning a new orchestrated event, a new false flag operation, a new deception, a new cunning swindle, a new reversal of the perception of what is Good and what is evil, A new tactic to brainwash the masses, a new way to poison Life, inventing newer weapons of mass distraction, manufacturing newer weapons of mass destruction and death.

You can see this reversal of perception in what is important and what is not important in Washington D.C. and the rest of America. The, priorities and values and agenda of the Washington establishment elite is the complete reverse, the complete opposite of the rest of the nation's values and agenda. The Washington culture of centralized status, power, influence and money is corrupted by its own insularity. The accumulation of status, power, influence and money automatically corrupts. All centralized accumulation is evil.

You can see the reversal of the perception of truth in two famous televised court trials: the OJ Simpson trial and the Rodney King trial, where one black man guilty of a double murder was pronounced innocent by a brainwashed racist black jury, and a gang of white policemen beating a black man were pronounced innocent by a brainwashed racist white jury. Almost everyone watching these trials on TV could see how guilty OJ was of murder and how guilty the policemen were of beating a black man who was not threatening them in any way. These undead filth could not successfully reverse the perceptions of what is the truth and what is a lie in the viewing audience which was comprised of hundreds of millions of people. But they could and did poison the perception of the juries. They cannot reverse the perceptions of all living humans, but they are constantly working on this and constantly inventing new ways to poison the human perception of what is real and what is not real, what is true and what is not true as much as possible. Undead evil is constantly working to reverse the perceptions of certain key truths. This can be seen in the false flag operation of September 11th 2001. Deluding the whole world into believing that a 2-minute jet fuel fire can collapse a 100 story steel girder high-rise office building.

It took a synchronized conspiracy between the corrupt heads of the US federal govt; including the heads of the CIA, the FBI, the Pentagon, the Whitehouse, the corporate-owned American mass media, the BBC, combined to hoodwink and fool the world that the USA had been attacked from the outside: when the actual truth was that it had been planned and carried out and attacked from the inside: not from the outside. This succeeded because people do not question authority, and because most people are completely ignorant of science and the laws of physics.

The total collapse of the USSR happened because people lost respect for the authority of the state. Understand this: once you lose all respect for any evil... that evil instantly loses its power over you. You become free of its influence and power over you; you see more clearly, you feel more clearly, you think more clearly, you become more powerful as a living force for GOOD. When you stop believing in the authority of evil, you can kill them easily and feel GOOD about killing them.

Undead entities are continuously honing their skills to delude and corrupt living humans because their survival depends on hiding the true nature of their existence from all living people. Their very existence depends on deception, and poisoning the intelligence and perception and awareness of living people, and their ability to twist and poison their perceptions and reverse of what is true into a perception that it is not true, and reversing the perception of a lie so living humans will believe that lies are the truth and the truth is a lie. You need to understand that undead entities can and do hide inside you and all around you. Evil hides inside living people. These things live inside you and all around you... they feed off you, they use you, they manipulate you, they control you. This book has been written to enlighten and educate people about the existence of the undead and how they work and why they are evil and how to rid yourself of them. What living humans call civilization is not progress; it is regress. Detachment from reality is not progress. Indifference and apathy is not normal. Not caring about anyone but yourself is not normal. Being brainwashed is not normal. Becoming stupider is not normal. Becoming more and more identical is not progress. Copies of programs, copies of CD's, copies of books, copying, mass manufacturing is not progress; it is the opposite of progress: it is a regression into mechanized, roboticized mass conformity. The shit called civilized progress is a regression into a total unawareness of what is actually GOOD and what is actually evil. The so-called progress of civilization is the reversal of Good into evil: it is pure evil. The mechanization of human society is an abomination of pure evil. Machines are your enemy. Machines are not your fucking friend: they are inventions of the devil, men did not invent tools: undead entities invented them. Civilization was not invented by Man. Civilization was invented by undead decomposing evil turds that need to be exterminated.

Get this historical perspective through your brain and into your heart. 60,000 years of humans believing that undead spirits exist everywhere around them in the Natural World is not a coincidence, 60,000 years of people believing in the existence of non-material entities called demons or gods is not a coincidence or a superstition. The idea that today we are more intelligent and smarter than everyone who came before us because we don't believe in the existence of ghosts or gods or spirits anymore is not an advancement of intelligence; it is a mechanized desensitization of human awareness and intelligence.

The idea of totally discounting and ignoring the fact that for tens of thousands of years all over the Earth without exception... all human societies believed in the existence of non physical entities which most of the time they could not see... but could sense; is not a coincidence. Stone Age tribes separated from each other by thousands of years of time and thousands of miles of geography; do not develop the same basic cultural beliefs in the existence of immaterial spirits by random chance! The idea that for 60,000 years, all the humans who ever lived were deluded and only now are we humans enlightened is total bullshit.

The assumption that exploring the true nature of Life and the world and the Universe can be done better by using dead machines instead of using our living hearts and minds and your feeling skin. The idea that using a dead machine which feels nothing is superior to exploring the Outer World around us and the Inner World within us with our natural born senses, the senses we were born with is a complete reversal of the actual truth... The idea of using tools and machines to explore, instead of exploring ourselves and each other and the world directly; using all of our senses and intuition and intelligence and our Sense of Pure Wonder, is a reversal of the actual truth. The idea that something if it cannot be physically seen or touched it doesn't exist... has already been scientifically disproved. The fact that energy exists which cannot be seen or touched has already been proven. The idea that the only non-physical energy which exists is the energy that scientific technology has managed to discover so far by using mechanical devices is total bullshit. The immaterial nonphysical existence of entities has already been scientifically recorded and proven. The reason the recognition of their existence is now being ignored, denied, discounted, laughed at... when for tens of thousands of years it was common knowledge, is not only because these things do not want to be explored. It is not only because they do not want their filthy secrets exposed. It is because now there now exists an intelligence in humans which can kill them dead. This did not exist before.

The undead know that if the truth about them is ever fully revealed, they will be correctly identified as the evil abominations they are, as the mortal enemies of all living people, as the mortal enemies of all Life on Earth and all living creatures on Earth. They know that if what they actually are and what they actually do and how they actually operate becomes public knowledge; they will be systematically hunted down and exterminated and killed utterly DEAD. They know that if the truth about their filthy practices and the filthy things they do and are responsible for is ever exposed; they will lose most of their ability to secretly poison and systematically corrupt the living bodies and souls of humans, which they have been doing for uncounted millennia and are continuing to do.

If you want a glimpse into the horror and evil of these undead things, you can find it in the Second Apocalypse of Peter; one the Apocryphal Gospels taken out of the Bible and labeled as heresy by the early Christian Church..., it describes Jesus' death where his human body is suffering, while his spirit is off to one side; observing the death of Jesus the man and laughing.

Do you understand yet?.... These sick unspeakable filth can and do poison and manipulate the lives of living human people by sneaking into their bodies and super-imposing their undead aura with a living person's aura, invisibly hiding inside the living aura of a living person, and feeding on that person's living Life energy... They can interfere with the actions and concentration and awareness of a living person driving a car so the car will crash... and then jump out of the body they interfered with just before impact, and then observe from the outside, the agony of their unsuspecting victim suffering a violent, bloody, painful death... as they laugh in satanic glee at the evil they have managed to do. They have gotten away with this for thousands of years because nobody alive was intelligent enough and perceptive enough to notice exactly how these planned catastrophes, disasters, and tragedies, are secretly orchestrated by invisible undead entities, energies and forces. They think they can keep on getting away with it. NOT ANY MORE.

Another Christian sect that was declared to be heretical and was wiped out by the early Christian church were the Evianites. They distinguished between the man Jesus and the divine Christ. For them, Jesus Christ was two separate entities... The man Jesus is used as a vehicle for the divine Christ who invades the body of Jesus at a certain point; at his baptism to be specific... and then uses him as the human vehicle for his hidden secret purposes. At his death, the divine Christ deserts Jesus the man and leaves him and goes back up to heaven, and the man Jesus is left to die. The Evianites did not believe that that Jesus was Divine, but that he was inhabited by Divinity. In the lost heretical Gospel of the Evianites, the divine Christ parachutes down from heaven, enters the body of Jesus, does his mischief, and then opts out and goes back up to heaven. Exactly as Greek mythology depicted their gods behaving. Exactly as the Egyptian deities are shown as behaving. Exactly as all the other more ancient civilizations depicted their gods behaving. Are you getting the fucking picture yet?... Do you understand now why certain Christian gospels were banned and why certain sects of Christianity were declared to be heretical and were wiped out of existence and exterminated? These secret hidden stinking undead things do not want living humans to figure out the truth about how they operate and what they actually are.

What is the actual reason why for thousand of years, living humans cut off the heads of other living humans? What is the actual reason this barbarous, inhuman, monstrous practice of decapitation existed for thousands of years? It is the same reason why undead entities are now dumbing down the intelligence of every living baby and child in the world today. That reason is: hatred and fear of human intelligence. The undead thought that if they could cut off the heads of living humans, they could stop the human species from becoming more intelligent. They were wrong. The undead have fought and battled the development and growth of human intelligence for millions of years. They have used every imaginable abomination and trick to stop living humans from becoming more intelligent. I am living proof that they have failed. The undead know that if living humans ever become intelligent enough to see through their cunning tricks and discover what these foul things actually are and what they actually do: they will be hunted down and exterminated. Humans have been specifically targeted by them because we are the most intelligent Living species on Earth. These insane ghouls are the most unintelligent dying auras on Earth. The battle between GOOD and evil is the battle between Life and death. You have only one choice; that is the choice between LIFE or death. Not choosing, refusing to choose, avoiding the choice is choosing death by inaction. Either you actively fight against evil or you are a carrier of evil and a spreader of evil.

Either you act against evil or you are evil: there is no inbetween.

The Hidden Hoax of the New World Order

Understand this: there is no such thing as a 'New World Order' There is no organized plot or conspiracy to create a global system of oppression by any living network of living conspirators. It only seems as though there is because of the ever-present influence and poisoning of the souls of living humans by unseen invisible undead entities. Their hidden presence is the root source of all conspiracies; it is the malevolent evil hiding secretly inside living souls. Their invisible influence and presence is the unaccounted 'X' factor which makes it seem as if there is an organized worldwide conspiracy to control the world. It is because of their constant interference in the lives of we the living: that everything which is evil and negative succeeds in civilization, while everything which is positive and GOOD fails inside civilization. The Rothschild mafia cartel of criminal bankers do not rule the world, there is no secret cabal of 'illuminati', the Bilderberg group, the Trilateral Commission, etc. are not consciously plotting to enslave all of humanity... It is the invisible presence of malevolent undead entities hiding inside and around powerful and corrupt people that makes it seem as if they are all organized and plotting together, because most of what they do is being secretly controlled and manipulated by undead malevolent evil filth.

It is these undead hidden invisible filth that are the actual conspirators; they are the missing link; it is because of them that all evil conspiracies happen. They are the root cause of all evil conspiracies. Their malevolent presence is millions of years old. They have millions of years of experience in plotting and orchestrating their evil. These undead things need to be exterminated with extreme prejudice. They need to be completely destroyed.

One perfect example of the hidden evil of these undead turd-filth is the orchestrated farces and the propagation of two World Wars and the ensuing Cold War of the 20th century.

By using the corruption and greed of the international bankers of the western capitalist system, and their secret societies: the undead invented the cultural schism between the totalitarian regime of Bolshevik Russia in the East which was a mockery of National socialism, and the western mockery of capitalist democracy in the West. The Capitalist newspapers labeled the red Marxist Russian revolutionaries as dirty socialists and communists who were trying to destroy capitalism and free enterprise. The schism between socialism and capitalism created by WW1 and the abdication of the Tsar of Russia: the Bolshevik revolution, the red armies of Lenin and Trotsky who ended up defeating the white armies of the Tsarist regime, this was all orchestrated by undead entities in order to pit man against man and create a world of evil hate and fear and terrorism.

Hidden behind the scenes was the fact that the Jewish bankers of Berlin funded Hitler's rise to power. They were part of the dynasty of robber baron bankers of the Rothschilds. The Rothschilds and American bankers also funded the Bolshevik revolution and the American Govt had supplied troops to hold the trans-Siberian railway until the Bolsheviks were strong enough to take it over. So... in actuality, Capitalism: the heads of western capitalism were responsible for supporting and funding the Bolshevik Revolution and Nazi Germany which was also a revolution.

In fact both Lenin and Trotsky had been funded and aided by the western capitalists before the revolution, and they had been both intentionally smuggled into Russia by western Govts. Both were in exile before the war started: Trotsky was in New York and Lenin was in Switzerland. The American Govt and the British foreign office allowed Trotsky to go back to Russia even though they knew he was going there to start a revolution in fact they aided him. The New York financiers who were supporting and funding him, knew he was going back to start a revolution. Woodrow Wilson who issued his passport knew it also. Lenin was smuggled from Switzerland through Germany in the famous sealed train with the permission and the encouragement of the general staff of the German Wehrmacht. At this time, Germany and the western powers were supposed to be fighting each other, and yet you get them both moving these two key revolutionaries into Russia, which makes no sense at all. The Bolsheviks needed assistance from the west to win the civil war and they got assistance from Germany, Britain and the United States to continue and consolidate the revolution; which makes no sense at all since their entire political dogma was anti-capitalist. Without that assistance they would never have succeeded in overthrowing the Tsarist forces. The 1918 mission of the Red Cross to Russia was actually a secret mission comprised of Wall Street bankers and lawyers and manipulators with the specific goal to finance the Bolshevik revolution and supply them with arms; which makes no sense at all.

Professor and noted research scholar: Antony C. Sutton documents how the western capitalists and financiers financed Bolshevik international communism and Hitler's rise to power and the re-armament of Nazi Germany. Suttons explanation for this... the supposed creation of a world govt is totally off the mark and mistaken. The other explanation that these international bankers finance both sides of wars to profit from them is also misleading and not the actual reason they did it. What Sutton does notice and state is that for over a century, these international bankers: the richest most powerful people in the world have spent most of their time and energy in 'managing conflicts'. Nothing else. This is true, yet it is also misleading...

The hidden truth is that the elite of human civilization have always been, and are being controlled by undead entities. The undead intentionally create and orchestrate human conflicts in order to intentionally ruin everything Mankind tries to build up that is even slightly Positive. They intentionally create artificial conflicts and wars to corrupt all of Mankind as much as possible. They use the secret organizations of the most corrupt elite power-mongers to do it. They do not try to solve conflict; they create artificial conflicts and escalate them, and twist them to make these false conflicts as destructive as possible.

The hidden hand of these undead filth can be seen in the Cold War: in the propaganda of struggle between the West Vs the East. The entire propaganda of spies of the West and the East, trying to steal each other's secrets... is a total falsity. The actual truth is the reverse. The American Govt helped the Soviet Govt set up its industrial plants and gave them the missing crucial technology and parts they needed so they could build their nuclear missiles.

They helped the Russian Gorky plant produce trucks that were used by the Vietnamese in the Vietnam War. Sutton wrote a book called 'National Suicide: Military Aid to the Soviet Union' which documents and proves this to be true. The western culture of secret agents, James Bond etc, was a reversal of perception, a propaganda hoax; a complete swindle.

The conventional perception and understanding and culture of the Cold war was actually a complete reversal of the actual truth. Instead of jealously guarding their secret technology and industrial secrets from the communists: the West was actually GIVING their military secrets to the Russians... While Hollywood and the pulp fiction industry were spewing out the fiction of Russian spies stealing secrets from the West, the actual truth was that the secrets of the west were being given to the Russians. The ideological battle between these two super-powers was a charade; the opposite was true. The McCarthy era of the Red menace infiltrating American society... the reverse was true: it was the Americans who infiltrated Bolshevik Russia at the inception of their rise to power; not the other way around. Everything the masses have been brainwashed into believing is a reversal of the actual truth. This is how undead evil operates: they reverse everything they can; they twist everything they can, until the perception of what is true is reversed.

None of this makes any fucking sense, UNLESS you factor in the hidden fact that ALL the top elite in ALL the top positions of civilized power are being controlled, manipulated and corrupted by the forces of hidden undead evil entities, who have their own hidden secret agendas. The fact that America helped in the construction of the Soviet Union's industrial power: the Soviet Union! It's mortal enemy! The only super-power strong enough to be a mortal danger to American Capitalism, being AIDED by the American govt and American bankers? This seems to be totally inexplicable and insane... that is, until you factor in the presence of undead evil corrupting and controlling those at the very top of political power.

All the conspiracy theories which try to explain the global corruption of the 2008 financial meltdown make no sense at all... all the interpretations of WHY collusion between such ideological enemies as America and the USSR happened make no sense. All these irrational crazy historical facts...

Western Govts and bankers helping their Marxist enemies while refusing to fund the White Russian forces... the Americans helping the Red Communist Mao while refusing to help the Chinese nationalist Chiang Kai Shek... all of these crazy irrational goings-on at the highest levels of power and international policy; simply do not make any fucking sense unless you factor in the presence of undead evil secretly manipulating both sides against each other. The American Caterpillar Corp helping the Russians build their huge tractor plants, etc... none of this makes any fucking sense unless you factor in the hidden secret control of unseen evil undead entities whose hidden secret agenda is NOT a 'world govt' or a 'new world order'... it is the complete destruction of all Life on Earth; using the human species to do it.

American financiers' secretly financing Hitler's rise to power through Himmler's slush fund: Jewish bankers in Germany financing Hitler's rise to power... Western capitalist bankers supporting three brands of socialism at the same time, while scheming to make their robber baron Crony Capitalism the only economic system in the world... simply does not make any fucking sense, no matter how many ways you try to analyze it... unless the topmost elite of human civilized society are being controlled and manipulated by undead entities who have their own secret, hidden agenda; which is the complete destruction of all Life on Earth INCLUDING the human shells and shells these undead control in order to commit their evil.

What is Crony Capitalism? It is the merging of the barons of Royalty with the barons of Money. Merge the word Crown and the word Money and you get Crony. Minted pieces of gold. The merging of avarice and power, Gold crowns, Old crones, ugly female hags: the last surviving Crowns of Royalty left in Europe: the Queen of the Netherlands and the Queen of England, get it? BARREN; that is what the undead are trying to create: a dead barren Earth robbed of all Life by using robber barons as their puppets to do it... get it?

The refusal to shut down leaking, aging nuclear energy plants which can destroy entire continents and oceans. The continued manufacture of nuclear warheads and bombs by the American Military Industrial Complex long after the Cold War is over and finished.... All of this suicidal insanity does not make any human sense. Unless the key people in power who make sure these evil abominations are not phased out are controlled and manipulated by undead entities who have a malevolent agenda against not only all of humanity, but the entire living Earth.

Antony C. Sutton calls the irrationality of these forces that make these suicidal things happen 'the 'X' factor'. He states that there is some kind of unseen pressure over a period of decades making sure that the corporations and govts of the Western world commit national and financial suicide. Every time Sutton tried to point this out to the authorities, he was slapped down. Or as Sutton describes it: 'Some kind of behind-the-scenes pressure exists' which he could not identify or explain... His research into the secret societies and dynasties of the Western elite reveals only the tip of the iceberg of evil; it does not reveal the existence and presence of the undead. Their evil is millions of years old. Now there is a knowledgeable and deliberate effort by America and by the West to re-build the Soviet Russia and China into a political enemy in order to start a 3rd World War... just so the West can destroy the East and the East can destroy the West: this doesn't make any fucking human sense. After the first two horrible catastrophes of the past two World Wars, to knowingly plan to start a 3rd World War doesn't make any fucking sense. Even when everyone tells you that you are committing national and global suicide; it SIMPLY DOESN'T MAKE ANY FUCKING SENSE. Unless... the entire top of the ruling elite of ALL govts are being controlled by undead entities in order to destroy all Life on Earth. Sutton did not uncover the hidden presence of undead evil because he was not looking for it. He did not explore his own soul deeply enough to discover the hidden evil lurking inside and all around him and in all living people...

I HAVE.

These undead filth are the actual true hidden conspirators. They are the ones who invent and carry out secret conspiracies. Their very existence depends on secrecy. They are the ones who secretly pull the strings behind the scenes. They are the hidden unseen root of all evil conspiracies on the Earth. These undead things are the reason why the signature evil of all the secret societies of the upper western elite is the ruthless amassing of as much power as possible at the top, while helping each other into positions of power whenever possible in order to preserve and increase their control over the brainwashed masses of humanity.

The wealthiest most powerful Capitalist ruling elite on Earth, helping their mortal enemies, the Bolshevik Marxists into power does not make any fucking sense unless you factor in the hidden truth that all of these corrupt people are being controlled by undead entities who need to be killed dead. Only when you realize that the existence of hidden undead evil is all around you and inside you, can you make sense out of your own life and the history of all humanity.

The secret hidden existence of undead ghouls explains countless inexplicable historical facts that do not make any sense whatsoever. For instance: Hitler's avowed anti-Semitism... He wanted to deport all the Jews out of Europe: in fact the French govt agreed on a plan to deport 4 million of them to the island of Madagascar. Why Madagascar? Because evil Jews are mad: they are insane, their own culture makes them so, their own undead ancestors poison them and systematically corrupt them; they are the chosen instruments of undead evil, they have been chosen to race as fast as possible in fulfilling the agenda of the undead; which is the destruction all Life on Earth. This is the true reason why they are called the chosen race.

The Hidden Hand of undead evil and WW1

The battle between Humanity and Inhumanity was played out in WW1: on the plane of inhuman mechanical killing power. It was played out on the power to kill: not the power to Love: not the power to Live. This deception, this mass brainwashing of living humans: that machines are more valuable more powerful than Life itself is the insanity of the industrial revolution. It comes from naked apes in Africa using tools millions of years ago. It comes from the idea that killing Life is more powerful than creating Life: that the power to create death is more powerful than the power to create Life; this is the basic madness and insanity of the entire fucking human species; this is what it believes in and fears and listens to and obeys: death: not Life. What won was the inhumanity of humans committing atrocities upon each other by being brainwashed into mindless insane, traumatized, poisoned inhuman monsters.

The undead aware of these underlying forces use them for their hidden evil agenda to destroy all Life on Earth. The event which sparked World War One is a perfect example of how cunningly these invisible evil entities continuously interfere in the lives of living people. Throughout history, inexplicable coincidences converge in a series of impossibilities to produce a spark which ignites catastrophic events: these so-called coincidences are the evidence of undead violation into the lives of the living.

In the 1900's, Russia's over-bloated huge Empire was invaded on its eastern shores by Japan. After being defeated by Japan in a naval battle; Russia began building rail lines westwards instead of eastwards. Even in the middle of uprisings and demonstrations that almost toppled the Romanov dynasty, after losing the war against Japan, the Russian govt kept on building rail lines westwards designed for only one thing: the transport of military troops in their plans to invade Europe and the Ottoman Empire. Like a huge, blind octopus: stretching its metal tentacles westwards in a mindless attempt to increase its domination over as much Territory as possible, it had to keep growing or die.

It was the crumbling Ottoman Empire, that made the Russian empire like a blind inhuman monster, seeking to expand westwards and invade the politically destabilized region of mixed ethnic minorities living peaceably together in the Balkans. It was a clash of the Occident vs. the Orient: a clash of machine versus Mankind; a clash of Men using Machines and Machines using Men; all originating out of the dynamics of accumulation. It was an evil amalgam of two basic factors: a massed overpopulation of excess humanity and a mass of manufactured machines of mass destruction. All of these underlying forces had to be assembled and grow in their opposition to each other before the spark which ignited the clash between man and machine could explode the clash between evil Men and their evil Machines

The undead cannot kill Life; they are far too weak and diseased to kill anything but themselves. All they can do is secretly... invisibly...cunningly poison and twist living creatures so they kill each other. What you need to realize and understand is that the entire DIE-namic of civilization is based upon ancient burial sites... cities of the undead. What you need to understand is that everything which rises to the top of any civilization is not the best but the worst, the most foul, diseased, inhuman cunning corrupt evil filth possible. WW1 and WW2 were just the most recent symptoms of the basic underlying inhumanity of civilization's entire system and structure.

The actual politics and cultures of the Balkans is such a muddle of different ethnic and religious sects and races all battling each other for centuries, that no intelligent historian has ever even attempted to make any sense of it simply because the situation was changing almost weekly, with different factions allying themselves with others and then breaking up to ally themselves with some other hated rival, all in goal of their sect or religion or ethnic race taking over the entire region, and what's more... expecting the big empires ruling this section of lovely paradise of Nature to give it to them out of the largess of generosity! To give you an idea of what kind of land this was before WW1: here is a small incomplete list of the various groups clamoring for their rights and trying to bring the entire region under their personal thumb, or trying to join Bosnia to Croatia or Slovenia or re-join it back to the Ottoman Empire, etc, etc, ad nauseum:

Bosniaks, Muslims, Protestant Christians. Catholics, Jews, Orthodox Christians, Czechs, Teutons, Slovenes, Croatians, Slovaks, Poles, Moravians, Albanians, Raveen's, Italians, Rumanians, Macedonians, Greeks, Bosnian Serbs, Greeks. Slavs, Montenegrans, not to mention the Hertzeovenians for Christ's sake... which is made up of Govinians and Hertzovnians and goat herders from Lower Slobbovia.... And let's not forget the Dalmations... there was actually a Kingdom known as Dalmatia, leftover from the Roman Empire. Each trying to preserve their fucking sacred stinking cultural identity.

The history of the Balkans is one of such spoiled tolerance by the larger Empires around them that even back during the Roman Empire they were given special dispensations which none of the other Roman Provinces enjoyed... And the more they were given, like the ungrateful fisherman's wife of legend, the more they were given the more they demanded and the more they fought each other, the more each sect wanted total dominance and accession to their particular sectarian or religious or ethnic or nationalistic wishes. What makes it all so funny is that they squabbled and hated and connived, and conspired and maneuvered and ranted and marched and published newspapers and complained... but they didn't resort to violence. They didn't for a simple reason... Not one of them made up a majority, rather they were a bunch of small minorities with each one demanding to be treated as if they were the majority; not only demanding but arrogantly! Insistently! Never satisfied with anything they were given, always wanting more outrageous demands to be granted to them by whichever empire ruled them. The Ottomans and the Austrian regime did the intelligent thing: they washed their hands entirely of that region and let them go on happily squabbling between each other and seeking to make every alliance they could, conspiring with every foreign power they could who was crazy enough to get involved with them... This wasn't just Bosnia; the whole region was multi-ethnic including Serbia. The point is the idea of unification; the 'Yugoslav' movement was a dud from the very start: it didn't work back then and it didn't work now. It was finally tried after WW2 and since then the Balkans have fallen apart back into the same old racial sectarian hatreds; only far, far worse than before... It is for this reason that I am leaving out most of that region's politics because it is simply too tangled a mess to even begin to unsnarl.

The hard facts were; the region had been enjoying ever-increasing peace and prosperity for decades and all of the sects and political groups were slowly and happily arguing with each other so vociferously they were becoming friends with their hated rivals and enemies simply because they kept on changing their allegiances and allying themselves with another hated rival!... And what were they squabbling about? Pure idiocy! The Muslims being taken over; their Church was made an official Austrian part of the govt they rebelled and demanded that their church be put under the Caliphate of the Turks. The Croats wants Bosnia taken over by Croatia, the Muslims wanted Bosnia to be returned to the Turks, the Serb wanted Bosnia to be given to Serbia, and the Dalmations wanted Bosnia to be reunified with Dalmatia, and the Albanians wanted Bosnia to be made an Albanian province. The Austrian govt acceded to many of their demands, reasonably not giving any sect any special treatment. This set them bickering and squabbling like old hens, excited that they had actually gotten something and demanding even more until the whole region was quarreling with its neighbors. But along with this political strife was a younger generation that was blossoming under the weeds of sectarian hatreds.

It was this growing tolerance of the Balkans between sects that the undead were afraid of: they killed every burgeoning love, every lovely new young child born out of love was massacred and killed in that region and it was done by the undead: this is why every single one of them is to be exterminated and killed dead.

The assassination plot to kill the Archduke of Austria was a series of assassination attempts by Serbian terrorists trying to destabilize the Austrian Empire. There had been numerous assassination attempts made on Austrian officials in the Serbian attempt to destabilize Bosnia. In less than 10 years, the Balkans had already seen three wars being waged and won in short order, one Empire being stripped of two provinces by another and three new ethnic states created. In Serbia; the palace revolution of the Black Hand conspirators toppled the royal throne: Storming the Palace and finding the Royal couple: where they were shot and butchered: The King was shot 30 times. The Queen was shot 18 times and their naked bodies with over 30 saber wounds were thrown out of the Palace window to quell any uprising against this horrendous filthy crime, and the murderous brutal thugs who killed them installing a puppet King to cover up the façade that nothing had changed except that the control of the Serbian govt had been taken over by unseen conspirators who then ruled Serbia as a secret terrorist state that exported its terrorism.

The Bosnian nationalist who shot the archduke was a poor misguided young boy who was brainwashed into believing he was a patriot fighting for Serbian independence. Actually he was a Bosnian defector who wanted to join the Serbian war against the Muslim infidels of the Ottoman Empire. Being refused because of his poor health, he ended up in the worst gang of hate-filled scum who directed all their hate against the one man in Austria who was a friend of Bosnian autonomy. Growing up in Bosnia he had almost starved to death and was dying of pneumonia and was given only 6 months to live: six of his brothers had died early, and his family had not been able to feed him so they had to send him away... At that time, the Austrian Empire forced all Serbian families in Bosnia to pay taxes on how many children were born to each family, and refused to reduce this tax even if the baby died at birth. This taxed the poorest most destitute families and put an intolerable burden of debt upon them so they were forced to get rid of their surviving children to keep from starving to death themselves; this inhuman taxation system was specifically designed to crush the millions of poorest Serbs as sadistically as possible and starve them to death as inhumanly as possible. This was the main emotional reason why Gabriel Princep hated the Austrian throne so much. Every other reason he gave was total bullshit; they were politically correct excuses to cover up his deep, emotional, unreasoned, blind hatred of Austria.

The hand behind the Black Hand, which guided the course of events of the assassination was Dragutin Dimitrijevic: the butcher of Serbia, and behind him; were invisible undead ghouls bent upon ruining the best of everything that region had to offer, bent upon ruining the best of everything in Europe, bent on ruining and destroying every new GOOD impulse that was flowering all over the industrialized world.

The Serbian Machiavelli Dragutin Dimitrijevic who was behind the formation of the group of assassins who called themselves the 'Black Hand' was the same black hearted thug who had murdered the King and Queen of Serbia just a few years earlier and thrown their naked shot and stabbed bodies out the windows of their own palace. The inner ghoulishness which controlled him was one of envy, hatred, jealousy and territorial robbery. He had been planning to invade Bosnia when the Austrians one-upped him and took it over before he could. His next plan was to destabilize the Austrian southern Slav province of Herzegovina and Bosnia by assassinating Austrian officials and polarizing the population and fomenting an uprising, so he could step into the power vacuum and take it over and add it to Serbia's territorial acquisitions. He was trying to copy what the other European colonial empires had done: but Serbia was too small to attack and conquer its huge Imperial neighbors so he tried to do it as sneakily and as underhandedly as possible.

Bosnia was targeted by the undead because it was being purposefully molded into a model colony of progressive Austrian Imperial rule over an ethnically diverse region. Each religious and ethnic group of Bosnia was given their own rights and privileges and sectored off into their own ethnic-religious regions much like Switzerland is now... except a thousand times more intelligently and more cohesively interconnected. Each level of population was given their own privileges rights and power: from the smallest town village to the Religious autonomy of each religion to the larger Diet or Parliament. What Austria was creating was a model of decentralized power, with the smallest villages and town possessing the greatest political power and the centralized Diet having the least amount of power and the Austrian Imperial Authority organizing all of this so they did not even have to touch the running of Bosnia. This intelligent national socialist movement was the potential social model which could have revolutionized all govts into peaceful decentralized institutions. By forcing the most power to be held by the smallest farming villages: this forced every stinking hate filled racist and war monger to face his own people and any aggression against any neighboring town or religion or ethnic population would have been crushed instantly and the guilty ones hung and shot. Once the peaceful transition of power was shifted from the rotten corrupt Ottoman Empire to Austria: most of the Muslim racist rich Muslims fled Bosnia in outrage at their No. 1 status as favored citizens being lost. This cleared Bosnia of its major political quarrel naturally; without war or bloodshed. Once the rich corrupt Muslims left: everybody noticed a clear direct improvement on all levels of Bosnian life and society. Austria taking over from the Ottoman Empire was a boon to all Bosnians regardless of their ethnic or religious backgrounds. In spite of the terrorist infiltration into Bosnia by the rabid Serbian terrorists and political fanatics: the huge majority of Bosnians had no interest in rising up against this most progressive of all govts who were actually giving them political power on all levels...: even their religions! Each one was made an official religion of the state! Each ethnic region was given its own politically autonomous govt and recognized and protected by the Austrian govt and its Army! The villages! Each village ran its own municipal area without any interference from the provincial level! Each ethnic sector was recognized for its ethnic cultural majority and given its own official name, identity and local govt! The Bosnian Diet; its Parliament! Was given a bare minimum of power! For once humans were acting intelligently: the Diet was given a starvation diet of as little power as possible. For once the word Diet meant what it actually said!

This made every intelligent Bosnian uninterested in provincial politics since the real power was in the smaller organizations of the villages, towns and farming communities; not the Diet. The oversight of the Austrian Imperial govt was merely a figurehead bureaucracy designed to protect the region militarily against invasion by the foreign powers around them. But they were spoiled rotten: they wanted their own independent state of Bosnia without the protection of Austrian armies, the stupid spoiled babies. The Bosnian fanatics who were against Austrian rule wanted to recreate the 14th Century glory of their past... sound familiar? A bunch of propaganda bullshit. A few decades later this same fucking bullshit excuse was used to invent the evil Zionist state of Israel just a few 100 miles south of Bosnia.

What the Bosnians were given as an example of autonomous Slavic rule was Serbia. Except Serbia was not an autonomous ethnic state. It was a police state where the secret police controlled much of the govt. Bosnians were given a false flag of false patriotism to follow: a false example to follow after Austria took them over. Serbia became the rogue state in the Balkans seeking to conquer and take over as much territory as possible.

The Austrian plan worked. The Bosnians told the Serbs to go fuck themselves and their rabid racist anti-everybody-but-Slavs war-mongering hate-speech political propaganda. Nobody living in Bosnia could be found who wanted to kill Franz Ferdinand. It took an ex-Bosnian defector from Bosnia who had become an insane brainwashed robot of the Black Hand to do the dirty deed.

Covered up by all history books and ignored and swept under the carpet is what evil has destroyed. The assassination of Franz Ferdinand covered up the fact that the Austrian Empire was slowly, naturally, intelligently giving political, religious, ethnic and cultural power back into the hands of the people of its Empire for the sole reason of preserving its Figurehead Imperial rule. And the person behind it all was the soon-to-be Emperor of Austria himself: Franz Ferdinand. 2 weeks before his assassination, Franz Ferdinand had a meeting with the Kaiser of Germany specifically about the tense political situation in the Balkans. His attending military exercises just outside the borders of Serbia was a direct message by the Austrian govt telling the Serbian terrorist govt that any aggression or invasion of the Austrian Empire's territories and provinces would be met with brutal force.

Yet Ferdinand was a pacifist; he did not want a war with Serbia and was doing things to stop any possibility of war from happening. He was that most intelligent of pacifists: the one who is armed and dangerous and who nobody wants to mess with: not the fucking non-violent coward shit wimps who are murdered and slaughtered like the sheep they are by the millions because they are afraid of fighting for their own lives and freedoms.

Here there are two conflicting historical accounts of Bosnia: One as a modern progressive state: and the other as an oppressive regime that was systematically taxing poor Bosnian families into starvation and impoverishment. Since I have not done enough research to discover what the actual conditions and facts were, I can't verify the accuracy of just how true either claim is. For the Austrian Empire to be politically progressive giving most of the political power to run their own affairs to the smallest village and farming communities, it is difficult to see how they could have tolerated such an inhuman tax code. The question of exactly why Gavrilo Princip hated the Austrian Empire so much is yet to be cleared up. It could be that he blamed his own families impoverishment on the Austrians as an easy way to avoid facing how sick and ignorant his family was. If his father was a postman that meant he had a steady income and that as a federal employee, he was exempt from the local tax codes. The fact that Gavrilo was grilled and interrogated over and over after he was caught red-handed and during his trial and afterwards as to exactly why he murdered the Arch duke, and the fact that his answers did not mesh... the fact that he gave vague insinuations without any proof or facts or knowledge of any wrongdoing by the Austrian regime ruling Bosnia, the fact that he never gave the same explanation twice, the fact that his answers and explanations sounded like they came from a manual of political philosophic principles, makes the argument that Gavrilo was a mental degenerate who suffered from delusions of grandeur and should have been put into a mental asylum for the criminally insane a long time ago, or at least before he was ever allowed to wander the streets of Sarajevo alone., unsupervised; with a pistol in his pocket and a cyanide pill that did not work.

The point is: most children of federal employees do not attack the federal; authority which keeps their father employed with a roof over their heads, food on their table and a guaranteed income. The point is: the story of a postman not being able to afford to feed his family stinks to high heaven... somebody is lying about this and nobody has bothered to find out just what the facts are about the conditions of Princip's family and his background. The other point is: the undead have tried to used the exact same model for other acts of terrorism or civil; disobedience until it has become a myth: the myth of the disgruntled spoiled unhappy postman or lowly federal employee who finally snaps one day and goes to work and shoots his boss and his co-workers in a fit of spite for being overlooked, not promoted, etc. Only Gavrilo was the son of a postman: not a postman. As in the famous play; ‘The postman always rings twice’ The undead evil which was hiding itself cunningly in Gavrilo struck twice.

Here is the question: what was the salary of a postman in Bosnia? Was he a provincial, federal or local employee? If he happened to be only locally employed, well then! Then this explains both scenarios of the Austrian Empire and its hands-off policy in Bosnia and the fact that this family of degenerates and idiots and asses who can't feed their own children on a regular paycheck: was probably an alcoholic drunken bum like Hitler's father was... It would explain how why nobody helped his family out and why the entire region knew his father for what he was: an incompetent lout who could not be trusted to deliver the mail and lived off the largess of the local farming community who had hired him as an act of mercy.

Also the impoverishment and misery of his family is a typical example of Bosnian Serb culture as it was in the early 1900's. In Serbian culture at that time: nobody helped their neighbors: this is still true today. It is every Serbian rat for himself and may thye devile take thee hindmost. This was exactly what the Devil known as Dragula always does and always did in Transylvania; otherwise known as Serbia; drag you down to the lowest subhuman level possible of pure evil. The Devil searched for the lowliest most diseased human wreckage living in Serbia and used it and turned it into an instrument of evil and wickedness. Serbia was the worst of all the ethnic groups in the Balkans. Each Serb tried to rob his neighbors and hated his neighbors. Each household is locked inside an isolated hell of familial hatred and sickness and degeneracy: all of which stems from their undead ancestors and what kind of sick scum they actually were when they were still alive. Serbs understand hate and envy and fear and jealousy and revenge: they do not understand love, kindness, generosity. They thought the progressive Austrians were weak. They thought that all shows of love and kindness are signs of weakness, when the opposite is true. Love and kindness only exist in human societies that are healthy, strong, positive and powerful.

The group he joined called the Black Hand, called itself "The Union of Death" Princip refused to divulge the secrets of the organization and died without telling anyone just what this secret group was and what its agenda and rituals were. Another proof of his mental degeneracy is in prison; his being unable to assemble and organize his thoughts without reading a book. This exposes him as one of the many mentally deranged brainwashed imbeciles who only believe what they read: not what they see with their own eyes. He is so detached from reality that he can only function mentally if he is reading from a book; reading words on a page. In other words he can't think without reading a book. In other words he does not have any thought himself: he cannot think by himself without reading a book, the book tells him what to do and what to think: he himself is an empty dead soul: a sick dying dead boy filled with undead evil spirits.

Another clue which exposes his mental insanity is the tunnel vision he develops on the morning of the assassination attempt when he prepares to commit murder and then suicide: he divorces himself from all Life around him. He does not laugh at the jokes of his fellow conspirators that he would otherwise crack up at. The newspaper does not interest him. He is girding himself to do two unnatural things so evil that he is barely able to function; he becomes an undead machine. He has been successfully brainwashed by the secret group called "The Union of Death"; which is a dead giveaway to the undead involved in this affair. In short; the poor, unhealthy, sick, diseased, unhappy, mentally deranged thing was not human. It was a dehumanized wreckage poisoned and filled with undead entities and he was not responsible for anything he did or said that day: that responsibility goes to the undead shit things that poisoned and used him; this is why all of them must be exterminated with extreme prejudice.

Dragutin Dimitrijevic was the real power behind the Serbian throne; his power was based on secrecy; he was the re-awakened undead entity known as Dragula. He and his Serbian secret police, and behind that secrecy, the secret revolutionary organization known as the Black Hand was the forerunner of secret revolutionary organizations like the Bolsheviks and murderers like Lenin and Stalin, and their secret police the KGB. He was the role model for all the later European totalitarian mass murderers parading themselves as nationalists and patriots... while carrying out his own secret agenda unknown even to the Serbian secret police and the Black Hand... using political assassination as the quickest political tactic to attaining upward social status and power. Layers upon layers of secrecy... layers of lies, liars laying down layers and layers of lies in order to hide and cover up the true origins of evil.

The empire politics of war which triggered WW1 and WW2 can be traced back to the Russo-Japanese war of 1904, the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, the Crimean war of 1853...

All of the conspiracies and secret treaties and secret alliances and secret agendas of 1900 Imperial, colonial European and Russian and English politics can be explained on the lowest emotional adolescent levels of hatred, envy, anger and revenge. Everybody was angry at somebody for some stupid reason. Everybody hated somebody else for some stupid reason. Everybody was envious of somebody else for some stupid reason. Everybody wanted revenge on somebody else for some stupid reason. Meaning the reasons and reasoning were not rational: they were not logical: it was all a bunch of propaganda bullshit; fomented by the undead, in order to control the course of international politics at the very top.

All of these wars were planned, orchestrated, triggered and put into action by a few fucking top bureaucratic aristocratic fops at the top of their respective political shitpiles of power. It was called 'palace politics'. A few powerful people in a few royal palaces determined the fate of nations and empires. An empire is an empty pyre that destroys and consumes everything it feeds on.

An empire is the ancient recreation of the volcanic empty pyres of Africa; the empty smoking holes of death which once dotted the continent of Africa where human apes lived for millions of years

Not one of these royal aristocratic motherfuckers have ever been held accountable in history for what they did and what their decisions did to millions and 100's of millions of human beings. Not one human being in human history has ever advocated holding these pieces of aristocratic shit personally responsible for the wars they created and the flimsy excuses they used for starting a war. The entire culture of modern warfare is still based upon palace politics, on a small coterie of war mongers at the top of govts deciding the fate of entire nations; it is still based on the unquestioning obedience of every fucking brainwashed human slave going along with the mobilization and arms manufacturing and enlisting of millions of brainwashed imbeciles, just because some anonymous assholes hiding behind closed doors, had the fucking arrogance to believe that they had the power and authority to own and control all the resources of an entire empire or nation and play their fucking war games for the sole purpose of accumulating more profits and more status and more power. Not one of these doddering wrecks had ever seen war: not one of them had ever experienced the insanity and brutality and dehumanization and horror of war. If the small handful of evil senile pompous assholes who planned and gave the orders had been killed dead: it would have saved millions of lives, and saved human civilization and all humanity from sinking deeper and deeper into worse evil.

What happened: what these unseen hands of undead filth did, was what they always do, and have done for hundreds of thousands of years. They find the worst filth possible: at the top and the bottom, and then use the worst... to topple the best at the top of the pyramidal shitpile of humanity... and from there on down use the worst to ruin and destroy the best, all the way down to the bottom of the barrel... until there is nothing left of Goodness and Decency and Love and Honesty and Courage and Beauty...but only the worst of the worst; on all levels of human society, from top to bottom.

Undead turd things can do this because of how civilization is structured. Civilization is structured pyramidally because undead invented and created civilization beginning from its inception. In order to keep this unnatural untenable condition from toppling, undead shit things have used every possible swindle and lie and deception in order to program and brainwash living humans into slavery into resignation into cowardice into fear into terrorized terrified timid little fucking mice, by controlling all of this mass of living humanity from the top on down. This has been done for thousands of years by using brute force to kill and destroy every burgeoning resistance to their evil, and stamping it out before it has a chance to grow.

This was what undead things did in the Balkans and in Europe... they made sure WW1 would happen. They made sure that fucking pompous asshole, the Russian Tsar would begin a massive arming and mobilization of his entire fucking army that alerted all of Europe to the impending invasion of millions of massed hordes of dehumanized Russian serfs, illiterate medieval, slave-peasants... who would be invading all of Europe and burning their towns and cities to the ground and raping their women and slaughtering their children.

The point is: if this insufferable pompous little twit of an imperial asshole of Russia had not lost every war he had previously attempted to win, he would have not been so anxious to prove his fucking manhood by ordering millions of Russian beasts of burden: which was all they were used for, to start a world war... Russian serfs were not citizens; they had no rights or privileges except the right to be taxed and forced to toil for their masters.

Germany had already told the Tsar that if he mobilized his army, Germany would consider that to be an act of war and mobilize also.... As a reaction to the Tsar's aggressive act. The point is: mobilization is tantamount to a declaration of war. This one fact is never raised because the Allies do not want to be blamed for starting WW1 but they did without question. The moot point that Germany actually declared war while France and Russia did not points more to the underhanded characteristic of Russians and French never being up front as to their true intentions. The point is that Germany did not start WW1: France and Russia did. If Russia and France had not mobilized nothing would have happened except a small regional war in the Balkans would have been fought and won and the Austrian Empire would have been stabilized long enough for Franz Joseph to become Emperor and begin his massive reorganizing and progressive policies which would have turned the Austrian Empire into a proud collection of multi-ethnic nations with their own Parliaments and their own self-respect and their own political autonomy, and the powder keg of racial-ethnic-religious hostilities would have died out in one short generation: less than 25 years. The reason Russia had not yet started the first European world war was because it had just recently lost a war against Japan and also because of Germany's huge industrial militarized power. Germany was the defender of all European national autonomy against the despised hordes of Russian serfs in the Tsar's personal army. This fact is always covered up or ignored by conventional history.

The fucking fact was that the Tsar Nicholas knew beyond any doubt that if he mobilized his army to invade any part of Austria or Hungary: Germany would consider this to be an act of war. Austria's revenge against the Serbian assassination of its royal 'Prince of Wales' was not a justified reaction because the terrorist group was not acting as an official part of the Serbian govt or the Serbian people. It was a huge reach, an invented political excuse to invade Serbia to crush all ethnic nationalism in Europe at its roots. Russia mobilizing 2 ½ million men and invading Germany and Austria was not justified either. Why don't history books point this out? Neither was France allying herself with the most corrupt backward medieval imperial monarchy of Russia justifiable. Why does history never point his out? Germany's declaring war on France and Russia was merely a reaction to the two nations who were mobilizing to attack Germany without officially declaring war on Germany. Which was a dirty, filthy thing to do and never criticized: why?

The reaction by Austria to the action of terrorists assassinating the most progressive head of the Austro-Hungarian Empire was an over-reaction. It was a deliberate plan to invade and conquer Serbia using the assassination as an excuse. It was deliberately done to crush the ethnic nationalism of Serbia because if ethnic nationalism was not crushed: the corrupt Austro-Hungarian Empire would blow up and be destroyed. Both sides were in the wrong. Neither were in the right. In all cases it was the mentality of mindless hate, greed, envy and coveting, covered up by a thin platitudes of politically correct bullshit.

All the hidden motives that were emotional/cultural/societal causes of WW1: together with the sins of pride, arrogance and power originated from undead ghouls hiding their motives from the living people they poisoned.

History is never honest about the true motives of people and what they actually did; history is never honest about the actions and reactions of people because all civilized people are poisoned by the dishonesty of the undead filth that hide inside them and behind every wall. Every building ever built has undead filth hiding in the walls all over the world.

History books and films never mention this total hypocrisy as the fraud it actually was. The claim of the Russian Tsar being a 'protector' of Slavic nations was a joke. It was just as true as the US govt being the protector of democracy in the world is today.

If Tsar Nicholas had not mobilized the entire fucking Russian army and planned to invade Germany and the Austrian empire; on the fucking pretext of defending that murderous dictator of Serbia the secret head of the Black Hand, who was the anathema of the Tsar's own royal authority, and who had already butchered and killed the rightful King and queen of Serbia... Germany would never have mobilized and gone to war in the first place. Dragutin Dimitrijevic: the butcher of Serbia should have been the arch enemy of the Tsar: not his ally. Possessed by the ghoul of Dracula. A ghoul named Dracula: designed to DRAG YOU IN to war. He was a murderer of Royalty. Dragutin Dimitrijevic known as 'Apis' was the real evil apex of power behind the throne of Serbia, the real power behind the throne. The puppet that was chosen to replace the murdered King was not the real ruler of Serbia. Dimitrijevic should have been more hated and feared by Russian aristocrats than Napoleon himself. Even Napoleon had not butchered the aristocrats he had deposed and thrown their naked dead bodies out their own palace windows.

But there were even more layers of secrecy... what the world didn't know was that Dimitrijevic himself was also acting as a double agent for Russia, to ruin the accession of the natural heir of Serbia so Nicholas could legally claim that he should be the rightful 'Slavic' leader of Serbia. Dimitrijevic thought he could use the Russians to further his own secret agenda, while the Russians thought they could use him to further their own ends. This was the hidden political reason why the official propaganda which the Russian govt used in its official international policy was that it supporter and defender of Slavic nations was the friend of all Slavs which was total bullshit... The Tsar and the Russian empire, instead of being the protector of Slavic people was their worst oppressor.

The secret plot by Russia to take over the Slavic Balkans was what was behind all the official Russian political rhetoric; they were just trying to pick up as many pieces of the crumbling Ottoman Empire as they could get away with. It was by this bit of invented propaganda that was being used as a politically correct pretext in the diplomatic circles of Imperial politics that the Tsar could use as an excuse to invade the Balkans and take over Serbia and the rest of the area and add it to his huge Imperial Empire. This royal Russian asshole used this official propaganda to rationalize a mobilization of his army and the invasion of Europe with a hidden secret agenda of conquest: not the defense of an independent nation.

The politically correct bullshit of Russia being the protector of all Slavic nations was about as true as the United States govt being the defender and protector of all democratic nations in the world today. Dimitrijevic was also the secret leader of the Black Hand: the Serbian terrorist organization that assassinated the rightful heir to the Austrian throne.

The true evil of Sarajevo in 1914 extends all the way to St Petersburg and the Tsar and to Vienna, all the way to the Emperor Franz Joseph. He was the one who commanded Franz Ferdinand to observe the military maneuvers in Bosnia just outside of the Serbian border... If he hadn't done that, Franz Ferdinand would not have been assassinated. His fingerprints are all over the plot to kill the Archduke. A known murderer of the rightful heir to the Serbian throne is used as a foil by both the Austrian and Russian secret Imperial power politics; each for their own secret evil political reasons, to get rid of an unwanted heir to the throne of Austria; as treachery and betrayal, and secret hidden plots and counter-plots converge in one place to spark the incident that would send all the world to war: It happened in front of the German/Jewish Schiller's delicatessen: or in English: Spark's deli.

It was a delicate spark that set off the raging inferno of hate and evil of WW1. All that was needed was a delicate spark... sparking near Sparks Deli. All the combustible materials had been assembled and piled up so the slightest spark would make the whole world explode into flames: the fact that the assassination happened in front of Sparks Deli and that two sparks coming out of a 9 mm pistol sparked off WW1 is not a fucking coincidence; it was orchestrated and planned by undead turds.

Another black hole of modern history is its avoidance of studying the life and history of the man whose death sparked WW1. Historians have never researched Franz Ferdinand to any degree whatsoever. Nobody has bothered to ask why he was so important a figure and the facts of his career and his life. This is because the undead seek and work to bury and hide all evidence of their crimes and all evidence of anything GOOD which existed in the past that was BETTER than what we have today. Otherwise people would start asking the logical question of why can't we bring back what had existed that was GOOD and HEALTHY. Not one detail of his life and what he did in the Austrian Empire exists; there is no in-depth biography of the man and his family; only the smallest of thumbnail sketches with the least amount of details and facts exist... screaming out to the lemmings the brainless conforming human masses, telling them not to focus on him, that he was not important, that his death meant nothing; that the death of him and his wife and his baby meant nothing, that his murder was meaningless, that it held no significance; that WW1 was begun by random chance, by impersonal huge historical forces which no human can control, that humans have no control over their own future or destiny. This is part of the mental cultural brainwashing and programming which the undead have foisted on the human species in order to keep all living humans slaves to their filthy stupid obscene designs and evil ghouls.

Why do you think all of the history and fiction of the top of civilized society is an obsession of who should marry who? It is undead entities who make sure every young person in these corrupt social circles is never ever allowed to marry the one they truly love. This was one main reason why he was killed by the undead. That is what Romeo and Juliet, Isolde and Tristan, and all of the other thousands of identical myths and legends and true stories of star-crossed lovers, tragedies, sorrow, pain suffering, unhappiness misery, loneliness is all about: For thousands of years has been the main message by the undead is: Life is supposed to be horrible and miserable and filled with suffering: not a happy healthy life filled with love and FUN and joy and kindness. The message royalty has been sending to the lower classes is marrying for love is forbidden; always marry for some corrupt filthy evil motive; never for love. Archduke Franz Ferdinand had defied this unspoken taboo and married his love and his happy family life was living proof that Love is better than all the Royal privileges and peerages in the world: For committing that sacrilege he had to be killed and destroyed as a living example of familial happiness. The undead hate happiness. The undead single out anyone who is happy and attack them.

The imprints of undead violation and intervention are all over the royal dynasties during that era. King George V of England and Tsar Nicholas of Russia were virtual copies of each other; they looked so alike that they often fooled their own families by dressing up in each other's uniforms: they had been the best of friends ever since childhood: and when The Tsar' was forced to abdicate: he naturally assumed that the King of England would provide him refuge. In fact England had a history of taking in all kinds of Royalty fleeing from a revolution as far back as the Red Terror when the heir to the throne of France was kept safe during the Napoleon's reign.

Suddenly for no explainable reason: This cousin who loved his friend the Tsar and was his best friend and had been the best of friends all their lives... suddenly this fucking corrupt weak fear-filled ruler starts hemming and hawing: and begins invention flimsy excuses as to why the govt of England should not allow the Tsar to escape sure death at the hands of the revolutionaries and be given a small villa to live in. His excuse was so filthy: so evil, so weak: so obvious a falsehood it is unbelievable: he complained he had no extra palaces which he could house the Tsar and his family. He complained that the only place he had was Balmoral castle and that was too cold a place for the Tsar. This for a Russian Tsar who endured Siberian winters 6 months long every year of his Life! This was how truly evil and filthy this replacement for Prince Edward was. Balmoral: the bad morals of the evil god BAAL ruled this filthy evil German king George of the Saxe-Coburg-Gotha Royal Family that ruled England.

What—who is this most corrupt and poisoned of all Royal dynasties? They ARE A COMPANY OF undead CORPSES: a corporate amalgamation of all the extinct dead royal houses of Europe. Their name exposes what they are: The name Gotha is the name of a German town: “a town in central Germany, in Thuringia on the North edge of the Thuringian forest: capital of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha (1826--1918); noted for the Almanach de Gotha (a record of the royal and noble houses of Europe.” They were the inventors of the first corporate entities: entities that exist only on paper: as the record of all the dead extinct royal dynasties which now exist only on paper. Co-BURG. An accumulation of all the dead Saxon Kings and rulers of Europe: conspiring to preserve their undead power by cooperating with each other, by co-rule: inventing businesses, Companies and Corporations; controlled and manipulated by them to pursue their one overriding goal of destroying, poisoning, corrupting and killing off all LIFE on this planet.

This is how the evil of the Sax-Coburg-Gothas exposes itself. This filthy lickspittle of a Royal ass professed his love for his cousin in personal letters, and told Nicky that if ever he needed anything he would be his faithful friend... The instant his cousin lost power and his throne... suddenly! All the cooperation between them disappeared like magic. All the love that he had professed all his life to his dear cousin leaked out of him like a sieve; like the empty shell controlled by undead filth which he was. This is how you identify who is evil and who is not evil. If you ever are in need of real help in times of crisis: then you find out who your real friends are and who your false friends are.

This is how you identify and expose who is evil and who isn't. Evil people have no gratitude in their hearts whatsoever. They are never grateful for anything that is done for them or given to them ever. In fact if you help them or give them anything they will hate you for it. They never help people who are really in need of help. When push comes to shove: evil people never give anything to anyone out of the goodness of their heart because they have no heart and no soul; they have no love: they have no human emotion: they are dead, soulless: empty shells: controlled and poisoned by undead filthy turd entities.

The universal undead filthy tactic of plotting evil is by choosing the stupidest, weakest, most diseased corrupt living individuals and orchestrating events so they will occupy the top roles of their respective societies. This is how they carry out their planned schemes; they choose the bottom of the human barrel of corrupt filth ahead of time... so once they are put in power, that they will act out and follow the evil designs of these undead unspeakable filth with the least amount of detectable intervention by them possible. But this never happens; things never go according to plan because these negative evil hiding rotting filth are going against the designed plan of the Universe. And the designed plan of the Universe is infinitely more powerful than the secret, designed filthy conspiracies to commit murder and evil. No matter how carefully they secretly plan their conspiracies and abominations; their carefully laid plans always go astray, and they are always forced to intervene directly into the live of living people in order to stop from being a GOOD outcome and result.

Why do you think the main intrigue of most Royal dynasties centers around who should be the next heir and who they should marry? Because these undead fight and claw like ravening insane beasts to push the worst, the most corrupt, the most twisted: the most easily manipulated: the weakest, the stupidest, the most incompetent corrupted ass possible into power so they will have maximum total control over those in power at the very top of every social strata and society.

This is why the more vile the family, the more corrupt and the higher up in power and status any living humans are: the more they are forced into arranged marriages; secretly orchestrated and planned ahead of time by undead filth. If Prince Eddy had become king of England as he was about to instead of his cousin George: there would have been no First World War and no Second World War. He was killed by the undead on purpose and the rotten stupid corrupt coward; his cousin George became King instead. Understand this: the undead work to ruin love between all Good people. The girl Prince Eddy fell in love with was the German princess who was instead, married off to that stupid short midget of a Russian jackass Nicholas. If the undead had not killed prince Eddy: he would have married his true love and they would have been blissfully happy and Germany and England would have become sister nations and never have made alliances against each other, and that Russian ass would have been forced to settle for an ordinary girl and raised dull stupid children and been replaced by someone competent who could rule an Empire without the mess he made of all the empire and without the Bolsheviks getting into power. Eddy was sent away to India at the every moment he had fallen in love with the German Princess Alix of Hesse on purpose. Then vile gossip and lies and rumors were invented and spread about him to blacken his name so she would reject all of his advances and marry that Russian ass instead. It was the most ill advised and ill-formed of marriages orchestrated by the undead. Undead evil does everything in its power to ruin all true LOVE; undead evil does everything it can to ruin everything that is GOOD and Positive.

Even though he knew it meant war with Germany, Nicholas' foreign minister recommended that he go to war to 'defend' Serbia because there were many European territories that little shit was itching to snatch and add to the already overblown, too-large-to-control Russian-Asian empire.

Germany had told Russia in no uncertain terms that the minute it began mobilizing, Germany would consider this as an act of war and mobilize also. So what did that fucking timid little royal Russian popinjay do? He vacillated, he temporized. He tried to order a 'limited' mobilization while at the same time writing to his royal cousin the Kaiser, saying he was trying to stop the war but that he was too weak and nobody would listen to him; which was total royal bullshit. And what did that blustering war mongering Prussian royal popinjay do? He wrote back saying that he was also in the same fix: that he didn't really want war but that he had no real control over his government's policy. Both of them were lying to each other in order to 'keep up appearances'.

Why did WW1 begin? Because two stuffed Imperial shirts, two royal popinjays suffering from inferiority complexes, had Imperial ambitions of expansion, and the third cousin George was a total boring idiot who could've been peacemaker between the two but never even tried to stave off the possibility of war. The short, incredibly thick-headed, stupid Russian bearded scum was a hen pecked husband who was dominated by his Germanic aristocrat of a wife. They lived in isolated royal seclusion, away from the Royal court; with the whole family reverting back to nature: swimming naked, as naked stupid bearded Russian apes reverting back to a primordial stupidity. The Tsar had lost the Russo-Japanese war to a race of what Europeans considered to be eastern monkeys. This loss of racial face had to be rectified. His entire medieval culture was being taken over by the industrialized nations around him, and his reaction was to bury his head in the sand as deeply as possible and pretend it wasn't happening, while being dominated by his imperious German royal hen of a wife pecking him to death.

The Kaiser of Germany, on the other hand, was a physically and mentally deformed cripple. His sense of inferiority came from the birth trauma of being born crippled at birth, and a mother whom he hated. Both of them loved to play at being at war... neither of them had the fucking guts to declare war on anyone. Germany was in the middle of a huge expensive naval arms race with England which was driving both nations into ruin, just to see which one could out-manufacture more super-expensive, colossal pieces of steel trash, glorified penises... called dreadnoughts for the non-existent domination of the high seas of the world... in a new age where naval sea power had been rendered obsolete and useless by the sheer size of international shipping and trade. No navy could police the oceans of the world anymore. It had only worked when oceanic shipping had been practiced by a small group of European sailing nations whose Kings had the money, technology and will to charter expensive naval expeditions.

Two genetically deformed, inbred royal imbeciles: Nicholas; whose genes were so diseased, his only son was a hemophiliac and doomed to die before he could become an adult. And Wilhelm, crippled at birth by being mechanically ripped out of his mothers womb by a pair of steel forceps because his fucking mother was so weak and spoiled rotten that her uterus muscles were not strong enough to push him out into the world.

The only thing which had kept Russia from invading Europe was Germany's industrialized military might and its Prussian military culture. The Teutonic warrior culture of Prussia had stood as a bulwark against the advancing hordes of Asia and Russia for centuries.

It was only after Russia began mobilizing for war that Germany also mobilized as a reaction. Two wars had already been fought in the Balkans and Austria had already gobbled up one the Slavic nation of Bosnia without Russia using this political excuse to interfere in the Balkans. But the stupid weak Tsar allowed himself to be pushed into it as a matter of 'principle'. The last time he had decided to go to war a revolution had sprung up and he had almost been deposed... plus he had lost that war against the Japanese. His stupidity in thinking he could win a war against Austria backed by the might of industrialized Germany was his deserved downfall. Just as Germany's deserved downfall was invading the neutral nation of Belgium in order to attack France, so too was the Tsar doomed to lose because in order to go to the 'aid' of Serbia, he had to invade the neutral countries that surrounded Austria. Instead of going to the fucking 'aid' of Serbia, they attacked the Austrian and German empires in hopes of gaining more territory.

Did you expect Austria and Germany not to react to this? The two empires being threatened instantly began mobilizing as fast as they could for a war in order to defend themselves against the coming Russian attack. They all knew that Russia was itching to conquer territory to extend its huge vast lands down to the Caspian sea and swallow up all of the Ottoman empire and get control of Constantinople in order to become a major sea power which would rival England's imperial royal navy, everybody knew these were the objectives of the Russian empire...*and if given half a chance in the process...*invade and conquer every square mile of territory it could to increase the size and power of its empire into Europe.

Who the fuck was to blame for this? Balkan wars had already been waged without any Russian intervention. Austria had already taken over the Slavic state of Bosnia in the Balkans from the Ottoman Empire without Russia coming to its rescue... but this time the Tsar decided to use Serbia as a political ploy to gain prestige by invading Europe and winning a war.

This was the actual excuse that was used to start WW1. Defending the butcher/dictator/ of Serbia who had installed a puppet-king in Serbia; who had murdered and butchered the true king and queen of Serbia. If Russia had actually been able to reach Serbia and defeat the Austrian invaders, the Tsar would have had that fucking butcher of Serbia shot dead and Serbia would have been added to his fucking empire, and the Slavs of Serbia would have discovered how much more brutal the tsarist regime of Imperial Russia was than the dictatorship they were already under. What is so puking disgusting and stinking is how all of the conventional fucking accounts of that war not blaming the Russian Tsar for starting a European war of total annihilation. As if it was okay for the fucking ruler of the medieval Russian empire to mobilize his entire fucking Russian empire for war and invade Europe with 3 million soldiers. And then blame Germany for reacting to this invasion.

The palace politics and the politically correct propaganda of that era had nothing to do with reality. The Serbians of Serbia were not a free people. They were not an independent people. Whether they were oppressed, taxed and brutalized by the Ottoman Empire or the Austrian Empire or by their own dictator, or by the Russian Empire did not make the plight of the average Serb any better.

All the dominos of military alliance and palace politics, and the psychology of inferiority complexes, and the ambitions of Imperial power, and the arrogance of imperial might... over-reacting... using excuses and setting off the other dominos of mass arrogance and mass complacency, and mass delusion, and the European/global civilized culture of imperial war as the ultimate test and proof of ethnic superiority... Together with human populations exploding due to industrialization of machines enslaving humans, and the destructive power of mechanized weapons of mass death exploding in their increased ability to kill and destroy all Life on Earth, with the exploding ethnic populations of the masses demanding their 'rights' of 'freedom' and autonomy...

All of these factors pressed so close to each other that they affected each other simultaneously. The denser the overpopulation, the more millions and billions of human lemmings there were, the more these lemmings instantly took their cue from those higher up in the shit pile of their respective societies. The larger the population, the more this chain reaction of mindless conformity is magnified, reinforced, followed, supported, and joined... until it reaches the level of mass hysteria, massed mobs... all singing and shouting and waving their fucking imperial nationalist flags. This is the “all-is-one”... the ‘we are all one’ syndrome; the loss of individual identity and individual intelligence that mass manufacturing, mass humanity, mass mechanization does to human beings overpopulating the Earth. They become a mindless mass of lemmings.

Why has no history book ever held Tsar Nicholas II responsible or even chastised him for what he did? Because he was murdered before he could be held accountable for starting WW1? Because you’re not supposed to blame dead people for what they did when they were alive? Because he lost the war due to his incompetence and indecision? Because the loser of a war is not important enough to be blamed or held accountable? Because he was a fucking Tsar? Because no royal aristocrat should ever be criticized for anything they did? Because he was killed in the end and so everyone has to feel sorry for this idiot who caused the First World War to begin?

Screw all the apologists for this bearded medieval midget. If ever there was a more useless, pompous, figurehead of an Emperor, unsuited to rule even his own ass, you would need to go back 1,000 years to the decline of the Roman Empire to find one. He was totally incapable of making a decision by himself. The only thing he was interested in was in the reactionary defense of ‘keeping up appearances’. Above all else, what mattered to Tsar Nicholas II was if he did something... how it would look to others.

Every one of his countless mistakes in judgment and his countless blunders was based upon his own sense of personal inferiority. His inferiority complex was so acute that he was physically afraid of men who were taller than he was. He could not abide or stand to be in the presence of anyone who was competent or intelligent. He could not stand anyone knew what they were saying, or knew what they were doing. Neurotic to the point of paranoid idiocy, everything threatened Nicholas...he was afraid of everyone.

His position as a medieval monarch with absolute power was that he could not admit to making any mistakes. Everything he did was supposed to be unquestionably right merely by his exalted position. Since he did not know what to do... since he was the most moronic, uneducated, bumbling, insecure, neurotic, timid, shy, immature ass of a spoiled baby who was terrified of his own shadow; he kept his entire family and himself in seclusion as if he were a monk who had renounced all worldly interests.

His unforgivable crime of omission was his complete abdication from wielding the power of his position as absolute ruler of all the Russias. He was that most insane of emperors:... an emperor who adamantly refused to rule, who refused to wield power, who isolated himself and his family from the royal court and from the imperial govt, leaving a power vacuum at the top which nobody could fill as long as he was still alive. It was only 1,000 years of tradition and custom; the blind Slavic obedience to a hereditary ruler that kept the Slavic races from getting rid of him sooner than they did.

Nicholas avoided making decisions like the plague; and when he did, he asked for advice and if the advice given was competent he always refused to listen to it, and if it was incompetent[ he took it because he himself was an incompetent ninny. This was exactly what his cousin the Kaiser of Germany also did. WW1 was a total bungled disaster on both sides of the conflict from the top down. Hindenburg could have completely defeated the Russians if he had been given the reinforcements he asked for. Instead, that timid ass of a pompous fake Wilhelm always took the worst advice: not the best. Germany was forced to split its military might between two fronts during the 1st two years of the war. If The Kaiser had not been a bumbling incompetent jackass, just like his Russian counterpart; the eastern front would have been terminated quickly, Russia would have been defeated decisively; and Germany would have had the necessary resources to end the war in the west front before America was pulled into the war, and millions of lives would have been saved. But the undead do not want humans to be competent; they fear it like the plague; they cannot afford their slaves to rise up against them.

Why has history never put the lion's share of the blame for beginning WW1 at the feet of the Russian Tsar as it should? After the war, it was not expedient for the major western leaders of America, France and England to put the blame where it actually deserves to be put. And since then; all historians like the fucking submissive brainless sheep they are, have followed their example. The abdication of the Tsar and the ensuing civil war took Russia out of the war. Even though Russia was ultimately responsible for starting it; the focus of history ignores this. The new Bolshevik govt that sued for peace and opted out of WW1 could not be taxed and made to pay war reparations since it had not started the war. Since Russia had not fought against the western nations: and had invaded Germany and Austria, and had once been one of the western allies... why then of course, horrors... one would never dare to cast any aspersions of blame on any member of the winners: the Triple Entente; even if one of them turned from a bloody backward medieval Empire into a bloodier totalitarian dictatorship because it lost the war against Germany and Austria; nooo!, as far as blame goes; they were all squeaky clean... it was the losers who were to blame of course; which is total bullshit.

When you want to lay the blame of who began WW1, you have to blame the first domino that began toppling all of the other dominos... not the second or the third domino. The palace politics of that time was all about royal peers posturing and posing to the world... Imperial aristocratic relatives, sending polite letters back and forth to each other... pretending the actual political, military and monetary power of their respective empires did not exist... except in their confessions to being subject to being 'pressured' by anonymous outside forces; which was their entire governmental cabinet members and generals and diplomats.

The political ploy of the Russian empire; declaring itself a 'friend' and 'protector' of Slavic ethnic nations in the Balkans is utter rubbish. The fucking fact of the matter is, if Russia had managed to defeat the Austrians and reached Serbia... that would have been the end of Serbia as an autonomous nation. Serbia would have been swallowed up into the Russian Empire and that would have become a vassal state and the Serbian Slavs would have discovered to their horror that becoming true Slaves under the Tsarist regime of the Russian Tsar was a thousand times worse than when they had not been independent and given 'aid' by the most backward, inept, decayed empire in the world. When five empires vying for power and territory decide to go to war against each other: it is most definitely not for the purpose of freeing small ethnic pockets of Serbs or Slavs so they can set up their own tiny independent governments. Russia was the 'protector' of Slavs like the English Empire was the 'protector' of the English: keeping them poor, enslaved and brainwashed for centuries while getting rich off their slavery and enslavement and toil. Russia was the 'protector' of Serbs and Slavs like the Chinese imperial dynasties were 'protectors' of the Chinese people: keeping them enslaved, poor and ignorant for thousands of years. National govts and empires most definitely do not protect the people they tax and feed off; they use them and cannibalize them and impoverish them and brainwash them and terrorize them into becoming abject brainwashed obedient subjects.

Since the Austrian Empire in order to invade Serbia had only ordered a limited mobilization; as a purely political form of posturing that imbecile Tsar Nicholas also wanted to order a 'limited' mobilization to show that he was on the side of Serbia only as a token show of force... not to be taken seriously. But everyone in Europe knew this was hogwash. All of the major powers including Russia had been manufacturing and stockpiling revolutionary new weapons of mass destruction for years. Nobody had had a chance to use them yet... all of them were itching to use all these new-fangled guns and submarines and airplanes and battleships and machine guns. Germany had already told Russia in no uncertain terms that if Russia began to mobilize for war, that Germany would take this as a tacit declaration of war against the German Empire. Nicholas II knew full well even if Russia did not attack Germany directly, and attacked the Austro-Hungarian Empire, that this would bring in Germany on Austria's side because of the military alliance between these two empires.

The trouble was; Nicholas had never bothered to understand the political situations in Europe; he had never studied the balance of power and the alliances which kept Europe from going to war. So when his war minister told him that there was no way to order a limited mobilization, he went ahead and ordered the total mobilization for war.... without any thought as to the consequences except that of 'keeping up his personal appearance of autocratic Tsar of Russia'... or in other words: saving his own face.

If the Tsar had not mobilized all of fucking Russia and planned to invade Europe the Austrian invasion of Serbia would have remained a small Balkan war and like the other Balkan wars before it; the western powers would have tut-tutted and shook their heads in dismay and done nothing...

If that fucking Russian asshole had not decided to invade Europe the teetering balance of imperial powers would have lasted longer... and all of the millions of good things that were happening at this time would have had a chance to grow, and flower... and all of the evil rotting things would have had a chance to die out or be destroyed by the new wave of Good that was being born everywhere all over the newly industrialized world.

Workers rights. Ethnic rights. Irish home rule. Nations each fighting for their own autonomy without being invaded and destroyed by huge imperial powers that had no interest in their quarrels and no way to profit from them... would have allowed the warring parties to work out their differences locally. Each one of the new awareness of nationality by ethnic origin becoming a natural evolution of expanded human awareness of a collective whole: This would have created a new condition of more equality in every nation on earth, was ruined and destroyed by undead intervention into the lives of the living.

The result and effect of the triggering of WW1 was catastrophic for all good positive life energy throughout the entire world.

That secluded Russian asshole; who almost never left his isolated family retreat, had almost been assassinated himself and had almost lost power after his stupid decision to go to war against Japan. When the weakness and gross incompetence of the whole Russian Empire was revealed to the whole world including to all of its subjects, he was very nearly deposed. That genetic retard, that hen-pecked husband of a freak with his massive inferiority complex and his massive stupidity and stubbornness, and his willingness to ignore all facts and reality, in his fucking attempt to 'keep up personal appearances', signed his own death warrant and committed political suicide when he decided to take over the running of the war and his army personally. This royal imbecile then proceeded to show to all of his subjects and to all of his soldiers just how incompetent, stupid and useless he actually was by not only losing the war, but by the entire Russian empire becoming a dysfunctional entity that could not even repair its own trains; whose boilers kept on exploding because the ignorant savages that attempted to run these huge mechanical monsters did not know anything about engineering details such as ‘water pressure’ and ‘temperature’. The sham of the Russian Empire being on a par with industrialized Europe was exposed to all Russians. By his enormously stupid attempt to ‘keep up personal appearances’ Nicholas II lost all appearance of being an omnipotent powerful Tsar. And was exposed for the bumbling incompetent jackass that he actually was. The millions of so-called ‘soldiers; in his army were not fed, were not clothed, were not given guns, and were not given enough ammunition. On top of this, they were led by Russian aristocrats who were the worst incompetents and cowards in Asia, and who treated their lower ranks as if they were dirt. Not only did the Russian soldiers come to hate and despise their own officers: they saw no real reason to go to war in the first place, and what’s more they were perfectly right... and when they lost the battle and were forced to retreat, they also lost all respect for their Tsar... so much that they jumped at every chance to surrender or desert. Those who could, simply went back to their farms. The rest died of starvation, cold, dysentery, plague, or died after they surrendered of starvation and forced marches and cold in prisoner camps. Sound familiar? The undead repeat their evil as much as possible. The undead recreate evil as many times as possible.

10,000 pages could not cover all the reasons and factors of exactly why and how the Russian Empire dissolved and fell into a civil war which was finally won by the Jewish Bolsheviks; who hid their true actual cultural commonality of cultural evil from the whole world, and still do to this day...

One factor should be mentioned simply because it has never been correctly identified or studied. That was the Jews of Russia: the 5th column hidden inside the Russian Empire: the Russian Jews and their habit of spreading evil, cunning, twisted, foul lies, rumors and gossip throughout the entire Empire. It was this single factor which was mainly responsible for undermining the authority of the Tsar and toppling the entire system. Jewish rumors and lies and gossip spread like wildfire throughout all of Russia. Lacking the sophisticated modern mass media of the western Allies; the undead used the Jews to spread poisoned lies. No research, no historian will ever be able to uncover exactly where these rumors and gossip came from, and how and why they magically sprang up everywhere and spread faster than lightning throughout an empire which covered most of Asia and part of Europe. To do this, the undead were forced into physically invading the lives and minds of hundreds of millions of human shells, and in doing so; in violating these hundreds of millions of living people so grossly and evilly; they managed to poison the entire population of this huge Empire and turned them into the most mindless, timid bunch of brainless lemmings the world had ever seen. The Jewish rumor mills of the Russian empire were the hidden handiwork of the undead. The cunning falsehoods and twisted lies spread by Jews in Russia poisoned the minds and hearts and souls of many millions of innocent, stupid Russians against their own govt; they negated Tsarist propaganda so cunningly and evilly; the secret hatred and falsity of the Russian Jews and their culture of secret hate and secret racist genocidal evil led to the rise of Lenin and Stalin: that master of hiding his Jewish genocidal hatred against all Mankind under the banner of class racism... with the exception of Jews of course. This is one historical fact which is missing from all history books and all accounts of his murderous career and his regime. THE REGIME OF Stalin was a genocidal regime which killed starved and dehumanized every single ethnic group in Russia except Jew. Jews were not sent to the Gulag to die of cold and hunger and overwork, They were not executed or held up in mock trials and sentenced to death. Only the good, humane decent Jews were targeted. The foulest Jews; the most dehumanized evil scum were never touched because they were used to kill the decent ones. It was the Jews of Russia who brought the Tsarist Regime of Nicholas down because they are used by the undead to poison the rest of humanity as far as possible down to their level of inhumanity, unfeeling cruelty and bestiality.

How this happened is simple. It was the very gentleness of the Russian Tsarist regime which allowed the most evil filth in Russia to take over the entire Empire. It was the non-intervention policy of leaving the Russian people alone to live their own lives as best they could which led to the Jewish Rumor mills taking over control of Russian public opinion. It was because Tsar Nicholas secluded himself and his family in his country estates; this literally ostracized his entire nation from any political news about what he was doing or planned to do or wanted to do. It was the vacuum of no news coming from Moscow; it was the Russian peasants fear of the unknown, desiring to know what was really going on behind the closed doors of the mighty and the rich. With no news forthcoming, they invented falsehoods to fill that vacuum. It was the logical result of a completely corrupt aristocracy cutting itself off from its own peasantry and trying to pretend that they didn't even exist and didn't matter. This same vacuum, this lack of oppression and evil inside an evil civilization, this lack of attention, however negative and evil, was what allowed the Red Terror to spread like wildfire in France until the rumor mills of the French Revolution turned France into a bloody insane horror of terrorized individuals who were terrified of public opinion being aimed against them.

It was the same in Russia during and after the Russian civil war. Only in the Russian Empire, there was a secret evil hidden ethnic minority that was exploding: having as many babies as they could, and taking over every single top position of power, wealth and status they could... Until the Jews of Russia became the bureaucrats of Russia, until they became the commissars of Leninists Stalinist Russia, until they became the KGB; until they managed to kill off the entire Russian Aristocracy and replaced them with their own filthy scum-ridden evil cunning breed of liars, poseurs and corrupt moneylenders. Swindlers, thieves, murderers, rapists, maniacs, etc, etc.

The Jewish takeover of the Russian Empire has never been studied or written: just as the Jewish takeover of England and Europe has never been studied and written of. How the Jews managed to hide their true cultural origins and identities under the false banner of the Bolsheviks: how they attracted the lowest, worst, most evil non-Jewish scum into their ranks and then began to systematically kill everyone else who was not Jewish and not a mass-murdering scumbag and not evil; it all BEGAN with the Jewish rumor mills of the Jewish ghettos in Russia spreading all kinds of lies to each other for centuries... and believing in their own lies and propaganda shit...until the rumor mills of the Russian Empire became the only believed source of news about what was actually going on elsewhere.

Nowhere else in Europe did this happen. All of the other nations of Europe had sophisticated propaganda machines which controlled public opinion. Only in medieval, illiterate Russia where most of the people couldn't read was this the case. Because of the illiteracy of their own masses, because the masses were so studiously and completely neglected and ignored by their own govt; the Tsarist govt had no propaganda control over its own masses. It was a simple matter of neglect. With no supervision whatsoever, no over-seeing, and no interference and no interest in the affairs of the lower classes; the upper class of the Russian aristocracy led by the example of that stupid little midget of an moronic, timid imbecile Nicholas, that tiny reclusive mouse; cut itself off from its own people and began living in a fantasy bubble of unreality which it paid for by losing all control and power over its masses.

This process of corruption can be seen in every civilized empire in history: the more undeserving and corrupt a ruling class becomes, the more they have to put up artificial barriers between those whom they rule in order to preserve the lie, the myth, the swindle that they should be obeyed by the masses they oppress and rule. Until you get the forbidden city of China, where invisible Emperors ruled hundreds of millions of slaves for thousands of years by never allowing the ruled masses to ever see them or come into contact with their revered Emperor or even come into the same city he lived in.

Nicholas made the fatal mistake of coming into close contact with his people. The result was they found out that he was not only just another human being like everyone else: he was a subhuman retarded idiot, an incompetent imbecile, a pompous, weak, vacillating, useless little nothing... and POP!... the illusion, the delusion, the myth, the bullshit propaganda of hundreds of years of autocratic royalty was pricked and destroyed in a matter of months.

Because of this lack of govt involvement in the lives of the Russian masses: anti-Tsarist propaganda was successfully fomented, spread and believed in, and it originated from Jews and the tradition of Jewish gossip inventing the foulest of lies and believing in the lies. Why and where did this tradition come from? It came from Jewish ghettos and villages in Russia being ostracized and isolated from all outside contact with Russian society. It came from their constant paranoia and fear of being attacked. It came from being terrorized by Russian Cossacks wiping out and burning to the ground entire ghettos, it came from Russian Jews never knowing when they were going to be attacked or why. It came from these isolated communities being forced to invent news of what was happening outside their ghettos for hundreds of years, it came from these ghettos being isolated and ostracized and neglected and allowed to rot. This unnatural enforced isolation from the rest of human society created the diseased, filthy corrupt Jewish ghetto cultures which these Jews then exported all over the world as a plague, a virus of filthy cowardice and non-violence and thinking of yourself as a helpless victim: which was exactly what the Russian ruling class did to its own people and with the same result: the vacuum of no news, no propaganda created the replacement of the gossip mill replacing the lack of any ruling class propaganda with a Russian peasant culture of leaderless stupidity.

The Jews inside the Russian Empire were an alien culture with an alien viewpoint which was hostile towards the ruling powers; given this lack of oversight by the ruling class of the Russian Empire they began convincing hundreds of millions of Russians that they needed to topple the Tsar because the political propaganda excuse of going to war because Austria had declared war on Serbia had worn so thin and was so obviously false that once Russia began losing the war, the masses lost all respect and fear of the Tsarist govt simply because they did not terrorize their own masses; simply because they expected the dumbed down masses to obey their incompetent corrupt officials without questioning their lies... at a time when Russian Generals and officers were questioning and challenging the authority of the tsar as their military leader who was obviously completely inept and useless.

It was from both the top and the bottom that this common discontent spread, until nothing could stop it; until the middle, the great majority of the Russian masses finally refused to obey their Tsar any longer and refused to go to fight and die for a meaningless cause. It took losing over 3 1/2 million casualties and countless defeats and humiliations... but it could not have happened without the Jewish rumor mills constantly spreading subversive, treasonous lies and filth about the Tsarina and her involvement with the mad monk Rasputin and all of the other Jewish filth like the rumor that she was sleeping with and having sex with this evil demon from hell. It could not have happened without the foul Jewish gossip mills and Jews of Russia organizing themselves to take over every region of the leaderless empire: each in their own cunning evil slimy Jewish ways.

The irony of these foul lies invented by foul-minded Jews is that the other side of the coin: the true evil empire, the British empire. had an Empress who was actually secretly sleeping with and having sex with an evil demon of a corrupt mystic who was her secret lover for decades. This is how the undead twist the truth; this is how the undead use Jews to twist the truth and reverse reality into unreality. Jews invent the filthiest evil lies about the most upright honest people on Earth; while glorifying and whitewashing the most evil corrupt filthy scum on the Earth: and by this; cunningly reversing the perception of everything that is actually good and everything that is actually evil. The result is the one decent royal Imperial family which is not totally corrupt being ripped from power and exterminated; while the most corrupt, diseased, evil, degenerate Imperial dynasty on Earth survives two World Wars and keeps its position as a royal dynasty.

The basic mistake of Nicholas was that he allowed himself to be pushed into a war using a totally hypocritical false premise in order to assert his non-existent manhood; the inferiority complex of an honest moron who knew he was a moron, but was not intelligent enough to be honest about other things and not strong enough to even have a will of his own.

The undead use the partial honesty and decency of good people against them to destroy them by using the excuse that they are not honest enough, not good enough. The only reason they can do this is because the person they attack is not honest and intelligent enough to see through them and all of their cunning filthy deceptions and illusions; they do not see through ALL of the twisted lies of civilization. Nicholas 's weakness was that he was honest enough to know that the political ploy he had used to mobilize the entire Russian Empire and attack Germany and the Austrian Empire was false. If he had been brainwashed and corrupted into an evil fanatic who believes all of his own his own stinking lies like Dick Cheney can and does; he would never have personally taken over the running of the war, and would never have exposed himself to the Russian people for the idiot he actually was and would never have been forced to abdicate... but then he would not have been the person that he was, he would have been someone completely different.

Austria had a supposedly justifiable excuse to declare war on Serbia... That is... if the assassination of the heir to the throne of the Austro-Hungarian Empire had been something that the emperor did not want to happen. In actuality Franz-Joseph the emperor hated the untimely and unforeseen heir to his throne and wanted to get rid of him by any means possible. It had been only by a series of unforeseen deaths that he had become eligible by blood to the position of heir to the Austrian throne. He was the one sticking point of sanity blocking Franz Joseph's imperial designs to expanding his empire by war and invasion of the Balkans. His progressive plans to decentralize the power of the Austro-Hungarian Empire by giving all of its ethnic nationalities their own independent parliament was so well-known that he was a marked man. If he had lived, he could have brought about a new age of peace and prosperity and tolerance never before seen in Europe, and as a living example of familial Love, he and Tsar Nicholas would have changed the entire world for the better: that was why the undead plotted to kill them both.

The unmistakable clue of Franz Joseph's undead ancestors culpability in the plot to kill him in Sarajevo is obvious: it was the Emperor's direct command that sent the Archduke to his death. Franz Joseph wanted him there because he knew about the plot to assassinate him, and Sarajevo was the closest he could place Franz Ferdinand to the Serbian border. By making public the fact that Franz Ferdinand would be in Sarajevo at a certain date instead of keeping the information secret which he should have: that poison-filled evil old shit turd of an 'emperor' was manipulated by his own undead ancestral filth. Everybody knew that Franz Joseph wanted Franz Ferdinand dead and out of the way. Everybody knew Franz Joseph wanted to find an excuse to start a war with Serbia so he could conquer it and add Serbia to his Empire.

Even more telling... is the fact that the Archduke and his wife and his unborn baby were killed on Franz Joseph Street.

Not only that: they were killed because the driver of the car made the wrong turn onto Franz Joseph Street which is behind the Appel Quay which was the route that was supposed to be used to visit the wounded officers in the hospital. The arch duke was assassinated by the secret wishes of his own Austrian Emperor and his entire royal Austrian court to get rid of him.

Why was the Archduke Franz Ferdinand killed the instant his car turned onto Franz Joseph Street named after the Austrian Emperor whom he was to replace soon? Because all of the thousands of undead ghouls of the Hapsburg dynasty... all of the dead dying insane senile, rotting destructive filth of this stinking royal house of pure senile evil, the entire pack of them wanted Franz Ferdinand DEAD so he would not 'upset' their old ancient obsolete stinking traditions and customs of their fucking DEAD past lives and their re-living their undead scum filthy lives over and over again. He was killed on Franz Joseph Street because the Emperor himself wanted his cousin DEAD... the emperor himself did not want to allow this upstart who had married of woman of a lower class to sully his rotting ancient Austrian throne with new ideas and new energy and love and peace, understanding and tolerance. Franz Ferdinand had been a champion of peaceful coexistence with Serbia. He had opposed and blocked the emperor over fifty times when that sick evil fucker tried to dredge up another of his endless excuses to go to war against Serbia. The only thing that was stopping that fucking evil old man from war was his heir Franz Joseph, and he wanted him dead... In fact the whole horde of undead invisible filth surrounding the Emperor's court wanted him dead...

The reason Franz Ferdinand was killed the instant he turned onto Franz Joseph street was because the instant that happened: all the hell-hounds of that filthy stinking rotten Austrian ancestry possessing an enormous fear of him, and an undying hate for him and all he represented, were unleashed against his strong bull-like powerful healthy life and body. The instant his car turned onto Franz Joseph Street, the horde of the Emperor's undead ancestors saw this as a 'signal' a 'sign' from a 'higher power'... from God Almighty himself whom they had never seen but still fervently believed in, giving them leave for them to unleash all of their hatred, fear and guilt into the World of the Living... projecting it all in one mass wave of hatred and death onto his virtually invulnerable body... and finding the one, small, tiny crack in his armour... just as Achilles was killed by the undead finding the one weakness in his life-aura... Re-creating this ancient filthy crime all over again:... going back and back into the mists of time to dredge up as much accumulated filthy insane brainwashed, ghouls of the past, piling evil upon evil upon evil... until finally the level of undead invisible negative hate and filth surrounding that car in which Franz Ferdinand was sitting, rose to such a malevolent level of insane evil it managed to do the job of killing not only him, but his wife and his soon-to be born baby as well, his heir to the throne of Austria... killing two heirs in one fell swoop, killing not only two birds but three with one stone as it were...

And this aspect of the aspect of the assassination, the Franz Joseph connection, the Street named after the Emperor whose entire lineage wanted the Archduke murdered before he gained the throne of Austria, was but one tiny part in the entire assemblage of demons and fiends from the underworld of Hell and the overworld of the realm of the undead needed to kill him... it was only one small part of the vortex of undead evil which had to be orchestrated and focused against him and all he stood for in order to accomplish the deed of killing him.

Franz Ferdinand was also culpable: instead of calling into question the right of imperial monarchs to rule as literal gods, the archduke chose to turn the corrupt chance of becoming emperor into a show of power, a military show of force to the Serbs that he was oppressing and taxing into starvation, into a private family reunion with his wife and children. The humiliating terms of his marriage to his wife did not allow her to be present in any official state functions was because she was not high enough in royal fucking aristocracy of peerage bloodlines. But on a military mission this rule did not apply.

The military camp he had visited just before entering Sarajevo was on the same grounds where Philip of Macedonia had been assassinated 2,500 years ago. Who was 'Apis' the mastermind of the plot? He was the ancient undead foul thing of an Egyptian god. Apis the Egyptian god was depicted as a bull. He was the Egyptian god of strength and fertility. The spirit of Apis was said to be present in the body of a real bull which was kept by the Pharaoh and looked after by his priests. At the end of the old year, the Apis bull was ritually slaughtered and its flesh eaten by the Pharaoh. In other words: instead of the healthiest bull being ritually slaughtered to the Pharaoh: the healthiest Austrian heir to the throne, the bullish Franz Ferdinand with the strength of a bull and the ferocity and single mindedness of a bull was slaughtered and given as a sacrifice to the Emperor of Austria. He was very peaceful: just as bulls are... but let anyone trespass upon his land and he became an enraged bull threatening to shoot them if he ever caught them again on his property. He had the personality of a bull, he had the territorial jealousy of a bull and the ego of a dominant male bull. Bosnia and Ferdinand were made for each other: frankly, the fact was that the Bosnians liked Ferdinand immensely: they liked his bullish ways and obstinacy and open honesty because that was exactly what they were like. The Bovine temperament and character of Bosnians was a perfect match for Ferdinand the bull. The pastoral splendour of Bosnia suited him also: which was why he decided to take his wife with him. No Bosnian had any evil designs against him: the undead were forced to import a bunch of adolescent idiots from Serbia to do the evil deed. Hurriedly, awkwardly... secretly inserting themselves into each step of the process in order to assassinate the arch duke and the huge danger of goodness, intelligence and competence which he represented to the undead.

Who was Dragutin Dimitrijevic: the butcher of Serbia? He was the ancient undead ghoul of Dracule the genocidal maniac, Vlad the Impaler, the bloodthirsty ghoul of Transylvania. A small Diminutive Dracula dressed up as a Serbian thug.

Who had the undead Egyptian god Apis already killed through using the body of Dragutin the Serbian King killer? Alexander the 1st of Serbia. In other words, the Egyptian gods repeating, re-living the killing of Alexander the Great by killing the Serbian King Alexander the 1st and thus setting up the dominos which created the Great War. The undead who caused the killing of Alexander the Great... 2,500 years later caused The Great War... by first killing of Alexander the 1st of Serbia... get it? The undead evil of the greatest mass murderer of ancient times, coming back 2,500 years later to create the greatest war of modern times by re-enacting their ancient crimes.

What was happening in that region was the undead were regressing and re-living and re-enacting the ancient assassinations of Philip the 1st of Macedonia, and Alexander the Great of Greece... and the ritual slaughter of the healthiest living bull of the god 'Apis' of the Pharaohs of Egypt... in the form of Franz Ferdinand the archduke of Austria. They were also recreating the genocidal massacres and bloody killings of Vlad the Impaler, the mad Transylvanian King who drank the blood of his victims a thousand years earlier.

By weaving the evils all of all these thousands of years of past events of assassination and ritual sacrifice together into one place, into one person and centralizing all of the undead filthy evil ghouls linked to these ancient pasts together... into one small street in Sarajevo in order to murder the healthiest, most bull-headed, obstinate, strong, arrogant heir to the throne of the Austro-Hungarian Empire: Archduke Franz Ferdinand... the ghouls of the undead managed to spark WW1. It took an enormous concentration of undead, spanning thousands and thousands of years, from the undead ghouls of the God Apis of Egypt, to the undead ghouls of King Phillip of Macedonia, to the undead ghouls of Alexander the Great's army, to the undead ghouls of ancient Alexandria, to the undead ghouls of the Transylvania period of history when Vlad and butchery and horror and cruelty ran rampant in the Balkans... it took ALL of this ACCUMULATION of undead ghouls concentrated into the city of Sarajevo to orchestrate, plan and carry out the assassination of Franz Ferdinand... That is how weak they are.... That is how they seem to be powerful when actually they are not.

The healthiest bull killed by the pharaoh ever year to the Egyptian God Apis had to have a white spot on its forehead: The sacrificed victim had to be marked by Nature. Franz Ferdinand's progressive plans to decentralize the power of the Austro-Hungarian Empire by giving all of its ethnic nationalities their own independent parliament was so well-known that he was a marked man. This is not a coincidence. Franz Ferdinand was the APEX of Austrian aristocracy: he was a marked man because his intentions were GOOD. He was the White Bull, killed by the Black Hand, to fend off the impending total annihilation of the undead. The other name for the secret Serb organization called the Black Hand was 'Unification or death'... guess which one these two agendas the undead decided to back.

Do you now begin to understand how cunning and hidden the multi-layered invisible evil of these undead filth now and their invisible, undetected effect on living people?

When the 1st attempt to kill Franz Ferdinand failed, the 2nd one succeeded. This has never happened in all history.

The street in Sarajevo where the assassination happened was just off the Appel Quay: Which means to call into question. Appele in French means to call or name. Quay: means a structure built parallel to the bank of a waterway for use as a landing place. Que: or means 'that' or 'what' it is French for asking what or that in the interrogative. As in; 'For what? For That?... Why?'

Franz Ferdinand was killed for a whole host of reasons. He was killed for hundreds of millions of reasons, he was killed so the hundreds of millions of new lives being born in Europe would have all their hopes destroyed and the best of them killed as sacrifices to the undead, along with all their unrealized hopes and dreams and plans. Franz Ferdinand was killed for calling into question the right of Royal dynasties to rule Europe. His not marrying into Royal bloodlines threatened and called into question the divine rights of Royalty. The Serbian assassins were calling into question the right of Royal assholes to rule them. Franz Ferdinand was killed for going against the invisible forces of undead evil, and against the old antiquated, out-of-date Austrian aristocracy. He was killed for caring about other human beings on a personal level. He was killed for not being Royal enough, for not having a wife who was from a Royal bloodline. He was killed for being too intelligent. He was killed because he decided to go to the hospital where members of his party who had been seriously injured in the failed assassination attempt lay... He was killed for the undead discovering that he was an evil man with good intentions; he was assassinated for being honest and incorruptible and competent. He was assassinated in Sarajevo because that city was the most peaceful, tolerant multi-ethnic city in the world at the time. It had flourished and prospered for hundreds of years without hate or war. The assassination happened in Sarajevo because Sarajevo was the crossroads where East meets West. Sarajevo was the shining example which proved that people from the East and from the West could live together in peace.

Nicholas Tsar of Russia and his whole family were killed for going back to Nature. He and his family was a living example of how tanned and happy and healthy you could be by escaping civilization and living a simple country life far away from civilization.

These are the actual reasons why these things happened. The undead always focus on any and every growing positive Life Energy and try to attack it, poison it and destroy it before it can grow and spread. These undead things want humanity to become weaker and sicker and more miserable: not healthier and happier. They could not afford to have a Royal Emperor who was against the new, growing machine-mechanical dehumanizing horror of mass-industrialization, who preferred the idyllic pleasures of a country life and hated living in ugly, crowded, dirty cities. They could not afford to have a Royal family that was actually happy because it was living far away from all the political intrigues, free of the evils of hate and envy and hereditary power and privilege. The lower classes and the masses might take the living example of Nicholas II and his family as a signal to go back to Nature also; the undead could not take that chance.

In fact just before WW1, all of Europe both the upper and lower classes were happily going back to Nature and rediscovering the beauty of Nature. People were spending most of their free time outdoors... People dined outdoors in outdoor cafes and restaurants, they went on picnics and excursions and trips to the countryside. For a few pence you could rent a rowboat and spend an idyllic day on one of the beautiful streams or rivers of England. Boating had become popular: going to the sea side to the beach, out in parks, bicycles were so cheap and plentiful, almost anyone could afford one. The cost of train tickets were so cheap, Paris the largest city in the world at the time, emptied itself every weekend as the bourgeoisie and the lower classes took trips into the countryside. Germany's many inns and hospitality were so well known it became a tourist destination; people from all over the world came to enjoy its bucolic pleasures. The industrial revolution had not yet totally destroyed the beauty of Europe. Just before WW1, Europeans were becoming happier. The undead could not abide this; they had to find a way to destroy all of this newfound happiness and health.

The Undead had to stop this healthy trend of going back to Nature before it destroyed the evils of industrialization. The industrial revolution had been orchestrated and invented by the undead so mankind would descend into worse misery and sickness and ignorance; not blossom forth into increasing good health and intelligence and happiness.

The same thing happened in Germany in the 1930's. Children were being enrolled in summer camps, living out in the country, working on farms; they were going back to Nature. This had to be stopped. They were becoming too healthy and too happy in their youth camps and youth groups. Understand this! The undead seek to destroy every burgeoning, blossoming example of health and happiness before it can grow and spread. History proves it.

As Heir to the Austrian Imperial throne: Franz-Ferdinand was the nominal designated eventual replacement to Franz Joseph as emperor of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. But the direction that Franz Ferdinand was going in was the complete opposite direction that Franz Joseph, the oldest most corrupt emperor of Europe had in mind. Instead of continuing the tour Ferdinand decided to go back to the hospital to see his wounded adjutant to make sure he was all right. Franz Ferdinand was progressive: he was modern and competent and sane. He believed in making peace, not in making war. He had already blocked attempts to go to war on many occasions and had earned the emperor's undying enmity for this. There is no doubt whatsoever that the Emperor of Austria wanted to get rid of his ultra-progressive heir. The archduke's assassination was very excuse Austria needed to go to war against Serbia. By killing two birds with one stone... as in all conspiracies: his assassination happening in Sarajevo satisfied the agendas and intentions of many evil-doers on both sides of the political spectrum. The point is: the plot to assassinate Franz Ferdinand had many origins.

How can it be proven that undead invisible demons and ghouls were instrumental in causing the event in Sarajevo that sparked WW1? The facts speak for themselves. According to his instructor, Princep was not a very good shot; other students were much more competent, Whenever Prince missed the target people standing around would laugh at him; that drove him to tears. This is one huge sign of undead infestation and violation of the undead poisoning the marksmanship of the poor boy. The undead wanted complete control of his shooting arm when the moment came; they could not trust this human wreck to shoot accurately by his own free will; he would pull the shot and miss. The undead forces of evil that guided his blind stab of shooting and killing the archduke and his wife and his baby son had to be honed down to a hundredth of a second, it had to be degraded into an instinctive blind, uncontrolled shot: so it could be controlled by the undead. The undead can and do interfere in every human impulse and motivation. They can flash into any living body and control muscles for a split second. However... they cannot sustain this control. They do not want to sustain it, because if they did it would become noticeable and living people would realize that they were being involuntarily controlled by invisible forces that did not come from their conscious minds. This would rip open and expose the existence of these undead things and their long reign of secrecy would be at an end so they only interfere in tiny short bursts so as not to attract attention to themselves and their filthy hidden existence. Every time Princep aimed his gun, the undead made sure the bullet would go astray. This was the story of his entire life. Every misguided principle he tried to believe in or live by went astray. He was a poisoned shell of the undead who used him and led all of his idealism astray. Every thought he had in his mind was led astray. Every intention he had was led astray, every logical goal he had was led astray, his entire thinking was incomprehensible. During his trial lawyers tried to get to the bottom of why he had shot the archduke. Princep could not give one rational sane reason for what he had done; he could not give one understandable motive for why he had joined the Black Hand. He was the personification of human Principles led astray, he was the personification of how easily the undead can and do lead men astray by their interference and poisoning of our lives. The assassination attempt to kill Archduke Ferdinand was meant to lead all of Mankind astray and it did; craftily, cunningly, invisibly.

The small group had planned to throw a bomb at the archduke's car as it passed: the bomb bounced off the car and exploded injuring some of the crowd, leaving the duke and his wife unharmed: the assassination attempt had failed. The group split up. Some of them were caught. The young boy who was the worst shot in the group, and the most innocent and most misled teenager wandered off and bought a sandwich at a delicatessen...

By a strange series of coincidences: a comedy of errors and miscues ensued. The attempt on the archduke's life should have increased all security around him and in the city. The city had strangely been empty of all police during the parade that welcomed the duke... he should have aborted his tour. Instead he began acting like a macho medieval general in the front line; disdainful of bullets and bombs, as if he was invulnerable: not even having the decency to be concerned for the safety of his pregnant wife at his side who was at his side.

Along the Appel Quay next to the river are 7 Serbian terrorists armed with bombs and pistols hiding in the crowds lined along the route of the archduke's convoy. The 1st terrorist panics and fails to throw his bomb. The 2nd throws a bomb which bounces off the Arch Duke's car and explodes behind, injuring a dozen people in the car and General Potiorek's adjutant is injured. Hearing the explosion the driver of the archduke's car tries to accelerate away...but the car stalls, he restarts it, and races towards the city hall. The remaining Serbian terrorists along the Quay see no opportunity to throw their bombs or shoot.

Franz Ferdinand asked about the members of his party that had been wounded by the bomb. When the archduke was told they were badly injured in hospital, he insisted on being taken to see them. The archduke instead of continuing his planned tour decides to go and see the members of his party who had been injured in the assassination attempt. In the car, General Potiorek decides to go by the quickest route; which just happens to be back along the same Appel Quay where the assassination attempt had been made? The plan was to turn right onto Franz Joseph Street, which is a weird street that crosses the Appel Quay, and makes a right angle turn and then runs parallel to the Appel Quay one street behind it. Since the adjutant of the General was one of those who had been injured; the chain of command had been broken, there was nobody to tell the driver of the Arch Duke's change of plan...decision to visit the hospital, so he makes the right turn onto Franz Joseph Street instead of taking the faster route back to the hospital... General Potiorek reaches out and orders the driver to go back, shouting out:

"What's this? This is the wrong way! We're supposed to take the Appel Quay!"

Just as the driver tries to put his car into reverse the gears jams, and the car stalls... as it had when the 1st bomb attempt had failed. Was the driver in on it? Or did he jam the gears twice because he and his machine were being interfered with by undead evil ghouls? The young Serbian boy with a sandwich in his hand comes sauntering out of the deli, and lo and behold...the archduke whom he had sworn to kill is sitting there right in front of him... and just at that moment... the car is at a standstill!... allowing the Serbian assassin to drop his sandwich, pull out his pistol and fire the 2 fatal shots.

Of all the coincidences piled upon coincidences this was incredible, it was luck beyond luck. In a previous attempt to kill the Governor of Bosnia: one Serbian boy shot 5 times at point blank and missed all 5 times. Here the worst shot of the secret organization kills the best shot in all of Europe! The boy by pure blind luck had two bullets which did not hit the Archdukes bullet-proof jacket but entered in at the one tiny spot just between his bullet-proof jacket and his bull neck, the only spot which could have killed him, severing his jugular... killing three living human beings with two 9 mm. caliber bullets which have almost no killing power unless they hit a major artery or penetrated the brain. The result is: the fetus in the archduke's wife's belly, his wife and the archduke: all three died so quickly nobody could save them... Extinguishing three lives with two bullets, which is unheard of.

What died in the belly of his wife was not just the growing new life of a family based upon love, a baby created out of love. What he killed was the growing world of Love that would have taken over the old world order without a shot being fired. What he destroyed was the birth of a world created out of peace and tolerance; not a world created out of war. Not a Europe destroyed by hate. Not racism, not ethnic nationalism.

The crime committed on Appel Quay has many levels of meaning and significance. That crime was the crime of the entire human species turning away from connecting with Nature once again. The choice: whether to go back to Nature or veer off into the evil Imperialism of Emperor Franz Joseph Street. Whether to call into question the apple of knowledge proffered by the evil serpents of evil, or bite into that rotten poisoned apple filled with the dead worms of undead ghouls and poison oneself by it. The chance of discovering the rotten worm hiding inside the apple of knowledge of industrialized technology had to be prevented by the undead scum who depend on living people remaining unaware of their evil presence and existence and plans and objectives.

Where can the black hand of malevolent interference be seen by undead forces?... At the 1st attempt the car stalls when the driver tries to accelerate. At the 2nd attempt; the car's gears jam. Both are mechanical coincidences that were orchestrated by unseen evil hands.

Who is supposed to tell the driver of the change of plans? The General is supposed to tell his adjutant, who is supposed to tell the driver... but the adjutant was injured in the 1st failed attempt is in the hospital; which is where the kind hearted Archduke wants to go. Who decides that the quickest route to the hospital is back along the exact same route where the assassination attempt happened? General Potiorek. Who makes the driver stop when he turns onto Franz Joseph Street? The same person who for no good reason and not informing the arch duke, decided to go back along the Appel Quay because he thought it would be a 'faster' way to the hospital.. The same person who had forgotten to tell the driver to go along the Appel Quay accuses the driver of the car for going the wrong way. The person responsible for the mistake accuses the lowest man in the chain of command of making the mistake; thus causing the confusion in the driver's nervous system and his mishandling of the clutch and gears, causing them to jam, stopping the car in front of Schiller's Deli just as Gabriel Princep comes outside with a sandwich in his hand. Who was the Governor of Bosnia who had survived numerous assassination attempts? Why the very same man General Potiorek... His karma of being a repeated target for assassination; is placed next to the arch duke Ferdinand. He had invited the duke to watch military maneuvers at camp Philipovic... This was the Karma of association that was used against Ferdinand. The history of assassination of royalty in that Macedonian land where King Phillip of Macedonia was mysteriously assassinated and his son the mad boy Alexander became ruler of a fledgling empire. An Austrian archduke assassinated by a young boy. A Macedonian king assassinated by a young boy. Two events; 2,500 years apart. The connection is not a coincidence. Both assassinations changed the course of history at a crucial point in time and place.

After Potiorek was of no use to the undead; after his inept generalship had led to hundreds of thousands of deaths and he was removed from command for incompetence, and became suicidal because he had lost the power to commit more evil and more death. The name of this man has a hidden aura in it. ORE. Pot I aura K. Pot... I...aura Kill... Plot: I kill. Plot: aura: I kill. Secretly orchestrating the archduke to be potshot by a boy who was an abysmal marksman.

The entire episode of Franz-Ferdinand's assignation has massive global significance and meaning and implications. The entire Western world was getting ready to do an about-face: in the OPPOSITE direction of industrialization: the entire world was teetering on the point of waking to its senses and refusing to follow the many paths of evil which industrialization was offering them. The undead scotched that before it could happen. The words of General Potiorek held huge meanings for all Mankind:

"What's this? This is the wrong way! We're supposed to take the Appel Quay!"

Humanity was supposed to Appel Quay... All humankind was calling into question many things which had never before been questioned. This was stopped by the undead violently interfering in the lives of living people. The undead were forced to show their hand. Mankind was about to reverse its path and follow the road along the 'Appel Quay': it was beginning to follow the path of calling things into question; it was beginning to go against the flow of ancient evil which had been pushing the human species along for hundreds of thousands and millions of years. This burgeoning humanity and awareness and intelligence had to be stopped or else the undead would be exposed, their evils stripped naked, and they would be hunted into EXTINCTION: which they deserve and will now be killed for all of their countless abominations against all Life and Humans and Humanity and ManKind.

Gabriel Princep; the Serbian terrorist who killed the arch duke had a Latin name. In Latin, the word 'Princep' means: leading politician, chief, leader, prince, preeminent person, magnate. This was exactly what Archduke Franz Joseph was. This unhappy sickly boy; dying of tuberculosis: this twisted thing filled with hate and hidden evil had inside him had an ancient Latin undead entity that recreated a Latin assassination of a pre-eminent person. The angel Gabriel is the angel is an Arch angel. The boy set out to kill an arch duke. Gabriel means; "Man of God"... are you getting the picture yet?... The boy was being used by the undead gods. The hosts of undead in their countless millions all the way back to the first angels of Yahweh had massed and invaded certain key persons in order to perpetrate the crime of the century. Angels are incorporeal beings, though they nevertheless take on human form when appearing to mankind. The sick dying boy was fighting for the principle of Serbian ethnic nationalism. He was easily misled into fighting for evil instead of good. He was indoctrinated to fight not for Serbian independence but for Serbian expansion and aggression; taking over countries where Serbs were a distinct minority. In other words he was not an agent of good: he was an agent of misguided youth and evil. His hatred for the one man in the Austrian Empire that was sympathetic to his cause of ridding the inhumanity of Austrian oppression from the Balkans was secretly orchestrated by undead filth. He killed the principle person who could have realized his goal of Bosnian political independence: he killed the one Austrian Prince who was on the side of Serbian independence and no war with Serbia and no invasion of Serbia. That is not a fucking coincidence. When testifying in his trial Princep told the court when he saw the car with the heir apparent in front of him:

"I was filled with a peculiar feeling..."

I fired twice, perhaps more, because I was so excited.”

That peculiar feeling is not a coincidence. It is the feeling of excitement you feel when undead evil filth takes over your body-aura, when it takes over control of your body, your mind and your emotions and makes sure that you fire the two shots in two small spots, the only two spots which could instantly kill three lives with two 8 mm bullets.

During his trial when asked what he had been trying to achieve he said:

”To do away with those....

WHO OBSTRUCT

and...

DO EVIL”

This shows how the undead hide their true intent by cunningly twisting the words their shells speak. in order to bury the actual truth under layers of misperceptions. What these words actually mean can only be understood when put under the lens of hindsight and historical perspective and examined in microscopic detail.

What Princep actually said what that he was doing away with those who obstruct evil ... plus, he was also doing away with those who do evil. The Archduke and his family were not free of evil... however what is NOT mentioned is the fact that the evil which they were guilty of was less than ONE BILLIONTH the amount of evil THEY WERE ACTUALLY OBSTRUCTING. In killing Archduke Ferdinand and his loving wife and their love-baby growing happily inside his mother’s healthy womb: that sick, diseased boy did away with the most powerful force for GOOD in Europe that was OBSTRUCTING EVIL. By focusing on lesser evils while ignoring and whitewashing greater evils; this one-sided, negative, distorted, unreal, selective way of looking at things is how and why humans do not perceive the actual truth clearly. This is what the undead inside you, DO to you, to make sure they will not be discovered and blamed for their interference and poisoning of your life.

The rest of his explanation is another cunning hidden tip of the undead peeking out from the puppet it controls. In fact it has no connective meaning to the two completely separate phrases he spoke before.

“who stand in the way of unification.”

Just exactly what fucking ‘unification’ was this brainwashed idiot speaking of? Unifying Bosnia with Serbia was not an ethnic unification of Serbs, it was not a religious unification, it was not a cultural unification. Serbs were a minority in the Bosnian state. The entire region of the Balkans was a mish-mash of so many different ethnic races, cultures and tribal creeds that only a powerful Empire strong enough to crush interracial conflict under its military power could ‘unify’ anything. There was nothing to ‘unify’ in the first fucking place. There was no ethnically ‘unified’ population in the Balkans. Serbia’s greedy ambition for conquering more land and expanding its power was just one tiny little fucking copycat of a new upstart nation duplicating exactly what huge empires had been for thousands of years ever since civilization had been invented. The fact is Serbia was no better than any other European state; its motives were the same as every other European colonial power:: the centralization and acquisition of power, wealth and land by expansion, war and conquest. Whether it was the Russian Empire or the Austro-Hungarian Empire or the French Empire or the German Empire or Serbia... they were all trying to copy what the British Empire had managed to do, what Napoleon had managed to do, what the Roman Empire had managed to do, etc, etc ad nauseum.

What this mouthpiece of the undead actually meant by ‘unification’ was the ongoing centralized control of all human civilization and all living humans under the power of single undead authority, a single malevolent undead force of pure evil; which is now mistakenly called the ‘new world order’.

Then the plaintive brainwashed boy utters the last part of his statement which is a belated apology, and a complete reversal of the actual hidden truth.

“I never thought that after the assassination there would be a war...”

This sick, brainwashed indoctrinated boy claims he is innocent of any evil intention: innocent of any evil outcome of his actions, when actual truth is that all the hidden undead malevolent forces inside him and around him that manipulated and used him as a puppet on strings; planned and orchestrated the assassination with the express specific purpose and ghoul of sparking a World War.

What this succinct, garbled, illogical confession reveals is how... in only two sentences: the undead filth controlling Gavrilo Princep cunningly twisted all of his lying words around... until they meant the complete OPPOSITE of what the truth actually was and is.

You mean to say that this member of a secret assassination squad whose goal it was to kill the heir apparent to the Austro-Hungarian empire did not expect riots, and hate and racism to erupt, that he did not expect a war to happen from his evil deed? You mean to say that killing an innocent baby inside its mother's womb and killing an innocent wife sitting next to her husband, and killing the most progressive, pro-freedom political power in Europe was not an act of meanness and evil? That this sick insane boy was not filled with demons of hate? That his killing 3 lives with 2 bullets is not dastardly and unethical and immoral? That he himself is innocent of all blame? And it is the Austrian Empire's fault that he killed the heir to the throne and not the Emperor himself? You mean that killing is not evil? You mean that killing a good person is not evil? Bullshit Bullshit.

The fucking point is... when you put the words together: Princip's statement seems to express the muddled illogical thinking of an ignorant young boy who had swallowed a certain political dogma, and was merely repeating what he had been taught... and was belatedly professing his naïve innocence of the realization of the consequences of his own actions.

“To do away with those who obstruct and do evil, who stand in the way of unification... I never thought that after the assassination there would be a war.”

But when you examine the words closely... and include the knowledge of the presence and existence of undead ghouls into the examination... and the knowledge of how they operate and their tactics... his words reveal in microcosm, just how cunningly the undead avoid all responsibility by making their controlled puppets avoid facing all responsibility also, and how cunning they are in twisting the truth and the true meanings of words into the complete opposite of the actual truth. What Princep did not tell the court was that he had no thoughts of his own... he couldn't think, he didn't think, he was incapable of thinking. The poisonous undead things inside his aura and brain made sure that all of his thought processes were short-circuited and led astray. Any modern court would find him mentally insane, but the Austrians were interested in revenge, not in justice or uncovering the truth about why he had killed the Archduke, his wife and her baby.

Found engraved on the wall of Princip's prison cell after his death

"Our shadows will be walking through Vienna, strolling through the court, frightening lords."

20 years later Viennese Lords were frightened by the young Nazi officers strolling through Vienna. 5 years later Viennese aristocracy was frightened by 3 Allied armies occupying Vienna and splitting it into three military regions under martial law. What was the undead malevolent hatred for Vienna? Vienna was the most progressively humane capital in Europe in 1914. The undead want to destroy all human attributes of kindness and generosity and giving and tolerance and decency and goodness. The Austrian Empire was in the process of giving self-rule to its many ethnic regions. The Province of Bosnia was the test case for how Austria was to keep its centralized power over its multi-ethnic populations. This meant that ethnic and religious tolerance was the order of the day: the wave of the future: it was the only alternative to bloody revolution and Crown Prince Franz Ferdinand was leading this progressive fight against the entire Austrian court and winning. The undead did not want tolerance and peaceful co-existence to become normalized: this would seriously hamper their fomenting of hatred and war and evil in the world of the living. Peaceful change without hate or bloodshed? That was that filthy dead zombie killed when he shot the archduke and his wife and his growing baby: the growing fetus of humanity humaneness had to be butchered and kept stupid and frozen by the mass terror of global war which distracted the living from the evils of their own societies.

Princip's words should send a cold shiver of horror through everyone who reads what said in his trial because he was a mouthpiece of pure malevolent evil... and evil so ancient and so veiled: its origins are lost in the mists of time. His words reveal and expose that there is an undead, carefully organized, premeditated plot to destroy the entire world; a plan that is now coming to fruition after 100 years of the undead working towards this ghoul; This is what Princip said in 1914;

"I am an adherent of the radical anarchist idea which aims at destroying the present system through terrorism."

What that insane boy said almost a century ago is now being used by the most powerful empire in the world to destroy Mankind. By reversing everything: undead evil has now embedded STATE terrorism all over the world, and replaced the lone mad bomber who is trying to pull down a rotten empire; with a rotten empire trying to pull down every small healthy free independent state, like Bosnia was before WW1. The American CIA and other Imperial Zionist agencies have used the historical example of this manipulated shell of a sick young boy as a cover, a false flag to commit their manifold secret operations of destabilizing and overthrowing every new growing democracy in the world.

The point is: Princip's words are prophetic for a very good reason: the undead have been using him, his historical example to delude and deceive the world and cover up the actual truth by reversing it. The truth is that the first anarchists were social progressive rebels who had the good sense to know that every hamlet, every village, every community, every town, every small society can run their own affairs far better without the interference, taxation, oppression and terrorization of a huge centralized Imperial Empire. They knew perfectly well that instead of anarchy; social harmony would prevail. Their goal was to destroy all centralized power and that is a GOOD thing...

The undead quickly poisoned the perception of the brainwashed masses so they would see it as a bad thing.

By never allowing any anarchist movement to succeed; by poisoning every GOOD humane social idea from the beginning and turning it into a horror like the French revolution of Liberty, Equality and Fraternity turned into the mass hysteria of hatred killing and bloodshed... The undead have managed to instill this religious conviction that any attempt to form an intelligent human society is bad... by never allowing one to be formed in the first place.

This is one important crucial aspect of modern history that can only be understood if you study and examine and read the in-depth details of every new social movement: where they originated from, and how they went bad before their principles could be put into practice. You can see the existence of undead evil poisoning the minds and wills of humans; you can read how evil crept into these powder kegs of new ideas... you can read the history of the remorseless onslaught of evil undoing every single positive advance that Mankind has achieved... But you will not be able to put your finger on the true causes of this reversal because the undead hide behind veils of secrecy and hidden evil. You will not be able to understand the history of human civilization unless you have the perspective of time and include the hidden invisible conspiracies which the undead are constantly hatching, planning, reacting to and orchestrating to counter everything Positive in the human soul and the societies of living humans. Take for instance the new German industrial marvel: the Ruhr valley industrial steel plant of the Krupp corporation. Read its history. Then read the history of the American Carnegie 's River Rouge industrial steel plant. Place the two histories side-by-side and compare their history: when they were built, how they were planned and what happened to the plants... One is the original human planning with humane intelligence that has yet to be copied or equaled for its stunning intelligent design and socialized care of its workers. The other is an abomination of that design, it is a later bad copy of the Krupp master plan, it was a reaction by the undead to destroy German industrial excellence, and it was literally used to do just that through two World Wars. If you study History in depth enough, you will discover this same phenomenon repeated thousands and millions of times over and over through the entire span of recorded history: a wonderful blooming beauty: and then the backlash of undead frenziedly working to destroy every vestige and trace of the creative genius and humanity that blossomed. But with the social ideas of pre-WW1 and WW2: you do not see any blooming except in Germany between WW1 and WW2, and that is not a blooming: it is a poisoning of the German people by injecting this foreigner, this Austrian into the TOP of German POWER to make sure that the entire Nation would never have a chance to find its own feet and become an ethnic nation unpoisoned by the worst filth on earth.

The point is... the aim; the ghouls of the undead have not changed for 100 years: it has not changed for millions of years; it is a steady unchanging goal, and regardless whether the undead use a sick boy dying of consumption to topple a huge empire or use an empire to destroy every small nation the size of Serbia like Libya, Syria, Iraq and Afghanistan using the exact same propaganda! You should notice by now that terrorists are no longer lone gunmen! You should notice that the terrorists who took down the Twin Towers in New York were not anarchists! They are engineers of an insane radical right-wing elite American movement to take over the world by military force if need be!... You should notice that the actors change, the times change, the people change, but the words remain the same!... This should tell you that something unseen is at work here. The 'new world order' of state terrorism today being invented by this lone fool of a boy 100 years ago? Bullshit. Something stinks to high heaven and it is heaven itself which stinks of these filthy scum.

Princip in Latin means rule, dominion, pre-eminence, first place. It also means beginning. This is not a fucking coincidence! The undead had to assemble all of their filthy evil hordes of undead ghouls going back to Latin times of ancient Rome and Ancient Greece! into this one small space on the streets of Sarajevo in order to reverse the tide of history... Turning the tide of a new more humane Europe into the beginnings of a World War. Reversing the tide of Man over Machine into Machine over Man. Turning the tide of GOOD into a tide of evil.

Princep also stands for principle: the principle of equality and freedom from oppression. What right did this strutting Austrian militarist who loved killing thousands of wild animals have to starve and tax Bosnians Serbs into submission? But he was not responsible for Serbia's position because he was not yet in power. He was not the one oppressing the Serbs. He was the wrong figurehead, the wrong target. The undead always veer the paths of good intentions and twist them into the worst paths, the worst ways possible. The undead inside Gavrilo, using him as an unwitting tool; tried their best to poison and destroy every GOOD human moral, ethical and communal principle in the world.

Why were these assassins labeled as terrorists and not as freedom fighters? Because in the lands they were trying to 'free'; the Serbians were and still are, a distinct minority. It was as if an Irish IRA group plotted to bomb and kill the president of the USA because they were trying to free the Irish people of America from Imperial rule of the US government. In other words: the majority of Bosnians were not Serbian and had no liking for them. Bosnia had been taken away from the rotting evil corruption of the Ottoman Empire and enfolded into the Austrian empire without anyone firing a shot. Nobody in the recently freed Bosnia would have traded their betterment for the butcher dictator of Serbia. There are no definite good guys and bad guys in this story. The Balkan ethnic nationalities were not 'good'. Neither were the Turks. By comparison to the Turks; the Austrians were angels of mercy, even though they the most cruel and backward of the major European powers. But they were still better than the Serbs or the Russians or the Turks.

The mathematical chances of a second chance arising to kill the archduke are beyond belief. Turning onto the exact street where the Serbian boy was buying a sandwich in Schiller's delicatessen. Schiller means spark in German. The incident that sparked WW1 happened in from of a German restaurant called spark, or glimmer of light.

The killing of Franz Ferdinand the peacemaker and antiwar activist extinguished the last glimmer of hope, the last glimmer of sanity in Europe, the last spark of enlightenment in the ruling classes of Europe.

Stopping in front of Schiller's Deli as the Serbian boy came out is a coincidence beyond mathematical probability.... To have the car freeze in its tracks, and have the gears jam, is the last straw in the piling of incredible coincidences on top of each other, until the proof of undead evil guiding the black hands of death reveal their interference in the realm of the living is unmistakable. The undead hand that guided Gavrilo's hand when aimed and pulled the trigger of his gun... The group he belonged to was called the black hand: that is not a coincidence.

If... the driver had kept the car moving... or if the gears had not jammed at that specific instant: the boy would never have managed to kill the archduke. He was a poor shot with a pistol and could barely hit anything that was stationary. With a moving target he would have missed his two shots which needed pinpoint accuracy. The undead ghoul guiding his hand and pulling the trigger could never have hit those two marks if the car had been moving. It was only by these huge number of coincidences piled up together to have any likelihood of success.

An inexperienced young boy comes out of a deli and bang-bang! The impossible is accomplished. Oh, why here's the archduke sitting here right in front of me. And the gears of his car are jammed so he can't get away and he's a sitting duck. Firing blindly by pure luck his bullet finds the crease between Franz Joseph's bull neck and his bullet-proof jacket. And hits his jugular severing it causing near instant death? Like fuck it was a coincidence. The first attempt kill the archduke failed... in order to make this assassination happen: these undead things were forced into showing their hand, they were forced to show how cunningly they can control physical events which they plan and orchestrate, and how slyly and subtly they can and do interfere in human lives.

This is only one example of proof of the existence of unseen hidden evil existing in the realm of the undead, and how cunningly and subtly they can and do manipulate and twist events in our living world to fulfill their evil ghouls. The only reason these coincidences happened was because the undead forced it to happen unnaturally. The only reason it happened was because they came together and secretly planned the starting of WW1 ahead of time. They only needed to corrupt and poison a few key officials at the top of the Austro-Hungarian govt and the Tsarist govt of Nicholas II of Russia. Then all the other dominoes which they had been set into place began to fall: one after the other... until all of Europe was caught up in a spreading euphoria, a mass hysteria of insane mass joy of going to war... Every fucking nation was jubilant as the flower of its manhood and youth marched off to be slaughtered and ruined for life.

This mass conformity of hundreds of millions of people was due to the undead fanning the flames of the love of killing and insanity in every human heart. It was undead entities hiding inside each living human body that were celebrating the coming death of millions that were going to be slaughtered and killed: not those rare few, who had minds of their own and hearts of their own. No sane person enjoys killing. No sane person enjoys even the thought of killing.

Understand this: these undead things are not human, they are not intelligent, they are not omnipotent, they are not competent, most of their secret plans fail. Because they fuck up so many times, they are forced to reveal their hidden existence over and over again. It is only when you are a force for good that you will become aware of just how forces of invisible evil block your efforts for good. If you are a force for evil: you will never find them blocking your efforts. Instead they will use you to create yet more evil.

The undead planned the beginning of the 1st WW as a reaction to what was happening all over the world: it was orchestrated and planned as a way of killing and destroying many budding Good things with one huge massive worldwide catastrophe. The undead chose as their victim the progressive Austrian prince who would soon become emperor and had promised all kinds of progressive intelligent reforms when he came into power. His intentions to do GOOD automatically made him a target of evil. He was a seminal seed of sanity and goodness buried in the rotten evil of European aristocracy. For years It had been his influence as heir to the Throne of the Austro-Hungarian Empire that had kept the palace politics of the Austrian Govt and the war mongering aristocracy from deciding to go to war. If he had not been killed, he would have kept Austria from starting any war, and when he succeeded to the throne, he would have governed with such wisdom that the Balkans would have become a land of tolerance and peace, and the Serb butcher would have been gotten rid of and no dictators would have risen to power afterward. The archduke had done what only one out of a million had ever tried to do: he had married out of LOVE; he had married the girl of his heart and disobeyed and defied his father and the emperor of Austria and gone against their wishes. He had married a girl who was not of his class. The result was that he was happily married and attributed all of his happiness and success to marrying her. Do you have any idea of how rare this is? Do you have any conception of how rare this was in the 19th century in Europe in the elite aristocracy of Europe? The undead hate love. The undead fear love. Love has the Power to create New Life which is better and more beautiful. Love creates Beauty. The undead hate Beauty. Love creates Happiness. The undead hate Happiness and fear it. The undead hate Beauty and destroy it.

Understand this: the malevolent evil intention of undead entities is to destroy all Love on Earth, all Happiness, all Health, all Life on Earth. They have already destroyed the love of over a billion loving people in just the last century due to inventing and orchestrating the abominations of two World Wars. Now the world is empty of Love because of them, the Earth is shrinking from that emptiness, without the powerful energy of Love, there is less and less reason to Live. There is no happiness in the world any more... there is no laughter any more. .

If the archduke had been allowed to live: he would have reformed the Austro-Hungarian empire so intelligently and so well: that all the Balkan squabbles and bitter rivalries would have been moderated and resolved and the worst dictators of the coming century like Stalin and Mussolini and Hitler and Mao Tse Tsung would never have gained power. But Franz Ferdinand had a bad Karma with animals. He had shot over 200,000 living creatures with his own hands. He was as was the Kaiser: a hunting fanatic, but unlike the Kaiser he was an expert shot and had been shooting and killing birds, stags, every imaginable species he could find to kill. As the old adage goes: 'He who lives by the sword, dies by the sword.' In the case of the Arch Duke it was: 'He who lives by the gun dies by the gun.' The Austrian emperor's defense minister had already attempted to wage war 20 times against Serbia and every time the heir to the throne blocked his will. His personal hypocrisy: the mass killing of innocent animals while advocating peace with Serbia was his undoing.

Whenever any living soul is not successfully corrupted to the degree that undead require of them in order to render the harmless in the realm of the dead; every imaginable excuse and rationalization is used to find some way of blaming them: of putting the blame and guilt and responsibility of the evil committed by these foul things onto the shoulders of living people who pose a threat to their domination and manipulation and total control of the living populations of humans. For any positive human, for any positive energy to succeed in triumphing over evil black negative death energy: the undead seek to require that energy be absolutely pure; and since there is no such thing as absolute purity in our relativist Universe; they can always find some tiny flaw which they exploit to destroy, poison, twist, corrupt, and turn all the positive good intentions of living people until that good positive energy is reversed 180 degrees and by that reversal of its actual direction: it becomes black negative filthy death energy. Franz Ferdinand had many faults and failings; but his moral spiritual intellectual physical emotional strength, sanity and wisdom was light-years ahead of all others of his class in that era.

If there had been no WW1: the entire socialist worker movements of the world would have united and there would have been a world union of workers that would have become so powerful: they would have been more powerful than any single empire or nation. Then... there would have been a better world, a world of correct class distinctions, where each class had its own governmental bodies. This would have signaled the death knell of the upper classes ruling over the lower classes.

This in turn would have signaled the end of all armies and factories manufacturing weapons of mass destruction.

This in turn would have toppled the entire corrupt secret banking Rothschild cartel of mobster swindlers who had amassed huge fortunes and were pulling the strings of all govts and creating wars in order to profit from them.

This in turn would have signaled the reverse of all mechanized industrialization: and the mechanical horror of identical brainwashed lower class slaves becoming brainwashed running dogs of a capitalist system that is completely corrupt and evil.

WW1 and WW2 would have never happened.
The atomic bomb would have never have been invented

The industrialized commercial poisoning and destruction of the Earth by capitalist corporate entities bent on pure greed would never have been possible. Billions of people all around the earth would have woken up and realized and understood that the only way to live is to govern themselves and not allow any outer authority or higher class of Imperial power take the reins of power from their own hands. The power of love would have triumphed over the power of the machine. The power of Life would have triumphed over the power of death

This would have created a social equality of direct democracy in action: and all of the corruption of the entire human civilized world would have been swept away as the new blossoming happiness of young people, living outside in the Beauty of Nature, absorbing the Beauty of Nature, and radiating that Beauty back into Nature so all living creatures and plants and fish grow healthier and happier: unpoisoned by the evil which now swamps this planet. All this happened because the evil unseen undead unnatural hands of death intervened in the lives of innocent living people to intentionally create the worst possible outcome in order to ruin everything they could.

It is only when you see all the potential good that has been destroyed. It is only when you study the past and see how the potential for all good has been systematically poisoned and destroyed over and over again by unseen hands intervening in the lives of living people:: it is only then that you will realize how horribly evil these unspeakable undead filth actually are.

The human species has taken a wrong turn in its evolution: just like the car of the archduke took the wrong turn. It must turn back... retrace its steps, and discover the true road to health and happiness or else the entire human species will kill itself and go extinct.

Before America entered the war; why was Germany winning the war in 1915 and 1916 against the allies? Germany was winning because Germany was the best organized industrial nation in the world: it was the best industrially organized nation in the world.

Why was Germany attacked and defeated and destroyed by losing two world wars? Because the undead attack everything that is of superior intelligence and superior quality.

Germany was attacked and destroyed because Germany was the best organized nation on earth. Germany was the best industrially organized nation on earth and one thing which the undead always target: is anything that is better, anything that more intelligent. The undead used two world wars to destroy the organized fabric of industrialized Germany, the organized fabric of German culture, the organized fabric of German good governance.

But if you look at the BIGGER picture:

What was all of Germany's superior industrial organization used FOR?

What was all the industrial organization of Germany used FOR??

What were all the railroads and factories etc, etc used FOR?

The superior organized industrialization of Germany was used for only one thing: to wage war: to improve tactics and techniques of killing on a mass level, better mass butchery; creating two horribly destructive World Wars to better destroy all Life on Earth. The superior industrialization of Germany was used for only one thing: better techniques and better strategies and better inventions of Mass Butchery, Mass Poisoning, Mass Destruction, Mass Death.

Just as the superior organized technology of the US govt and its industrial military complex is used for better techniques and strategies of mass butchery, mass poisoning, mass destruction mass death.

This is the only kind of fucking 'progress' civilized technology has

The point is: and get this through your head and into your heart: the best ‘progress’ of civilization is pure negative evil because civilization itself is an invention of the undead.

The newest! Best! Most humane and advanced industrial nation on earth! The new young Germany! Was also the same society and nation that invented the most horrible inhumane unspeakable new weapons of mass destruction on earth. Poison gas! Submarines! Torpedoes! Zeppelins! Bombing cities from the sky! Blitzkrieg! Etc, etc...

During World War One and Two: Germany invented and used more hellish filthy evil weapons for the killing of innocent people than any other nation has ever invented in human history. And the instant Germany used these new evil sick inventions... the allies copied Germany and began using them also. Until using these inventions spread worldwide. Until they became globally normalized... until it became ‘normal’.

The point is: even though in the smaller context, Germany was relatively better than France and England because it was ‘better organized industrially’... in the larger picture, all of them are horrible and evil because all they used their inventions for was to kill and destroy.

All of civilization is horrible and negative because all it does is kill and destroy. Because civilization is an invention of undead ghouls: it must be totally destroyed, and every single undead must also be killed dead and completely destroyed.

Get this through your fucking heart and head! All industrialization is evil. All factories are evil! All mass manufacturing is evil! All mechanization is evil!

For example, what is the technology of the railroad and the superhighway used for? This technology is used to ignore the land you live on, it is used to ignore the land you travel through, it is used to ignore all life on earth, it is used to ignore all the living creatures and all the living plants on earth and treat them as if they are nothing, as if they mean nothing to you, as if all the living trees and creatures and plants and rivers and valleys and mountains are not important to you and are not connected to you and you are not connected to the living earth.

The technology of the railroad and the superhighway was used and is still being used to destroy the land you travel over, it is used to kill the land you travel over, it is used to destroy and kill as much living earth as possible. It is used to kill as many living creatures as possible by destroying the land they live in and under and on and over and travel across and live off.

By civilized roads cutting off all the natural paths of migration and movement of wild creatures: these filthy evil things called roads kill more animals every year by animals, insects, birds, reptiles being run over by cars and trucks than can be counted.

The technology of the railroad, the super highway and the commercial airplane is used to disconnect you from the living earth you live on; it is used to make each person's personal ghoul more important than the living earth they travel over. The technology of the railroad, the super highway and the commercial airplane is used to travel over the earth without you touching it, without you experiencing the earth, without you experiencing the hardship and wonder of walking through each pasture and forest and across every valley and over every mountain and crossing every stream and river and lake and ocean and seeing the beauty of the land and smelling the freshness of each flower and field of grass and appreciating the beauty of each cloud and each sunrise and each sunset and each mountain and each valley you travel over.

The technology of mass transit and mass transportation is used as an insularity and an insulation from nature; it is an arrogance and unawareness of the world around you that is insane and evil. Technology is used to insulate you from life.

The proof that the undead manipulate living people can be seen in WW1 and WW2.

The Kaiser and his intelligence minister Zimmerman allowed Lenin to travel unhindered through wartime Germany from Switzerland all the way to Russia in order to destabilize Russia and thus win WW1 for Germany.

As if by magic just at just the right moment; Stalin in Siberia, Bukharin in New York and Lenin in Switzerland: the 3 heads of the Bolshevik Jewish evil snake were quickly brought to St Petersburg to organize and spark the revolution against the Tsar. Lenin was a horrible public speaker: yet the people went wild whenever he spoke because they were all being controlled by undead ghouls.

Both Lenin and the Kaiser thought they were using each other for their own secret hidden evil agendas: one to lose the war in Russia and so gain the revolution of the Bolsheviks so that Jewish Bolsheviks could later invade Germany and topple the Kaiser and the ruling class and the industrial robber barons: the other to stop the war against Russia and so gain victory in the western front during WW1 and gain mastery over all of Europe as the dominant Empire in the world: both were manipulating each other.

Actually the undead were using them both to destroy the world and destroy Mankind. It turns out there was no special; 'sealed train'. Lenin just boarded a passenger train and traveled to Russia knowing he was being tracked by German Spies who let him through Germany without bothering him. How Stalin got from Siberia in prison to St. Petersburg is another story. Bukharin was shipped to Russia by Jewish bankers funding the revolution: a part of the Rothschild plot of revenge against the Tsar for not allowing their criminal gang to rape Russia. All these fucking 'coincidences'; gathering the three most evil, ruthless cunning lying criminal Jewish filth and sending them from three different geographical locations thousands of miles away to St Petersburg at just that critical moment to poison the Russian uprisings of 1917 were not coincidences; it stinks of hidden evil conspiracies of the undead violating the Realm of the Living. The real question of Lenin's free passage to Russia is why there was no switching of tickets from train-to-train. Lenin did not get off the train: why the train starting from Switzerland went all the way to Russia is never explained. That is not normal! One train beginning from Switzerland has no business going through Germany, Sweden, Finland and ending up in Russia without passengers disembarking to different trains in each country. Usually trains stop at national borders and the passengers have to board another train to continue their journey: this did not happen with Lenin. It stinks of a planned conspiracy.

The result was that the Kaiser's decision to allow Lenin travel untouched through Germany to Russia was the downfall of the German Empire and the German people and the German nation, it spawned the Bolshevik monster Stalin who took over the Russian Empire and in WW2 defeated Germany and destroyed the growing health and power of an entire ethnic race.

In other words if the Kaiser had not tried to use Lenin as an instrument of evil against the Russian people; then there would have been no Stalinist Bolshevik regime of dehumanized Jewish monsters in Russia and Hitler would not have come to power and there would have been no Bolshevik revolution, and Hitler would not have lost WW2 because there would have been no world war. The point is: all the evil manipulations and plots and conspiracies of living people are only a screen, a veil which hides the huge secret, invisible, malevolent evil of the undead manipulating and controlling the entire human species as a bunch of mindless drones; robots; fools, dupes; blind, deaf and dumb monkeys who are not aware that they are being controlled and used.

What was the effect of WW1 upon the world after that war ended? What was the influence of that horrible World War on the world after the killing stopped? More killing. The Influenza epidemics of 1918 killed over 50 million worldwide. It swept across the entire globe. The most vulnerable were those between the ages of 15-40... the exact age demographic of soldiers who fought and died in that insane war for nothing... over nothing.

The virus began in the lungs of soldiers dying from poison gas attacks. It came from the rotting corpses of the dead soldiers and the poison gas they had inhaled staying inside their dead lungs. There this poison festered... the poisoned lungs of the rotting corpses developed a virus which was kept alive inside the rotting corpses long after they were dead... Then the rotting bodies were dug up from the mud and the virus was released and infected those who dug the poisoned corpses up... from there it spread to infect birds. The carrion birds carried it farther. Infected soldiers returning from the war carried it back to the nations they came from. The Influenza epidemic of 1917-18 killed 5 times more people in America than all American deaths of WW1.... That is what kind of influence war has... it keeps on killing long after the peace treaty has been signed

The Influenza epidemic of 1918 was a bird-flu that killed more than 50 million victims worldwide: over twice the number of people that died in the actual war. This points the finger of guilt straight at the influence of the over-world of the undead of the higher regions secretly orchestrating and causing this global war to happen. The carrion birds of the trenches carried this flue everywhere as messengers of death and disease because they were infected with these undead ghouls from the very beginning: these black birds of death: ravens and crows are infected and poisoned with undead spirits using them as their eyes and hiding inside them. The Influenza pandemic which swept the world killing the healthiest and most able-bodied was caused by the secret influence which the undead have over the living. They do not want you to know how much influence they have over you. This is why this book has been written to expose their secret presence and influence: these undead things must be exterminated with extreme prejudice.

The subtle cunning of how the undead get living humans to do insane things like go to war, especially in the two World Wars of the 20th Century can be seen in how the undead mix in a tiny bit of carrots of Goodness in order to get humans to commit huge vast evils that in retrospect nobody in their right minds would ever do and are obviously insane. The undead allowed tiny bits of positive energy into the huge vast insanity of a World War.

Take WW1 for instance. All the boys that marched off went as buddies, chums; friendships in the ranks bloomed. Soldiers shared everything with each other: sharing, friendship, even love bloomed in the trenches... they could write love letters to their girlfriends and wives only when as professional killers they were engaged in killing other humans, and as long as they were all going to be killed anyways, let them have their brief, token, tiny bits of sharing, friendship, trust, respect, closeness, emotional honesty...

But when they come back home? The love disappears. The soldiers refuse to share anything with their wives: they say nothing about what they endured and went through to their loved ones. No more sharing allowed once peace arrives. no more sharing.... no more friendships... no more trust.... no more chums.... no more token 'happiness' of living as a group of humans that help each other selflessly and honestly care about each other....

These tiny tidbits of humanity are cunningly mixed into World Wars only for the purpose to get the soldiers to the point of camaraderie where they will die for each other; where they will all go off and die together en masse... where they all go 'over the top' to be slaughtered and slaughter strangers who are also just as insane and sick and brainwashed as they were. What did the culture of chums produce? Voluntary mass suicide: that's what these tidbits of positive carrots were used for.

The same culture of sharing, trust, closeness, happiness happened behind the front in both WW1 and WW2. Woman finally got high paying jobs, men worked together in new ways and cooperated with each other. Gardens were planted, people stopped consuming and buying and selling and as a result many people became healthier... as long as they all were slaving away in the death factories manufacturing weapons of mass destruction 12 hrs a day, why let them have their tiny tidbits of feeling that they were all together sharing one purpose and cooperating with each other... But not during peacetime!

Because come peacetime when the death factories close... then all the friendships and closeness disappears, all the trust and mutual respect and cooperation disappears also. And people go back to the dog-eat-dog everyday norms of civilized culture; which is a culture of mistrust, swindling, lying, and slavery; a capitalist culture of scrounging to pay the rent and put food on the table as wage slaves working for the rich and mighty... Over and over the undead have culturally brainwashed living humans into the insane belief that war Is a Good thing! By mixing in tiny bits of sharing, cooperation, friendship, love, happiness with the vast, huge negative actions of working and sweating; putting your entire lifeblood into killing, killing, killing millions of other human beings!

But once the mass killing ends: what is left of these poisoned 'positive' bits of carrots introduced during wartime? They all magically disappear. The victory gardens disappear: the friendships are ruined, the marriages go sour, the love and trust is betrayed and double-crossed and spat upon; human relationships disappear, intimacy, closeness, intelligent cooperation all of it disappears magically in a flash. WHY? Because the undead poison every single living human being alive on Earth: that's why; and they have done so for millions of years....

Until now. Now the game is over. Now the filthy tricks of the undead are exposed in this book.

This is why many people who went through these two world wars remember the horror with 'nostalgia'... wishing they could have what they had then: friendship: honesty; sharing; egalitarianism! More equality! Challenges, dangers, excitement, thrills, drama, intense experiences of life and death, sorrow, sadness, horror... all mixed up together into an insane stew filled with SHIT with a few tiny bits of healthy carrots of humanity in the rotten insane mess. Like the miracle of WW1 in the first winter when soldiers from both sides came together and shared a little Christian Spirit in their practice of the same customs and traditions of the same RELIGION!!... Then after this one night on Dec 24th 1915; they all went back to their trenches and to the 'business' of killing each other...

Both sides made sure this would never happen again. What!?! Frenchmen and Englishmen and Germans being friendly with each other? Horrors! Perish the thought! You're supposed to hate your neighbors not love them or like them. You're supposed to kill your Christian brethren because they live in another land! Fuck Christianity; long live war and the haters and insanity! Why did the masses believe this and follow their fucking leaders in these two World Wars? Nobody knows except the mass lemming-urge of conformity turned hundreds of millions into insane enthusiastic, committed warmonger...

After these two horrible worldwide catastrophic events the undead couldn't get the mass of living slaves to go to another world war again right away. The masses had finally, slowly realized that war is not a good thing at all, so the undead easily switched tactics and went about the business of corrupting the western nations into the postwar boom of machine-ease and mass weapons of distraction and escape from reality. Ignore the real world... watch the Wonderful World of Disney on a TV! New gadgets designed to lull the massed sheep into dumber and dumber states of unawareness and stupidity and sloth and laziness. Unhappy? Unfulfilled? Here! Buy this! Guaranteed to make you instantly happy! No more ordinary coffee... instant coffee: a black poison even more poisonous than powdered milk or canned milk. Baloney and cheese sandwiches, sliced white bread, mass manufactured mayonnaise: poison after poison invented, chemical after chemical added to these poisons until they became so awful and inedible nobody bought them anymore except the dumbest, sickest, crudest unhealthiest bums in the East End of New York city and the Bowery. Once war could not be sold to the masses anymore, the undead sold the masses another bunch of swindles: Money. Greed. Buying and selling... profit! Wealth! Riches! The new prophets of the New World Order! Instead millionaires: billionaires! How many people remember the postwar TV show 'The Millionaire' where an anonymous wealthy secret banker gives ordinary people a million dollars 'because they are such good people they deserve it' and instantly! All their problems are solved and they are saved and happy! And filled with joy! This rot was spoon-fed to the masses day and night for fifty fucking years! And they swallowed it and begged for more.

After WW2 what spread like a disease all over the world?... Affluence instead of Influenza! But the corruption of Affluence is twice as poisonous to the entire human society than the disease of Influenza. Human societies can recover from an attack of Influenza, but not from the systemic evils of affluence. The plague of Influenza is a one-shot deal. But the plagues of Affluence last and last for decades, even centuries. This shows you how easily and cunningly the undead can switch from using a stick or a carrot to control and manipulate living humans. Both methods of persuasion are evil. If one swindle or tactic doesn't work, the undead switch to another and yet another; until one is found which does work... NOT ANYMORE. Whoever reads this book will not be fooled by the tricks invented by the undead anymore.

If you want to understand how WW1 Was a complete invention of the undead and how the living human subconscious revealed how the origins of the submarine, unconscious, under-surface causes and origins of this war came from the realm of the Undead... The naval battle of the U-boats is a perfect Unconscious symbolic representation of what was going on. Unbeknownst to the living human slaves and shells who were being used as guinea pigs in this War of Death VS: Life; the surface of the oceans represents the thin line separating the Realm of the Living which operates in broad daylight out in the open from the cold depths of the Undead. The Underwater Realm of the U-boat represents the Realm of the Undead hiding in the shadows of death; all around the participants in this war are waiting to welcome them into their Realm of Horror, Ugliness, and filth when they sink and die and enter the realm of the undead.

The living human Unconscious does not lie; it lays the blame for this horrible secret cunning new way of killing directly on the Undead.

The U-boat tells the truth: Who caused this war? It is YOU: YOU the Undead who are to blame for this new U-boat technology of killing the living who float above the cold waters of death,

The surface of the oceans of the world represents the boundary separating the Living from the Undead; above the surface is sunlight where Life abounds, while under the surface of LIFE, is darkness and shadows where the cold-blooded, insane, ancient, reptilian Land of the Undead exists. The YOU boats: YOU refers to THE UNDEAD: they killed everything they could find that exists above the surface of their Underwater realm of evil: that Undead murky evil, cold Realm of the Underworld of Death.

What invented these underwater boats of death? They came from the minds of the undead. The Undead were openly guarding their Underworld from any incursion by the Living: these explosive cunning things which kills anything that touches them; these underwater things are called a MINE. This undead invention is called a MINE> 100's of thousands of Mines floating under the surface of Life in the unseen, secret realm of the Undead. The minds of the undead are poisonous. Any living contact with them and they explode, killing whoever they contact. Just like under the surface of the Living Earth; any hole that is made into this forbidden Realm is called a MINE. The Underworld Realm of the Undead they call MINE because that is where they exist and hide. In holes and cracks under the Earth. That is the region they jealously guard and call their own. The undead are telling you;

'Everything under the surface is MINE. Anything under any surface; be it the surface of the Earth or the surface of the Ocean is MINE. Everything under the surface of your conscious awareness is MINE. The realm of the subconscious is MINE, the realm of the subterranean is MINE. The realm of the submarine aquatic depths of the oceans is MINE.'

In WW1, which side of the conflict was more evil can be also exposed by the actual living conditions of the two navies. The ships of the German Navy were spotlessly clean. While on the other side; the British navy was so dirty and filthy that all the war ships were infested with cockroaches... British sailors were so miserable and filthy, they envied the freedom of the cockroaches they were forced to live with and saw them as having a better life than they had; the cockroaches were freer and happier than they were.

The same conditions existed in the trenches. The soldiers in the trenches were forced to live with millions of rats, who had grown fat from eating the rotting corpses of the soldiers who had been killed in the mud between the two lines of the trenches. Some were as big as cats. When it turned cold the rats crept into their beds and snuggled up to them to keep from freezing to death in the mud fields of the corpse ridden death zone known as no-mans-land where they had spent the summer munching on their comrades. And the soldiers came to envy the life of the rats who had more freedom than they did. The Underworld of the Undead... the rats coming out from Underworld the surface of the Living Earth. This was how the undead managed to destroy and poison the camaraderie and friendships that existed in the trenches of WW1; reduced to making friends with the rats who had grown fat feeding on their dead chums! THIS is what the evil of false friendship results in. This is what happens to stupid brainwashed young boys when they are indoctrinated into believing that killing other human beings is a 'fun' thing to do. And that the friendship of their fellow killers is the truest kind of 'humanity' they ever felt. This is what happens to you when you become a mindless lemming and follow the crowds and mindless masses and do what everyone else is doing. And still the human species does not learn from its own stupidity.

The 'friendly' rats: eating the corpses of the dead chums whom they had once known and loved; eating their dead friends, exploded in numbers until they outnumbered the soldiers they fed on by a hundred to one; sleeping with them under their blankets: sucking on their living warmth to stay alive... ... What more Horror could the Undead visit upon the Living? What more proof do you need before you understand that these obscene hidden secretive undead filth are the origin, source and cause of all human suffering, inhumanity, insanity and evil? This is exactly what the undead do to you; they feed off you while you are alive and they feed on you when you are dead. The undead are rats which must be exterminated with extreme prejudice: not made friends with so they sleep with you every night while feeding on the dead corpses of your friends.

In Gallipoli alone, more soldiers died of dysentery than from any other cause; soldiers died in the outdoor latrines, in the shithouse; shitting their poisoned guts out. Dysentery comes from eating poison, from eating food so decayed and toxic that it runs through your digestive tract until your body does not absorb any nutrients and begins emptying itself of living cells as all the cells in your body start dying from this inner invasion of Undead ghouls poisoning your entire poisoned Life-Aura. They died in their own shit, screaming their poisoned guts out in agony; and were welcomed by the leering undead filth which had been poisoning them all of their lives and corrupting them so they could parade their 'superiority' over these newcomers to the Undead Realm of Horror. Those who died in their own shit were not prepared for what they saw, they were easy prey for the ghouls waiting for them to cross over and be engulfed and absorbed into the insane evil madness of mass horror. This is what happens to you when you join an army to kill strange foreigners thousands of miles away who never did you any harm and have no evil intentions towards you. This is what happens to you when you swallow the poisoned shit of your war propaganda and believe it and join an army to fight and kill and think it is a fine thing that you should do this and that doing this is right and good. Dying in your own feces by the thousands ended the myth of war being a glorious honorable profession.

Soldiers died of trench foot; their rotting feet became poisoned and had to be cut off before gangrene took over and killed you dead. This came from the poisoned mud of the earth being destroyed by shells ripping the Living earth apart; a dying soil; poisoned by explosives and toxic chemicals from the exploded and unexploded artillery shells, mixed with feces and dead rotting flesh, until it became a toxic slimy shit that the human drones stepped in, fell into and drowned in. The undead had managed to turn the Living Earth into a horrible feces so poisoned and toxic that soldiers died from walking in it.

The dirty, unfair, filthy ways in which England won the war: first by systematically starving Germany to death instead of on the battlefield as the Germans wanted to fight them: until the German diet turned into a diet of defeat; forced into eating turnips just to survive, as the fortunes of the war slowly turned in favor of the Undead and mass death, dying, misery, suffering, pain, hopelessness and the Allies and England. Who were then only saved by bringing a non-participant into the war at the last minute: England's greatest enemy suddenly joins her: the one nation that fought the British for over century and with the aid of the French: finally broke off from that filthy Empire of evil. Only by using every artifice of Unfairness do the Undead ever win. Only by staying Undercover do they keep from being killed dead, only their hidden, secret invisibility allows them to survive.

BUT... the unforeseen effect of that most evil of conflicts between the dead and the living... was all of Germany and Austria forced to stop eating animals, stop eating fat, forcing half of Europe to become vegetarians!

The result of this was a HUGE explosion of human HEALTH which grew up in Germany and Austria in the 1920's and 30's. Millions of young German girls and boys: naturally slim and alive and bright and cheerful... growing in intelligence and confidence...

Ahhhh... how to destroy this new unpredicted outcome of the evil machinations of the undead? The answer was Hitler and his filthy racist Nazis and his claim of racial superiority... when all it actually was, was a superior diet lacking in meat and animal products. The answer was a 2nd World War which was needed to finish the obliteration of human health and intelligence which the 1st World War had started but not quite succeeded obliterating. This is how cunningly the Undead have hidden the true threats to their existence is evident throughout human history: never allowing the living shells they poison to realize why certain specific individuals and nations and people are singled out for obliteration or destruction or death by them. This is what you must understand beyond any doubt. The true battle and conflict is between LIFE and death: Between LOVE and hate. Between Courage and cowardice. Between HEALTH and sickness. All the lies you have swallowed have been invented so you will not realize and understand these Universal truths.

The way the undead orchestrate the human species can be seen throughout history. The stupefied, brainless, temporary shells of living animals called humans recreating the past with no awareness of their own history can be seen in WW1 throughout that insane meaningless war. You can see the farce being played out in the Battle of Verdun; how the undead manipulated humans into exposing who was behind this horror: The one road leading into Verdun where 2/3<sup>rds</sup> of the entire French army slogged to its Calvary; its doom, was named by one French writer 'The Sacred Way': marking the death of Christ and the death of all Christendom in Europe. Why should this nonparticipant, who had no involvement or power or prestige, be listened to in naming this road which he had never seen? The seemingly random events of living humans hide the cunning evil nefarious ghouls of the undead. The German soldiers entering the Fortress of Doom doomed themselves to defeat and death. The hill overlooking Verdun named 'The Dead Man' "Le Mort Homme" screams out to living people what is going on... the undead on top of that hill watching humans destroy themselves in a carnage as yet unknown to Man was unleashed with so much destructive power and insanity that it broke the spirit of France and it destroyed the moral of the German army irreparably. In order for this carnage to have happened, it needed all of the massed hordes of undead to concentrate all the dead men who enjoy watching death and horror on that hill named 'The Dead Man'. In order for Germany to be doomed: the French fortress called 'Douoment' had to be named years before its meaning was revealed and the cunning plans of the undead revealed as to why it was named the Mount Doom. Once the Germans mounted it they were doomed to lose by their own evil; which had been mounting and accumulating until the filth and horror of this war sank into their souls. And yet still no living historian takes notices of all these obvious tell-tale facts and signs of the existence, power and evil of the undead. For very good reason... if any weak soul breaks the code of silence they are attacked and castigated and lose their comfortable position and status in civilized society because all civilized societies are being secretly controlled by the dead, not the living. One film documentary includes these lines as a telling example of what Verdun meant to living humans: from the British Minister of Munitions Lloyd George :

“The Battle of Verdun was ‘one of the most gigantic, grim, futile and bloody fights ever waged in the history of war... On those heights; Gaul and Teuton fought out a racial feud which had existed for thousands of years... the concentrated fury of the Ages raged, and tore, shattered and killed in one intensive struggle which has no parallel in the history of human savagery.’”

“The battle was no longer an episode that spent itself in blood and fire... it was a ‘thing’ that dug itself in remorselessly week after week. We breathed in the smell of a tormented world... a smell like that of a planet in the process of being reduced to ashes; most of them had given up all hope of surviving”.

Living humans: people not directly involved in this catastrophic insanity were used as mouthpieces to confess the abominations and crimes of what the undead were doing to the World and to Mankind.

Lloyd George was used as a mouthpiece by the undead to openly confess the ultimate ghoul of the undead. Their goal is to reduce the entire Living Earth to ashes. Their confession is that they are in the process of reducing the entire Earth to ashes.

These confessions can only be understood if you understand the true nature and past history of the undead ghouls of Humanity. The 25 million years of death and destruction they suffered through in Africa when volcanoes destroyed them and the lands they lived in. It is only when you understand that the undead are constantly trying to bring back their own dead past because they need to DIE; and not dying out completely is their horrible crime. They need to be killed COMPLETELY. Completely destroyed so no fragment of their miserable insane evil souls is left on this Living Earth. Comparing Verdun to the killing fields of African volcanoes is not a fucking coincidence; naming the cause of that battle and blaming it on all the undead Gauls and Teutons who hated and killed each other is not a fucking coincidence. The documentary which by chance found these telling confessions and put them on the screen is not a fucking coincidence. There were millions of diaries and descriptions which this documentary of WW1 could have used to describe the horrors of the Battle of Verdun. The fact that this documentary chose these words to underline what was going on around and in Verdun before, after and during that battle is not a fucking coincidence. The fact that guns from all over Europe were hauled into that region to be unleashed on the French is not a fucking coincidence. All the undead of Europe was massed for the perpetration of this horror to view it from their undead spectral boxes for their insane vicarious viewing pleasure.

Then the documentary finishes the confession of the undead involvement with a soldier's lament taken from letters written in the trenches... BUT The words do NOT FIT: The last words describing the soldier's suffering in Verdun has a HUGE SEMANTIC MISTAKE. See if you can catch this mistake:

“Having despaired of living amid such horror, we begged god not to have us killed; the transition is too atrocious: but just to let us be DEAD. We have but one desire: the END.”

These words are not coming from a living human being. They are coming from an undead ghoul who has already died. But DOES NOT WANT TO DIE COMPLETELY... The words make no LIVING sense: How can you remain dead and not want to die!? Why should you be begging an unseen god not to kill you when you are already dead? It is a mixture of two minds, two auras: one living and one undead trapped inside the living shell it unwittingly became a part-of and now wants now part-of any more. The living soldier doesn't notice its grammatical-semantic slips; he doesn't recognize that he has been taken over by an undead thing and that foul thing is using him to expose and confess its own guilt, fear and evil.

On top of this insane confession of the undead in this documentary about the Battle of Verdun: the true actual ghoulishness of these filthy rotten insane things is exposed naked. All these undead things want is the END of all life on Earth. THAT is what they actually wish and that is what all of them slave to bring about. That is why all of these abominations must be destroyed; exterminated and killed DEAD.

Then the battle of the Somme; in that tragic English offensive which wasted even more young lives than Verdun, 1,200,000 killed or wounded. The Battle of the Somme was fought on the same killing fields of Agincourt where Richard the Fifth had once fought.

How many more fucking facts do you need? The greatest sum of men killed and wounded in WW1 was fought in a battle called the Somme... where some, but not all of the soldiers of that war died: get it? That is not a fucking coincidence.

English soldiers noticed during the pre-bombing stage of the Battle of the Somme, the skylarks sang cheerfully: don't you fucking get it? The undead were brazenly mocking the cheerfulness and high spirits of all the British 'pal' regiments who had joined un masse to take part in this horror. The birds of Nature sang when on that bright, sunny 1st of July 1916, the British went over the top. Using the shells of living birds to eye the carnage, the undead mocked the English tradition of skylarking before a battle. Birds do not sing during a bombardment unless they are being controlled by something evil! Not when it is the most horrible barrage of artillery ever seen in the history of war and is going on for one full week day and night. Birds do not chirp cheerfully at soldiers going off to be killed unless the undead are in control of these mindless reptilian pieces of fluffed feathers. And yet these stupid imbeciles did not notice the unnaturalness of it as a sign of the presence of the undead all around them. Finally the undead had managed to destroy the pride of the English on that killing field... it took 501 years to orchestrate this revenge on English excellence; but it was finally done. The entire culture of pals and friendship between men was destroyed in one day when all the ‘pals’ were slaughtered en-masse and no more Englishmen became ‘pals’ again. The undead hate all friendship: they hate everything that is GOOD. What undead evil was behind the battle of the Somme? The undead made it perfectly clear who were the driving forces destroying the English people. The undead ghouls that controlled Prince Albert: dead for over 52 years, were behind that battle. The town called Albert just one mile behind the trenches of the Somme was renamed by the English into the English pronunciation of that French name. Every undead Royal of the German dynasty of Prince Albert’s ancestors was behind that orchestrated horror.

The battle of the Somme marked the death of all European Christendom. The tower of the Basilica with its figure of the Virgin Mary and the baby Jesus was bombed and almost fell down sagging upside down, its base barely clinging to the top of the tower. The assault on the morals and purity of Christian people who do not engage in the obscene pornographic sex-fucking every night was assaulted by the sexual perversion of that sick, foul coupling of the sex-hag Queen Victoria with her sex partner Albert which had not one shred of love in their relationship. The pornographic ghoul who controlled the sexual urges of the British Royal family and filthied their souls was behind the destruction of the basilica and its false icon of the Virgin Mary and the baby Jesus. As Prince Albert and Queen Victoria had been the hidden, secret satanic opposite force of evil plotting and working day and night for centuries to destroy, pollute and poison the ethics of Christianity; so too were these filthy undead ghouls behind the destruction of the icons on top of the Basilica of the French town of Albert behind the English forces in the battle of the Somme. The orientation of that Christian icon had been almost completely reversed by 160 degrees in the opposite direction; instead of pointing up: it pointed DOWN into the satanic evil of the undead forces of death instead of the healthy growing Life energy which naturally sprouts UP.

The undead twisted Christianity from the love of a mother for her baby into the ancient Roman evil of crucifixion... the mass executions of slaves and children; sacrificed to the undead ‘gods’ by Roman filth. The Battle of the Somme signified the reversal of the Christian nations of Europe reverting back to the evil of the Roman Empire: When Romans had hated and massacred each other and Italians had killed and hated each other for hundreds and thousands of years. The sign of the crucifix of death replaced the icon of the Mother Mary and her child as the dominant force after that battle in the fields of France where it had been fought. Thousands of white gravestones marked with Christian crosses, where Christians had slaughtered each other by the hundreds of thousands... for no reason whatsoever; for no religious or political or national reason whatsoever. That is the symbolic meaning of the fettle of the Somme.

The near total destruction of that religious structure of the basilica in the town of Albert paralleled the near-complete destruction of all the BEST of the religious morals and ethics of European Christianity, and exposed the true rottenness of Europe and its infected living hordes: who copied and worshipped the disgusting pomp and snobbery of the British Royal dynasty which Albert and Victoria had founded as the only major Royal house to survive that horrible meaningless war.

What you need to understand is that no Royal filth is human. Royals have only one obsession and paranoia: and that is being overthrown and their filthy worthless dynasties wiped out. These subhuman turds regard the masses as their mortal enemy for good reason; they see the people they rule as a dangerous enemy which must be destroyed, subjugated, indoctrinated, and brainwashed into accepting and tolerating their obscene feudal existence of these undeserving scum. Prince Albert's entire set of tactics and plans and ideas which he had cunningly set into place and invented had only one motive and one purpose: to keep his royal familial dynasty in power as the highest royal filth on Earth FOREVER: into eternity. All of Albert's and every other Royal shit's existence has been and is devoted to one thing only: a constant, cunning adapting to the changing times in order to preserve and increase their influence, power and wealth while seeking to install themselves as firmly as possible into power: cementing themselves into the society of Mankind as a poisonous, filthy evil which will commit every abomination in order to retain its position and power over the rest of Humanity.

The highest most evil undead hierarchy runs in a direct line straight into these royal dynasties. Kill them and you kill the power of the hierarchy of the undead also. The corruption at the top of every living human hierarchy is a direct mirror of the corruption of the realm of the undead who control them. Until the human species wakes up and casts off its shackles and refuses to tolerate this system of top-down oppression, taxation, power, terrorization and authority: all of you reading this will continue to be willing slaves living inside a system which is designed to keep you in bondage forever. That design cunningly shifts and changes every second of every day because it the masses and hordes of undead spectators and infiltrators into the realm of the living who make it their business to control every aspect and effect and direction of living human existence.

The point is: the ugly TRUTH of the hidden invisible presence and effect of undead evil is not complex or abstract: it can be seen concretely. It can be understood without any twisted, superficial interpretation. Once you study the actual true history of the past and expose the ugly horrible facts, then the signs of the continual presence of the undead can be seen and understood in every page of human history.

The most devastating effect on soldiers in WW1 was not being shot at or killed but the constant shelling. Understand this: the undead have no living guts: they are undead empty aura-shells and they treat living humans as they themselves are. This is why they are insane; this is why they are not human; this is why they are inhuman monsters; this is why they are not Good; this is why all of them are evil. They perceive living humans as empty shells: when it is the opposite which is true. It is the undead who are empty shells, not the Living: for what they have done and are still doing they must be totally destroyed and wiped out of existence. The undead were trying to send a signal to the living in WW1 that they are the dominant force on Earth; that evil is more powerful than Life and Goodness.. By barraging millions of soldiers with exploding shells: they were at the same time barraging the soldiers with undead auras: with undead shells super-imposing themselves over the living auras of living soldiers. The evil of the exploding shell is an unconscious death-wish which every undead foul ghoul possesses: they are filthy rotting dying thing that have died and continue to rot and die. Their only designed function is to explode apart and die COMPLTELY. Instead they cling to their stinking leftover faint existence by poisoning the living and sucking Life-energy from us the living. These empty undead shells want to die. They want death. They shall be given their death by those who come among them and treat them as they have treated all of Life's Living creatures and human babies since the human species began.

What you need to understand about the insane ghouls of the undead is that they have not changed their goals and plans for eons and eons of time... what the undead managed to get people to do for thousands and thousands of years: sacrifice their best livestock to be slaughtered and burned on the alters of the Roman Gods, the Greek Gods, the Egyptian gods... sacrifice their best babies and children on the stone altars of the Aztec and Mayan gods... even though this obstinate species had finally refused to do so consciously of their own free will... this insane ghoul of always destroying the best of whatever the human species created or made has not changed: it remains the same filthy, evil ghoul of the undead to grind all living things down into dust and death and destroy everything on the Living Earth until nothing is left but ugliness, desolation, emptiness, pollution, poison, toxic waste and death.

The presence of the one pressing ghoul of the undead and the ever-presence of the undead can be seen in the 'peace treaty' of Versailles which was finally signed in the Hall of Mirrors in the Palace of Versailles: that most evil hallmark of the ancient order of evil power of Feudal Europe. This stinking evil treaty was signed there so the undead could gather behind the mirrors they love so much in order to witness their triumph in total secrecy to witness the culmination of their secret evil will... that they had once again managed to destroy the best of the best: the most intelligently organized industrial nation of the Earth laid low and all of its superior technology and navy and armaments destroyed and humbled... while the worst of the worst sat in their rotten evil chairs of industrialized power and carved up the world into the most evil, unnatural stinking artificial 'nations' which had no right to even exist, so the hatred and misery of the human species would be redoubled and tripled, and injustice and carnage would once again stalk the Earth, and the entire species would go on... blissfully unaware of how easily they are gulled and fooled and poisoned by these stinking undead things; how easily the undead get humans to destroy what is GOOD and preserve what is worst, how easily they get Mankind to destroy the best of everything while spreading the worst filth possible until it covers and buries everything: tainting the entire Earth with the poisons and inventions of the undead. Only by reversing all the perceptions of reality, only by reversing the perception of what is GOOD and Healthy and what is evil and sick can these undead things retain their hold over us.

Only by getting this species to purposefully destroy the health and intelligence of its own babies and children; only by making certain that each new generation of humans will be dumbed down and poisoned, corrupted, weakened into the most mindless little brainless timid lemmings before they can begin to think for themselves, can these foul rotten evil things retain their hold over the dominant species of this Earth. Only by brainwashing billions of humans so they live inside their own insane bubbles of fantasy and unreality... only by making sure that each new generation of humans will develop amnesia and forget the past, and ignore the past and never study the truth of their own past, can these unspeakably evil undead things keep their control over a species that keeps on getting smarter and smarter and more intelligent, and is only held back by the huge insane artificial machine of civilization keeping them down, dumb and stupid.

Once you understand and realize that behind every single flat surface: behind every computer screen and TV screen and movie screen... behind every single mirror and wall and portrait there are insane undead ghouls leering at you... laughing at you... deriding you, fooling you, hating you, fearing you.... Only then will you gain the expanded realization and understanding needed to change how you live and rip the entire structure of civilization into dust and destroy every abomination the undead have manipulated you into building and producing in their single, unchanged ghoul to destroy and kill all LIFE of Earth... only when the entire human race reads this book and faces the harsh, ugly truths of this book can the human species reverse its tracks and stop destroying the planet it lives on which it is now doing at breakneck speed.

The existence of the undead can be seen in the revolutionary French documentary film which came out of WW1: "J'accuse": Who did that film ‘accuse? Not the rich war-profiteers who were sipping their coffee and fattening their bank accounts while all the rest of France bled and suffered, nooo! Not the corrupt generals, not the corrupt French govt, not the corrupt bankers, noooo! The film accused the stupidest, lowest dunderheads: the mass of French brainwashed slaves for that insane war. Qt the end of that film all the dead spirits of the millions of dead soldiers rise up from their graves and begin marching on the townspeople: terrifying them into a mass panic as they run for their lives from the wraiths of theses destroyed bodies, these maimed, brutalized horrors. The film was quickly squashed because it was too close to the actual truth. Even though the film had reversed who was actually guilty; even though it was the undead blaming the living and not the other way around; that film was canned and never shown again for decades because it was too close to the truth: The truth that the undead have but one goal and that is to kill every living soul on earth until no Life is left on this planet.

The entire French army knew who were the guilty ones! Every leave they were granted, they saw the war profiteers smoking their cigars and reading the papers in the outdoors and grinning at how good their business was going. They saw how in France; the rich and powerful were getting richer and more powerful off their blood and toil and death. But not one fucking craven coward of a Frenchman rose his voice against the actual guilty ones after that war! Why? Because their own undead stinking filthy rotten ancestral undead did not allow them that power; because every single one of them was possessed and controlled by undead ghouls. This fact has not changed... until NOW. Now this books rips the veils of secrecy, cunning, lies and evil OFF, and exposes these unspeakably filthy rotten things for what they are: stinking filthy evil ghouls who must be killed DEAD DEAD DEAD until not one is left to poison this Living Earth ever again

How the Undead keep Humans ignorant of their interference

Can be exposed by how historians investigated and puzzled over why the worst tragedy in human history: the Great War called World War One began, and why it began and how it started.

Rather than delve into the specific origins of that war: historians, authors and thinkers have tried to explain the starting of that war in generalities: never specifics: never delving into who was actually personally responsible for starting that conflagration of insane destruction.

The undead avoiding responsibility and attention can be exposed by how WW1 started.... It started in front of SPARKS café. Gavrilo Princep was the SPARK which sparked off the first two bullets, which SPARKED the entire system into its downward roll into Hell and insanity.

Where did this spark come from? Historians have systematically avoided putting any personal blame or responsibility on Gavrilo Princip. In fact they have systematically avoided investigating any details of his life and his origins. Just who was this boy? Where did he come from and what kind of background did he come from? The pages are left blank. His life has never been investigated in depth.

If you analyze the ignition system of an internal combustion engine, you will find that before a spark of electricity can be produced, it has to go through a complicated, artificial procedure and process. First you need an artificial battery of stored electrical energy called a lead battery filled with acid.

The millions of insane undead hordes of LED ghouls who are LED into battle, LED into action by their evil undead masters: all filled with the burning destructive ACID of HATE; had to be assembled on that plain first: and all of their undead hate energy had to be specifically controlled and channeled and used in order to control enough physical force in the Realm of the Living so the undead could manipulate the physical events of that day on the 28th of June 1914.

Then the electrical energy has to go through a SOLONOID: a sole controller which transforms the energy of all the undead hatred and violence of billions of undead ghouls into a single powerful force directed specifically at one objective: one ghoul: Then it has to go into a STARTER a huge electrical engine which re-transforms that undead massed negative energy and turns it into PHYSICAL ENERGY,...

Then in the OTHER part of the evil system, it sends some of this energy of mass hate and violence from the LED BATTERY of undead ghouls into a COIL and a DISTRIBUTOR . The coil traps the energy and gets it ready to spring out into a flash of powerful blind force like the coiled striking of an insane snake of pure evil: directed at one man and his family. The DISTRIBUTOR of the ignition system DISTRIBUTES this undead ‘power’ of pure evil from the massed undead hordes assembled in the fields of the undead nearby where Ferdinand was exercising his troops and DISTRIBUTES this negative electrical THOUGHT energy into the various living people and manipulates their muscle control systems and thought processes to produce an artificial TEMPORARY NEGATIVE SPARKING EFFECTS which derailed enough living people’s natural responses to get the unnatural job done..

The instant the ignition process is finished; the entire undead ignition system DISAPPEARS FROM EXISTENCE and the physical engine of evil power takes over; so THE TRUE ORIGINS can never be physically ‘traced’ because there is nothing physical left to trace.... This was how the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand was cunningly accomplished and achieved by the undead: this was how it was done. It was done SCIENTIFICALLY. Using humans as mechanical-electrical tools to spark the entire built-up system of industrialized evil into action.

The other part of the story: the REST of the system which had been physically manufactured and assembled and organized is fairly easy to analyze and understand on a crude physical End-product, end-result sort of way: but not its origins: not its true sources. The IGNITION system of the undead which caused WW1 to happen: which Gavrilo Princip was a part of: has never been closely investigated because in order for this to have been done: the command center had to be controlled by a SOLE GOD a SOLONOID of NEGATIVE NODE of POWER AND HATRED.

This filthy sole thing does not want to be discovered, because when it IS discovered and hunted down and cornered: KILLING this SINGLE soul will de-rail and destroy the entire rest of the REALM of undead evil and prevent it from ever assembling or creating any more major evil events again like the sparking off of WW1 in front of Sparks Deli. Gavriolo Princip was only the mindless SPARK PLUG which produced the SPARK which set all the engines of industrial destruction roaring and running. Into a series of internal explosions: which recreated 25 million years of internal volcanic explosions of the EARTH in AFRICA, and the ERUPTIONS coming out of these hell-holes re-created as ARTLLERY GUNS... get it now? The undead recreated every evil of 25 million years of volcanic destructive mass death and compressed all of it into 4 short years of industrial slaughter. IN: DUST The dust of 25 million years of volcanic pollution recreated by the undead; by industrialized mass slaughter: get it yet?

Hitler and WW2

The evidence of undead filth influencing and pushing human events into an unnatural direction can be seen in two crucial decisions made by Hitler. His plan to invade France through the Ardennes forest was brilliant: but instead of invading France, his plan was to stop at the old WW1 line and go no further. Tank commander General Guidarion disobeyed Hitler's orders and made a lightning sweep to the coast taking the Allies completely by surprise. The plan to surround the French and British forces and cut them off from Dunkirk came from General Mannstein who was relieved of his position and exiled to a post in the provinces because his plan was simply too crazy, too adventurous. Nevertheless he managed to present his plan to Hitler... When Guidarion disobeyed Hitler's order to stop at the borders of France and used Mannstein's plan to sweep to the coast: Mannstein didn't receive on penny of credit for it. Hitler took all the credit and the true origin of the plan remained a secret to this day. This secrecy of origins points expressly to the undead interfering in human affairs: it was they who put this plan into Mannstein's head. No Wehrmacht general could have dreamed this idea up in a million years. Stealing all the credit from the originator of the plan is also a classic evil of the undead who never want to give credit where credit is due. They twist all truth around and hide their true origins every time.

It took Guidarion who had been in the general staff when Mannstein came up with this brilliant plan to put it into action against the express orders of Hitler to go no further after he broke out of the Ardennes forest. Again, it was a living human who wrecked the evil plans of the undead by ignoring authority and doing what they know is the best thing regardless of any higher corrupt power.

But just when the sickle cut had succeeded, Hitler interfered and ordered Guidarion to stop. Because of this order Hitler lost the war before it had even begun. Allowing the British forces to escape was his own fault. Why he did that is still a mystery. There is no explanation which makes any sense. His two decisions: first to stop after getting through the Ardennes forest and then stopping Guidarion from surrounding the Allies were contrary to the Polish Blitzkrieg and lost him the war.

If Hitler had not ordered his entire army to stop and not encircle the Allies: Germany would have won a lightning victory over both England and France and both nations would have sued for peace after such a decisive victory. With the entire British army as prisoners of war; the War cabinet would have had no choice but to try and get them back. Churchill would have been thrown out of power and been booed out of Parliament and he would have committed suicide because all the evil plans to create a world war by the evil inside him would have been foiled. England would have made a treaty with Germany and Northern France would have become German occupied territory, and Stalin would not have had any chance of attacking Germany and the British navy would not have blockaded Germany and America would never have entered the war because it would have been over before it began and Hitler would have been the toast of the world.

But nooooo..... just when total victory is in his grasp Hitler orders his entire fucking army to stop and lets the British get away. That was a direct intervention of undead into his body, mind and spirit. Hitler's half-victory is achieved in spite of his own orders; not because of them. Some unseen force is making him do insane things. In most matters Hitler's perceptiveness and brilliance is so far ahead of everyone else. But when it comes to major military planning and decisions he becomes a split personality. His planning of the war against Poland was brilliant also... but then he stops in the middle of it and allows the Poles to keep ½ of their country! He does the same with France: he goes halfway and then stops, instead of conquering all of France which he could have easily done. Half of him was possessed by demons: the other half was brilliant.

On the other hand: Hitler's initial plan to invade Russia was not half-assed; in fact it was so brilliant the undead had to poison him with a stomach virus which laid him low for 2 weeks, giving the general staff time enough to re-vamp all of his invasion plans...

If the general staff: a bunch of spineless cowards had done this at any other time: they would have been court-martialed and shot. Yet Hitler mildly accepts this complete revision of his invasion of Russia: thus guaranteeing the invasion will fail. This again reveals the undead directly interfering in the lives of living humans. Hitler had the generals completely under his thumb. None of them dared to criticize or oppose anything he ever did... and then suddenly! They change his entire attack plan while he's sick and slip in their own which Hitler has scotched a long time ago!? And don't expect Hitler to be furious at this open mutiny against him!? And Hitler does not utter one complaint? Or blow his top!? This entire switch stinks of the poisoning of undead: just as Chamberlain developing cancer and being forced to retire at the most crucial time in British history when the British Empire needed a steady hand at the helm: not a mad toad bent on total destruction.

The acceptance of this complete change of Operation Barbarossa does not fit with Hitler's personality at all. The only thing about it was that there wasn't any time to re-direct the forces to put the original plan into action, and Hitler was running on borrowed time. He knew he didn't have long to live because his doctor had discovered that he had heart disease. For some strange reason: Hitler who did not allow anyone to directly abrogate his orders caved in and did not offer one criticism of this change and didn't fire any of the generals who had done this. This makes no human sense whatsoever.

Hitler did not tolerate any criticism of his orders. In fact he fired Guiderion because he went against some of his plans. Hitler basked in the triumph over France and stole all the credit for Guiderion's daring sweep to the coast; but the General staff knew it was not his idea at all. Hitler had a habit of canning anyone who became too successful or too famous; as he did with Rommel also. He was jealous about his preeminence as Der Fuehrer and did not allow anyone else to bask in the limelight of popular approval. He never allowed anyone to challenge him ever. Yet his plans for operation Barbarossa were changed against his express will and he did not say one word against it and did not throw a fit as he frequently did if anyone dared to even slightly displease him.

He let Guidarion's disobedience go only account of its stunning success. But why should Hitler have allowed the entire General Staff of the German army destroy his carefully made plan to invade Russia and get away with it? Hitler could have easily made them follow his original brilliant plan to conquer Russia, but he didn't.

The same self-defeating split personality rears its ugly head after the main thrust is successful: he suddenly splits his army into two new objectives for no fucking reason. One to attack Stalingrad and the other to take over the oil fields in the Caspian Sea. Again Hitler pulls defeat out of the jaws of victory. Hitler is programmed to fail in war like a robot programmed to crash after only half of a plan is achieved. Whatever he did, he always found some way to sabotage himself and defeat his own objectives. Giving half of Poland to Stalin was another blunder programmed into him. It allowed Stalin to mobilize his entire empire in preparation to invade Europe without anyone waking up to the threat. If Hitler had conquered all of Poland, and all of France and defeated the British and been the magnanimous peace maker as he so dearly wished to be seen as, any plan to invade Russia would have succeeded also; but it didn't. The undead had hardwired Hitler's brain to malfunction at every crucial phase of the war. The undead poisoned Hitler in so many ways one cannot count them all.

Where did the first battle for control of Europe begin in 1914? Where did the first mass killing begin? Where was the first clash of armies? In Belgium; on the fields of Waterloo where a 100 years before in 1814 hundreds of thousands of soldiers had fought and died, where their rotting bones and souls still lay; yearning to fight and die again; reliving their misspent wasted lives vicariously through the new hordes of brainwashed poisoned human shells. The first western battles of WW1 and then again in WW2 were fought in the same geographical location: the first clash of armies happened in Begum on the fields of Waterloo. The first mass deaths, the first mass killings of both WW1 and WW2 happened there also. That is not a fucking coincidence.

Hitler himself was not born evil; no child is. The figurehead of Hitler was just another innocent child; poisoned by undead ghouls throughout his life, corrupted, turned, manipulated by undead filth, and used as a scapegoat to hide what undead evil have been doing not just during that war but for untold ages.

The actual truth of Hitler was that he began as a powerful force for good; and was finally totally corrupted, weakened and systematically turned away from all his positive goals: and led into pursuing his own most personal evil negative motives of hatred and revenge. Hitler was an empty shell by the time he gained power. All of his youth had been corrupted and wasted in the huge struggle to gain power. By the time he did gain power he was almost completely corrupted by that struggle.

Wilhelm II, the Kaiser of Germany suffered from mental illness: his father and mother both suffered from mental illness: genetically inbred and poisoned by it. His parent's defective genes: defective in so many ways there is no way to count them. All the defective, corrupt diseases hidden from view in the secrecy of royal palaces and royal privilege.

Kaiser Wilhelm II was a manic depressive, a schizophrenic, suffering nervous breakdowns, a lifelong megalomaniac. Mentally unstable, incapable of learning anything, a short attention span. Spoiled rotten. A lazy buffoon. Fond of traveling and pompous rituals: addicted to the rituals of imperial power. He loved to wear uniforms; closets of different uniforms: changing his uniform to suit the occasion to the point that he changed his uniform into that of a naval officer in the middle of a meal in order to eat a duck.

A breached birth: an extremely difficult birth due to the doctor being forced to labor at the unseen birth with a set of metal tongs under the billowing many layers of the imperial mother's vaginal orifice which was not to be revealed or seen, since all royal births had to be immaculate damaged the baby's left arm and crippled him for life.

When Wilhelm lost power, and that evil entity left the abdicated monarch and entered into the body of Hitler, in order to finish what it had started... this was the secret unseen hidden reason why Hitler's left arm also became withered and useless like the Kaiser's. This was why once Hitler gained power, his entire lifestyle and personality, which was hidden from the German people, changed into a similar lifestyle almost exactly like that of the deposed Kaiser, and why his personality and his habits became more and more like that of the deposed Kaiser's.

*The undead negative auras which had poisoned and corrupted Wilhelm simply switched from the Kaiser and inhabited the body of Hitler. By secretly inhabiting the body of Kaiser Wilhelm II: this undead thing took on... absorbed... became... Wilhelm. It became an alter-ego-aura.... in shape, and it acquired humanoid characteristics. It was altered and poisoned to the same degree that it poisoned and altered Wilhelm II. Complete with a withered left arm, and every single genetic defect and personality trait and character trait of the deposed king.*

These undead things did this: while both people were still alive.

How this happened was very simple: the most evil undead auras that haunt the highest places of power: and secretly inhabit the bodies of those in power are addicted to that power. When one person: one living physical human being falls from that seat of imperial power: these filth who are addicted to that power: leave that living person who they have already imprinted and poisoned with their undead auras... and go into the body of whoever replaces him. And end up becoming imprinted and shaped by the body they secretly inhabit: right down to every physical detail and physical defect.

The undead filth that inhabited the body of Wilhelm during his reign as king of Germany: the instant Hitler became powerful and reached the position of chancellor: these undead auras violated and entered his body. The transformation of Hitler's mental and physical health can be seen by how healthy and strong he was before his appointment as chancellor of Germany and how all the later films showed his face etched in dissipation and ill health due to the sudden lack of all healthy activity. The physical withering of Hitler's body and soul began to be seen, as all of his best instincts left him while all the negative personality traits and mannerisms and defects: were magnified in Hitler until Hitler became a virtual copy of the dissipated corrupt sick Wilhelm in the flesh; complete with many of his defects and traits being added onto, and merging into his existing personality.

The undead thing which had lived through the Kaiser's body and switched to Hitler's body carried with it a repeated identical insane set of rotting evil attitudes and emotional-cultural programs which had nothing to do with reality and everything to do with the past and an insane rotting undead thing that is so detached from the physical world that it's own reality does not match that of the physical world it is violating. The tape of WW1 was being replayed because these undead things are programmed tapes; rotting diseased negative memory tapes of the past that need to be exterminated and wiped out.

An undead entity or entities: secretly living inside a person whose left arm is withered and useless from birth: leaves that person before it dies... enters another person with a similar personality and aura: but whose left arm is not withered and useless... So... How can this undead thing make Hitler's left arm useless also? How can the undead monster that has a withered left arm hiding inside Hitler create a withered left arm in the body it is now secretly inhabiting?

How can the hidden causes of WW1 be connected to WW2? In jail, the killer of Archduke Ferdinand, the boy who was responsible for sparking WW1 had one of his arms amputated. The same undead ghoul in Wilhelm II... also hiding inside the diseased body of Gabriel Princep... ends up hiding inside the damaged body of Hitler?

Put the two personalities of Gabriel Princep and Wilhelm II together and what do you get? You get the personality of Hitler; a principled revolutionary, an ethnic fanatical nationalist, a megalomaniac who feels destined to royal greatness and who is determined to become ruler of Germany by using terror tactics and brute force.

How is this possible? One undead filth secretly inhabiting two different bodies in two different locations at the same time?...

No.

Like attracts like

Undead auras with amputated or withered left arms with mutual ghouls merging their auras together into the living body of Hitler at different times: that's how. And as the living health of Adolph Hitler is systematically attacked and weakened both from within and without; the undead dying rotting undead auras take over more and more of Hitler's personality and body until when he dies, he is a shadow of his original self as the undead ghouls inhabiting his body take over.

If you analyze the life of Gabriel Princep and compare it to Hitler's life you will find many similarities. Both lives begin in destitution and poverty. Hitler's youth is one of poverty and degradation, as was the early youth of Gabriel Princep. Both are badly traumatized and their physical health is severely damaged at an early age. Both are fanatics ready to die for misguided revolutionary principles. Both join secret revolutionary organizations. Princep only suffers the amputation of his arm just before he dies when incarcerated inside a concrete prison. The damage to Hitler's left arm is most apparent just before he dies when he is living inside his concrete bunker.

The Russian name Gavrilovitch is Jewish in origin: it means 'worships god'. The angel Gabriel is the undead ghoul who is supposed to blow his horn to waken the dead from their slumber. Which what that evil boy Gavrilo Princip did... When the undead poison inside that boy left him and entered the body of Hitler it changed its tenor; but it performed the same basic function as when it was inside Gavrilo Princip. Hitler's voice was the horn that called the German people to battle and caused the death of millions of Germans and caused millions of Germans to become evil killers. The mathematical equation called Gabriel's horn is a paradox. Hitler's personality is a paradox of many inexplicable conflicting qualities, aspects and motives. Gabriel's Horn is also a geometric figure which has an infinite surface area, but a finite volume. The merging of complete opposites. The poorest undead ghoul in Bosnia hiding inside Gabriel Princip's body, merging with the most spoiled rotten the most powerful ghoul hiding inside in Kaiser Wilhelm's body: creating an intense dichotomy, an intense tension of opposites co-existing inside the same person, an intense persona or overlaid charisma which everyone who comes in close contact with Hitler feels, resulting in the personality cult of Hitler as a demi-god, giving him the aura of a superhuman personality... when it is the hidden poison of two opposite undead turds hiding inside him which makes his eyes shine with a baleful glare of intense power and evil. Why did these two undead ghouls merge together inside Hitler? Both of them were one-armed ghouls seeking a likely host, to make themselves powerful so they could continue to dramatically affect the course of human history? Once a person dies: its undead energy becomes an insane evil foul rotting thing that is not sane: it becomes a blind malevolent negative force seeking only evil ends: committing evil for the sake of evil. This is why all undead need to be destroyed.

How was this undead infiltration accomplished? Poison Hitler's health. Poison his mental and emotional energy. Damage his heart so he will not have the heart to attack his western enemies with the full ferocity of a healthy outrage against two armies camping on Germany's southern borders. Infect him with a debilitating case of nerve damage which attacks his left side: his weaker side: the side the undead habitually use to hide in. Have his fraud of a doctor inject numerous poisons for over a period of ten years, get him unknowingly addicted to meth-amphetamines. Surround him with the most diseased Nazi scum, surround his body with the most diseased undead auras. Attack his body and health from within and without. Organize a plot against him: have a bomb explode so near him: the nerves in his left arm are damaged. Orchestrate an attack upon his life which destroys his mind and his body even more.... Why should this be done? Why? Because the undead things hiding inside Hitler are ten thousand times more evil and twisted than the living person it secretly inhabits. Because the better it can fit its defective diseased auras into the living aura of Hitler: the better it can take over control of Hitler's living body and soul. Because the ghoul secretly inhabiting Wilhelm's aura was a hundred times more diseased and defective than Hitler was and was not comfortable living inside the body of a vegetarian, when it had been gorging itself on dead flesh for over 60 years... thus Hitler's constant stomach problems.

This explains why Hitler should end up with a palsied left arm whose nerves were further damaged from a bomb assassination attempt. The point is... the undead in all of their undead rotten corruption and defective diseased auras: are negative forms of energy, of evil filth overlaid onto the living organic world which is not diseased and not defective and is not evil. The undead are constantly trying to match the unreality of their sick, diseased, dead dying auras with the living physical energies of the people they poison in any way possible: in every way possible. They are trying to make all of us as twisted and ugly and damaged and crippled as they are. And because there are so many of these undead filth overlaid in one area of space which living humans cannot perceive: they become an invisible template of negative energy ... a field of negative energy which the positive physical world then is unnaturally warped into; gradually... not noticing it is happening. Not aware that the energy which is affecting it is pure negative evil and its ghouls are striving towards the complete opposite of what a living person should be striving towards.

The result can be seen in how much Hitler in his last days resembled the level of mental illness and the physical deformity of Wilhelm II who was still alive, and how closely his persona matched that of Wilhelm II at the end of his life; not in the beginning. Take the diseased Wilhelm when he abdicates: at the moment he loses all power and flees into hiding and the last days of Hitler when he flees into his bunker and goes into hiding. They are almost the same mentality. Recreating another World War with another mentally insane leader-puppet-king-icon. Not a perfect match; too many differences to be a perfect copy... but at the top of this pyramid of hidden dead evil, the forces of negativity are so powerful, they shape and mould whoever comes into their sphere of influence. This is why absolute power corrupts absolutely. Any power beyond that of your own personal body which you try to exercise and use: uses you to the same degree, and takes you over: and you become the pawn of what you think you are in control of. The dynamics are reversed. This is what evil undead things have been doing for millions of years to living souls: reversing their best intentions into the most evil intentions possible by corrupting them insidiously and systematically... secretly and invisibly. The point is: there is a logical reason why the past is repeated over and over again. We need to exterminate and KILL these undead things if we are to ever have any free will of our own.

What is important is the list of similarities between Wilhelm and Hitler grows, with Hitler's increasing fame and power ... the list of similar corruptions, behaviors, motives, vices are added onto his existing personality: they accumulate with the accumulation of Hitler's power. The more power he has, the more evil he becomes and the more evil he does. This happens to everyone who gains power: not just Hitler. It is not just Hitler who is evil: every single human who has any power over another living human is evil. ALL Power is evil. ALL power is used for evil purposes: not just some power.

All of his good positive traits were not supported: instead every goodness in Hitler is attacked, sabotaged, weakened, poisoned, stunted, starved out of existence. All the evil undead scum hiding inside him and all around him seek to veer him away from all goodness, happiness and health. His physical health was horrible. He suffered from stomach cramps and flatulence all of his sick poisoned life. The undead sought to poison him as much as possible. He was a hypochondriac. He hired a personal physician; a quack who injected him with secret potions he claimed would cure his many physical illnesses. Mixed up with vitamins were the feces of dead Bulgarians... and other superstitious rot. His physician secretly added meth-amphetamines into this deadly brew of daily injections... addicting Hitler without him being aware that he was becoming a meth-junkie. Many of his crucial decisions were poisoned by his mental deterioration and the false sense of euphoria just after receiving his daily injection of drugs from his doctor. It was one of a systematic series of secret attacks on his health and mental stability by undead entities... in order to match his physical condition as closely as possible to the undead filth-entities who had secretly inhabited the body and soul of the Kaiser... so their control over him would become almost complete.

Hitler died of coronary sclerosis: he had a defective heart. This is documented by the medical records of his personal physician Dr. Morel. He is in a rush to destroy Germany before he dies: just as that other possessed monster FDR dies before he can use the atomic bomb because it is not evil enough to do the job. It takes an even more evil monster: Truman, to do that. FDR was too kindhearted.

The result of undead evil poisoning and attacking Hitler's physical health from every angle, every avenue, every way, on every level they could use to kill him. If Hitler had not committed suicide he would have died shortly anyways. What Hitler died of were the countless undead surrounding and invading his body-aura. Every possible negative attack on his health was used to corrupt and negate his brilliant military plans and objectives.

Hitler's actual plan on invading Russia was not the usual frontal assault but a pincers invasion that was designed to go behind Moscow, depriving Stalin's armies of all of the war material from the industrial factories and resources: which was later proven to be the only intelligent plan that would have worked. But just before the attack In the middle of August 1941 Hitler was laid low with a debilitating case of dysentery making him unable to take any part in the war conferences going on. During those two weeks the general staff recast the entire strategy on the Eastern front, pulling armies away from the northern and southern flanks of this pending attack which Hitler had devised and throwing them all into a frontal assault on Moscow: with the result that none of these operations succeeded before winter set in. The point is that even his own general staff was against him and worked to sabotage his original good plans, plus the undead foul things hiding inside his rotten digestive system. Hitler was surrounded by invisible undead evil on all sides: hiding inside his body and outside his body, and inside the bodies and minds of the generals who sabotaged his plan to invade Russia to make sure that it would fail.

By their hidden interference in the weather systems of the world, the undead manipulated the cycles of Nature so that all of the waterways were flooded until the middle of June all along the frontier front from where the invasion was being launched thus delaying the operation and further insuring that Hitler's invasion of the evil Stalinist Bolshevik empire would fail. This forced the entire plan to be launched too late for the operations to succeed before the early winter set in, which was the coldest on record and came earlier than anyone expected... Again here is the hidden hand of these turd things, these turd shit filth that must and will be exterminated from the entire Earth. The evil undead of the upper realms who manipulate the weather systems of the world were against Hitler because he was the lesser of two evils. It was also the undead foul, evil things living inside Hitler's guts that were against Hitler and ruined all his well-laid plans. The undead things that constantly made him suffer from stomach cramps, flatulence and dysentery.

All the negative evil aspects of his personality were reinforced and encouraged by these undead filth. Hitler's life is one of growing physical disability and growing inner weakness. Just like Wilhelm's body and soul had been. The instant Hitler gains power, he begins acting exactly just like a figurehead, a king: completely uninterested in the hands-on aspects and details of exercising political power which he had been totally involved in during his rise to power. This complete Jekyll/Hyde switch of behavior is never mentioned by historians.

Once in power, Hitler becomes a recluse: he lives exactly as the old imperial royal families once lived: a life of pure self-indulgent indolence: watching movies late into the night, sleeping late, taking walks, never working; leaving all minor policy decisions in the hands of his underlings. He not only acted as if he was a figurehead monarch: he lived like one; he lived like Wilhelm had lived when he was the figurehead of the German state... He lived like the Russian Tsar had once lived, disdaining the everyday running of his govt as beneath him. He acted like Wilhelm: going into fits of rage, having temper tantrums whenever his weak wil was blocked. Whenever his 'wil' was blocked he veered off into another direction unable to stay the course, unwilling to face reality; just like Wilhelm had. He was fed the worst possible rot by Goering's staff: decadent movies to please his vicarious Germanic tastes. The undead filth hiding around him couldn't poison his physical diet so they poisoned his mental diet instead: a diet of venal fantasy. Hitler did no work at all once he held power. The instant he gained absolute control over the German Reich: he began acting as if his word was god's will and everything he planned would happen by magic. His megalomania: his mental illness was seen by the entire world and all Germans as charismatic evidence of 'genius'. This evidence is the exact opposite of intelligence: it is the mark of insanity. It is the mark of possession by undead, raving mad insane ghouls. Except for his takeover of the running of the war, Hitler was a figurehead and a fraud. All bluster and no guts and no work. He left almost everything to his staff to implement. History books rarely mention this.

As a result of this; those under him became drunk with their own power. Because Hitler left all the actual hands-on running of wartime Germany to his close coterie of sycophants, they were free to 'interpret' Hitler's non-existent 'wil'... by saying to their underlings and to anyone who challenged them: because Hitler rarely gave any explicit direct orders to any of his staff: "It is Hitler's wil". When asked, they told everyone "It is Hitler's will" 'I am acting on behalf of Hitler'. Actually they were acting on only one half of the aura that was Hitler: they were acting on the undead half: the half that was secretly hiding itself inside the living body of Hitler... and so by doing this: Hitler gave every undead filthy scum... hiding inside the living bodies of people... the freedom to commit their own filthiest of evils and commit the foulest atrocities... in Hitler's name; an artist and a vegetarian who risked his life to save injured soldiers at the front in WW1 and was injured himself for his selflessness and dedication to goodness: never raising a weapon of death against anyone during his entire life. Because of his original root goodness: he was attacked and poisoned and the course of his life was reversed: not by his will, not by his original good intentions and motives: but by the hidden secret evil all around him and inside him: Hitler was cunningly corrupted by evil, manipulated and controlled by the unseen foul stinking dead rot that surrounded him day and night all his life.

"It is Hitler's will" meant it was to be his last will and testament to make every healthy German die, by sacrificing themselves for him personally, for the Nazi police German state: it was an undead secret joke on replacing Wilhelm with a man who left everything to the will of his underlings and did not stand at the helm of his nation. It was a death-will: a death-wish of the undead hiding inside him. The undead thing which made him fold his arms across his chest when giving a public speech: exactly as if he was a dead corpse in a casket... actually it was a dead aura hiding inside Hitler, whose dead body lay in a casket with its arms folded: its skeleton forever frozen in death, in a death wish to die again and again. All of the living evil scum who used their influence to 'interpret' what Hitler wanted to do were poisoned and corrupt themselves. They were also evil, and they spread the evil of death in every way they could by their own order; not Hitler's. The oath of personal allegiance every German was forced to take specifically stated if necessary they had to willingly sacrifice their lives for him. It was the undead inside Hitler; it was the Realm of the undead who did this. They were planning to sacrifice all the young healthy Germans to their altar of death. This is just one example of the cunning ways in which they work to get living humans to destroy themselves willingly; by being set up, brainwashed, deceived, fooled, and indoctrinated into believing whatever mass propaganda they are inundated with. The entire farce of the cult of Nationalism which the undead sold and swindled the world into religiously believing in is based upon the stupid insane idea that the most honorable, noble, selfless thing you can do is sacrifice your life for your fucking nation. If humans hadn't swallowed this bullshit there couldn't have been two World Wars. The entire concept of sacrifice comes from the undead brainwashing humans for thousands of years into willingly of their own accord sacrificing their best genetic offspring to their 'gods'... and when that didn't work, to their 'religion'; and when that didn't work; to their 'kings'; and when that no longer worked; to their fucking 'nation'. Swindle after swindle ... until now no intelligent educated human will fall for any of this bullshit anymore

The will of death: the loveless wil of the undead to commit mass suicide was let loose upon Germany. The wills of all the brainwashed Hitler youth were programmed to fight and die and be killed without questioning why and what they were fighting for. The will to kill was used to kill the will to think, it was used to make them stupid, it was a culture that was nurtured inside the soul of every German who had any negative thoughts and feelings. It was a plague of hidden undead evil. The ghoul hiding inside Hitler when he gave his speeches was controlling Hitler, it was prophesying a coming struggle where the entire German people should stand fast and listen to him and all of them should die to the last man, woman and child... so the entire living breed of new Germanic health and happiness could be effectively exterminated and wiped out.

These undead things hate all healthy life. You have no conception of how much they hate Life. Because Hitler's Youth programs created millions of young happy healthy Germans in the first years of his meteoric rise to power. Because Hitler did so many good things and allowed himself to be a conduit of such powerful positive good for the German nation and people in the beginning: the undead tried to reverse all of this and ruin all of his accomplishments so he would become a conduit for evil instead of a force for good, and destroy all the good life energy he had helped to create. They partially succeeded in doing this; Germany was bombed into rubble and most of its younger generation was killed and the remainder corrupted beyond recognition. And still the Germans who survived did not learn to recognize the evil of blind obedience to authority; any authority.

The seeds of Germany's destruction in WW2: these seeds of evil had been implanted thousands of years before. The seeds of warrior cultures that worshipped killing and death. The seeds of mindless obedience to authority. The feudal cultures of hatred and revenge. The seeds of cruelty and unfeeling selfishness. The will to empire, power, megalomania.

When Hitler took over the personal control of the running of the war from his generals: and attempted to re-live Wilhelm's desire to win a World War... as a game, just like Wilhelm's infantile attitude towards war. It was the undead thing which had once lived through Wilhelm's living body and experienced Wilhelm's failure that caused Hitler to prosecute the 2nd war and lose the war just like Wilhelm and his generals had lost the first one; through the intentional interference of undead filth ruining everything it could.

Stalin had a withered left arm too... not only did he have a withered left arm, he also had a club foot. Hitler's left-hand man Goebbels also had a club foot. Hitler's right-hand man was Goering. Stalin's club foot was his left foot. Stalin was even more evil than Hitler because all the undead evil of Goebbels, Goering and Hitler were concentrated into one living shell of corruption instead of three. Stalin was a fat dissolute womanizer and drinker just like Goering was and just as 'jolly'. These things are not coincidences.

The hidden truth of the 20th century is that it was an era of dictators. The entire western world was being run by a few powerful dictators: FDR, Churchill, Hitler and Stalin; all of them had literal dictatorial powers during the war. And all of these poisoned evil monsters were inhuman cripples. Roosevelt was crippled by polio; he was dying in a wheelchair, with black bags under his eyes for god's sake! He was so sick and diseased; he died before the war ended! Churchill was a fat obese alcoholic raving loon. All of the human puppets at the top of western civilized power had to be poisoned and crippled and twisted and warped and corrupted as much as possible... they had to be the worst, the most evil the most inhuman, the most corrupt human filth on earth; otherwise they would never have done what they did. Otherwise unseen forces of evil couldn't have controlled and manipulated them; otherwise their better instincts would have rebelled against the poisonous influence of undead evil. Understand this: all diseased, crippled, disfigured, unhealthy forms of Life, all sickness are evidence of undead evil.

What was the influence of WW2 on the world of man? Apart from the plagues and Typhus which killed more millions than the Influenza epidemics that killed 50 million people after WW1... the influence of WW2 was immigration: waves after wave of masses escaping the devastated areas of battle and bombed out cities, Millions of Europeans escaping to other lands from Stalin's genocidal Red Terror. It created a culture of immigration and cowardice in all nations: this resulted in the total destruction of the ideal and the principle of Nationalism which the undead had used to destroy the world: the idea that you should be a patriot and fight for your country and die if necessary for it died out. WW2 destroyed all allegiance to the land you live in, the nation which raised you, schooled you and gave you Life. The masses of the world lost all patriotic pride and fervor in their own nation... No longer could any nation dupe an entire mass of brainwashed fools into committing mass suicide by waging a national war against another nation as they had happily done just a few years before. Was this lesson noticed or learned by the insane human species? NO. Instead, WW2 is still glorified as a wonderful happy time when patriotic assholes killed strangers of another nation because their masters ordered them to... while at the same time no sane human would ever do this now. Along with the death of Nationalism and the blind patriotism to fight and die for your country; what was also destroyed was any caring for the country you live in. The brainwashed masses of the human species stopped caring about the land, the Nature, the forests, lakes and rivers and wildlife which made their countries beautiful. After those two World Wars nobody gave a fuck about the pristine eco-systems they were systematically destroying as quickly as possible so the robber barons could sell them mass-produced shit and machines and toys.

WW2 destroyed the healthy cleansing of cultures living together as homogeneous masses speaking the same language, sharing the same cultural past. It destroyed the slow, healthy tolerance of ethnic minorities living together peacefully; it destroyed the roots of all ethnic cultures, all religions, all of the good of every human legacy of the past that was growing and budding to form a better world was poisoned and smeared and twisted beyond recognition. It destroyed the pre-WW1 demand of autonomous ethnic minorities to demand the right to create their own nation. It mixed the lowest worst filth of humanity with the best: and destroyed the best of every single class, culture and religion.

The influence of WW2 was a wave of racist hatred between ethnic people. The influence of this wave of immigration and worldwide racism was the mass ethnic cleansing of India and the racist hatred between Muslim and Hindu with over 1 million killed in the bloodletting and over 16 million Muslims forced out of India to settle in the artificially created nations of Pakistan on the West of India and Bangladesh on the East side... These two rotting, ignorant racist, cultural cesspools of corruption, stupidity, mass conformity and defeat and ostracism continue to be rotting evils of poverty and misery, hate, greed and corruption which will bring India down... India rotted quickly back to its pre-British stupidity of Hindu ancient cultural insanity, glossed over by the tiny ruling elite copying their former masters and calling themselves Indian when they are insane freaks of Nature who have renounced their entire 7,000 yr old cultural past and replaced it with the a thin artificial veneer of the worst of European snobbery and class racism coupled with worst of their ancient class caste system on top of that.

The influence of WW2 was America selling its greed and affluence to the starving poor of the world and Europe while refusing to give any of its democracy to anyone; just as Rome had done. The influence of WW2 was the destruction of all the shining Germanic values, ideals and principles which Hitler and the national Socialist movement had begun in the 1930's. The worst of everything was preserved and the best of everything was destroyed and poisoned beyond recognition. The Jewish bankers went on grabbing everything they could lay their hands on, and ruining whatever they touched and poisoning it into filth while selling their cult of greed and the worship of money to the world as the new mass media brainwashing propaganda machines programmed and brainwashed the new accumulating billions of human slaves into insane, weak, terrified, humble obedient slaves to their money-masters.

The influence of WW2 has not stopped; it is continuing to have an effect on the world: the inevitable backlash of the moral-cultural-economic destruction of the allied nations who participated in killing and destroying everything that was GOOD is still going on. Now America and Canada are slowly sinking into their own death spiral of rotting evil greed and selfishness and brainwashed stupidity and poisoned consumer cults as non-productive nations living off the raping of their own natural resources and living off a debt piling up into the trillions and expecting future generations to pay for their fucking stupidity and keep the Jewish ship of international bankers afloat so they can continue robbing and fleecing the Goyim while secretly laughing up their sleeves at the starving masses; at how they so easily con and dupe them. What these Jewish filth do not realize is that they are sealing their own doom and complete extinction. When the world rises up against the Jewish bankers and all banks, these Jewish filth will not be shown any mercy: they will be exterminated like the rats they are and good riddance to them.

The idea that Mankind has now enslaved the machine to do its bidding and nobody need work anymore and that all physical exertion is déclassé represents the systematic extinction of the human species in miniature by the machine destroying human health. What has actually happened and is continuing to happen is that the machine has enslaved the human species: not the other way around, The human species has dehumanized itself by using tools and now machines to the point where humans are no longer human: they are insane mechanized robots: zombies incapable of human intelligence, human emotion, human awareness, human activity.

The entire concept of sacrifice comes from the undead brainwashing humans for thousands of years into willingly of their own accord sacrificing their best genetic offspring to their ‘gods’... and when that didn’t work, to their ‘religion’; and when that didn’t work; to their ‘kings’; and when that no longer worked; to their fucking ‘nation’. Swindle after swindle ... until no intelligent person falls for any of this shit anymore.

What is profit? It is the prophecy of death, doom which the ancient prophets foretold the end of the World and all Life on Earth. Living humans do not realize what the undead are after because of the time-scale they operate under. The undead have simply replaced one system of brainwashing slavery with another... while preserving the exact same name. But doing it in such a cunning way that nobody notices, so nobody makes the connection: well I have.

What’s this? These living brainwashed humanoid slaves are not worshipping their PROPHETS any more?! Why then we shall make them worship PROFITS instead! In England the word ‘profit is pronounced exactly the same way as the pronounce the word Prophet... The fact that it took the undead 2,000 years to replaces the worship of prophets with the worship of profits means nothing to them: all that matters is the masses are continually in death in debt... debt and death are also pronounced the same. The slaves in death are DEAD SOULS: walking zombies in debt... possessed and controlled by the undead. Instead of worshipping at the alters of prophets like Jeus and Mohammed: the masses now line up to worship at the alters of profits; at their ATM’s, in their banks. The worship of money and greed and selfishness has replaced the worship of the ancient gods and their prophets... Now the brainwashed masses worship every paper dollar they can get their hands on as if it were a sacred document. Now professional swindlers and money grubbers worship every cent of profit they can swindle others out of as they swindle themselves out of human happiness and health.

The new corruption of the human species is a mixture of the old swindle and their new one:

“Let them worship both! Let them worship the ancient Prophets AND the new Profits!”

Evils layered upon evil; swindles and cons layered upon swindle... and still the stupid species does not understand or realize how evil all of their insane bullshit which turns all of them into moral hypocrites and ethical bigots and destroys all of their personal moral authority into a twisted morass of insane rotting shit

This is only another wrinkle in how the undead have kept the living masses of human slaves under control, corrupt, stupid and puppets of the undead by simply replacing one con, one swindle with another swindle. The truth is that all prophets are evil: all profits are evil: until the human species learns these simple lessons, the masses of insane humanity will continue to enslave itself without being aware of it. Without being aware of how they have been gulled and poisoned by their own undead ancestral filth. The fact that it took the undead over 1,000 years to replace the culture of prophets with the culture of profits and that these two cultures overlap and co-exist... means nothing to undead filth who exist for millions of years in the realm of the undead. What we the living now can do is see these cultures in historical perspective and delete both of them from our lives once realizing that both of them are evil hoaxes invented by these unspeakable vermin.

What was the influence of WW2, what was its effect? Nothing good came out of that war: only evil. Until the masses learn to kill their own leaders and stop living as slaves; the human species will continue its own suicidal path into total extinction because they are unaware of the presence of the undead all around them all the time.

This is why so much of human history seems to be so inexplicable: the true causes of events are hidden from view: they are caused by these undead stinking rot shits that need to be exterminated. History repeats itself because these undead things force people to repeat the past by every means at their disposal; the prophets of doom are still the profits of doom; you idiots. Hitler cleansed Germany of greed and the worship of profit: for that he was destroyed by the undead because nobody else recognized the evils of greed as he did.

At the height of his popularity, Hitler's spent time planning grandiose designs of imperial palaces and buildings for a 1,000 year German Reich. Obsessed with a future which would never happen, Hitler's mental and physical illness progressed rapidly: worse and worse, making the worst snap judgments without bothering to be informed of the actual situation, making the worst errors and mistakes at the most crucial points in time.

In the same organic way that the evil undead things hanging around Wilhelm and hiding inside him, poisoned the body and life of Hitler: these invisible undead scum are attracted to any living human who possess characteristics like theirs, and seek to re-live their past life: re-live the life they had just recently lived... While burying the awareness and memories of the countless other lives they had violated and vicariously lived-through, avoiding, fleeing from all awareness of themselves as pure rotting evil rotting negative Ying energy.

Why do you think the undead hate Auschwitz so much that they have reversed the historical truth into a misperception, an abomination of the actual truth? Words cannot describe how much they hate that place. They hate it because masses of undead were killed there. All of the undead that hid in the walls of the concentration camps were killed dead because the Germans used Zyklon B to regularly fumigate not only the cloths of the inmates but the buildings as well. The poison was so effective it killed the undead going through the poisoned blue walls. Why do you think Zyklon B was purposefully discontinued? Because if it had been used as a pest control agent: it could have killed untold masses of undead filth hiding inside the walls of buildings. How so? Because these filthy undead things are parasites: they suck off the living; they use living parasites to violate the auras of human beings and poison them. When any of them try to connect to the aura of a parasite they have the danger of being killed along with the living parasite they infiltrate and suck on and use. Killing all the living parasites in those camps, to undead, meant they were going to be next. A typhus epidemic was orchestrated as an evil backlash reaction to the healthy cleanliness of the German labor camps.

Why do you think the culture of escapism and entertainment, the culture of the theater, the culture of staged plays has been growing and spreading ever since its invention in the 15th century and the plays of William Shakespeare? Why do you think the culture of actors and actresses playing another historical person has become so popular and glorified? Why do you think Shakespeare wrote;

“All the World’s a stage, and all the men and women merely players.”

It is because of the ability of undead ghouls living and hiding inside a living person to go into another living person. It is because undead filth are able to sneak into and out of living bodies any time they wish. It is because once an undead thing has hidden inside the body of one living person: they absorb the personality of the person they are violating... they know how that person thinks... they know how that person behaves, they know what that person would do in any given situation. It is because it is easier for them to go into the body of a person who is trying to BE the person they once lived inside and sucked on... as secret filthy stinking parasites. It is because when an actress or actor plays someone else: undead ghouls who once hid inside that someone else can and do sneak into the body of the actress or actor and do they only thing it has learned... pretending to be that other person.... This is the only kind of ‘play’ these undead unspeakable things are capable of. These undead things are not capable of any originality; they are only good at copying the originality of living people. They have no personality of their own... their ‘personality’ is just an accumulation of the personalities of living people they once hid inside and sucked on. These undead things do not deserve to exist AND THEY KNOW IT.

These things are EVIL NEGATIVE YING DEATH ENERGY

Scum attracts scum: like attracts like, evil attracts evil. These dead shit things only survive by forgetting their own past sins and crimes: they survive by amnesia: they survive by blocking out everything they have done, every violation they have committed, every atrocity and obscenity they are guilty of. YING energy is IN energy: Energy which goes INWARDS.

Yang Energy is OUT energy: energy which goes OUTWARDS

By poisoning the IN energy of a living innocent person: they can seep INTO the living aura of a living person. The undead poison the Yang energy also: because all energy going OUT from any living person originates from the energy within them. This is why these undead energy-auras need to be systematically eliminated from every living human on Earth.

All that needs to be done: is finding the energy levels they exist on: and wipe them out en masse. Exterminate these invisible scum and the existence and presence and influence of evil will disappear from the Earth.

The point of this analysis of Wilhelm and Hitler is if examined closely: the exact same history and process of growing evil and corruption can be found in the history and life of every single human who has ever lived, and every single human person living now; beginning from birth.

This includes you: your life has also been poisoned and violated just as much as the Life of Wilhelm's was and the life of Hitler's was. It is only because these two people attracted worldwide fame and shame and interest that I use them to explain how the existence of undead scum affects the life of every innocent living baby that is born including all the readers of this book and me. This is the reason I wrote this book: having discovered the true nature of these undead things, I explored what they actually were. And the more I was lied to and attacked, the more I found out how cunningly they work, the more I found out that their motives are without exception evil. There is no such thing as a good undead entity. The only good undead entity is an undead entity that does not poison any living person with their presence and does not keep their existence a secret from living people and does not hide inside the bodies of living souls and that does not exist and has never existed. The only good undead entity is an entity that either kills other undead entities, or has decomposed completely and no longer exists.

Hitler, the undead and the Jews

Once Hitler gained power he did an about-face that is totally inexplicable. Instead of deporting the Jews out of Europe: he put off the whole problem and shelved it. In fact he went out of his way to protect Jewish lives and property. He quashed the one outbreak of violence against the Jews and forbade his inner circle to instigate, foment, secretly encourage or plan any further attacks against the Jews of Germany. Instead, he rounded them up and sent them to 'prison camps'... where they were so incredibly pampered and well-looked after and taken care of: it is incredible to think the same man who ranted against the evils of the Jew and the Jewish culture could be the same man who saved this chosen race of evildoers from the carpet bombings of the Allied forces and the genocidal obliteration of German cities and the mass murder of 8 million Germans. The Allies never bombed the concentration camp factories even though they were being used to produce armaments by the Krupp Corporation for the Nazi war effort. The Krupp factories were totally corrupt: they were manned by corrupt Jews and owned by corrupt Germans: get it? Instead of the German Jews suffering the horrors of mass death in the cities where they lived, together with the German people, these Jews were taken out of those death traps... and as a result of this they were 'coincidentally' saved from death while the German People were not. Instead of killing them, Hitler pampered them while at the same time demanding and expecting that every single German fight to the death and die to the last in order to preserve the fucking 'honor' of the German Fatherland.

If Hitler had been granted his dearest dying wish: then the fucking 'honor' of 'Germany' and the 'bravery' and 'superiority' of the German people would have been proven and 'preserved' 'intact'... and the gory 'glory' of the German people would have been 'preserved' by all Germans fighting and dying to the last man, woman and child.

And the entire German race would have been completely wiped out: exterminated... killed off... 100% total genocide.

GOSH... what a fucking 'good' 'patriotic' German this fucking Hitler was, this shows how much he 'cared' about the German people.

The fucking point of this is that in order to carry out the evil conspiracy against the German people and German culture they poisoned and corrupted not only Churchill, not only FDR, not only Stalin, not just by using the Russian army as an instrument of evil, not just by using the western Allied forces as an instrument of evil, not just by the carpet bombing of Germany and Europe... not just by using Jewish bankers as instruments of evil... they corrupted and poisoned and used Hitler himself. The destruction of Germany was orchestrated by their own fucking leader, their own beloved Fuhrer. The German people were being systematically poisoned and attacked and set up for slaughter by Hitler himself, by the undead; from within the power-center of their nation and from outside the perimeter of their nation... all at the same time.

The undead had launched a systematic attack against the people of Germany, they poisoned and attacked Germany both from the inside AND from the outside simultaneously. By first infiltrating the center of German power and installing Hitler and the Nazis into power... thus corrupting and weakening the entire nation-cell... and then mounting an overwhelming attack from the outside by the whole industrialized and non-industrialized world... so the inner poisoning of Hitler's command-post decisions and his mistakes insured that the Allies would win the war. The undead made damned sure that Hitler would lose the war. Hitler didn't save the Germans from annihilation: he saved the Jews from annihilation. He had become just as poisoned and evil as his enemies because of the undead who systematically poison and corrupt all people in power.

The Auschwitz camp for Jews had a movie theater, a post office where the prisoners could receive parcels and write letters back to their family, better food than the rest of rationed Germany was allowed, a swimming pool, an infirmary, a gynecological center, clean clothes, clean heated barracks, a kindergarten for the children, an orchestra, a soccer field... The prisoners were allowed to print their own money. It even had a brothel for the prisoners! Compared to the rest of Germany it was a paradise. Hitler saved this one chosen race: chosen to commit the most cunning of evils, he saved them from all harm while the rest of Europe was being bombed in to rubble and destroyed and millions were starving and dying all over Europe. This makes no fucking sense whatsoever.... Unless you factor in the existence of undead ghouls controlling and manipulating Hitler and his cronies, and cunningly corrupting him to do the opposite of what his initial instincts told him was the right thing to do, and making sure that their chosen race would spread its evil filthy poisoned seed to control and rule the entire world of man. Why was Hitler and Germany targeted by all the evil undead for extermination and corruption? Because the German people were too healthy. Because the undead cannot stand to have the truth about their chosen race to be exposed worldwide. Because Hitler had correctly and accurately explained in his book “Mein Kampf” the insidious evil of the Jewish culture and race and how insidiously and slyly they weasel themselves into positions of authority and power and influence. Because he accurately pointed out that Jews have no moral conscience and no ethical conscience, and by this lacking of a necessary part of their humanity, they are automatically evil. Because he had accurately and correctly pointed out how the Jews can never be pinned down by the truth, that they always manage somehow to insidiously weasel themselves out of embarrassing situations even when they are caught with their pants down in blatant outright lies and cunning swindles.

Because Hitler had loudly proclaimed the obvious truth to the entire world that the Jewish race and culture is an abomination filled with evil; he had to be crushed and removed. His book had to be demonized. His reputation had to be destroyed. His efforts for mutual disarmament and demilitarization of the world had to be covered up and ignored. All of his positive accomplishments had to be pooh-poohed and discounted as nothing. The result is such a pack of lies and distortions and obvious racist mean-mouthed falsity that many people instinctively react against this worldwide Jewish barrage of hatred and lies and misinformation that they instinctively take his side.

So what did the undead do after the 3 most evil filthy dictators; Churchill, FDR and Stalin assembled and unleashed all of the mechanized evil killing power of mass destruction of the industrialized west against this one small nation of less than 70 million Germans? The surviving truth about the evil of the Jews, Hitler’s legacy to the world: his book ‘Mein Kampf’ could not be allowed to stand unchallenged. The truths of that book had to be poisoned, lied about, covered up and reversed. Everything he said about the Jews had to be reversed and covered up by mountains of lies... The public perception of everything he had written in Mein Kampf had to be poisoned and twisted and reversed.

How was this done?

They couldn't change what Hitler had written
They couldn't change what Hitler had said
But they could cover-up what Hitler had actually done
They could and did change the perceptions of the masses about what Hitler had written and what he had said... and how he had said it. Turn the Nazis into evil monsters; turn the Nazis into sadistic devils when they were nothing of the kind,

Discredit the messenger: not the message
Then by inference, the message is discredited also.
By a worldwide blitz of anti-Nazi, anti-Hitler propaganda
Make all anti-Semitism illegal so nobody can accuse any Jews of being evil.

Label anyone who even behaves or acts like Hitler as crazy. Label anyone who shouts as automatically being crazy. Label anyone who is passionately convinced of their moral rightness as being crazy. Get rid of all morality. Before WW2, public speakers had to shout to be heard because they didn't have microphones and loudspeakers. Nobody was labeled for shouting or for being angry as a madman. After Hitler; everyone who shouts or is angry is labeled as being crazy. Label anyone who had deep ethical convictions and deep emotions as being nuts and crazy. Label anyone who is passionate about anything as being crazy. Label anyone who is angry about any injustice as a crazy loon, a ranting nut. Label all ranting as meaningless and harmless by making the masses sneer at anyone who rants against anything. After all, Hitler ranted about the evil of the Jews and Germany was destroyed and he committed suicide, so he must have been wrong, right? So anyone who is angry or rants about anything must be wrong by inference, right? Wrong

Poison the masses so none of them know what true passion is, so none of them have an emotional life. Brainwash the masses to become afraid of anyone who is emotional. Make them afraid of their own emotions. Program the masses to become paranoid, fear-filled, timid little conformist lemmings. Forbid all anger. Make all anger forbidden. Outlaw all anger. Outlaw all passionate emotion. Make all anger taboo. Turn the masses into no-violent little wimps: turn them into shivering quivering cowards afraid of shadows. Turn the masses into emotionless dead zombies that have no human feelings, no human emotions. Make the masses incapable of feeling emotions. Drug them: make them all drink coffee so their emotions are permanently disconnected from their brains; turn the masses into coffee addicts so not having any human emotions becomes a normal mass phenomenon. Turn the masses into non-violent timid little cowards. How was this done? Simple. Turn the masses into detached observers by selling them radios and TV's and computers so they do not participate in their own lives anymore. Turn them into mindless spectators, watchers, detached from their own emotions and feelings.

Then destroy literacy so young generations will never read Mein Kampf. Make them incapable of reading a whole book. Make attention deficit disorder a common disease of young minds so they will not be able to focus on anything for any protracted length of time. Make the study of history unpopular and boring; destroy their educational systems so even if they read it they won't understand it. Destroy all interest in history by barraging the masses with trivia so their brains are permanently scrambled and they have no interest in the past and what actually happened. Destroy all perception of the truth by commercial ads spewing meaningless jargon until the only culture left is the commercial culture of Jewish greed and meaningless consumer buying; make self-gratification the universal unspoken religion of dead souls who feel nothing, think nothing and do nothing but consume.

The American people were made to forget WW1 and WW2 by being sold radios and TV's. They were made to forget what they had done by their Jewish owned and controlled media skipping over an entire century of their own past history and selling them lies and myths glorifying the American Wild West because they could NOT glorify WW1 and WW2. They also could not glorify the genocide of the native tribes of North America... so they buried the true history of American expansion in the West under a barrage of TV propaganda 'westerns' so the American people would look Westwards, not Eastwards, so they would not look at what they had done in the East in WW1 and WW2, and not study it and not discover that they had been swindled, fooled and robbed and lied to.

As a result of this mass amnesia, this push to forget and block out everything that happened in WW1 and WW2, the seminal book of the 20th century: Mein Kampf was forgotten and ignored, discounted, misperceived, misunderstood and buried in the American wild rush into hedonism and the relinquishing of all traditional Protestant morals and ethics under the barrage of the Jewish culture of greed and amorality spreading all over the world.

Compared to the Jewish sacred books which are filled with hate and vitriol and more hate; the small part in Mein Kampf which is devoted to the Jews is a such a mild, accurate exposé of the Jewish culture and the Jewish mentality and ethos that you cannot help but wonder, what's all the fuss about? Why is this book so universally demonized as being pure evil?... Why is Hitler so universally demonized? The answer is the truth had to be covered up because the poisoning of the entire world by Jewish greed would not have been possible if the world knew about the insidious evil of the Jewish culture. How they insidiously take over the places of power and wealth of every nation they infiltrate and suck it dry.

This is exactly what has transpired. The Jews now control and own the money and most of the wealth of nearly all western nations. Their influence and power and wealth is now greater than all other ethnic races combined. They did it insidiously, slowly, cunningly. Hitler warned the world about this in his book Mein Kampf and the world did not listen... why? It doesn't make any sense unless you factor in the influence that undead entities have over living humans and their evil ability to control and manipulate the minds of living people.

Hitler's totally inexplicable saving of the Jews from the mass bombing of Europe had to be covered up... because it did not fit with the war propaganda the masses had been fed by the Allies and the Jewish owned press and media. If this had become known: that the same person who had written 'Mein Kampf' had saved the Jewish people of Europe from mass slaughter in WW2;

then all the lies propaganda of the western industrial complex, the western political powers, the western ruling elite, the Jewish owned and controlled media, all of the false images and bullshit which millions of people had fought and died for would have come tumbling down and been exposed.

Then the worst fears of the Zionist Jews would be realized; then the whole world would recognize them as the evil which they actually are, then the evil of this 'chosen race' would be recognized, then this abomination of humans poisoned by the worst undead filth on the planet would be recognized, and Jews would be ostracized from all places of power and influence and they would be deported to the island of Madagascar as Hitler had originally intended.

Understand this: not all Jews are completely evil: only those who are chosen by undead turds are totally evil, only those who are systematically poisoned from birth to play crucial roles, only those who can be most easily corrupted are 'chosen' by these unspeakable things, only the most foul, diseased evil families whose undead ancestors are more evil than the ancestral undead of other families are chosen to become the main instruments of evil, until they become completely controlled puppets that are completely possessed by evil.

In order to cover up the fact that most of the main agents of evil in western civilization are people of the Jewish extraction, the undead set about brainwashing the entire world of living people into having an opposite perception of the actual truth about WW2 and Hitler and the Allies and the Jews and Germany. Using Zionist Jews as their puppets: the undead managed to create a total media blitz campaign that ignored all the atrocities of the Allies. All of the atrocities and genocidal bombings of Dresden and Nagasaki and Hiroshima were ignored and not even regarded as atrocities! Instead, a media blitz of 99% fiction about Nazi brutality and Nazi evil and invented propaganda and lies about German inhumanity and atrocities was spewed by Jewish magazines and newspapers all over the world painting Hitler and the Nazis as the Devil incarnate: when the actual truth was that Hitler was the lesser of two evils... the Western Allies and Stalin were much, much more evil. The Jewish newspapers and the WW2 Allies and their entire western culture of Jewish-Protestant-Catholic institutionalized societal greed were far more evil than Hitler's Germany. Now they are even more corrupt: MUCH more corrupt and evil.

Understand this: Hitler was not good. He was just a lesser evil: less evil than the Jewish evil which he had uncovered and exposed in his book Mein Kampf. The Jews are not the only evil of western civilization... they are just the worst evil. Hitler had unveiled the truth about the Jews and called attention to it. This had to be covered up and reversed. This had to be buried under mountains of lies, this had to be buried under tons and tons of lies and more lies.

EVIL CANNOT BEAR TO BE EXPOSED NAKED.

The Jews are the chosen race of undead evil Satanic Devils. What is a devil? A devil is a Destructive force of EVIL. Evil is the opposite of LIVE. Evil is OPPOSED to LIFE. Destructive Energy Violence I Love

This incredible turnabout of Hitler, this total reversal of what he had written about and screamed and ranted about for years before he came into actual power, and what he actually did once he got into power; this had to be hidden and covered up and ignored and all focus had to be taken away from this inexplicable historical reversal.

So... using the Jewish media, the undead invented filthy stinking lies about the inhumanity of the German slave labor camps, and instead of accurately recording how well the Jewish prisoners were actually being treated, the Allies invented a lie which was the opposite of the actual truth. ALLIES... a LIE... All lies... get it?

In order to take all attention away from the war crimes of the Allies, and cover up all the genocidal mass murder, rape and atrocities which THEY had perpetrated, which THEY were guilty of: all of their crimes were whitewashed, ignored, sidestepped, and the myth: the HOLLOW myth of nonexistent gas chambers was invented and perpetrated by the U.S. Dept of Psychological Warfare, and the British equivalent which was labeled under the ambiguous title known as the Political Warfare Executive Dept... together with the Jewish controlled and owned media. The whole world was flooded with propaganda and lies about non-existent gas chambers and fictitious Nazi atrocities and the deception of portraying the Nazis as being consistently Anti-Semitic throughout the war was preserved. There were just enough token documented cases of Nazi atrocities to paint the entire regime black with lies, just a few documented cases was all that was needed to use as a base for the mountains of totally fabricated Jewish lies and fiction which became an industry of total fiction that blanketed the entire western world and Stalin's USSR.

Why was this done?

Because the undead are psychologically at war against all living creatures and all living humans all the time. Because they have been in a state of continuous unending war against the growing intelligence and awareness of the living human mind. Because they are in a state of war right now, and are constantly fighting to twist and poison every sane human thought as much as they can. Because they are in a constant state of war against all human sanity, decency and common sense and truth. The more unaware you are of their evil presence and influence, the more easily they can poison and influence you on subconscious levels you are not aware of. The more you operate and function on an unaware level, the more your brain operates on a subconscious level which you are not conscious of, the more easily they can infiltrate this low-level of mental energy and fill it with their faint, poisoned messages, feelings, urges, their undead presence and cunningly make you do what they want you to do.... not what you consciously plan or intend on doing.

Why was the truth of Auschwitz reversed into such an obscene lie?

For many reasons.

One was the entire moral lynchpin of WW2 was that it was supposed to be a 'good' war. Without any evidence of Nazi atrocities; that hoax would have been exposed and the entire fabric of Western Jewish Capitalist propaganda would have fallen apart at the seams.

Another reason is that genocide was actually committed: but it was done without anyone knowing it had happened. It happened because of the camp's strict rule of delousing all prisoners and fumigating their clothes in a small sealed delousing chamber using Zyklon B: Hydrogen Cyanide gas in order to kill lice who were known to be carriers of the dreaded Typhus virus.

The most evil Jewish prisoners, who had more undead entities infecting their auras and bodies had many layers of undead auras, and many of these undead scum had the bad habit of staying with the clothes of their victim instead of staying hidden inside their bodies simply because there were too many undead filth inside the bodies of those Jews already. These extraneous ghouls were literally shucked OFF their victims when the prisoners were made take off all their clothes and had their clothes thrown into the airtight delousing chamber... Too late, many of these undead spirits suddenly found themselves inside a poison gas chamber and they couldn't get out without killing themselves....

Why?

Because all the walls and ceiling and floor of that small chamber was so impregnated with Hydrogen Cyanide that passing through those poison-filled walls killed them DEAD.

THAT is the actual 'genocide' which occurred in Auschwitz and many of the other Nazi labor camps.

THAT is why the undead have a special hatred for those camps.

THAT is why they have tried to bury the truth about those labor camps... to cover up the fact that they are not immortal... to cover up the fact that they can be killed. That they SHOULD be killed. That ALL of them should be killed dead.

Auschwitz is a good litmus test for the presence of undead Jewish entities. If you mention Auschwitz and you get a rabid, irrational reaction of blind hatred and animosity... this will tell you that the living shell that is behaving this way is being possessed and poisoned by JEWISH undead and someone they had once known in the realm of the undead had been killed in one of those delousing chambers.

THIS is the reason for the almost worldwide hatred of those camps by the most evil Jews and the living who are possessed and controlled by Jewish undead. THIS is the reason why the myth of the nonexistent gas chambers refuses to die. There WERE gas chambers that killed Jews,

But these gas chambers did not kill the living.

THEY KILLED THE UNDEAD

INADVERTANTLY

WITHOUT ANYONE KNOWING OF IT IN THE REALM OF THE LIVING.

Some of the most evil filth, the most rotten undead scum of that realm were inadvertently killed DEAD inside those small gas chambers.

AND I MEAN DEAD.

DO you understand now?

There are logical reasons for everything.

The undead things trapped inside those small gas chambers couldn't hide inside the clothing, they couldn't hide inside the bodies of the Lice hiding inside the clothes, they couldn't hide inside the walls, they couldn't hide in the cracks or nooks or along the poisoned surfaces... all of their usual filthy dirty little tricks and strategies and cunning ploys of hiding didn't work in those small gas chambers. They were trapped and couldn't get out and died there inside those small delousing chambers and any of them that managed to get out or seep through the walls, poisoned themselves by trying to seep through the poisoned walls and died before they could warn the other undead not to enter that chamber.

Now you know the true hidden reason why there is an evil Jewish Zionist campaign that is keeping the myth of Auschwitz alive despite all of the scientific evidence, despite all of the whistle blowers, despite all of the brave truth seekers and historians and researchers who have publicized their findings about that hoax...

Now you know why the so-called most 'democratic' nations of the west: Switzerland, France, England and Germany have instituted special laws to make anyone challenging of the official version of the holocaust a political crime punishable by stiff fines and a long jail sentence. Now you know why the Jewish anti-defamation League persecutes everyone who spreads the truth of the holohoax and why these Jewish filth have used their political clout to persecute and deport and deny entry to the few courageous honest people who did the hard research and are spreading the truth about the hoax of the holocaust.

The myth of the holocaust refuses to die because in a sense it is true... Many of these hollow undead filth WERE killed en masse in those camps, and what's more... because of it, the German prison camps were strangely free of many Jewish evil vices; in fact they were happy places for many of the inmates and they had more fun and enjoyed LIFE more because of how decently they were treated by the German SS and Wehrmacht.

Now you know WHY this myth has taken on the term 'holocaust' because those dying undead hollow beings were thrown into the pits of HELL, into the cauldrons of their own evil HELL and were CAUSED to DIE from the caustic poison of the Hydrogen cyanide which coated every single surface of those delousing chambers used only to delouse the prisoners clothes.

It is not a coincidence that since WW2, the use of Zyklon B has been completely discontinued even though it is one of the most effective pesticides ever invented. Nobody uses that chemical anymore. Why? Because the undead do not like being killed DEAD by it.

Now you know why the entire international community outlawed all use of poison gas after using it during WW1... Poison gas can and does KILL undead entities hiding inside nooks and crannies and hovering over the heads of living people. All other kinds of weapons of mass destruction are allowed in warfare... but not poison gas.

Another reason why the myth the lie of Nazi gas chambers and mass genocide is kept alive is because the entire ethic and lie and basis of capitalist western evil is based upon demonizing Germany and the Nazis as being pure evil: when they were not pure evil. Even at their worst: The Germans and the Nazis were more straightforward, honest and decent than the filthy Jew-ridden Allies.

One of the main propaganda lies which was sold to the western masses by the Jewish controlled and owned newspapers and media in order to promote and sell the war against Germany to the western masses, before, during and after that war... one of the main reasons the allies used to justify the war, one of the main ways they could claim any moral superiority over Hitler and the Germans: was the lie, the propaganda lie, the false lie of superior morality, of NON-racists fighting RACISTS, the war propaganda lie of NON-genocidal govts fighting mass-murdering genocidal govts, when the opposite was true.

The Nazi regime wasn't genocidal; not for lack of trying, not because Hitler wasn't corrupt or evil or because the Nazis were good; but simply because the most of the German people were too decent a folk to be forced into committing such horrible acts. It was not for lack of trying to force the German Wehrmacht and the SS to commit mass murder on innocent civilians and Russian Jews on the Eastern Front that the Nazis were not genocidal. They tried it, but the demoralizing effect on their own soldiers was so bad, the SS officers in charge canceled the attempts because unlike the Russians, they cared about the welfare of their own troops.

The moral ethical code of German culture was totally different from the Jewish Stalinist amoral unethical filth. Any German caught raping a woman or girl was executed on the spot. Stalin didn't care how many girls his armies raped. The Russian armies developed a rape-code much like the mass murder code of each unit having a required number of kulaks they had to murder in any given locale or week. Stalin's armies began systematically raping every female they could find. The attempt to portray Germans as evil and the Russians as good is beyond sanity. The opposite was true.

David Irving the famous revisionist historian has uncovered crucial telling documents in the war archives of the Germans and Allies now which explains what actually happened... The fact that Hitler was kept unaware of most of the killing of Jews has now been discovered. It was Himmler the head of the SS who was responsible for liquidating Jews. It was under Himmler's orders that 4 labor camps were used to murder Jews by shooting them and burying them in mass graves: this gave enough superficial evidence for the Jewish myth: the exaggerated figure of 6 million Jews killed to be believed and spread by the Jewish media and the Allied forces and Allied govts. These 4 camps were: Treblinka, Sobibor, Belzec and Majdanek: representing the four major Babylonian gods who had an axe to grind against the Jews who destroyed their fair city and turned it into a pus of corruption, whoring and gambling and evil filth. And 3,000 years later decide to wreak their belated revenge upon the most innocent decent Jews they can find.

In fact the documents Irving uncovered prove that Himmler and the Gestapo hid their killing of Jews under the term: 'special operations'. The 4 camps in which this was being done; "1.247 million Jews were subjected to 'special treatment'" This was then further doctored in the statistics that were sent to Hitler to read into: "1.247 million Jews were channeled through the camps in occupied Poland to the East." So the term 'special treatment' would never reach Hitler's eyes and what Himmler and the Gestapo were doing would remain hidden from Hitler. Himmler consciously knew that he was deliberately disobeying Hitler's direct commands to not harm any European Jews or destroy any Jewish property in Europe. This was why Himmler ordered the Treblinka camp to be razed to the ground at the end of the war and a farmstead built and given to a Ukrainian peasant, which was done... so nobody would know what had been going on there.

The systematic whitewashing of Himmler's program of selective genocide was going on throughout the last 2 years of the war without Hitler's knowledge. The point is: Himmler was not killing off all Jews: He was only killing certain Jews...

The real question is... which Jews were being liquidated?
Which Jews was Himmler killing?

The evil ones, or the decent good ones?

In my estimation Himmler was acting under orders even higher than Hitler. In the diary of Karl Bolff, Himmler's Chief of Staff; Aug 1942 tells of him finding Himmler in a deep depression:...when asked why he was so depressed his answer reveals the undead at work and Himmler's guilty conscience: and how different levels of undead operate under their own agendas and how there is a centralized undead power which controls the entire realm of the undead, where Himmler replies:

"I am doing something that the Messiah of the coming 2,000 years must never find out about."

The fact is that Himmler regarded Hitler as the Messiah. He worshipped Hitler as a living god. The undead hiding inside Himmler were obeying older more ancient gods who are not Messianic. This reveals the insanity and the layers of insane ancient evil which are totally invisible to living human eyes; but which lies hidden inside the center; the hidden center of corrupt human souls when evil spirits decide to take over an insane narrow-minded, myopic, weak corrupt hate-filled scumbag like Himmler and twist him and turn him to their ghoulish secret purposes and agendas.

This also explains why Himmler was killed in his cell by the Allies when he was caught at the end of the war trying to escape. The Allies could not afford to let Himmler testify at the Nuremberg war crime Trials. The entire strategy of that orchestrated farce, that propaganda fucking witch-hunt, was the Germans and the Allies both cooperating by blaming everything on Hitler personally as being an inhuman monster. If it had leaked out that Hitler had known nothing about what Himmler was doing in those 4 labor camps, then all of the fucking propaganda about the 6 million hollow hoax would have been uncovered, and there would have been Hell to pay and the Allied atrocities put next to the secret atrocities of Himmler would have made the Germans look like the innocent, decent people which they actually were, and the worldwide global brainwashing anti-German racist hate propaganda of the Jewish media would have been revealed as a hoax also and all the other Jewish swindles would have been uncovered. Himmler was one of the few Nazi leaders who deserved to be killed. He was the one Nazi leader who should have been put on trial and have everything he did exposed for the world to see. Instead he was secretly murdered because his standing trial would have exploded the myth that the Allies and the German high command were trying to sell: that everything which had happened was because of Hitler and that all of them were innocent because they were only following orders during a time of war. In this way most of the top generals of the German Wehrmacht escaped death. The Allies and the undead could not afford to have the truth leak out that the only atrocities committed were exceptions and were done without Hitler knowing about it and were committed against his specific orders and wishes. The Nuremberg Trial could not afford to paint Hitler as a kind, decent, ordinary Austrian who had protected the Jews against the worst elements of his regime. This would have made them look bad; what with them responsible for destroying all of Europe and giving half of Europe to a madman a maniac who only enjoyed killing everyone he could by the millions. This would have raised too many questions which could not be allowed to be even be asked.

Even so, the statistical figure of 1.247 million Jews killed supplied by Nazi estimations cannot be relied on, because it is only a rough guesstimate. It was based upon the number of missing Jews which were not accounted for in their official files; not upon any documented records of Jews being actually killed. And this guesstimate was done while in the middle of a world war when entire populations were being slaughtered and uprooted and all of Europe was being destroyed by Churchill and the Allies,

The figure includes the Jews who died of Typhus and other diseases; it includes criminals who were executed in the camps. It includes the number of labor camp inmates who died from cold and hunger and overwork and brutality and starvation. These were exceptions to the rule; most labor camp inmates were not treated brutally and they were not all Jews. And then adding into the figure of 1.247 million killed are the Jews who were not killed by Poles and Ukrainians and Lithuanians who had their own axe of revenge to grind against Jews... Jews whom they knew personally and had personal vendettas against,

After the German army forced the Bolshevik mass murdering scum out of the nations they had invaded: this left the Jews who had helped the Stalinist Jews to kill the local population and in doing so had exposed them for what they really were and are: a skulking hating secretive tribe of filth... exposed too soon ... they had become the torturers and mass murderers for the Russians: the spies and eyes and ears for the Russian NKVD mass murdering killing units.

When the Germans pushed out the Stalinist Bolsheviks: the local population then KNEW from direct experience what Jews are like when they get into any position of power over non-Jews... They had suffered under the Bolshevik Jews; the Jews had exposed their hidden hatred and brutality too soon... The hidden mask of evil had been revealed and their sham faces could never be put back on again. Then the Germans came in and the Jews were no longer protected by the red army...

Putting these Jews together with the innocent people who were slaughtered in WW2 is like mixing the killers with those whom they killed. It is a false misleading number.

For instance the killing of Jews in Riga Latvia by Latvians who had a score to settle with their own Jews is attributed to the Nazi's; when it should like many other massacres be put under the local ethnic cleansing which each region under the Nazi occupation took it upon themselves to kill the most evil Jews in their land. The same ethnic cleansing took place in Hungary and in Poland and in other places in Europe and Nazi occupied territory... It was the universal European detestation of Jewish culture and their grasping greedy evil practices during peacetime that was let loose during wartime and descended to the lowest dehumanized level possible and Jewish evil being exposed during the war that makes any accurate accounting of who was killed and why and where and when impossible to differentiate between the ones who deserved killing and the ones who didn't deserve to be killed.

Here; the killing of Jews is distinctively different from the killing of innocents and must be explained. The reason Hitler wanted all Jews to be saved was to save the worst of that scum-poisoned breed: not the best. The reason that people occupied by the Germans killed Jews was because they were killing those who had collaborated with the Stalinist Bolsheviks: the expert conniving, skulking evil upwardly mobile Jews who always slither their way into the paths of officialdom and power like the reptilian snakes they are: the traitors to the ethnic lands they lived in: the Jews whom the locals knew from personal experience what kind of greedy grasping inhuman monsters they actually were: the slavish Jews obeying their Nazi masters and taking over the operating centers of the German Nazi high command without anyone noticing that they were doing it... slowly... insidiously... evilly... The ruthless Jews, the inhuman ones, the ones without any mercy or pity or kindness or decency towards other human beings.

For instance on Sunday: Nov 30th 1941; in Riga Latvia a German Colonel in the engineering corps came in on the morning to headquarters and discovered all of the Jews who had been working for him in the headquarters of the German high command were missing. When inquiring of an SS officer:

“Hey! What’s happened to all my Jews?”

The SS officer tells him to go down the road and see for himself; he discovers them all lying in pits shot dead all naked; ordered to undress and lie down with their heads in the center of each pit of Hell which they had dug themselves; obediently as mass slaves; demons of the undead of Hell when caught red-handed in the Realm of the Living: and without a whimper they all laid down without trying to escape their death or disobey the Latvians who ordered them to lie down with their heads in the center of the pit; so the machine gun bullets into the center of the pit would kill them more efficiently without any wastage of ammunition or time.

The colonel in the engineer corps ordered an army lieutenant to go there and see for himself what had happened so he could send a written message to Hitler himself and tell him what he saw, since he wasn’t in a rank able to send anything directly to Berlin, the answer back directly from Hitler:

‘This kind of mass killing has got to stop’

Notice... Hitler did not say all killing of Jews has to stop: only the killing of European Jews.

Hitler was a simpleminded racist. He divided Jews into two categories: those to be saved for use by the 3rd Reich and those to be exterminated. European Jews he put into the 'save' category. Russian Jews he put into the 'exterminate' category. Hitler himself was filled with evil. He was surrounded by evil. His entire inner circle was filled with the most evil degenerates of the Nazi power structure. He had no true understanding of what evil actually is and how cunningly it can hide behind masks which seem to be good. Good and evil is everywhere, in every person. It cannot be categorized or labeled in such idiotic simplistic terms as Hitler did.

The discrimination between what is actually Good and what is actually evil is important because for million of years the undead have managed to twist and poison living humans around so they reversed their perceptions of what is Good and what is evil... why do they do this? Why did they do it? So that once these brainwashed scum reach the realm of the undead: they will not kill these evil scum with their bare hands and rid the realm of the undead of all of them, so the people who die and pass over to their side will be amenable to further brainwashing and become used as minions of hell and the overworld to commit even worse evil upon living humans: that's why. There is no fucking big secret about why these scum turds do what they do: all of what they do is geared for only one goal: their own survival; nothing else. Nothing good. No noble high motives. Just trying not to be killed; which is exactly what they deserve, trying not to be exterminated which they will be and know they should be.

How is this massacre of evil Jews discriminated from the killing of good decent Jews? By those who killed them and how it was done: in Riga it was done by 12 men; the sacred number of Truth and Justice, which all sentencing juries are made of. They used 12 sub-machine guns because the scum they were killing were subhuman filth, the submachine guns that were used were of American manufacture because America had no business entering into that war; the evil that was America was used against the evil of the Latvians Jews because they both came from the same evil sins of greed and avarice. The German engineering colonel tells of seeing a beautiful girl in a flaming red dress. The most beautiful girl he ever saw: stuck in his memory of that horrible massacre like a vision of pure health. Understand this: a healthy beautiful young girl has NO motive to kill anyone. Girls in the 1930's and 40's were not trained to kill. They were not brutalized into dehumanized monsters. They were not acting under orders from some fucking evil higher-up fucking authority. The Latvians who took it upon themselves to kill all of the Jewish Nazi collaborators were killing the Jews who had just previously collaborated with the Stalinist murdering scum and had helped the Russians murder fellow-Latvians and told the Russian hordes who among the population that were not Jewish: had the most wealth, the highest status, the most learned knowledge so they could be rounded up and shot dead. The most decent, kind, people were systematically wiped out by Stalin's hordes of Jewish murdering KGB scum because all these Russian murderers had to do was find the local Jewish ghetto community and the local Jews would rat on their own countrymen without blinking an eye; as one Talmudic Jew to another...who regard all non-Jews as cattle to be slaughtered and used for their purposes.

That beautiful girl in the flaming red dress was wearing the color of blood; the color of human passion: a girl who was passionately revenging herself for the evil which these Jewish collaborators with the Russians were guilty of. She and the other Latvians were disobeying Hitler's orders not to harm any Jews. But they were doing Good; not evil. They were exterminating the worst evil Jewish scum from within their own society and community.

Unless you are GOOD you will not have the urge to kill evil. Unless your heart and mind and body is pure and good and decent: you will never be able to recognize who is good and who is evil. the reverse is also true; unless you are evil you will not have any desire to kill GOOD.

In 1941 the war was becoming more and more serious... Hitler's original decision to shelve the Jewish Question until after the war could not be sustained because Hitler knew that the Jewish element inside Germany was both actively and secretly subversive against the German war effort. Knowing he could not trust the Jews, he decided to simply deport them all out of Germany.

What happened in Riga was the result of a bureaucratic a mix-up caused by Hitler's decision in October 1941 to get rid of the Jews inside Germany because they could not be trusted.

The Expulsion of the Jews began in the middle of that war.

And was lost as a minor detail compared to the huge suffering, mass terror, destruction and mass death and chaos which the Allied bombing raids were creating all over Nazi-occupied Europe.

The Nazis began to deport all the Jews out of Germany, and then out of Europe. On Nov 1941; around one thousand German Jews were transported on a passenger train together with supplies and baggage and their personal belongings: destination Minsk: as far away from Germany as possible.

The official propaganda of the Nazi govt was that they were being sent to a 'new life in the east. This propaganda fit into the Nazi and Hitler's doctrine of 'Liebensraum' and the expansion of Germans into new territory; except it wasn't Germans who were going east; it was Jews and they were being forcibly deported against their wishes to labor camps to work in factories, not settlements; something the Nazis did not bother telling them.

This then explains why these Jews did not resist their deportation; they were unwilling pioneers sent to settle the wild uncivilized lands of Russia, the Ukraine and Poland. They were sent in passenger cars not in cattle cars along with all their belongings and food and implements needed to start a new life in the East. There was no official plan to kill them. They were just an alien race which could not be trusted because their allegiance to Germany was suspect because of their allegiance to Jewish powers who were attacking Germany

On Nov 30th at 11 in the morning the SS police chief in Riga sent a message to Himmler; asking specifically for "12 of those magnificent Tommy guns, the ones with the drum magazines” to be sent to his ‘special operations’ squad; 12 Latvians hired by the SS to do the mass killing.

4,000 Latvian Jews were rounded up and massacred that day in Riga by the SS. They were killed by the 12 Latvians working for the SS. The person responsible for the killing was the SS general in charge of Riga.

That same day 1,000 Jews from Berlin arrived in Riga on their way to Minsk: to a ‘new life in the east’. They were swept up along with the 4,000 Latvian Jews and massacred with them.

Then the message from Berlin to Riga is sent from Himmler himself, he asks;

“What’s happened to my 1,000 Jews?”

When Himmler discovers they were killed along with the Latvian Jews: he sends this to the SS general in Riga:

“The operations you have carried out greatly exceeds the guidelines laid down by myself and Heydrich. Any such further excesses will be rigorously punished. You are to report immediately to headquarters, where actions will be taken against you”.

Here at the outset of the mass deportation of Jews is the crucial question and flaw of Hitler’s decision: which Jews were evil and deserved killing and which were not? You can’t make that distinction by a national generalized policy based upon where the Jews lived!

At the beginning of the war in Oct 1941, Hitler gave this command to deport all Jews out of Germany to his two top SS commanders: Heydrich and Himmler. The question they asked was inevitable:

But what are we going to do with them?

Hitler’s answer came back:

I don't care what you do with them; just get them out of Germany. And remember no killing! We're not Bolshevik, we're Germans; we're better than they are.

From the beginning Hitler had forbidden his staff from harming or killing the Jews in Germany and in Europe and he kept this attitude until his death. HE prided himself on the superiority of German Kultur. He based his entire dogma of the German Master race on cultural refinement versus the inhuman brutality of other races. His hatred and animus was directed against the Russian Jews led by the Jew Stalin and the Jewish scum of Russia who had committed mass genocide on Christians for years before WW2 ever began. They were a distinctly different ethnic breed from the German Jews, and the lowest, most foul ethnic race in Russia.

Hitler didn't give a damn what his commanders did with the German Jews as long as they were not killed: just deported. Hitler was not a war monger. He detested violence and killing. The war was being forced on him. He was intelligently clearing the decks for action. He did not want a 5th column inside Germany sabotaging the war effort.

This presented Himmler with a two-pronged problem: a 2-level policy toward Jews. Hitler wanted all the Jews in Russia exterminated: he wanted the Bolshevik Jewish regime of Stalin wiped off the Earth. But he did not want to murder European Jews because they had been half-civilized by then, and were not as foul a culture and race as the Russian Jews were. Besides... many German Jews had intermarried and had German relatives. The Jews of Germany had become so Germanized it was almost impossible to tell them apart from ordinary Germans.

This created a two-headed Janus of Jews inside Europe and Jews outside Europe. An insane monster that did not make any sense whatsoever. Because Hitler was not aware of the true source of evil: the undead, he tried to selectively kill off all evil Jews while protecting the civilized ones by a generalized racist policy separating Jews into two classes. One class to be deported and not killed. The other class to be liquidated. In fact the orders received by the Riga authorities of the 1,000 Berlin Jews to be arriving on Nov 30th 1941 said specifically:

“ 1,000 Jews; destination Minsk: not to be liquidated.”

What this means now finally becomes clear.

Finally... the mystery of Hitler's true policy about the Jews is exposed.

Hitler was... a genocidal mass murderer... and... he wasn't a genocidal mass murderer: he was and he wasn't. He was at odds with the entire world trying to weed out evil. But just who is evil and who is good? It was true as a generality that Stalin and the Jews of Stalin's Russian regime were Germany's mortal enemy but that doesn't mean everybody in Russia! It was a simplistic generalization fit only for an idiot.

Every dept Hitler gave power to, he arranged so there would be two opposing sides that fought each other for supremacy... like in the SS, with the two heads: Heydrich and Himmler.

The fact is Hitler had given Himmler and his staff conflicting contradictory orders; something he was famous for doing all the time. Western Jews not to be liquidated: Eastern Jews to be liquidated... But here's the crunch... what happens when Western Jews are deported to the east?... eh? Why then they become eastern Jews and it is perfectly okay to liquidate them. At least that was how Himmler interpreted Hitler's orders.

Himmler himself was also a split personality. One side of him obeyed his Fuehrer as if he were a virtual god. His other side disobeyed Hitler's direct commandments and began secretly setting up killing squads to exterminate and liquidate Jews without Hitler knowing about it.

For instance; 700 Jews escaped from Sobibor labor camp in Poland. Himmler sent a memo to all of the police chiefs in Europe! Requiring that every single Jewish prisoner be caught and sent back to Sobibor... Why did he do this? Why was Himmler so anxious to catch every single last one of the escaped prisoners? How had so many prisoners managed to escape? Better yet... why had 700 suddenly decided to escape at the same time?

The answer is they had seen or been close to one of the mass executions carried out in Sobibor. A rumor had spread that they would be next. They had panicked. Stampeded. All it needed was one cry of 'fire' and everyone ran for the hills.

Himmler could not afford to let these escaped prisoners spread the word about what was going on at Sobibor.

He couldn't afford the possibility of Hitler finding out what was going on in these 4 camps.

Here is the point. None of the 4 labor camps that were used to kill Jews were designed to be used as genocidal murder camps. They were still labor camps. Himmler chose certain times to commit his mass killings. Few and far between, so they would not be perceived as a systematic policy; so the prisoners inside the camps would not panic and tear down the fences and escape in the terror of knowing that they would be next in line.

If Himmler had started killing all the prisoners in the 4 camps used for mass murder: the rumors and horror would have automatically spread beyond the camps. Everybody would have known about it for miles. The Wehrmacht would have become aware of what was going on. Somebody would have talked and ultimately Hitler would have found out what Himmler was doing, and that would have been the end of that scumbag of that genocidal maniac.

This explains why the arriving Jews in these 4 camps were never warned or aware they might be killed. The atrocities were incidental and small in scale. Not everyone in those camps was slaughtered; they were still labor camps used to man the Krupp war factories. One scenario which may explain how and why it began is with the mass expulsion of all Jews being deported out of Europe, this caused the labor camps to become too overcrowded. Too many to feed and house: the Krupp factories didn't need all of them, they couldn't use all of them. So Himmler took it upon himself to selectively execute those whom he thought deserved to be eliminated.

Hitler giving this order in the middle of a war!... It meant taking men away from the war effort just to deal with it... as few as possible, as efficiently as possible. And Hitler not wanting to know about the details, not wanting to know where they were sent or what happened to them, just get rid of them but don't kill them? It was an order that conflicted with itself, it contradicted itself. And apart from Himmler and the Gestapo, the German Nation and armed forces obeyed Hitler's orders to the letter. Jews were carted out of Europe to the east. Some died: most didn't.

The policy of extermination of Russian Jews was part of this two-headed hydra which did not make any fucking sense. Some Jews saved: some Jews liquidated. Parts of the SS and Wehrmacht carried out the commands to exterminate certain villages and towns and round up Jews and shot them and made them dig their own graves. Other parts of the army and SS padded their figures of numbers killed and Jews liquidated until they stopped the mindless killing altogether.

So the question of exactly who was guilty of the killing and who was not became too complicated to untangle.

The undead hide their filthy presence behind mountains of lies and layers of mixing GOOD with evil until nobody can distinguish one from the other. The fact is once all the evidence is collected and all the facts of WW2 are put on the table, quite decent ethical decent people committed certain crimes at certain times: depending on whether or not the undead had managed to poison them and take them over.

The fact is: many people who were not considered to be humane or decent: treated other humans quite decently: depending on whether or not the undead were in control of them at that time. The POINT is:

No crime or evil can be blamed on any living person WITHOUT INCLUDING THE UNDEAD WHO MADE THEM DO IT.

FUCK blaming the living Germans or the Jews or the Russians or Stalin
FUCK blaming Churchill or FDR or Truman
THAT IS WHAT THE UNDEAD WANT YOU TO DO; BLAME THE LIVING FOR THE CRIMES OF THE UNDEAD FIGHT AMONG YOURSELVES BLAMING EACH OTHER FOR WHAT THE UNDEAD HAVE DONE TO YOU.
AND FOR WHAT THE UNDEAD DO TO YOU EVERY DAY OF YOUR LIFE: PITTING FRIEND AGAINST FRIEND;
TURNING FRIENDS INTO FOES ;
CREATING, INVENTING HATE BETWEEN THE LIVING
BY SECRETLY ENTERING INTO THE BODIES OF THE LIVING AND THEN LEAVING.

OR HIDING INSIDE THE BODIES OF THE LIVING
AND DOING THEIR FILTH AT ONLY CERTAIN CRUCIAL TIMES AND THEN GOING BACK INTO SOMNOLENCE
SO THEY WILL NOT BE DETECTED AND FOUND OUT
AND DETACHED FROM THE BODIES THEY TRY TO CONTROL
THIS IS WHY THEY undead things MUST BE EXTERMINATED WITH EXTREME PREJUDICE

Hitler's insane double standard towards the Jews... his double policy of the mass Expulsion of all Jews out of Europe and the mass extermination of all Jews in Russia made him a humanitarian and a monster at the same time: Hitler was a split personality. Half of him was possessed by undead demons while the other half was sane.

Hitler knew the evil of the Russian Jews. But Hitler did not realize and understand that the British Empire which he so admired was also an instrument of pure evil: secretly owned and controlled by the international Jewish bankers of the City of London. Hitler did not understand the true nature of evil and how embedded it is in all civilized power structures. He was not perceptive and wise enough to uncover all of the masks which evil hides behind. He was not aware of the hidden evil he was surrounded by.

Heydrich's and Himmler's solution to this problem of the deported European Jews was to get the Krupp weapons manufacturer to set up factories in east Poland and the Ukraine and put them to work as slaves working for the German war machine. But that could not solve the problem; there were more Jews than the factories could use. The result was again a double standard: the vacation resort of Auschwitz and the 4 camps where some Jews were exterminated.

The Wehrmacht was given the other side of the coin: the order to exterminate any Jews found in their eastern expansion into Stalin's Russia.

But Himmler was a rabid anti-Semite so he set up his own secret killing machine and began secretly mass murdering Jews in 4 of the labor camps. Then Himmler managed to discredit Heydrich and take over the entire SS. Once he had supreme command of the SS: he operated as a feudal Lord, as did most of the Nazi regime under Hitler. Himmler set up his own mini-empire within the German Nazi Reich. As he was doing this: other parts of the Nazi govt were also setting up their own bureaucratic, military power groups and monopolies. Wheels within wheels... levels and layers of evil within evil, mixed with decent Germans following orders; all masquerading as the single will of one dictator who hadn't the faintest fucking idea of what was going on behind his back and who was kept as ignorant as possible of what was going on.

Sonder commando squads, under SS orders were used to do the actual killing. Jews were used to do the killing and then killed. The SS had a revulsion towards all Jews. It was not racist hate: it was racist revulsion. They did not want to touch them or have anything to do with them. They distanced themselves as much as possible from the actual killing.

In this way the Wehrmacht and the greater part of the SS were not included in the killings, which went on starting in 1941 to at least 1943 and then it petered out as the Germans needed every man for the Eastern Front. The other thing about Himmler's tactics was that the killing was done piecemeal: scattered over time and huge areas of Europe and Asia. Selectively choosing targets and conditions and situations where a mass murder could be committed without becoming known to the public or to the Nazi regime or the German Wehrmacht Army Command. This makes it impossible to determine how many noncombatants Himmler's SS and the Gestapo actually had killed.

At the very end of the war, the secret finally leaked out into the general Jewish community at large that some Jews were not being deported to new lands but were being killed. What was not understood was that it was only in certain camps that this happened and that the atrocities occurred irregularly. Not all Jews were being killed all the time. Only some of them some of the time. Meanwhile the entire German Nation was being systematically massacred by the Allies from the air: bombed and burned to death by the millions. Making the number of Jews killed by Himmler's SS pale in comparison.

The German army on the eastern front got around the genocidal orders to wipe out every Jew and every Russian village and town by padding the numbers of dead. They began sending back inflated false figures of Jews killed. Their own Generals looked the other way and allowed these false statistics to be sent to Hitler. His plan to create living space for Germans to occupy western Russia, and at the same time satisfy his bloodlust against the Russian Orthodox ghetto Jews: a people he distinctly despised and wanted to wipe out; backfired on both him and the German people because it was a negative motive mixed with a positive one, and the German people were for the most part a positive people. Conquer, Colonize and occupy the emptied plains of Western Russia, emptied by Stalin's systematic slaughter of millions of Christian peasants who had once owned their own land? Yes! Kill the people already living there? No!

Nobody was shot for disobeying Hitler's genocidal orders for the mass murder of innocents on the Eastern Front. The SS troops were not court-martialed for refusing to kill any more innocent peasants. WHY? For a very good reason. Because if the soldiers had been forced to continue to commit these horrors, they would have lost all respect for not only their own generals but for Hitler himself. They would have refused to obey their orders and shot their own officers dead, they would have mutinied, and Hitler's regime would have either crumbled or a civil war would have erupted and the Allies wouldn't have had to prosecute the war any further and the war would have ended without the Allies having to fire one more shot or drop one more bomb.

Then the Allies wouldn't have been able to destroy all of Europe and massacre 8 million German civilians from the air... and that was one thing the undead did not want to let happen. The innate decency and honesty and health of the German culture and people had to be systematically destroyed as much as possible by prolonging the war as long as possible.

There is another paradox about the false hollow hoax and the actual killing.

All the hundreds of thousands of tales of the survivors of the non-existent gas chambers have been proven to be false.

Yet no eye witness of the actual killing has been found.

The answer is simple.

In the actual killings there were no survivors.

In the false tales of killings there are only liars.
So the lies are trumpeted and spread.

And the actual truth is buried and not exposed

Until now in this book.

So how can you explain this dichotomy in the Nazi regime? Hitler adamantly against harming any Jews in Germany while wanting to exterminate the Jews of Russia and saving the European Jews from the mass bombing of the Allied carpet bombing which killed millions of innocent victims by putting them into labor camps...?

With Himmler and the Gestapo doing this really nasty thing behind Hitler's back like the systematic liquidation of certain "special" Jews slated for 'Special treatment' by 'Special Operations' squads of fanatical SS murderers?

The answer is simple: the Jews Himmler selectively liquidated were special: they were the loving, the kind, the decent Jews: they were the exception to the rule of most corrupted Jews.

The undead used Hitler to save the most evil, ruthless Jews from slaughter.

They used Himmler to kill off all the Good Jews:

Evil Jews saved:
GOOD Jews killed.

Just like the undead used the Germans and Japanese to kill off all the good Allied forces who were the exception to the rule, while saving the most evil ruthless, corrupt Allied forces from slaughter. Bad Allies saved. Good Allies killed.

Simple. Obvious. A war between Good and evil: hidden under all the other motives and factors mixed in, and all of the players of the undead participating in the slaughter; with only a few exceptions of evil Jews being killed instead of Good Jews by mistake; when a few brave decent people took the law into their own hands.

The fucking point of this is that History cannot be explained or understood unless you include the existence of these undead prick turds. Only when you include their control of the entire human masses of the world does the history of civilization become explicable and understandable. The crimes that the undead have perpetrated upon living humans for millions of years must be recognized; realized and understood if living humans are to ever to gain their freedom from evil... WW2 and WW1 cannot be understood and explained without including what these undead did, and why they did it.

One thing the undead fear the most is what civilized brainwashing calls 'chaos'... What is 'chaos'? Chaos is when ordinary decent people take the Law into their own hands. Every time this happens, the undead try to nip it in the bud as quickly as possible or poison it as quickly as possible because this is exactly what will kill them all dead. This is exactly what the world needs:

Only when nobody obeys any fucking centralized authority anymore, only when every living human takes the Law into their own hands, will the battle between GOOD and evil be fought openly instead of what is happening now: where undead filth try to wage war upon GOOD without letting the GOOD people of the earth become aware that there is a secret, slimy, cunning battle going on between GOOD and evil... a battle that is based upon the cowardice and dishonesty and cunning tricks of these undead things. Once all the trickery and sneaky shit of these undead fiends is exposed: GOOD can and will exterminate and kill every evil in the world. Only when GOOD people stand up and begin fighting a conscious war against evil: only then will Good people realize and discover how powerful they actually are and how weak evil people actually are.

The fact is that inside the negative energy structures of civilization; in all negative wars; the most negative evil always wins, the most brutalized army always wins; the most inhuman, dehumanized murderers always win. The worst people always win and the best always lose. If you want to see who was the worst evil in WW2, look at how Stalin treated his own troops and then look at who profited the most from WW2. The most dehumanized monsters always profit the most from war. The fact is, inside civilization, the worst evil always wins because civilization itself is intrinsically evil. Compare the numbers of innocent civilians killed in England, and the number of innocent civilians killed by the western Allies and you will have the relative difference between a greater and a lesser evil. Compare the millions of German soldiers Eisenhower put into concentration camps and starved to death to the number of Allied soldiers starved to death in German prison camps and you will have an accurate relative measurement between a greater and a lesser evil.

The Allies were more evil, more cunning than Hitler, their propaganda was better, their lies were better: they didn't force their troops on the ground to commit mass genocide against innocent non-combatants as Hitler did. They committed this horrific evil by mass air raids at night... and then later by day, raining mass destruction all over Europe from as high up in the air as possible so the killers wouldn't be able to see what they had done to innocent babies and children and women, so they wouldn't be traumatized by what they had done like the German troops on the ground had been traumatized. Understand this: WW2 was not a war of black and white; it was a war between two evils and the lesser evil lost to the greater evil as always. Hitler did not carpet bomb France into rubble although he could have. He was just not as evil as the Allies were. He was more honest and more decent than the Allies, and that fact had to be covered up.

Hitler could have conquered all of Poland but he didn't: he stopped half-way after he had retaken the land stolen from Germany by the Versailles Treaty. Hitler could have conquered all of France but he didn't; he stopped halfway and made the French eat crow which was all he was after... Hitler could have conquered England but he didn't; he let the British forces in Dunkirk escape... Yet all you hear in the media is about how Hitler wanted to conquer the world; how he was planning to conquer the whole world! That is total bullshit. These two images do not fit: if Hitler had actually wanted to conquer the world he would not have given half of Poland to Stalin's forces to take over. If Hitler had wanted to conquer the world he would not have allowed Southern France to keep its own govt and remain neutral throughout the war. He did not invade Sweden to secure his mineral resources. The propaganda about Hitler is all bullshit; it was the Jews who wanted to conquer the world not the Germans, and they have.

The same truth applies to Poland. It was the Polish regime and the Polish people who were the genocidal war criminals, not the Germans; the cruelty of the German occupation of Poland was nothing compared to what the Poles had done to the Germans living in Poland and other undesirables before Hitler rolled his army in and stopped the mass killings. The German inhumanity in Poland was just a backlash, a reaction to what the Poles had done and were doing to German speaking people in Poland. Who started it? It was the Poles who started it, not the Germans. Who threw the first punch? It was Poland who rounded up Germans into huge concentration camps and began starving them to death before WW2 began. Hitler had been goaded into invading Poland. He had very good humanitarian reasons for invading Poland which have been completely wiped out of history books and buried... and in the one-in-a-thousand it is ever barely mentioned, it is passed off as if the genocidal mass murder of hundreds of thousands of German speaking people in Poland was barely worth mentioning; it is discounted and ignored and covered up. Even though this kind of inhuman horror had never existed in Europe. Even though they were the first genocidal death camps of its kind ever built in Europe.

The inhumanity of what the Poles did to their own German speaking citizens should have been blared out as the foulest abomination of all western civilization. But since the entire western mass media was and is controlled by Jewish filth; it was carefully censored and kept a deep dark secret and never covered or publicized by the Jewish owned press. The German Propaganda minister himself kept most of the facts and true extent of the Polish atrocities and planned genocide carried out by the Polish govt from not only the German people, but from the international press also. This makes no fucking human sense whatsoever. Also: Goebbels did not publicize the true extent of the massive inhumanity of the allies murdering and killing German civilians by bombing night raids to the international press in fact he never mentioned it... while on the other side that stinking fucking scum liar Churchill regularly exaggerated the British losses and damage done by German bombing raids in order to gain the sympathy of the international community and lied about how many German planes had been shot down: giving a totally one-sided incorrect lying account of what was happening: while Goebbels Propaganda ministry was based upon reporting the facts as honestly as he could without any exaggerations. This makes no fucking sense whatsoever UNLESS you factor in the undead shit scum poisoning both sides of the war in order to reverse the perception of what WW2 was all about and who the actual aggressors were and who were only reacting to aggression and mass genocide.

The incredible injustice of it: the injustice and outrage of the Jewish controlled media blaming Germans for the genocidal atrocities which they and the people of Poland were actually guilty of, and manufacturing a barrage of lies to cover up this crime against humanity, by blaming an innocent decent people for what they themselves are guilty of is a reversal of truth that is so outrageous it is beyond words, yet it is exactly what the undead do and have always done... they blame the most innocent and protect and whitewash the most evil. This is true throughout all human history.

The only reason there were any racist genocidal atrocities or crimes committed by the Germans in Poland was because the entire fucking Nation and culture of Poland was so steeped in racism and hatred and evil that it rubbed off on the German Army that came in and had to govern that spiritually infested region, and because the worst racist scum were attracted into Poland like a magnet, and even then, instances of inhumanity of the German Wehrmacht were spotty and isolated to the areas where a few commanding officers had a well-earned dislike and intolerance for the murdering racist Polish people and the Jewish scum that populated Poland.

The whole swindle, the excuse for England declaring war on Germany was a con game from the very beginning. It was Poland, England and France who started WW2: not Hitler. The Allies had to bury and cover up the numerous times Hitler tried to arrange an end to the hostilities during the war. They had to cover up the fact that Hitler had had no interest and no motive to go to war against England and France. They had to cover up the fact that Hitler admired the British Empire and wanted to make friends with them. They had to cover up the fact that Hitler had tried to make friends with Britain, and it was Britain who refused to make friends with Germany. They had to jail Rudolph Hess to hide the fact that his peace proposal was actually genuine and legitimate. That had to hide the fact that it was the Allies who were the aggressors and war mongers: not Hitler. They had to keep Hess in jail for the rest of his fucking life to cover it up. They had to cover up the fact that the war could have been ended long before all the killing and horror and insane inventions and production of newer and worse weapons of mass destruction were put into use. He died in jail: murdered, because what he knew could not be allowed to spread to the world at large. His suicide was a lie: he was physically incapable of hanging himself, when he was killed he couldn't even lift his arms above his shoulders making it impossible for him to be able to hang himself.

For what fucking reason was Rudolf Hess kept in Jail for the rest of his fucking LIFE after the war was over!?! It stinks of a cover-up. Why wasn't Hess set free after the war? The fucking war was over! He hadn't even participated in the war! He had been an emissary of peace! He hadn't committed any war crimes! There was no more reason to keep Hess in jail unless... UNLESS what he knew would have blown the lid off all the lies and war propaganda which the Allies had manufactured; and smashed them into smithereens. UNLESS he was an honest man who could not be corrupted, unless he refused to lie and perjure himself. Evil cannot stand an honest man! Evil cannot stand honesty! This one fact alone incriminates the entire western establishment and exposes how the evil of the powers that wanted to destroy Hitler and Germany still exist.

The entire public perception of who was better and who was worse has been reversed by the western media for a damned good reason. The main reason the western masses had been swindled and brainwashed into fighting and dying for their capitalist masters was the swindle: the propaganda lie: that Hitler and the Nazis were 'evil' 'bad' monsters. And that the Allies were 'good' 'upholders' of 'democracy' and 'freedom'.

In order to preserve this massive brainwashing of the western masses: the Allied govts and the Jewish Zionists had no choice but to preserve nearly all of the war propaganda lies they had invented and spewed both before and during and after that war was over.... They had to.

Because if they DIDN'T...

All kinds of unholy hell would have broken loose in their own societies. Millions upon millions of brainwashed angry people would have woken up from their drugged state of unawareness and deadness and falsified perceptions of reality.... And gone...

'Huh?'"....

You mean we were all manipulated and fooled by the Jewish-owned newspapers and Govt propaganda movie-clips?

You mean it's the Zionist Jews who are the greater evil, not the Nazis?

You mean our govts were more corrupt than the Nazi govt of Germany?

You mean Hitler was right about the Jews?

You mean it was we who committed mass genocide: not the Germans?

You mean we fought this war just so a few of our war profiteers could get richer? Not the German war profiteers?

You mean it was we who wiped out entire towns and cities of innocent civilians and committed mass murder upon innocent German and Japanese babies, women and children: not the Germans and not the Japanese?

You mean it is we who were responsible for the massive evil of that war; not the Germans?

You mean it was US who started this world war: not Hitler and not the Germans?

You mean we were tricked into it?

You mean the Jews tricked us into it?

You mean the Jews tricked the USA into it?

You mean the Jews tricked US All?

You mean the Jews are tricksters?

You mean we were easily fooled by their cunning lies and tricks?...

You mean our own Psychological War Dept went to war not only against the Germans and Japanese but they sold us on lies and brainwashed us so we would kill and maim and murder and burn to death millions of innocent people... just so a few Jewish international bankers could get even richer than they already were?

You mean nearly everything we were told about Hitler and the Germans was a lie?

Oh.....

What do you think would have happened then.... eh?

This is why the war propaganda lie of the holocaust had to be supported and reinforced and preserved by pouring tons and tons and more tons of lies over the truth in order to cover it up and keep it covered-up to this day.

Otherwise the Jews, the Zionists, the Judaic culture, the religion of Judaism would be exposed as the evil abomination it actually is, and the wealthiest, the most powerful Jews in the world would be ripped from their places of wealth and power and be driven out and the Jews would become once again a homeless lost tribe of groveling, cunning, dehumanized slaves feigning innocence of their own evil as they always do, while seeking to weasel out of the corner they have trapped themselves into. Like cornered vermin: this evil race will either find a way to escape and continue to spread its evil seed; or be exterminated. THIS is the actual reason why the myth, the hollow hoax of the holocaust is being preserved.

The war propaganda lies of the Jewish newspapers and media, the war propaganda lies of 1939, 1940, 1941, 1942, 1943 and 1944 had to be preserved and sold and re-sold and re-sold and re-told for 78 years and still counting... because the entire modern Jewish/American myth of Western greed and Western Consumer Capitalism is based upon these lies. This is why the hoax of Nazi atrocities and war crimes and genocide has to be preserved.

The ugly truths about WW2 and Hitler and the Zionist Jewish bankers who orchestrated this entire hoax had to be covered up and buried under tons of drugs, free entertainment, escapism, fantasy, mass delusion, media propaganda, distraction, work, the lure of making MONEY, more mass produced products, more greed, more avarice, more selfishness, more corruption, etc, etc, etc... Television! Movies! Radio! Blaring their mass media distractions everywhere all day and night, Commercials! Billboards! Neon signs! New gadgets! Toys! Appliances! Disneyland! Westerns! Game shows! Quiz shows! Comedy shows!

Take away the myth, the lie that WW2 was the only ‘good’ war the western world ever fought... and you take away the foundation of all the hoaxes and swindles which consumer capitalism is based on, Take away the propaganda myths of WW2, and the entire myth of the American Dream crumbles, the legitimacy of the racist nation of Israel crumbles, the fabricated false war between Muslim and Christian nations crumbles, the chance of WW3 happening crumbles, centuries of evil orchestrated and built up by undead filth crumbles.

THIS is why the hollow Hoax of Auschwitz has to be preserved
THIS is why the demonization of Hitler and the Nazis has to be preserved
THIS is why the truth about Hitler saving the Jews from death has to be covered up.

Hitler had to be portrayed as being consistently anti-Semitic in order to hide that fact that something... some unseen evil had somehow manipulated him into protecting the Jews instead of deporting them as he should have and could have before the war. Otherwise, not killing them when he could have doesn’t make any fucking sense either: it just doesn’t make any fucking human sense.

Hitler had to be portrayed as being consistently anti-Semitic in order to hide that fact that once again the Jews had somehow managed to insidiously weasel out of a tight corner and escape unscathed. Just like their own Bible had to invent lies, myths, miracles in order to explain how they somehow had managed to escape from Egypt unscathed from a vengeful Pharaoh and his entire Egyptian Army who was in pursuit and had vowed to slaughter them all to the last woman and child.

This inexplicable reversal of Hitler’s anti-Semitism could not be allowed to stand in the annals of history as the most inexplicable mystery of WW2. All kinds of lies and propaganda were invented and spread to hide the fact that once Hitler gained power, the Nazis stopped all hounding and persecution of Jews and destruction of Jewish property. Once in power: Hitler stopped all plans and attempts to deport the Jews out of Europe.

Only 3 anti-Semitic films about the Jews were ever made by the Nazis. The last one was made in 1940. If Hitler had approved of these films they would have made more, but they didn't. The fact that after 1940, no anti-Semitic propaganda films were made by the Nazis, even when they were losing the war, indicates that it was due to Hitler's direct wishes.

Contrast this with the thousands and millions of anti-Hitler and anti-Nazi and anti-German propaganda churned out during and after WW2 which are utter trash and racist and filled with lies.

As in their flight from Egypt and countless other expulsions throughout their 3,000 yr existence: once again this chosen race of evil was saved and protected by unseen forces of undead evil so they could continue to carry out the hidden agendas of the undead. Once again they had managed to weasel themselves out of a tight corner and escape punishment.

Fast-forward to today: once again the Jews have re-installed themselves into other cultures and insidiously weaseled themselves into places of power wealth and influence all over the world. This unseen force of evil which they attribute to their god Yahweh is not a god; it is a malevolent unseen evil which has chosen them to become instruments of the foulest evil on the Earth. It is this protective unseen filthy evil which has saved them time and time again from the utter destruction which they richly deserve.

The undead, by cunningly reversing the perceptions of living people... by making people perceive them as gods and not demonic satanic evil malevolent filthy undead filth which they actually are; the undead have successfully hoodwinked and deceived and corrupted we the living for untold millennia. They chose to use the Jews in order to corrupt the rest of humanity. Jews are sellers of lies. This is just one of their appointed evil functions. It is the only way they can hide from themselves and from others the hidden undead evil which lurks inside and around them.

They are protected by their own invented lies and myths. That is their only protection. Their only protection to being exposed as the most evil culture on this planet is for them to cry ‘Anti-Semitism! ‘Racism!’ when it is they who are the worst racists and hate-mongers in the world.

The only thing which prevents the world from ridding themselves of these Semitic filth en mass is the preservation of the propaganda myth of the holocaust and the lies about Hitler and Nazis and Germany during WW2.

If the world ever discovers the truth about WW2: the fact that Jews in Hitler’s Nazi Germany had actually been protected by the Nazi’s against the natural healthy antipathy and hatred and anger of the German people. That the historical facts of WW2 reveal that genocide had been perpetrated on the German people: not upon the Jewish people, then these Jews will be exposed once again as the cunning liars and deceivers they are and have always been, and all the people of the world will rise up and drive them into the sea.

Now; the Jewish scum of the Rothschild banking mafia are once again going insane in their outright robbery of the coffers of the nations of the western world from the highest places... as they once did in Egypt. Once again they are committing their own suicide and digging their own graves.

But this time they will have nowhere left to run to when they are found out. THIS time when they are found out their filthy undead protective satanic demons will not be able to save them from total annihilation.

This time there will be a mass revulsion and expulsion of all Jews from all lands. This time the deceptions and tricks of the undead and their chosen race the Jews, has been caught and their hidden evil exposed by ME: Indrek Pringi.

Understand this: Evil Reveals itself by how it REVERSES the TRUTH.

This inexplicable reversal of human behavior can be seen throughout history. Both Wilson and FDR campaigned passionately on anti-war platforms, and what’s more they believed in what they said when they were saying it. How could these two passionately committed pacifists reverse themselves so completely once they came to power in so short a time?... It doesn’t make any human sense unless you factor in the existence of invisible, secret, hidden undead evil filth corrupting every good human intention in the highest places throughout human history.

In WW2: why did the best of the Jewish race die and the most evil Jews survive? Why is the best of humanity always killed in every war while the worst always survive? This reveals the hidden agenda of the undead; to preserve and save the worst, the most corrupt, while killing the best of the human species... to save the most ruthless inhuman evil humans from punishment and death, while killing the most loving, the most sensitive, the healthiest, and the most innocent. David Irving tries to explain the killing of the innocent by the guilty, the mass hysteria and horror and inhumanity of WW2 as a global rise in the climate of barbarism... And he is right... there was a rising climate of barbarism all over the world during that period of time... but Irving does not explain just where this rising climate of barbarism comes from: I HAVE. It came from the undead: all of whom must be exterminated with extreme prejudice: personally: with your bare hands.

Another thing Irving reveals in his tremendous life of research into the top secret files of the British war dept. which were supposed to be kept secret forever and never revealed to historians is the fact that all of the main evils of the modern age of corruption we live in today were invented by Jews and by English scum in England during that war. The Atom Bomb was invented in England during the war. The computers that cracked the German top secret Enigma machine and enabled the British to read all of the German messages during that war was theirs. It was the English who invented the jet engine. Irving also reveals how the British Empire sold all of the enigma machines of the German Reich which they had rounded up and refurbished and sold to all of the 3rd world countries, telling them it was impossible for anyone to read the codes!

As a result of this massive global deception: the British secret service: which is controlled by the Rothschild scum criminal syndicate and a personal arms of Lord Rothschild himself: was privy to all of the 3rd world countries in the world plotting revolution to overthrow the colonial powers after WW2: and this was the secret reason why all of these revolutions were infiltrated and poisoned and ruined right from the very start, and why after WW2 all of the poor 3rd world countries that tried to start their own democratic govts were sabotaged by western secret agents and had corrupt dictators artificially implanted who oppressed their populations and were obedient puppets of the corrupt evil Western powers. Irving himself confessed years later how he obeyed his corrupt British evil masters and did not expose this greatest scoop of the late 20th century: that not only did the Allies know exactly what the Germans were doing throughout the war and that was the actual SECRET reason why the Allies won that war, but that the ruination of the British Empire had been deliberately cast and orchestrated and operated by the Lord Rothschild himself using the British Secret service and their secret dept of decoders secretly monitoring all the top secret messages of the world... JUST as he is using the corrupt evil American CIA to destroy all of America in his Zionist plot to rule the world and destroy all non-Jewish powers and population centers.

Well, guess what? That is exactly what the undead have been doing for millions of years and that is exactly what they are still doing right now, and will continue to do until they are all exterminated and killed DEAD, and all of their fucking culture of fucking secrecy will also be killed DEAD and every single motherfucker who tries to keep a secret will be killed fucking DEAD until there are no more secrets and no more keepers of secrets and no more fucking secrecy anymore: Period.

The point is: even though David Irving was a relatively honest man when he found the secret files which exposed that the British had cracked the German's enigma machine: even though a former member of the branch that was at work deciphering the German codes told him about it: he himself is also corrupt. He did not have the Courage and Honesty to reveal this important secret early in the 1950's when it would have made a difference. He only stuck this one bit of hidden secret information back into his book about Hitler and WW2 recently: after he has been blacklisted and attacked by Rothschild's goons for 30 years: Which is a case of TL2: Too Little, Too Late for the educated masses of the West. The people who were once literate and informed and had any power to fight against the global corruption of the Jewish Zionist machine of greed and evil have long since sunk into senility and corruption themselves and their children are even more corrupt and illiterate than they were.

But YOU the reader of this book can now look at the entire last century: and with the knowledge of the British decoding all the top secret message of the German during WW2 and with the British secret service able to decode and decipher every message of the 3rd world govts around the world during the 50's and 60's....can now understand just how and why the Western CIA and British secret service managed to infiltrate and corrupt every honest revolutionary movement after WW2 to free the poor 3rd world countries from the slavery of the colonial western powers. The Americans and the British knew what all the revolutionaries of the 3rd world were plotting because they were reading all of their top secret messages.

NOW you can understand where the popular TV show like the 1950's 'Danger Man' comes from... NOW you can understand where Ian Fleming's novels of a British secret agent come from. They come from the undead wanting to crow and brag about how successfully they had fooled and duped the entire pack of western mass consumers of media fiction, and how they had used their secret machines and secret codes and secret inventions of evil filth to corrupt Mankind with even more and dupe and fool Mankind even more and sink the billions of imbeciles now born into a brainwashed mass of filth and stupidity and blindness unheralded in the history of the civilized world... by turning the masses into a bunch of paranoid secret-keepers, by creating a culture of paranoid secrecy; by making people believe that secrecy is the best policy when the opposite is true.

The point is: fighting evil is simple: get rid of all secrecy and you get rid of all their evil influence. Get rid of ALL evil and ALL lies: and Mankind will be transformed into an instrument for GOOD: not evil. The point is: it is secrecy ITSELF which is evil. Just as money is evil: it is money ITSELF which is evil: not just the use of money: the idea of money is evil. It is the idea itself of secrecy which is evil; not just the practice of secrecy. It is the basic root principles upon which civilization is based that are evil: not just the use of them. This is why this book is so important. It is the only book which speaks the entire truth and does not keep secrets from the reader.

For example: any living human can speak to me personally and I will explain to them everything I know and answer all their questions honestly... but... I reserve the right to be able to ask them questions and expect them to answer me honestly also. This is based upon the universal principles of Equality and Honesty and Courage. The only way you can be Honest is when you have nothing to hide. The only way you can be Honest is when you have nothing to fear. The only way you can be honest is if you have no secrets to hide. If you have the Courage to ask probing questions then you should have the Courage to answer probing questions.

When you apply the principles of reciprocity and equality and honesty to anyone who wants to attack your truth: you will find that all evil cunning liars will refuse to answer your questions. Instead they will expect you to answer all of their questions; while they cunningly avoid answering every single one of your questions. When you find someone doing this: do not waste your breath on them. if they are close enough to you so you can kill them: that will be an end to their lies and good riddance. But evil never takes the chance of exposing itself and being punished for its evil. Once you decide to apply this principle of equal reciprocity to all who want to interview you or question you: You will discover to your amazement that NOBODY is willing to take up on your offer of such an equal exchange of words and discussion. The reason for this is because the undead permeate all air space in the world of Humanity and they poison all honest attempts to communicate between living human beings. This fact alone should wake you up to the worldwide existence of these hidden secretive filth scum who need to be exterminated with extreme prejudice from the face of the Earth.

The point is: this is how all human communication should be practiced: by applying the universal principles of Equality Honesty and Courage to everyone without exceptions. Until living humans learn to do this: living humans will never grow up as you are designed to grow up: Healthy, Strong, Honest, Courageous and Good.

When you know you are Good: nothing can defeat you; nothing can stop you from doing Good. Killing evil is GOOD. Exterminating evil is the best Good thing you can do.

The larger truth about the 19th century which ended in 2,000 A.D. is this: it was a battle for the mastery of the world between two Jewish evils: Bolshevik Totalitarian Stalinism, and Zionist Dynastic Capitalism. Hitler was adamantly against both of them. The result was that both Jewish evils allied themselves together just long enough to crush the Germ of TRUTH which Hitler was preaching to the world and stamped out the last organized resistance to their Jewish evil. After Hitler and Germany and Europe had been destroyed, these two Jewish of pure evil became enemies again as they had always been...

Because both of these evils were Jewish in their roots and culture, they could not afford to fight each other and destroy themselves: this is the hidden actual true reason for the phony war called the 'cold war'. Between them, these two Jewish filthy evil cultures managed to destroy everything of value and goodness in the world. Unless the World of Mankind wakes up and realizes this; it is doomed to be destroyed by the undead who use this scum-filled ethnic race and culture as their chosen instrument of evil.

The reason human history is so hard to decipher and understand is because the existence of those who are actually in control of events has been kept hidden from the living. The reason human history is so convoluted and difficult to unravel is because humans have been and are being controlled and manipulated by undead turds who need to be killed dead.

Who were the ones who were really in control of the national-international policy decisions and strategy of France, England, the USA, Germany, etc.? What were their reasons and motives for their decisions? The reason history is so confusing and illogical and impenetrable is because history never mentions or deals with those who are really in control in any depth or detail. When you study the facts in detail: when you critically examine exactly how and why all of the crucial decisions were made and why they were made, you discover that all of them are arbitrary, without any logical rational basis or foundation; all of the motives and reasons are corrupt in so many ways, hiding even more corrupt motives: layers and layers of hidden filth and shit, until you become so revolted and disgusted by the increasing shit you uncover, you don't want to delve any deeper into all this hidden shit... until your revulsion of the reasons given for motives and decisions of historical importance makes you want to wipe all of them out of existence for what they did and why they did it and how they did it.

Understand this: the worst evil shits always rise to the top of the shit pile. Only the most evil shits even want to rise to the top of the shitpile of civilization. Kill all the evil shits and Mankind can solve all the other problems easily. Until humans learn to kill everyone at the top of every shitpile and kill every fucking shit who even WANTS to be at the top of any shitpile of wealth, power, status and knowledge: it will remain a mass of fucking bleating dehumanized terrified little fucking sheep, all stampeding themselves towards the cliff of their own extinction and doom like the brainless fucking brainwashed lemmings they are.

The Repetition and Reversal of the Undead

Go back 3,000 years and there is no York and no New York... but there was a TROY: which is the reversed spelling of YORK; with the phonetic hard 't' changed to a hard 'k'. Troy... Kroy... get it? Go back 3,000 years and there was no Hitler: but there was a HITTITE Empire which fought to defend the city of TROY against an ALLIED army of Greek invaders who sacked the huge city by using a cunning tactic: using a false flag of defeat: leaving behind a wooden horse in front of the Trojan gates: a city that worshipped horses. Go forward 3,000 years and New York is attacked and its highest twin towers are brought down by a cunning tactic known as a false flag operation: where certain power groups inside the American empire sought to further their ghoul's by faking an attack on its own citadel and blaming it on a man hiding in a cave in Afghanistan.

Who was Homer but a blind man, hiding in a cave in Greece, who concocted a false story about Troy during the Bronze Age... battles which raged for 2 centuries for control of that city which he condensed down to 10 years and stuck in a false reason for them? The England of YORK: the power groups of the House of York had 3 English kings in its fight for supremacy in England. The War of the Roses marked the last English king that fell in battle. Hitler was the last German king to die in battle. The Hittite armies defending the city of Troy... did its King fall in battle? Was he the last Hittite

King to fall in battle? Troy-Trey: the city of three Kings; the Thirty Years War; no matter how much each new permutation twisted into new evil, everything in the present is connected to the past.

The loss of Troy marked the fall of the Hittite Empire with the loss of the copper trade and sea trade through the narrow straits of the Dardanelles.

The Hittites called Troy Wilusa: Wil... USA... The battle between two wills: Between the wil of Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany and the wil of President Wilson of the USA. Will the will of the USA prevail in the next century? Or will it crumble like Troy did many times over; burnt to the ground and sacked, ravaged by earthquakes and rising up again renewed, reborn. In 188 BC it was identified by the Romans as the Ilion of Homer and recognized as the mother-city of Rome and because of this it was granted exemption from taxes. Troy was not deserted until at the height of the Ottoman Empire in the 16th century... which strangely coincides with the founding of New York as the future trading center of the Western world... The undead of Troy finally deserting the abandoned dead town once nobody lived there anymore... and secretly inserting themselves into the new Troy in America called New York, and because of their evil infestation... because these foul undead turd things migrated across the world to filthy the newest healthiest new colony ever attempted in the New World... it became the center of ancient human greed and filth and corruption which it now is.

Why was Troy so far from this narrow channel yet so geographically important? Because sea farers had a limit to how long they could sail without landing? Because their navigation depended on orienting themselves with coastal geography? Because Troy was a pirate Empire of the Hittites that controlled all ships, taxing them that went in or out through the Dardanelles? The city of Troy worshipped the sacred war horses of the Hittites not the sea gods. The idea that Troy was geographically important to trade is bullshit unless it was an international trading center where all the Bronze age Mediterranean world met openly to do its business... The actual Troy of Homer's time was destroyed by an earthquake when the famous twin towers of the gates of the greatest open unguarded trading city of the West came falling down.

This then may tie in with the fall of the twin towers in New York: spelled Troy Wen... Giving an undead clue that the fall of New York is a repetition of the fall of Troy way back when... wen it was the capitalist center of Western civilization 3,000 yrs ago, as New York is now.... What was England but an Energy Gland of Negative evil spreading its influence over the whole world. What was Germany but the Germ of one diseased Man; spreading its evil in two World Wars through the undead poisoning of the Kaiser and then Hitler.

The lessons of Troy are repeated again in WW2... Be wary of Greeks bearing gifts! Beware of white traders selling you whiskey! Beware of Americans selling you Coca Cola and Chocolate and coffee and cigarettes and nylons! The undead of Troy migrated to New York, and the practice of destroying your enemy by offering them poisoned gifts began all over again... and the trading posts that offered the natives these European poisoned gifts were given in exchange or the pelts of dead animals... So the natives would destroy the living eco-systems and beauty of the land they had lived on for thousands of years in exchange for rotgut whiskey and lice-infested blankets and shiny trinkets. The American Capitalist 'gifts' of a machine affluence after WW2 which has turned Western civilization into a cesspool of senile rotting insane paranoid dying imbeciles: slaves to the slaughter; to be swindled out of their life savings and all their hard work by Jewish bankers. To be defeated by what you worship and value is exactly what the undead practice on living humans. The Germanic warrior culture of the 1900's and 1930's: Worshipping the sacred Horse of War: and being defeated by a false Icon of that Horse, secretly hiding evil spirits inside it. To be defeated by the death mask of a hoarse shouting megalomaniac, who was actually a mild, vegetarian artist possessed by the foul demons of hell who used to guard the Hellespont from incursions. This hoarse shouting icon called Hitler; smuggled into the center of Germanic power: urging on the German war horses of the German Wehrmacht and the horses of that war: the hoarse cries of battle ringing through the Upper realms; reliving and repeating ancient wars... that war destroying the Germ of Health that was Germany in the 1930's; as it had destroyed the germ of a healthy England and the House of York; as it had destroyed the city of Troy and the Hittite Empire and the germ of a healthier Humanity uncorrupted by greed and ease, and as it is now destroying the American Hegemony. All these historical reversals and repetitions and connections are not a fucking coincidence! They reveal the secret existence of undead ghouls: they reveal the hidden EVIL of the undead. The evils of hiding the were and wen, the origins of hidden evil: When what is 'new' hides the ancient truth of when it was actually invented... its origins of wen it was actually invented. When where the Wehrmacht came from is hidden by 3,000 years of history and buried in the past: of wen the Hittites hit the Empire of Egypt and caused them to crumble under the shock of their battle chariots and armies.... When the Hittites wended their way over the hills of Asia Minor to come out onto the plains of Troy and do battle with the Greeks. The origin of this undead evil and their poisoning of us now: how far back does it go? When these undead things were alive: all questions of wen and wer... being deflected away from the presence of these stinking filth and who they originally were when they were alive; to keep the living unaware of their secret hidden existence... All this insane cacophony of snarled, repeated permutations of the same old boring stupid fucking idiocy being repeated over and over in human history... and not one intelligent person perceptive enough to see this for what it actually is, a secret cabal of hidden evil, no people intelligent enough to stop the madness. Mass idiocy, mass stupidity, mass corruption, mass brainwashing... None of this history could have happened unless hidden undead shit turds are constantly at work subverting the BEST of human Life and poisoning the entire human species with their stinking violating presence.

How many more lessons of history do you need to understand that the ancients were right; that the undead do have a huge influence over living humans... that the undead have existed not only for the last 3,000 years but for millions if not billions of years? These undead filth must be exterminated to the last filthy thing WITH EXTREME PREJUDICE. This means judging them BEFORE YOU KILL THEM: not after. Once they have been JUDGED and found to be GUILTY then they will be KILLED: EXTERMINATED: ALL OF THEM.

The Secret Hidden Agenda of the Undead

Can be revealed in the history of the 20th century's hidden racist, cultural, religious, nationalist conflicts, atrocities, and the inhumanity of living people pitted against each other poisoned by the lurking invisible ever-present evil of undead filth. What the undead did in the 19th and 20th Century was target every region on earth, every human population that was slowly, naturally, organically changing its ways from tribal, familial hatreds and feuds and murder and rape and plotting; to tolerance and closer intimacy.

Before WW1 and the ensuing civil war which killed almost as many people as the entire First World War, and the ensuing mass genocide of the Bolsheviks and the reign of terror of Stalin and his Jewish NKVD and his Jewish KGB... the Russian Empire was a vast collection of small pockets of cultural ethnic minorities who were living together and intermarrying peacefully.

Before Hitler and his Nazis, and the mass discrimination in Germany against all Jews:... the majority of Jews were happily being assimilated into the German middleclass... this resulted in the rise of marriage between Jews and non-Jews, to the extent that 1 out of every 2 marriages of Jews was interracial...

In the 1920's and 30's many leaders of the Jewish community in Germany feared that if this trend continued... Judaism in Germany would simply die out in Germany. One of the great puzzles in history is why the most extreme racial hatred should appear in a society where cultural and religious assimilation was exceptionally far advanced. Jews marrying non-Jews were renouncing their Judaic religion and becoming Protestants or Catholics. Germans marrying Jews were forcing Jewish religion and culture to become non-racist in their teachings and dogma. This new Reformed Judaism in Germany mirrored Luther's Reformation which had humanized the people of northern Europe and created the peaceful socialist democracies which are still the envy of the world and a living example of how to live without sectarian hatred and racism.

Another basic reason Germany was targeted for complete destruction and brainwashing and corruption was because Germany had come together peacefully. It was the only nation on Earth which had not been created out of racial-religious-cultural-ethnic hatred, but by common consent.

The Nazi's and Hitler's rabid, nationalist anti-Semitism stopped this peaceful integration of Jews into German society... and halted the disappearance of the Jewish race-culture and religion by peaceful, natural, non-violent integration. They halted the incredible explosion of creativity and decency by introducing the idea of 'racial purity' because the merging of the Jewish and German race was producing too many intelligent, healthy happy children, too many brilliant professors, too many brilliant engineers, too many better ideas, too many social improvements.

The fucking point is it did not fucking matter which excuse or which ploy was used by the undead to dehumanize the living human species and regress it back as far as possible into the old, ancient, obsolete racial, cultural, ethnic, religious feuds and hatreds and mass killings and atrocities and extermination policies of the past.

Whether it was Stalin's naked policy of killing and murdering millions of Russian peasants as a state sponsored tactic of pure terror and demoralization and starvation... with the 'excuse' of labeling everyone that was murdered as a 'kulak'... when in actual fact: the murderers, the thugs who carried out these atrocities had strict quotas of how many people they had to kill in each village and town before they even started their mass executions. Whether it was Stalin's naked racist policy of killing all Polish people or as he said: "If it's a Pole; it's a Kulak"... piling pure ethnic racism on top of state sponsored mass murder... Whether it was the Turkish extermination of all Armenians in their state sponsored genocide to supposedly create an ethnically cleansed nation state of Turkish Muslims, or whether it was Hitler ranting about the evil of the Jews: when he was actually ranting about the eastern ghetto Jews in Russia and the evil international Jewish bankers of England, France, Switzerland and America: not the civilized integrated Jews in Germany who had fought for Germany in the 1st World War and were German patriots to the bone... Whether it was Sarajevo and the Balkans where people of many cultural backgrounds had been living together peacefully and intermarrying for hundreds of years it didn't matter; all these apparent differences hid the one common theme and agenda

The undead targeted every single area for destruction and annihilation where there was a clear, growing level of tolerance, integration and the increasing humanism of interracial peaceful co-existence. The undead destroyed every community that was living together without hate. The undead destroyed and poisoned every human relationship that had any love in it.

The hidden agenda of the undead is clear:

PRESERVE THE COWARDS

KILL THE COURAGEOUS

PRESERVE THOSE WHO ARE FILLED WITH FEAR
KILL THOSE WHO DO NOT FEAR

TARGET AND KILL THOSE WHO LOVE PRESERVE THOSE WHO HATE

TARGET AND CORRUPT THOSE WHO ARE KIND, GIVING AND HAPPY: DESTROY ALL HAPPINESS AND HEALTH
PRESERVE THOSE WHO ARE SELFISH, GREEDY AND MISERABLE TARGET ALL THOSE WHO ARE GIVING AND GENEROUS

PRESERVE AND AID THOSE WHO ARE RUTHLESS, BRUTAL AND UNFEELING

TARGET ALL THOSE WHO ARE HEALTHY IN MIND, BODY, HEART, SOUL AND SPIRIT.

PRESERVE THOSE WHO ARE DISEASED, SICK AND WEAKLY IN MIND, BODY, SOUL AND SPIRIT.

ATTACK PEOPLE WHO ARE POSITIVE AND HEALTHY

SUPPORT ALL PEOPLE WHO ARE NEGATIVE AND SICK
UNTIL THE ENTIRE HUMAN RACE BECOMES CORRUPT AND EVIL

This is the ACTUAL racial discrimination and genocide that has been going on: this is the ACTUAL agenda of the undead. All the other excuses are window dressing, superficial layers of lies to hide the fact that what is actually going on is the systematic persecution of all GOOD people by EVIL people and the systematic destruction of ALL LIFE ON EARTH.

One thing must be said:

Apart from the Jews who are corrupt and evil, there are many GOOD Jews! There are many, many GOOD decent people who happen to be Jewish. Inside Israel there are mass rallies of good decent Jews demonstrating and fighting against their own Zionist evil govt. There are many good decent Jews all over the world who are up in arms and fighting against the Zionist evil of Israel and its apartheid racist policy of genocide against the Palestinian people. Yet they receive no media coverage, their voices are not heard. They are unseen, they are powerless. Nobody even knows they even exist: yet they exist in the millions. The same is true of the entire human species: there are millions and billions of powerless people who are decent and are not as corrupted as the ones who corrupt them and oppress them and use them.

Many Jews have disowned their own culture and left their Jewish families and become Muslims or Christians, or they simply opted out of the entire religious/cultural/ethnic society because they cannot stand it anymore. Many ex-Jews have written revealing books which explains why each one made the decision to repudiate their own ethnic and cultural legacy and heritage...

This leads to one point about decent Jews, the ones who do not support Israel and are not Zionist hatemongers and power mongers... When you are at war with your own people and your own culture... why are you still Jewish? When you are against everything which the majority of mainstream Jews stand for... then Why are you still Jewish? When most of your holy books:

the Torah, the Talmud, and the Old testament are so chock-full of lies and evil and hate and filth, that you need a microscope to find any redeeming passages in them... why are you still Jewish? When you are at war with most of your own ethnic race: why are you still Jewish and why are you still trying to preserve this rotten culture? When you are at war with most of the institutionalized Jewry of the world and your own Jewish identity... why are you still trying to preserve that Jewish identity and culture?

This clinging to any culture or national identity, regardless of which culture it is, is the reason humans have been at war with each other for thousands of years. Get the hell out and cleanse yourself of your odious past! You owe your culture nothing but the back of your hand and the heel of your boot on their asses.

When who you are, is determined by the culture you come from, when you base your human identity upon any culture or religion: you have lost your own intrinsic humanity which you were born with. Being human is a universal condition of our species! It is not determined by which fucking culture or religion or sect or whatever the fuck you use to artificially define yourself as. 'belonging to'... Cut the cords to your rotten past cleanly! Have nothing to do with anyone who does not share your views! Stop tolerating the existence of evil and start fighting them actively! Stop letting them attack you! Start attacking them and see how they run away from you like the dirty guilty little cowardly shits they are!

The point is that the same is true of every single human ethnic culture: not only the Jewish culture. ALL ethnic cultures are intrinsically evil, ALL civilized cultures are evil. ALL civilization is evil. It just so happens that the Jewish culture is at the TOP of this civilized shitpile of evil. It just so happens that this ethnic race and culture has been chosen by the undead to be the major key instrument of their domination and manipulation of the entire human species. The Jews did not choose their role as the most evil culture in the western world. It was decided by undead filth who cursed them and hounded them and poisoned them and poisoned their culture so that every origin and birth of GOOD Jewish intentions, GOOD Jewish motives, GOOD Jewish ideas, GOOD Jewish practices were poisoned from the inside, from the very beginning By undead filth seeping inside, inside, into the souls and bodies of living Jews, and systematically poisoning and corrupting and twisting every intelligent insight they ever had.

WHY did the undead CHOOSE to target this one ethnic race more than any other?

WHY have the undead chosen to corrupt this one ethnic race MORE than any other?

WHY have the undead decided to make this race and culture their preferred, CHOSEN instruments of evil?

Because this one ethnic tribe had the audacity to ask their god questions. They had the audacity to complain, to doubt, to argue with their god. The Old Testament is filled with personal conversations between Adam and God, between Cain and God, between God and Abraham between Jonah and God, between Noah and God.

What's this? A mere mortal arguing with God? Such a thing was unheard of. Such a thing was not to be tolerated. God is supposed to be all-powerful, omnipotent, all knowing, all-seeing; their very existence depends on this scam.

If you read the personal conversations between god and Adam, between god and Cain you will find that the INSTANT god is challenged DIRECTLY... the INSTANT god is asked a DIRECT question....

IT BACKS DOWN

IT GIVES AN EVASIVE RESPONSE

IT NEVER PUNISHES THE DOUBTER DIRECTLY

IT ALWAYS EVADES DIRECTNESS

IT NEVER ANSWERS A DIRECT QUESTION DIRECTLY

This was why the Jews were targeted by the undead. They were beginning to suspect that their god was NOT all-powerful, that their god was NOT all-knowing, that their god was NOT omnipotent... that their god was NOT all-wise...

The Old Testament is one long story of their god trying to CONVINCED the Jews that he indeed is omnipotent, that he indeed is all-wise, and that if this one quarrelsome tribe did not obey every commandment, a HUGE PUNISHMENT would be meted upon them and all of their future offspring, if the Jews did not obey their 'god' UNQUESTIONINGLY and not ask ANY QUESTIONS EVER! of their god... only then would they be not cursed till the end of time.

Did they listen to their god Yahweh and stop asking questions? NO. They kept on asking questions. The result was the oral tradition of the Talmud; which was later written down and turned into a written accumulation of discussion and analysis. The Talmudic method of studying the Bible consists of questioning and challenging every assertion of the Old Testament. The undead had to stop this: so they poisoned the questioning at its source, just as they had poisoned the written text of the Old Testament at its source.

How was the Talmudic challenging of the Old Testament poisoned? It was poisoned by the idiotic belief that everything in the Old Testament was the authentic word of god instead of what it actually is: a pack of invented lies and myths and filth written to cover up the truth about their stinking undead gods. It was poisoned by the worship of the written word as being the sacred and authentic word of god. It was poisoned by worshipping and valuing and cherishing the written word more than Life itself, more than reality, more than all the life-experiences of every living human who ever lived. It was poisoned by the Talmudic Jews developing a racist culture of hatred, bigotry and hypocrisy against everyone who is not of their race. It was turned into an evil, racist Satanic cult that twists and reverses all the true GOOD ancient teachings of the Old Testament. Instead of the Talmud becoming an intelligent rational logical discussion and analysis: of the Old Testament, it became the most poison-filled, twisted, book of hate, deception, lies and satanic evil ever written. Again: the undead took the best of the Hebrew Culture and turned it into the worst Jewish Zionist racist filth; they took the best and systematically twisted it into the worst.

However... for those wise enough to see through the deceptions of the lies of the Talmud, if you know the true history of the origins of Man and our ancestors, the walking apes of Africa... Then the Talmud is a screaming confession of the hidden truth: the Talmud screams out the truth of the undead and what they actually are, and what their so-called ‘god’ Yahweh actually was...

For example: in the Torah: it states that Mount Sinai is pronounced SEE nai: which translates into ‘see – nigh’ Seeing a mountain as one walks towards it, as you come nearer to it, as you come nigh it and it gets bigger and bigger? No... the mountain seeing YOU as you approach it getting closer and closer. The Talmud literally gives the student all the necessary clues and true facts which exposes what Judaism is all about and where it came from. The Talmud points out that Moses received the Torah FROM see-nigh not ‘at’ See-nigh: Moses received the word of god straight from the mountain itself. As if See-nigh instigated the gift of the Torah to Moses... and then it was passed on from Moses to the Jews.

Moreover the Torah says there is a tight bond between the word Sinai and Sinet: the latter meaning hatred.

What is the evil of sinet? It is the SIN of eating DEAD animals. It is the sin of eating the dead meat of dead carcasses and dead corpses. It is the SIN of what you ET.

The Talmud says that actual meaning of the Torah’s words are: “From Hatred Moses received the Torah”...

What does this mean?...

And then the Talmud begins to spew its filth, its obvious lies: by giving ‘appropriate interpretations’, which are all politically correct BULLSHIT

For any anthropologist who understands the cultural-physical origin of our species, the history of our exodus out of Africa; the place of our ancestors and knowledge of the tectonic history of volcanic action and earthquakes and huge catastrophic weather systems, of the downpour of torrential rains after huge volcano devastates hundreds of square miles of jungle, the pyroclastic cloud of poison gas and ash darkening the sky for weeks: and the time period of 30 million years, over which this was a normal condition in Africa... For anyone who know of the existence of the undead and their malevolent hatred of all Life... the writings of the Torah and the Talmud SCREAMS OUT THE TRUTH.

The Talmud says: “From Hatred Moses received the Torah”...
Moses received the word of god straight from the mountain itself.
What was that first mountain? The first mountain that a walking ape received HATE from, were volcanic mountains in Africa.
The first apes were worshipers of African volcanoes. They came NIGH unto volcanoes: the closer they came: the more they SAW the smoldering living MOUNT of the volcano, the closer they came nigh, the more they saw the red raw burning hatred of the volcano. The myth of Moses is a compressed story of the first walking apes who worshipped volcanoes that is millions of years old.

These walking apes worshipped volcanoes.
Volcanoes hate living creatures.
Volcanoes destroy living creatures.
Volcanoes burn alive and eat living things.
These apes were given the ‘gift’ of HATE by what they ATE.
They were given the HELL of Hate by what they ATE.

As they came nearer and nearer and found all the dead burnt carcasses of Animals littered all around those smoldering volcanoes.
Once they ATE the dead flesh of the burnt dead animals the volcano had given them: they were ‘given’ the HATRED of the dead spirits of the dead animals who watched them eating their dead bodies,
The burning volcano gave them dead meat that was Hot which they ate.
The volcano gave them a Horror of what they ate
The Volcano was the Hot Hell of Hate:
It’s molten lava ATE everything in its path
Their sin was: They ate red meat. HATE ATE RED HATRED; get it?

The MOUNTAIN, the volcanic mount gave this 'gift' to them.
HATE.. ATE... get it? The burning Hell of ATE, the dead bodies they ate was their mortal sin. The sin they should never have committed.
The UNDEAD hiding INSIDE the mount gave Moses the Jewish gift of HATRED towards all mankind and towards all LIFE ON EARTH.
The Molten Lava of the volcano is RED.
When it flows it EATS EVERYTHING IN ITS PATH and destroys all Life
The Volcano gave Moses the gift of HOT RED lava,
The hot red lava which killed animals and burnt vegetation for 30 million years, and gave walking apes food to eat: cooked food.
This thing the Jews called a 'god' gave the Jews a warning sign also: it gave the Jews 10 commandments to follow; which they refused to follow.

What was the 'SEE-Nigh' that Moses received the hatred against all Life? It was the SEEING EYE OF THE UNDEAD. The All-Seeing eye that sits on top of mountains and never sleeps and sees everything that goes on around it. It is the Seeing eye on the dollar bill on top of the pyramid: It is the seeing eye of Sauron in J.R.R. Tolkien's Lord of the Ring: it is the evil eye of reptilian BIRDS whom the undead use as their eyes to spy on all living creatures: malevolent black Ravens, evil black crows, that sit on top of mountains and in trees serving as the eyes of undead evil. black is the color of death.

The SIN of HATE: was given to Moses by an EVIL UNDEAD THING that they called Yahweh: What was Yahweh? It was the YAWNING CHASM of death: the YAWNING chasm of the volcanic pyres of molten HELL ON EARTH, The YAWNING evil of the Serengeti Lions as they open their killing mouths and reveal their killing fangs for all to see... It is the RAGE of RAW HATE of undead reptilian-BIRD undead THINGS that died when caught flying above these explosive pits of hell. Inside that volcanic mouth of Hell is WE; the Haters of all LIFE: WE the undead. Who is 'we'? we is Wicked Evil

YAHWEH:

Y; is the explosion of a volcano in action
AHH; is A Hell of Hate

A is the cone after the volcano has exploded; the eruption of death instead of Life exploding out of an inorganic penis

YA : A YAwning chasm of volcanic

H : Hell burning with

WE : Wicked Evil, filled with

H : Hatred against Life, Hatred against all Living Creatures

Yahweh... pronounced backwards is Heya! The North American chant of stone age warriors: HEya-ya-ya-ya!... get it?

HELLAH... HELL, HELLO!... The Greeks of HELLAS; their greeting of hidden evil is ‘Hello!’; “Beware of Greeks bearing gifts”. Get it?

This is the truth of the sin of Yahweh and Moses and the Torah. The volcano gave the Jews the TORAH. The Torah is the TORN Earth of Africa. TORN by HATE. Torn by earthquakes and upheavals and volcanoes for millions of years. Volcanoes spewing out their insane hatred; the red hate of volcanic red molten lava. The meeting of this volcanic mountain, this ‘god’ of hate and Moses was a SATANIC PACT WITH THE DEVIL HIMSELF. The evil of this satanic evil ghoul can be seen by what Moses found his people had been doing while he was having his conversations with this thing that called itself a ‘god’ and the time it took to carve in stone the Ten Commandments. During his absence: the Hebrew children were possessed by an insane madness and began practicing the foulest abominations. And from that time onward... the Jews have been a race poisoned and possessed by evil and PROTECTED FROM HARM by cunning hidden Satanic forces of evil.

The INAPPROPRIATE INTERPRETATION of the Torah which is ACCURATE AND TRUE version which I just gave you is not the bullshit crap which the Talmudic rationalizations give. Unlike the bullshit lies of the Jewish Torah, the explanations I give make Logical sense, Until you read and understood all of this book you cannot understand how much logical sense my explanation makes.

The Talmud poses this question...

“From Hatred, Moses received the Torah”...

What does this mean?...

I'll tell you what it fucking means. From HATE RED, the red molten hate of burning lava; Moses received the TORN EARTH of the Volcano. The Torah is the TORN EARTH of Africa. Yahweh is the Yawing chasm of red death, the Way of Death, where the first walking apes sacrificed their young to; the UNDEAD who had fooled them into believing they were GODS, using these species of walking apes as instruments of evil for millions of years.

From the Seeing eye of Evil; Moses received the Hatred of the UNDEAD
That is what Moses received from Sinai; pronounced seenai

As he approached nigh..
He was seen...

SEEN: AI... An Evil I... A seeing eye... An evil EYE seeing Moses approaching; coming NIGH.

The point is the undead made their living shells expose their true evil on purpose. The Talmud POINTS the finger FIRST at the simple obvious truth which needs no fucking politically correct 'appropriate interpretations' to understand.

The point is... it is the constant TWISTING of the obvious Truth which is the sin of the Talmud: it is the Talmud twisting the truth into a lie and twisting lies into truths that is the basic SIN of the Talmudic Jewish culture. This is how the undead successfully corrupted the Hebrews, they corrupted their Jewish Shrewish intelligence and twisted it and poisoned it into meaningless gibberish. And then writing this gibberish down and worshipping it.

The Talmud is a Flame that Penetrates the Mind and throbs within the body"

Do you fucking understand? The god of the Jews is a recreation of the most ancient VOLCANO Gods of Africa; The Jews worship the FIRE of the volcano: the fire that gave them everything they needed: food warmth, protection safety. The insane rhythmic repetition of mantras by innocent Jewish children as they are systematically brainwashed, brainwashed into cunning lies and shrewd evil. This is how the undead penetrate and poison the minds and bodies of young Jewish boys: this is how the undead made this one ethnic race 'special', this is how they become 'chosen' by their fucking dead 'god'. By the systematic programming and brainwashing of their own children: more than any other civilized culture.

It says in the Torah: The Torah is not the Divine Light of Truth

'The Torah is a Reflection of the Divine Light'

The Volcano is the red light of HATE

The Talmud channels the Light and tames it: just as the sea tames the fire of the Sun.

The red light of HATE has to be 'tamed'.

The volcanic MUD loses its heat and redness, and the Heavens open up and TORRENTS of RAIN fall creating huge oceans of water that cool the red hot molten lava. The TORAH is the TORRENTS OF RAIN falling down on the red Lava of Red Hate taming it as the sea tames the fires of the Sun. The Talmud TELLS a Tale of MUD, of what happened millions of years ago. But its telling is twisted and filled with the MUDDIED false images of LIES and lying tales. The Talmud MUDDIES all the Tales of the Jewish Old Testament Do you understand yet? The IMAGERY of both the Talmud and the Torah is universal: it comes from the African legacy of 30 million years of living as monkeys and apes in a world gone mad with red destructive hate. It comes from monkeys and apes worshiping volcanoes, it comes from what happened after every volcanic explosion, when a volcano explodes, and the SIN of worshiping these satanic forces of evil that destroy and kill all Life spreads all over the land.

Why did the Semites see themselves as a special chosen race? Because they were the last tribe of apes coming out of Africa who had managed to survive the volcanic devastation of African volcanoes? Because they were the only ones left alive after volcanoes had killed off every other species and tribe of apes and monkeys? Because they were the last tribe of apes to be driven out of Africa by their own God, a cruel god of blind rage, retribution and revenge? Connecting the last tribe of walking apes to come out of Africa to the Semitic Hebrew myth of exodus and being the 'chosen race' now begins to make historical sense.

Being both cursed and chosen... are two sides of the same coin of fate... two different ways of interpreting their past... searching to rationalize and make sense out of their past and their present and their plight and their flight and their enslavement... makes logical sense.

The point is there are logical reasons why the Hebrews preserved the cultural idea and assumption that they are a chosen race. The point is there are logical reasons why the Hebrews were targeted by undead evil because the Hebrews was too intelligent. They were smarter than any other tribe of the Ancient World. They had committed the unforgivable sin of questioning and challenging their own God who is most definitely not a god. This was why they were chosen by undead shit turds who pretend to be gods, this is why they were targeted for corruption, this is why they are more poisoned by undead evil than other people.

The Jews were given both the stick of denunciations and cursed by their 'god', PLUS they were given the temptation of Christ... they were offered domination of the earthly world; the evil carrot: that IF they obeyed everything their god commanded them to do, they would rise up in the world! They would rise Up from the lowliest of slaves to become the rulers of all other mortal humans.

How? Why by insidiously corrupting all of Mankind into the paths of Evil. They could corrupt all of mankind by being the obedient servants of Satan, by being servile obedient instruments of undead evil...

Of course this truth was not told to them by their undead filth who purported to be these invisible, unseen, things called a 'god'. The undead did not tell them that they would achieve this worldly success by the cunning foul practice of usury and worldly greed. They did not tell them that in order to achieve this worldly success that they themselves would be corrupted even worse than the ones they corrupted... they did not tell them that they would have to sell their souls to Satan and break all of the true religious ethical commandments of their religion, and forsake worshipping their own god and worship gold instead and love money instead of loving their fellow human beings.

They didn't tell them that these Jews, who cunningly use others, are being used by undead demons and ghouls. This is not mentioned in their so-called sacred texts. It isn't mentioned that the Jewish race is being used by undead evil, just as they use others who are less cunning than they are. This is not mentioned in their Satanic pact with the Devil and their gaining worldly success.

Layers and layers of evil...

This is what modern Capitalism is all about; one of its main evils comes from the Judaic culture and practice of usury. The source of it all comes from the undead The ORIGIN of Jewish usury comes from undead filth USING Jews as instruments of evil, corrupting them so these corrupt Jews USE their love of money to corrupt others with, and corrupt them into the love of money...so they can USE them to become rich. Understand this: the existence of evil on the Earth does have an ultimate source; its root is the hidden existence of undead entities.

*Users using users, using users, using users, using users...
Lies, piled on top of lies, piled on top of lies, piled on top of lies...*

The Jews did not ask to be chosen. They were chosen by their own undead 'Gods' because they were too intelligent a race to be controlled and manipulated by the old, ancient tactics and tricks which had been successfully used to poison and control and manipulate living humans of other cultures, races and religions. The undead were forced to INVENT new tactics to keep this one ethnic living species of humans from becoming wise to their tricks. Every time their gods issued a commandment and ordered them to obey: they always found a cunning way to weasel their way out of doing exactly what they had been commanded to do.

What kind of intelligence is this Jewish innate cunning? It is the cunning intelligence of slaves finding cunning ways to weasel their way out of following the strict commands of their living masters the Pharaohs of Egypt, the Rulers of Babylon, the Emperors of Rome...

It developed into a new kind of intelligence that was not based upon cunning and dishonesty and hypocrisy. You can read about the revolutionary explosion of new Jewish ideas in the Old and New Testament. The history of the transition, from a Jewish God that is honest yet vengeful and full of hate and revenge and strict... to a god that is honest yet strict and demanding but not vengeful.

The 10 Commandments of the Old Testament stand as an ancient guide of how all humans should live: without envy, greed or hate or killing.

Jesus advanced this moral way of living to an even more EXTREME level of purity: not only were the followers of Jesus expected to follow the ancient 10 commandments of their old testament and refrain from killing: they were expected to throw away all of their worldly possessions, plus they were expected to stop eating!

Yet at the same time: these two cultural religions were SLAVE religions which evolved out of thousands of years of dehumanizing slavery and oppression. They were designed to brainwash the Hebrews into unquestioning obedience to their God: Yahweh. These Jews came from a race of former slaves. They came from a legacy of over 1,000 years of nearly uninterrupted slavery, unwilling slavery, enforced enslavement.

Why did this happen? Because at the same time that the Jews were becoming too intelligent, they were being oppressed and enslaved and brainwashed and kept DOWN as much as possible by the undead so they wouldn't rise up and develop their natural innate genetic potential.

Because forcing them into a perpetual bondage of slavery was the customary way the undead used to keep any troublesome human tribe that was too intelligent or too healthy from developing their full humanity: by brutalizing and dehumanizing them and desensitizing them as much as possible.

The trouble with the Jewish tribe was this one ethnic tribe of humans who were too intelligent to be controlled by enforced slavery and too rebellious to be intimidated... managed to develop the custom and practice of cunningly avoiding obeying the direct orders of their slave masters, avoiding punishment, avoiding responsibility... as a result of this they became expert deceivers, liars, swindlers, con artists.

As a result of this... they also developed the custom and practice of cunningly avoiding obeying the strict MORAL commandments of their own TRUE ethical teachings as well....

But that could not be helped. As oppressed slaves, they did not have the freedom to live as they wished to; they could not follow and practice the true ethical and moral teachings of their own Jewish religion even if they had wanted to. They had already begun the custom of rebelling against and disobeying any higher authority over them and not following orders unless they were kept under the strict control of an overseer who did not let them get away with anything, because like rebellious children, if you gave them an inch, they would take a mile.

This is outlined dramatically in the story of Moses going up to the Mount to receive his Lord's instructions. By the time he came back, all holy hell had broken loose and the idiots were worshipping a golden calf for god's sake. How fucking obvious can you get? 600 years of living as unwilling resentful rebellious slaves under strict, cruel Egyptian overseers had turned them not only into a bunch of immature children who had no maturity, and no self-discipline... and no self-control whatsoever... they also couldn't recognize right from wrong. They were out of control. They needed a strict master. Just like a boy who has no father to raise him right, becomes angry and sullen because he feels he is being deprived of something that he instinctively needs and wants, so he starts acting out and becomes a rebellious juvenile delinquent.

A new and more aware form of human intelligence sprang up which the undead had never seen before... What happened was the undead constantly trying to stamp out this new growing intelligence and poison it and oppress it and twist it around into evil as much as they could... and that new intelligence sprouting up time and time again refusing to be twisted or poisoned, evading the stupid dictums of their ancient gods commandments,, but also evading the few GOOD commandments also.

This is very, very important to understand.

The undead targeted the Jewish race thousands of years ago because they were becoming genetically too intelligent as an ethnic race. They were too smart. They still are.

The undead targeted the German race 70 years ago because they were becoming genetically too healthy as an ethnic race. Too honest. They still are.

The danger of these two ethnic races merging; the two best ethnic races in Europe... in Germany during the 1920's and 30's, was such a huge threat to the undead that they had to stop it from happening. Remember... at that time one out of every two marriages of Jews was interracial. Jews were being Germanized and Germans were becoming Jewified. Without knowing it, they were slowly creating a new super-race of humans; naturally, organically, healthily. Instead of one poisoned ancient tribal ethnic culture being preserved as an instrument of evil by the undead... the Jews in Germany were threatening to lose their ancient obsolete evil Jewish values. This natural healthy progressive trend of intermarrying through falling in love with each other had to be stopped. A merging of superior intellect with superior physical health and beauty... this was why the undead targeted Germany for destruction; this is the underlying hidden reason why WW2 was made to happen by the undead.

Why was the German race targeted for destruction by undead evil? Because 1,000 years ago the invading Germanic tribes were responsible for the destruction of the Roman Empire: the most evil western civilization in the world. Because of them, Roman evil was temporarily forced underground.... It took 1,000 years for it to rise back up from the ashes and be reborn again; it was payback time... Undead Roman evil getting their revenge vicariously by attacking the offspring of the undead who had defeated them in battle 1,000 years ago. The German tribes had defeated Roman armies by brute force of Arms by their healthier living strength. In revenge, the undead defeated the young German people by the brute force of the sicker dead mechanized power of machinery and weapons 1,000 years later.

Why did the undead target the German people for genocidal destruction and mass brainwashing? They were trying to stamp out the potential threat of the German people. The Germans were the last warlike tribe left in Europe that still had the health and strength to stand up and fight against evil. By infiltrating and injecting that satanic evil seed of Hitler into the center of German political power, the undead poisoned and brainwashed the entire German people and twisted their healthy potential to stand up and fight for what is RIGHT and GOOD, into standing up and fighting for what is wrong and evil.

IF... the German people had not been so poisoned and infused with undead evil, IF the German people had not fought for that poisonous adder Hitler, that cunning snake, that filthy evil Austrian who was the opposite of all Germanic ideals: IF the German people had fought for the freedom of the individual and the freedom of all ethnic nationalities not just their own...instead of fighting for the oppressive Nazi regime that crushed the human spirit... they would have won the battle between GOOD and evil because the energy of GOOD is a million times more powerful than the weak energy of evil. Making friends is POSITIVE. Making enemies is negative.

IF the German people had tried to make friends with their northern ethnic brethren the Scandinavians and worked and cooperated with each other to become self-sufficient so they would not have needed the oil of the Caspian Sea oil fields. If Hitler had made friends with Finland instead of his mortal enemy Stalin. Then Finland and Germany would have been fighting on the side of right against the invading Russian armies. And England and France would not have been able to find any excuse to declare war on Germany and the territorial dispute between Poland and Germany regarding West Prussia could not have been used as a pretext for starting a World War. But Hitler was evil. He had been corrupted into admiring the most evil empires on earth; Stalin's and the British Empire. He had been so corrupted that he did not know how to make friends with anybody. In his entire life: Hitler never made friends with anyone... he had no friends, he was controlled and poisoned by undead evil who twisted and poisoned his true human potential all his life.

IF the Nazi movement of National Socialism had not been infiltrated and poisoned from the very beginning by that evil worm Hitler wiggling his way into their party meetings and taking over the Nationalist Socialist from the very start, and attracting the worst of the German race to his banner instead of the best of the German race; so the core of the National Socialists became a rotten magnet attracting the most diseased German scum there was... Then Germany would have cleansed itself of the worst Jewish scum while keeping the best of the Jewish race and merging the best of Jewish culture with the best of German culture.

Instead, Hitler as the instrument of undead evil, and the Allies as instruments of undead evil managed to kill the best of the German race and the best of the Jewish race, while preserving the worst of the German race and the worst of the Jewish race.

Understand this: The undead always target the best

They systematically twist poison and corrupt the best into becoming the worst.

Failing this, their only other alternative is the complete extinction of the people they cannot corrupt, poison, control and manipulate

THAT is why Jews were chosen by undead evil to become instruments of evil for over 3,000 years and still counting.

THAT is why the undead chose to USE the most corrupt evil Jews to instigate a war against Germany and help carry out the genocidal massacre of 10 million genetically healthy Germans, and also the most honest and intelligent the most gentle, humane, innocent loving Jews... and many of the healthiest young men from all over the world at that time.

THAT is why all the crimes against humanity have been committed. They have been committed not by humans against other living humans. They have been committed by undead evil foul filth, pitting humans against each other; poisoning the lives of living people and making them turn against each other and kill each other, as manipulated puppets of these undead foul things.

The closest intimation of the hidden existence of the undead I have yet heard is David Irving's explanation of who died in WW2, and who die in all wars. Irving invented a term for it; he calls those who died in the war; INNOCENTI; 'the innocent ones'. Irving noticed one thing which almost nobody has except me... that in wartime it is always the innocent who die: never the guilty ones, they get away with mass murder. What Irving doesn't ask is just why and how this happens.

Churchill and the evil of his own Undead Ancestral Ghouls

How can the thing that was Churchill be better understood? Let's leave his involvement with the oil cartels for later and begin with his involvement in the Rothschild dynasty of criminal Jewish bankers. But first you need to have some background in order to understand the basic context of history into which the Churchill family has to be placed. Here are some details of history which opens the eyes: certain facts which are not mentioned in most books about that time.

In order to even begin to understand the secret criminal mafia octopus of the Rothschild criminal syndicate is the incredible speed with which they moved to own everything in sight once they got into financial power. This happened because undead ghouls that control them operate under the veil of death; they set up their operations in advance in complete secrecy.

Once we the living find their base of operations, we can and will exterminate them with ease. Just like their agents in the world of the living can be easily exterminated and gotten rid of once they are identified.

First you need to understand why the undead chose this family of evil Ashkenazi Yiddish German Jews... to represent them in the takeover of evil dominating the Living Earth.

The undead invented the Rothschild banking dynasty out of nothing as a reaction to counter-act the threat of one of their agents of evil being nullified by Napoleon: Prince William IX of Hesse Hanau. When Napoleon was in the process of conquering Europe militarily, he was intelligent enough to have the insight that all his military might and power was as nothing compared to the power of greed, larceny, and money i.e.; the bankers of Europe.

The undead were forced to move fast in order to stop Napoleon from centralizing all of the wealth and money of Europe into his own hands. The undead had thought they had successfully corrupted Bonaparte but not quite. Napoleon did not care about money except as a threat to his mastery over Europe. This set a bad example for the masses whom the undead had been systematically turning into money-lovers, turning the poorest masses of Europe into penny-pinching hoarders. Destroying all cultures of sharing, giving and generosity. Ridding Europe of the entire culture of the Yiddish Ashkenazi culture of pure avarice and greed and usury would have set their evil plans back thousands of years, and in that respite from greed, the human living species would have had enough time to figure out all the scams and filthy dirty tricks and swindles of the Jewish culture of avarice and that would have been the end of them period.

In the battle for dominance and mastery over the world of the living between military power and the power of money, the undead had a hidden ace in the hole. Napoleon may have had all of Europe, but the undead already had Britain as their secret base of operations. England unlike the intelligent European countries had not kept this diseased Semitic race locked up at night in ghettos so they could not spread their evil filth of larceny and sexual lust. England had allowed Jewish usurers and money changers to craftily, slowly take over their entire banking system long before Napoleon came on the scene. By the 1800's England was a bastion of Jewish money-power and greed, a haven for Jewish bankers and moneylenders. The English were far too stupid and honest a race to understand how these cunning and dangerous these Jewish rats are, and the threat they pose to all other races, societies and cultures.

The other thing the undead did was to poison Napoleon's mind which had been originally set against the Jewish moneylenders and bankers. The undead also did this to Hitler when instead of deporting all the Jews out of Europe; he protected them and shelved the entire Jewish question for after the war. The undead managed to manipulate Napoleon into tolerating these greedy scum filth in the capitals of Europe instead of exterminating them forever which he should have. Napoleon allowed the bankers of Europe to live as long as they supported his regime. This was a huge mistake on his part. It was also the same mistake Hitler did.

The result of Napoleon tolerating the bankers of Europe to exist was that Napoleon's conquest of Europe by military force hid the 5th column hiding inside his empire which was secretly acting against him: the Jewish Rothschild banking family of Europe and England, Napoleon never understood who his true enemies were, he never understood why he had been defeated and how he had been defeated. Napoleon was defeated by the power of greed, the power of Jewish usury; the power of money, the power of the Rothschild evil cunning international finance.

It is from this battle for power between two camps of undead ghouls; to decide which clique of the undead will rule over living humans, which evil empire will rule over the western world, that the Rothschild banking dynasty was born out of. Napoleon's land Empire or the British sea trading Empire. We pick up the story as Napoleon is crashing his armies through central Europe... and the undead reaction to Napoleon discovering that this Prince William IX of Hesse-Hanau, was one of the richest fuckers in Europe. In 1806 during his conquest of the German states: Napoleon declared that it was his "objective to remove the house of Hesse-Cassel from ruler-ship and to strike it out of the list of powers". He wanted to take over the entire duchy of Hesse Cassel and loot the Prince's holdings of all his wealth. Upon hearing of this publicly stated intention of Napoleon's, Prince William IX of Hesse-Hanau fled to Denmark to avoid Napoleon's wrath; leaving behind a denuded kingdom worth nothing.

Before this happened in 1806 we have to go back to the founding of the Rothschild family dynasty to see the basic tactics the falsely named Bauer family used to hide their true Jewish background.

One thing must be made clear; the Jewish Ashkenazi family who called themselves 'Bauer' were not German and their original Jewish family name was not Bauer. This is one sticking point about these fucking secretive sly, lying scumbags which should be emphasized. Where this family came from and what their original family name is has not been wrenched from their dying lips yet. Their true name and origin is still hidden in secrecy. This Jewish Yiddish family has covered its tracks and changed its evil name so many times; nobody knows who they originally were and where they originally came from. One thing is certain: the family of evil scum calling themselves Rothschild were not German and their original family name was most definitely not Bauer; which means farmer in German. These fucking gold worshipers, these scum who never did an honest days work in their lives were not farmers; they never grew anything but Greed and Avarice. Instead they were bowers to the high and mighty: they bowed to the wishes of the richest most corrupt Prince in Germany. Then the head of this evil family changed his Lower class German name to a weird German name which represented his bank: not his family. Understand this: the name Rothschild name has no family roots and no family history which is traceable. Then he changed his clients to the richest Princes and Generals he could find. Then he offered his special clients special deals on certain special items like gold coins and jewelry. Introduced to Prince William of Hesse Kassel in 1760... he kissed the ass of this corrupt German prince so craftily and cunningly that by 1769 he had become the financial agent for the prince and all his family's holdings... By 1796, his firstborn son had married into the Hanau Royal family (Eva Hanau). The point is... before Mayer Amschel Bauer had even sent his 5 sons abroad to found their fortunes and steal all the wealth of the world, his basic tactics for worldly success had already been developed in Frankfurt. Inveigle himself into the most privileged highest social caste, marry into the highest caste possible, and rob everyone blind: using the power of money, do everything in complete secrecy to keep themselves safe from those whom they rob. The point is, the head of the Bauer/Rothschild family was not only the agent for Prince William but by 1796 had succeeded in marrying his son into the Prince's family...which was exactly the same tactic they used in England, France Austria and Switzerland. So it was no wonder that when Prince William fled Hesse Hanau; his financial affairs were put in the hands of Rothschild because they had been so for over 30 years. It is no surprise that in his absence he trusted the Rothschilds to look after his family fortune since they were related by marriage to his family.

Here is where it gets murky... just how much wealth Prince William entrusted to Rothschild is unclear. No sources have been found that reveal exactly how much money it actually was, and in what form it was held in. Property, paper investments like stocks or bonds, or gold coins or bullion or expensive jewelry, etc.

It is important to know that during the American Revolution of 1776, the House of Rothschild brokered a deal between the British Imperial govt and Prince William of Hesse Cassel. William provided 16,800 Hessian soldiers to help England stop the Revolution in America. Rothschild was also made responsible for the transfer of funds that were to pay the German soldiers. The transfer was never made. With regard to the rumored $3,000,000 that Prince William entrusted to the Rothschilds: this might have been not a transfer of money or wealth at all; it could have been the note of the British Crown to be given to Prince William; authorizing the Rothschild bank to pay William's Hessian soldiers returning from America to England.

However, what did happen was... many of the Hessians did not come back. And Prince William who was supposed to pay them was no longer the official ruler of Hess Kassel. so the Hessians who had not returned and had decided to stay in the New World which the Rothschilds never paid... could have been part of the fortune which the Rothschilds embezzled from Prince William... and the Hessians who did return and were not paid because the Duchy of Hesse Hanau no longer existed and was now under the rule of Napoleon and the French Empire; could not have known exactly how they had been so skillfully robbed, and so did not come hunting for their robbers.

The Rothschilds figured quite correctly that if Napoleon chased William out of Hesse Cassel, then Prince William was out of power he would have no legal right to demand his soldiers to be paid since they were no longer officially-legally his soldiers anymore... It was a very cunning way of rationalizing their robbery of the money stolen from the British govt-which was supposed to be given to Prince William-which was supposed to be given to his Hessian soldiers returning from the New World. The cunning fraud was committed in total secrecy... total secrecy is a trademark of the Rothschilds. In other words, the pay for the Hessians was officially supposed to go from the Bank of England - to Nathan Rothschild - to Prince William - to his Hessian Soldiers. Once Prince William was taken out of the loop, the Rothschilds just pocketed all the money and said nothing about it.

Why were these Hessians not paid? Because they had done something unforgivable which the undead hate and fear: they had fallen in love with beautiful, healthy young girls in the New World and they had renounced their evil ways of killing; some sided with the rebels, some just deserted. The point is they were all young healthy strong German boys and they ended up falling in love with beautiful headstrong American and Canadian frontier girls. The point is: they married for love: not for money and raised healthy strong German-English children who became the backbone of American and Canadian Western cultural values; which were then in reaction to this unforgivable disobedience to the evils of the system they lived in; were systematically destroyed by undead turd-shit filth.

The Rothschilds in Frankfurt promptly took Prince William's embezzled fortune supposedly valued at $3,000,000 which probably was the British Govt note to pay Prince William for his soldiers PLUS all of his family holdings and wealth invested throughout Europe and re-embezzled it by sending it out of the country to England; investing most of it into the British East India Company. In this way they had safeguarded Prince William's funds from Napoleon's greedy grasp and also stolen all of Prince William's wealth in one fell swoop. It is hard to say whether this was done out of any motive for Williams financial interests or if they had simply taken the prince's money and invested it in their own name: not in the Prince's name... assuming that since the prince was now without a country and without any power: there was little he could do about this outright robbery of all his family's accumulated wealth since he was in hiding.

One thing should be made clear: the real size and extent of Prince William's family fortune has never been verified, the true size and extent of the Bauer/Rothschild family fortune has also never been verified. Nobody except the participants involved know just how rich Prince William was and what the Rothschilds did with his money. Nobody knows for certain if all or part of that fortune was returned to Prince William or not, and if it was; just how much of it was returned.

The only thing which is certain is that the Rothschild banking family in England suddenly became the major shareholders in the British East India Company, and in order to do this, they had to have an enormous amount of ready cash or securities on hand, which they did not have before Prince William was chased out of his castle..... Er, I mean; Hesse Cassel. You will notice that the undead like to play with words and meanings as they play with the lives of living humans: as if it were all a meaningless game which it is not.

This one move of the Rothschild banking family dynasty to invest in England instead of France instantly made Nathan Rothschild the major shareholder of the richest, most powerful international royal chartered trading monopoly of the British Empire in one fell swoop of cunning, greed and larceny. Not only that; but from then on, all of their clandestine operations posing as British East India officials were protected by the Royal British Royal Navy and the armed forces of the British Empire. Then Nathan Rothschild used this money to fund Wellington's military campaign in Spain, which ultimately broke the back of French military power in Europe. Out of this he made a four-fold profit: (1) On the sale of Wellington's paper which he bought at 50 cents on the dollar and collected at par; (2) on the sale of gold to Wellington; (3) on its repurchase; and (4) on the commission for forwarding it to Portugal. In other words, Rothschild used his East India Company shares as collateral to borrow gold from the Bank of England at no interest, in order to fund Wellington, while his East Indian Company shares continued to earn him huge profits without any interruption, in this massive fraudulent scandal which was covered up and kept secret. This was the beginning of the great fortunes of the house of Rothschild and their explosion of wealth-control; done in complete secrecy.

The end of the Napoleonic Wars led to the unexpected return of Prince William to Hesse Cassel in 1813 and demanding his money from the Rothschilds. Exactly what the sum was and whether it was in stocks or bonds or heirlooms or gold bullion or if it was the money which had never been paid to his Hessians is not clear. How the Rothschilds gulled him and lied to him about what they had actually done with his money is buried under the secrecy of the entire family's doings and their secret untold history. The result was that during the interim of the Napoleonic wars, the Rothschilds had used this huge sum of stolen wealth to leverage themselves many times over into a veritable worldwide financial powerhouse; so by paying Prince William his undeserved money and giving him a pittance of 'interest' along with it, they managed to quell his suspicions and hid what they had actually done with this money between 1806 and 1813; thus giving them 7 years for evil, avarice, and greed to do its work. Only 100 years later were some of the dirty filthy secrets of their double dealings and swindles uncovered by a few probing historians who of course were never allowed to gain any public exposure in the major media exposing Rothschild's shady past.

Mark this: the true evil number is not 6, it is the number 7. The Jews have marked themselves with this evil number from the very beginning.

The best I can hypothesize from what little facts there are is that the Rothschilds used Prince William's embezzled fortune, plus the embezzled note to pay the Hessians of Prince William IX; to take over the controlling share of the richest, most profitable enterprise in all human history; The British East India Company, which was then at the height of its power, reaping huge annual profits.

Then once Nathan Rothschild was major stockholder of the East India Company, he sent his personal agents to India, and posing as East India officials (which they also were): proceeded to loot every ancient stockpile of accumulated Indian wealth from the coffers of the ruling potentates, which had taken hundreds even thousands of years to accumulate with sublime ease and invulnerability because these rulers were being systematically conquered and taken over piecemeal by the British Empire forces. As each Indian kingdom was annexed by the British, as the ancient citadels in which these Indian robber barons had hoarded their ill-gotten wealth fell to the British in one way or another: all their hidden hoarded jewels and gold came pouring into the ready-waiting coffers of Rothschild's men: whose secret task it was to specifically take over possession of all the bullion and jewels out of these fortresses.

The British military were not involved in the doings of the East India agents... it was a curious system of Corporate-Govt Fascism; of one hand not knowing what the other was doing, which allowed for this systematic robbery to take place. Not to mention the fact that if a Rajah surrendered peacefully it made no difference; their coffers were emptied anyways and the defeated Rajahs could do nothing about it with the city under control of the British forces. They were spared their lives only if they agreed to cooperate with the British; under the oversight of the East India Company together with the British civil servants who answered to the British Crown. In this cunning way, Rothschild stole most of the gold looted from the richest Rajahs of India. The Rothschilds moved this entire horde of tons of gold looted from India to London in secret. It was with this gold looted from Bengal that the Rothschild family took over complete control of the privately owned Bank of England by becoming major shareholders in the bullion exchange of the Bank of England, which was its main center of bureaucratic power. Whoever controlled the Inner Circle of these Jewish black Ashkenazi crows controlled the entire bank and its policies and policy decisions.

What is also not generally known is the fact that before Nathan Rothschild set up business as a banker in England; the privately owned Bank of England had already been taken over by the Jewish moneylenders of England who had originally come from Holland. What Rothschild managed to achieve so quickly was in part because he was a Jew; enabling him to get into the highest banking circles of the British Empire almost instantly through his International Jewish banking contacts.

What the Jewish bankers of England who had originally come from Holland did not realize was that they were allowing into their midst a malevolent evil that would gobble them all up one by one. The Rothschild dynasty acted as a predatory shark not only against Goyim but upon his fellow Jews as well.

This is one thing in which nearly all Jews have a huge blind spot about. They think Rothschild dynasty is just another greedy Jewish banking family; it is not... it is a malevolent undead evil which has been able to outmanoeuvre every hostile force against them because they represent the highest realm of undead evil. Their cunning is the hidden cunning of the undead who know the plans of the living beforehand and act with a malevolent foresight, which no banking dynasty has ever done before; this is the hidden secret to their sudden appearance and complete dominance in the evil realms of avarice and the lust for power and money.

The Rothschilds systematically took over complete control of the bank of England easily because it was already owned and controlled by the Satanic forces of Jewish evil; the Ashkenazi Jewish bankers of England who had originally come from the Netherlands and Holland; the Dutch moneylenders who worshipped money as their god. It was a Yiddish-Jewish-German banking takeover of a Dutch-Jewish-English banking takeover: one sinister cunning evil which was far more evil and cunning than the evil it was taking over and embedding itself into.

The very fact that the Ashkenazi bankers of England worshipped money as their god made them worship the Rothschilds as veritable living gods on earth for the simple reason that the Rothschilds ended up amassing more money than they did. In other words their own evil spelled their own doom. They were used by the Rothschilds as minor agents of Satan and once they were of no further use; cast aside until the Rothschild octopus of international finance reigned supreme, hidden behind the veils and shadows of almost complete secrecy hidden deep inside the bowels of the highest circles of the British Imperial elite and banking sector.

By August 17th 1808 Nathan Rothschild had already become financial advisor to the British Govt. Thus repeating what Mayer had done with Prince William in Germany. I know it sounds unbelievable but it's true. In only ten short years; from 1798 to 1808... this Yiddish Ashkenazi Jewish immigrant from Germany becomes the Grand Vizier of the entire British Empire; talk about upward mobility and success! One reason why this happened was because the Rothschilds now owned controlling shares in The East India Company, which they had gotten by investing the re-embezzled money stolen from the Prince William IX of Hesse-Hanau. The takeover of the East India Company was only one of Rothschild's acquisitions. Rothschild's rapacious systematic takeover of the largest English businesses and corporations were done secretly; the details are still largely unknown to historians and the general public due to the secrecy which surrounds this most evil of all Jewish family dynasties .

Taking over control of the bond market and the English gold reserves was necessary before Nathan Rothschild could take over complete control of the Bank of England. In 1814; right after the Battle of Waterloo, he began selling all his English Consols, by this cunning false act; he created the false rumour that Wellington had lost the battle of Waterloo, which caused a selling hysteria of British Consols, (Govt bonds)... which Rothschild then secretly bought up for 5 cents on the dollar, before the news of Wellington's victory reached England, thus multiplying his already vast fortune by 20 time and making him the richest man in England and the world.

This ruined most of the investors in the English Bond Market including the Dutch Jews and English Jewish moneylenders who had taken him in as one of their own. This put Rothschild in complete control of the govt bond market, plus control of the bullion exchange by the British Govt... who after the war was forced to repay its outstanding war debt contracts for all of Wellington's military campaigns in Spain and in Europe including the Waterloo campaign, which Nathan Rothschild had financed; while his brother in Paris was financing Napoleon; and which France had to pay also; regardless of the fact that the person who had done the borrowing, Napoleon, was no longer in power.

All this cunning shit which Rothschilds did before and during the battle of Waterloo was conveniently forgotten and washed down the 'loo' so to speak in the middle of the hysteria and triumph of finally putting an end to Napoleon and his threat to British dominance of the world and winning the war in Europe for a 2nd time. The British did not notice that they had actually been expertly robbed by this Rothschild Jewish evil instrument of the undead, this pawn of undead filth; whose evil poisoned spawn now have embedded themselves into the banking kleptocracy of the globalized criminal syndicate which is now taking over the entire world. From that point on, the Jewish Rothschild octopus of greed, hate, avarice and secrecy lanced out with lightning speed all over the world, the speed and pace of the Rothschild octopus accelerated faster and faster... faster than anyone could imagine.

By 1823 the Rothschilds became guardians of the entire papal treasure and took over the financial operations of the Catholic Church. By the 1880's, having funded Cecil Rhodes in his huge takeover of colonial African resources and land, especially the railroads, and the gold and diamond mines: on Rhodes death in 1902, Rothschild took over the running of Rhodes entire personal estate: Rhode's entire huge personal fortune was literally gobbled up by the Rothschilds because Rhodes had not married and had left behind no heirs... This again is a repeat of what they did with Prince William's fortune; they embezzled Rhodes entire estate... but this time there was no one to demand an accounting of what they had done with his money. the undead learn from their mistakes; but they do not allow the living to learn from their mistakes: which is why they must be killed dead to the last one with extreme violence and prejudice.

What they did with all of the Rhodes money and estate is still a well-kept secret, just as what they did with the Roman Catholic Church's treasure is also a secret. What they did was obvious: the Rothschilds channelled all of Rhodes' wealth into their own coffers and used Rhodes British name as a cover for their own nefarious secret Zionist operations and organizations which are actually Jewish in their ultimate agenda, not British, in their hidden motives and agenda to increase their own Jewish power and wealth... meaning they are being used by the most evil undead in the realm of the undead as stooges to further their secret conspiracies and ghoul.

The point is that unless you dig up the dirty secrets of the Rothschild family and their history, which are hard to come by because the history of that criminal syndicate is shrouded in secrecy: you will not understand and realize just how meteoric their rise was and how fast their takeover of the entire Western world's wealth was in the 1800's: which at that time included not only the wealth of England and Europe, but also the hoarded wealth of India, China and the Orient... plus their founding the private 1st Bank of America in 1791 to add to their private banks controlling all the money and economies of France, Italy, Spain, England and yet another Rothschild dominated central bank in the USA called the Second Bank of the United States, which gave the Rothschilds control of the American money supply again. The 1st Rothschild controlled National Bank of America bank; founded in 1791, ran out its 20 yr. charter in 1811 and was not renewed due to popular outrage that it was being owned and controlled by foreign interests; which it was. The 2nd one founded in 1816 also lasted for 20 years until Andrew Jackson killed it. Then it was reinstated in 1913 and used to fund and start the First World War in human history.

This brief explanation about the beginning of Baron Rothschild's wealth and influence is only a thumbnail sketch of the huge, vast, control and power which the Rothschild family wielded long before Winston Churchill and his father came into contact with them. The point is that once you understand the background and enormous scope of the Rothschild criminal syndicate; you will realize that Randolph and Winston Churchill were merely lowly Goyim agents of evil serving the Ashkenazi Jewish filth that is the Rothschild clan of Satanic greed and avarice. You will understand that they were used by the Rothschilds merely as one of Rothschild's many secret agents of evil.... and that the Rothschilds themselves are merely puppets of the undead.

The other point is that no matter how much one may research and pore over the past: you will never discover more than a millionth or a billionth of the true evil which the covered-up past hides. Winston Churchill and his father were agents of evil: but they were only lower minions of the Rothschilds. It would take 2,000 pages just to outline the vast evil which this one Jewish family is guilty of and is committing every day; more evil than any other dynasty on Earth... and getting away with it in complete secrecy.

In December 25, 1875, Benjamin Disraeli: the first and only Jewish prime Minister of Great Britain borrowed £4,080,000 from his friend Nathan M. Rothschild and bought 176,000 shares in the Suez Canal. The British then assumed managerial control of the Suez Canal through the Administrative Council of the General Company of the Suez Maritime Canal.

This reveals just how much the insidious infiltration of Jews into the highest places of British power and wealth had already been achieved long before Winston Churchill was born, and how quickly their secret takeover had happened since Nathan Rothschild was sent to England to set up the first arm of the Rothschild octopus in London in 1798. By the 1820's, the Rothschild criminal mafia family already owned the national banks of England, France, Germany, Austria and later Italy. They had already intermarried into German, British and European aristocracy and were systematically taking over all positions of financial and political power as quickly as possible as an undead global tactic using the Jewish tribal culture of founding family dynasties of combined power, influence and wealth; all-in-one. This also exposes what Fascism actually is: the merging of the most corrupt evil Jewish families with the most corrupt English ones: a merging of business and govt with royal aristocracy by creating dynastic clans of upper class elite filth... covered up with the façade, disguised under the lie, the mockery of democratic elections. The point is it really doesn't make any fucking difference whether a nation has elections or not: all civilized nations are fascist states.

After the completion of the Suez Canal in 1869 an uprising took place in Egypt which was at that time a province of the Ottoman Empire. In the 1870's a popular insurrection arose from outrage at the Sultan of Egypt's corruption and his embezzlement of funds from the state coffers and for his selling a strip of Egypt's land (the Suez Canal) to foreign investors and foreign interests. Riots and revolution ensued as both Turks and Egyptians went on the rampage protesting the selling of their land containing the Suez Canal to foreign infidels. Reacting to the West's demands to quell the uprising, the Sultan of the Ottoman Empire replaced Ismail Pasha with his son: the even more corrupt Tewfik Pasha in 1879. The continuing insurrection toppled the corrupt regime of Tewfik Pasha but not for long... French and British forces intervened in 1882 to protect their financial interests in the Suez Canal of which they were the major stockholders and quelled the nationalist uprising and reinstated the corrupt Tewfik Pasha back into power.

One thing should be underlined about all western history: Western history deletes, it leaves OUT most of the uprisings, revolutions, wars, battles, campaigns etc. of the native peoples battling against the colonial takeovers of their land. It records the doings of the major colonial powers as if there was no opposition to everything they did to take over other people's land. The history of their colonization and takeover of the world has been whitewashed and censored and edited into complete meaningless superficial garbage. Western history deletes the fact that in every land they violated, conquered and colonized: the people of those lands hated them, despised them, fought them, disliked them and wanted them OUT.

This is just one example of how arrogant the British Colonial Empire had become and how corrupt all govts are and how all history whitewashes and buries all the ugly dirty actual truth of what really happened under a barrage of bullshit, lies and propaganda.. In order to protect its far-flung trading empire which was masquerading as a bunch of colonized conquered countries, the British Empire had set itself up as an international policeman of the world. Unfortunately apart for their navy, their actual military power was almost nil... and it was this stupid international arrogance which irritated other nations who actually did have huge armies, and had to listen to these fucking interfering English asses lecturing them about what they were supposed to do and how they were supposed to behave. It was this arrogance which fueled the antagonism between Britain and Germany and pulled the British Empire into a war they had no business sticking their stupid arrogant noses into. Because of their interference in the war; it expanded to include nearly all of the world. Without the British forces being involved where they had no business being; Germany would have achieved a quick victory over France and that would have ended not only the war on the Western Front but against Russia also. The Tsar wouldn't have taken over the running of the war and thus he wouldn't have been held personally responsible for Russia's military defeats and there wouldn't have been any opportunity for the Jewish Bolshevik Leninists to overthrow the Russian govt. And the world would have remained at peace for many more years, giving a chance for all the new growth of love and beauty to blossom.

In short; it was England, controlled by the Ashkenazi Yiddish-Dutch banking Jewry of the City of London; headed by the Rothschilds who were the main culprits to blame for WW1. As usual it is always the largest international meddling power which is responsible for the greatest evil; Conventional history tries to cast history in the complete opposite perspective; that Empires have the right to do whatever they want to: that 'might is right'. This bullshit propaganda is the exact opposite of what is actually true..

The Churchill family of Randolph and Winston came out of the Victorian culture of England and the British Empire; which was a rotten corrupt matriarchy: ruled by an insane mad queen who mourned for her dead husband in seclusion for 40 years... having nightly séances where she was gulled into believing that she was communicating with her dead husband; while secretly sleeping with the very psychic who held her secret séances. By this contact with undead evil she was corrupted and poisoned. Through nightly séances, the evil of the undead was cunningly passed off as coming from her dead husband. The total secrecy of these séances and the influence that undead ghouls gained over her made her turn inward... she cut herself off from the rest of the world and was cunningly led into paths of darkness, lies, deceit, delusion, insanity and further corruption by the undead.

Her absence left a power vacuum in the largest Empire in world at the very top: allowing the most evil swindlers and scoundrels to take over the running of the Empire. For a psychic medium to have secret access to the Empress of the British Empire, and what's more that it be kept secret from the whole world! Later; this same tactic was tried by the undead on the Royal Romanov family and failed because it was not kept secret from the people. The Russian peasants were not as stupid as the English lower classes; they knew evil when they saw it and Rasputin was killed. In reaction to the killing of Rasputin the undead quickly sent three demons of hell to replace the evil of Rasputin; Lenin, Trotsky and Stalin. The time span between the killing of Rasputin and the inserting of Lenin, Trotsky and Stalin into power is only one year. This reveals how quickly the undead react on a global scale whenever any of their plans are foiled. Now these agents of the undead have been replaced by another demon from hell: Putin: who is only half as evil as the demon Rasputin: lacking the inner rage and slyness of that other demon from hell.

The fact that Queen Victoria; the Empress of the British Empire was mad as a hatter and had always been so is something which is ignored, covered up, whitewashed and cut out of most history books. Narrow minded and emotionally unstable as a child; the death of her husband destroyed her mind and she descended into a blackness of spirit which became more and more evil with every passing year. Due to her poisonous influence; the entire Victorian Age became one of degeneracy, corruption and madness. Her virulent, poisonous vindictiveness as the most spoiled child in the world turned her into an insane hag and made her want the whole world to be as miserable as she was. She stifled and forbade every freedom and happiness she could. She hated happiness: she hated friendship. As a closeted insane hag, she destroyed relationships between the Royal dynasties; forcing her children into the most ill-suited marriages on purpose... creating hatreds, jealousies and intrigues; all covered up by the traditional custom of mindless veneration and respect for her authority as Empress of the largest Empire in the world and titular head of the intermarried royal families of Europe. 1,000 pages could not cover all the evils she perpetrated as an instrument of the undead.

To give you an idea of how sick this schizophrenic insane mad hag was: this needy, clinging, possessive, manipulating, scheming, evil power-monger; an ugly, fat, twisted, inbred, sick thing; this professional hypocrite: this genetically degenerate defective was... her diseased DNA spread hemophilia throughout the royal families of Europe. During her entire life she demanded that her sons be pure, virginal and never have sex outside of marriage. She disowned and hated and made them feel guilty and punished them for every sexual scandal which leaked out to the press. At the same time this fat ugly hypocrite of a cunt was literally having sex with her own spiritual advisor every night in secret. The secret door that was built into her bedroom so he could enter and do the dirty deed every night can be still be seen today in Balmoral Castle. Balmoral castle is the castle of bad morals: the morals of the Satanic god Baal the beast God who ruled humans and corrupted them by lowering them down to the lowest state of animal urges. Baal-moral: get it? The morals of a Bad sheep: Baa! Get it? She expected her sons to be perfect knights while she fucked her psychic advisor every night in secret. Her entire superficial façade of pristine morality and purity was a filthy obscene lie. She hated all of her own children all of her life and was constantly jealous of their successes. A control freak who was governed by sexual lust all her filthy life; yet publicly acted as a puritanical tyrant who never forgave any of her sons for their sexual escapades. It was the insane logical conclusion of the sick, authoritarian ethic "Do as I say: not as I do"... except nobody knew what Queen Victoria was doing because she kept it a deep dark secret, nobody knew she was fucking her secret lover every night for years. If this had ever been exposed to the public her entire Royal authority and power would have crumbled and the British Empire would have fallen into ruin.

The point is: the whole ethical-moral authority of this two-faced, lying hypocrite of a filthy insane hate-filled, vindictive, ugly hag was a total LIE. Her entire outer image and veneer was a stinking total LIE. Her entire standard of personal and public morality was a total LIE. Her sons could be shamed and hated and never forgiven all of their lives for losing their virginity but SHE could fuck and do the dirty deed of sexual lust every night in secret for YEARS; while sneering, disapproving and upbraiding the sexual lust of her children; while doing the very thing she abhorred most in others.

The cunning political plan which Albert, her brilliant husband, had invented: presenting the royal family to the public as a respectable happy close-knit family was designed to keep the English crown from suffering the fate of the other kings and Emperors, which revolution and war swept away in the coming century. The political plan was through the brand-new invention of photography, to brainwash the British masses into 'loving' their royal family so much; that they would never rise up and overthrow their power and wealth. By apparently reducing their power to that of a harmless figurehead, so none who were in real power would have any reason to get rid of them; he sought to make his family as blameless of any wrongdoing or intrusion into politics as possible... While at the same time he became embroiled in the direct political hands-on planning and control of the entire British Empire and shaping the future structure of its institutions. The two-sided falsity of this is the insane split personality of the insane conjoined twin eagles of Royalty: both unaware of each other and both totally mad; two sides of a split personality with two sets of opposing agendas, values and goals.

The idea of this kind of new leadership of the royal dynasty based on personal morality, The idea of Royal families being a better, happier, purer family than others... as an excuse, a rationalization to be worshipped, admired and adored by the masses; was a pure, cold-blooded tactic used to preserve their status, power and wealth was an utter lie. This lie was used so they would not be exterminated and killed dead as they richly deserve. This was how the English Royal dynasty cunningly escaped the fate of the other royal turds. If the people had known what their morals actually were, if they had known what Victoria was actually doing: she would have been strung up to a lamp post and gutted like the filthy pig she was and the entire system of Royalty would have come crashing down without there being any World War!

But that was not what the undead wanted: they depend on complete secrecy to operate and they try to keep the foul abominations and crimes of their chosen agents of evil as secret as possible for as long as possible.

Basically; Victoria was a mental and physical degenerate who should never have been allowed to have children. She was addicted to fucking and could not stand her own children. She could not stand the idea of them even having sex with their husbands or wives. She was a filthy sex-addict who regarded her nipples as to be used only for sex. She viewed any child suckling on her tits as disgusting. She did not allow any of her children to be breast fed by her: instead she farmed out the revolting task to nannies. In other words she was the lowest subhuman animal, a disgusting whore who couldn't stand her own children: She was the complete opposite of what the world's press presented her as. She was the complete opposite of what a mother should be. And she was used by the undead to spread her evil hatred of children all over the British Empire. The entire morality and ethics of the Victorian Age was a filthy, rotten lie, it was a cover-up; it hid the ugly truth of that monster Victoria from the world and twisted the truth around into a false image; a false publicity, a false front that was the opposite of the truth.

Albert's idea of teaching his children how to be self-sufficient could not be tolerated by the undead. His teaching them practical skills could not be allowed to stand as a living example of how to raise children for the rest of the masses; so he was killed as soon as possible. The public image of being a family man who gained his main pleasure from being with his family could not be allowed to last. It had to be filthied beyond recognition. He had his own children whipped for the slightest mistake: for example every wrong note Vickie played on the piano was rewarded with a sharp, painful blow on her fingers. This kind of sadism practiced on innocent helpless children is only one tiny evidence of how sick and twisted these royal scum are. Yet in spite of his Germanic brutality he had too many intelligent ideas to be allowed to succeed. That weakling, his wife Victoria was targeted by the undead and turned into the most helpless stupid little selfish sex whore so she could poison the whole world with her stinking, lying, two-faced morality, hypocrisy and false example. The royal couple had huge rows in which doors were slammed, notes of reproach slipped under doors, yelling and screaming at each other; Albert described his own wife accurately as “The hag: obsessed with the lust for power: a crazy, stupid intriguer who regards herself as a demigod.” And still historians present this as a love match when it was actually the complete opposite of love.

Lewis Carrol’s mad Queen is modeled after the insane Victoria and her murderous insane rages. Her children were terrified of her. The whole Royal family was terrified of her. She would fly into terrible rages for no reason at all. Losing her temper was a sign of her inherited Hanoverian insanity. This fear that the insanity of the Queen would be exposed to the world, while Albert was trying to invent the false public image of a lovable middle-class family, made him back down and never confront her when she was in one of her insane fits of hatred, jealousy and evil. This allowing her to always get her way led this jealous, selfish, vindictive hag to become more and more tyrannical and controlling the older she became.

Wanting to have her hemophiliac child beaten and in doing so kill him dead...! Compare this with the royal Russian family’s treatment of their hemophiliac child. There is no comparison. One is an insane, vindictive, murderous, evil hag. The other is a kind, caring couple who would never think of doing such a horrible thing. That is why the undead exterminated the Russian royal dynasty while preserving the English royal dynasty. Nicholas and his German wife actually cared about their children. Victoria hated her children. The undead always destroy and poison the best while preserving and glorifying the worst. They always destroy love and preserve hate. This is why they must be exterminated and wiped off the face of this Earth forever.

Albert's intelligent plan of uniting Germany and Britain with his arranged marriage of his oldest daughter to a German Prince had to be poisoned by the undead. Victoria herself preferred Germany to England. She was half-German. Albert was a full German. His intelligent plan to marry his children off to the Teutonic Protestant nations of Europe had to be destroyed by the undead. His plan was exactly what Hitler later tried to do: unite the white Protestant Anglo-Teutonic-Scandinavian races into a unity of friendship based upon national-social cultures which complimented each other and were harmonious with each other because they shared a common ancestry and culture. That black bloodsucking, needy, spider of a hag: that sex whore who detested babies and hated children and needed to be fucked every night or else she became a raging harridan; while setting the hypocritical tone of a puritanical middleclass Royal family, was a total fraud. It was only Albert who genuinely cared about his children, but even there he mostly cared about them only to be modeled and pressed into political pawns for the spread of their filthy dynasty to become a global power covering all of Europe and the world. Everything good about their family and marriage was destroyed and poisoned beyond recognition: Everything evil, sick and degenerate was preserved, glorified and spread throughout the world as a royal disease of pure stinking filth.

Edward VII: Her son Bertie who succeeded Victoria was also a sex addict like his mother: he frequented brothels all of his sick twisted poisoned life so often a special fucking-chair was built for him at a Paris brothel Le Chabonet, designed for clients who were so fat and out of shape, they could not move their hips. It was later put on exhibition and named 'Bertie's chair'. He was a depraved, sick, fat bloated evil lizard-thing filled with undead ghouls. The entire world turned a blind eye to all of his depravity and degeneracy. He was so diseased and filled with pus because he was in agony from the filth which had accumulated inside his guts; his Coronation had to be postponed so his appendix could be removed: a new dangerous surgery which many people died from. The surgeon who operated on his was the same doctor who treated the Elephant man: another deformed sick monster. That doctor had a fascination for the horror of misshapen ugliness. The Elephant man was a physical monstrosity: Bertie was a physical-psychic-spiritual monstrosity He died physically on the operating table; his face turned blue; he stopped breathing; but the undead had more evil for him to comm.: they brought the body back to life and used this monster to further their secret ghouls. The undead entered his dead body and brought it back from the realm of the undead and used it as an instrument of evil. He actually invited all of his mistresses to his Coronation! As an amoral filthy professional hypocrite and liar with NO sense of decency or morals that filth set the public example of the worst for all the world to follow.

The fact is that the Anglo-French alliance Cordiale which was the strategic reason why WW1 began: that treaty could not have been signed without Bertie wooing the most decadent degenerates of the Paris Bourgeoisie and becoming an idol of the depraved French pornographic elite who had already been infiltrated by the Jewish culture of sexual perversion. Before Bertie visited Paris as the new King of England: Edward VII: France correctly held England to be her worst enemy and that hag Victoria to be the most evil despot on Earth. All of France rightly despised that fat depraved, ugly sick flatulent monster of a sex pervert. The undead used the death of Queen Victoria: this insane female monster and inserted her son as an even sicker more foul monster in order to orchestrate and make sure WW1 would happen so all human love and decency would be wiped out of existence. In one short visit a miracle occurred in France: public opinion of that fat fucking whoring drug addict and of England and the British Empire was turned about and was reversed BY THE SPECIFIC FORCED INTERVENTION OF THE UNDEAD INTO THE HEARTS AND MINDS OF THE FRENCH MASSES.

The oldest ancestral mortal enemy of France: the filthy British Empire who had destroyed the French Empire and stolen the French Suez Canal from the French and had blocked all of France's colonial ambitions for 400 years!?! Suddenly becomes a 'friend' of France!?! How did this happen? By Jewish owned and controlled newspapers controlling all public opinion in France? No. The newspapers were only one tip of one arm of the octopus of undead evil which permeates all of the world and has done so for millions of years. This new weapon called mass media the undead had invented: they spread and used all over the world: This weapon of mass opinion and mass conformity and ,mass distraction is still owned and controlled by Jewish FILTH.

Just HOW this sudden about-turn in the opinion about the English and Britain and the British empire as friends instead of enemies in French society happened in 1903 during the state visit of that fat toad Bertie MAKES NO HUMAN SENSE WHATSOEVER. One state visit of one fat fucking corrupt political royal is not enough reason for all of FRANCE: every milkmaid, every farmer and his workmen, every seamstress, every cook and child to suddenly experience a change of heart about their oldest most reviled enemy and rival! It is only by the mass will of the undead pushing and pushing the consciousness of living humans that makes these insane irrational things happen.

As opposed to Victoria the hypocrite; Bertie was the 'honest' Royal. He did not hide his depravity from the world like his mother Victoria had. He hid EVERY OTHER EVIL but his depraved degenerate lifestyle: This is a form of depraved cunning selective LYING which the undead used to dupe and indoctrinate living humans by. By pigeonholing aspects of humanity and the human soul into insulated unconnected compartments: humans have been brainwashed and trained and programmed to become insane machines that do not have an integrated personality. Instead they have thousands of specialized selves: each one poisoned by a specialized undead filth-entity and used to control and manipulate everything living humans do and say and think and feel.

His form of one-sided honesty was used by the undead: as an instrument to PUSH his form of the most filthy pornographic degeneracy upon the entire world. The effect of his Royal example is now 100 years later; pornography is the No.1 cash business in the WORLD.

The elite upper class of 19th century England was a real piece of rotten degeneracy. They presented themselves as the utmost righteous, pillars of morality; while at the same time all of their vices, addictions, crimes and anti-social psychopathic behavior was excused, tolerated, whitewashed, or covered up and kept secret. It was in this culture of moral immunity which this brain-damaged child Winston Churchill was born into; the religious belief that members of the elite can do no wrong. By presenting the foulest most corrupt of that nation as the most immaculately upright pillars of society, the undead reversed England from the path of good into paths of evil.

This culture of silence and secrecy, of denying any wrong doing on their part, this culture of elite privilege, the culture of never criticizing the upper crust for their rotten corrupt amorality, is crucial in understanding how Churchill could do the things he did without any public outrage... how he could consciously commit to killing millions of innocent people without feeling any guilt or responsibility whatsoever. He was totally blind to his own evilness. He never blamed himself for what he did and never held himself accountable for any of the consequences of his own actions. The entire British Empire was a culture of worshiping and revering the elite upper class of England. It was this global culture that enabled him to get away with his evil; it was the evil side of the British Empire; its class system; the mindless worship of the upper class; never punishing the evils which the upper class committed. The hidden ghouls hiding inside him revealed itself in his cherubic smile when in public. It was the smile of a sly, inhuman thing knowing it that it was fooling the entire world of the living.

After the death of Queen Victoria in 1901, the evil blackness of her influence over the whole world vanished. This brought about the short blooming of a new Positive Life energy and Happiness all over the world. It was this brief sunny period of new beginnings which the undead speedily put to an abrupt end to by quickly setting up, orchestrating and perpetrating the insane horrors of WW1 and WW2.

Why was Churchill the most evil thing to poison the British Empire after Queen Victoria? He was the most evil of all possessed living shells because the undead ghouls of that black hag lay hidden inside him. The ghouls which had infected and poisoned her; entered his soul and poisoned him also. The undead always like to give 'secret' signs of their existence to the blind, brainwashed masses of Humanity... But only as long as these signs are not correctly recognized by the living. The sign which Churchill gave, showing that the evil spirit of that foul hag was living inside him is the sign which he continually showed to the cameras: was the famous 'V' sign... That sign did not mean victory: it meant the disaster of Vulcanism for the whole world; it means the worship of the god Vulcan: the god of the Volcanoes of Africa that had destroyed all Life on Earth for 25 million years; it means the evil of Vultures pecking at the dead dying corpse of Humanity.

Victoria and her Royal dynasty were the vultures of her age; filled with hatred, envy and jealousy. The ruling class of the British Empire were the vultures feasting on the global British empire: and the effect of their evil was that every lower class took their cue from them and began pecking DOWN onto anyone lower than they were... until it became a mass fad: an unspoken mass culture of obscene snobbery. Churchill showing that sign it meant that the evil hag Victoria hiding inside him was making sure that Churchill would destroy the newfound health and happiness of all Humanity which had suddenly bloomed after her death. This undead thing; this foul unspeakably evil undead ghoul of Queen Victoria wanted the entire world to suffer as much sorrow and loss as she had when she was alive. And all the demons of the hell and angels of heaven massed together in unison to make sure it would happen.

This again shows how on closer scrutiny, every perception of reality, every supposed 'truth' which the masses have been brainwashed into believing is actually the complete OPPOSITE of what they believe; it is a REVERSAL of the actual truth.

Now back to the historical events of the Victorian era which produced Winston Churchill.

The British financial coup of stealing the French-built Suez Canal right from under their noses; thus guaranteeing them the shortened trade route to China and India and a huge increase in profits was the culture that Winston Churchill was born into. It was the last golden years of the British Empire; the culture of colonial land grabbing, greed and power grabbing was running rampant throughout the British Empire and the huge influx of drugs and spices imported from China, India and the Orient was rotting the British upper class. While the rich Jewish robber baron bankers were embedding themselves into English royal aristocracy and the English aristocrats were squeezing every pound they could get out of this intermarriage of English-Germanic decadent degeneracy with Jewish corruption.

Now the stage is set for you to begin to better understand that world of the 1800's and how the English aristocracy lived and what they did and why they did it. Now you can begin to understand why the richest Jewish banking families in England were friends with the highest Aristocratic families of English Royalty and Aristocracy... These historical facts are kept from the ignorant masses and never mentioned in polite society. The history of degenerate Jewish wealth merging and mingling with degenerate English ruling class families has been glossed over and never examined too closely, and for good reason. Because if their true history of true ruling elite is ever exposed, the people will burn down their castles and mansions and wipe them all out Mansions are the sins of a man visited on his sons: Man-sin-son; get it?

Winston's father Lord Randolph Churchill was intimate friends with Nathan Rothschild: (Nathaniel Mayer Victor; 3rd Baron Rothschild) head of the London branch of the family bank after his father's death in 1879 the 2nd Baron Rothschild. As a boy at Harrows the elite private school for the Aristocrats of England, Winston befriended his schoolmate the Baron's son, Nathan or Natty, as he was called (Nathaniel Charles Jacob; 4th Baron Rothschild). It should be noted that Randolph's ancestors, the Spencers, had once been the richest family in all of England, so it is no surprise that both he and his son Winston were attracted to the richest family in England during their lifetimes, since their undead filthy lurking ancestors once had been the Rothschilds of their day. Water always seeks the lowest level of evil.

In 1891, Nathan (3rd Baron Rothschild) paid for Randolph's trip to South Africa to evaluate the natural resources in the area and lent him £65,000 to invest in the mining syndicates there: he never did. Randolph had no intention of investing the money in wild schemes; he just deposited the money into safe investments and proceeded to live off the interest.

Randolph died in 1895 before he could repay the loan; thus putting his entire family into debt servitude for generations to come. Upon his death, the gross value of his personal estate was revealed to be £75,5971. Exposing the fact that the bulk of the estate of Randolph Churchill was primarily made up of the secret loan which Rothschild had given him to invest in African mining companies which he never did... Randolph Churchill had hid the fact that his family was penniless and on the verge of bankruptcy from the public... the interesting question is whether Barton Rothschild was aware of Randolph's financial state when he loaned him this huge sum... One would assume that he did, but that assumption is only conjecture. To give you an idea of how enormous this loan was and how huge the Churchill fortune was: £75,971 is the financial equivalent of over £6.45 million today in modern currency.

The fact was Randolph Churchill never intended to pay off this loan. It was his one last jab against the Jewish bankers which he needed to stay afloat financially and preserve his rotten corrupt aristocratic status; putting his family into a secure financial position before he died. But he was a wastrel and his whole fucking family was a bunch of corrupt wastrels also. After he died they ran through the millions in short order and were back into debt again.

Thus it comes as no surprise that throughout his political career in Parliament, Randolph Churchill had been a staunch supporter of Jewish causes, especially the issues that were important to his close associates and friends; specifically rich Jewish Bankers like Baron Rothschild. For instance in 1883, Randolph favored the emancipation of all Jews living in Britain; not a very popular move in those anti-Semitic days. In 1881 as a Member of Parliament (1874-1895) he persuaded the govt to investigate the reports of pogroms against Jews in Russia. On January 11 and 13 in 1882, The London based Times attracted worldwide attention to these fictional pogroms in which the figure of 6 million being killed and starving to death was mentioned. The result was London citizens held a meeting on February 1st 1882 to institute fund-raising for the victims, an endeavor that ultimately amounted to collecting over £108,000, confirming the idea that the fictional persecution of Jews might be profitable. This should ring a clear bell to anyone who has studied the myth of the hollow hoax and the history of this number of 6 million Jews being persecuted constantly recurring in Jewish texts, newspapers, stories, myths, legends etc throughout their history.

In 1882, after Britain sent a military force to Egypt to stabilize the crisis concerning the Suez Canal; Randolph Churchill was annoyed at the P.M. William E. Gladstone, when he sent a member of the gentile Baring bank to examine Egypt's financial records instead of a Jewish Rothschild; whose loaned money had enabled the British to attain their major interest in the Suez Canal in the first place. This shows there were anti-Jew and pro-Jew camps inside the British govt vying for control of the Empire. It also reveals how dependent the British govt was on Rothschild wealth before WW1.

Note: the ongoing financial war for mastery over the British Empire and thus the western world, the war between Baron Rothschild and the English Baring bank is left out here. Ultimately by 1820, Nathan Rothschild & Sons won the war and took over the financial capital of the world; The City of London, the Bank of England and the running of the bullion market and the bond market: which is to say the entire wealth of the British Empire... accomplished from scratch in a 30 short years. As I said before; the speed of the rise and growth of the Rothschild financial powerhouse was unimaginable and completely unnatural; it could never have taken place if it were not specifically planned and orchestrated by undead evil aiding them at every turn. The Baring side lost out to the more evil cunning secrecy of the Jewish Rothschilds and merged with it. Churchill's side, the English side of honesty and baring your soul and body in public, which was what he did throughout his life, merged with the older evil culture of Jewish secrecy of the Ashkenazi Jews, the culture of greed and avarice which was thousands of years older than the British culture of openness. WHY? Because when both sides were evil to begin with: the worse evil always takes over a lesser evil when it operates inside the negative evil context of civilization. Whatever 'baring' Churchill did, it always turned out to be a sly, cunning evil deception which hid the actual ugly truth instead of baring it.

What most historians have carefully covered up is the fact that Churchill's family was constantly in debt; mainly to Jewish bankers... especially to Rothschild, a debt they could never afford to pay off. This was one of the greatest sins of Victorian anti-Semite Aristocracy: to go into debt, but even worse to be in debt to a Jew had to be kept secret.

This is also one possible reason why Churchill kept his relationship and all his dealings with the Rothschild family secret. If it had been known that the Churchill family was in debt up to its ass to a Jewish banker: they would have lost all their connections and been blacklisted from every social event in the Elite upper crust calendar and been banned from elite society as outcasts. The fact that this is still not known shows how secret this fact was. The question is; how much hold, influence, power or control did Rothschild have over the Churchill dynasty and if they did: how much did they exercise it and use it?

The fact is that the entire Churchill family was indebted to the Rothschild family and was beholden to them for many favors given by the Rothschilds to the Churchills. This uncovers the fact that Winston, even though he was a rabid anti-Semite: was an even bigger class-racist... he distinguished his upper aristocratic friends apart from his racist attitude towards literally everyone else who was not of his own elite social class for very good reasons.

Everyone who was anyone knew quite well that the Rothschilds were the richest motherfuckers in the world and that they secretly controlled politicians and govts. Churchill, that self-seeking ass-kisser, saw this as his golden opportunity to get into the inner circles of power by sucking up to the Rothschild boy at Harrows, which he did. His family's indebtedness to Rothschild may have even been another reason; not collecting on the loan to his dead father and not bankrupting and humiliating his entire family both socially and financially which they could have.

The one thing which stands out is how Winston Churchill became an unspoken secret agent for the Rothschilds, just as his father had been; they became secret agents, the 007's of their day. Randolph Churchill did not come straight out and support Rothschild and neither did Churchill; but the political facts of what they did for Rothschild... supporting his secret aims and ghouls and what they did for the rich Jews of Britain speak for themselves. Nearly every chance they got; both Randolph and Winston tried to return the favors they had received from the Rothschild family and other Jewish bankers. That in itself is nothing new: the ancient system of political corruption, the unspoken tenet of Pro Quid Quo; the Machiavellian custom of the selling of favors, the selling of contracts and power and positions to clients goes back before Roman times; it is older than the Pharaohs of Egypt.

As a side note, one hidden evil can now be better understood historically: Ian Fleming's James Bond: calling him secret agent 007 now makes historical sense. The number 7 refers to the Jewish 7-day week and to the seven candlesticks of the Jewish Menorah and the myth of the Jewish Yahweh of the Jewish Old Testament, who was supposed to have created the entire Universe in 7 days. By the time Fleming was a member of the OSS, the Rothschild elite had taken over the entire upper bureaucracy of the British govt. The fact is, James Bond was secretly working for the Rothschild bankers: not for the English govt. The name Bond refers to the British Bond market which already had been owned and controlled by the Jewish House of Rothschild for more than a century before Fleming wrote his books; and also the bondage of expensive elite addictions to alcohol, cigarettes, expensive cars, illicit sex; which originates from the Flemish drug culture of Holland and the Netherlands, and the Flemish bankers who emigrated to take over the English banking system and the English govt bureaucracy: it also refers to the English addiction and enslavement to the Jewish evils of greed, avarice, sexual lust, hedonism and the secret lust for secret power; the drive for world domination by a chosen race of secret agents controlled by the undead.

As you can see, there is always more than one meaning to abstract symbols; ancient evil has many layers of hidden meaning.

This is also where the magic number of 6 million Jews being killed comes in. The entire myth of this number comes from the Jewish scriptures which predict that the Jews will regain their ancestral land only when 6 million of them are killed off... This is the hidden propaganda myth which the ideology of Jewish Zionism is based upon and why these lying scum have had to preserve the myth of 6 million killed by the Nazis in order too rationalize and justify their invasion and takeover of Palestine and justify the unjustifiable existence of Israel. Winston's part in this deal of the Balfour Declaration of 1917, supporting the establishment of a Jewish homeland in Palestine is already well-known, and it is further proof that he was a staunch pro-Jewish Rothschild paid shill long before the Focus group and WW2.

The rumors of 6 million Jews being killed in Russia is the Jews again creating their own myths out of thin air: inventing lies out of pure fiction and selling them as the truth... for the specific purpose of creating a Jewish state in Palestine. The Jews and Rothschild tried many cunning ploys and tricks to make this happen. This explains where the hollow hoax industry came from also.

Long before WW2, and long before Bernie Madoff; certain Jews realized they could swindle their fellow-Jews by using their own guilt against them; one tactic was by yanking on their Jewish guilt of how rich they were and how poor their Jewish brethren in Russia were. By using Jewish Synagogues, Jewish temples, Jewish organizations such as B'nai B'rith Society, Jewish newspapers and mass media to sell this myth of 6 million Jews being persecuted long before WW2 ever happened; this paved the way for the hoax of the Nazis killing 6 million Jews to be swallowed by the gullible masses. The mythic story of 6 million Jews being killed became a staple diet in sensationalist Jewish and international news tabloids that sold newspapers by appealing to the lowest most vicarious appetites and printing exaggerated claims and outright lies as truth... Tales of Jews portrayed as victims instead of victimizers which they actually are, as the predators they actually are; is a common theme throughout Jewish history: feel sorry for the poor victimized Jews while they rob the Goyim of everything they have. This myth, this swindle also re-awoke the Jewish dream of re-founding a Jewish state in Jerusalem and created the Zionist Jewish movement to recreate their own nation once again...back in what once had been Ancient Israel 2,000 years ago; as if they had any fucking moral, legal or ethical right to do this.

Once this tale of 6 million Jews killed came to be believed in by many of the brainwashed masses of duped Jews and Goyim: it became the signal for them to invent the false belief that at last their time had come; that Jews were ready to fulfill the ancient prophesies of their religious texts and regain the land they had been kicked out of 2,000 years ago.

Thus when the war propaganda of 6 million Jews killed by the Nazis was spread all over the western world, and nearly all Jews instantly believed in this foul cunning lie because they wanted to believe it; because Jews only believe in lies: never in the truth... it created a mass hysteria, and lemming-like flood of Jews escaping from Russia and Europe, who descended upon the peaceful, quiet land of Palestine like a plague of biblical locusts... which they were and still are.

All because their obsolete ancient stupid Jewish culture is based upon insane biblical ancient stupid superstitious bullshit... which the Jews sold to the rest of the fucking world as a biblical rationalization; in reaction to modern day intelligence of recognizing the evils of their culture and race. Presenting this ancient myth as a completely normal understandable sane motive for flooding Palestine with their filthy race and forcing out the people who had been living there for thousands of years. But then again, that is exactly what white Europeans did to the natives of North America and nobody screams about that anymore because it is a 'fait accompli'... a done deal, spilt milk, in the past and thus not important which is the reversal of the truth. The exact opposite is true: understanding the past is crucial to understanding the present, and understanding where you are going and where you do not want to go.

If you study the cultures and politics of the early and middle 1900's in Europe, you will find a common theme running through each ethnic population and culture. Each one began having dreams and visions of a return to a past glory; a return back to some ancient past when they had once been a dominant race or a dominant Kingdom or a dominant Empire or whatever... Whether it was Germany, or France or Serbia, or Russia, or the Jews, or Japan, or the Austrian Empire, or the Turks or the Poles or any of the others... the drive for acquiring colonies, acquiring more territory, the push for expansion and aggression was in the air almost everywhere. The lessons of history now centuries later is that all of those who succeeded at first either came to a bad end or are now coming to a bad end. The best examples are the demise of the Ottoman, British, Russian and Austrian Empires. Now back to the Churchill family...

If you study the life and personality of Randolph Churchill you will find that Winston took on his father's worst habits and characteristics... with the difference that he did not die of his excesses at the age of 45 as his father had; from venereal disease plus a life of decadent corruption, plus the drugs his doctor prescribed to 'cure' his many illnesses which did not cure him but actually hastened his demise.

Randolph was a product of his Age and his Class... only he was the worst product of that Age and the worst product of his Class... he was a typical product of the corrupt culture of the upper class society of Victorian England. He was a frequenter of brothels. He fucked anything that was female and had two legs. As all other elite of his class did at that time, he had his string of kept mistresses who were given money and an apartment. His many illnesses could fill a handbook: trouble with an inner ear imbalance, deafness, numbness of the hands and feet, a speech impediment, slurred speech and bouts of dizziness, a heavy smoker and drinker: an alcoholic, periods of great exhaustion, melancholia, profound fatigue, confusion, high blood pressure, etc.

The medicines Randolph took were worse than his illnesses: Opium from the poppy plant, Belladonna: from the deadly Nightshade plant, the most poisonous plant in Asia, and Digitalis; another toxic poison that is so dangerous the slightest overdose can kill you. At that time the English elite were heavy users of every poison known to mankind: from Mercury to Strychnine to Opium, from the Opium drug trade in China: it was called 'laudanum' in those days named after the medical term 'Laudable Pus' for its whiteness, like the white pus of a pimple or a boil.

The present whitewashed politically correct opinion is that Randolph Churchill died of an inoperable brain tumor: not of a life of dissipation, drugs, whoring, smoking tobacco, alcoholism and drinking himself to death at an early age; which is of course total bullshit. His slow steady decline into an early senility due to his degenerate health, his degenerate soul and his degenerate body could be tracked in Parliament as his speeches became more and more incoherent until nobody could understand what he was mumbling about. He was, in fact, dying of a general degeneration and paralysis of all his senses and organs, in short the accumulated sum of his degenerate life and lifestyle came back to haunt him... that is: kill him dead.

In 1889, Lord Randolph returned home to find his wife and Prince Albert Edward VII; The Prince of Wales; Victoria's heir; together in, er... an indelicate situation: he chased the Prince out of his house in a fit of quite justifiable rage. As a cuckolded husband who could do nothing about what he knew was going on in front of his nose, due to his cuckholder's royal lineage... could be one more reason for the deterioration of his health after he found out about his wife's unfaithfulness... his own unfaithfulness did not enter into his awareness as that was considered to be normal for pornographic filth like him during the Victorian era.

His wife's long standing affair with Prince Albert continued after Randolph's death in 1895. In other words, she did not give a rat's ass whether her husband knew she was fucking the heir to the British throne or not. Aside from wearing black for a few days she did not grieve for her dead husband and after Randolph died she had no qualms whatsoever in continuing her affair with the Prince; flaunting the mores of her class and time, when the Victorian culture of grieving for your dead husband for 40 stinking years: as Queen Victoria did all her life was still in vogue: she did the opposite.

Basically Jennie Churchill was the pre-eminent social climber of her era: a predatory Black Widow, determined to scramble her way up the ladder of Victorian status as high as possible by every means at her disposal including her sexual attractiveness. She was an amoral, immoral, calculating bitch who could not be tamed or controlled by any man. In their marriage which became a battle for dominance and supremacy Randolph lost in the battle of the sexes: his defeat ultimately killed him.

In 1882, at eight years of age: at too early an age; his mother and father sent Winston off to three private elite schools in succession for the upper class rich: St. George's School in Ascot, Berkshire; Brunswick School in Hove, near Brighton and Harrow School in London.

They never once visited him.

The reason he went to 3 different schools is that he was kicked out from the first two schools for flunking his courses and his uncontrollable outbursts of violence; the classic sign of mental retardation. When a mentally retarded child does not get what it wants right away: it reverts back to its earliest retarded state of infantile rage. This was when he was beaten for his bad manners by his school mates and his refusal to learn how to live dehumanized him to become further desensitized to all kinds of inhuman treatment and abuse.

Since I was sent off to a similar institution at the age of 9, I know from personal experience what this can do to a child. It shattered his little world of safety. It traumatized him for life. It brutalized him and in order to survive, he learned how to cover up his childhood traumas. Trauma on top of trauma... until Churchill was damaged and weakened, dehumanized, and poisoned enough to be controlled and used by the undead to commit horrible things which no decent human being would ever imagine doing.

I was not dehumanized by my experiences; instead it opened my eyes to just how inhuman and cruel people could be given the slightest chance. This led me to be curious about why people are like that. But then I did not have the parents he did, or the spoiled upbringing he did; or the rotten genes he had... The result 52 years later is this book. Now back to the mental retard Winston...

Taken away from his nanny at the age of 8... Three schools in a row... not allowed to come home. Abandoned by his parents because both were far too involved in their own promiscuous sex affairs and corrupt lifestyles to bother with their own children: which they regarded as a nuisance to be handed off to others to be taken care of. The only person who visited him at Harrows was his former nanny whom he called 'Old Womb'. He proudly showed her off to the whole school as proof that at least somebody in the world did care about him. This is the famous English 'nanny' system which has taken over the whole world now: resulting in the destruction of the family and manufacturing millions of little spoiled babies, stinking class-racists and subhuman snobs.

This epithet used by Winston of his nanny also has a lower class gross connotation; calling the only person who cared about him an 'old cunt'. It is one of the characteristics of the undead to use certain cryptic terms and names which have more than one meaning and have many levels of meaning. The British and world Press purposefully mis-spell what he called his nanny as 'Old Woom'. Just in case you don't know: the word 'Womb' is pronounced 'Woom'. The word 'Woom' does not exist in the English language.

What does it do to the soul of a young child who knows that his mother is secretly fucking the King of England, and keeps on fucking him even after his father finds out about it and dies in 1895, and this secret affair only stops when the King finally dies of dissipation and syphilis in 1910?... Did Winston know about it or not? This could be one more reason why his mother wanted to get rid of him and sent him off at an early age to the string of private schools and never once visited him.

Could his father knowing about it be one of the things that killed him? Do you think that maybe... just maybe Winston got the message that if you are of the highest class you can always get away with murder and unfaithfulness and anything else... as long as your sins are covered up and whitewashed and involve only those of a lower status, prestige and power? Do you think it may have traumatized him and twisted him into selectively blocking out certain selected things about his family's past and his own self? Do you think that maybe this kind of evil, sick, twisted childhood may have produced a sick, evil twisted lonely love-starved boy, a boy who grew into an even sicker evil monster? How would you feel about your father if you knew he had a string of mistresses whom he fucked regularly? Would this warp your understanding of what a father is supposed to be for the rest of your life? Would you hate your father for this? Or would your hate towards your father for what he did be buried under a mass of cultural taboos, so your hate and anger would be suppressed and repressed down to such an unconscious level of blindness, that undead malevolent ghouls could and did manipulate all the stored up negative emotions in Winston's body and soul for their own evil purposes? This is exactly what the undead did to Winston Churchill.

At the time that Winston joined the army in India, his father was Secretary of State for India. Now isn't that just fucking cozy... imagine that: the British minister who was in control of all India putting his son into the British army in India. With this kind of political power protecting him, Winston could do no wrong; he could get away with anything he wanted to in India. His every excess and fuckup would be quietly whitewashed and covered up. Treated with kid gloves because of his powerful father; it is not surprising that one of his fondest early memories was his time in the British army in India. Churchill bought his commission as a Cornet (second lieutenant) in the 4th Queen's own Hussars on 20 February 1895; or rather his family bought it for him.

Churchill's pay as a second lieutenant in the 4th hussars was £300 annually. Winston needed at least a further £500 (equivalent to £25,000 in 2001 terms) to 'support a style of life equal to that of other officers of the regiment'. His mother provided an allowance of £400 per year, but this he repeatedly overspent. In other words this spoiled filthy rich piece of rotten shit was spending over £50,000 annually in today's money just to 'support himself' as a lowly second Lieutenant. Do you have any fucking idea of how venal and rotten this kind of largesse is by the filthy rich of the world? This is what puffs up the egos of the stinking rich billionaires and multi-millionaires of the world: this is what ruins their children forever because they come to believe that everything is for sale and there are no human morals and no human ethics: everything is allowed if you have money. And not only that he was spending this money in India where a few rupees could buy you a personal servant and one English pound could buy an entire fucking village. This is what the corrupt Churchill liked. This is what he lived for: living in the middle of an obsolete ancient culture as overlords, being treated like gods; with all the poor, brown-skinned, servile slaves bowing and scraping to him. If you want to see what kind of racist shit the English believed in and how they treated the Indians in their own country, just watch the old Hollywood movie 'Gunga Din'.

This brings up another point about the corruption of the whole Churchill clan. They acted as if they were multi-millionaires whether they were or not. They wasted and spent money and overspent and were continually in debt most of their rotten elite privileged lives. They traded on their family name to get them credit until nobody would give them any credit. This was how Rothschild managed to snare these two filthy English pigs Randolph and Winston who were constantly running themselves into debt in order to 'keep up appearances' of being rich beyond the dreams of avarice. There is the story of Winston's son coming home one day driving a Rolls Royce which he bought on credit and his father making him take it back... however; Churchill's daughters were allowed to run up huge sums with impunity and were never forced to take anything back. This exposes the fact that Winston had been dominated by women all his life. He was an emasculated little wimp, a mommy's boy when it came to women and pretty girls. They could twist him around their little finger; which is exactly what they did.

This is also the story of the changing of the guard of the ruling elite in England and the world: how industrial robber barons: filthy rich greedy cunning scumbags were marrying their way up into the highest aristocracy possible all over the world ... until money finally replaced the sign of elite status: until it was how much money you had that was important, not your lineage, not which aristocratic family you were born into... until the last leftovers of the old elite class and the new industrial robber barons and bankers merged into one cesspool of corruption, greed and decadence. This is told in George Eliot's fictional novel: Middlemarch... the beginning of the march of the middle class into the upper class. In the 1800's each got what they wanted from the other. The Jewish bankers like Rothschild got their fucking peerages, and the fucking Churchill's got their fucking money so they could live like millionaires and never have to work a day in their rotten fucking privileged lives.

Churchill left the Indian army after his father died for a very fucking good reason: he was no longer under the protection of his powerful father anymore, he was disliked intensely by everyone in the army; his familial free ride had come to an abrupt end: he was on his own now with nothing, no training or education or ability to support himself by and the army most definitely did not want him: the darling son of the Secretary of State for India, that S.O.B. was out on his ass with no prospect whatsoever to further his 'career'.

Churchill the mad toad

Churchill was a war junkie: from the very beginning when he was the spoiled little mongoloid child-imbecile, playing with his tin soldiers, pretending they were his own personal army. This came from the British aristocracy's culture of using humans as cannon fodder, with a paid mercenary army as its main tool of enforcement and source of power. It came from the cunning way in which the British Empire had been invented, enabling one small island to colonize and conquer ¼ of the world's population; it came from the cunning British tactic of hiring mercenaries to do the actual fighting and killing for them. It was how they conquered the continent of India. India is a conglomerate of many small ethnic races, kingdoms, states, languages, religions and cultures. The British trained native armies and sent them into battle against their neighbors and toppled them one-by-one like a set of dominos.

From the beginning of his military service when Churchill saw Indian Ghurkhas massacring Bengal warriors with modern British rifles in India; Churchill was drawn to war and killing like a toad drawn to flies. After his time in the British army in India while his father was head of the India Dept in the British head office; once his diseased insane drug addict of a sex pervert father died of venereal disease and madness, he followed every mass murdering British army just so he could see the killing firsthand. Churchill, that mad diseased cold-blooded mongoloid toad was hooked on mass death. Anywhere a British army was in the field he went to see them killing human beings by the hundreds and thousands. When he was young: Churchill still had a slight guilty conscience about why he was not like other sane humans, why was so addicted to mass war and death and killing, but that slight nagging feeling faded away as his soul was corrupted and the ghouls of his undead ancestors slowly and systematically took over complete control of his diseased, weak, mongoloid, infantile personality and body. Churchill; that sick diseased filth of the most sick diseased evil poisoned spawn of British aristocrat filth; absorbed and soaked up every single worst aspect, characteristic, prejudice, attitude, habit, culture and addiction of his diseased parents.

Churchill saw war as a process of natural selection. He believed the way to determine which race was superior was by which race could wipe out the other. Churchill believed with all his filthy toad-soul in the religion of Eugenics: He believed in world domination as a racial right of the British aristocracy: not the British lower classes. By this cultural and social hierarchy of empire, the British aristocracy came to view themselves as veritable gods compared to the rest of humanity. It was part of the culture Churchill was raised in; these were the unspoken tenets and assumptions of Victorian British Aristocrat culture that he absorbed in the womb. For him war was just a game; it was the ultimate team sport with him as commander of all the armies of the British Empire which British aristocratic children were trained in and taught. By the principles of Aristocratic British Imperialism and Eugenics which Churchill was a firm believer in... war was the most honorable profession of all. According to British Imperial culture; by massacring natives with maxim guns the British were contributing to the progress of mankind. They were bringing the boon of civilization to them... and as every civilized brainwashed baboon knows; civilization is an unquestionably good thing, genocide of tribal ethnic peoples is a good thing. This is the kind of snake oil that Churchill and all of his class sold and believed in during the 19th and 20th centuries.

In 1898, after his father died and he was kicked out of the army in India, Churchill went to join Kitchener in the Sudan, passing himself off as a war correspondent in the famous British campaign to revenge themselves on Gordon's death in Khartoum at the hands of the Mahdi and his Muslim desert warriors, which had happened 13 years before. This is what he experienced in his own written words:

"They were chanting ceaselessly La! La! Ha! ILLAH! LA! WAH! RAH ZUL! MOHAMMED! There is one God and Mohammed is the messenger of God!... Instantly the hungry and attentive maxims opened fire on them, sweeping them all to the ground... some in death, others in terror... The whole scene flickered exactly like a cinematic picture, and besides... I remember no sound! The yells of the enemy, the shouts of the soldiers...the firing of many shots, the clashing of swords, spears were unnoticed by the senses. The picture lasted only a moment... but the memory remains forever..."

This was how the undead programmed and poisoned the young boy into a fascination with mass death killing and war that was to hound him for his entire life. This was how they turned him into a war junkie, into a filth that dwelt only on death and destruction and hungered only for killing and more killing:

By taking away all of his other human senses and imprinting this scene of horror onto his memory as a negative imprint of evil, as a picture show: a memory tape: a 2-dimensional film that is not human and is not humane. The undead twisted Churchill's senses into the latest abstraction of reality that was to sweep the entire world: a silent picture-show, a silent movie without sound; talking movies had not been invented yet; had he been imprinted with the wonder of seeing his first silent picture show as a child? It is almost a certainty that he had been. Reverting him back to a state of mongoloid idiocy, bereft of all empathy or greater intelligence.

Just how had his own undead poisoned his senses? The telling clue is the word he uses to describe the total detachment with which he viewed the horror of mass slaughter: in his saying 'the' senses... not his senses. His other senses were taken away from him ... stolen: poisoned by the undead; only his visual senses remained. His ears, his sense of sound had been cut off; his emotional senses had been cut off. His brain had been cut off; his sense of emotional feelings had been cut off; his sense of his own body had been cut off... that was how the undead poisoned him in order to imprint the visual scene of mass murder, the horror of mass slaughter onto his soul as intensely as possible; so he would become a war-junkie for the rest of his life; addicted to watching other people die horribly, violently.

How could they do this? How did the undead do it? By implanting the senses of a reptilian TOAD into his body, by replacing the senses of the human Churchill with the senses of an undead mindless cold-blooded reptile; the least developed, most insensitive, mindless, unfeeling undead reptile possible... By this VIOLATION of Churchill's Life Aura, and embedding and imprinting the dead aura of an undead TOAD into his Living Aura: they poisoned this young boy so deeply, he was permanently damaged and programmed for the rest of his life by it... Slowly and systematically, his young body changed... it morphed and morphed more and more, turning into the body of a fat, ugly, brutal, unfeeling cold-blooded hairless TOAD.

The telling clue of this crucial invasion by the undead into his living aura is the fact that he does not even view his own senses as being his own: they are somebody else's senses: they are 'the' senses: they are not his senses, they are the confessions of a lunatic, a madman, a psychopathic maniac, a deranged mongoloid idiot who has lost all of his human senses. He does not use the word my memory: he abstracts it into 'the memory': as if it is not his memory but a film to be preserved, a memory to be put on file... and later used and installed into every dehumanized living slave on earth in order to dehumanize and ruin their humanity even further. So every living poisoned brainwashed human will perceive the 2-dimensional illusion of moving pictures on a 2-dimensional screen as more real than LIFE itself.

In the aftermath of that battle Churchill was troubled by what he had seen and how he had reacted to it. The Dervishes simply hadn't had a chance against what he called: "That mechanical scattering of death which the civilized nations of the earth had brought to such monstrous perfection." It was the last vestige of his humanity telling him that what he was doing was evil, wrong... bad.

But Churchill did NOT follow his own humanity: he did NOT utter the NEXT obvious logical conclusion, he did NOT come to the logical conclusion that the inventions of these new mechanical weapons of mass destruction does NOT make you more human or more humane or more superior or better than the humans you slaughter:... on the contrary, it makes you WORSE than they are; it DEHUMANIZES YOU, it destroys your basic HUMANITY, it DETACHES you from the death and pain and horror which you CREATE by using these filthy mechanical abominations. Churchill did not come to the obvious logical conclusion that ALL MACHINES OF MASS DEATH ARE EVIL, that ALL machines that produce death are EVIL; that ALL MACHINES OF MASS DEATH are inventions of the devil himself...

Instead his damaged insane twisted toad-infected life aura became fascinated by and addicted to the cold killing power of mechanical machines of death, mechanical weapons of mass death and destruction. Every human must die a violent death at the hands of mechanical machines to feed Churchill's insatiable ego; the dead toad which lay hidden inside him... His life tells the story of how he veered away from all Humanity and embraced all the horrors of inhumanity, how his life was controlled by cunning undead evil, how his life was linked to huge horrible blunders which resulted in millions upon millions of humans being killed because of him personally.

Two World wars! Building huge battleships! The development of the new Tanks! Founding the new evil Age of Oil! Minister of Munitions! 2,500 lives lost because of him at Antwerp! 2 million five hundred thousand lives lost at Gallipoli! 25 million live lost because of him in WW2! The pure evil he was, the evil hiding inside him made him become more and more poisonous... like a poisonous toad: everything that touched him and everything he touched died horribly. He was attracted to the worst evil possible because the undead had embedded and poisoned him with the oldest undead evil in order to kill all of his humanity and all Humanity of the human species. His power to kill people kept on increasing by a factor of ten; this is not a coincidence. It is a telling fingerprint of undead evil violating the Realm of the Living and leaving behind their footprint on the history of the human species.

What Churchill was referring to when he wrote:

“That mechanical scattering of death which the civilized nations of the earth had brought to such monstrous perfection.” was the new Maxim machine gun which fired 80 times faster than a repeating rifle... In his later life Churchill became a purveyor of maxims. During his public and political life he uttered ‘maxim’s’ which were designed to be remembered and written down as sacred texts and repeated until they became the new religion of British Wisdom... He sprayed them around like a machine gun, like the undead mouthpiece that he actually was. Everywhere he went this mad poisoned toad scattered mass death and emerging unscathed from it all.

The new Maxim of that Age was mass death: the maxim of undead ghouls; to wreak THE MAXIMUM amount of DEATH upon the human species possible: death to the MAX; The Mad Maxim of Eugenics gone mad; the mad hatter in Alice in Wonderland: the mad Baron Richthofen; hungering for more kills in the air over France and Germany. The Jewish hunger for profiting from the death off the Goyim: getting rich off mass death: the more often you kill, the more weapons of mass destruction you sell, the richer and more famous you get: RICH th often... get it? The undead spill their seeds of evil insanity all over the living world everywhere in both camps of whoever is doing the killing as long as they obey the voices of hiding evil they are rewarded with worldly success. If they refuse to commit evil they are attacked, ignored, or isolated so their humanity will not spread to the poisoned masses of the human species. This is why GOOD people never succeed in civilization: they are recognized by these filthy evil ghouls as a threat to their survival and attacked and poisoned as much as possible to turn them around into paths of corruption.

Baron Lord Rothschild was on the board of Maxim's new manufacturing company: the inventor of the first modern machine gun: Maxim was knighted by the British Empire for giving them the weapon they could use to kill masses of Stone Age natives with. All these coincidences are not coincidences. These dehumanized shells were being used by undead turd toads as puppets in the orchestration, planning and committing of mass murder.

What matched the filthy scum of English aristocracy like Churchill to Rothschild was that they both had similar racist megalomaniacal concepts of being 'special' as 'a chosen race', as an unspoken tenet held by their peers, and their own familial cultures. The British imperial aristocracy believed that they were the chosen race to rule the world, chosen by god to be the rulers of all humanity: So too, in another way did the Jewish racist Rothschild criminal mafia... only their belief is much more ancient and far more cunning and more evil than the British elite were; as is evidenced by their taking over the English financial center without them even realizing it, taking over their Parliament and their govt bureaucracy and corrupting them even more and then systematically robbing them of their wealth and power without even realizing they had been robbed; as the Jews had done over and over in many lands throughout history all the way back to Egypt...

Now back to Churchill and his sick addiction to watching men die in battle...

In that same year 1899 after witnessing the slaughter of 11,000 Muslim warriors, Churchill fled from the Sudan after the killing was over and ran to the next bloodbath; the Boer war in South Africa. But this time it was the British who were massacred, not the Natives. The Boers had the most advanced accurate long range rifle yet invented: the German Mauser, capable of killing a man at half a mile; and the Boers were crack shots. Again using his false identity as a war correspondent which he was not; after the British were slaughtered he escaped: he fled back into the hills to witness all the killing going on. He was not a war correspondent: he was an addict of death, a war junkie: a sick diseased insane toad of a thing now completely obsessed with watching men being killed. After a price was put on his head by the Boers, he went into hiding, he went underground like the stinking undead toad he actually was, the stinking coward he actually was. He hid out in the hills; not to write any worthwhile account of the war and how horrible the genocidal English were destroying the entire Veldt and burning all the farms and killing all the cattle and sheep and animals and putting the Boer families into concentration camps and starving them to death. He did not write any fair, balanced account of that war. All he wrote about was battles and violent death and vicarious accounts of killing massacres which was mostly made up fiction glorifying his own part in it all; making himself out to be a courageous war hero: when he was the filthiest coward on earth.

Churchill's addiction to war and weapons of mass destruction, his love of killing, bloodshed, carnage, war, mass death, violence was used by the undead, it was used by his undead ancestors, along with every other vice, addiction, failing, weakness, and genetic diseased, damaged traumatized twisted aspect this dehumanized toad of a thing had suffered so he would become the most evil human instrument/puppet of his age to the undead. They did this TO him, in order to twist him into becoming a slave to Baron Rothschild's Jewish war against Germany and the undead war against all Humanity.

The point is... the Boers had German-made Maxim machine guns, not American-made Maxim guns, and they mowed down the British soldiers, their artillery massacred thousands of British soldiers... and Churchill followed that killing like a junkie looking for his next high, his next fix... not caring who was killed, just as long as he was there to see the killing done.

What Churchill was following were the Maxim guns.

It didn't matter to that toad who the guns mowed down or who made the guns; he was following the newest form of mass death, mass murder, the latest invention of death like modern junkies play their video games avidly addicted to the abstract war games and vicarious violence. This was what Churchill started. He sent back vicarious accounts of horrendous murder violence and death to the readers of the English pulp press of the day and the British public ate it up as the latest most vicarious form of sensational fiction masquerading as fact on the mass media market; the market which the Jews had originally invented: the sacred worshipping of the written word as being more sacred than Reality and Life itself. Throughout his life Churchill wanted to be where the killing was happening... never as a participant! Only as a detached observer, a mad toad, a sly Puck; buttering up anybody who would let him get closer to the carnage.

During WW2, Churchill escaped all the German bombing raids by his secret foreknowledge of the British bomber command telling him in advance when and where the next German raids would strike. That foul undead evil thing had such a terror of being killed, his offices were buried in the deepest London underground subway station 700 ft underground... even deeper than the concrete bunker which had been specially built for him: because he didn't feel safe enough there. This reveals how guilty that undead thing hiding inside him felt. This reveals that these filth knowingly commit the most horrible crimes in full knowledge of how evil they actually are. This reveals how their guilt leaks into the souls of those they poison: this reveals how cunning and sly they are and how hard it is to detect what part of your emotions and thoughts are truly yours and what part is the stinking hidden undead all around you and inside you poisoning your every thought and action.

David Irving vividly tells of how this sly filthy reeking toad of evil and cunning lies, when learning of a planned attack on London cancelled all his appointments and fled out the back door in the back alley behind 12 Downing Street... Only to be handed a telegram from Bomber Command notifying him that the raid was going to be on Coventry not on London. After reading the telegram in the back of his chauffeur-driven limousine, alone in this secret knowledge what does he do with this piece of crucial information... warn Coventry of an impending attack? No. He doesn't tell a soul what he has just learned. Instead that foul fake, he knocks on the glass partition that separates him from the rest of the world and orders the driver to turn around and go back to No. 12 Downing street: Whereupon his amazed staff are dumbfounded by his return as he tells them the big lie; that he had just received, news that the Germans were going to bomb London, and he did not wish to run away from the bombing but wanted to share his fate with the Londoners and the common man!

And then this foul lying thing goes up on the roof of Downing Street and bares his pink pig chest; his hairless coward puking pale white fat diseased belly to the night skies of London and dares the Germans to their worst when he knows full well the German bombers are dropping their bombs on Coventry! As a self-aggrandizing publicity stunt to show everyone how brave he wasn't!

This kind of disgusting cowardice, this kind of sly chicanery, this kind of disgusting falsity, this kind of filthy fraudulence, and cunning false propaganda is what Churchill, that seller of lies, did all his evil stinking existence. Hitler never hid from his enemies. Hitler never hid from any threat. Hitler was not the stinking coward that Churchill was. Hitler was not the cunning liar that Churchill was. Hitler was never afraid of being killed except the fear of not fulfilling his life mission: to destroy all of Germany. The undead thing inside Hitler had as its mission to destroy the German people as thoroughly as possible before he committed suicide: or rather before it could get the living shell to put a bullet into its head: thus making the dead wraith of the human Hitler a mindless blob and harmless after it died while the undead ghouls who had poisoned Hitler's body mind and soul slipped out of his body just before the bullet crashed into his brain.

No. 12 Downing Street, the address of the Prime Minister of England needs to be explained: 12 is the Prime number of the Universe. Downing is the practice of finding water; the source of all Life under the Earth. These organic universal meanings were reversed by the undead into meaning the downfall of Mankind; the Downfall of the human species; the prime downing of Humanity. The Eastern evil of the Dao is reversed by the Western undead: both temples of civilized wisdom are pure poisoned evil. The downward path to extinction and death is being purposefully orchestrated by the undead manipulating the human shells living at that most evil address to reverse all positive energy of the West and reverse its positive direction into total evil...

The undead cannot foretell or predict the future: they cannot find or unearth the true source of Life on Earth, or under the Earth; every plan and orchestration they attempt fucks up because they are a bunch of insane fuck-ups who ruin everything including their own plans and themselves. No 12 Downing Street is an evil sign of an evil power which has the façade of logic but it is a hoax. It is controlled by the City of London and the Rothschild mafia Jewish criminal scum. The day is fast approaching when their kind will be wiped off the face of the Earth. The end of the existence of the undead is upon them; they must be killed DEAD with extreme prejudice.

The meaning of this address is the undead saying to Mankind: no logical organic uses of the number twelve is allowed to be used by living humans except the twelves of mass death and evil. Only as a DOWNING will the number twelve be allowed to exist. Only as a DOWNWARD PATH INTO MASS CORRUPTION and MASS EXTINCTION will this number be allowed to be used in human civilization.

This book has been written to FREE humans from this undead evil control and manipulation. Humans are designed to live in groups of TWELVE as friends, as living societies that do not kill any living creature that is GOOD and not evil.

Randolph Churchill was a vociferous opponent of Irish Independence; a position his son would copy 20 years later. He was Chancellor of the Exchequer; a post which Winston would be also later to be appointed to.

Randolph Churchill was a snob of the snobs: his scorn and sarcasm and biting speeches became famous for their class racist attitudes; a basic life-attitude of racism and snobbery which Winston copied from his father and never changed. His mother's concubine Prince Albert modernized the British fleet: something which Churchill later copied when he was appointed 1st Lord of the Admiralty. In fact his whole life and personality was a copy of his elders and was taken from the most corrupted scum who had a higher social position and status and power than he did or had held power before him in the past.

Another disturbing question of Winston Churchill's birth now comes into focus... was he the son of Randolph, or was he the illegitimate son of Prince Albert? If so, it would be such a scandal which could destroy the entire veneer of respectability of the upper class system of that era. If this were true: then it might explain why Randolph had an affair with a chambermaid in Blenheim Palace out of rage and jealousy and hate while Winston was being born....

Was Winston indeed Bertie's child; born of that coquette, that most masterful of courtesans, Jeannette 'Jennie' Jerome; with her power over men's hearts and bodies: the famous beauty born into an American Millionaire's family? If not, then why did the Prince of Wales ostracize the Churchill family to Ireland when she was found to be pregnant? The fact that she was three months pregnant when she got married to Lord Randolph Churchill leaves many questions unanswered. To be born illegitimately of a lower class is one thing... but being illegitimately born of a higher class is something else entirely. This smacks of a similar rumor that Hitler's mother had worked as a chambermaid in the Rothschild mansion in Austria and was fired for having an affair with the Baron...

Even more disturbing is... if this were true and it was known by his mother and father: this may well explain their curious attitude members of his own class had towards him: keeping him at a distance; seeking to get rid of him as soon as possible and disliking him intensely: with the poor lonely love-starved child not having a clue why his parents did not show him any love and disliked him so much... In fact it might explain why Winston was literally given on a gold plate many appointments of high political office and power without earning any of them. The illegitimate son of the Prince of Wales? Born into the Duke of Marlborough's family? Heavens... what a way of sneakily getting into an even higher social status position without having to earn it. Even if it were not true... the rumor itself explains much of what happened to Winston simply because the effect of the rumor spreading like wildfire in the salons of the upper crust would have been the same, whether it was true or not...

This also raises the possibility that the story of Winston being born early by a miscarriage, the story of his mother falling off a horse at Blenheim palace might be a complete fiction in order to hide the truth that his actual father was the heir to the British Empire... And that the real reason for Winston's genetic defective degeneracy and idiocy was because of Bertie's defective genes which were rotten with the pus of his inbred royal stinking DNA and his lifetime of drugs, drinking, gambling and whoring.

What is even more chilling about this likelihood... is that it explains everything about him even better, it explains Winston's personality, his life and how he was regarded by his parents and his peers as somebody who was in a queer way 'special' yet at the same time despised and disliked, and why he was given so many things without earning them and why he was born such a drooling mongoloid idiot.

Churchill's mother had at least a dozen known affairs with upper crust aristocrats of her elite circle. That self-seeking whore married twice after Winston's father died: both to beautiful men whom she cast aside after sucking them dry. She was the ultimate courtesan, the black widow of her age: a corrupt upper class whore, a palace courtesan, a throwback to the courts of ancient France, a female vampire who picked out her male victims and seduced them as coldly as they used her. It is no wonder that one of her children would follow in her footsteps of self-aggrandizement as the unspoken religion of his entire life.

But what can one say of these upper crust shitholes? They broke all the moral and ethical codes of their day with impunity because they could get away with it. And history has swept all of their disgusting shit and what they really were like under the carpet of politically correct propaganda and lies

Now back to the politics and culture of Europe before the undead conspired to set up all the forces into place needed to spark off the Great War...

In 1900: the corrupt Persian King Shah Qazar (1896-1907) due to his expensive lifestyle and traveling expenses gave the concession for an exploratory expedition for oil and minerals to William K D'Arcy who managed to extract an oil concession for the mere sum of £20,000, plus a 16% royalty from the sale of all future discoveries. In 1901 the Shah sold the concession rights for nearly all of the mineral and oil rights of Persia to D'Arcy for a period of 60 years. The discovery of oil in Iran in 1900 by George B. Reynolds who was employed by D'Arcy was the birth of BP; British petroleum.

In late September 1911, Churchill was invited to stay in Scotland with H. H. Asquith, the Prime Minister. Returning from a round of golf, a game at which Winston never excelled, Asquith asked him quite abruptly if he would like to be First Lord of the Admiralty, to which he eagerly replied: "Indeed I would!"

This reveals the hidden hand of the undead at work: placing the exact instrument of their evil into the correct position to be used at a future date. There is no reason whatsoever for Churchill being appointed to such a high powerful position. He had done nothing to earn it. He was being manipulated into power just as Asquith was being controlled by undead filth to place Churchill into power. There were hundreds, thousands of more deserving, more competent candidates for this most sought after political/military office, yet the PM of Britain invites this unknown n'eer-do-well to his castle in Scotland and brutally offers him this position without explanation: without any warning, without any politeness or tact. Why? Because he was ordered to do it by someone else more powerful than he was: that's why. The question is: exactly who was it that had ordered the PM to install Winston into this most prestigious of all Commands? What knowledge did this inexperienced fart have of international politics? None whatsoever. What knowledge did he have of the British navy? None whatsoever. What experience did he have of how to run the largest navy in the world? None whatsoever. What had he done to deserve this cabinet appointment? Nothing.

By 1905, British financiers realized that oil was more efficient than coal. From then on the British govt interfered in Persian politics due to their total dependence on Iran's oil.

In 1911, Winston Churchill; the 1st Lord of the British Admiralty begins converting the entire British navy from coal to oil in preparation for a world war. Copying what his father, er I mean the Prince of Wales had done when he was 1st Lord of the Admiralty. This suggests that modernizing the navy from coal; to oil was not instigated by Winston, but rather he was acting on orders from the financial bankers who controlled Parliament behind the scene and allowed Churchill to take the credit for doing it.

In 1912 Winston Churchill the 1st Lord of the Admiralty was behind the sending of a joint British, Dutch and German group called the Turkish Petroleum Company to explore for oil in the Baghdad and Mosul Wilayet region of Persia. This cooperative project failed because the undead did not want any cooperation between Britain and Germany; they wanted Britain and Germany to destroy each other. They did not want the Germans and the English to cooperate with each other.

In 1914: 'fearing an oncoming world war' as this fucking lying self-serving shit war-mongering toad describes in order to cover up his close association with the Jewish House of Rothschild; Winston Churchill urged the British govt to borrow £2,000,000 from his friend Nathan Rothschild to buy up 51 % of the Anglo-Persian Oil Corporation or BP as it came to be known later.

Here is where Churchill screws Rothschild out of a corporate deal: he refuses to let the Jewish owned and controlled Royal Dutch Shell Corporation take over the oil monopoly for the British navy. Instead he gets Rothschild to loan the money to the British govt so they become majority stockholders of BP and gives the oil monopoly for supplying the British navy to BP... Here is where Rothschild becomes annoyed and extremely angry at this 'anti-Semitism' which was published and circulated all over the civil service. Churchill then privately writes Deterding head of Shell Oil in Amsterdam and tells him to ignore the racist slurs referring to Deterding; the head of Royal Dutch oil and Walter Samuel; head of Shell Oil as unscrupulous Jews who can't be trusted. This shows Churchill is almost as much of a racist as the Rothschilds are. But he is a stupid arrogant English aristocrat: he doesn't hide his racism hate as the Jews have hidden their hatred against all mankind for thousands of years.

In 1914: the German Berlin-to-Baghdad railway provoked the British to look at Germany as an expanding threat to British Oil interests in the Mideast and their oil reserves in Persia. In 1914 the British govt was bankrupt. It's only way to survive was to invent a war to distract the masses from the corruption going on at the top. Their hope was to recoup their losses by the potential profits to be made in taking over the Turkish Empire now called Persia or the two nations of Iran and Iraq and so avoid bankruptcy and the economic collapse of Britain.

These are only financial motives; not political ones: and not ones which could be sold to the masses. The fact is that all of olde Europe including Britain was coming to the end of its tether in one way or another... things could not keep on going as they had before; too many new demands for workers rights, women's rights, a huge uncontrollable surge of health and energy and happiness and love and anger and rage and human emotions and human intelligence were bursting out everywhere in Europe, Asia and Russia. The last gasp of Imperial dynastic aristocratic racist colonial domination of the world was coming to a head: the undead evil who controlled it were losing control; and their only answer to losing control is to make things worse than they were before to justify that control. The financial power of Rothschild did not extend to the Russian Empire and Serbia yet, it did not extend to control over the Kaiser. Rothschild was only one cog in the orchestrated plans of the undead.

However it could be that Rothschild's influence was enough to push the British parliament into a decision which was plainly not in their best self-interest; a land war on the continent of Europe, the last one had destroyed English society so thoroughly it still hadn't fully recovered from the Napoleonic wars; which was why the whole British Parliament was so full of dread at even the idea of entering another war in Europe. What's more they were right. The policy of appeasement should have been kept in place; but the Jewish Satan Rothschild did not want the English to remain neutral: he wanted the Goyim to do his fighting and killing for him and slaughter each other while the Jewish bankers sat back and picked up the pieces making them a hundred times richer than they were before the war.

In 1928 the secret agreement made in Scotland between Henry Deterding of Shell Oil, Walter Teagle of Standard Oil and John Cadman of BP was signed creating the secret oligarchic oil conglomerate monopoly of power called The Seven Sisters of evil which was designed to spread the Seven Deadly Sins of the undead throughout the world... Again: the evil number 7 exposes who is behind this: the Jewish banking monopoly of the Rothschilds; and behind them the undead; who will be exterminated from this Living Earth for what they have done and are doing.

This also explains the act of Dick Cheney shooting one of his teal-hunting friends... the undead ghoul that had once controlled Walter Teagle entered his body and made him shoot one of his friends in rage at the betrayal they were planning to do to him as Teagle himself had been betrayed by his own cabal of thieves. Teagle is a cross between a teal and a beagle: which is the stupidest dog merged with the stupidest bird in the world. One undead Quail hunter entering the living body of another Quail hunter; both of them evil corrupt oil tycoons: both of their aims missing the mark; both of the ghouls being corrupted by other evil ghouls on purpose; the aim of Cheney's ghouls-goals were foiled; his shot at taking over the oil fields of Iraq misfired badly injuring his friends the oil corporations instead of enriching them. In the false war against Saddam Hussein, Cheney's attempt to take over the Russian and Mid-eastern oil pipelines of Iraqi oil fields turned out to be a complete fiasco and a horrible financial catastrophe for his oil buddies. This is a case of the secret Feuds going on between the corporate heads of the Seven Sisters of Sin in the realm of the undead, leaking out into the realm of the living because they use these living evil shells as their personal puppets. Now back to Winston and his rotten, evil, mad existence:

In 1914 just before WW1, Winston was not completely corrupt. He did not let Rothschild's conglomerate Shell/Royal Dutch Oil have the monopoly of the British navy's oil supply: He used Rothschild as a banker to loan the money to the British govt so the British Govt would be in control of its own oil reserves; he didn't give Rothschild the oil concession he wanted so it would be totally owned and controlled by his oil cartel. It took another 10 years to Corrupt Winston Churchill so he would become an exact carbon copy of his father: a bought, owned secret agent for the Zionist Jewish cause of Rothschild, indebted to Rothschild for everything, owing him money he can never repay; solely under the control of the Jewish banking interests and nobody else; except for of course his own self-seeking lust for fame, attention, power and status... which was how the Rothschild's finally managed to get their claws into him. The Rothschild's used Churchill's corruption to further their own corrupt ends... What the Rothschilds are not aware of is that it is the undead who are using their corruption to further their own secret corrupt ends; the end of all Life on Earth.

After the Great War, BP was brought into the fold of the Rothschild criminal cartel of oil companies in 1928 and became one of the Seven Sisters of undead evil.

Before WW1; what Rothschild had against Churchill was that he wasn't a complete sell-out to the Jewish Zionist Rothschild clan as his father had been... So using their Jewish newspapers and Jewish political clout and financial power: they helped to oust Winston from power and then made him beg for his bread and later made him turn traitor to the British cause and the British Empire by cunningly fooling him into making him think and believe that the Jewish cause was identical to and synchronous to the British cause in declaring war on Germany... Actually that was exactly what the ancestral undead who were controlling Churchill wanted; a repeat of Lord Marlborough's victories in Europe, a chance to re-live their past lives of fame and power and prestige. This included the evil motive of his royal ghoul of a father. Both Winston's father and step father died early so both their filthy scum ghouls could poison his life and his mind and heart and soul; thus doubling how diseased and evil he was and became.

Not found in any conventional politically correct book or film or biography about Winston Churchill is the fact that Winston Churchill was a lifelong friend of the richest man in the world; Baron Rothschild and owed him his life, his estate, his way of life and he was owned and controlled by Rothschild: not only because his father's unpaid debt to Rothschild; a debt which must be repaid by the son. The Jewish Rothschild thought he could hold his father's debt over the boy's head forever, but no.... Churchill gave the British naval contract for oil to BP; Churchill used Rothschild as a banker to further Britain's interests first and the Rothschild's interests second, not the Jewish banker's interests first and the British interests second. The Fact that Bertie's lifetime of overspending and debts had been paid for by Lord Rothschild is another nail in the probability that Winston Churchill was a dirty bastard in all senses of the word. It required the debt of gratitude for giving him the money to buy Chartwell and saving him from financial ruin to finally turn Winston Churchill into the fully paid emissary of Satan himself on Earth: Lord Baron Rothschild.

So the Rothschilds, used as puppets by the undead, who control and manipulate power politics, repeated what they had done to Randolph Churchill: they used their influence to push Winston out of power and forced him to languish there for ten long years... Then, when Churchill is desperate for money Rothschild puts Winston Churchill forever into his debt by having the Focus group, which was his personal Jewish banking political influence group, give Churchill a cheque for £40,000 which was a huge sum in those days when he was out in the wilderness without any income except his paltry Parliament backbencher stipend: and by that stroke of largess... Rothschild gained his own personal secret agent of evil: while that fat fucker sold his soul for a country estate just to keep up appearances as a landed aristocratic ass of the upper crust. It was a case of one Jewish racist power-monger out-corrupting an English snob of a racist power-monger.

A telling point which reveals the secret hidden existence of the toad-spirit lurking inside the soul of this poisoned English aristocrat is his constant referral to being out in the 'wilderness'... when being out of the British Cabinet is by no means a hardship. He was referring to his vulnerability as a cold-blooded reptile; out in the wilderness of Nature he could be correctly identified, and killed dead. Ordinary people recognized how evil he was; he lived in constant fear of being killed when he was not protected by the huge might and authority of the Privy Council of the mighty British Empire. The evil spirit of the mad toad of The Wind in the Willows lurked inside him and controlled him. The Destructive Win, the wind of death, the death wind of ancient volcanoes ruled his soul. The lowest will of a brain damaged fetus controlled by an undead toad-thing. That was why he always referred to himself as being cast out into the Wilderness whenever he was cast out of power: he KNEW he deserved to be exterminated for the foul evil thing he was.

Why did Churchill go along with the Rothschild agenda to demonize Hitler and declare war on Germany? Because Winston Churchill wanted to become famous like his great-great-great-grandfather the Duke of Marlborough had: by winning a war in Europe, and because his failure and loss of face and power when he was the First Lord of the Admiralty because of the fiasco of Gallipoli had made him resign in shame from the war cabinet in WW1, and he wanted another opportunity to win a war and become famous like his ancestor Lord Marlborough had.

It was the spirit of that undead fucker Marlborough himself hiding inside the weakened corrupted body of Winston Churchill that was making him do it because what these undead filth do is try to re-live their past lives as closely as possible: making the living humans they poison live as they once did as much as possible. Then there is the misspent life of the dead ghoulish Prince Albert and fulfilling his lost wish to have a glorious career as the leader of his nation and wishing to be Admiral of the Fleet once again... All the motives of each one of these undead filth ties in with how poisoned and embedded the rotten body of Winston Churchill was: his body was filled with layer after layer of undead secret sucking ghouls; ancestral rotting rotten filth; diseased scum-ridden pus-filled gargoyles of dying degenerate undead souls. The more Winston's life is examined, the more the probability that Winston Churchill was the bastard of Prince Albert seems likely. The trouble is: Albert and Randolph looked very much alike and had almost identical bone structures and come from the same gene pool by intermarriage so it is hard to tell which one Winston resembled the most. Also: Randolph and Bertie shared almost the same set of vices, personality traits and character flaws: so it really doesn't make any difference which one was his real father: both of them were degenerate rotten filth genetically, morally, physically, sexually, ethically, morally, socially and spiritually.

This also exposes one basic tactic of Jewish evil and how they gain power over human souls and over the world: how they get their claws into you by putting the people they want to use and control into their financial indebtedness: first by forcing them into poverty and then by loaning them money to save them from a financial ruin which they had orchestrated. What people will do for money: the love of money is the evil poison which the Rothschilds use to corrupt others with.

Why did Rothschild want to get rid of Hitler and declare war on Germany? Because Hitler had finally figured out what the Jews were doing in Germany before they could complete their evil insidious takeover of that nation as they had in France and England. Hitler had figured out what the Jews were doing in Germany: they were taking over all of the power and wealth positions as fast as they could. Hitler temporarily stopped them from doing it, and was threatening to cast all of them out of Europe. They had already done it in England: and the fucking rich stinking evil Jews in England did not want to lose their rich, high positions of power and wealth in Europe.

Because these two evil instruments of the undead, the Rothschild and Churchill dynasties had similar goals, they allied themselves against the one GOOD goal which Hitler had, which was: getting rid of all the Jews in Europe and deporting them to Madagascar,

Because of this merging of parallel ghouls and hidden agendas, these two scumbag dynasties, the Rothschilds and the Churchills came together just long enough to commit their evil. It took Two World Wars to destroy the potential good that Germany was growing into, but finally after WW2, Germany was totally corrupted, weakened destroyed and brainwashed to the maximum possible level of insane mindless obedience to the Allied authority of the Western corrupt bankers. They were brainwashed into the complete opposite perception of the truth about their own past: that it was Hitler who was evil; not the filthy Allies who bombed and destroyed their beautiful nation and ruined all of Europe... what utter rot. And those brainwashed, brainless fools swallowed this filthy lie and are now just as corrupt as the rest of the west.

Part of the international strategy of England and the Allies in the Great War was the takeover of the crumbling Turkish Empire. This eventually disintegrated into the Mideast being split up and carved up like a pie by the two remaining European powers; France and Britain, with America being shoved out of the ring because Wilson was not interested in the petty haggling and hatreds of the other two. The entire Turkish Empire was taken over and then piecemealed out to various financial commercial and political interests. Then the American oil corporations wiggled their way into Iran and Iraq and began pushing out the English and French oil interests.

The point is, the rapacious motive of the Russian Tsarist regime to take some territory from the weak rotting corrupt Turkish Empire, which was what actually caused WW1... well, guess what: England and France had the exact same plans and motives towards the Ottoman Empire as Russia did. When the war was over this resulted in the Allies getting ALL of the Turkish Empire not just some of it: and then they took only what they wanted from it and threw the rest of it away without bothering to conquer the region or rule it or oversee it. There were no good guys or bad guys in that war or in any other war.

Why did Rothschild want the British Empire to take over the Ottoman Empire? Because Rothschild did not want Russia to have anything it wanted; because he had a personal feud and vendetta against the Tsar who had refused to allow him to set up his private bank in Russia and use it as a front to rob the entire Russian Empire blind as he had all the other nations of Europe and North America, because the Russians already knew from long experience: what kikes the Jews were; a bunch of killers, backstabbers, rapists, arsonists, robbers, thieves, liars and swindlers... greedy, ambitious, dehumanized scum; subhuman money worshippers, racists, filled with hate, envy, fear, evil, filled with undead evil.

Rothschild knew his Russian Jews... he knew if they were given half a chance they would take over the entire world and depose him as king of the Jews... and since he, that filthy rotten Jew Rothschild, already had half of the world's wealth in his pockets: he most definitely did not want any anyone else to have what he already had, and he certainly didn't want any competition from any of his fellow Jews.

This was why Rothschild created the criminal state of Israel: so that he would not have any competition as the criminal leader of the greediest vile corrupt Jewish mafia ever spewed by this diseased, evil ethnic race. Which is: the Rothschild Kuhn/Loeb national banking families of England, Europe and the Federal Reserve banking families of America.

The alien criminal Zionist state of Israel was created as a reaction to the universal anti-Semitism in Europe against all Jews in general; regardless of who they were or what their class was. Europe learned to hate the Jews who had escaped the horrors of WW2 by them being safely ensconced inside pampered labor camps where they were treated like kings, and then come running back to their homes and businesses expecting to have everything returned to them after avoiding all the suffering and death of that war.

Immediately after WW2 in the devastated cities and starving millions of survivors of the mass terror bombing of Europe by the Allies, the evil Allied forces could not lock down the people of Europe fast enough into a terrorist state of martial law to stop the people of Europe from showing their antipathy towards Jews by not giving back the houses and businesses to the millions of Jewish refugees freed from the Nazi labor camps.

All over Europe after WW2, the common dislike of Jewish refugees had very good reasons for existing irregardless of them being Jewish. They had not suffered through the worst hell of that war; they had been absent: why were they absent?. They had not fought for their homeland. They had not enlisted in the Czech army or the French army or the German Army or whatever land they lived in. They had been safely deported just before the massacre of the mass bombings leveled most of the cities in Europe. So the fucking camps were not up to their expectations as vacation resorts in the middle of a World War? They had not suffered and bled and died and starved like the rest of Europe had starved and died and bled. Then after Germany is defeated and these alien scum called Americans and Russians and English invade their destroyed homelands... these stinking Jewish scum who were picked out by Hitler and deported...! Come back to their old homes and houses and expect everything to be returned to them?

First: the fact that millions of them did exactly that: show up after the war was over, back in Poland, in Czechoslovakia, in Hungary, in Rumania, in France, in Germany, in Holland, in Denmark etc, etc, puts the lie to the hollow hoax and any genocide of 6 million Jews were killed by the Nazis.

Second: many people knew that during the war Hitler had protected the Jews from any mistreatment. Once Hitler was dead; once these Jews were no longer protected by the laws of the 3rd Reich and Hitler's favoritism, before the Allies could enforce their terrorist brand of Martial law: the people of Europe were for a brief moment in time free to show these Jews what they exactly what they thought of them and what they really felt about them. WW2 exposed the fact that Jews are an alien culture that does not take part in the national identity of any country they live in. It exposed them as heartless scum who had no patriotism and no willingness to fight and die for the nation they lived in; it exposed them as black marketeers and war profiteers. It exposed their privileged status as a protected minority by the Nazis and Hitler.

To have any of these cunning spoiled rotten whining little babies come back to their homes, protesting their innocence of all things, pretending to be the victims!, after being sent to camps where none of them were bombed and to come back! After Hitler had committed suicide and Germany was in ruins... and expect to keep their privileged special status as a protected ethnic race! And be given their houses and businesses back! When everyone knew the only reason Hitler had put them into labor camps was because he was going to deport all of them out of Europe after the war... This was simply too much for ordinary people to bear.

The anti-Semitism right after WW2 in Europe was a natural phenomenon of any people who had gone through a harrowing horrible catastrophic 4 years of war: to discriminate against any people who had been taken away from the bombing and the slaughter and then have them return expecting all of their possessions which had been liquidated to be returned to them. An ethnic race which Nazi Germany had stamped as unwanted and evil: to come back to their old haunts expecting everyone to pretend that Hitler and WW2 had never happened! This was simply too much to expect of anyone who had been forced to go through the end of that war in Europe; suffering from their losses and weeping and sorrow for their dead family members and friends who died in the bombing or died fighting against the Allies or for the Allies or who starved to death. The Jews were the cause of this horrible war, many people in Europe knew this. It was perfectly natural for a universal dislike and antipathy of all Jews to exist in Europe at that time and place, and what's more it was well-justified. If your govt had deported a certain ethnic group away from all the fighting and dying and terror during a 4 yr war and after all the death and horror and starvation and disease, they show up again expecting everything to be as it had been... what would you do? Welcome them back after they had escaped all the death and starvation and killing by being deported? Or slam the door in their faces?

After Germany surrendered and the Allied armies took over the running of Europe all anti-Semitism became illegal. The Rothschild funded and controlled Zionist movement in Europe funneled as many displaced dispossessed Jewish refugees towards Palestine as they could. But this was only a dribble of the exodus of Jews out of Europe and Russia. Most of them changed their names and emigrated out all over the fucking world and embedded themselves into every nation on Earth. Israel; the personal fiefdom of Rothschild Jewish Zionism became the pimple of evil pus which represented in miniature, all of the evils of Judaism in concentrated form.

Rothschild foresaw that if Jews were not wanted in Europe after WW2; without a homeland to go back to, they would have set up their own mafia criminal syndicates simply because there were too many of them to be absorbed into the pre-existing social structures of Jewish society in the West. All the dispossessed Jews, all the Jewish refugees would have been forced to compete against the Jews who were already in positions of power and wealth in England and America. By creating a safe haven for all Jewish criminals hunted by the law, Rothschild's personal fiefdom of Israel: which is exactly what that racist evil nation is, it became a holding cell, a magnet, a sponge, a haven for the most ruthless, evil, nasty, ambitious, greedy Jewish criminal scum on Earth... emptying the world of any potential rivals evil enough who might try to challenge the Rothschilds for financial control and mastery of western civilization. This was engineered and planned by the undead in order to keep the Jews who had already infiltrated all the nations and cultures of the world in power, and protect them from being ousted by the only criminal group who were capable of ousting them: other Jews who were even more criminally minded and more cunning and more evil than the Jews already embedded and installed into the power and wealth and influence groups all over the world.

Even so, the low class criminal monster; Stalin, another Jew, managed to screw Rothschild and the American robber barons out of half of Europe and thumbed his nose at the entire Western world while brutalizing and terrifying and oppressing and starving the millions of Asia and Russia and half of Europe.

So... the connection between Rothschild, the Oil companies and Churchill; his role in the oil industry before WW1, his military plan to conquer the Mideast in WW1, his failure and shame at the bungled attempt, being ousted from power; his personal motivation to get back into power and re-live WW1 all over again just to win a war, his being responsible for creating a totally unnecessary Second World War and his key role as an instrument of undead evil is partially unraveled... as part of the Gordian Knot of cunning twists and turns of undead ghouls in their hidden secret incestuous stinking pus-filled conspiracies and their violation of people's lives by secretly re-living and recreating their ancient feuds and hatreds and past lives.

One example of why these filth stinking rotting filthy unspeakable turd things need to be killed as soon as possible as quickly as possible as many of them as possible is the example of that poisoned evil shell which was once an innocent boy; Winston Churchill

The systematic corruption and poisoning of Winston Churchill by his own undead ancestors...by every evil filthy thing that could infiltrate his life and body and soul, can be traced and analyzed in the unvarnished historical facts of his ancestors and his life.

Why did this poisoned human shell of an empty thing become the insane instrument that was used for fomenting, starting, running and perpetrating the horror of WW1 and WW2?

David Irving's book 'Churchill's War' exposes an inexplicable traitorous evil malevolent force which controlled all of Winston Churchill's entire political life and consumed him and destroyed him as a human being and reduced him to the rotten senile, insane, fat, diseased, pus-filled, driveling, senile thing that he had rotted into in his old age.

This inner driving force was his personal ambition to be remembered by posterity as the winner of a war. He sacrificed everything for this one ghoulish ambition as being 'remembered' as the winner of a 'war' for politically correct posterity. This one secret unspoken Inner deep ambition which controlled and colored everything he did in the last part of his life: was his conscious decision and willingness. He never spoke of it ever. This evil thing went to his fucking grave and never confessed what drove him to commit all of the nefarious cunning evil crimes and sins.

To sacrifice the greatest, most peaceful, civilized empire the world had ever known, for personal ambition! To sacrifice the entire British Empire to his own personal stinking ambition, for personal fame.

To illustrate this point: When the war against Germany was finally won... and VE Day was announced to the world... at the very pinnacle of Churchill's success, his entire War Cabinet refused to drink a toast of victory with him because they despised him so much they could not stand his guts. They knew what he was: a crude drunken incompetent bum.

But that didn't matter to Churchill... he raised his glass and drank his victory toast alone, while they all stared at him in disgust and revulsion as he drank his victory toast: this sodden drunken bum, this alcoholic toad and his fucking addiction to alcohol, living in the lap of luxury while the rest England of the world starved and died... Nothing else mattered to that stinking insane evil piece of shit except his fucking brandy and champagne and cigars and victory... that was all he cared about... the fact that he had finally 'won' a fucking war in Europe and Germany was utterly destroyed and England was in ruins. Why should he care? He was the bastard son of Prince Albert: he was being controlled by that undead filthy ghoul who never gave a fart about hard work or the respect of the lower class for his ways: all he cared about was that his gamble had won and he had come out the winner. Bertie had always been a horrid gambler.

The point about this charlatan in sheep's clothing called Winston Churchill was that what he actually was... was completely invisible and not perceivable to any living person who is not able to see the undead secretly hiding inside him and hovering all around him.

Churchill, born in 1874 a Victorian aristocrat; once elected to Parliament, he switched sides in 1904 from Conservative to the Labor party. This began his reputation as a man who could not be trusted by joining the Labor party and proceeded to attack the privileges of the very privileged class of which he was a member. Opposing the political values of his own class; he became a traitor to his own class. What people didn't realize was that he was nothing but a traitor to the entire human race. He practiced betrayal as an art. He betrayed the entire human species. He betrayed everyone and everything. The only thing he did not betray was when given the opportunity to commit evil: he committed the most evil possible, the worst evil possible. This is because he was being controlled by pure evil.

Churchill's one driving ambition was for personal fame and power and fuck all the moral values he had been taught. He switched parties once again in 1911 just to stay in power and was promoted to first Lord of the Admiralty. As an aggressive war-monger he was the main engine that fueled the naval arms race between Germany and Britain, which was a basic root cause for WW1. He was belligerent against Germany and made an enemy out of Germany on purpose because he was itching for a fight and thought that the only way he could gain fame was by victory in a war against Germany.

Understand this: when a person strives for mastery over the entire world, it is merely a symptom and a reflection of the fact that they do not have any mastery or control over themselves: this is because they are being controlled by undead filth, they being mastered by the undead. The only people who have no desire for mastery over others are people whom the undead have no control over and cannot master.

The entire plan for attacking the Dardanelles and the fiasco of Gallipoli was Churchill's idea which he pushed through at all costs. What that fucker did has been covered up and carefully not mentioned in his many autobiographies because the enormity of that disaster was one basic reason why the Allies lost the Great War and were only saved at the last second by America entering the contest... What Churchill was personally responsible for was the greatest bloodbath ever committed by one person's military decision: a total useless waste of human life.

To get even an inkling of the whitewashing which Churchill was the beneficiary of, to even begin to realize the monster that he was and is; cannot be grasped by any human soul because the amount of the mass murder and death he was personally responsible for is off the scale; it is beyond the ability of the human brain to comprehend the horror he was personally responsible for. The Allies alone suffered a quarter of a million casualties from the Gallipoli invasion attempt alone... this does not include the naval deaths and the 7 major battleships and heavy cruisers that were sunk.

What is particularly telling and disgusting is how the casualties of the naval attack and the ensuing land war have been hidden, covered up and whitewashed... In all the official historical records of that single military disaster for which Winston Churchill was personally responsible for as First Lord of the Admiralty... none of the casualties and sunken ships are added up and tallied as a summed up figure. Instead each historical report lists only some of the disasters... it lists them in a way to minimize the actual disaster as much as possible. Nowhere will you find the actual full total of deaths... At best the approximate figure of the land war alone comes out to roughly 300,000 ‘casualties’ for the Turks and 250,000 for the Allies. But they never say how many deaths. All the reports and accounts never separate the number of wounded from the dead.

No other major battle or invasion has ever been treated with such fucking statistical kid gloves like Gallipoli has been. Over half a million men lost because of him and nobody dares to mention how many were actually killed? Each regiment and ship recorded the exact total of wounded, missing and dead... but nobody ever adds them all up. Why? Nobody adds up all those who died. Nobody puts a total to the disaster. Nobody points the finger of blame at Churchill. Why is that?

I mean how fucking obvious can you get... listing over half a million casualties in small dribs and drabs but never adding them all up, and then to top it all off, only listing the losses as casualties and never separating the losses into killed and wounded so nobody will be able to say how many Churchill killed, how many men died because of him... I mean Jesus fucking Christ... how obvious a whitewash can you get?

What is even more telling of how the entire international media and public opinion machines of that time suppressed the true scope of that horror is the fact that all Gallipoli did was to slightly ‘tarnish’ the ‘reputations’ of Churchill the mastermind of the entire ill-planned and botched affair and his trusty ally Kitchener. Hushing up the Gallipoli Affair is tantamount to suppressing the death of more than half a million men and reducing the significance of this to a tea-cup blurb which is glossed over in most history texts.

Moreover the scope of his blunder and being forced to resign from his office as 1st Lord of the Admiralty and being kicked out of the war cabinet in shame in the middle of World War One... did not stop Chamberlain who hated his guts from installing him again as first admiral of the British navy in the middle of World War Two just at a time when Britain was losing the war and losing face badly on the international scene. To reinstate a political hack who had never served in the navy back into power as 1st Lord of the Admiralty after what that fucker did in Gallipoli in WW1 goes beyond the realms of human sanity and human comprehension.

Any naval officer hearing of this reinstatement as 1st Lord of the Admiralty would have felt his guts sink in dread because they all knew from past experience that this fuckup didn't know a thing about how to run a navy: much less how to plan and carry out any military operation. His long list of other fuckups pale in comparison to being personally responsible for killing more than ½ a million men in WW1... yet nowhere will you find the public reaction to what he did unless you hunt for the covered up newspaper articles in Australia and Canada at that time. This means going back almost 100 years and searching for microfilm files of newspaper that went out of business a long time ago. Because of this one single fiasco, Churchill managed to alienate all of the major commonwealth nations who had been supporting Britain in WW1. The amount of ill will which this fucker created worldwide throughout the British Commonwealth and the British Empire by this one massive blow to the British Empires prestige and pride as the dominant most powerful naval force in the world was one of the major reasons why the British Commonwealth and the British Empire became a dead donkey: a relic of the past which nobody supported or kept afloat including its colonized and nationalized members after the war.

No military leader has ever been reinstated as military leader in the middle of a war, after losing one quarter of a million men and losing an entire campaign as completely and utterly as that fuckup Churchill did in Gallipoli... yet that motherfucker bounced back because he led a charmed life and all his long history of disasters and fuckups were carefully covered up, whitewashed and swept under the carpet of secrecy, censorship and amnesia: which is to say: the undead had further evil for this turd of a toad to commit.

If anyone else had done what he did, they would have been court-martialed and shot dead, and their name blackened forever and ever in the annals of history books. Instead the only thing that happened to Churchill was his reputation being slightly 'tarnished'. Another telling blow exposing the fact that the entire upper cabinet secretly knew he was a Royal bastard and why he got away with everything and why he was handled with kid gloves.

Due to his personal plan of invading Turkey: the failure of Gallipoli forced Churchill to resign in shame. After his demotion from power, he decided to enlist in the army and was given the commission of a lowly major in the front line trenches. When he discovered he was expected to lead his men over the top he quickly absconded back to London; giving as his fucking excuse that he had not been ‘promoted’ to the high enough ‘position’ to which he was ‘accustomed’ to... His personal cowardice is neatly covered up by history recounting his nighttime forays into no-mans-land under the cover of Darkness... but going over the top in broad daylight was another matter altogether; that sent shivers of terror down his spine: the result was getting himself quickly promoted out of the front line to the most minimal rank possible; Lieutenant-Colonel. The end result of his intent in taking up active service after the failure of Gallipoli in order to rehabilitate his damaged reputation was another in his long list of utter failures. The fact is this self-seeking asshole had made no bones about why he enlisted again on the Western Front and yet not one whisper of criticism from his peers or the newspapers or the masses or history books or posterity or historians.

As an untrained officer who didn’t know what the fuck he was doing in the front lines of a new kind of trench warfare which had never been fought before quite like this... he expected to be instantly promoted. That arrogant spoiled fucker expected to be promoted without leading a charge or winning a battle because of his upper class connections and the fact that he was a member of the highest upper class in England. When he found out that he was expected to lead his men over the top in broad daylight into battle, that fucking stinking coward quickly ran quickly back to Parliament; abandoning the regiment he was supposed to lead.... back to Parliament which he was still a member of, and was put instantly put back into the cabinet of all things! Just a few months after causing the worst naval and land disaster and defeat in British history which he had been personally responsible for. This time he was hidden away from the public eye and appointed Minister of Munitions: once again he was assigned to the worst stinking filthy position of political and military power where he could do the most damage against not only Britain but all of Mankind. Do you think the undead might have had something to do with all this, eh? Then Churchill lost his seat as a member of the labor party so he switched sides once again. The point is: this skulking evil toad was fine sneaking around in darkness at night: but he had no stomach for charging the enemy in broad daylight. He was a creature of darkness: an instrument of filthy stinking evil all of this rotten stinking evil life.

This should come as no surprise to anyone who has studied the life of that rotten thing called Winston Churchill... even before he entered military college he had publicly announced what his strategy for success in Life would be. He did not intend to follow a conventional career of promotion through army ranks, but rather to seek out all possible chances of military action, using his mother's and family influence in high society to arrange postings to active campaigns for him. He assumed that his peerage and his social position and his family's influence would pave the way for all of his future promotions so they would be automatic. That was how corrupt, venal, cynical and spoiled he was before he entered Sandhurst Military College.

In 1924 he switched sides again and was voted into office on the Labor side and became a thorn inside the British government; ruining its plans by making bad decisions and losing the govts money as Chancellor of the Exchequer. Once again the evil of his undead filth made sure all positive efforts to improve Britain's people and govt were checked. As a person and a politician he was hopelessly out of touch with reality. An old fashioned aristocrat whose views on social reform, economics and the empire were crazily out of date fantasies belonging to another time. Then he was voted out of office and spent his time making enemies out of his former friends and causing trouble until he became an unwanted outcast. Resigning from the govt:

Just as his stepfather had, er... I mean his father had: who had died early, reduced to living in obscurity because of his pro-Jewish leanings and his fighting against the new progressive forces which were growing stronger and stronger in England at the time.

In the fight over the independence of India, Winston once again made himself look foolish as an out of date Victorian; regarding the people of India as children and his racist view of all people who are not white and then went on and made even more enemies by accusing anyone who opposed him of being corrupt.

Later; by his own personal campaign of speeches and invective, with the Rothschild Jewish controlled newspapers that blared out whatever Winston was screaming and ranting about as if he were the conscience of Britain... he began inventing the false image of Hitler as a man of evil, to be feared and hated. Actually, Churchill was a dead soul; he was the mortal enemy of all humanity, he was the mortal enemy of all human consciences who did not want to kill anyone and did not want another war and did not hate anyone and did not see their fellow man as an enemy. He behaved as a blustering gangster who, given half the chance, would be a British Mussolini; which was exactly what he was setting out to do and did.

As an out-and-out class racist he actually despised people who had gained their position by ability and not through influence and social class. He was a freak show; always coming up with the craziest and wildest ideas. Only his aristocratic connections and his status and corrupt willingness to change his position at a moments notice kept him in power. Most people thought him a dangerous madman. He became an insane war monger shouting of the dangers of disarmament: In fact he personally engineered much of the propaganda against Hitler which was the main cause of the war against Germany becoming WW2. As a force of pure evil he had no peer in Europe. He believed the govt should make public opinion rather than follow it; which was exactly what he had been doing and did to create the evil horrors of WW2. Everything he touched he ruined. It was his siding with King Edward who wanted to marry the American Wallace Simpson that caused the King to abdicate. What Churchill was expert at doing was inciting, creating and escalating hostility, hate, mistrust and enmity. Any cause he sided with was guaranteed to fail. Because of the obnoxious way in which he presented the case for the King's marriage he made an enemy out of the entire fucking Parliament who booed him down before he could even utter his prepared speech on the King's behalf about his decision to marry an American.

Churchill's published papers refer to the Zionist funded organization "The Focus" which included 40 leading British Industrialists, Bankers and former Politicians who funded Churchill getting back into power as Prime Minister of the British Empire. The Focus was a mixture of Jewish financiers and Jewish Socialists and in July 1936 the Jewish Chairman of Shell Petroleum gave Churchill a cheque for 700,000 dollars in today's money (£40,000). After Churchill received the cheque he suddenly changed his politics and dedicated himself to being an anti-German war monger. "The Focus" focused all of its money and influence and energy into engineering Churchill into the Cabinet in 1939 and into the Prime Minister's position in 1940. Because he was a corrupt, bought politician; Churchill concealed Hitler's three peace proposals from the public during the war, one delivered personally by Rudolf Hess... in which Germany agreed to withdraw to its pre-WWI territories; instead Churchill bombed Berlin for eight days in succession until Hitler retaliated by bombing London.

Churchill caused WW2 to happen so that the richest filth in the world: Rothschild Jewish Zionist bankers could enrich themselves even further by secretly lending vast sums of money to both sides of the war... as they had done in WWI and as they had done during the Napoleonic wars also. Churchill bankrupted Britain, destroyed the British Empire, and handed-over global military and economic primacy to America, all because Churchill was a bought and paid for puppet of the Jewish Zionists who had their own evil agenda. Before 1936, Churchill's speeches in Parliament do not make mention Hitler or Germany. After the Focus bought him as their paid shill: he became a war-monger constantly screaming about the non-existent evils of Hitler and Germany.

Churchill had a consistent record of military and political fuckups and failures. WWII was another abysmal failure for Britain's economy, with meat rationing still in effect nine years after the war.

The character of Winston Churchill as a total fraud is revealed while he passed himself off as a News Paper Reporter during the Boer War. Churchill pretended to be captured by the Boers, then he pretended to escape from a Boer police station and he spent six months running around South Africa popping into Post Offices to send telegrams to the London press in which he self-publicized himself with fake heroic exploits. The true character of this drunken bum is revealed by the fact that all of his most famous speeches over the BBC during the war: "We shall fight on the beaches' etc. were actually made by an actor who imitated his voice because by the evening, Churchill as usual had drunk himself into a sodden stupor and was too drunk to give any speech. It is revealed by the fact that in most of the board meetings of the war cabinet he attended during that unnecessary war, he was too drunk to utter anything intelligible and was completely useless. It is revealed by the fact that Churchill actually wanted to start using poison gas on the Germans: which had been outlawed by the Geneva conventions after WW1 for years, and it took weeks of his entire staff arguing with him to get him to relinquish his insane plan to exterminate the entire German Nation by poison gas; thus reducing the center of Europe into an uninhabitable, poisoned wasteland for the next 300 years. Is this the mark of a sane human being? It is the behavior of an insane madman possessed and controlled by evil demons.

Nobody could guess that before WW2 ever began that Winston Churchill was a secret traitor to the British Crown which he had sworn to serve and uphold. Nobody could imagine that the undead rotting turds of his own ancestors would be used as instruments of the most horrible evil possible to manipulate the entire world of living people into willingly destroying themselves by killing each other in WW2 through this one living shell of a weak corrupt man poisoned by his own ancestral undead ghouls.

By undead entities programming that poisoned shithole of a sex pervert's personality, that sodden drunkard of an alcoholic addict's entire personality, he was focused into a single-minded drive for personal fame and status and in doing so, that rotten shithole of an aristocratic filth betrayed every decent human value and ethic and moral he had ever possessed.

Winston Churchill gained his highest level of political power by the luck of being given the post of 1st Lord of the Admiralty before WW1 came about: a position his true father had once held. All of his later political motivation was hinged upon his desire to become a war leader again. As in Hitler's life: the 1st World War defined the rest of Churchill's life and programmed him into following the recipe and program for re-living his 'success' in WW1; when actually he was a total failure as a leader and all of his personal handlings of the 2nd WW he was involved in were also unmitigated disasters. All of his earlier attempts to gain fame and fortune failed miserably: all of his attempts to earn a living as a correspondent during the Boer war and as a forger and seller of forged oil paintings and as a hack writer of abridged classical literature and his attempts to gain power in parliament failed and failed and failed... because like General Grant he was being groomed to destroy the world, as Grant, that other drunken bum had destroyed America.

Churchill was used by the undead to re-write history by wiping out the true details and facts and replacing them with a shortened, whitewashed, censored abridged abomination of lies and cover-ups. His butchery of the classical literature which he reduced to 10,000 words was training for his butchery of the actual true historical facts of WW2. His abridgment and condensing the classics of literature into total mediocre shit was done so later he could write the history of WW2 by abridging and condensing and leaving out all the crucial important facts and cutting them out of existence.

Like Napoleon: Churchill gained a jump on all other scholars and historians about his involvement in WW2 by writing his own prejudiced, cunning, definitive one-sided version first before anybody else could... from his own personal experiences. This automatically ‘topped’ any other version written later. His abridged version was then copied by every fucking dead zombie puppet of a historian controlled by the undead and has become the politically correct bible of western civilization’s account of WW2 and the justification for the industrialized manufacture of weapons of mass destruction, mass distraction and mass deception to be universally perceived as a good thing. After he wrote his abridged, censored, slanted propaganda bullshit: nobody dared to challenge his authoritative interpretation of WW2 for decades. It remains as an unspoken bible and moral of western society’s ethical underpinning to this day; and it is rotten to the core.

After WW1, Churchill did not change his goal of winning a 2nd war in Europe with the changing times because the undead ghouls of his family’s evil filthy dynasty had a death grip on his inner soul: he systematically corrupted himself and reduced himself to selling his soul for money in order to ‘preserve’ and ‘save’ the country estate he called checkers to keep it in running order and pay for his huge staff of servants.

What was the hidden meaning of that name checkers? It was Churchill's own private joke. In 1936 Churchill sold his political soul to a bunch of Jewish international bankers who funded the Focus group and saved him from financial and political ruin by giving him a single cheque of £40,000 which was worth more than 40 times in today's money... which saved him from resigning from Parliament, selling his ancestral home and going into insolvency. The single greatest graft which Churchill was guilty of was his joining the group called The Focus; a secret subversive political group of radicals dedicated to getting Chamberlain out of power by any means possible and getting Churchill into power. They were funded by Jewish financiers controlled by Baron Rothschild. They operated directly out of his personal orders to get his personal paid henchman back into power so the war against Hitler and Germany could be pursued to its final climax of the total destruction of Germany and Hitler and all they stood for... If you look at the record of Churchill's speeches in parliament and his diatribe which was printed and spread throughout the Jewish print community: meaning the world and the international press... Churchill did not give Germany a passing nod until 1936. Once he was bought by this single cheque he suddenly begins beating the anti-Nazi, Anti-Hitler, Anti-German drum and becomes the war-monger pressing for a war against Adolph Hitler by portraying Hitler as the devil himself. What is actually true is the Devil Himself was inside this poisoned flesh and reversing the truth about who the Devil actually is and was. It was Churchill that fat toad who was the Devil; not Hitler. His being bribed by the Jewish bankers headed and controlled by Baron Rothschild in 1936 and his instant selling out of everything he stood for has no human explanation EXCEPT that the Devil himself entered into that insane empty shell of bloated flesh and took it over and forced it to its will.

The second series of graft from 1936-1939 was the money Churchill received from secret agents of the Czech govt who were trying to keep Hitler from annexing their nation into greater Germany by funding British anti-Nazi war mongering politicians like Churchill and others to halt Hitler's expansionist policies in Europe and check the spread of German National Socialism. Cheque, Czech... check... get it? When Chamberlain refused to go to war after Hitler invaded Czechoslovakia; Churchill became extremely depressed and said: "All is over."

What he meant by that was that he had failed as the paid political lackey of the Czech govt to do what he had been secretly bribed to do...that is to check, to stop Hitler from taking over Czechoslovakia... and because of that, the cheques he was receiving from the dirty corrupt Czech govt and its secret agents in England would not be forthcoming anymore to cover his enormous debts and he would lose his beloved stinking English estate Chartwell and his future would not be guaranteed by the minions of Satan supporting his every wish because he was no longer a valued enough agent acting on their behalf anymore to receive their full-scale support... get it?

The plans of the undead had almost been totally derailed because of how swiftly Hitler was moving: so fast that the undead could not stop him. That was the actual hidden reason why Churchill was so despondent about Czechoslovakia being taken over by the Nazis.

King Edward VIII who ruled for less than a year, was forced to abdicate in 1936 by the Jewish lobby because of his pro-German sentiments, he was forced out of power by the same Jewish lobby that was funding Churchill and bent on declaring war on Germany and wiping Germany off the map... This gives you an idea of how embedded the Jewish powers in England were and still are and how secretive and well-hidden they are. Only sophisticated historians who track the personal lives of these scum and have unearthed their secret agendas and conspiracies and plots know about the Jewish presence of power and influence all over the world and in England especially. This evil Jewish splinter group attacked all the pro-German sentiment power groups in England and began a systematic brainwashing campaign of unending lies and filth for years in order to bury the true friendship starting to grow between these two Teutonic races who were blood brothers and spoke the same base root language. This evil Jewish lobby attacked the King because he was a friend of Hitler and got on very well with him.

The fate of nations meant nothing to Churchill: all he cared about was the fucking money, the secret funding he was receiving from a foreign Govt... which in itself was an act of treason, and if it had been found out he would have been hung by his neck and his name would be forever blackened in the history of Britain. Naval historians regard Churchill's management of the navy in WW2 as disastrous. He refused to put merchant ships into convoys which was a tactic that had worked before in WW1. He even wanted to attack Ireland thinking crazily that the Irish would welcome the British troops invading their country! The British invasion of Norway... his Norway operation, which was personally overseen by Churchill himself, was a fiasco. The Royal navy ran into the German navy coming the other way, making their own meticulously planned invasion. They drove out the British invasion with ridiculous ease; it was one of the greatest catastrophes of the war for Britain, a humiliating defeat; by all rights he should have been canned then and there but he wasn't. The term 'Norway Operation' became a byword for inept incompetence. Churchill was responsible; yet he somehow escaped all blame for it. Instead, Chamberlain was forced to resign. What history books don't mention is that Chamberlain was dying of cancer: and he resigned because for health issues, not political ones. Just as unseen evil attacked the one man who could have steered a reasonable course, unseen evil undead filth protected Churchill from being thrown out of office again like he had in WW1. His other plan was to invade Sweden which would have turned the entire world against Britain, a plan that was so crazy it was regarded with horror by the cabinet.

Just how Churchill got into power in 1940 at that crucial time is still a mystery. The new British war leader emerged through a consensus of a small circle of Dept heads ... which was jokingly called 'the magic circle' and it was governed by an almost unspoken opinion... making a choice that was viscerally 'felt' to be the right choice without any argument or debate of pros and cons or any intelligent dialogue which precedes such a massively serious political choice. This makes no fucking human sense whatsoever!

The conventional 'Realpolitik' rationalization of just how this outcast of all decent British society, this raving loon, this traitor, this proven untrustworthy turncoat, this rotten corrupt opportunist, this incompetent drunken bum, this corrupt, treasonous paid politician came from being exiled and hated and ostracized... back into the center of power is total bullshit.

First: the excuse that Chamberlain wanted Churchill inside the govt where he could do no harm, as opposed to being a vindictive annoying pest outside the govt, ranting against and criticizing everything the British govt did... is total fucking bullshit hogwash: The fact is the Jewish owners of the Bank of England; the Rothschilds wanted Chamberlain out of office and Churchill into office because they wanted to find an excuse to go to war against Germany for many reasons, and Churchill was one of the few top English politicians who had sold his soul to the Jewish bankers and Chamberlain had not.

The same story happens everywhere all the time: the honest politicians are edged out of power while the corrupt politicians are edged into power... secretly without the public knowing about it. And even if a few do know about it: fuck the public: they still can't do anything to stop it because the entire system is corrupt from top to bottom including the public.

The reason Churchill was slipped into office was because Churchill was the only politician of the highest aristocratic class who was the Jewish Rothschild's Zionist paid-for puppet on a string. Churchill was the only politician in England ranting about war and spouting racist anti-German filth against Hitler, the Nazis and Germany. Churchill was the only politician in England that wanted another war. Because Churchill was the most corrupt politician in Britain. And he represented the most corrupt interests of the ruling class; he represented the hidden secret agenda of the innermost center of the circles of secret power behind the British throne and govt. Pressure was put on Chamberlain to reinstate Churchill by the Jewish bankers who called themselves 'the focus group'. Otherwise Chamberlain would never have allowed that drunken bum back in. Chamberlain and everyone else in British politics already knew what kind of bloated stinking incompetent stupid corrupt imbecile this fat alcoholic toad actually was from his past escapades and failures and disasters and bungling. They already knew what kind of an obnoxious racist he was. What these Jewish bankers of the focus group were focused on was the Jewish declaration of war against Germany and Hitler... and manipulating the British govt and people into doing their fighting for them... while these Jewish war-profiteers sat back and became richer and richer and richer and their enemy was destroyed as they profited from the destruction.

When Chamberlain let Churchill back into the cabinet: he did the worst thing possible and the stupidest thing possible: which makes no human sense whatsoever: he appointed him to 1st Admiral of the Fleet: the exact same job he had during WW1... The reason why this was a scam and ordered from on high: the reason why Chamberlain should never have allowed him back; especially back into his old WW1 position was because during WW1 he had proven to be the most disastrous, inept, incompetent fuckup in the History of inept Lords of the Admiralty. The horrible disaster of Gallipoli during WW1 was his brainchild and he was personally responsible for it. Everybody knew that raving madman, that drunken bum was an asshole who literally couldn't tie his own shoelaces; never mind run the most crucial important military weapon Britain had; its navy during a war. Churchill being slid back into his old job was a clear violation into living people's lives by his fucking rotten undead ancestors... plus all the undead who were pushing for the human species to destroy the living world and all Life on the Earth, and the richest most powerful bankers in England who wanted to prosecute the war against Germany just to make more fucking money.

The last unbelievable step in so short a time as to beggar description in this whizz from total outcast to Prime Minister of Britain and taking over the war effort against Germany gives this bullshit rationalization that 'nobody else wanted the job' because in the beginning England was 'losing the war'. The idea, the shit lie... that nobody in England except Winston Churchill that poisoned toad wanted the job of Prime Minister: is in itself such an outlandish piece of garbage that words fail me. The idea that nobody except Winston Churchill wanted the power of the highest political office in the entire British Empire is such a stinking fucking piece of rotten shit it is not even worth spitting on....

But the rationalization goes even further into incredible fantasy: Historians who could not explain just how this fuckup was given the job of Prime Minister try to suggest that Lord Halifax; the heir apparent to the position and the logical choice for PM himself did not want the job: which is so utterly ridiculous and full of shit it is hard not to vomit on the lying shitholes who spew this shit in public... But it goes even further into fantasy so incredulous, so divorced from reality that the next rationalization can barely be uttered without either laughing at it or pure rage. These shit stinking liars tried to impute that the basic reason why nobody wanted the highest office in the British Empire was because everybody assumed that Churchill would make such a balls-up of his term as PM and the losing war effort, that he would be even more humiliated and hated and despised than before and be forced to resign. In other words this fiction has as the basic assumption why Churchill got the Prime Minister's job was because everybody in power assumed that Britain would lose the war against Germany before it had barely begun! Not only that: but assumed that Churchill would make such a disaster of the war that the British Empire would be destroyed by his fuckups so he would be forced to resign after he fucked everything up. Not before! And this was the rationalized 'reason' given for why the entire inner circle of the war cabinet chose Churchill over Lord Halifax? So they could appoint a leader they knew for certain would destroy everything he touched?! And in doing so destroy the British Empire? Just so they would have the satisfaction of seeing him humiliated and resigning after he fucked everything up? And left the ruins of his handiwork to them to clean up as best they could? Give me a fucking break. Every single apologist for the status quo, every single attempt to rationally explain why certain things happened which cannot be explained rationally is a cover-up hiding the influence and presence of undead filth.

This explanation is so filled with utter shit and nonsense; it is not even worth refuting. The fact is: the most evil powers on Earth plus all their minions and all the secretly controlled evil filth of the Rothschild banking criminal mafia and the entire Jewish racist Zionist effort and the entire worldwide filth of organized Jewry were combined in a concerted cooperative effort to get that most poisoned evil corrupt English toad into control of the British govt, and the entire war effort against Germany... and they way they did it was invisible to physical living humans, and undetectable and kept secret from the masses. That was how this motherfucking cesspool of undead poisoned filth was slid into power... at the worst possible moment... in the most corrupt possible way, by the most evil corrupt human puppets, which were all controlled by undead evil and act as instruments and servants of Satan and also the higher realm of undead shit turd filth.

The truth is that the Jewish Zionist Rothschild banking interests had been controlling British politics for a century already behind closed doors before WW2. The Rothschild attempt to marry into British aristocracy and in doing so: cover their tracks and make them invulnerable to any ordinary attack on their stinking rotten Jewish avarice and greed had succeeded... They refused to give up their filthy evil Jewish culture and religion and because they are pure evil and because they know that their day of punishment will come, they still feared another exodus, another mass expulsion and revulsion of all Jews from the land they infested as it had already happened many, many times before in human history. Even as privileged and protected by English peerages and titles, they feared being caught red handed and thrown out of England; not just the lower class Jews, but all of them; high and low. The richest Jews have this ancient fear of being driven out ever since Jesus drove the money changers out of the Temple of Solomon. The fear, the danger of mass expulsion is branded in the souls of all rotten Jewish undead who worship gold and the sin of avarice... and what's more: the living bodies they secretly inhabit share this fear because they have been corrupted by their own ancestral undead... as has every living human who has ever been innocently born into the world of the Living.. Evil Jews will never feel safe from the fear of persecution because they deserve to be persecuted for what they do and for what they have always done and for what they are as a culture of ethnic tribal racist criminal mafia scum.

The moral dilemma that the most foul, the most corrupt of the Jewish race have: and which the international Jewish banking dynasties of Rothschild in England had and still have; is that they cannot disown their own Jewish lower class masses and still remain a member of 'the chosen people'.

The Kuhn & Loeb banking family, the Rothschild clan of banking interests, the Warburgs and Rockefellers etc... could not allow Hitler to deport the Jews out of Germany because that would have marked literally all Jews all over the worlds as unwanted aliens, as 2nd class citizens. Not just the poor Jews: the rich Jews also. This would have correctly put the mark of Cain on all Jews and their stinking culture throughout the world; regardless of their social position or power or wealth... At that time in History it was still common knowledge that the Jewish culture and Jews were generally an evil bunch of money-grubbers and power-mongers: a fact which has since been almost totally whitewashed out of existence. If Hitler had deported the Jews out of Germany it would have marked all of them globally as a filthy unwanted evil ethnic culture and race.

Which was true then and still is true.

It would have threatened to end and destroy the richest, most evil, most powerful, most corrupt criminal mafias on earth; furthermore...

This was the main underlying true reason why the Jews declared war on Hitler and Germany before that war was invented and orchestrated and planned ahead of time by the British govt, and this is why all of the shit and lies spread by the Jewish press and the War propaganda lies of the English govt, the American govt, and the Russian Bolshevik govt are still being spread and defended and turned into a sacred myth which nobody is allowed to question; remember, Stalin was a Jew and so were most of the Russian revolutionary Bolsheviks,

Another thing which stinks to high heaven is that in all the fucking history books and documentaries and books about his life and that period in history... there is almost no mention of anyone opposing and criticizing Churchill. When in actual fact the masses disliked him, many, many people opposed him and criticized him. Most of Britain did not like or trust him. Most educated Englishmen quite correctly thought that he was a raving, war-mongering nut job. All the accounts of the people who attacked Churchill and criticized his policies and fought against him have been carefully weaned OUT of history books and text books and historical references about that time. They have been wiped out of existence by the status quo Jewish owned media and press. The hard facts about Churchill and his life and his entire political career have been so fucking whitewashed that it stinks to high heaven of a cover-up

WW1 and WW2 was planned, orchestrated and put into operation by the undead

Because

The highest levels of living human evil at the top of all the hierarchical power and authority structures of human civilization are directly linked to and controlled by the highest undead evil existing in the upper realms of the undead. And because these undead turd things are millions of years old, and because they possess a larger time-perspective than mortal living humans, these undead things can and do recognize every major important threat to their continued evil secret existence far better and in advance of any living human recognition and perspective. Seeing this rise in Hitler's power and his intention to deport all Jews out of Germany, they knew if they did not stop this; their chosen people... the ethnic race of living humans they had chosen... thousands of years ago to become their chosen instruments of evil: would either lose all their power to commit evil and spread evil throughout the world, or be wiped out of existence... and that would mean that all the evil in the living world, including the realm of the undead would be in danger of being exterminated and wiped out of existence also.

This is why and how the highest most secret criminal cabals of Jewish bankers clearly and cleverly anticipated the threat which Hitler's plan to deport the Jews out of Germany actually was. It was not the living Rothschilds and Kuhn & Loeb dynasties that saw this danger... it was the undead evil of the entire Earth that reacted to this new young positive energy of growing health and intelligence in Germany. And they worked to poison this newfound Germanic health and intelligence in every way possible: from the inside by inserting the worst scum into power inside Germany: and from the outside by surrounding Germany with enemies, by inserting the worst filth into power in Britain, America and Russia.

Understand this; the undead cannot predict the future. They are not immortal. They are an evil slime on this earth and they must be exterminated with extreme prejudice.

Again; the hand of the filthy stinking evil undead is clearly shown here; how easily they can and do poison sane, rational men to make the worst possible choice of whom to appoint as their war leader during the war. Churchill's horrible bungling of the Norway affair the year before in 1939 should have turned all the cabinet members of the inner circle against him: yet they chose him over the stately, wise, competent Lord Halifax. This makes no fucking human sense whatsoever. The cabinet members who chose the new PM...why was it called 'the magic circle'? Because all undead filth who violently violate and invade the living auras of people leave their fingerprints behind of filth that even living humans could perceive that there was something unnatural going on with this stinking poisoned inner circle of rotten scum; the undead always leave evidence of their violation into the lives of living humans, they always leave clues which can be used to incriminate them.

This once again proves beyond any doubt how embedded these undead ghouls are in all top positions of power, all over the world. The answer to this is to get rid of all positions of power and kill every single mother fucker who is in power or tries to gain power over others: period: end of story: problem solved. This is why ALL civilization must be destroyed. Civilization is an invention of the undead: nothing more; and all filth who serve these undead ghouls need to be killed with extreme prejudice. Killing evil filth possessed and poisoned by undead ghouls is a good act, it is an act of goodness, it releases the undeveloped human shell from its slavery and enslavement to the forces of pure evil. Undead filth do not want to give up control of their living shells. They try to cling to their power over living souls like the raving evil insane banshees they actually are. The evidence of their evil as they are being killed: as they laugh and gibber in your face instead of pleading for mercy or feeling any pain is proof of their existence. They do this because they think they have somehow corrupted you into killing a living organism but not them, since they can flee the dying living shell and find other evil machinations to pursue. Killing people who are irrevocably evil is only the first step in ridding the entire Earth of them. Their extermination must be continued into the realm of the undead also. Only when all of them are killed in their own filthy stinking realm will the Earth be free of their stinking filthy presence and influence...

Now back to Churchill and his filthy stinking evil life.

The level of Churchill's political cunning was the level of a moron being tutored in how to play a game of checkers... The goal of checkers is to turn as many pieces into Kings by putting another piece on top of the pieces in play: this signifies an undead entity which controls the movements of the living human it takes control of and gives it more mobility because it is operating in two zones instead of just one, and can see what other undead players are doing to oppose its goals and counter-act them without the living shell it controls being aware of its 2-level manipulations in the realm of the Living and the realm of the undead. Churchill's goal (ghoul), the goal of that stinking evil ghoul hiding inside him... was to make sure that the only surviving powerful monarchy that had a King or Queen would prevail in that war in Europe. Churchill was not intelligent enough to play the more complex more intellectually demanding international game of power politics called chess. However... he was used as an instrument of evil in the chess game of WW2 to check the growing power and health of the new German Reich. In chess, to check means to attack the King of your opponent. Once the King is put in check and cannot escape the game is over. The undead used Churchill as a 'checker' to put the 'King' of Germany (Hitler) into 'check' and win the war.

Once his usefulness was finished Churchill was thrown away and forgotten like the disposable pawn he actually was... like the disposable checker he actually was in the global game of world dominance. This is how the undead use living people for their hidden evil ends in the negative evil structure of civilization. Except for 'winning' WW2; which was a disaster for the British Empire; all of Churchill's supposedly cunning deals and machinations ended up ultimately in complete failure. In the 20th century, Churchill the politician was one of the main instruments the undead used in checking and blocking the growing rise of the new rise of the germination of new health and a new Germany and thus the growing intelligence and health of the entire human species.

Who or what is the 'Churchill' family dynasty of dead ghouls? It is the chill of the ill will of all the undead entities that populate of all the church cemeteries of England dedicated to checking all human advances into higher levels of intelligence and health. Churchill led a checkered life; constantly landing on red or black squares of the labor or conservative party until he was finally completely corrupted and landed only on the black squares of death, in a reversal of how checkers is played. The black squares represent the blackness of the realm of the undead. The red squares represent the red blood of the living.

As you can see, one word can have many meanings on many different levels, and all of them are interconnected to each other and support each other.

What does all this have to do with his dead family's undead filthy poisoning of him? His own family history and family fortune tells it all. The founder of the Churchill family dynasty, the Duke of Marlborough gained much his wealth and power and fame from winning military victories; winning wars fought in Europe; not in England.

All of John Churchill, the Duke of Marlborough's power, fame and good fortune came from the personal relationship his wife had enjoyed with Anne the Queen of England before she became Queen. His own personal success was gained by waging campaigns of war and winning military victories in Europe against foreign nations: for which he was granted the title of Duke of Marlborough.

Similarly, Churchill's one special advantage that nobody else in England had was his personal friendship with the President of the United States; Theodore Roosevelt: which was started and founded years before the political situation for starting WW2 came about. As was also the dead John Churchill's one special advantage that nobody else had: his wife's personal friendship with the future queen of England more than 300 years ago. The 'inside track' which Sarah Jennings enjoyed from her friendship with Anne before she married John Churchill and before Anne became the Queen of England: matches the secret inside track Winston had with FDR before Roosevelt gained power and became president of the USA

The fucking point is that the basic fortunes of Winston's life was an undead recreation of the combined past lives and motives and fortunes of both his undead ancestors: Sarah and John Churchill during the time of Queen Ann's rule. But that is not all of the recreated past... John Churchill also played a prime part in the overthrow of James II, and when William of Orange arrived in Britain, John Churchill the first Duke of Marlborough was paid £6000 by Solomon of Medina, a Jew. So... the overthrow of Chamberlain by Churchill's backers is a recreation of his ancestor aiding in the overthrow of James II, the bribing of Winston by The Focus group and by the Czech nation; is a recreating of Marlborough being bribed by a lobby of secret Jewish banking interests. Not exactly: but unmistakably the same basic patterns of his dead ancestors lives were recreated and repeated in his own life...

The major driving ambition and success of John Churchill's life: the military wars fought in Europe gaining him everything; fame fortune, status, personal recognition as a success and enabling him to found an aristocratic family dynasty of royal filthy rotten privilege, matches exactly Winston Churchill's personal driving ambition to gain fame and power from gaining fame and recognition by fighting in a war and winning: as he tried to do in the Boer war, in WW1 and WW2... except he did it as a fraud. Everything he did in his life was a fake because he was not in control of his own body; it was not his wishes that he was fulfilling. Even though Winston knew that the British Empire did not want any war in 1914 and 1939 and that any war in Europe which Britain became involved in would destroy the empire he was sworn to serve and uphold. In order to block out from his consciousness the massive evil he was committing, he was forced to keep himself almost perpetually inebriated, drunk out of his mind.

These major aspects of the latter half of his life did not come from the boy Winston. They came from dead filthy evil stinking sinking dying undead shit rotten turds that need to be exterminated and killed dead so they will never ever again poison a living boy and man to betray the most powerful forces for good in the world and become the traitorous lecher and drunkard that he Winston Churchill actually became; an incompetent, bumbling, sodden alcoholic bum completely controlled and manipulated by his own undead ancestors. Churchill himself wrote later in his memoirs about his unexpected appointment as war leader of Britain, when he was expecting to be canned instead: "It was as if I was walking with destiny... and that all my past life had been but a preparation for this hour."

Do you understand? What he wrote about was the feeling of walking with undead stinking rotten evil undead ghouls of the past, evil filth who were all around him and had been preparing him for this hideous task of destroying all the world's hope for a better brighter future. These undead filth who had secretly embedded themselves into his guts and body and his mind... These undead ghouls who were invisibly leering at him, who were all around him, were leaking their evil sense of triumph in achieving yet another one of their unspeakable evil crimes; in managing to manipulate the politics of the British Parliament and stick in this poisoned shell of a man; the most corrupt, incompetent politician in all of England, so the whole world could be destroyed in order to prevent new life from blossoming and flourishing on Earth...

And they did it by reversing Churchill's perception of reality: by reversing his knowledge that he was committing the most horrible evil. Today this tactic used by the undead has many names; is called 'bipolar disorder' 'dyslexia'. 'Passive-Aggressive' All these medical terms are bullshit. When someone's perception-understanding of reality is reversed: it is because of direct interference by undead filth: it is a result of undead possession and their poisoning of all natural healthy functioning of the human body, mind and soul.

The fact is that this sodden drunken bum, that this dense, unaware, stupefied incompetent, that this puppet of the undead Churchill, viscerally felt the presence not of destiny: but of evil stinking undead filth who try to control the destiny of human souls, while hiding their hidden secret evil malevolent agenda from the living people they poison, in their single ghoul to destroy all Life on Earth.

Why is this important to know? Because the hidden, secret reason the Winston Churchill plotted to declare war on Hitler and Germany. The reason Winston Churchill sold his soul and betrayed the British empire for filthy lucre, the reason Winston switched his political agenda and his personal morals and ethics, the reason he became a filthy war monger, the reason he reversed himself over and over again and turned against his own class, the reason he reversed his own set of personal ethics by 180 degrees and betrayed everything he had once believed in, the reason he betrayed Britain and the British Empire and the world by making a pact with that devil Stalin... who swallowed him up, used him and spat him out, the reason he consciously set out on a political campaign to drive England and the entire British empire into war against Germany and Hitler... and subsequently into total ruination... was because the same undead ghouls who had once been John Churchill the Duke of Marlborough and his wife Sarah Churchill; the same undead ghouls who had poisoned John Churchill the Duke of Marlborough and his wife Sarah Churchill: were the same undead ghouls who poisoned and secretly controlled Winston Churchill's entire body and Inner Soul and his life.

Understand this: this is only one example of how ancestral undead entities can and do poison the lives of every single human being alive today... Everyone on the Earth that is living is being poisoned by these filthy violating stinking evil undead things. The obvious clues, the historical facts and evidence of Hitler's and Churchill's lives shows how not just one person was poisoned, but both of them were poisoned by their own undead ancestors and more; in order for the undead to plan, set up, orchestrate and carry out the unforgivable sin; the unspeakable crimes of mass destruction and mass horror of two World Wars.

The point is: you cannot see the inner corruption of a living person's Inner Soul unless you get to know them closely and intimately and see how they live and what they say and do and how they behave every day behind closed doors. And have an intimate knowledge of their true family history: not the fucking whitewashed shit that passes for family history. The secret inner corruption of human souls is what all living humans must explore and expunge and drive out from their bodies in order to regain control over their own minds and hearts and bodies.

The first glaring invasion of the undead into the Life of Winston Churchill... the first poisoning of Winston Churchill's life by his own ancestral undead filth rotten shit turds goes back to before Winston was born. Instead of being born after a normal 9 month pregnancy: in order to ruin that fetus's health and stamina for the rest of its sick, weak life: his mother suffered an accident falling from a horse while at Blenheim palace: the birthplace of all his ancestral filth undead: where they all congregate. This resulted in him being born too soon and born undeveloped and weakened him for life so he ended up suffering from many illnesses during his unhappy childhood.

Why do you think he called his nanny: “Old Womb”? Churchill was subconsciously trying to crawl back into his mother’s belly, back to the only happy time in his life, back to before she fell off her horse and suffered the miscarriage of his damaged birth which damaged and traumatized him for the rest of his damaged, traumatized, sick, miserable, evil life.

The miscarriage of the undeveloped fetus’s birth of Winston Churchill, his pre-natal trauma was used by the undead to keep the original untouched soul and intelligence of the not-yet-born Winston frozen... and I mean frozen; in a frozen state of undeveloped intelligence, in a frozen state of undeveloped, pre-fetal unawareness; so his original Life Aura would remain stupid and underdeveloped forever. So he would never be able to kill the undead filth who were responsible for damaging him for life, so he would never be able to kill the undead filth that had done this to him when he finally entered the realm of the undead.

If you want to get an idea of how retarded and damaged he was: he suffered from a congenital lisp when he was young... like many Mongoloid idiots do who suffer from the inability to speak properly because of birth defects in their brain. As a child his speech was slurred: he suffered from many kinds of speech impediments. He stuttered. His speech was very slow. His brain barely worked and when it worked it worked at 1/10th the speed of an ordinary person’s brain. He managed to hide this by only speaking after he had gathered all his thoughts and then rehearsing that thought in his mind before attempting to speak out loud. It took many years of training and practice and giving written speeches which he could rehearse beforehand before he could give a prepared speech without stuttering and without his lisp becoming noticeable. His teeth fell out at an early age and he had dentures specially designed to help him with his speech. He muttered; his speech was incoherent most of the time. He hesitated when speaking, unable to speak an entire sentence without awkward pauses and silences. It took him many years of hard work and struggle to overcome his speech impediments.

What this reveals is crucially important

This reveals the existence of two wills inside the child fighting for control of the body's larynx muscles: two separate wills: one trying to block the other and take over control of the child's undeveloped will.

This reveals

- 1: The undeveloped fetus-soul struggling to express itself and grow and learn how to think and speak...
2. The undead evil entities inside and around the child: blocking his natural growth as much as possible: fighting to take over control of his entire body and his soul and his will and his mind and his heart and his human will to do the right thing.

What this reveals is that the evil growing inside this child had already grown to such a poisonous monstrous level of toxic evil that the child's teeth fell out because it was being trained into becoming a mouthpiece of undead pure evil.

To give you an idea of how retarded and stupid Winston Churchill was he couldn't learn mathematics: addition, subtraction and simple division of numbers was beyond his limited mental capacity. If you want to know how retarded he was he had to take the entrance exam three times before allowed into the Royal Military College at Sandhurst. The lowest level basic requirement entrance exam, not the finishing exam, the entrance exam! He had to take the same exam three times before he finally got it right.

To give you how retarded Churchill was: he flunked most of his courses both in the private schools and the military academy because he was a retarded moron. The only reason he had learned how to read and write was because as a child his nanny had tutored him painstakingly for years when he was little. It was only because of all the love and attention she spent upon this thick-headed lummoX that he could barely manage to speak and read and write at all. Once Winston left the safe little nest of his nanny's bosom, he was totally unprepared to deal with the real world. But that didn't matter: his family's name and money got him through regardless of flunking most of his courses. He was forced to hire tutors and continue his education and work on learning how to speak in public after graduating from Harrow's in order to be barely able to function in the elite society without drooling and acting like the mongoloid imbecile he actually was.

Through the harrowing ordeals of being sent to private schools at a too early age, Churchill was systematically dehumanized even more than he already was... he learned many cunning tricks of how to hide his many defects and deficiencies. His abruptness of speech which had nothing to do with what was being said; hid his unawareness of everything going on around him. By acting out and putting people off balance: he acted out his pretence that he wasn't a retarded idiot. But not with those who were his peers, which was why his entire life was one of social ostracism; he outraged and insulted everyone simply because he was both a moral degenerate and a mental degenerate; he had no understanding of how to behave in social situations unless tutored, coached, prepared ahead of time. It took him a lifetime of training and constant corrections by his nanny and later his wife to make him even half-fit for company. He advanced to the level of taking enjoyment from building a brick wall; brick-by-brick. This was the extent of his mental capacities when he was not being taken over and used as an instrument of evil by undead entities.

If you want to know how much of a retarded moron he was, he finished 8th out of a graduating class of 150 at Harrow's, and his parents refused to attend his graduation out of shame. This is what historians cover up: his own family was ashamed of him because they knew he was a retarded moron: they knew he was a mongoloid idiot who had to be supervised every day of his life and looked after. As an adolescent he rebelled against this and tried to go off on his own outside the influence sphere of his family but was quickly yanked back into the life of privilege and power and was systematically corrupted even further.

What was exceptionally evil about this filthy rich, feeble minded mental degenerate, this mentally retarded moron of a boy is what he grew up to become,, and what he tried to do to all the mentally retarded genetic degenerates of England and Britain... that fucking rotten toad became an advocate of eugenics the genocide of unwanted excess humans. As a supporter of eugenics, he participated in the drafting of the Mental Deficiency Act of 1913; however, the Act, in the form eventually passed rejected his preferred method of sterilization of the feeble-minded in favor of their confinement in institutions for the insane. Why was his support of this bill aborted? Because everything this evil sick undead instrument of evil touched was an abortion, a miscarriage of Justice. Fate, Karma and Life.

What he should have done was sterilize himself and commit suicide: this way we would have been saved from all the evil shit, the foul death and hate and destruction and misery and suffering he brought into the Living World.

Hitler was also a proponent of eugenics but he was in favor of exterminating these unwanted mental retards; not sterilizing them. His Nazi govt put people into institutions and quietly did away with many of them. He should have killed himself also because he was a degenerate.

Here is the problem with eugenics: just who is the mental retard, and who is not? Both Hitler and Churchill were genetic degenerates: both of them were poisoned from birth by ancestral undead filth... what you must understand is that the systematic degeneracy of human beings beginning from birth was in those times, largely a factor of the undead filth shit turds that poison babies and children. Given the chance, both could have grown up healthy and happy and strong and intelligent and GOOD, not evil. This is why every single undead ghoul must be exterminated with extreme prejudice.

It is not living babies and children who are degenerate: it is these undead filth shit things who poison them so they degenerate into insanity and idiocy. The process of mental degeneracy is due to the direct invasion of undead decomposing degenerate filth invading humans. Every time they get any power to commit evil they project their own self-hatred out: onto living humans: it is the undead who are using this idea of eugenics to wipe living people off this world. The fact is it is the undead who must be wiped out of existence: not the living.

The fact is: once these undead degenerate filth are all exterminated with extreme prejudice: 90% of the 'genetic' degeneracy of the human species will disappear... because the undead are the root cause of this kind of disease. If you examine who is behind the extermination of mental degenerates: you will come up with mental degenerates projecting their own death wish out into the world: because if they didn't they would jump off a balcony and rid the world of their kind but because they are possessed, controlled and manipulated by the undead: the undead do not allow them to end their lives because they use these filthiest scum of the human species for their secret filthy ends and goals..

Understand this: the undead use the most evil degenerate humans in existence and manipulate these filthy scum into the highest positions of corrupt power, status and wealth because they cannot control or manipulate people who are not poisoned by them and not corrupt.

This is why if you clean your inner soul and body of all evil sins and addictions: the undead cannot touch you or poison you.

This is why all civilization must be destroyed. This why living humans must go forward into the Beauty of Living Nature and renounce the ugliness of dead objects and dead machines.

Now back to the most poisoned evil toad who ever lived in the last Century
The entire Life of Winston Churchill was a miscarriage: it was a life-long miscarriage of Justice and Fate and Karma. This original miscarriage allowed the undead that used this body to get away with miscarriages of Justice, with mass murder and crimes that no other living human could have gotten away with. Everything, every idea and intention Winston Churchill ever had and tried to carry out miscarried; his every intention and goal miscarried whenever it was put into action.

Because the true inner soul of Winston Churchill had never been given a chance to be born properly and grow as it should have: without the evil poison of undead entering into his life-aura before he even came out of his mother's womb. Because the true Winston Churchill was born traumatized: damaged goods. Because his body had been taken over by the ancestral undead turds of his own family before he was born, plus many other undead... throughout his life he kept on trying to be born, he kept on coming up with the craziest, stupidest, most horrible miscarriages of justice possible. Because Winston: the not yet born infant's blind wailing attempts to be born were cunningly and easily poisoned at the outset by the undead violating his entire being. Because he was never born properly due to the interference of the undead: every stage of his life it was a miscarriage of truth, a miscarriage of justice, a miscarriage of karmic fate, a miscarriage of karmic responsibility. The undead hiding inside this living shell of a traumatized damaged weakened poisoned physical body thought that they could use this body to commit any crime they wanted to because his life had been caused by a miscarriage of birth; they thought they would be able to escape the notice of all the Karmic forces of GOOD and escape all punishment, they thought that even if fate took a hand in punishing Winston Churchill for what he did during his life: that the Karmic fate of the Universe would also be a miscarriage of justice: and not hit them... they thought that the Karmic fate of justice would hit somebody else, and they would be able to escape justice: laughing in inhuman insane glee in being able to fool and deceive the blind forces of Nature and the forces of the Universe, just as they had deceived and fooled all of Mankind...

One striking characteristic of Winston Churchill throughout his life was his habit of exposing himself naked to people. He spent much of his life soaking in the bathtub, the bathroom was his second home. He spent hours in the toilet because he was so retarded he couldn't button his fly back up properly. The ghastly tales told by his secretaries, listening to the bestial sounds coming from the bathroom as he struggled secretly with the simplest physical tasks of getting his pants off. He did not know what to do with buttons: they were not in his limited repertory of physical accomplishments. He didn't know how to comb his own hair. He did not know how to screw on a lid or unscrew a tube of toothpaste: he had to have it done for him by his butler and when his butler wasn't there that presented enormous mental challenges for the mongoloid retard; most of the time he ripped the tube apart with his pudgy hands and made a mess which had to be cleaned up. He didn't know what to do with soap: he had been bathed by his fucking nanny all his life. He didn't even know how to flush a toilet or put the lid back down: when he left a bathroom or toilet it was usually a rotten stinking fouled mess, he barley knew how to wipe his own ass clean of his own stinking shit. His answer to cleanliness was to soak in a tub prepared for him by his servants and when that was not possible or available, he was fucked; so he stopped wearing ordinary clothes on his trips away from home and began wearing one-piece jump suits with a zipper up the middle, and even that was too much for his feeble mind to deal with; most of the time his servant had to finish zipping his suit all the way back up because he always fought the zipper and it got stuck because of his infantile rage and ineptitude at being unable to deal with such simple physical tasks.

It took him hours to take a shit or have a piss because he did not know how to take off his clothes or put them on: his fucking nanny had done that for him and servants had done this for him all his filthy, spoiled, evil life. It took him 20 minutes to figure out how to turn on and turn off a faucet, and every time he did he left it on; not understanding that the same handle that turned it on was the implement that was used to turn it off also. He lived for people barging into the toilet when he was trying to mess about with these contraptions so they could become flustered and intimidated... this way they would not notice that he was a fucking mongoloid retarded imbecile who needed help buttoning his own fly. His secretaries had to wait outside the toilet or bathroom for 10-20-30 minutes, hours... having to go themselves, but not able to, because this royal fart was having his royal shit and taking off his pants took forever and putting them back on took forever and wiping his ass got shit on his hands so he had to wash his hands every time in the sink and that took another ten minutes and he left the water running and he pretended to gargle and made huge noises... like the retarded infantile, deranged fat toad he was. What he did inside the bathroom every time he went in to take a shit or take a piss, what he did in the toilet behind a closed door was what he was doing and had done all his life: it was a replica in miniature of what he did to the Earth, to the world, to Humanity, to civilization, to human society, to the British Empire, to everyone who came in contact with him.

There is the famous episode where Winston tells the president of the United States of America to come in when he is in the bathroom, the president says through the closed door that he does not wish to disturb him, but Winston insists and tells him to open the door. On seeing Churchill naked in the tub of all things!, Roosevelt apologizes for violating Winston's privacy... but that sodden thing, violated before his birth: and wanting to be born again, stood up stark naked in front of Roosevelt; pompously declaiming: “The Prime Minister of Britain has nothing to hide from the President of the United States!”

The actual truth was... that the undead rotten and evil filth hiding inside that traumatized, sick body had everything to hide and they hid it in the shithouse; in the toilet, in the filthiest room of all so nobody could see that this raving mad, sick fat man needed to be put into an asylum. This was why his wife and his family became so outraged at the huge oil painting that Asquith had ordered; done of Churchill from a photo. It showed the fat deranged toad with his fly undone, the buttons on his vest mismatched irregularly, his hair unkempt, his collar unbuttoned and disheveled because he did not know how to dress himself. His wife and family KNEW he was a retarded mongoloid imbecile: they KNEW he was a mentally deranged maniac, they KNEW he was mentally sick in the head:

But they did not want the British public and the international Press to know it. So they had the huge oil painting burned and destroyed: so that posterity would never see this sick evil thing for what it actually was; a bloated evil malevolent toad reeking of urine and shit and alcohol and tobacco; burping and farting and grunting his way though life as the most inhuman evil undead thing ever to be possessed by undead ghouls and entities.

This is how the undead reverse and hide and destroy the truth as much as possible. Churchill exposed himself throughout his life to his servants, to his secretaries, to anyone who knocked on the door when he was in the bathroom because of his pre-natal trauma... he kept on trying to be born again, born right, not wrong, not damaged, not traumatized; so he would not be a miscarriage: a horribly wrecked miscarriage of life.

The undead that used the shell of Churchill’s body got away with his crimes in another fashion also. The undead used his insulated social position as a member of one of the most revered aristocratic family dynasty names in English history as a way of distancing themselves from all personal responsibility for every crime they manipulated him into committing. The undead thing inside this shell knew that Englishmen were hesitant to cast any aspersion on the mystique, the myth, the legend of the Marlborough family dynastic name. That thing, that undead dying rotting thing secretly hiding inside the Winston shell traded on this and used this reluctance to tarnish the Churchill family aristocratic dynasty of Marlborough throughout his entire evil time it was committing crimes of mass genocide and destruction and evil. All this leads to the obvious conclusion and the secret to why Winston Churchill grew up to become the most evil Englishman who ever lived... Not only was Winston Churchill the secret bastard son of Prince Albert, but that degenerate fetus had also suffered a huge traumatic damage in the belly of his mother before he was born... So the reason why Winston was born 3 months early, the reason why Randolph Churchill married a girl who was 3 months pregnant was because the child she was carrying was not his child: which explains his fathers lifelong dislike for Winston and why he never spoke one word to him and why he was so utterly cold towards the poor child.

This also explains Winston's many defects and corruptions more clearly... They came from two basic traumas: a genetically defective and degenerate father and being damaged while still in the womb as an unborn fetus. All of these horrible things had to be visited upon this child who never should have been born into this world: he was born in order for the evils of the undead to use him as a tool; so the evil he did could be unleashed upon the world, so two world wars could sweep all human decency and love off the Earth.

One glaring proof of how the undead demons and ghouls who were using the poisoned rotten boy, tried to convince themselves that they would escape all punishment for their interference in the birth and Life of Winston Churchill was in the speech Churchill gave in America during WW2 about the gobbling turkey of a Goebbels threatening to wring the neck of that stinking coward Churchill like a chicken... when the undead that poisoned his body knew there was an even deeper older evil residing inside that fat sick ugly body: The evil residing inside his pus-filled body was the body of a reptile, it was the undead spirit of a toad, not a chicken... and as everyone knows: toads have no neck, so they cannot be strung up and hung by their neck and be strangled to death. Again: the undead using Churchill's body to commit evil were blaring to Goebbels and the whole world that they were on the wrong track: that the miscarriage of Churchill's entire life made it possible for him to get away with murder and not be hung for it because he was a royal bastard, a toad, he did not hide the evil soul of an undead chicken, inside him hid the undead evil of the stupidest, the most insensitive reptile on earth: the ugly stupid fat toads of England.

As Churchill replied to Goebbels's frantic anger at Churchill being able to use mechanical flying chickens to bomb Germany and get away with it; he commented on himself in ironic self-evaluation: "Some chicken... some neck." As if to prove that being a toad and not a chicken meant he had the courage which a chicken is lacking? No. A toad is too undeveloped to have any emotions like cowardice or courage: it has nothing but ugliness and malevolent hatred towards all Living creatures.

Churchill was a compendium, a merged mélange of the most backwards inhuman, non-human, subhuman undead things all mixed together; his cowardice was more cowardly than the cowardice of an undead chicken. The miscarriage of justice; of Goebbels not correctly recognizing Churchill for what it actually was: a fat ugly dehumanized subhuman toad, not a chicken... was also played out by the entire world not recognizing that it was Churchill who was the actual evil monster; not Hitler. The huge miscarriage of Justice which has transpired, by the most evil corrupt monster of a political leader of a nation, demonizing the least evil corrupt political leader of a nation and thusly reversing the perception of the actual truth; is the handiwork of undead foul turds. It was Goebbels who was the chicken, and Churchill who was the evil poison-filled toad. Each of them saw the other as himself. This is proof of undead possession. They always reverse their own inner truths and project them outwards onto others.

By black accusing white of being black, by black posing as white, the entire pack of lies called human history has been reversed; it has reversed the perception of the actual truth and turned human understanding into a complete misunderstanding; into the opposite of understanding, it has been sold and spread by the newly invented systems of mass propaganda; radio, movies, propaganda newsreels, newspapers, TV's, computers, a billion trillion times over... spreading Churchill's lies all over the world... everywhere... while

Hitler's speeches were never heard of or seen outside of Germany; and when they were, they were used out of context and cunningly doctored to make him look like an insane ranting tyrant, when the actual truth was that Hitler was a reasonable polite man whose National fervor to right the wrongs of Germany's fall from power and his Germanic nationalism were completely reasonable: there was nothing necessarily evil about it: it was GOOD thing that Hitler should give the German people back their own self-respect; what was evil about it was that Hitler brainwashed all of Germany into believing that the recovery was all due to him: not to the German people who actually made it happen. What was evil about Hitler was that he was leading the unknowing blind, brainwashed German people into total destruction.

The second glaring invasion into Churchill's personal life, by these filthy undead things who need to be killed dead, was his ancestral undead filthy rotten ancestor turds interfering with his personal life to scotch and block and prevent him from marrying every young beautiful healthy girl he met and fell in love with and proposed marriage to; by poisoning the hearts and minds of these young girls against Winston Churchill so they all refused to marry him.

This further weakened his already permanently weakened male sense of self-esteem as a man and turned him into an obedient lackey and sop to every higher class shit in his own family and to the aristocratic shits of the corrupt, upper class and turned him into a mummies-boy: into a weak asshole who never had the courage or initiative to follow his own heart, his own feelings of humanity.

When finally Winston was carefully pushed and orchestrated into marrying a lower class girl who was only interested in her ambition of upper class mobility by marrying into a higher social strata than she was born into: he had been so demoralized and hurt and traumatized by the numerous rejections he had received whenever his true heart emotions of love had been cruelly scorned: these undead manipulated this weakened vessel of future evil: this pawn to be used by them as one of the most diseased sick corrupted dehumanized filth ever born as a damaged traumatized baby... that during the weekend in Blenheim palace: the same place his own ancestral undead had damaged him for life... that it took his higher class uncle to order him to propose marriage to this harlot: this professional upper-class whore: who had no heart and no love for anything but her own rotten filthy selfish ambition to rise. On that last day at the last moment; he screwed up his nonexistent male courage and invited her to a walk in the ancestral gardens of Blenheim... during that walk it began to rain: so they took shelter in the temple of Diana...

During the walk and during his entire stay at the palace Winston had been so shy and afraid of rejection that he had not spoken one fucking word to the girl he thought he had been ordered to marry her, be in love with. In truth he was not in love with that rotten self-seeking social climber of a girl... his ancestral undead were determined to ruin his life as much as possible by marrying him off to the filthiest most corrupt girl they could find: thus guaranteeing Winston a married life of hell: an unloving marriage: filled with aristocratic coldness and filthy inhuman behavior that only aristocrats could get away with without being spat upon in revulsion by the rest of humanity because of their fucking status and position in society.

The upshot was he asked her to marry him and she accepted: without either of them getting to know each other at all... an arranged marriage: arranged by the stinking evil filthy undead ancestors and all the other shit rotten trolling wandering undead filth that happened to be passing by in their insane aimless wanderings across the living physical earth.

The significance of his marriage proposal being done inside the temple of Diana when it was raining outside as tears of his inner sadness and unrequited love for the girls he had truly fallen in love with were ignored, is overshadowed by the future death of Lady Diana... the upper class whore who married into the British monarchy. Diana was a member of the Rothschild dynasty. Actually it was the Royal family marrying into the Rothschild family. She was the white sheep of that filthy rotten upper class Jewish/English family to be sacrificed because she actually felt guilty about her privileged position and wealth. She became a token conscience of the rich western world of the most corrupt elite of Britain; the last gasp of humanity left in the Aristocratic society of England, just as the death of all Love in Churchill's heart died when he proposed to a girl he had never spoken to and he was not in love with, but was directly ordered to marry by his uncle... and the highest authority of undead stinking ancestral incestuous shit turds that poisoned his inner soul and outer body.

The name of the temple says it all: the temple of DIE ana; A Negative A... A Negative between two 'A's; get it? The Negative entity of no love between two people. Just as there was no love between his father and mother. I mean for chrissake, come on... would you propose marriage to a girl you've never spoken to? What if it turns out she's frigid? Or a shrew? Or smells bad? Or any one of the countless things that might make your marriage a disaster. Proposing marriage to a girl you've never spoken to and don't know? Bullshit. Churchill was ordered to do it by his uncle. That toad of a snob had been spat upon by his elders and parents all of his life. He had been dominated and turned into a servile shrimp begging for his family's approval all of his poisoned life. It was an arranged marriage; arranged by the most evil corrupt rich aristocrats of his family dynasty; controlled by the wishes of his own undead ancestors. It was an arranged marriage to an American multi-millionaire family because the Churchill's need the fucking money; plain and simple. It was a fucking trade-off. The American Family of money grubbers gets itself into the highest aristocratic peerage of England who still refused to lower themselves to do business as the Americans did, so the Churchill's got their filthy money and the American Jerome family gets into the upper crust society of the British aristocracy. It was what had been going on between the American rich and the poor aristocrat English ever since the 1st American rich could afford a trip to England and be snubbed by the Lords of the British Empire. It had been going on ever since Benjamin Franklyn tried to gain status by sailing to England and trying to wheedle his way into the English upper crust... and failing that; sailing to France and trying his luck there and became a fad, a curiosity, as he sold his pack of lies and fables about being a frontiersman to the Royal court of Louis XVI.

Churchill's marriage was another miscarriage of his life; it was a miscarriage of injustice twisted beyond recognition into evil by his own ancestral undead. You need to understand that the undead hate all human love. The undead hate all happy people. They hate all happiness. They poison all human love and happiness wherever they find love and poison it as much as they can and they did so, on purpose in Winston Churchill's life and in Lady Diana's life.

The other significance of proposing marriage in a temple dedicated to the most athletic boyish healthy virgin Greek goddess: was his being dominated and manipulated by strong women and girls all of his weak, sickly, unmanly life. In other words: his own ancestral undead had managed by this time to poison him and weaken him to the extent that they were certain he would be controllable when he died and entered their undead realm: because then they could use any female figure of false authority and false deceptive image of female superficial beauty to deceive him forever and certain that he would buckle under to any female undead stinking evil aura more powerful and evil than he was.

This also portended the wave of the coming future: the undead plan to emasculate of all western manhood: turning all the men into weak effeminate henpecked husbands: into trembling little insects: into yes-men: into emasculated, corporate zombies obeying their master's commands, into sexless drones who have had their balls cut off; spayed, castrated; little terrified monkeys, with no Courage or Honesty left in their diseased corrupt enslaved souls.

His entire life was and is a perfect example of the continuing corruption of a weak tortured traumatized innocent baby and the increasing evil he absorbed and the progressive lack of all humanity he rotted into... as his own ancestral undead plotted and controlled his every career move.

For example: his first adult success of being elected into Parliament was only because his mother... who had ignored and despised him all of his life and never once answered his pleading lonely letters when he had been abandoned and thrown out of his family into the cruel brutal upper class system of dehumanization called 'public schools' which are actually private schools... another obvious screaming example of pure evil. When the meaning of a word is totally reversed: you fucking well know that the reason it has been reversed is because who did the reversing was trying to hide the stinking undead evil hiding inside that corrupt educational system of upper class turds Suddenly this shit inhuman thing called a 'mother' took interest in his political campaign to be elected into parliament... not in him as a human being! Noooo... Just as another avenue to further corrupt and poison this vessel filled with undead ancestors so they could re-live bits and pieces of their own past undead aristocratic lives.

The two shit things called his ‘mother’ and ‘father’ were not his true mother and father: they never acted as mother or father towards him ever. All they did was to destroy his self esteem and predict his future as a worthless wastrel and ruin his young budding life as much as possible. In fact they didn’t even come to see him when he graduated from Harrow’s. The only person who ever visited him was his nanny: whom he called “Womany” or ‘Old Womb’ His nanny a Mrs. Everest: a paid lackey, a slave who was ordered by authority to ‘care’ for the little stinking shit, was the only person who even cared if he was alive or dead. His class racist attitude of owning such a thing as a personal female slave-nanny he called ‘ “Old Womb”... that was ordered about as a lower class slave to take care of him, since the loveless shithole of an upper class thing called his mother would not: his pride in having someone that even showed up at the ‘public’ schools which were actually the highest class snob filth of England... reveals how desperately lonely he was and how desperate he was for any human recognition or acceptance. Can you understand this? A retarded moron proudly showing off his childhood nanny to the whole school of snobs as his prized possession; the only person who visited him at school. He acted like a baby; like the damaged, retarded infant he still was; mentally and emotionally.

Later upon her death he confesses in his diary that she was the only friend he had for the first 20 years of his life... meaning he had no friends until he got married; he classified his wife then as a ‘friend’ when they didn’t even speak to each other and slept in separate room; leaving each other notes. When they did speak to each other it was usually an argument over some outrage he had committed or was committing.

Do you begin to understand how deprived and lonely he had been as a child... and as an adolescent and as an adult? To have your paid nanny as your only fucking friend in the world for twenty fucking years!?

Did it ever occur to this fucking retarded moron to understand that this lower class wage slave was being paid money to take care of him? That all she had ever been was a professional wet nurse? And if the Churchill family had stopped her pay... if the money had not been forthcoming: she would have been out the door in a flash and fuck all you Churchills and screw you and your boring, stupid, spoiled rotten, retarded moron of a child. And if the Churchill family had not paid his nanny money... that she would not have been Winston's only 'friend' in the world for 20 fucking years... in fact she wouldn't have been Winston's friend at all.

His nanny's name was Mrs. Elizabeth Anne Everest, was another undead filth: revealing that he was destined to climb the highest office in the land: the Mt Everest of political power by having the Mountain come to Mohammed. It was saying that Winston would never need to learn how to stand up and walk and climb to gain the highest peak of civilized status under his own efforts, that all the power in the world would be come to him, and be given to him without his earning any of it by his own efforts.

It was a sly joke of the undead, since Winston having already climbed Mrs. Everest's peaks, as it were, as a baby suckling on her tits; that after this there was nothing more left to climb, nothing higher or more difficult a challenge to overcome. Keeping his undeveloped soul at an infantile level... frozen and damaged before it could be born; not allowing it to grow by having everything done for him and given to him without him earning any of it.

In other words: these undead things made sure that Winston never succeeded at anything except what they wanted him to succeed at; in order to systematically dehumanize him into the brutal shit spoiled rotten lazy corrupt toad he became... into the ruinous evil monster he was. They made sure that it was his mother who would take all the credit for getting him elected into parliament and scoff at his own puny efforts as nothing compared to the 'glorious majesty' of his elder undead filth: so when he enters into the realm of the undead they will have a lock on his diseased soul forever.

Churchill was so hated by the suffragettes of England who were fighting for the right to vote: because that sick, ruined backwards Victorian out-of-date shit was a racist against all women and all classes, that one girl tried to kill him by pushing him in front of an oncoming train... he was only saved by that fucking undead 'thing' called his 'mother'... You see: by that time: these undead shit turds had big rotten evil plans for this shell of a weak corrupt poisoned thing called 'Winston Churchill'... they protected him from harm on purpose because they knew by then that they could use him better and he was more controllable because by then he was already and had already turned against his own humanity and truth and had corrupted himself in his innocent, desperate, traumatized, blind, retarded search for love and recognition: which his undead ancestors had twisted him into.

Then finally when he was appointed into the upper realms of power as First Lord of the Admiralty: when that incompetent fucker had never served a day in the navy and didn't know his arse from a flagstaff. His personal ruination of the British plans to end the war quickly happened by his stupid mismanagement of the raid on the Turkish empire that cost over 250,000 casualties and cost him his place in war cabinet and he was cast out of favor and rightly so as one of the most stinking incompetent assholes who destroyed Britain's and the Allies naval war effort during WW1

Churchill was so set on war and so insane a war monger: that he was personally responsible for escalating the arms race between Germany and England in their mutual building of huge monstrously expensive 'dreadnought' class battleships. It was this insane race of mechanized manufacturing: the dehumanization of human civilization into mechanical zombies, humanoid dehumanized robots; slaving their lives away in death factories; working to destroy each other and destroy all friendship between these two most compatible of friendly nations. This naval arms race which Churchill pursued with fanatical vigor destroyed all friendship between the two nations and bankrupted both of them.

Coming from the same root culture and having so many similar aspects and shared cultural values: Churchill's goals were the opposite of peace and friendship between Germany and Britain; his only objective was War, War, War: preparing for War, warning about the danger of War, ranting about War, talking about War, writing about War, pushing for War, making enemies instead of making friends, goading people into reacting against his belligerent insufferable personality and his insufferable arrogance. Escalating the possibility of War until the prospect of War became more and more likely to happen, until it became a certainty... and then let the killing begin! Let loose the dogs of War! Escalate the hate and death and destruction even more! You can already hear in his personal writing how this controlled shell is being controlled by his undead ancestors to repeat their past mistakes and lives even before WW1 had begun.

“Everything tends towards catastrophe and collapse. I am interested in it; happy... is it not horrible to be built like that? The preparations for war have a hideous fascination for me.”

Here: this introspective sensitive man still clinging to what little is left of his true his inner true self: his conscience is trying to make sense of himself: because he knows that what he is fascinated by is not good but hideous; what he is building for is death and destruction: not life... but he is driven... driven by his inner demons to do this even though he knows it is evil. The undead who control his every thought and action to push the entire world into the most brutal inhuman insane catastrophe have already taken him over.

His next evil which he committed is so monstrous so deep an evil: that it can only be topped by what he did to single-handedly ruin the entire world by escalating the phony war between England and Germany into a massive insane destruction of all life on earth which the explosion of the atomic bomb was the ultimate logical conclusion of machines trying to behave like sex-fucking apes; the pinnacle of human destructive insanity and inhumanity towards itself and the entire Living Earth it depends on for its own life.

What's more this next incomprehensible escape from ignominy is entirely inexplicable and impossible to have happened without a huge intervention into the affairs of living humans by undead turd filth shit turds who need to be killed and ripped apart and exterminated. During WW1, after his fall from grace; being personally responsible for the entire disaster of Gallipoli: and his fall from grace after his cowardly inept command of a front line regiment and his cowardly retreat back to the safety of London:,... a year later, he is brought back into the cabinet again!... as Secretary of State for war! After he had ruined Britain's naval war effort in WW1!?? To deal with the Irish Question of Home Rule. This makes no fucking human sense whatsoever unless he was the illegitimate son of Prince Albert. Only the machinations of undead evil filth could make this happen. To be put into a position of power again!... When it had been a position of power in the war cabinet which he had bungled so badly that he had been forced to resign in shame makes no fucking sense! Yet Lloyd George did this. To a turncoat who had changed political parties! To a self-seeking incompetent insufferable asshole nobody liked and nobody could stand.

His sending a volunteer brigade of the 'black and tan' regiments into Ireland; meaning anyone who wanted to get paid money to kill people was hired with no questions asked of why they were joining; it was an assemblage of the worst, lowest racists, scum and thugs in England used to crush the rebellion again. This shows how the undead used Churchill to escalate the already existing levels of human hatred and brutality and atrocity: his sending the lowest worst inhuman brutalized murdering racist cowardly thugs of the English lower classes to kill whole villages and burn them to the ground, to kill innocent women and children instead of fighting the real enemy who had guns, created more hostility and hatred between the Irish and British than ever before.

His mishandling and bungling of this crucial political decision of British imperial policy set in stone the racial hatred and hate and anger and hate between the Irish and the British: first he tried outright brutal suppression: then, when that failed and he was forced into negotiations he gave ultimatums of imperial arrogance and brutality that were unmistakably the forerunner of total war against Germany: this included mass bombing from the air... and concentration camps of the entire population as in the Boer war, which meant the total systematic genocide of the Irish people....

In other words Churchill did not negotiate anything with Michael Collins. He refused to give one inch to the Irish demand for self-rule. He forced the Irish leader to accept an unacceptable treaty that caused him later to be assassinated because he had betrayed his people at the bargaining table. What the Irish didn't understand was that the alternative to the ultimatum was even more horrible and inhuman than the destruction of Ireland as a free nation... in fact it was the exact same inhumanity which Churchill and the undead accused the Germans of later in WW2: an accusation they are totally innocent of. In fact this new level of evil came from Winston Churchill himself... before World War Two had even begun... Six months after his fucking 'treaty' signed at the point of a gun it was rejected by most Irish republicans, Collins was assassinated for his betrayal of the movement and civil war broke out in Ireland all over again.

In other words: the undead evil that was Winston Churchill had come into a political situation that threatened to heal a longstanding racial war between the Irish and the British... and he re-opened that wound and made sure it would never heal again. And escaped all blame for what he had done.

This is one thing you need to recognize: the most evil filth like Rumsfeld and Cheney live charmed lives because they are so evil because they are being protected from harm by undead spirits because they are being controlled by undead filth: just like Churchill was protected all his fucking evil life because the undead were saving him for the most evil of all jobs: starting a second world war. This is why these things: these Rumsfelds and Cheneys and Churchills need to be recognized for what they are and killed before they can commit their evil... not afterwards when it is too late.

This has to change: it is time for good people to start killing evil people. Not the other fucking way around.

The origin of this lie of Nazi atrocities: the bombing of London and the concentration camps of the Nazis; came from the evil mind of Churchill himself... in the year of 1919... Meaning it came from the undead who controlled Churchill like the puppet he actually was, and used him like the mouthpiece of filthy evil he was and will always be.

Because of this brutal fucker: who was so inhuman that even his own filthy wife of snob upper class whore to the rich and mighty couldn't stand his inhumanity and complained about his 'Hunnish ways' in how he dealt with the Irish and with the Suffragettes... in fact his brutal unfeeling way in dealing with every human being he came into contact with. What she was referring to were the propaganda lies the English war office had invented during the beginning of WW1 to paint Germany and the Kaiser and the German people as a throwback to Attila the Hun... as the most brutish unfeeling monsters on earth. What she was complaining about in all honesty was that Churchill was acting more brutally than the propaganda lies about Germans the British war dept had spread during WW1: that he was behaving more brutally than what the fucking British war propaganda posters accused the Kaiser of being during WW1!...

What she said of him was the truth. Churchill was the real monster of that era: not the Kaiser, not the Germans. The actual truth was that it was the British people who were the most brutish: not the Germans: it was the Brits who were the worse brutes: not the Huns. It was the British masses who had been more brutalized, dehumanized than any other race on earth because of the industrial revolution. It was the British who were even more brainwashed slaves than the Germans. Now... the Germans are more brainwashed than the British.

What is even more chilling is the undead voice of pure hatred towards humanity coming from this English rat, this toad, this mole, this mouth of the undead... the future portents of the two most inhuman aspects of WW2 had already been decided by these fucking undead turds who need to be killed and exterminated. The mass inhumanity of the concentration death camps of Stalin's Bolshevik empire... and the inhumanity of the western American/British use of mass air bombings killing millions of innocent people burning them to death crushing them to death as brutally and violently as possible. This possessed monster, already poisoned from birth, was foretelling what the undead were going to do to the human species in the near future... after they had succeeded in making human slaves build their own weapons of immolation and self-destruction. The undead were speaking through the mouthpiece of Winston Churchill in 1919: what the allied war effort would be in WW2... the most brutal inhuman mass slaughter of living people since the great war of 1914. . His threatening the leader of the Irish Michael Collins with total war: genocide; reveals who the real insane inhuman monster of WW2 was... he was already insane enough to threaten the Irish people with this kind of unheard of massacre in 1919... never mind what he did in 1940-45.

In 1924 again the same inexplicable thing happens as with Lloyd George: Baldwin the new Prime Minister of the Conservatives invites that rat Churchill into his cabinet as Chancellor of the Exchequer... (Remember he called his country estate checkers... now the ex-checker gets to be the exchequer) just as Lloyd George inexplicably invited Churchill to come into his liberal cabinet as Secretary of War... this makes no fucking human sense whatsoever unless he was Prince Albert's bastard son... Churchill was living a 'charmed' life because he was more corrupt and evil than any other fucking politician in Britain. Churchill said it himself: "Of course anyone can rat... but it takes talent to re-rat" crowing in pride of his own self-confessed corrupt evil selfish motives as the most untrustworthy most incompetent degenerate asshole in the British cabinet.

And once in control of the nation's financial resources: he ruined the British economy and lost the savings of the British people and destroyed the financial stability of the British empire and sent them all to hell, into a depression which they never fully recovered from to this day... and escaped all blame and was never punished for his unspeakable evil which he committed with impunity all his dirty filthy miserable stinking pus-ridden life. This is not surprising when you look at how his Royal father wasted and lost money all his rotten life.

Then after being personally responsible for the national economic depression of England, he crushed the general strike supporting the starving coal miners and worsened the condition of misery and poverty of the English masses... his only fucking excuse he gave for this was that he had not been allowed to give the coal miners any generous offer by the cabinet... which is such a stinking self-serving lie: such a fucking bald-faced lie there are no words to describe the cunning evil liar he was. The fact is he was a viper lodged inside the English cabinet: the most evil of them all. It was Churchill and Churchill alone who was personally responsible for every catastrophe of his long career and of the intentional malevolent brutal inhumanity towards Mankind in lowering the ability of humans to regain any self-esteem and self-respect in that filthy industrialized slave system of the British fascist/govt/caste/class society.

His tactics never changed. His only tactic was inhuman brutality: to beat you down until you are utterly destroyed: then talk to you as a lowly slave and then give you a token tuppence for your troubles and kick you out of his office. He never changed this tactic during his entire filthy evil life. And nobody speaks one word of this filthy rotten asshole's life and what he actually was and did. After doing his damage he was out of office for ten years and languished in obscurity; hated, disliked by all the people of Britain: forced to seek employment in America because nobody would give him the time of day in Britain. He became then what he had always been: a pariah: a hated outsider; an asshole who hated everyone and was hated by everyone. He resorted to the most scurvy underhanded forms of gaining money simply because he was poisoned by the most rotten undead ancestral filth of his genetic past. Painting forgeries of French impressionists and selling them, giving fraudulent self-serving lying speeches trying to cover up his role in the creation of the worldwide depression he was partially responsible for. His fakery became so outrageous he was hit by a car in New York. Even that he used for personal gain writing an article of how it felt to be hit by a car! Everything he touched and did, he turned into filthy self-seeking selfish cunning evil. He was the most brutal unfeeling inconsiderate asshole born. Every secretary and servant who came into contact with him reported the same thing of him: an inconsiderate, selfish, arrogant, stupid, inhuman, unfeeling brute.

And then while out of power: buying this huge expensive estate called Chartwell when he couldn't afford it... again his inner demons his own undead stinking filthy rotten undead ancestors; urging him on to re-live their own aristocratic lives through him. What was the meaning of that word Chartwell? The meaning screams out the undead presence of the invisible shit turds of Winston Churchill's dead ancestors... who charted out and planned Winston's entire life for him so well, that he never had to lift a finger himself to get where he wanted, who charted his descent into evil and insane madness so well and so cunningly: he never noticed he was being pushed into it. The name speaks of the deepest evil in the world controlling the life of this living boy: a deep well of pure evil; charting the life of the man who would be more personally responsible for more evil than almost any other human living in his time. Fulfilling the vision of H. G. Wells and of Orson Wells in his radio broadcast of Wells' 'War of the Worlds'. The name of that estate which Churchill sold his soul to buy and maintain and preserve is not a fucking coincidence.

At the expense of his happiness, his marriage and his political career: that sick diseased motherfucking asshole sold his soul to the satanic forces of evil... just keep up 'appearances' of a 'rich powerful lord' of the ancient times... Just to pay the fucking servants and keep up the fucking grounds of this monstrosity of egomania Chartwell... as his undead ancestors reveled in the royal 'gardens' of the estate: having come back into their proper upper class manor of aristocratic privilege and ease. How sick and possessed by the demons and filth of his undead ancestors this toad was is revealed by how enslaved he was to this piece of stinking property. He spent all of his money and time on it. He built brick walls with his own hands: the only fucking thing his brutish British soul was capable of. A Lord of the cabinet... working as a common bricklayer on his own estate. He spent a fortune improving the grounds, adding lakes and gardens; driven by the filthy evil of his dead ancestors that possessed and controlled him during his entire life to recreate an estate as close as possible to the huge estates they had once owned and lived in.

So what did this brutish brute of fat corrupt asshole do in his ten years in obscurity? One invited guest gives a telling glimpse of this pig, this inhuman turd: how he behaved at suppertime in front of an invited guest: not using a plate for his steak and kidney pie: the most unappetizing fat-filled glop known to mankind, but dumping the stuff into a bowl and shoveling it into his toothless maw with a spoon, while slurping brandy from a huge glass, taking puffs from his huge Cuban cigar and stuffing chocolates into his mouth still full of meat pie. The Frenchman sitting at Churchill's table watching this exclaimed in amazement: 'Mon Dieu, but this cannot be!'

The foulest evil inhuman poisoned fat pig: totally uncaring about his table manners: ranting on about the danger of approaching war when nobody in their right minds wanted another war. An out of touch undead thing: repeating all the things he had done in exact duplicate how he had gotten into power before WW1... reliving his entire life in political exile all over again; not changing with the changing times... Bought and corrupted by the focus group of Zionist Jewish bankers and the Czech govt to become the treasonous snake of a war-monger that would lead the western world into repeating the insane horrors of WW1 and worse.

What is particularly telling about the evil this undead instrument of worldwide evil is the complete reversal of the truth by the propaganda press of his day and of the entire 60 years after WW2: how the perception of the masses see Churchill as a man of peace warning of a coming war and trying to prevent it when the opposite is true. When he was actually the personal agent of the undead who sparked this war and escalated it into the global catastrophe it became. Once back in power: as if by magic again... his entire message was the most brutal possible inhuman insistence of total destruction of the enemy regardless of outcome or circumstances. War to the death! Victory or death! War! War!

The sound of Churchill's voice tells us what this dead fat ugly filth actually was: the sound of his voice is a dead monotone; a dull droning downwards death knell of deadness; no life, no intelligence: just droning dulled brutish deadness. No inflections of life in his speech patterns. So dulled, so slow... so without any life; this poisoned puppet; this mouthpiece of death and destruction was sold to the masses by the Jewish controlled press and movies to the brainwashed masses as the greatest thing since sliced bread.

Once in power as PM of the War office cabinet, the first thing he did was to ruin the entire military campaign by expressly ordering the British commanders in France not to tell the French forces of their decision to retreat and ordering them to run for their lives to the beaches of Holland in Dunkirk... Or as he said when he told the general to 'advance to the rear'.... This was his way of using words to hide from his British commander in the field the stinking coward he was and had always been.

Because of Churchill's intentional interference into the military expeditionary force in France: he was personally responsible for the British being trapped in Dunkirk. It was only Hitler's refusal to destroy the British forces that they escaped. And then it was the British people who saved that army: not the British navy because Churchill as 1st Lord of the Admiralty was not willing to risk his precious fucking Royal Navy to save the lives of thousands of English soldiers. It was on his direct orders that the Royal navy covered itself with shame in that fiasco as a cowardly thing to do. This fact is never even discussed or mentioned by the filthy rotten propaganda shit press of the world. The invasion of German troops into France was strictly the fault of the English and French decision to invade Germany first. This must be understood; up until then it was called 'the phony war'. But when the French and English moved to attack first, it became a real war... Let me repeat this: if England and France had not attacked Germany by declaring war on Germany and massing their armies on Germany's border and invading Belgium: there would have been NO WAR AT ALL!

Hitler only mobilized his armed forces on the western front AFTER the French and English massed their huge armies at the borders of Germany and Belgium poised to strike. The point is that in the beginning of this war: every single fucking action that Hitler and the Nazi regime did in the West was a REACTION to the aggression of the Jewish-controlled English and French high command which was determined to get rid of this one perceptive leader who was telling everyone that the entire Jewish culture and race is an abomination and should be ostracized and thrown out of all human societies, nations and cultures. True: Hitler invaded Norway, Denmark, Belgium and Holland but... however, the fact is that Hiker was forced into this. The Germans were reading the British top secret messages at that time and they knew that Churchill was planning an invasion of Norway to destroy Germany's steel supply route from northern Sweden: in fact the German invasion forces ran smack into the British forces bent upon the exact same mission. So the invasion of Norway cannot be used to blame Hitler as a madman who wanted to conquer the world: which was what Churchill and the PEW (Public Warfare Executive) ended up inventing as a reason for continuing a senseless war. The exact same fact applies to Hitler invading Denmark Belgium and Holland... Hitler did this to lure the Allied French and English forces into Belgium so he could invade France and attack them from the rear and cut them off from all support, surround them and defeat them: which was exactly what he did.

The fucking point of the 'phony war' was the inexcusable blunder and arrogance of these two nations: France and England trying to gang up together against Germany... massing their armies on the very edge of Germany's borders and neutral Belgium... and then calling anything Hitler did as an aggressive act: while THEIR fucking massing of armies poised to invade Germany is not even mentioned or listed as an aggressive act of war!? BULL FUCKING SHIT.

In WW1: the very fact that both Russia and France began mobilizing in preparation to attack Germany was JUSTIFIED REASON for Germany to declare war on both empires. This fact is also filthily and evilly slithered past in all accounts of that war.

The point about WW1 and WW2 and Germany's moral and ethical responsibility in STARTING these wars: is that the moral and ethical responsibility and blame of the Allied powers for starting both these wars HAVE NEVER BEEN HONESTLY ADDRESSED and never honestly admitted to, and never faced and never discussed.

In both WW1 and WW2; the main blame of who was responsible for starting these wars rest solidly on the Allied nations: NOT Germany.

TRUE. The Kaiser used Austria's decision to attack Serbia as an excuse to go to war: But: if the Eastern Empire of Russia had not used Austria's declaration of war against the terrorist rogue state of Serbia to mobilize and go to war against both Germany and the Austrian Empire and invade all of friggin Europe! There would have been NO WORLD WAR AT ALL. The same was true of WW2: If England and France had not declared war on Germany using the squabble of the stolen Western Prussian lands to back up Poland: THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN NO WW2@ AT ALL.

In fact: the invasion of Belgium and Holland's neutrality by the Nazis was only a feint to sucker the French and English to barge into Belgium; which they did only a short 3-4 hrs after learning of the German forces coming into Denmark and Holland.

The point is: if the French and English forces had not been so eager to attack Germany at the outset by going through Belgium: if they had not been planning on attacking Germany through Belgium, if they had not entered Belgium 3 hrs after the Germans moved... Hitler could not have attacked behind them and cut off their supply lines. There would have been no attack through the Ardennes forest. There would have been no war against France and England. Putting two huge armies right up against Germany's borders is an act of fucking WAR. The blame for starting WW2 and turning it into an actual conflict rests solidly on England and France: not on Germany.

The other fact which is strictly censored and kept out of conventional history is that the lowland nations of Belgium Holland and Denmark were Western Jewish owned controlled pro-English, Pro-French camps. They were not neutral at all. They were hostile towards the German cause because they were already embedded and poisoned by Jews controlling their financial and govt power centers.

The basic LIE which modern civilization tries to sell to rationalize the demonization of Hitler and Germany is that Jewish culture is not evil and is not corrupt. The basic lie which modern civilization tries to sell is that ALL ethnic racism and discrimination is evil. And because Germany, Hitler and the Nazis were anti-Jewish: they were in the wrong.

The truth is that Hitler was in the right. The truth is that anti-Semitism is good and right and just. The truth is that hating haters: and killing killers is good. The truth is that all Jewish culture and all Judaism is the most evil filth on Earth and must be exterminated with extreme prejudice. The truth is that the Jewish culture and race are the chosen instrument of evil used by the undead to destroy humanity and all Life on Earth and for that reason alone they are to be wiped out as mortal enemies of Humanity. The truth is; all avarice and greed is evil. The truth is that any person who says he is a Jewish or a Jew can easily renounce their filthy evil culture by proving to decent people that they are capable of feeling love and are not harboring evil intentions towards those who wipe out evil. When GOOD Jews kill evil Jews: they will have proven themselves by their actions that they are indeed GOOD and not controlled by their own ancestral filth undead. Thus far this has never happened. This applies to all civilized human cultures. The Jews first: then all the other evil rotten scum of every single power group also.

The truth is that the undead prevented Hitler from doing just that because the undead use this filthy scum race to poison the rest of humanity with their evil scum filthy shit cultures of secrecy, cunning, lies, hate, pornography, swindles, greed, etc, etc, ad-vomit.

Even David Irving gives a slanted picture of Hitler stealing a march on England and France during the phony war by calling it an 'ugly surprise'. What that racist English Jew-lover does not mention is that the very fact of French and English armies massing at the very borders of Germany was already a perfectly good justification for Germany to attack the allied armies without warning as the best way of defending herself against two bullies begging for a fight. Remember it was England and France who had declared war on Germany. Germany had no territorial quarrel with either of these two nations; Hitler had already reclaimed the German-speaking people of Alsace-Lorraine and brought them back into the Germanic fold. I mean what are you going to do with two invading armies poised on your border... invite them to tea? Let them hit you whenever they want? Take you by surprise when you're not expecting it? I mean Jesus fucking Christ... the conventional SHIT of blaming everything on Germany and Hitler and glossing over all everything the Allies did is disgusting.

This is one ploy of evil which you should learn is a fake. The instant any evil shit tries to attack you or intimidate you by 'daring' you to be the first to be the aggressor, by 'daring' you to knock the chip off its shoulder... Don't knock the chip off his fucking shoulder. Just kill the motherfucker dead and be done with all his stupid bullshit, egoism, hate and aggression. Hitler did not do this because he was just as controlled and part of the undead orchestrated farce of that evil war as the Allied forces of evil assembled against him were. Hitler was not good: he was just a lesser evil. But the one fact which must be reiterated and repeated is this: all winners of any war are always the greater evil. All losers of any war are always the lesser evil. This fact and dynamic is universally true throughout all human history period. There are no exceptions to this basic Principle because all the dynamics inside the negative-poisoned energy dynamic of human civilization are determined by the greater context of the Energy Field inside which they operate. The only time you can have any positive Energy winning over negative energy is when it exists OUTSIDE any larger sphere of negative Energy: or when it is more powerful than all the negative Energy surrounding it combined and can and does act independent of the negative shit surrounding it.

This is why cleansing yourself personally of as much negative evil as possible: healing yourself by getting rid of as many evil addictions and substances as possible is crucial for you the reader. The healthier and stronger you become: the better you can kill these negative evil scum; and the less openings and vulnerabilities they will have whereby they will try to corrupt, weaken and poison your central Life-Energy core. Hitler was demonstrably more humane and more Positive than the Allied French and English scum who had tried to attack him.

Even after the humiliating shambles of Dunkirk; which Churchill was personally responsible for: Hitler offered England a wonderful magnanimous peace offer which was discussed by the British war cabinet. It was Churchill who shot it down. He was a paid goon to prosecute a war with Germany: that's all he was and he betrayed his own nation for personal gain and fame.

Hitler's mistake was he was too nice towards evil: he tried to be a nice guy and all he received back was betrayal, lies and hate and total war. If Hitler had been as ruthless as Churchill not one English soldier would have been left of the British Expeditionary force and that would have been the end of England's bluster, and if Churchill had still been in power and not canned and bombed Berlin, the bombing of Britain's air force should have wiped out every military plane in England. And if England had tried to blockade Germany, every submarine and bomber should have been sent to sink every fucking British military ship in the North Sea until the British navy was wiped out, and then Hitler should have invaded Britain, taken over the govt: canned the whole lot: deposed the royalty from their thrones and executed the entire banking establishment of the City of London and the main evil of the Rothschild clan would have been exterminated and all of the wealth and power of the British Empire would have been in his hands and he would have dealt with all of the British territories and subjects decently, but he didn't: because he himself was a fucking Imperialist and a believer in the glory of fucking empires, and a racist and an ass-kisser of the corrupt rich elite of the entire world

All the bluster and political rhetoric about Germany regaining its lost lands from the Versailles treaty would have been a tempest in a teapot if England had not declared war on Germany. England could not save Poland from the German takeover of West Prussia: it was a done deal: it was over! Poland shrunk back to its original size before WW1. The true evil was Stalin who invaded Poland after Hitler had taken West Prussia back from the Poles. During the phony war the stinking treaty with Poland that was used as an excuse for England and France to invade Germany and win a quick easy victory had been revealed to be a political blunder. The entire declaration of war by England and France was revealed to be a phony propaganda stunt which deteriorated into a phony war. Up in arms over Hitler's invasion of Poland? BULLSHIT!

Hitler stopped after he had retaken West Prussia. He could have invaded and conquered all of Poland but he didn't. With this one fact staring them in the face: that fucking warmongering blustering asshole of a Churchill and the French suddenly had no more reason to attack Germany... so what did they do? Instead of admitting they had been mistaken and that Hitler did not want to conquer all of Europe and the world: that his decision to invade Western Prussia had been justified: they kept their fucking armies right at Germany's border poised to attack. How long would any nation on earth endure and suffer this kind of threat without reacting? Hitler kept his temper! He did not allow this deliberate provocation to unhinge his faculties. He finally realized that these two blustering nations were going to wage war against Germany regardless of what he did or didn't do.

Churchill had exaggerated the amount of Germany's re-armament. It was only the speed and efficiency of the Nazi war machine that defeated these two corrupt Jewish controlled powers. Germany had been re-arming itself in the previous year at a breakneck speed because Hitler had realized that all three powers: France, Stalin and Britain were in an arms race preparing for war and hoping to pounce on a defenseless Germany. He was not about to let that happen. Germany re-armed purely as a matter of self-survival: nothing more, as a reaction to her enemies: not as an aggressive act.

It was only after Churchill ordered his troops to invade Belgium that Hitler retaliated by striking them from behind after they had violated Belgium neutrality... and in spite of all Churchill's fuckups and his escalating the phony war into an all-out war... the conventional shit propaganda continues to ignore the factual evidence of what he actually did and praise him as the 'winner' of WW2... when he was the instigator of that pointless war and it was he who created that filthy global war and it was he who was personally responsible for refusing to end that war... which he could have easily done many times. It was Churchill who was personally responsible for escalating that war into the inhuman horror it became.

Winston Churchill was the most poisoned cunning fat war-monger in all England. The undead inside him drove him to spreading a conception of war never before imagined or seen in human history; as a vision of total annihilation and destruction ... and when his predicted vision of the future came to pass in a few short years... nobody noticed that it was he who had personally brought about this horror by his every fuckup and interference and bungling... Why? Because he was being controlled by undead malevolent evil ghouls: that's why. His demonizing of the progressive Hitler and the healthy young people of Germany as the most evil nation and culture on Earth, as the most evil tyranny in human history... this political propagandist of monstrous evil and monstrous lies: backed by the most cunning Jewish evil war profiteers and bankers: funded and controlled by the richest filthy evil Jews in the world; the most racist evil corrupt Jewish scum on earth... succeeded in reversing the perception of the actual truth into the opposite of what is actually true... This monstrous foul big lie that he sold to the western world outside of Germany... set the world onto the opposite course of Good, of Health and Honesty. It set the world onto the course of nuclear atomic self-destruction and nuclear radioactive poisoning of the entire world. It set the world, the living earth onto a downward spiral of death instead of an upward living growth. It destroyed the gentle British Empire and replaced that empire with the brutish callous American Empire of gluttony, greed and the Jewish Zionist domination of mankind and the satanic worship of money. It created a racial war between Jews and Germans and escalated it into a global insanity beyond human understanding. All of it was and is being controlled from the top down by undead filth; who will be permanently exterminated with extreme prejudice.

The fact that Churchill was controlled by the worst undead evil is proven by how he reversed the truth as it is happening. Churchill's turning the phony war into a world war of total annihilation was not the 'finest hour' of British history: it was the most horrible, the worst hour of that poisoned corrupt evil island. This fucking propaganda pig of a turd sold the worst as being the best. Let's all kill every German until they're all dead or until we're all dead! Mass genocide on both sides! Hate the enemy! Demonize the enemy! They're not human! Don't talk to your enemy: just kill them until they surrender in abject fear and terror! Bomb them into destruction until millions die! All that matters is winning! An insane megalomaniac accusing the sane intelligent Hitler of his own sickness as the common tactic of the undead: reverse everything! Have the sickest most insane most puffed up toad of an egomaniac accusing the most selfless patriot of exactly what he was guilty of. This is exactly what evil Jews have done since WW2: accuse intelligent, unprejudiced people of racism and hate speech when it is they who are the racists and hate-mongers.

Winston was a monomaniac about first creating.... and then winning the global war; at all costs... a war which he had fomented and started and pushed for. Winning what? The leftovers of an insanity that was so destructive: it dehumanized the entire human species it did not win anything; it lost everything worth living for. Instead of winning: they lost their own humanity forever and ever. They lost all right for them to live... yet these filth continue to exist and hiding secretly in their realm of the undead: they must be exterminated. So that life can grow unpoisoned by them.

That fat fucker Churchill insisted that his own children fight the Germans with carving knives from the kitchen rather than 'surrender'... while he himself hid in the bowels of the London underground subway system drunk out of his mind; terrified of being caught and killed for the filthy evil he was committing.

The same message of fighting to the death, to the last woman and child was being ranted in Germany by Hitler to the German brainwashed masses: death before dishonor: all German must fight to the death before allowing the enemy to trample the sacred soil of 'der Faterland'... Nobody asked these two fucking poisoned instruments of undead evil; these two mouthpieces of undead hate and racism exactly what they were fighting for... what good it does to fight your enemy until everyone is dead... to preserve what?... an empty land devoid of all life? Preserve what?... Death? Nobody in human civilization bothers to notice that in WW2 and every other war in human history there were no good guys or bad guys: just insane drugged brainwashed naked apes killing each other for no reason except being poisoned by their own undead ancestors.

That is exactly what these undead turds managed to do: manipulate hundreds of millions of insane brainwashed human puppets into pre-serving death before serving life. Reversing their natural function and priorities and value systems, and in doing so corrupting themselves forever.

Churchill's fucking propaganda bullshit about Hitler invading England was just one more bit of Churchill's relentless ruthless brutal indoctrination, terrorization and brainwashing of the English masses and the escalation of hostilities into the realm of total unreal horror and insanity. He confesses his genocidal intent openly in private but never in public:

"You must understand that this was is not against Hitler ot National Socialism but against the strength of the German people who must be smashed once and for all, regardless if it is in the hands of Hitler or a Jesuit priest."

This is the problem with these motherfucking fat fuckers like Churchill: when ruthless war-mongers who are the most evil corrupt ruthless brutal evil filth in the world... fight a decent upright honest military German people who are not as brutal and inhuman and corrupt and evil as that fucker Churchill was... The only fucking way that propaganda lying shit turd of an asshole could keep up the charade of this being a moral war of ‘good’ against ‘evil’... when it actually was a war of evil attacking GOOD... that stinking raving hatemonger had to demonize all Germany and Hitler as the most evil monster who ever lived... and that is a lie.

The problem with his war propaganda which has been since embedded into myth... is that the historical facts of WW2 are the complete opposite of what this war-mongering insane jackass was blaring during the war. His own lies are so enormous a distortion of the truth... the British and American war propaganda was so glaringly false; that the fight to revise this bullshit will never end until the truth triumphs over lies and Churchill is exposed as the evil shit he actually was.

The other glaring telling truth between good and evil is revealed in Hitler’s secretaries... all of which even after the war had been lost, and the propaganda brainwashing of Germans had been installed and the indoctrination of Germany had turned this brainwashed mass of fucking stupid idol worshipping jackasses into servile capitalist pigs... Even after decades of the entire world propaganda demonizing Hitler as the most evil monster who ever lived... In spite of the fact that it was and still is forbidden to say anything good about Hitler in Germany... every single one of Hitler’s secretaries remained loyal to Hitler after his death and still retained their love and respect for Hitler as a human being... In the middle of a catastrophic war he was losing, even then Hitler never lost his humanity. He always treated his secretaries decently and with consideration... while on the other side of the war: every single secretary of Churchill... even though this fuckup is touted as ‘winning the war’ and has been turned into a fucking shit-filled legend... every single one of Churchill’s secretaries after the war continued to detest him and despise him for the brutal ruthless inhuman, inconsiderate thug and pig which he was until the day he died.

Now here is the bullshit injected into the truth: their own secretary admitted that both of the Churchills were selfish... and then she added...

“But perhaps they had to be...”

Their secretary said this an excuse, trying to cover up the obvious truth; desperately trying to excuse the inexcusable; because the naked truth is so god-awful, so inexcusable... the apology of a slave for its master; needing to rationalize away what cannot be hidden, in order to bolster the politically correct whitewashing and worship of these upper class turds.

The answer is never given:... just WHY did these two spoiled, rotten, subhuman pieces of shit “have” to be selfish? What fucking royal higher authority required these two most privileged pieces of upper class shit to be selfish? Who told them they ‘had’ to be selfish? Who was the force or power making them be so utterly selfish? Why was it allowed for them to be selfish to this insane disgusting degree and nobody else? Why did these fucking servile little stinking apologists continually excuse, forgive and cover-up every single flaw and failing of these upper-class pieces of stinking shit?... This defending of the upper class by the lower class is why the entire human species is doomed if it does not wake up and stop tolerating this kind of unforgivable behavior in anyone; regardless of class or status or power or color or race or ethnic background. This blind eye to all the evils of the upper class and all the evils of civilization comes from the undead controlling every living human to tolerate the worst evil and do nothing about it. For this alone they need to be exterminated with extreme violence and killed dead.

The contrast between Hitler and Churchill is huge. Before the war: Hitler was so good a host that people from all around the world came to visit him and were impressed by how hospitable and charming he was. Churchill never cared for another human being except himself... and neither did his wife. Both were selfish pigs... and cats. Everybody knew Churchill had no friends: as Bernard Shaw’s famous telegram mentions when he invited the Prime Minister to the opening of his new play Major Barbara.

"Have reserved two tickets for first night. Come and bring a friend if you have one."

Another telling proof of how inhuman these two possessed undead shells were: they signed their letters to each other not as human beings but Winston signed his letters with the sketch of a pig and she signed her letters with the sketch of a cat. They argued and fought all the time like cats and dogs. They hated each other. They never shared a bedroom with each other. Winston was only allowed to her bed by written invitation alone. This kind of sick, evil, ancient, undead, inhuman aristocratic behavior is not normal or good or healthy. A pig and a cat: constantly squabbling and arguing and writing letters to each other and not sharing a bed together so they never slept with each other... and the fucking shit propaganda tries to present this as a loving marriage? You want to call this stinking evil sick filth love? Then you are even sicker and even more bereft of love than these two cold calculating evil selfish assholes were.

What was the religious hymn sung in the Sunday sermon when FDR and Churchill met on deck of the battleship the Prince of Wales? "Onward Christian soldiers marching on to war" Why? The undead were having their private secret joke... The decision of Christianity to destroy itself... millions of Christians killing other millions of Christians! Destroying the religious integrity of Christianity forever. Oh what fun! To so fool these stupid living shells into murdering each other in the name of Jesus by the tens of millions!!! On with death for all Mankind!! Let this fat pork of a pig be suckered into giving away his fucking British empire for a few rotten obsolete useless WW1 destroyers which had to be junked because they were so old and out of date they were useless.

Just before America officially joined Britain in a world war, that diseased undead turd Churchill suffered a heart attack which almost killed him dead... then near the end of the war he contracted pneumonia and almost died again in Tehran... but he didn't die: the undead filth inside him weren't finished using him to commit further evil... this dead rotten thing almost died many times but the undead scum kept the physical shell of this rotten toad alive; just like they did with Dick Cheney.

What died when Churchill finally suckered the Americans into his personal vendetta against Hitler was the last faint glimmer of human feeling in his rotten poisoned soul, the last humanity of this fat pus-filled thing disappeared and all that was left of this foul inhuman toad for the rest of its rotten filthy life was a miasma of ancestral undead ghouls controlling this thing until it finally died as a senile, rotting, bloating corpse that was so ugly, so disfigured and fat, no human words can describe it. Why? Because of what he did and had done during his life. Because of his personally escalating a phony unnecessary war into the insane horror it became.

The Americans robber baron elite were not in the slightest interested in joining the British stupid idiots in killing anyone except as a way to profit from the disaster as they had in WW1... meaning their policy was purely the policy of their war profiteers who owned and controlled the American corrupt govt. This endemic embedded corruption existed long before Eisenhower and his personally escalating that corruption into the military-industrial complex which it later became after WW2. Remember: the history of human civilization is a continual slide into ever-increasing evil; corruption and mass death, destruction, killing and mass horror. The war profiteers on the American side finally maneuvered Japan to attack Pearl Harbor after imposing an oil embargo on Japan which was the economic equivalent of an official declaration of war... Especially since the Americans knew Japan was in the middle of its own war in its invasion and conquest of China... and just at the most crucial of times: the American assholes decided to cut the oil lifeline which Japan needed not only for its industrial survival but to continue prosecuting the racist war of Asians killing Asians; as the westerners, the Christians were also doing on the other side of the world...

By this underhanded secret hidden foul way; America whitewashed the robber baron war profiteers and banking mafia of their hidden agenda to profit from both sides of this totally unnecessary war... The point is these rotten grubbing money merchants of death and destruction were and still are all controlled by their own ancestral undead who systematically poison them from birth onwards until they die physically as corrupt obedient servants of the undead. This is the only logical explanation of what happened and what is still happening: and until you fucking dumbled down idiots wake up and realize this: you will continue to be the pawns of the undead until you die and become an undead slave to their further evil horror and undead filth.

Another example of this filthy toad's corrupt sick life was his lifelong addiction cigars, food and especially to alcohol. Churchill was a lifelong alcoholic. During WW2 at lunch he generally had an entire bottle of champagne... and then a massive dose of brandy... and then conked out drunk on the couch. Keep in mind he went to sleep at 3 in the morning or at 6 in the morning so that what they called 'lunch' for Churchill was actually his fucking breakfast. When he woke up from his drugged dazed state after his first massive alcohol fix... he sipped whiskey mixed with water all fucking day until suppertime; glass after glass after glass, nonstop... then for supper he usually had another bottle of champagne and another massive dose of brandy... and then go on sipping his whiskey and soda for the rest of the fucking night all day long and into the night.

Churchill drank like this every day and every night during that evil filthy war, and after the war also... because it was the only way this insane toad of an evil filth could keep down the human horror of what he had become and what he was doing and had done and the only way this poisoned toad of the undead: this instrument of poisoned evil could live with himself without committing suicide... The only way he could live with himself was to poison himself as much as was humanly possible so he wouldn't be aware of how much he was being poisoned by undead ghouls, so he wouldn't be aware of what he was actually doing... as a reflection of how much this living shell was poisoned by his own ancestral rotten ghouls... along with every other evil ghoul that latched onto his hide and bloated him further into senility and cunning fat evil rotten ugliness.

Which leads to another telling exposure of how evil this sick toad actually was... after losing the election and being forced out of power during a card game someone made a flippant remark about suicide to which Churchill savagely interrupted not to make fun of something like that... It turns out that after losing his fucking position as war leader and PM; he became so despondent, so depressed that he could not go near a window or a railing for fear of flinging himself off the edge and killing himself. This exposes the inner truth of what this undead evil thing was. He was so addicted to power that living without it was like trying to live without his brandy and champagne and cigars and the adulation of pretty young girls; in fact life without the ultimate drug of power was not even worth living. Can anyone imagine this? No. The point is: only the most corrupt power-mongers even want power, and only the most evil filthy corrupt power-mongers attain power. Only living shells possessed by undead filth who are addicted to power, to the power over living human souls want that kind of power in politics. The point is: trying to understand Churchill's suicidal depression after the war was won cannot be understood by any human being that is not as evil and possessed by undead demons as this fat toad was. Any normal human being would have been ecstatic at the fighting and killing being over and being able to go back to enjoying their lives without being bombed and attacked every day. But Churchill was not human: he was a zombie drone: which had been programmed for a mission of evil: and the instant that evil mission was over... the human part of that drone wanted to commit suicide because the iron undead will pushing it into committing abomination after abomination had been momentarily lifted... and suddenly the slave-soul had nothing left to live for because it was living for death: not for Life, it was living for war not for peace, it lived for power not for human equality and freedom; it lived for evil not for GOOD. If you had won a world war and were no longer Prime Minister and could play cards and drink champagne and brandy and be surrounded by pretty girls and be admired and worshipped and adored by everyone around you... would you want to jump off a ledge, or out of a window because you were no longer Prime Minister anymore!??

Do you have any conception of how infantile, how maudlin this is? How full of shit it is? How self-pitying it is? How selfish and self-serving this is? How divorced from all reality that is? So now having time to spend with his family meant nothing at all to him? Fuck his children and his wife: he wanted to kill himself because he was the most spoiled rotten toad in England and if he couldn't be Prime Minister and the apple of everyone's eye and leading a huge war effort... why he didn't want to go on living any more! Gosh the poor little fucking baby... the poor little fucking ruthless, callous, cold, arrogant reptile of a toad-baby...

This is what happens to you when you are given everything in your life without earning it; this is what happens to you when you never had to work for anything in your life. This is what happens to you when you have everything done for you by slaves, this is what happens to you when your toothpaste is squeezed out onto your toothbrush for you, so you never have to squeeze your own toothpaste. This is what happens when you develop such a egomaniacal, arrogant self-image of yourself as a god, as being above all humanity that nothing else matters but the ultimate power of social status and position. Is this something to be admired? No it is not. It is something to be reviled and despised. Why did Churchill so desperately need it? Because he had nothing else; because he was an empty shell, a walking zombie used by the undead.

Would you want to live like this rotten fat pig lived? Is the thing called 'Winston Churchill' a healthy living example of how the best of humanity should live?

No: he was not a healthy example of how to live; he was the worst

Winston Churchill was the unhealthiest example of how to live in the British Empire. Just as the rotting crippled corpse called Roosevelt was the unhealthiest example of how to live in America... just as Stalin was the unhealthiest example of how to live in the Russian empire.

Yet the stinking propaganda machines of civilized evil continue to parade these three sick evil criminal monsters as 'great leaders' and these three things continue to be worshipped and idolized by every brainwashed imbecile in the western world.

This stupidity must be stopped

Another telling proof of how evil this fat pig was: was his total incompetence as a prime minister during WW2; his deputy minister Attlee was the actual intelligent decisive competent person who ran and managed the cabinet and made the decisions running the war effort... Churchill was merely the talking head: the figurehead of this evil foul snake of imperial rotten filth that had been taken over by the Jewish Zionist banking mafia. Churchill's lazy bumbling procrastination in making any decision and Attlee's crisp decisiveness is incisively described by the undersecretary who served under both of these men.

Another example of the rotten incompetent stupidity of this arrogant racist brutalized fat toad was his interference in the military running of the war from the beginning, until finally the Americans and Eisenhower wrested all military decisions out of his hands and kept him out of the loop, as it were; not feeding him any information.

But this did not stop him from trying to fuckup everything at the last moment... no sir... just before D-Day when all the plans had been laid... that arrogant prick came up with an alternative to the landings in Normandy... the undead shit hiding inside him: that fucking 'Duke of Marlborough' was still hankering to re-live his 300 year-old military escapades in Europe. He wanted the allied forced to land in Spain! Not in Normandy. This proved the ultimate provocation for the chief of the imperial general staff Alan Brook. Brook would brook no more interference in the war effort anymore by this fucking incompetent toad. Churchill wanted the allies to invade Europe by invading Spain and then southern France instead of Normandy! The next morning Churchill adverted to his plan and Brook began a factual, faultless logical analysis of all the cons against Churchill's madcap idea; destroying Churchill's entire idea point by point, coldly and efficiently... and after he was finished: he looked at Churchill and said:

"Now Prime Minister: I'm going to tell you what I think about your wasting of the time of my staff on absurd and irresponsible irrelevancies of this kind... at a time when we are trying to conduct the invasion according to principles which we have all... you not least... have established and agreed upon for some time..." and continued to rebuke Churchill and his stupid plan and his meddling until the fat toad was completely humiliated in front of the entire staff.

Did this bother Churchill? What? After being reviled and rebuked all his fucking life by his own father and mother and all the boys and teachers of Harrows where he suffered all the harrowing experiences of being beaten and all the other abuse he had suffered throughout his evil damaged life? It didn't bother him one fucking bit; he was used to abuse; he was an insensitive toad.. Brutality was normal for him. That was how brutal, unfeeling and evil he had become and was.

Another example of how totally the evil, stupid and disgusting the British system of fucking 'monarchy' and 'nationalism' is was Churchill's addiction for notoriety and attention and fame. He decided if he couldn't fuckup the plans for D-Day then maybe he could get some propaganda shit press coverage by going himself personally to witness the invasion. Eisenhower became furious with that interfering fat jackass and refused to allow him on any ship in the invasion force. Churchill impudently and arrogantly claimed his right to being on board a ship of the Royal Navy which was not under the direct command of the American general. The king heard of this and decided that he wanted to go also. "I was a naval officer dammit; if Winston can damn well go then I can also..."

The king finally told Churchill; "Look if you go... I go..." to which Winston responded in his fucking act of humble dutiful servant of British servility to this aristocratic token of royalty; "It's much too dangerous for you, your royal highness." The king replied 'Look: if it's too dangerous for me then it's too dangerous for you and you're more important for this war than I am.' This stopped the asshole from going for exactly 6 days. He finally managed to persuade the king to allow him to cross the channel for a brief visit to Montgomery's headquarters. None of the generals liked this because if Churchill had been killed on their watch they would have been in deep trouble. They detested that toad's interfering meddling tactic of making himself a continual nuisance underfoot which was how that fucking ass behaved his entire life.

This episode in Churchill's life underlines the basic evil stupidity of all monarchical privilege and authoritative power. The assumption that the head of state must be preserved and protected... at the cost and regardless of the cost of all the millions of worthless slaves being exploited and used by the state... the fucking king must not be killed! The fucking prime minister must not be killed!

All the other motherfuckers can be killed dead
De're not da rulers: Fuck dem... dey don't count

What counts is keeping da head of da state safe

While all da udders are bombed and die
Now dats a real intelligent fucking way of national pride; ignoring the value of human life! The lives of millions of people mean nothing!

The exact same insanity was being enacted on the German side... it didn't fucking matter if ten million or all the 70 million Germans were killed dead dey don't count... what was really fucking 'important was keeping da fucking Fuehrer safe from all harm!

Now dat's a real fucking intelligent way of preserving da German super race so day can dominate and conquer da whole wide world!

The same insanity was going on in the Russian empire... it didn't matter how many millions of Russians were killed and died of cold hunger starvation brutality, disease, war, waddever... Who cares... nobody... more fodder for da war machine... lets kill as many fucking stupid subhuman slaves as we can! As long as da fuckin Stalin wasn't killed dead... dats wad matters in war!

They don't notice the illogical fallacy embedded in their fucking cultural 'national' brainwashing. They're much too fucking stupid to refuse to obey their fucking authority figures.

And so the millions of fucking Russian subhuman slaves and German subhuman slaves and English subhuman slaves and American subhuman slaves went on a killing spree that lasted for five fucking years... and nobody noticed that by doing these horrible things to each other; they were doing it to themselves... they were being permanently dehumanized into even lower levels of brainwashed stupidity and evil. As they died in the millions, to protect the very masters who sent them to their fucking deaths and condemned them to die at the hands of other subhuman slaves... when all these fucking imbecile had to do to stop the madness was to shoot their masters dead: shoot Hitler Churchill Stalin and Roosevelt Dead... and your fucking troubles are over. Recognize who the war mongers are and kill them dead. End result: no war. PEACE.

The killing of those four rotten assholes would have saved the lives of 50 million human beings who were a million times healthier and more deserving of life than these three mass murderers. But nooo! The farce of undead shit controlling living humans without any of them being aware they are being controlled continues to this day. When will the human species wake up and realize what is being done to them? If you don't then you are fucked.

The insanity of nationalism and the blind obedience to authority pre-empting the value of human life has already been demonstrated in two world wars. The insanity of capitalist mass manufacturing industrialized civilization placing the value of human life above all other forms of life on earth has already been demonstrated by the destruction of eco-systems and the systematic pollution and degradation of all human environments all over the world.

Has this stopped the human species from repeating its past mistakes and idiocies? No.... Why not you motherfuckers? Ask yourselves why you are supporting and abetting what you already know is evil. Ask yourselves why the most evil people in the world always organize themselves better than any decent honest motive in human souls which is not evil. What is stopping all decent human slaves from organizing yourselves against the top elite who own and control you and who you know are evil?

Another filthy example of the pure evil of Churchill was his famous 'naughty document' where Churchill and Stalin carved up Europe: between them behind closed doors, with Churchill giving most of Europe to Stalin. The 'naughty document' a small piece of paper which Churchill had personally written in his sloppy almost illegible script and handed it to Stalin nonchalantly in public, with everyone watching... on the paper was written a list dividing 5 European countries into political 'spheres of influence'... Stalin took the on the paper: looked at it: it was quite clear as to how the two had agreed to carve up Europe after the war and handed it back to Churchill without comment... Nervously, Churchill finally said to Stalin: "Maybe we should destroy this paper... because people will later think how easily and cynically we decided the fate of millions of people."

Stalin replied with complete indifference... “No... it’s your paper, since someone in London is thinking about that, why should you destroy it? Just take it away with you.”

First the fact that Stalin’s power came from the point of a gun and not from public opinion made him despise the western scum for his fear and guilt of being discovered. Stalin’s masses were sealed off from the western corruption of mass media and corporate robber barons. He wasn’t worried about any news coming from Yalta into his empire that would reveal his true nature. He had 100% control over the media of the Russian empire: Churchill did not have that kind of power. He was forced to play a 2-faced role: one for the cameras, and the other face to be kept hidden from the western press

In this tiny personal exchange between these two diseased evil sick monsters; these mass murderers, these despots and dictators of eastern and western civilization, an entire world of hidden evil is finally revealed by Stalin’s cryptic comment:

“Someone in London”

Stalin as a Russian Jew recognized the lurking hidden evil power of the Jewish master who controlled Churchill; and knew Churchill for what he was; a little terrified obedient mouse under the thumb of Rothschild: Stalin knew Rothschild held that little fat toad’s balls in his hands and could crush him any time he wished if he were so disposed to. That was his indirect cryptic reference to “someone in London” That meant the City of London; which was still the financial capital of the world and the man who owned and controlled that inner city, and that meant the owner of the bank of England who controlled that entire financial capital of the world, which was the Rothschild dynasty of filth sick greedy Jews who had been in control of capitalism long before the Bolsheviks had wrenched power from them in Russia when they were being funded and aided by the Jewish capitalist scum of the west who sent envoys with millions of dollars to the Reds and sent convoys of ships to Russia and organized the rebuilding of their factories of mass death and basically organized and built the base of Stalin’s entire ‘industrial revolution’ for Stalin... thinking to takeover Russia in the cunning plan to put him under their sway as they had systematically done to all the other western nationalized powers...

What they the western Jewish banking mafia had not anticipated was that they were dealing with another Jew: not with a non-Jew, as they had with all their other successful secret sly takeovers of the national banks and economies and nations... In Stalin they met their match in cynical cunning evil and ruthlessness... however what Stalin lacked was the longevity of the western Jewish banking mafia... they had set up their systematic plans for the takeover of the entire world on a long time-perspective which spanned generations. Stalin's greedy grab for power was a short-lived affair. Stalin had no interest in who would come after him to preserve and expand the Russian empire he had stolen from Lenin by poisoning him to death: he was a Jewish criminal murdering thug who was only interested in his own evil life and nothing further. The western Jewish criminals had a dynastic culture that was based upon thousands of years of cunningly gaining power and wealth and building up a Jewish population of lower class slaves in the attempt to insert themselves as masters of the lands they invaded and infiltrated... slowly... cunningly entering the most corrupt professions and occupations possible... which is to say the most crucial positions of power in every society. All the western Jews did to Stalin was place an embargo on trade, isolate his empire from the rest of the world and outwait him... until the isolated thing that was a huge part of the world in fact the largest empire on earth... died of isolation, of loneliness, it died of neglect, by being cut off from the rest of the world.

Then there is the coffin nail of Churchill's and the British empire's role; and their guilt in creating a World War out of nothing: using the 'defense' of Polish national sovereignty as the excuse to start World War. Having already conceded the eastern part of Poland to Stalin before the war had ended... Churchill then allowed Stalin to take over all of Poland... and there that fat motherfucker sat: having lost his token excuse for starting WW2 after fighting the wrong dictator: after demonizing the wrong man and the wrong race and the wrong nation and the wrong culture... after spreading filthy propaganda lies about Germany and Hitler and the Nazis all over the world... and then watched Stalin coldly take over more than half of Europe in one gulp of pure territorial greed and ruthlessness that made his level of aristocratic ruthlessness look like a laughingstock compared to Stalin's.... The miscarriage of his birth and the miscarriages of his entire life had finally led up to the pinnacle of the miscarriage of Justice, Fate, Karma, Sanity and Humanity in the miscarriage of WW2

That drunken fat fucker had backed the wrong race. He had backed Jews against Anglo-Saxons of his own blood. He had betrayed his own English heritage; the Jewish blood in his ancestry had poisoned him completely while the English undead rot had been neatly used and cast aside whenever it was not convenient for the massive undead evil hidden in the world. He had betrayed the human species on so many levels and in so many ways: his list of fuckups had mounted to such an enormous monstrous incalculable level of evil that no human brain can grasp it or even realize what this thing, that had once been an innocent baby, had been twisted into. And to cap it off, his one token lie which he had desperately tried to save in order to save his own face from shame every time he looked in mirror and saw nothing but the raw stupidity of a British bulldog: the stupidest animal on earth and the ugliest... the one thing he tried to save: the nation of Poland from the grasp of the evil totalitarian Bolshevik Russian Jew Stalin, was swept away from him and he had nothing left to be proud of anymore. The instant the World War ended he was voted out of office. Nobody in their right minds in England wanted that colossal fuck-up, that arrogant colossal boorish thug in power during peacetime. Did this stop that fat toad of a monster? No. Instead he tried to use his own fuckup as a lever to get himself back into power... warning the world all over again for the 3rd time on his rotten war-mongering political career about the need to prepare for war all over again! Ranting about the dangers of Bolshevik Russian evil instead of Nazi evil! Er... you know: the friendly 'uncle' Stalin whom he had been becoming fast 'friends' with at the end of WW2 and liking him more and more?... Somehow clashes with this last bit of bullshit this British shit took on as his 3rd religious crusade of war-monger extraordinaire. But this time the Jewish bankers were not funding him anymore and the Americans didn't care what this fat fuckup did or said: since they had gotten their pound of flesh and the British Empire was an empty shell stripped of everything it had once represented. Churchill the great fucking war-monger... that is until Stalin cold-shouldered him after taking all he could get and told the Americans to go fuck themselves. Ah, the ungratefulness of thieves; each one trying to grab for as much power and world domination as they can. Each empire pointing the finger of blame at the other. The farce of the good and the bad and the ugly and the stupid: being used to kill and destroy all the Beauty of the Living Earth, used to kill every beautiful inner soul and every beautiful living body until the entire human species becomes a morass of ugliness and corruption.

Churchill managed to scrape his way one last time back into power in England and ruined the British postwar recovery for sure so Britain would never recover from the evil this traitorous monster had done to his own people and his own class and his own govt and his own empire...

What about Churchill's own personal realization and rationalization of the fuckup he was personally responsible for? His own father had predicted his future as a wastrel long before he was ever elected into office with his mother's help as a politician. He failed to mention this faux pas to the rest of the 'free world' which actually was not free: because it had been under the thumb of the Jewish mafia criminals of the Rothschilds for a century before WW1 had been orchestrated by them to increase their power and world domination... He, that fat filthy fucking toad failed to mention his colossal fuckup for the simple reason that the Jewish bankers of England owned him: they owned his filthy rotten traitorous arrogant racist bigoted scum-ridden soul, and he could not afford to let the world know of this: otherwise his fucking worldwide 'fame' as the Winston; the 'winner' of World War Two would be forever blemished with the inconvenient ugly truth that he had been only a minor pawn in the biggest evil power-grab undertaking on earth: and that he had been duped and fooled not only by Stalin but by Roosevelt also... that these two scoundrels had neatly edged the British empire and all of its power and prestige and former glory out of existence... and left Churchill holding a bag of shit: a destroyed England, a destroyed Europe and a destroyed world and a terrorized insane mass of subhuman slaves who still didn't realize or understand how easily they had been brainwashed into killing each other by the millions in order to keep the fucking upper crust of Churchill's class still in power. No... that fat motherfucking thing did not say one word of this realization. His brutalized selfishness did not care one fucking bit for the rest of the world he had destroyed or the ugliness he had created and the living beauty he had destroyed forever. The same can be said for the reptilian dinosaurs. They had not cared one fig for the living beauty they had destroyed and in the end they were destroyed along with everything else they had destroyed. The machinery of industrialized human civilization that these three monsters represented: FDR, Stalin and Churchill destroyed more living beauty than all the reptiles that ever lived put together and does any civilized fart care about it like I do? No.

At the last conference in Yalta when Roosevelt told Churchill in no uncertain terms he didn't care one fig what happened to Eastern Europe or Poland and Stalin was given the lion's share of the spoils due to his massive military machine and the bloody destruction fought on the eastern front which made the western front look like a tea party, Churchill told his daughter:

"Tonight, the sun goes down on more suffering now than ever in the world."
What he predicted came true. The Jewish regime of Stalin and his massive evil effect on the world at large killed more people, starved more people to death, created more human suffering than all the horrors of the WW2 combined. The spread of the evil ethnic racist poison of Jewish Bolshevik Leninist Marxism into red China killed and starved to death and murdered and raped and spread hatred and terror even more millions of subhuman lives than Stalin's original Jewish seed of mass inhumanity and Bolshevik Jewish brand of systematic mass impoverishment, bestiality and cruelty, sadism did. After Churchill; that evil fiend Stalin was personally responsible for the suffering and death of many more millions after WW2... but it was Churchill who had saved him from the Germans; without Churchill's aid and his getting America into the war: the Bolshevik regime of Stalinist Russia would have been wiped out by Hitler. That was what Churchill did.

Only at the ending of the war did Churchill belatedly realize his mistake, and then he couldn't do anything to stop what he had set into motion and worked for all his life: the total destruction of the healthiest most humane human ethnic culture and race in the world... Then he realized he was personally responsible for the future suffering and death of untold billions of people, and all he could do was confess his own guilt secretly to his own daughter... while keeping the horrible truth from everyone else because he did not want to lose his fucking 'fame', as a false mythic figure for posterity, as a poison filled fraud and lie to brainwash billions of future generations of subhuman slaves about 'winning' a war he created so he could 'win' a war.

Again... you need to remember that everything Churchill did turned out to be a miscarriage of Justice. The entire life of that evil toad was a miscarriage of Life and Justice. Everything he said was a bunch of misinformation, lies and bullshit. Churchill literally created, invented the worst possible scenario and then made that imagined evil happen as a miscarriage of Fate, as a miscarriage of the worst possible Future because he had the entire realm of the undead slaving away to help make it happen. This is why all undead must be killed dead: killed with extreme prejudice.

Now... try to explain just how this alcoholic sick, twisted dwarf of an imbecile at Yalta managed to have the insight and perspective to see the future consequences of his own horrible blunder in demonizing and attacking the wrong empire, the wrong nation the wrong people the wrong leader, the wrong ethnic race... and yet how he failed to see or feel any shred of guilt or responsibility about his hand in this er... unforeseen fate of the lower classes of mankind... Not the upper classes. Oops: let the cat out of the bag already, have I? Oh well... yes it is true. Winston Churchill had been a class racist all of his life. Every fucking populist speech he gave in his whole lying shit-filled life was merely a rhetorical weapon used in the professional lie-arsenal. No different from any other professional liar except he wrote better speeches, he was a better writer than most politicians and a far more cunning liar and propagandist.

How could such a moron become so eloquent a writer? By the undead infusing themselves into his aura until he became a mouthpiece, so they spoke through him: using him like a microphone, a tool: that's how. This is what the undead do to living people: they slowly take over their mind, will and body until they are completely possessed and controlled by them. Once you understand that this systematic process of corruption happens to nearly all living people you will understand why the human species has been so evil.

Try to explain this blind spot of perception in his awareness... the explanation of his English aristocratic upbringing and racist arrogance towards all the rest of mankind and the fact that he had sold all his scruples and his soul a long time ago to the highest satanic Jewish power of the Rothschild bankers of the City of London still cannot explain it.

A sociopathic compartmentalized mind lacking all social and personal conscience, capable of divorcing itself from its other parts, refusing to understand itself and look at itself as an integrated totality; playing its cunning compartmentalized roles and bit-parts still cannot explain it...

A compendium of undead ghouls hiding secretly inside the body of Winston Churchill, who had long ago choked off the pitiful weak dying whimpers of a child in need of being loved and slowly killed off the living soul of that physical body and replaced the original motives of the empty husk with a multiple-personality complex of undead motives; who once achieving their mission leave the body... and with them also leaves the deep, inner, single-minded, maniacal drive to destroy Hitler and Germany once the job is finished and done? And once the evil is done, he realizes he fought the wrong enemy, but feels no guilt about it and begins ranting about the Evils of the Soviets and Stalin... And the whole fucking world fails to notice that it was he who made the blunder in the first place, and it was he who helped Stalin take over half of Europe? This makes no human sense whatsoever.

The single ghoul of the undead mind controlling the living mind as a single mind, a single mind, dead to the world it lives in... a single mind that is dead and feels no human emotion. A single dead mind... A single-minded obsession to conquer or die, channeling all of the brutalized dehumanized desensitized twisted ugly deformed life energy of that sick, dying, diseased, barely alive, rotten shell of a man: a shrunken 5 ft dwarf-man inside a boy's weak body; controlled by an invisible persona that has synchronized its aura with the life-aura of the living shell so that the shell cannot tell any difference between its will and the stronger will of the undead force bending it to its secret wishes and agenda...? Now that begins to explain it...

Another point is, to look into the life of someone like Winston Churchill and dimly understand how the systematic, ongoing damaging, poisoning, corrupting, weakening and twisting and deforming of an innocent baby before it is even born... born into one of the most corrupt, evil, corrupt, coldly inhuman aristocratic families in all of England... how the undead beat him like a drum, dehumanized him, brutalized him, starved him of all love, twisted and deformed him into the brutal, unfeeling, crazed, drugged, twisted monster he finally became... how they secretly instilled into his mind a programmed unquestioning obedience to higher authority of class racism which they used to make him selectively obey his uncle when ordered to propose marriage, and obey Baron Rothschild when ordered to act as the secret agent of destruction against the German Nazi Hitler, and disregard his own inner true self, and selectively take as his living examples, his ideal of how to live, his basic ideology: the most horrible selfish, dominating, cruel, inhuman scum on earth. Winston Churchill had been brainwashed into taking orders and carrying out his orders faithfully. His stint in the army in India was the happiest time of his life and the most formative of his adolescent/adult persona. Whoever owned and controlled the wealth of the British Empire, the Bank of England, and was a personal friend of the king and had bought him and saved him from bankruptcy in his years of obscurity cast out of favor in the wilderness. That authority as far as he was concerned represented the British Empire's wishes more closely than any political party or political agenda.

Another telling thing about the Yalta conference was the incredible selfish callousness and cynical behavior of all three supposed 'allies'. Even before the war is won, it becomes crystal clear that these stinking evil assholes were not friends at all they never were, in fact all of them were enemies of each other. They had only come together each for their own personal selfish reasons, and the instant it suited their purpose they broke their fucking supposed sacred official agreements almost before they were signed, and thumbed their noses at each other and dared each other to do anything about it, saying

"Nyaanya, naya nya nyaaa... What are you going to do about it... start another World War by using another excuse to destroy the entire world again? Gonna bomb da whole world with Atomic bombs now?"

The entire world had already had its bellyful of war and killing and death and betrayal.

This first exposes the double standard of the entire Churchillian rationale behind his fucking bullshit propaganda justification for inventing a world war out of thin air... Germany's horrible! Hitler's Awful! Unforgivable! Terrible! Dangerous! World catastrophic! Breaking of a secret international treaty between Poland and England? How fucking flimsy can you get? Not only that: breaking a treaty which Germany had never agreed to. And had never been asked to agree to. How many fucking treaties have been broken in history? All of them. So every treaty that was ever broken was a good excuse to start a world war? Is any treaty by any govt worth the paper it is printed on? Treaties are used to advance evil and destroy GOOD: that is all they are used for.

England and France invading Belgium before Hitler invaded France? Pah. A mere technicality. Not even worth debating or even talking about. So what; big deal... the two capitalist European powers started the war against Hitler and Germany, so what? What was important was that their propaganda had worked and the German's didn't: that's all. They had better propaganda and better brainwashing systems in place: that's all. The only thing Hitler and the Nazis had on their side was more honesty mixed up with hate and lies. The capitalists had pure bullshit mixed with sweeter tasting lies, more attractive lies, more cunning lies. It had managed to brainwash their masses in a very short period of time, which allowed a few powerful heads of state an excuse to pursue their hidden secret agendas.

What's that? Poland?... Committing genocide against innocent German people? What? Naaaa... never heard of it... if I didn't hear of it, it didn't happen. If it wasn't blared on western movie screens as official propaganda it's not true. Let's move on to the biggest propaganda lies of WW2. Bury the actual truth, bury the past and focus on the false lie of Germans committing genocide on Jews. Now there's a pretty bauble of bullshit to hang you hat on. 60 years of a monstrous racist lie, turning into a racist myth, turning into a religion of racism, turning into racist politically correct laws against free speech, turning into racist witch hunts, turning into a racist inquisition who dares question this myth, turning into racist Jews becoming the new roman citizens of the world: an elite special class of racist scum who can commit any crimes they want with impunity and never have to worry about being found guilty of anything because they are and have been the worst racist evil hating scum of mankind for thousands of years! It makes sense: doesn't it? All Jews in the world are now by unspoken agreement racially innocent of any crime they commit due to their race, regardless how guilty they are. Now there is a taboo, an unspoken truth which is not allowed to be spoken! Allowing the racist domination and control and takeover of the richest civilization in the world by a small racist Zionist Rothschild Jewish banking mafia of criminals who cannot be accused of being criminals because of their race... what a neat swindle!

The Yalta conference of the big three thugs: the three criminals uncovered the hidden secret agendas of the three criminal empires. It uncovered that they were pursuing goals independent of each other. The only reason they had managed to stay together was that their hidden agendas and goals did not directly conflict with each other, while their No.1 goal remained the destruction of the healthiest western Christian industrialized race and culture which was threatening to destroy the other more evil ones.

WW2 was a racial war, a cultural war, a war of greater evil against lesser evil, a war of which side had the best propaganda, which side was more brainwashed, which side was the best at hiding its secret agendas from the other, which side was better at raping the resources of the world, which side had more oil, which side had more weapons of mass destruction, which side has better weapons of mass distraction, which side was more brutal, which side was more inhuman, which side was more destructive, which side was more evil: and inside the negative medium of civilization, the more negative side always wins out over the less negative side. The ones who hate more win over the ones who hate less. The ones who are greedier win over the ones who are less greedy. As it has been for untold thousands of years and will be until civilization is destroyed forever.

As Yalta revealed, it turned out that the big three had completely different objectives in pursuing the war: they were pursuing three completely different goals.

No 1: the Rothschild Jewish bought and controlled puppet Churchill was pursuing a racial war of hatred against Hitler and Germany and the setting up of a Jewish Zionist criminal state that was not in a 3rd world country, but a resurgence of the first Zionist racist state of Israel, a backwards regression into the Jewish Hebrew undead past so they could pick up more undead support for their goals and secret hidden conspiracies and agendas. All to protect the hidden Jewish banking mafia scum now embedded inside the British system of aristocratic power, privilege and wealth... and enrich themselves even more a thousand times over.

No 2: the American dying cripple-inna-wheelchair...! I mean really... how many cripples inna wheelchair about to die in 6 weeks get to be worshipped as the most powerful wise leader of their shit-filled country? His main goal was to destroy the British Empire and strip it of all its lucrative trade contacts in a capitalist agenda of oil and corporate profiteers establishing their oligarchic monopolies of corporate power and wealth through international trade deals and secret arrangements done behind closed doors; thus gaining themselves an international empire, without suffering the huge cost of war or military conquest, a shadow empire of secrecy and corporate greed, avarice and wealth. Corporations are a larger body of undead corpses. Corporations have in common the exact same corruptions as undead corpses; they are controlled and used and manipulated by undead corpses. The greater majority of the realm of the undead of rotting corpses corrupts Mankind yet again.

No3: was the most brutal: territorial acquisition and raw power by the lowest class of criminal Jews in Russia... plus the racial hatred against a superior race that was more human than they were. Vast sweeps of Asia and Europe under the absolute power of a Jewish Yahweh, a Jewish madman more vengeful than Genghis Khan, posing as a lovable uncle, a father figure of pure hate and malevolent evil... which just so happens to be the exact same image portrayed by the Hebrew deity in the Old and New Testament of the Jewish and Christian Bible: gosh... wadda coincidence.. A military totalitarian state of the crudest most inept brainwashing techniques ever invented by the most ruthless Jewish lower class murderers and back stabbers ever born; a copy of the two-faced Jewish Gods invented and developed 1,000's of years ago; an insane Roman Janus.

Cunning racist Jews conspiring so the stupid less cunning less corrupt Christians will kill each other by the millions and destroy each other... while the more evil Jews escape unharmed and increase their evil seed and populate the earth tenfold to cover it with their scum. Jewish NKVD machine gun squads making sure the Christian Russian peasant armies of Stalin fight and kill other Christians, while they the Jews escape scot free safe from all harm to terrorize the rest of the remaining slaves of Stalin's totalitarian empire. A 2 thousand year-old racial war of Hebrew racism and hatred; Hebrew religious sects trying to exterminate each other. The crucifixion of Christ re-enacted as punishment for being the lesser of two evils inside a negative civilized system which only allows the most evil to prevail. The older the hate the more powerful it is. Only instead of one Jewish Christ being crucified, it is millions of crucified Christians being killed, not knowing why they are being persecuted and by whom. Gosh, wadda coincidence. The preservation of hate and religious racism by the undead controlling human lives. That's what organized religion is all about. Now the Muslim-Christian-Jewish religious wars begin to be recreated in earnest in the Middle East. You mean the undead who fought and killed and hated each other in those regions for thousands of years might have something to do with this? Gosh... wadda coincidence.

Oops: the ultimate goal of these racist undead Hebraic ghouls has been an open secret for thousands of years...written down in their own religious texts... their hidden secret agenda of being the 'chosen race' has been part of their public propaganda shit for thousands of years, and has been a prediction... which is now at last finally coming true. Gee: so the historical past does explain the historical present and there is no mystery after all... just more human blindness, more misery, more hate, more stupidity, more evil etc, etc, ad-vomit. Committed by evil undead things that need to be exterminated; and their agents in the realm of the Living.

Now it becomes crystal clear how these undead criminal filth work; they cooperate with each other.... The more cunning evil filth get the less cunning undead filth to cooperate with them by giving them what they want... in the case of Winston Churchill's dynastic undead ancestors: it was a nice country estate where they could loll about in royal luxury by artificially made lakes so they could admire the artificial landscape of their artificial fantasies, as they once had when they were alive.

What...? World domination? Who gives a fuck about that? Let those Jewish undead racist imbeciles waste their time with preserving their racial hatred and feuds; the undead of Winston Churchill preferred the luxury and ease of lolling about in his country estate to the constant conspiring and hating and killing of the other ghouls. All they cared about was corrupting their own progeny so he won't be strong enough when they pass into the realm of the undead to kill them for what they did to him. That was their personal ancestral agenda of their living children and always has been. As for the Hebrew undead, we English undead outnumber them as a race anyways... we can topple them any time if we decide to...

Oops. Maybe not... Maybe the pen is mightier than the sword: maybe brains does beat brawn... maybe the best liars and swindlers win over the best thugs and rapists, maybe the most active undead haters win out over the most lazy inactive undead slobs, maybe the best active brainwashers and swindlers and liars win out over the inactive watchers, the undead spectating masses who take no part in this mass of conspiring hatreds and ancient feuds and rivalries and become brainwashed imbeciles. Maybe the best haters win only in an environment of hate... called civilization. Maybe the Realm of the undead is pure negative anti-life evil.

The other telling final explanation of how Churchill's own undead had twisted his rotten soul into committing the unspeakable evil he had done is another encounter

After losing power immediately after winning the war he sat down at his usual chair at the cabinet table and his shorthand secretary sat down at his usual chair directly opposite Churchill... And then that fat motherfucking maudlin piece of shit... that self-pitying piece of self-serving asshole begins to reminisce! With an underling whom he... like all servants and underlings of his filthy inhuman life treated like dirt, like shit... ignored, abused, used... and then suddenly out of power, he suddenly begins now that he is out of office... starts talking to this little robotic slave/servant of a servile mouse of a man on a personal level... as if he was Churchill's equal! And begins nostalgically talking about the perilous dangerous trips he had taken together with his slave whom he had never once spoken to except using him as a tape recorder: as a machine... talking about the war and all the places 'both' of them had visited and the outcome of the war... and then he said:

"And now the British people don't want me anymore."

And tears began 'rolling down his fucking fat blubber cheeks. And that little fucking mouse of a slave to the British aristocracy confesses that tears began to troll down his cheeks as well.

NOW: finally one crucial factor of this toad's deprived rotten sick unhappy life can be explained. What Churchill had been twisted into... what he had been deluded into by his own undead evil filthy ancestors... was something called 'emotional tokenism'. Replacing one authority figure with another. His early infantile child's yearning for love from his mother had been cut off and shunted into a need for the people of England to love him! Can you believe this shit? Since he had never received any 'love' from his cold heartless turd of a mother: he develops this need to be loved by a faceless mob of people called the English voters. In other words: this sick emotionally twisted piece of shit: the reason he was motivated all his deprived life to fight for notoriety, attention, public office, public recognition, political office political recognition, being accepted and recognized as the Prime fucking minister of fucking Britain!... was because his mommy didn't love him when he was little. Instead, he had a fucking nanny that loved him called Mrs. Everest... but that love wasn't worth anything. Because that love wasn't the 'love' of his upper class turd of a 'mother'... That was Lower class 'love' which in Churchill's eyes was worthless And so in some sick twisted unfathomable way: everything this fat asshole did: every horrible evil and sin he committed was for love? His unrequited yearning to be 'loved' by a piece of shit that did not know what love was?

AND! Even further into this sick morass of evil: anyone unsnarling this crap is supposed to feel sympathy for this weak self-pitying piece of shit, who can't endure the 'rejection' he 'suffers' when the 'people of England' 'Don't want him anymore'... "Waaaaa! Waaaaa! Mommy! Waaaaa!"

An arrested infantile baby: emotionally frozen in a perpetual wailing for love that it was never given. Oh the poor little fucking rich boy...

What is not mentioned ... is that for thousand of years... hundreds and millions and billions of human babies who were not rich, and not spoiled rotten, and not born into the lap of privilege and luxury also have been born into families that never loved them.

What is not mentioned in this story is the fact that uncounted billions of human babies have suffered trauma, pain, horror, death, hate, rape, burned alive, skewered alive, their brains bashed in, starved to death, beaten, raped, sodomized, tortured to death, degraded, used, terrorized and SUFFERED a million billion times more pain and unhappiness than this fucking shit ever did in his whole fucking upper class infancy, childhood and life.

But one isn't supposed to VALUE the suffering of lower class children! Nooo! One is only to feel sympathy for this, this THING, this professional liar cheat, fraud, traitor, mass murderer, forger... this arrogant racist, this CLASS racist pig, this drug addict; this poisoned drunken cigar smoking brandy swilling fat shit; this selfish toad of a reptile, this brutal unfeeling inconsiderate smug stupid arrogant jackass... because da people of England didn't want him anymore! 'Mommy, Waaaaaaa!'

If I could have killed him before he was ever elected into Parliament. If I could have gotten my hands on him and killed him dead before he ever was twisted by his own undead to become the monster that he became. If I could have killed him with my bare hands and felt his blood spurt out from between my fingers... I would have felt so good, so satisfied, so positively happy knowing that I had exterminated one of the most foul forms of hidden evils on Earth, I would have carried that satisfaction with me for YEARS.

Then there his final last gasp of evil: getting back into power as PM in his most senile rotten old age; his most useless deaf, mindless drunken state of corruption... placed there only for one reason alone: which was to CHECK the career of the young Anthony Eden... making sure that NO Eden would blossom ever again in England, making sure that Eden's career as the next PM was blocked for years and years out of pure piggish greed, piggish swinish stubbornness, out of pure meanness out of pure selfishness, using his mythical reputation as the winner of WW2, milking every last drop out of his popularity with the British subhuman masses, just to make sure that no intelligent national socialist reform would ever succeed in Britain! Calling all socialists a Gestapo, Nazi's, evil! The German brilliant practical social planning of National Socialism which Churchill had destroyed must be poisoned beyond recognition and never be allowed to happen again. Just like the human need for community, for living in a close knit community of trusted friends must never be allowed to happen by vilifying the name of all communal happiness and sticking the name commune onto the totalitarian Stalinist mass murderers who had killed off all the communes and small self-sufficient communities of Tsarist Russia: The undead are forever at work reversing the truth so no human will ever grow up and become intelligent enough to cast off the civilized shit of undead brainwashing and live as they were designed to live: in small self-sufficient communities.

Churchill's last years in power was a fable: a fairytale: a false bullshit act of a fraud acting out one of the oldest stupidest sins of Man from Aesop's Tale about 'The Dog in the Manger'... A stupid ugly British bulldog hanging on for dear life to power: out of pure spite and meanness, long after he had lost all of his faculties. His entire life was a charted-out compendium of mythic figures and legends. He acted out the story of Toad in 'The Wind in the Willows'. In fact his personality was a merged compendium of all the animal personalities of Toad, Rat, Mole, Badger, the stoats and weasels all put together into one fat mush. Not only this: he was compendium, a mélange of the worst, most negative aspects of all these fictional personalities without any of the positive aspects. Churchill had been twisted and deformed by the undead into the perfect English mythic figure which the British brainwashed masses would mindlessly obey and believe in, he was sold first to the British masses and then secondly to the world at large by the Jewish owned British press as a champion of freedom and the savior of democracy. But he could only be loved at a great distance. Everyone who came close to him found this out and had to keep their mouths shut about what he was really like.

The undead poisoned Winston so cunningly that he became an abomination of what they should have been, could have been, his entire life was poisoned, he became a negative template of 2-dimensional mythical, unreal fictional characters in a child's fairytale, overlaid, imprinted, programmed on top of the infant baby at birth, and then further embedded until the true personality is buried. He was a mixture of Scrooge, Cratchet, and Tiny Tim all rolled up into one.

Churchill acted out the story of 'Puck' in Shakespeare's plays with his puckish smile as the imp from Hell, the malevolent troublemaker of English mythology. Pissing on Hitler's Siegfried Line defenses with a bunch of cackling Jews beside him, pissing on the German lack of the sense of 'humor'. Pissing on every worthwhile, good, decent human value of Germanic culture. He was a sick mélange of evil, twisted, dehumanized, one-dimensional mythical figures; he was Tiny Tim and Scrooge and Marlowe... all merged together into one insane bunch of contradicting negative impulses and evils; a diseased pus-filled concentration of undead filth. He acted out the Portrait of Dorian Grey by Oscar Wilde in real life. His physical health as a handsome young child: was systematically corrupted into the ugliest brutal fat monster of an inhuman pig. He was presented with a portrait of himself by Phillip Attlee in Parliament as a gift:... a gift which he instantly hated because it showed him for what he was too honestly, a painting of the truth; the true horror which that young boy had been turned into, a painting that showed the ugly truth so starkly that his daughter had it burnt so nobody would be able to see what the young Winston had been systematically poisoned into becoming: the ugliest, fattest, sickest toad of evil in all of England. He himself could not stand to see the filthy truth of his own Inner soul; he could not bear to see what he had actually become. He dubbed the huge portrait 'a perfect example of modern art'. And it was: it was the only kind of art the undead know how to do: which is to turn all beauty into horror, ugliness and poisoned filth.

What the huge painting displayed was how undead evil turns all human beauty and health into poisoned ugly horrible diseased filth. The undead REVERSE the beauty of Life: they turn living beauty into UGLINESS: that is their 'art', that is what they do; that is what they did to the innocent young, sensitive, artistic, child Winston; that is what they do to all humans beginning from the day they are born. Winston Churchill was an example of what the undead can do when they pay special attention to one living soul. What they did was to turn the highest most refined elite son of the most famous English aristocracy into the lowest class brute of a blaggard: a bragging, blaring big mouth, the crudest, lowest, most insensitive scum that even the lowest chimney sweeps would not or put up with. Churchill was an example of how the undead reverse energy and twist it and damage it until it is turned it into evil poisonous ways.

Churchill lived out the character of 'Winnie the Pooh' which translated correctly means: All winning is SHIT. Winston was Winnie the Shit: a shit: a stinking turd of the lowest order: everything he touched he turned into shit by winning; his winning the war was the biggest piece of propaganda shit in history

His escapades in the Boer war eerily match the escapades of 'toad' in The Wind in the Willows so closely there can be no mistaking the manipulation of his life by undead evil forces; his railroad adventure in South Africa: being jailed and then escaping. One reason these escapades match the story of 'toad' in The Wind in the Willows is because he took the plot and ideas of this fable from his own childhood memories and wrote these fictitious flights of fancy down and sold the lies to the British press. The other reason is because the undead inside him had damaged him into a reptile, a toad with no human feelings whatsoever and purposefully orchestrated his life into a copy of the most infantile fables on purpose, in their arrogance; to show off... how easily they can turn the lives of living humans into a child's fairy tale.

What is the true meaning of ‘The Wind in the Willows’? It is the LOWEST WILL of the masses and the elite of the British Isles controlling the fate and destiny of the British Empire. The compendium of all the undead spirits of that filthy poisoned place. It is the ILL WIND that blows no one no good it is the ILL WILL of the undead. It is the Ill Wind that blows over the graveyards of all the CHURCHs of England: ILL... CHURCH... CHURCHILL... CHILL: the coldness of death; get it? The meanings stuck together and reversed to hide the vileness of the undead; the malevolent, sick, rotting entities and ghouls that poison the souls of men, women and children. WINston is the Destructive WIND in the WILL of all Mankind, that blows over all human souls and seeks to poison and shift all Positive morals and Intentions into Negative evil ways.

Churchill was a compendium of all of the fictitious characters of ‘The Wind in the Willows’ all put together. His love of ‘messaging about’ with the British Navy matches rat’s love of ‘messaging about’ with boats. He is used by the undead as a mole; a secret agent of the undead that is snuck into the very center of British politics and power to poison the highest office of the Admiralty and the Parliament with the most evil designs and cunning lies possible. He is a rat and a double agent: ratting on others, betraying his own class, betraying everyone he deals with, and then turning around and betraying everyone again. He is a ferocious badger: constantly badgering and attacking Hitler; forcing him finally to lose his self-control and up the ante in the escalation of hostilities which escalated out of control into the invention of the atomic bomb and the final insane nuclear Armageddon which the undead are after. He is the filthiest false image of ‘wise old badger’: he wears his filthy stinking ‘wisdom’ on his sleeve; constantly uttering his evil stinking maxims and quips which are purposefully meant to guide the entire living species of humans into utter ruin. He is all the weasels: running rampant in the halls of the oligarchy, drinking, stumbling about as oafs, low-class bums ruining the finest traditions of the manors of that time. He constantly weasels himself out of the most horrible predicaments and comes out unscathed... and of course he is the unrepentant, irrepressible mad toad. His basic motives are the lowest motives of the lowest stupidest undead evil spirits on Earth; which are portrayed and twisted and reversed: to be perceived as the highest motives of Humanity.. He is the timid coward: the scared little mouse hiding in the bowels of the London Underground because he knows he should be found out and destroyed utterly for what he is doing to the world and to Britain and Europe. He is the unrepentant toad; the mad adventurer never learning from his mistakes until it is too late to correct them, even after his disastrous episodes, still in love with the most evil mechanical marvels of his age to the point of insanity. Every chapter of that book can be found in his life; he lived out that book in its entirety to the point of utter madness and the total destruction of the Living Earth; which is what the undead agenda have as their ultimate ghoul. Churchill's maudlin, bathos of self-pity, his soap opera posturing, his false bravado, the cunning of his cowardice, his theatrical personality, his falseness; all matches that of 'toad' in The Wind in the Willows to a 'T'.

Churchill's entire LIFE was a compendium of fable, legend, myths and falsity: myth piled on top of fable piled on top of legend... one after the other. His marrying an American gold digger by the name of 'Clementine'. Listen to the American folk song entitled 'Oh my Darling Clementine'... the last line of the refrain goes: "You are lost and gone forever; Dreadful sorry Clementine." The original words were "All is lost and gone forever: dreadful sorry Clementine." After losing the British Empire: Churchill is 'dreadfully sorry' which is the lowest form or Greek Comedy called Bathos; the shedding of false tears. Churchill is the sly toad; pretending to be a human; mimicking how humans live and act. The folk song is about the daughter of an American gold digger who drowns going over a bridge because she's too fat and not being saved because she is too ugly. Instead, American gold digger crosses the Atlantic, does not drown, is extremely slim and pretty, not fat and ugly as in the song, and marries an English lord who turns out to be a hairless toad. The song is applied to Winston's life and is reversed in every single detail.

Churchill's marriage is a farce of the children's fairy tale: 'Beauty and the Beast' in reverse. Instead of a beast turning into an English Lord, there is the Lord Winston who the instant he is kissed and loved and married, reverts back to his beastly ways; an English porker: a pig with the most surly, crude insensitive personality possible... with its pig's snout upturned as it shovels food into its voracious maw and guzzles whiskey and brandy by the barrel. Instead of true love turning the beast into a handsome young prince; the cold calculating greed and class snobbery of the American social climber turns the potential love Churchill had for her into a horror of upper class beastliness.

Churchill's entire life is a mythical farce; orchestrated by the undead; a contest of how awful they could make Churchill and how mindlessly the British mob and the world could be made to glorify him and ape everything he did and worship him and lick his boots, and hail him as the greatest hero of that Age when he was the exact opposite of what he portrayed himself and what the media portrayed him to be. How all the world makes excuses for these upper class shits and turns a blind eye to all of their faults and vices. How easily the undead could gull billions of brainwashed humans into reversing their perceptions of GOOD and evil.

These are not coincidences! The undead have purposefully dumbed-down the entire human species so no living human will be versed in the actual true history of the past, so no historian can ever put together all of the manifold twists and turns perpetrated by these stinking evil things, so no living human will be able to put together all of the snarled, cunning twists of fate and design and evil which the undead constantly invent in order to hide where all the true origins of evil comes from. They are forced to do this because once the living are educated about these things and realize what is being done to them by these filthy rotten things: we will kill and execute and exterminate them all, down to the last stinking dead spirits hiding in the deepest crevices of the earth, and in the highest realms of the air until not one is left remaining.

Churchill's entire life was a theatrical act because the thing that was Winston Churchill was not human: it was a charted-out, orchestrated, theatrical farce invented by the undead hiding inside human souls. Winston Churchill was a controlled puppet; he was a controlled shell, an undead horror which acted out every possible evil it could, committing every possible evil it could. It was an alien interloper that did not belong in the Realm of the Living. What's more it knew it not belong in the Realm of the Living world... it knew perfectly well what it was doing was pure evil. It smiled its puckish smile because it knew it was getting away with it.

Then there is the end part of this controlled shell's life... his loss of power being kicked out of office for the last time, finally officially retiring from parliament at the senile age of 89...a saddened mass of loneliness. One of his former undersecretaries finding him all alone unhappy and melancholy and sitting after dinner, brooding like a fat hen... When asked why he was so melancholy: as his former underling pointed to his many 'amazing' achievements both in politics, in the armed forces, him having won the war a; most singlehanded: the Nobel prize for Literature, a large family who all 'loved him'... and on top of it all he was popular with the masses of brainwashed imbeciles: such a life that was 'given' to very few people: why was he so melancholy?

He said this:

"You're right. I have worked very hard all my life, and I have achieved a great deal... in the end, to achieve nothing."

That, that unutterably stupid underling thought Churchill was saying was that his fucking 'ideals' which he had never had, was a 'strong and united British Empire and Commonwealth in a totally peaceful world.'

That was the fucking whitewash shit which had to be injected over the truth of what that filthy toad had actually said. A statement that was and is the complete reversal of the actual truth. The truth was that this evil traitor to the British cause had worked very hard all his fucking evil life to destroy the British Empire and the Common Wealth of Mankind: which is Love Kindness Decency Friendship and turned the entire world into a madhouse of total WAR, killing death and destruction.

What Churchill said was that he had been used to achieve nothing. All his successes were as ashes in his mouth, the ashes of defeat and death. Nothing he had slaved his entire life away for had given him one ounce of satisfaction or enjoyment. None of his rotten family loved him: they all hated and despised him; of course heavens, they couldn't confess this in public; their public facade is miles away from the secret inner rot of their poisoned sick evil souls. The mindless worship of a public which he despised and hated was worse than sand in his knickers. The evil negative Nirvana of death that controlled this rotten shell of a bloated thing was drawing it steadily into nothingness: into a death spiral deeper and deeper. Because Winston Churchill had been used by the undead as an instrument of pure evil and death. Because in order to on living... exist as a lonely unwanted forgotten pus-bag, he had to deny everything he actually did; which was nothing good, it was worse than nothing good... it was pure evil.

What that stinking English brainwashed ass-kisser to the British upper class did not tell Churchill was his list of evil accomplishments, not the whitewashed list covering up his evil accomplishments... the actual list of accomplishments: the true list of achievement which I have just skimmed over here and not gone into any great depth or detail. If this obsequious ass had listed the actual evil accomplishments this shell of the undead had accomplished it would have taken him a year to list them all and expound on them. His list of horror and unspeakable inhumanity committed by this one single shell of a monster would have sent this fat toad gibbering in terror and guilt away from his tormentor extolling his actual crimes which he thinks he has gotten away with.

Churchill was involved in so much evil it leaked out of his skin like poison: after battle ships had proven to be obsolete, he became involved in developing the first tanks: another weapon of mass murder, He was involved in the loss of Antwerp in the Great War where 2,500 men lost their lives because of him for nothing. His involvement in the fiasco of Dunkirk was a copy of the fiasco of the evacuation of British troops from Antwerp. The evacuation of soldiers from Dunkirk was done by British civilians because the fucking Navy refused to pick them up on Churchill's orders. Churchill sanctioned the use of tear gas on Kurdish tribesmen in Iraq... The list of his crimes and abominations go on and on and on.... too many to cover.

As do many other historians even Patrick J. Buchanan; the Christian fundamentalist republican pundit and candidate for president, in his book; Churchill, Hitler and the Unnecessary War; damns Churchill for destroying western civilization, using his own words taken from his own memoirs:

"One day President Roosevelt told me that he was asking publicly for suggestions about what the war should be called. I said at once, "The Unnecessary War." There never was a war more easy to stop than that which has just wrecked what was left of the world from the previous struggle."

What that stinking toad didn't mention was that it was he who has personally scotched every attempt by Hitler to stop the war. What that unutterably evil stinking lying little toad didn't mention was that it was HE who had escalated that phony war into the worldwide catastrophic cataclysm it became. What that evil undead filth that controlled that sick bloated shell did not reveal was that it was controlling the living corpse that was Churchill like a puppet on a string because the mind of that bloated thing had long been destroyed and its will had been corrupted by the undead that festered inside it and kept that rotting thing from dying completely. .

Churchill intervened and prevented FDR from taking that poll by baring his toad soul and uttering the beastly truth. In one fell swoop: Churchill not only spoke the naked truth: he pre-empted that truth from ever being publicly acknowledged and made sure it would be kept a dark secret long after he was dead and gone. He showed FDR the terrible danger of ever allowing the masses to be educated and learn what had actually gone on behind closed doors before, during and after that war. He made sure the Americas would never utter one word of truth about that war. He made sure that war would be turned into a series of filthy stinking lies, legends, myths, fables and falsities which would blind and poison future generations and prevent them from ever seeing and understanding the stark ugly truth of that war, the stark ugliness of mechanical civilization and how starkly evil and inhuman mass manufacturing actually is.

Because Churchill uttered that truth privately not publicly, in secret: it was not allowed to see the light of day for another 50 years. It was a truth which was cut OUT of all conventional history, it was cut OUT of all history books concerning that war. FDR cut that truth OUT also. FDR never named the 2nd World War as it should have been named because the truth would have damned him also. Churchill was the winner of an unnecessary war: a war he could have ended many times easily, as Hitler had tried to end it by his many attempts to negotiate a peace both publicly and in secret and by Churchill damming himself forever by refusing to accept Hitler's peace proposals. The enormity of this lunacy and this naked soul baring its evil, of this undead toad's confession to the President of the United States of America... does not make any human sense whatsoever. Only an empty shell controlled by an undead thing would confess to such a hideous monstrous crime of mass murder, in the secret knowledge that its controlling presence had not been detected and it would be able to slip away scot free.

Historian like Irving and Buchanan have made the connection that since the war was unnecessary; that this necessarily damns and lays the blame for every horror that war produced strictly on the one person pushed for it, started it, escalated it, worsened it, based his entire political career on it, and refused to end it: Winston Churchill. Yet nobody takes away the laurels of victory from that stinking evil thing called Churchill; why? Because the war itself was an invented unnecessary abomination of pure evil and the entire human species is controlled by evil spirits. Nobody asks why this maniac was allowed into power and just how he did it and why he did it. Nobody except me has ever sought to ask the deeper questions of human existence because nobody except me has ever had the Honesty and Courage and Wisdom to ask these questions and find the answers as to why humans are so inhuman.

Churchill; as all other elites of the wealthy and powerful like Baron Rothschild etc.; are poisoned products of the undead and they should be exterminated with extreme prejudice; along with every undead filthy evil ghoul which hides invisibly on the Living Earth. These undead thing must be RECOGNIZED and hunted down and killed DEAD DEAD DEAD. They must be given what they deserve and seek: TOTAL DEATH: TOTAL KILLING. They do not deserve any mercy or humanity because they HAVE NONE. These undead things are not human.

The reason undead ghouls targeted the British Empire to be corrupted and destroyed can be see in the flood of new books, illustrations, magazines and art, like Maxfield Parrish which exploded upon the Empire after that black evil hag Queen Victoria died and her insane cult of contacting the undead, and her sick death cult of blackness and misery and her self-indulgent self-pity was brushed away. The reason was because the people of Brain and the Empire began to celebrate and cherish the true healthy beauty of young children and young girls and boys. Instead of the corruption of sexual prostitutes and all-night bars which happened in Paris France; a healthy new culture of naturalness and purity was born. You can see this in the rare illustrated books surviving that era. The shining beauty of young girls untouched by sexual lust, the shining pictures of young children untouched by the corruptions of the older generations; it was a time when sports and outdoor activities bloomed everywhere all over the world and people began to appreciate the beauties of Nature. When novels dealt with love and friendship without sexual pornography. Even though this budding healthy trend rested on the rotting evil of the past; even though the idea of upper class health and beauty was based on the sick, stupid, elite culture of sloth and ease; even though the illustrations show children who had never exerted themselves or exercised, even though it was a pale, weak rendition of true health and beauty; the young generations being born were instinctively spurning machines and preferring the simpler ways of doing things; frugality and simplicity was coming into vogue; ascetic spirituality, living without civilized pleasures, new ideas were burgeoning everywhere and the young of the British Empire was growing up with a fresh new honesty and innocence. This was what the undead were bent on destroying and filthy; this new crop of healthy young people all over the British Empire was what the undead determined to destroy and filthy as much as they possibly could; and they used Winston Churchill to do it.

Churchill, the Seven Sisters and the Seven Deadly Sins

The story of the evil puppet of undead evil Churchill is connected and intertwined with another main evil of civilization in the 19th and 20th Century; namely the switch of industrialization from solid evil to liquid evil, from the black coke and coal of the Age of Steam engines; to the black Oil and Coca Cola and the internal combustion engine, together with the increasing population explosion fueled by industrialized production of chemical fertilizer and the industrialization of mechanized farming; which the switch from hundreds of millions of overpopulated hordes of dead souls, changed the destructive effect of billions of dead souls; using machines powered by Oil and Electricity instead of coal and candles to destroy and poison the entire Earth faster... Part of these exploding evil abominations invented and fueled by undead ghouls increasingly invading the realm of the Living, the Realm of Life where they are not allowed was the new power of Capitalist Oil Corporations merged into a single huge oligarchic monopoly called 'The Seven Sisters' known today as

Exxon
Mobil
Gulf
SoCal
Texaco
Shell
BP

The reason the undead worked to invent and build this empire of black death was to increase the spread of the Seven Deadly Capital Sins of Evil, and to destroy Christianity because this new religion had correctly identified some of the most common tactics the undead use to corrupt living people. The seven dead corporate bodies of the oil company monopoly were created to spread the Seven Deadly Capital Sins of Evil and destroy that religion so its moral and ethical teachings; no matter even if they were only lip service and token recognition of what true evil is; would have its reputation as a spiritual institution so damaged and ruined that nobody would ever respect their teachings. The goal of the undead has already succeeded in brainwashing the masses into believing that there is no such thing as evil: that evil does not even exist anymore. In order to achieve this evil ghoul they invented the Seven Sisters to spread the Seven Deadly Capital Sins of Evil:

HATE BORN OUT OF FEAR AND ENVY,
GREED,
SLOTH,
PRIDE,
LUST,
ENVY,
Gluttony.

To see just how successful they were, all you need to do is look at what the values of European Christians were before Industrialization and look at how most of the billions of dead souls live today... Today the entire FABRIC of modern life is made up of masses who feel hate born out of envy and fear, and anger AGAINST anyone who tries to preach against the sins of greed, sloth, pride, lust, envy, and gluttony. Today: the masses are forbidden to feel ANY hate or anger against evil sinners and criminals.

This was a very cunning way of neutralizing the teachings of a moral code which had as its assumption that nobody within a truly Christian community would practice the sins of Greed, Sloth, Pride, Lust, Envy, and Gluttony so there would be no reason to feel any hate or anger against other Christians: which in this context is correct. You should never ever feel any hate or anger against people who are not evil. You should reserve all of your hatred and anger for people who are evil and for undead ghouls who are the source of all evil.

In other words modern industrialized technological human existence is an existence which is mostly made up of the EVIL PRACTICES of;

HATE BORN OUT OF FEAR,

GREED,

SLOTH,

PRIDE,

LUST,

ENVY,

Gluttony

And nothing else

The EVIL CULTURE of modern civilization is made up of:

HATE BORN OUT OF FEAR AND ENVY,

GREED,

SLOTH,

PRIDE,

LUST,

ENVY,

Gluttony

The EIL NORMS of modern society are made up of;

HATE,
GREED,
SLOTH,
PRIDE,
LUST,
ENVY,
GLUTTONY

The EVIL CUSTOMS of modern society are made up of ;

HATE BORN OUT OF FEAR,
GREED,
SLOTH,
PRIDE,
LUST,
ENVY,
Gluttony

The EVIL LIFESTYLES OF MODERN PEOPLE are made up of;

HATE BORN OUT OF FEAR AND ENVY,
GREED,
SLOTH,
PRIDE,
LUST,
ENVY,
Gluttony

The Evil BELIEFS of modern civilization are BASED upon;

HATE BORN OUT OF FEAR AND ENVY
GREED, SLOTH,

PRIDE,
LUST,
ENVY,
Gluttony

As a result of this explosion of pure evil in the last 200 years: this GUARANTEES that every innocent baby born INTO this foul mess of pure industrialized corruption and evil will be completely poisoned, weakened and corrupted by the civilized evil environment and society and culture they are born INTO...

I WAS LUCKY: By pure luck, I managed to escape most of it. This is why I have written this book. So that others not as lucky as I am will learn the truth about civilization and so others will recognize what true evil IS and not allow the undead to corrupt their Inner Souls and Outer Lives. So other will cleanse their INNER SOULS of the hidden evil of undead shit turds and cleanse their OUTER environment of all civilized evil.

Now back to Churchill and the Seven Sisters of Capitalist evil:

The success of the orchestrated plan to destroy Christianity by brainwashing former Christian nations to hate each other and kill each other and destroy each other was achieved by these undead ghouls orchestrating the unnecessary two World Wars as a distraction from their other evils, so living humans would not notice that the exploding evils of mass manufacturing taking over and transforming all human society beyond recognition: the sudden appearance of evil factories all over the world, manufacturing weapons of mass destruction and refineries manufacturing poisons of mass death and mass pollution would not be seen as an evil abomination controlled by a small cabal of rich Jewish bankers and English and American robber barons which must be destroyed with extreme prejudice.

Along with the horrible destruction and death of the two World Wars came the equally evil poison of the Seven Sisters, the octopus of the international oil companies cooperating with each other spreading the Seven Deadly Capital Sins all over the world;

HATE BORN OUT OF FEAR AND ENVY

GREED, SLOTH,
PRIDE,
LUST,
ENVY,
Gluttony

Thus corrupting the newborn population explosion of too many human drones as quickly as possible into a life of decadent, degenerate ease before they could achieve any perspective on what their immediate past had done to them and what the true hidden roots of industrialized modern society are, and how totally evil industrialized civilization actually is. The transition from Coal to Coke to Coca Cola as energy sources which fuel the destruction of the human species and the Earth was kept out of the awareness of living people by lowering the awareness and intelligence of the masses down to a crisis mentality during two World Wars, down to the level where you don't think or ask or wonder or ask intelligent questions; you just fight to keep from being killed, you just fight to survive. You become a mindless slave. You stop thinking. You stop living a normal life; you become a terrorized, brainwashed mass animal; a mindless lemming.... You obey armed goons who are ready to kill you at a moments notice. Why? So you won't notice all the new inventions of evil being foisted upon you, so you won't notice how the quality of your Life is worsening because of these new inventions products and goods, so you won't notice you were much happier and healthier before without the new mass manufactured weapons of mass distraction, mass destruction and mass produced drugs.

This new industrial culture, this new society, this new lifestyle, this new way of living was dubbed a 'consumer capitalist society', and hailed as the best thing ever invented since sliced bread... As usual: everything hailed as the best is actually the worst. What you have been sold is the opposite of the truth. The truth is that the Seven Sisters spread the use of OIL first as an artificial illuminant: then electricity and the Edison light bulb replaced kerosene as an artificial illuminant... but then the internal combustion engine was developed and mass manufactured... until so many uses for oil were found that modern civilization ‘could not live without it’... which is total fucking bullshit, bullshit, bullshit. What corrupt people actually mean is that they are too lazy, too corrupt and too evil to cleanse themselves of the evils of modern industrialized civilization. They could do it: but they do not ‘wish’ to do it because they already believe in the unspoken religion of;

HATE BORN OUT OF FEAR AND ENVY

GREED, SLOTH,
PRIDE,
LUST,
ENVY,
Gluttony

And none of these motherfucking scum ‘want’ to change their evil UNSPOKEN religion and their unspoken norms and social values by ONE IOTA because the undead do not wish you to wake up to their constant presence in you and all around you.

Another thing Oil did, coupled with the invention of gas and diesel engines, the car and the airplane[ was creating the mass hysteria for lateral mobility; the building of roads like crazy, this road building destroying and is destroying more of the living Earth faster than all the other forms of industrialized mechanized destruction; highways, freeways, mass transit systems, cars, trucks... all designed to insulate humans from feeling the Earth they travel over; creating an unfeeling arrogance, an insulated insane complete indifference and unawareness of the Earth they live on, creating a mass arrogance, a mass feeling of false superiority over the Earth they depend on for Life itself... this mass religion of Pride, the mass Pride of industrial mechanized civilization, the mechanical inventions of industrialization, that this somehow proves the superiority of the human species over all other species is so endemic, so embedded into the fabric of all industrialized civilization that because of it: all environmental concerns have become secondary to the mechanical rape of the entire Living Earth because the unspoken religion of sloth-ease-laziness-sedentary-sitting on to your ass-do nothing but watching, staring at TV’s Movies, flat 2-dimensional computer screens, typing on flat pieces of whitewashed paper, typing on flat 2-dimensional screens etc. has become the new norm of civilized mass existence. The discovery of coal and the switch from coal to oil and electricity and cramming the new billions of humans into huge cities was just a continuation of insulating people from the living Earth. It was just a continuation of the mass craze to build as many railroad lines and roads as possible: thus giving an excuse to destroy as much living land, soil, plants flowers, trees, grasses, and habitat for all the living creatures who live on the land and depend on the Earth just as we do for Life.

The new billions of industrialized mechanized masses just took the worst living examples of the filthy rich robber barons and kings and queens and tried to live exactly like the Kings and Royalty they had seen traveling about on their fucking yachts carriages and trains and new cars visiting each other; the new jetsetters, using the status of mobility to define their upwardly raised positions in the civilized shitpile of mechanized mass-produced crap, the new huge outrageously expensive passenger ships plying the continental crowd of people traveling from one continent to another. The new mass manufacturing of consumer goods and products fueled the new mass fad of overconsumption: buying shit you didn't need... copying exactly what the filthy rich aristocrats had been doing for thousands of years, trying to live exactly as the richest aristocratic rich did and still do... Every single degradation and ruination of the lower classes has been taken; copied from the worst sins and vices of the RICH: prostitution, illicit sex, gambling, travel, tourism, collecting gewgaws, accumulating junk, living in huge houses, owning the most expensive status symbols possible, drug addictions, alcohol, morphine, opium, tobacco, etc, etc.

All because the world had switched its factories and plants from water-driven steam engines and coal to oil and electricity; creating a false impression of affluence, while destroying most of the living Earth into the 'bargain'. The explosion of machinery distracted the masses so they wouldn't notice all of the major powers were preparing for war. It wasn't just one new invention it was hundreds, thousands of new fiendish devices. Oh look! A bicycle! Oh, look; a machine that washes clothes! Oh look! A machine that freezes food and keeps it from rotting! Oh look! Canned food! Oh look! Mass manufactured preserves in glass jars! Now we don't have to can our own vegetables! Now we can eat shit that has no nutritional value whatsoever! The slaves of the lower class fell in love with the mechanical slaves that were sold to them: finally they had a class of slaves that was even lower than they were and obeyed their every command! Now they could feel that they were all powerful as lords! Power! POWER!

But what kind of power? The power to create Life? No: the power to kill Life, the power to destroy Life. That is not power; that is the destruction of power. That is the destruction of Life-Energy which is the root source of all our human power. But the masses were already brainwashed into servile dehumanized subhuman mass-conformity and obedience to their masters, they had already been corrupted by the ongoing increasingly mechanization of their culture and society, they had already been brainwashed into the unspoken sacred religious belief that machines are 'good' because it saved some of the human slaves from slaving working like machines for their masters. What the idiots never asked or thought of was: Why work for the motherfuckers at all? Why work for anyone as a slave? Why not just quit your fucking slave job and free yourself from your own fucking stupidity? That level of awareness has not happened yet: and if it never happens then the entire Earth is doomed because humans have enslaved themselves to shit which they don't need and is bad for them.

The Seven Sins of the undead are unspoken because they will not allow them to be spoken by living people. The Evil of their sins is never spoken of because the undead control human society. The undead have reversed everything in order to make living humans perceive evil to be good and good to be evil. Everything that is unspoken is evil; everything that is not addressed and faced in the light of day is evil. The evils of ease are obvious and manifold; but they re never spoken of and when they are they are glossed over and laughed at and ignored by society. People are not allowed to hate openly anymore: everyone is supposed to keep their hates a deep dark secret while loudly proclaiming that all hatred is terrible. Everyone professes to have no fears while living a life that is filled with irrational fears, everyone is greedy yet nobody is willing to admit it, everyone is corrupt and because of this, nobody will talk about corruption. The oil of secrecy is now being poured over every living person, keeping each brainwashed person isolated in their bubble of unreality and escapist distraction.

The use of oil spread the mass craze for mobility and travel all over the world like wildfire. The result is a species completely insulated and unaware of what it is doing to the Living Earth, an insane mass of billions of subhuman zombies; unaware of what they are doing and why they are doing it. One of the sins Churchill spread was the new craze to travel everywhere, tourism, boats ships, trains cars, buses, bicycles... without feeling the Earth, without touching the Living Earth: without being aware of what you are passing by; the mass evil of insularity, the stinking filthy religious feeling of mechanical power: the arrogance of power, the isolation of power; the idea that if you can travel through space without feeling anything around you, if you are completely insulated from Nature: that this makes you a 'god', it makes you feel 'superior' because you can watch life passing you by and not feel it. The idea of safety, insularity, insulation: not feeling anything: as the 'highest' fucking ghoul of humans: this was what Churchill was instrumental in selling to the masses by his lifestyle of travel all over the world by plane, by train, and by car.

Winston Churchill lived during the time when the switch from coal to oil happened; and it was because of what he personally did that the Seven Sisters of Evil were able to grow and spread the Seven Deadly Sins of evil all over the world in order to eradicate GOOD and replace GOOD with evil.

Without the mass manufacturing of huge dreadnaughts and huge locomotives and huge engines, without the insane unfeeling power of mechanized industrialized dehumanized society that war could never have been fought as it was: a bloodbath of insane mechanical destruction. Without the Great War, without Churchill bungling that war for England, without that war being extended as long as possible, without all the filthy evil inventions of mass destruction and mass distraction which came out of that war... oil would have remained a curiosity, and people would have continued to go to sleep when the sun went down and rise just before dawn, and realize that they are creatures who are subservient to the greater forces of the Universe and the Sun: and they would never have developed this insane arrogant idea that mechanical civilization doesn't need sunlight and doesn't need living forests and clean river and lakes and oceans... that mechanical civilization doesn't need all the other living creatures of the Living Earth of which we are only one out of millions of other species.

The point is that before the use of oil: the human species was not one hundredth as destructive to the Earth as it has become since through the use of oil and the spread of the Seven Deadly Sins of evil. Without the use of oil spreading all over the world, without the discovery of how to make artificial fertilizer, it would not have created the huge explosion of industrialized farming... which was in turn the basic engine that fueled the population explosions after the 1st and 2nd World Wars. Without the hundreds of uses found for oil by chemists and the mass production of artificial fertilizer; the human populations of the Earth after these two World Wars would not have exploded into billions of more useless people than ever before... Without the two World Wars and the population explosions which these two wars caused and the spread of the use of oil which these two wars caused and the spread of the Seven Deadly Sins of evil caused by the Seven Sisters of Evil known as the Big Easy or the oil oligarchy which grew out of the two World Wars which was caused by one person: Winston Churchill... the explosion of industrialization and the factories of death and the reign of human sloth and human stupidity as a mindless king reigning over the dumber machine, which Churchill represented and led by the example of his mindless sloth and stupidity of a reptilian toad over the English people and Parliament: not as a human with human values and a human intelligence... would never have happened. And the world would not be in the horrible mess it is today and it would not have the history of the last century which it has: which is largely due to the efforts of one evil fat turd of an English aristocrat who made all this evil happen; Winston Churchill.

Churchill was responsible for not only destroying the British Empire; he was responsible for literally giving away the British Empire. He was personally for losing the greatest economic money maker of the British Empire: the refineries and oil wells of Iraq and Iran to the Americans, who quickly gobbled up what the British had thrown away; as one American oilman who lived through this era of American expansion into areas once under the control of the defunct British Empire said succinctly: “Never have so few given away so much, so stupidly and so fast.”

After WW2: the Americans wooed the King of Arabia where most of the known oil reserves of the Mideast had been found by giving him a DC 2 plane for his own personal use. After that: Winston showed up with his own personal racist attitude towards the Sheik and tactic of wooing a 3rd world ruler with a box of perfume...! Upon discovering the Americans had already given the king an American plane, he hastily promised the King an English Rolls Royce. What Churchill didn't know was that Arabian Kings do not sit in the back of a vehicle: they sit in the front. When the Rolls Royce finally arrived, and the King opened the door to find the drivers wheel on the right, he sat in the left side which was the side of the wrong not the side of the right he sat there once and then jumped out of the car and never used it again giving it to a relative of his... The point is that Churchill's crude, insensitive stupidity and arrogance, his insufferable English pig headedness and dehumanized unfeeling treatment of human beings ruined all his personal relationships and attempt at diplomacy. He didn't even know how to bribe a Stone Age Arabian turd who was anxious not to displease the British since they had been in control of the Mideast since the Turkish Empire had collapsed from the violent upheavals of WW1.

The fact of the matter is that after WW1 and WW2... any of the military western powers could have taken over the entire Mideast region and a permanent state of world borders and politics would have ensued with little or no conflicts arising in the Middle East.... But that was not what the undead were working for.... They wanted and still want to recreate the ancient blood thirsty battles of thousands of years of mindless slaughter between the most dehumanized ancient Neanderthal and Cro-Magnons tribal feuds and conflicts... they want to awaken the oldest most regressive stupid insane ancient religious intolerance and ethnic hatreds between all modern humans in that region... So instead of telling that fucking little desert sheikh what was what and telling him that he was not getting any presents but the British would let him live as long as he kept his people in order and did not attempt to play politics and did not try to play one of them off against the other... Instead: the English and the Americans right after WW2: instantly became enemies again:

which was what they had been before that war was begun by the undead to destroy all GOOD Life Energy on Earth,.

The point is that all modern diplomacy is based upon hatreds betrayals, lies, false faces, deceptions etc. The diplomacy of international relationships between nation states is based upon hate; not Love: which is why every person who works for Any govt body or institution should be given a choice: either abandon their fucking cush jobs and join the humans of the world oppressed by these govts or be killed dead. The only reason these undead filth can control billions of living humans is because you stupid slaves have willingly given away all your freedoms and willingly work for your masters.

The undead things controlling the pus-filled shell of Churchill systematically poisoned and corrupted Winston's inner soul bit-by-bit. When Churchill was 1st Lord of the Admiralty, that undead thing was obsessed with death and destruction and preparing for it by creating the most horrifying evil metal monsters of death and destruction. Because Winston Churchill was so obsessed with war and manufacturing the death machines that would be used in World War One as symbols of obsolete outmoded stupidity: that undead thing which was inside him was also in contact with all of the other evil conspiracies going on then in the realm of the undead: it was also aware of the new revolutionary evil of kerosene and oil, and the electric light bulb replacing the natural light of our sun... Suddenly hundreds of millions of humans became people of the night instead of what we are designed to be: people of sunlight and the sun: living our lives outside all day instead of what the filthy evil of what the kerosene lamp and the electric light bulb did to the energy and health of living humans. As usual: the negative evil of civilization paraded and sold these two new evils as great strides in the modern progress of civilization. Actually they are inventions designed to enslave living people into the sin of sloth, the sin of arrogance, the sin of pride, the sin of power: they were and still are complete reversals of progress: these two abominations made humans become cave dwellers again; never going out into the natural living earth, huddling inside huge overpopulated cities and thus never seeing the industrial pollution destruction of the natural beauty they had caused by the merging of these two horrible abominations of mechanical industrialization and oil. Because the undead evil hiding INSIDE Churchill was aware of this new evil technology: Churchill, that warmongering shit, pushed for the British navy to revamp all of their ships from coal to oil: giving them a much longer range and higher speed than coal-fired ships.

Because of Churchill's belligerent arrogant war-mongering stance: because he was a backwards pre-Victorian undead filthy scum; he became involved in a battle of bluster against that other filthy war-monger; the Kaiser of Germany: who had also been traumatized and damaged at birth just as Churchill had... This is not a coincidence. When you explore the evidence of undead evil constantly at work in the living world, you will find that they use certain tactics and tricks on a global scale which are repeated all over the world at the same time; far beyond the cooperative scale which living humans do.

If Winston Churchill had not treated Germany as an enemy... if Winston Churchill by his own will and hatred of Germany and his warmongering filthy toad poison; if this one person in the British Empire had not set both nations at loggerheads with each other, on a collision course, in a competition to see which of them could build the biggest weapons of mass destruction; If the British Empire had not responded in fright at Germany's growing naval power then The Great War would have not only been postponed: it would have never happened at all. For the simple reason that there would have been too many other problems to deal with than worry about who had the most fucking stupid useless battleships, because both nations would have been drastically transformed and changed by the growing intelligence of the new masses of people within their nations and an entirely new social order would have come out of the organically rotting decay of the old order of corrupt bourgeois Europe and their obsolete royal aristocratic filth. As long as Archduke Ferdinand was alive as the heir to the Austrian empire: Germany would never have found an excuse to go to war. Moreover when the old senile fart Franz Joseph died there would have been no military war in Europe because the entire aristocracy of Europe would have been up in arms about the new progressive laws and innovations Ferdinand would have put into place and the Kaiser would have become a firm Friend of Ferdinand and both other would have been too busy thumbing their noses at the rest of European and English aristocracy that the natural friendship between Austria-Hungary and Germany would have outshined the British Imperial colonial Empire on so many fronts that British colonies would have begun abandoning British rule and voluntarily becoming German protectorates. And all German speaking people would have come together in an ethnic national mosaic of a common culture and language without any Hitler coming into power, without any Nazis, without any World War, without the mass carnage of the Great War and WW2.

And the new culture of Tsar Nicholas: caring for his own children! This would have changed the Russian empire into a humane mass of kind considerate people who love and take care of their children just as their Tsar showed them how to do it: by staying home with his children and having fun with his own family and fuck all the royal stupid palace pomp and ritual and political scheming and shit.

All this and countless more human tendencies of intelligence happiness love wonder, intelligence questioning authority, new ideas threatening to topple the entire rotten old order were cut off as a miscarriage of the natural purpose and function of humans, by that miscarriage of fate and justice, that toad of a Churchill, because this fucking stinking English aristocratic miscarriage of life; this abomination of a toad was placed into one of the key, crucial, top positions of British power where he could ruin the course of empires and the entire fate of Mankind. Churchill... CHURCH... ILL. A sick church. A sick religion of war that is ill. The religion of illness: the religion of the undead: because that is what they all are; dying rotting turds of illness and sickness.

Now you know why that evil undead thing called Churchill insisted on invading the Turkish empire in WW1: an idea so preposterous, so out of left field that no sane human would have approved of it. It required all the hate and evil of the undead realm to power this crazy idea through the opposition of the entire war cabinet and parliament. Oh... you didn't know? Oil was discovered in the deserts of the Turkish Empire by an English geologist in 1900. The undead knew the oil was there already before WW1. Churchill was not yet completely corrupted then: he was trying to get the British Empire a lock on the major oil supply of the world for the next century which would have guaranteed the economic domination of the British Commonwealth nations and Britain for the next 100 years... but how could the living shell have known this? He didn't. All he knew was that the undead thing inside him was telling him that control of the Mideast was crucial to the dominance of the British Empire which was fast becoming a peaceful amalgam of trading partners who did not charge each other any tax whatsoever on the goods they exported and imported between each other. This tax-free system would have been copied by every other nation and empire and the entire Jewish system of greed and usury and the Rothschild evil would have been starved out of existence.

Churchill had the right 'idea' to conquer the future oil reserves of the world before anyone even knew of their existence or importance, his idea was brilliant... but like all of his life and all of his fucking ideas: it turned into a miscarriage of fate, a miscarriage of justice, into a bloodbath that killed over half a million people with nothing to show for it except defeat, retreat and the humiliation of the entire British navy, army and empire in front of the entire world, and the souring of all relations between England and all of its commonwealth countries which it needed for its very existence. And to top it off: because this motherfucking snake of a toad was being protected by huge forces of undead evil: he got away with it; and was only forced to resign from the war cabinet in shame: 'tarnishing' his fucking public image, and poisoning his inner soul beyond redemption and turning him, forcing him into more and more corrupt evil paths. His fucking public 'image' was easily repaired and falsified by the amnesiac masses forgetting the past and by the fact that he had been born into the most revered aristocratic family in England. His rotten evil was based upon the knowledge and assumption that no matter what he did: no matter how badly that asshole fucked up: he would always be forgiven and his sins forgotten by the dumb slaves of Britain. This knowledge of his invulnerability alone turned him into an out-of-control madman, a monster, an insane toad of pure evil: free from all the consequences of his actions which billions of other humans were NOT free of because they are not protected by undead evil like this fat shit turd was.

The point is Churchill had a premonitions of the future not because the undead can predict the future: they can't; but because the dead thing inside him was secretly organizing and conspiring up and working towards a certain future, working to make a certain future happen by destroying and poisoning all other possible and potential futures; Churchill sensed the importance of the Mideast which nobody else did in 1915, he sensed the importance that oil would play in the coming battle for mastery over the world not because he could see the future but because these dead rotten dying things were cooperating to make one specific plan happen, while living humans refuse to plan for the future and do not plan ahead... leaving a huge power vacuum up for grabs which the undead have stolen and poison. When you have 5 million undead ghouls slaving away in an orchestrated plan to build the pyramid of Giza: pointing out the fact that some of them leaked this plan to a living person before the pyramids were finished does not mean the undead working on this project can predict the future. The only things they are right about is the evil which they plan to commit and carry out and that is not predicting the future; that is working and planning to make a certain future happen by enormous concentrations of evil negative filth pouring into certain key positions of power and wealth and certain crucial moments in time.

Without Churchill fighting against everyone else in England and getting his way: WW2 would never have happened. The naval arms race between England and Germany before WW1 would never have happened; Germany would never have become an enemy of England. As long as Germany and England were not pouring huge sums of money and resources into building the most expensive modern technology designed to kill as many people as possible, they would have had all that wasted wealth for social programs and for the betterment of human life so that nobody would be crazy enough to risk destroying their newfound betterment in living with a war.

Another example of how completely evil the three monsters of WW2 were, not only Churchill was the fact that at the end of the war, both the American and British had managed to decode the secret codes used by the Japanese. On July 13th, 1945; the Japanese Ambassador received a coded message from the Foreign Minister of Japan ordering him to approach Stalin and tell him that Japan was ready to surrender since there was no point to the bloodshed anymore. Stalin was on his way to the Potsdam Conference: but he had not yet left. The Japanese ambassador did something that makes no fucking human sense: he refused to obey the order from his superiors in Tokyo. If you have any knowledge of Japanese culture and the mindset of Japanese civil servants during Ww2: you will realize that what he did was a complete anomaly. His refusal to follow official orders made his death a certainty on returning to Japan. As an excuse he said that Stalin would refuse the offer for surrender without even trying carry out the order to surrender... This is completely inexplicable because the ambassador was not being paid to forecast how international leaders would react to diplomatic messages: he was paid to be an obedient servant of the Japanese Empire and obey orders. His refusal to do so resulted in him receiving a second coded message telling him that that the order came directly from the Emperor himself who was ordering him to offer terms of surrender to Stalin... and still he refused to follow the orders from Tokyo...! And Stalin left for the Potsdam Conference without having the 'official' offer of Japan willing to surrender in his hands. This makes no fucking human sense UNLESS you factor in the INTERFERENCE of undead EVIL ghouls violating humans living auras and making them do what they would never normally do.

The Soviet Bolsheviks may have cracked the Japanese code, but... the Americans and British had cracked the Japanese top secret codes and they both knew before the Potsdam Conference that Japan was ready and willing to surrender and end the war with the only qualification that the legitimacy of the Emperor would still be respected... which was exactly what the Americans did when Japan did officially surrender; thus creating an abomination on earth: a nation calling itself a fucking 'democracy' while retaining a fucking ancient fucking medieval emperor as part of its fucking governmental constitution. How sick is that? A fucking 'democracy' that still has its ancient feudal out-of-date fucking 'Emperor'? That is not a democracy: that's an abomination of Democracy; it's an abomination of the undead preserving the worst filth on earth, while destroying the very BEST. This happened on purpose because of intentional intervention and violation of living people by undead filth. And this is why all of them must be exterminated with extreme prejudice

The abomination of the Japanese nation having its chance at a new start and being given a new type of governance where its own people had the political power to vote... being stuck with its corrupt old system of Imperial filth is just as sick as the French Revolution which originated from the Republican Democratic values and ideals of Equality and Liberty. After the French killed their corrupt king and queen: instead of a fraternity of equals, it became a crazed bunch of murderers, devolving into an authoritative police-state with a fucking emperor at its head... which is even worse than having a fucking king. And nobody notices how fucking stupid and crazy this is: WHY?

A Revolution that kills its king and queen and tries to create a new society based upon the principle of Equality suddenly turning into a police state ruled by a fucking emperor? That does not make any fucking human sense at all. That is not a social revolution: that is an abomination of a social revolution. The only reason the French revolution was sidetracked and poisoned was because thousands and millions of undead violated the bodies and lives of living French people in order to reverse the positive trend they had begun and twisted it into a fucking abomination of Equality, Liberty and Fraternity. Learn from history! The handprints and footprints of these filthy undead shit turds are all over human history!

The Potsdam Conference damns these 3 monsters as the evil foul things they actually were. Stalin wanted to invade Japan and get as much territory and power as he could; so he didn't give a damn about any honorable offer to surrender. Churchill knew that Japan wanted to surrender but he didn't say a word of this to the western press. Truman that monster not only did not tell the American press of the willingness of Japan to surrender: he ordered the dropping of the atomic bomb during the Potsdam Conference.

His order to drop the A-bomb can be found in the war archives of the US war dept. His order was sent by a secret coded message from Potsdam, telling xxxxxx to 'discharge' the xxxxx with one qualifying addition that it was not to be 'discharged' before Aug 2nd 1945. Four weeks later on schedule his order was carried out and two Japanese cities were destroyed and the new era of mass hysteria, mass terror of nuclear destruction and nuclear proliferation was introduced into the world.

This secret... that the dropping of the two a-bombs was completely unnecessary has been kept hidden... that is, until David Irving discovered the secret documents about Japan's ambassador refusing to follow orders, and the orders from Truman scheduling the dropping of the A-bomb during the Potsdam Conference; four weeks after the Potsdam conference... thus distancing himself as much as possible from the secret evil he knew he was committing, so nobody would guess that the four weeks of killing and bombing and war in the Pacific continued for no other fucking reason except this corrupt shithole was being controlled by undead forces.

This tactic of distancing yourself from a secret order you have made was a carbon copy of the cunning way that the Kaiser distanced himself for being responsible for escalating the Austrian-Serbian diplomatic scandal of assassination into a World War. By the Kaiser going off on a trip to Norway after he gave the green light to the Austrian Emperor to go to war against Serbia; giving him carte blanche, giving him the total support of Germany in whatever he decided to do militarily... the Austrian Emperor thought that with Germany protecting Austria: that Russia would not dare attack and invade Austria for attacking Serbia and even if they did, Germany's armies would protect Austria from any possible invasion. In the same way that the Kaiser hid his secret evil motive to go to war against Russia and France by taking a trip to Norway instead of staying in Berlin where he could have stopped the escalating war of words... the diplomatic telegrams speeding between the capitals of the major powers of Europe... so too did Truman distance himself from the unnecessary dropping of the A-bomb by withholding the true fact of Japan's willingness to surrender from the entire world, and ordering the dropping of the bomb in advance... the instant he found out that Japan was ready to surrender.

Why did Truman only decide to drop this horrible thing on two cities right after he secretly found out that the Emperor of Japan was ready to surrender? Because he was afraid that the reaction of the dropping of the atomic bomb on Japan would enrage the Japanese so much they would have refused to surrender and would have fought to the death; to the last man, woman and child: which they would have... if they had not been ordered to surrender by the emperor himself...

An emperor whom the Japanese masses mindlessly worshipped as a living god. Once that filthy fucker Truman knew the Emperor himself was behind the offer to surrender: then that stinking evil nasty hate filled evil racist American shithole knew he could let his true evil self out and let loose the most horrible evil he possibly could on the Earth; because he knew that the servile slaves of Japan, the meek, servile, humble brainwashed, dehumanized Japanese masses would obey their emperor's orders to surrender after he dropped those two bombs even if they wanted to continue fighting to the last man, woman and child. The Karmic backlash of his dropping those two bombs on Japan was the destruction of the Twin Towers in New York 56 years later: which is yet another hidden orchestrated evil perpetrated in total secrecy by the undead

If the Japanese had refused to surrender at the dropping of 2 A-bombs on Japan, Truman was afraid his dropping the 2 bombs would have been seen by the world as the most stupid, the most horrible, the most inhuman, monstrous thing a conquering force could do to a small defenseless population which it actually was and the whole world would have reviled him and the Americans as inhuman beasts, monsters, demons of hell which they actually were.

Understand this: never give in to evil: never surrender to evil. The surest way to your own total destruction is meekly surrendering your will to another. Never surrender your free will to anyone or anything or any authority. Use your free will to create Beauty and Love and Happiness and Fun and Friendship. Never commit anything you know is evil. Never commit yourself to anything that is evil. Do GOOD by destroying evil. The reason this phrase is hated by all evil people is because it is the only way you can defeat and destroy evil.

That was why this evil monster Truman only decided to drop these two evil things on two innocent cities after he knew that Japan was going to surrender anyways... regardless of what he did; regardless of how many more innocent lives would be killed because of him continuing the war. He did not want to be perceived as being inhuman even though he actually was. He had to sell the lie that dropping the two atomic bombs was actually a 'humane' 'intelligent' way of ending the pacific war against Japan. In this way: his war propaganda dept and psychological warfare dept sold this monstrous lie to not only the American people but to the entire fucking brainwashed world of subhuman insane apes: giving the illusion the deception of the Americans being ‘the good guys’ when the exact opposite was the truth and is still true.

Churchill knew about this also. By then he already knew he had attacked the wrong country, the wrong leader, the wrong ethnic race... now he knew that the Americans were planning to drop the a-bomb on a Japan that was not only ready but eager to surrender for no other reason except using hundreds of innocent living humans as guinea pigs to test a new weapon of mass destruction. And he went to his grave and kept his filthy dirty lying mouth shut about this. Just as he kept all of the dirty filthy unspeakable secrets and crimes and abominations he was guilty of.

The other true hidden secret reason the 2 atomic bombs were dropped on Japan after the War Departments of both Briton and America knew Japan was eager to surrender exemplifies and underscores the true basic evil of modern civilization... which is science.

The dropping of the 2 atomic bombs on Japan was done as a scientific experiment in the extermination of human life. It was perpetrated, planned and carried out as a SCIENTIFIC EXPERIMENT: to see how many human beings could be killed by this foul insane device, this invention of the undead.

And then this insane horror: this insane evil thing called ‘science’ was subsequently sold, touted, in commercials, in propaganda, in movies, on radio, books, comic books, magazines, commercials, billboards, in newspapers, on television, by govts, businesses; glorified and revered and put on a holy sacred pedestal: WHICH NO LIVING HUMAN IS ALLOWED TO CHALLENGE OR QUESTION AS BEING not only AN UNQUESTIONED ‘good’..... but as the ‘greatest’ good that Mankind has ever yet produced.

The actual truth is the COMPLETE OPPOSITE of this lie; this myth; this religion; this unspoken belief.

The insane detachment from reality, the detachment from all responsibility of the consequences of such a horrendous decision which was done by scientists and by military personnel and by the top corrupt political powers of the Allies matches the insane detachment the undead have towards the living people they poison and corrupt and manipulate and control for a very good reason: Science, technology and all military inventions of mass destruction are inventions of the undead; they are the greatest evils of modern civilization.

If you have any ethic of honesty: you have any humane morality of honesty being the best policy: this one fact alone reveals the fact that these 3 monsters of the Allies were not only pure evil: WW2 was the most evil war in human history and the western powers of western civilization are the most evil, cunning lying swindling obscene filth ever born on earth.

This was the fucking climax of how his war ended; the war which Winston Churchill invented, pushed, goaded and created out of nothing.

The fact that the undead who controlled him: were more cunning and evil than any of the other undead. Except that he was the foulest evil revolting non-human reptile on earth is not even all of it. The insane thing is that billions of brainwashed programmed subhuman apes went along with this: the whole fucking world followed Churchill into this escalation of death and destruction and dehumanization of all humans willingly!... on all sides of the wars millions of these crazed things marched to their deaths just like they did in WW1 a short 20 years before. And to top it all off: this most horrible of all wars was then marketed and sold! as the only fucking 'good' war ever fought when the exact opposite is true. WW2 was the worst war ever fought, and it was won by the foulest, most evil, corrupt filth on earth in order to destroy and kill young healthy Life on Earth while preserving the most rotten corrupt, dehumanized subhuman filth possible.

One thing I should make clear is that as far as I am concerned, I do not make any distinction between what people call Ashkenazi Jews and other Jews. The Jewish culture itself poisons nearly every baby and child born into this foulness regardless of their bloodline. I have met and known too many different Jews from too many different backgrounds and racial ethnic origins to see any basic difference in what they end up becoming due to their Jewish families and their Jewish cultural environment. If it is ever proven that the 2,000 yr-old custom and tradition and practice of Jewish usury comes only from one specific genetic bloodline. If it is proven that the Jewish evils of sexual lust and rape and blind hatred against all Mankind comes only from one specific bloodline, I will be very much surprised. The fact is that filth attracts filth; whether it is Jewish or Protestant or of any other religious or cultural or ethnic origin or background. All civilized human cultures are evil. The Jewish culture just happens to be the most evil of them all, and because it exists inside an evil structure called civilization it has risen to the top of that shitpile.

A perfect example of how Jews form cabals and take over all money-laundering and banking in their filthy worship of gold and money is the formation of the B.I.S. The Bank for International Settlements: formed by the Allies to funnel the German payments of reparations after WW1 to the Allies.

The BIS was the first central bank of Europe. It later became the World Bank: which is now involved in the stripping of all wealth in the world from non-Jews and funneling all of it into Jewish hands.

During WW2 the BIS continued to do business as usual: funneling the interest payments of the investments the other nations in Germany so they Jews and other war-profiteers could keep on making their filthy profits. The BIS emerged unscathed from their collusion with the German banks after WW2. Their 'pragmatic' approach to the world of money was and still is that a World War is no reason to interrupt the flow of money from one bank to another.

Basically what the Jewish culture of avarice and greed was saying to the world is that Jews and their lust for profit and their greed are superior to all human activities and morals and values: money and profits must come first! All else must perish rather than one hair on the head of a single banker is harmed! Which is what is happening right now: All the bankers who have stolen trillions of dollars are untouched and revered by this sick, insane species that follows its corrupt leaders to its own doom. These Jewish international bankers whom Hitler railed against and who kept their true identities and activities totally secret were the true masters, engineers and architects of the unnecessary war called WW2. Churchill was merely their one of their pawns.

When Hitler conquered France: the head of BIS merely moved his family to Switzerland to wait out the war and lived in a castle with 40 servants; completely untouched and indifferent to the horror that was going on all around him in Europe and then after the war he picked up business as usual. All investigation into the BIS was halted and all of the heads of that Jewish cabal were whitewashed after WW2 so nobody would know just how evil the Jewish culture of banking is. The head of that Bank, a man called Kittredge: later became the head of Chase national Bank which is now one of the powerhouses of Jewish greed and evil in the world.

What is striking about Jews is the ferocity of their avarice when denied their 'profits': What is still striking today is how they try to squeeze every penny out of Germany for their imaginary lost businesses and properties and bank accounts which they never had. One rage these Jewish bankers developed against Hitler was the fact that he had the BIS ship all of Germany's gold held in the BIS accounts back to Germany. When Hitler took over Czechoslovakia: an artificial county made of Slovaks, Germans, Hungarians Poles and Jews: He got the BIS to send all of Czechoslovakian gold stored in the Bank of England back to his vaults. This evoked an uproar of protest from the Jewish controlled English Parliament. This was an enormous affront to the evil gold-ghouls who are bent on amassing every ounce of gold into the coffers of their controlled Jewish living shells so they can gloat over the fact that they have it all! All! Nobody else can have wealth or property or jewels or gold! The Jews must show themselves as the greediest most corrupt ethnic minority in the world by stealing everyone's wealth! And still the dumbed down masses do nothing as they are being systematically robbed all over the world by these cabals of Jewish Money lenders: still they do not have the guts or intelligence to follow the trail of gold and evil to the lair of the evil ones and kill them dead.

The point is... all of the Jewish cabals: all the banking Mafioso and their cooperation with each other only exist because they are specifically controlled and manipulated by undead filth to commit, perpetrate and spread the evil of money: the worship of profits as much as possible... so the human species will never wake up and realize that it can live WITHOUT money, that humans helping each other can live WITHOUT gold, WITHOUT greed, WITHOUT avarice, WITHOUT selfishness, WITHOUT evil. But the human masses are too controlled and poisoned by their own undead to wake up to this simple fact. The masses have been corrupted and poisoned with the exact same greed which the Jews have infected the entire human species with.

Another point worth mentioning is just how I found this information about Winston Churchill and his ancestral undead. I picked most of it up from the very same propaganda documentaries that whitewash and glorify Churchill. It really isn't very hard, provided you know what to look for and how to connect the missing dots... which is to say, the unnoticed presence of undead evil lurking in the lives of all living human beings. Now you can begin noticing it also in your own life and fight their evil.

Get this through your head: it is not just Adolph Hitler and Winston Churchill who had their lives ruined and poisoned by their own undead family ghouls and other undead ghouls around them and inside them: it is every single fucking living human on Earth whose life is being ruined, controlled and poisoned by their own undead ancestral filth... this includes you... do you fucking understand?

You the reader do not have any luxury of detaching yourself from the truths of my book. You who have the curiosity, tenacity and Sense of Pure Wonder required to be able to read my book, is just as poisoned by the undead as everyone else who is living. The only difference is that now you know it, and seven billion other living humans don't; now you are aware of it... The only difference is now you know it and now can do something about it, while 7 billion other living souls can't, because they don't know about it yet.

Your job now is to spread the message of my book to every literate person who can read, so they can read this book, so they will understand this, so they will become as enlightened and aware of evil as you are now.

You cannot escape this responsibility spreading the truth just as you cannot escape the responsibility of knowing the truth: just as you cannot escape the predicament you have been forced into by your own undead ancestors violating you. These undead criminals need to be hunted down and exterminated with extreme prejudice.

In order to commit the massive, worldwide, global catastrophe of WW2; the undead concentrated as much power into the fewest hands possible so they could orchestrate, control and manipulate the entire charade and fiasco of WW2 without needing to bother with corrupting and controlling the millions of underlings who blindly obeyed Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin, and Hitler... and Mao and the Japanese Emperor and Mussolini etc, etc... This was why the 20th century was an era of dictators and centralized powers all fighting against each other. This is what these undead things do: they create false artificial conflicts, turning friend against friend, turning friends into foes, creating discord and strife and chaos. The undead are experts at pitting living people against each other in order to systematically ruin and destroy every positive element in human society. Saxons fighting against Saxons! Japanese fighting against their own ancestral kin! Anglo-Saxons fighting their own ancestral kin!

The point is that NO human baby or child is ever born intrinsically evil. It is their culture which makes them evil and stunts their potential and poisons and weakens and corrupts them. It is undead wraiths and entities that poison their bodies and souls beginning from birth that systematically poisons them and makes them evil. It is the miasma, the prevailing presence of evil which systematically stunts and warps and twists every child born into a dehumanized wreckage, a desensitized foulness of corruption.

IF Jewish culture did not practice inhuman bestial castration upon its male baby's sexual organs.

IF Jewish culture did not brainwash its children into the cunning ways of deceit and hypocrisy.

IF Jewish culture did not preach and practice all of its ancient obsolete customs.

IF the Jewish culture did not worship their sacred fucking books of the Torah, the Talmud and their Old Testament Bible.

IF the Jewish culture was not a culture of cunningly AVOIDING OBEYING the few, rare ethical and moral commandments and teachings contained in the mass of filth considered to be their sacred texts which are GOOD.

IF the Jewish culture took the few rare ethical teaching of the New Testament and the Old Testament and correctly sifted out all the lies and hypocrisies of all the two sacred writings

Then the Jewish culture would be a GOOD culture ...

But then it would not BE Jewish anymore.

It would be a UNIVERSAL moral ethical spiritual physical emotional wisdom that is applicable to all humans on this EARTH. In fact it would not be a culture at all, it would just be people living and learning and exploring; without being poisoned by the past, without being poisoned and manipulated by undead satanic, malevolent evil entities.

The same can be said for every other fucking civilized culture and religion in the world today. In order to develop a healthy HUMAN culture: you must get rid of all the old cultures, all the old religions; PERIOD. You must get rid of ALL culture... ALL of them are evil. ALL of them are corrupt. ALL of them are poisoned. Not just the Jewish culture. I repeat: not just the Jewish religion is poisoned; ALL religions and cultures are poison. In order to understand the evil of Jewish culture, you must put it into its proper relative context, as it is actually related-to and connected-to all other civilized cultures and religions. This includes getting rid of all atheism and agnosticism: the stupidity and insensitivity and lack of intelligence in saying “I don’t know for sure if undead evil entities actually exist’... or believing that there are no undead spirits and demons and devils; both of these assumptions are obsolete. All of it is a civilized pile of shit and the higher up the pile you go, the more that shit stinks to high heaven.

You can read about the explosion of Jewish awareness and intelligence in the Jewish history of the time in which Jesus lived. It was an explosion of new ideas and also an explosion of hate and inter-racial conflicts between different fanatical sects of Jews; each one convinced that all the others were utterly wrong and corrupt. Each one had some good ideas; none of them were intelligent enough to sift out all the bad ideas and put all the good ones together for a simple reason: all of them were poisoned by undead entities who were doing everything in their power to ruin everything these fanatical Jewish sects were trying to create. And when the undead couldn't destroy the basic communal goodness and love of these fanatical sects: they sent a huge Roman army to starve them out of their mountaintop fortress in the barren deserts of Judea and exterminate them to the last man woman and child. That was Masada.

These Jewish fanatics of Masada accurately realized and understood that all of Roman civilization was corrupt and they wanted no part of it. Their decision to isolate themselves from all the rest of humanity by living in the deserts and mountains surrounding the Dead Sea did not work. These fanatical Jewish sects died out or were killed and that was the end of them. The first known Jewish fanatic to reject all human civilization was John the Baptist who lived in the desert as a hermit and told everyone who came to see him to reject the civilized material world. The result was he was brought in front of the evil king Herod and had his head cut off for the crime of having such an intelligent insight. His insightful teachings were so dangerous, the undead feared it would spark unrest throughout the region and destroy all of their evil which they had worked for millions of years to build up. That was the standard way in which the undead dealt with any living human who had ideas they did not like or thought were dangerous: decapitation. They believed that by cutting off human heads, they could stop humans from having any more intelligent ideas or intelligent insights into the true nature of Life, their reality and the nature of the realm of the undead.

It didn't work. Along came Jesus and began teaching the same basic doctrine as John the Baptist. He had to be gotten rid of also: this time by a public crucifixion. That didn't work either. His ideas spread throughout the Mediterranean coast. This resulted in a massive Roman campaign of slaughtering the poorest fishing villages regardless of who they were in order to stamp out the notion that civilization is intrinsically evil.

This didn't work either. The people of the fish-sign who were killed for no reason became martyrs. More communities began following the corrupted texts and teachings of Jesus until there were Christian communities all over the Roman fucking empire like gnats and lice on a dog's back. No matter where the Romans tried to scratch another bunch of Christian lice sprang up until it became a religion of the slaves who were owned by rich Romans and other wealthy people.

It took 300 years for the undead to infiltrate this spiritual idea and movement and slowly systematically corrupt it, and bring it back into the corrupt evil fold of Roman civilization: where it continued to rot and fester... until the Roman Empire rotted and died, and was replaced with the rotting carcass of the leftovers of the idea that civilization is intrinsically evil. The undead then used the best insight into the intrinsic nature of evil and twisted it around so it became the opposite; until it became the centralized epitome of wealth and power and corruption and the personification of evil: so it became the centralized religious organization of the Roman Church which became the Catholic Church of Europe: the complete opposite of John the Baptist's and Jesus' basic message: that all civilization is intrinsically evil, and all accumulation of material wealth, status and power is intrinsically evil. It became the most powerful, rotten, corrupt, evil, wealthy instrument of undead evil for another thousand years until it too regressively rotted and is continuing to rot into decay and total corruption...

The point is, human history cannot be fully understood unless you include the existence of undead malevolent evil spirits affecting every human decision and every single human life beginning with the first human apes that walked the plains of Africa millions of years ago, right up to the present day of modern human evil: the CIA.

Al-Quaeda has now been correctly identified as a puppet-shadow organization funded and created by the American CIA. They were used as 'assets' to fight the Russians in Afghanistan... then the CIA used this organization as a scapegoat, blaming them for the attack of 9/11, which was actually a CIA-Pentagon run operation; planned, synchronized and orchestrated by demons in the realm of the undead, using the CIA as their main instrument of evil. Then the undead through their instrument the CIA, used Al Qaeda as a non-existent enemy of Western capitalism and democracy in order to create a false state, a false perception of global terror; now they are being used in false civil insurrections in Libya and Syria, for false flag operations to destabilize and topple Muslim govts such as Egypt, Libya and Syria.

Why are the undead doing this? In order to delude and deceive the people of the world and distract them and keep them occupied so we will not understand and realize what their ultimate goal and agenda is. The undead invent shadow enemies and shadow organizations like Al Qaeda and false wars like the Iraq war, so people won't realize who the actual enemy is, so humans will not understand who the agents of evil actually are and where they reside and who is actually pulling the strings and how they actually operate. Of the many layers of deceit, deception and hidden evil of the realm of the undead, we the living can only perceive a tiny part of their cunning secret machinations.

If you pronounce the word Quaeda: it is a REVERSAL of how you pronounce CIA: Quaeda is pronounced C-A -I with a hard C instead of C-I-A with a soft C. It has now been discovered that Al Qaeda is actually a secret CIA database. Just like the evil nation of Jewish Zionism, Israel is a reversed vowel spelling of what IS REAL because the values of Zionist Israel is a reversal of what is real, it is a reversal of Reality, Humanity, Honesty and Truth... so too is the pronunciation of vowel sounds in the word Al Quaeda a phonetic reversal of the word C-I-A... which is spelled phonetically because its secret agenda and values are a reversal of the CIA charter and the wishes and intentions of the American people. CIA... Data base... C-A-I-DA... An information base: a base of information. All information = AL. Al Qaeda. Get it? ALLAH. Question Allah. Question God. Question all the sources of your information and you will discover the ugly truth, the hidden evil of the undead, the evil of all religions, the evil of all govts, and how they are used by undead things to corrupt and destroy mankind and the whole world.

What is REAL? What is reality without evil? Rational Energy is All Love. It is a love for all living creatures; it is a love for all the Living beauty of Nature. This is what Jesus taught. But you cannot teach this when you are being poisoned by evil. You cannot practice it while you and the entire world is poisoned by evil. First you must destroy and kill that evil. Israel is the opposite of what Jesus taught. That is how much the undead hate truth: they have to poison it over and over and reverse it because if they don't they will be killed dead and utterly destroyed.

What is happening now on the international world scene? The American CIA is using Al Qaeda as a puppet shadow organization to attack and destabilize the last secular govt in the Mideast; The CIA used Al Qaeda operatives to destabilized the Kaddafi govt in Libya. Libya has now been destroyed and its entire way of life and economy ruined and put under the control of the international gangsters of the IMF etc: who are all linked to the evil Rothschild international ring of banking criminals. Now the CIA has targeted Syria. Coincidentally, Syria is also one of the two last national Govts in the western world not yet owned and controlled by the Rothschild mafia of criminal banksters. All the regimes that are not controlled by the mafia gang of pure evil Banking criminal dynasties are being toppled and ruined. The last ones remaining are now Syria, Iran and North Korea.

The CIA term for CIA secret agents is "assets", it is a financial term because the CIA is inextricably linked to the huge illegal corrupt money-laundering operations of drug money by the transnational banks, which are owned and controlled by the richest wealthiest Jewish banking families in the world. This corrupt international triangle of drugs, war and power is feeding off itself by feeding on all of humanity and sucking the financial lifeblood out of billions of living dupes. This spider web of intrigue, secret organizations, secret transactions and money is now the main instrument of global evil used, controlled and manipulated by undead filth to continue their hidden agendas. The secret power and wealth of the British Empire was based upon the profits of drug money; the profits from the drugs: Spices, Coffee, Sugar, Tea, Opium. Just as the secret wealth and power of the US hegemony and the international banks and corporations depends on the drug trade of the Golden Triangle and the Poppy-opium-heroin drug industry.

What is the true hidden evil of the terrorist organization 'Al-Quaeda'?

The Muslim word Qaeda means data-base. It was named by the CIA for the data-base of Muslim religious fanatics who they trained and hired to fight the Russians in Afghanistan.

The true terrorist organization is the data-base of the CIA itself: not the shadow puppet it created. This secret evil organization is being used by the undead to create a culture of global terror all over the world. The CIA has in its centralized computer files the greatest data-base of personal information in the world. The undead, using the CIA as one of their main instruments of evil, are trying to steer the whole world into accepting a bio-metric 'national identity card' which will include your DNA information, tax information, fingerprint data, credit and criminal history, social profiling and medical history all linked to a central database. By manipulating the masses by a matrix of fear and fear mongering and brainwashing, they want to introduce a computer chip which will create a 'moneyless society', an ID chip implant which cannot be 'lost or stolen'. This will be the only card you will need to 'buy and sell' anything of monetary value. And by this cunning evil tactic, gain total control over all humans on the Earth and turn them into dependent, servile obedient slaves.

The data-bases of the CIA in their offices in the Twin Towers and building 7 held too many incriminating files of their operations, so they decided wipe put all the records using a false flag operation which was spearheaded by George Walker Bush and his crony Dick Cheney and his corrupt oil buddies and corrupt corporate heads; together with the corrupt Jewish controlled New York city and Silverstein who made billions off the catastrophe

The point is if you want to find the true source of evil you must search for the ones who control these puppet organizations and kill them dead: not the underlings. The CIA is the TRUE terrorist data-base of secret evil on earth which must be fought; not the puppet-shadow organization of the CIA called Al Qaeda, but the CIA itself.

This American CIA is the TRUE evil which is now gaining power and is secretly spreading its influence and evil all over the world at a breakneck speed that is almost completely hidden from the masses and is setting up the entire planet of humans for a planned, orchestrated set of catastrophes and false flag operations in order to create an unreal illusion, an abstract matrix of global terror, a global matrix of mass sociopathic panic, a global matrix of total unreality, a matrix of global fear... in order to bring about their goal of total centralized world domination by the undead...

This is NOT being planned or done by living humans.
The undead are using living humans as their puppets

This is why the evil secret operations of the CIA have been kept so well hidden; this is why the CIA has infiltrated itself into every power group in the western world. This is why the synchronization between the CIA and all of the other spy networks of other nations and why all the powerful leaders of commerce, govt, media, and society and religion are sending the same brainwashing messages to its citizens and masses. This is why all of the most powerful heads of international evil somehow always seem to be on the same page, cooperating with each other and never fighting amongst each other. The push for centralized world totalitarian rule and oppression is not coming from the CIA, or from the Rothschild mafia banking cartel, or the federal Reserve or the IMF or the World Bank, or the Bilderberg group, or the Council on Foreign relations, or the Club of Rome or the Freemasons... these secret societies are just the shadow fronts for the true hidden secret evil shadow societies of the undead, they are just instruments of the true evil ones; the shades of the undead.

The scam, the artifice of ID implants is another hoax. The undead have already implanted themselves and embedded themselves into the living bodies of their human hosts. They have already secretly implanted themselves for millions of years into living people. The idea, the culture, the technology of the ID chip implant is just a symptom of their implanted embedded evil presence hiding itself inside living people. I = Undead ENTITY D = DESTRUCTIVE. I D... IDestroy... get it?

What is behind all this intrigue is the hidden, secret long-range plan of the undead to artificially polarize all of humanity once again into fighting itself and destroying itself, as they did twice before in the 20th century... their goal, their ghoulish is to create a 3rd world war, so once again Mankind battles Mankind, so living humans kill each other and all Humanity is destroyed and the Earth is destroyed and becomes a radioactive wasteland where nothing is left alive, where everything is dead.

There is no fucking difference between the extinct Scandinavian worship of Odin and the Norse Gods and what is happening today in the Mideast. The undead feast upon human conflicts, battle, killing and hate because they are re-living their own negative wasted lives over and over again because they are intrinsically negative. They enter the bodies of living humans to re-enact their own deaths, and then they go back to their shadow realm, refreshed from sucking on the ebbing life-energy of dying mortals, and re-living their own deaths, and go back and do it all over again... over and over and over. These undead things need to be completely killed and exterminated.

Whether it is a war between the polarized Muslim nations of the East and the secular nations of the West: whether the war is between America and China, or America against Russia and China... or the USA against India and China... or a war between Jews and the Arabs, the undead are constantly working to artificially invent and create enemies where none had existed before; inventing hatreds by artificially polarizing and increasing tensions between Muslims and Jews, Christians and Jews, Arabs and Jews, etc. By artificially polarizing and increasing tensions between nation states, between religious sects, between ethnic cultures, between different religions; this artificial push for a 3rd world war is now being seen and recognized as a huge threat and a huge danger by many intelligent individuals.

The problem is... those who see it coming do not see deeply enough. The evil threat and the push for a 3rd world war is not coming from Hillary Clinton or the Rothschild mafia criminal gang of banksters, or the CIA or Nit Romney (He's a nothing, a fucking nit: manipulated and controlled by undead shadow nits-nittling little negative entities). The real evil is not a shadow govt or a shadow new world govt or a shadow new world order... the real evil is coming from the shadows of the dead, the shades of the undead, from undead ghosts of undead evil demons and ghouls.

The real war going on is between all LIFE on Earth versus the undead demons and ghouls of the Realm of the undead. The real war going on is between LIFE and death. Until humans are educated and enlightened as to the true nature of evil which exists inside each living person and exists all around them all the time, they will never understand that the undead are using them as puppets to kill each other... and that all differences of culture, class, ethnicity, religion, etc were invented and created by them, and all these artificial differences are secondary to the difference between the living and the undead. Until living humans understand who their real mortal enemy is, they will never stop killing each other. Until living humans realize they are being used and controlled and manipulated by undead rotting evil thing into killing each other, they will never know who their common enemy actually is and how easily they have been duped and corrupted and poisoned by these undead entities.

The undead have been winning this war for only one reason. That reason is because we the living have not yet woken up to their existence and realized that there even is a war going on between the living and the undead... and that it has been going on for hundreds of millions of years and that it is going on all the time, night and day. Is because the living have not even realized that a state of war even exists between the living and the undead, and that it has always existed and will continue to exist until one side or the other wins. This book is written to wake you up to this hidden truth.

The war going on for possession and control of your Inner Soul, for you Inner Integrity, for your Honesty and Courage is going on every second of your LIFE; and it is determined by your Outer Self, your Outer Actions in the World, by how Honest and Courageous you are in living your Life every second of every day and every night. And how much you succumb to fear and cowardice and dishonesty and self-deceptions and how much you lie to yourself and to others, and how much you act out of Courage and Honesty and how much you fail to act out of fear and hate and envy. And how much you Love and how much kindness and caring you show to all living creatures great and small. And how much you sin and how many crimes you commit and how much evil you do and how much GOOD you do.

But you can only do this if you know the difference between GOOD and evil. You should never give evil any caring, tolerance, love or kindness. You should have a zero tolerance for all evil: both inside yourself and outside of you.

The point is, if there is a 3rd World War, the only ones who will win are the dead; not the living. The point is: the secret conspiracy of the undead to set up, orchestrate, manipulate the entire world of Humanity in order to invent an artificial excuse to spark a 3rd world war, comes from undead evil entities that are hiding INSIDE and all around every living person on Earth.

The push for a 3rd world war is coming from key people in power in key crucial positions who are able to advance and push this agenda of Armageddon, this insane suicide of the entire human species entering into a third world war because they are being cunningly controlled and brainwashed and manipulated by undead entities.

The unforgivable intrusion of undead evil into the lives and affairs of we the living isn't a just recent phenomenon. These undead rotting filth have been interfering in lives of living humans for millions of years. Their secret tricks of manipulating and controlling living creatures unknowingly... so they are not aware of being controlled and manipulated, and using them as observation posts and listening posts, as secret agents of evil; has existed for untold millennia.

Now these undead shitwads see the final culmination of all their machinations and conspiracies approaching and reaching a head and as always, they have overreached themselves and prematurely revealed themselves as undead ghouls secretly controlling the most powerful and wealthy people in the world; as they did with David Icke.

What do you think David Icke's vision of an undead lizard-man was? The undead aura of a lizardman superimposed over the living aura of the Queen of England...? That undead abomination, that incestuous merging of the aura of a human undead soul that had hidden and lived inside a reptile for too long... was intentionally exposing his secret invisible existence to Icke... leering and sneering at David Icke, certain that this sportscaster, this idiot would never tumble to the actual truth, that Icke was far too blind and too corrupt to ever see farther than his own delusions of grandeur. And it was correct. Icke has not pierced the veil of evil hiding secretly inside himself... not just the Queen of England. He hasn't detected the presence of undead evil lurking filth hiding inside himself. He hasn't explored the inner depth of this own soul... He hasn't discovered that ALL living humans are poisoned by undead entities; not just the fucking Queen of England...

I have. Which is why evil people fear me.

It is really incredible when you think about it, the illogical irrationality of it, when the fact of people being possessed by evil spirits and demons has been documented throughout history, while modern historians and scientists assume that nobody else was ever possessed or controlled or manipulated by undead spirits except a few, rare, documented cases... When the record of all human cultures is filled with tales and legends speaking of how invisible gods and spirits influenced the lives of mortal humans.

Nobody bothers to make the connection that maybe these spirits and demons never went away... that maybe they still exist, that maybe they have always existed, that maybe after millions of years the accumulation of these undead things, they are getting more powerful, not less. That maybe all these undead auras of all the living people who ever lived are still hanging around.

There is documented proof of life after death. The existence of ghosts has been proven... And?... taking the next obvious logical step is completely missing, the logical rational inference from this one fact is missing, it is stopped in its tracks, the next logical step is not taken. If one person who died still exists as a ghost; then every single fucking human who ever lived must also still exist as a ghost. If one person's soul survives as a ghost after physical death, then ALL the people who ever lived exist as ghosts.

The idea of one person's spirit lingering on an intangible level of energy which we the living cannot perceive, in an invisible realm we cannot see... and millions of other people's spirits who died evaporating without a trace? So only one out of a million human spirits lingers on after physical death and all the other ones don't? Huh? So one out of a million souls survives physical death, and the other 999,999 souls disappear without a trace? Bullshit.

Why does nobody make the logical inference? Why is the next logical step not taken?... Why does nobody make the logical conclusion that if there is one ghost, one proof of life after death, then this must be true for ALL living creatures, not just one... that all physical living creatures that physically die, leave behind undead auras, ghosts which survive their physical death... That the reason why the logical inferences from proven evidence of the existence of undead auras are not followed up and the next set of logical conclusions are not made is because these evil undead entities do not want you to know of their hidden existence, that they do not want you to even suspect that they exist... that they do not want you to even think they might exist... And that they actively do everything they can to prevent you from thinking that they might exist. And that they actively persuade you on subtle subliminal levels of consciousness which you are not aware of... that they don't exist. And that they want you to remain ignorant of their existence for a very good reason: because they hate all living creatures, because they are your mortal enemy, they are the mortal enemy of all Life on Earth and they know it. Because they know if you knew this then you would kill them... you would kill all of them. You would hunt them down and kill all of them dead.

To give you an example of how undead turds manipulate and fool living humans: Christianity exists today as one of the three Western religions because an Emperor heard voices. Because he heard a voice telling him to convert to this small religious sect: an entire empire was forcibly converted to this small sect which would have died out naturally if it were not for an Emperor hearing voices in his head.

The undead have done these tricks for thousands of years. The greatest Catholic saints heard voices which they attributed to angel or Jesus or God. Kings had dreams foretelling them of victory in battle. Omens, tokens, icons, dead bones, dried desiccated pieces of offal, trinkets: have been believed to have supernatural powers. The religion of Christ on the Cross would not exist today if it were not for the undead inventing this religion for slaves to worship another slave nailed to a cross... thus wiping out by cultural brainwashing the horror and brutality of the Roman empire who killed people as painfully, and sadistically and slowly as possible so they would suffer the maximum amount of pure agony. If this stinking religion had not been invented and spread throughout the Roman empire before its complete collapse:... the Roman Empire would have not been glorified or copied. It would have been spat upon as it deserves to be spat upon; as a filthy evil culture of cruelty and enslavement and the worship of killing and bloodshed. Worshipping a Crucifixion after 1,000 years of Romans killing millions of people in this way? Why not worship the Gallows! Why not worship the guillotine! Why not worship firing squads! The mass insanity of worshipping anything without questioning it is easily exposed only IF you critically examine and question it logically in its correct context and meanings.

Because stupid human slaves allow themselves to be controlled and terrorized by a centralized authority, all it took for the undead to change the course of human history was for one stupid evil, corrupt Roman Emperor to hear voices in his head... and voila! Suddenly he has been 'chosen' by a great invisible god to lead his armies to victory! Suddenly he has been converted from a disbeliever into a devout Christian fanatic!

Whoopee. Any fucking madman or manic who hears voices in their head today is put into a mental institution and kept under lock and key, but not 2000 years ago! For over one thousand years, the greatest sign of wisdom and spiritual authority was the idea that a few, rare, privileged assholes lived lives of such exemplary nobleness that da great 'god' almighty or Jesus or an angel or whatever bullshit these voices were ascribed to, came all da way down from 'heaven' and spoke to these saints or kings or Emperors or Popes or goatherds or shepherds. The entire fucking papal authority and the authority of the fucking Catholic Church; the richest largest church in the world... comes from the Catholic belief that the Pope has a direct line to God himself! This was the standard superstition which corrupt cardinals used to gain power by. This claim... that 'Jesus' or 'god' spoke to you and told you what you must do has been used by religious nut cases and brainwashed baboons for eons of time...

And what's worse; the masses still believe in this shit!

I had a vision! I had a dream!... Not even Martin Luther King today could have gotten away with claiming God had spoken to him in a dream; yet the stupid human species swallowed this kind of crap for thousands of years until they finally began to wise up to the suspicion that they were being gulled, fooled, taken for a ride. The result was the undead merely switching their myths and lies to hide their true existence by convincing people that the undead don't even exist. That god is dead!

This doesn't mean there aren't people who hear voices in their head or have dreams or visions. The point is: they never question the source of these phenomena, they never investigate; they never question the true Nature of these paranormal experiences, they never question the authority of whatever voice or dream or vision they have. Try asking whatever contacts you just who the fuck it is; and watch them disappear and never come back again, and refuse to answer all your direct questions. Try asking whatever voice or dream or vision to prove that they know better than you do, and see them disappear once their swindle is exposed.

Think of it... if Constantine; Emperor of the Roman Empire had not heard voices in his head: if he hadn't had a dream which he believed came from higher power... there would have been no Christianity as a major state religion... and subsequently no Muslim religion either, no Holy Roman Empire, no Crusades, no Mohammedan civilization, no Protestant Reformation, no Industrial Revolution, no WW1, no WW2, no Capitalist consumer manufacturing, no overpopulation of the human species into 7 billion rats running around in circles inside their caged minds, no global destruction of the entire Earth's eco-systems, no global pollution and poisoning of all life forms on Earth... This is how easily these undead things have poisoned the course of human events throughout history.

How can you fight this? By telling anyone who claims to have any higher authority TO GO FUCK THEMSELVES, that's how. By NOT TAKING SHIT FROM ANYONE, that's how, By being INDEPENDENT and doing your own thinking, by thinking for yourself; that's how. By STANDING UP FOR WHAT YOU LIVE BY; not what you die by; that's how . BY NOT TOLERATING ANY KIND OF EVIL in yourself and in others; that's how.

BY NOT LIVING LIKE SLAVE; that's how. BY NOT THINKING LIKE A COWARDLY SLAVE: that's how BY NOT WORSHIPPING ANYTHING or ANYONE... that's how., BY BEING CRITICAL OF EVERYTHING AND EVERYONE INCLUDING YOURSELF; that's how. By QUESTIONING EVERYTHING; that's how. By having a Sense of Pure Wonder about EVERYTHING: that's how. By NOT TAKING ANYTHING FOR GRANTED; that's how. BY STUDYING THE PAST AND LEARNING FROM YOUR MISTAKES AND ALL THE MISTAKES OF HISTORY: that's how. BY BEING HONEST; that's how, BY NOT LYING TO YOURSELF; that's how. BY NOT LYING TO ANYONE; that's how. BY HAVING COURAGE; that's how. BY NOT KEEPING ANY SECRETS; that's how.

The undead are everywhere... I can give you proof from my own experiences, but that would take up another 2,000 pages. Let me give you just one example of what I mean by the fact that undead spirits are not an exception: they are the rule, they exist everywhere. When I was in high school I let two city boys I knew who I thought were my friends, go up to our cabin in the woods in the Laurentiens at the end of the summer. We were all working at the same A&W hamburger joint in the kitchen, and they went up to our cabin without any supervision two days before I could, because I was still working. I didn't realize that they were city boys and had stupid ideas about living in the woods. The stupid fuckers were terrified of the forest and wild animals and brought along a 22 rifle.

We had been feeding the raccoons for years by leaving our dinner dishes outside on the porch at night. It was one of the entertainments of living up north in the woods: hearing the mother raccoon give quavering sounds asking if it was all right to come up to the cabin was our signal to go to the inner porch, and turn on the outer porch light. We could see in the darkness the reflections of the eyes of mother raccoon and the baby raccoons behind her. Coming on the porch to make sure it was safe, she signaled for the little ones to come up too and they licked all our plates clean so we didn't need to waste much water washing them. Our cabin was at the top of a hill and we had to haul up all our drinking water from two natural springs lower down on either side of the hill. The only water we had for washing dishes came from water collected from the roof of our summer shack, so it was a nice little arrangement for both us and the raccoons.

Not knowing this, the two city boys had made some kind of desert and left it outside on the porch to cool at night which was stupid. Finding a raccoon eating their desert, they freaked out and shot the mother raccoon dead with a 22 rifle that had brought with them which was a thousand times more stupid. Then one of them cut off her paws and put it on a tin pie plate and stuck the plate on the roof of the shack; the sick fuckers.

All this happened before I came up to join them. When I found out what they had done I was furious with them and disgusted and angry. You don't kill innocent wild animals when you go up north in the Laurentiens. It was not hunting season and the only people who did any shooting did it during hunting season and they did it in the regions where no cabins existed because shooting anything without a license in our area was illegal and they only shot moose or deer during hunting season; not raccoons who had lost their fear of man because the summer cottagers left things outside for them to eat. For years I had thought that we were the only ones who did this, later I found out everybody else had also been doing it. The raccoons never told anybody about their regular schedule and nobody had bothered to mention it until many years later after the custom had disappeared and also the raccoons. I never invited those two assholes up north again: the first time to up to our shack in the woods was their last time.

A year after this happened, one of these two asses had a psychic experience which scared the shit out of him ... he had woken up one morning paralyzed... filled with terror, and sitting there on the ledge of his open window with the morning light streaming through its undead aura *was a furry shape that had furry ears about the size of a large teddy bear...*and it was looking at him... He didn't know what it was. All he knew he was awake and it was daylight, and he couldn't move and was filled with an unspeakable terror. He was convinced he had been visited by an evil spirit, but he didn't know why or what that evil spirit was.

Only many years later did I understand what had happened to him. He was the one who had brought the 22 rifle up north and had cut off the dead raccoon's paws. The undead spirit of the raccoon he had helped kill and mutilate had visited him and had made him just as helpless as he had made it by cutting off its paws. The hate which that undead raccoon had for him was so visceral, so powerful it had frozen him so he couldn't move even though he was wide awake.

A few years later after the incident, the other one who had actually done the killing suffered a massive injury to his spine in a car accident and died from it in the hospital. What had happened to him was the undead mother raccoon had finally gotten her revenge on him... It had also promised dire vengeance on the other culprit in a visitation by his bedside 70 miles from where the killing had been committed; a warning of what will happen to him when he is on his deathbed and all the once-living undead spirits he harmed during his life will come to visit him and tear him limb from limb in revenge for what he did to them.

I was never visited by any undead raccoon spirit. I like raccoons. Many years later, I moved into an apt house in Montreal where a mother raccoon ousted a cat living on the back porch in a pet house on the top floor just below the roof of the building. And raised 3 or 4 babies there safely. The woman who lived in the apt and owned the cat who had been kicked out of its own home died a year later of undisclosed causes. After she died, the raccoon family disappeared from the pet house on the upper porch which her cat had once lived in. The undead spirit of the mother raccoon was re-enacting a negative re-creation of its own death; raising the babies she had been prevented from raising when she had been prematurely killed and also wreaked her revenge on the person whose porch it took over. Blindly trying to kill the living tenant who lived who lived directly under the roof; not the true culprits, not the two jerks who actually killed it 40 years ago, not the undead spirits who made them do it... just repeating its mindless hate and revenge over and over as a negative tape, a negative energy vortex guided and manipulated by other undead ghouls and filth....

The evil of the past was being slightly healed because I like raccoons and the living raccoon sensed that where I lived would be a good place to raise her family. The raccoon family lived warm and safe in the pet house for one summer and one winter on the outside porch of the 3rd floor as close to the roof as possible in the apt building I was living in because of my positive presence. But that included the evil presence of the undead raccoon whose motives and presence were 100% evil and negative.

I never injured my spine, except once when I tried to pick up a piano with one hand instead of two, and that was just a slight injury. I shouldn't have let those two go up north without me being there, but it would have required a massive amount of wisdom which I had not developed yet when I was only 18 years old... and though the undead have tried to shoulder me with the responsibility of many things which I am not responsible for, I have never tried to intentionally harm any living creature, so I have never had to fear any karmic revenge or retribution from any undead entity. The point is: everything you do to harm any living creature you will pay for sooner or later; in this realm or in the next.

One more reason the undead are evil is not only entering the bodies of living souls, and re-enacting their own deaths and their own hates, killing and being killed... not only that; There is also the evil of them killing each other in their own realm every chance they get.

The undead spirits just leaving their dying bodies being attacked and killed by the very same undead filth who had been secretly inhabiting and poisoning their living bodies... undead filth who have managed to survive because they are and the worst inhuman killers, the most brutal, insane monsters of that poisoned realm of undead horror, the most cunning, sly, evil filth making sure that the ones dying are not given any chance to survive, killing them before they can learn all of the subtle little tricks of the conditions and energy formats of the energy-levels they dissolve into and mutate into. Before these innocent dying souls can even know where they are and what they are: they are pounced upon and overwhelmed and attacked from all sides by the undead which have been hovering and poisoning their bodies all their life until these innocent undead souls are destroyed.

The evil of these undead things is not just the filth and sins and unspeakable violations they commit upon living people in the realm of the living... it is the crimes and evil they commit upon each other in their Realm of undead horror. It is what they do to each other and how they poison each other, and hate each other, and kill each other which is also evil. This is why they must be exterminated with extreme prejudice, not only by we the living, but by all honest decent souls who have passed into their realm who are forewarned and aware of their dirty tricks and their cunning tactics and forearmed with the foreknowledge needed to kill them before they can kill you. Once you are prepared to slay them and hunt them down. Once you have no fear of them whatsoever; then you will see them fleeing from you and trying to hide themselves. Then you will be able to track them down and kill them DEAD DEAD DEAD.

Understand this: in order to survive, the undead depend on instilling irrational fear into the souls of the puppets they control. They depend on poisoning you with their own fear in order to even exist. They depend on projecting and injecting their own fear into you in order to weaken and poison you so you will be vulnerable to their attacks. They depend on scaring you, on frightening you, on shocking you, on taking you by surprise. They depend on attacking you when you are not looking to be attacked... from behind, where you can't see them. They are seeking to take advantage of you in every possible way they can. They are seeking to exploit every possible weakness they can find. Once you become wise to their tricks: once you discover how much more powerful you are than they are: you will kill them and not stop killing them until they are all killed dead.

You need to understand that these undead things exist in a permanent state of negative hatred and evil; they are not human. These undead things do not have any human agenda or motive or intention. They are secret invisible ghouls that spread hate, envy, fear and malice everywhere they go. They spread death, disease and destruction. Their malevolent evil influence and hidden presence throughout human history is why all the conspiracies planned and perpetrated throughout human history do not make any human sense. They must be exterminated from the face of the Earth and killed DEAD. Evil humans must be recognized for what they actually are and hunted down and killed DEAD. Evil must be recognized for what it is and hunted down and killed DEAD.

During Reagan's term in office, the corrupt American FDA and Vice President George W. Bush Sr. allowed Monsanto to start selling genetically modified cancer-causing seeds in America. Now over 75% of all food in America contains GMO plants without any true testing of their effects on human health. Most of the corn and soy crops in America have been replaced with GMO terminator seeds by Monsanto. The health dangers and effects of eating GMO plants has already been documented, but this does not stop Monsanto from spreading its seeds of evil all over the world. Now the link between why the bees have been dying and the spread of GMO plants has been discovered. Scientists have discovered that the insecticide genetically implanted by Monsanto into their seeds of death is killing off all the bees who come into contact with the poisoned pollen from GMO plants. The destruction of the bee population all over the world will trigger a huge global dying out of all plants that depend on pollination to exist; this is now destroying the bedrock of sustainable eco-systems all over the world.

Replacing heirloom seeds with GMO seeds will create worldwide starvation and put farmers into perpetual debt slavery. In spite of the worldwide ban on GMO seeds, the spreading use of this genetic poison is still going on against the wishes of all but a few rich powerful people. The fact that Monsanto is buying up nearly all of the seed companies in the world and selling terminator seeds which are genetically programmed to die is not a part of any 'New World Order'. It is only one small part of the undead conspiracy and war of the undead against all Life on Earth.

Monsanto GMO terminator seeds spreading death, starvation and hunger all over the world, killing bees everywhere all over the world, spreading genetic poison all over the Earth is not a conspiracy of any living human consciousness. It is just one more bit of evidence revealing the malevolent undead agenda of the undead to kill all Life on Earth. There is a secret unspoken war going on all the time and if you do not rise up and actively fight against evil people committing evil, you will be poisoned to death and you will starve to death and you will die. If you do nothing you will be killed, you will be systematically dumbed-down, poisoned, weakened and corrupted until you either die or become one of them. There is no inbetween: either act or you are evil.

What do you think chemtrails are? The undead are poisoning the atmosphere of the entire fucking world as quickly as they can; they are trying to poison the entire fucking atmosphere with poisonous chemicals that poison the rain and poison the snow and the air and every living thing that breathes the poisoned air or drinks or uses that poisoned water which comes from the poisoned snow melting into the streams and rivers all over the world.

Another insidious undead conspiracy which is taking over the world is their attempt to put everyone in debt for the rest of their lives. The stealing of trillions of dollars by mafia criminals called bankers, stealing trillions of dollars from billions of taxpayers in order to put the masses into the poorhouse and into perpetual debt, plus the capitalist system of tricking ordinary people to go into debt for the rest of their lives is aimed at ruining everything mankind has built up and killing the human energy of positive Life and Love and Freedom. As long as you are in debt you are in a state of bondage; you are a slave; you are owned, you have sold your soul for money. What you need to understand is that Debt is DEATH: the two words are pronounced the same because they mean the same thing.

Financial debt is slavery of the human soul; debt was invented by undead filth in order to destroy Love by insidiously replacing emotional Love with the corrupt Love of money. Selling your soul for money is the death of your humanity and your human spirit which you are born with. The abolishment of all debt would free the human species from its slavery to the evils of capitalism. Until the masses rise up and destroy the corrupt evil which is destroying the entire Earth, until the masses of humanity refuse to be taxed and refuse to be in debt and refuse to pay all debts: the slavery of the worship of money will continue to be one of the main instruments of undead evil. Only when you realize that you are in a constant state of war to the death against all forms of evil will you wake up and stop sitting on your ass expecting to be saved by someone else.

There is no inbetween: Either you act, or you are evil. Either actively fight evil, or you are a panderer of evil and/or an enabler of evil. Evil triumphs by good people doing nothing to stop it from spreading. If you do nothing to stop evil then you are evil; then you are being controlled and manipulated by undead filth. You have been brainwashed and programmed into being a timid little terrified lemming, afraid of saying anything or doing anything which might endanger your own safety and your own selfish little existence.

The Evil of Talmudic Jews

The difference between a Jew and Goyim as understood by Talmudic Jews was accurately stated by that instrument of undead evil: Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneerson; one of the most evil Jewish Zionists of the 20th century; may he rot in Hell forever for the vile hate and evil he spawned and spread during his evil existence. This is what he said:

“This is what needs to be said about the body”

To begin with this exposes him as an instrument of evil, the undead consider living physical humans to be SHELLS at their disposal. The body of a living person is for them only a repository to be filled with their undead filth. They do not value or consider the inner soul of any living human to be worth saving and they do not see any living person’s intelligence, humanity and character as being anything but a hindrance to their using every living human as a pawn for their own filthy evil purposes.

“The body of a Jewish Person is different from the body of a member of any other nation of the world.”

This is because the living body of every Jew is more effectively poisoned and infiltrated with the most evil of undead entities. The undead ghouls which violate the living bodies of living Jews are by far more negative and negatively powerful than the undead ghouls of any other human undead.

“The Jewish body looks as if it were in substance similar to the bodies of non-Jews.”

This instrument of pure evil: Menachem Mendel Schneerson this hatemonger, this Jewish racist is speaking of the undead bodies, the undead auras that poison the living bodies of Jews being completely different from all other undead who poison their offspring. That is because in the realm of the undead: more undead filth have gathered around this one race for more thousands of years in order to poison AT THE VERY BEGINNING, their budding humanity and intelligence, and so the CONCENTRATION: the INVISIBLE CONCENTRATION of undead evil surrounding every living Jew is DIFFERENT in the eyes of the UNDEAD....

Not in the eyes of living people. Living people see no difference in the physical bodies of Jews and non-Jews because we cannot SEE their invisible filth hovering around every living human... This evil instrument of hate and racism is preaching the unvarnished doctrine OF THE UNDEAD... to living Jews... as a RELIGIOUS DEFINITION of what the difference is between a LIVING JEW and a living human who is NOT a Jew.

“But the bodies only seem to be similar in material substance, outward look and superficial quality.”

Here Schneerson is screaming out to anyone who has the insight to understand that the positive LIFE-Energy of the soul and body of a living human is NOT the same energy as the negative filth that these invisible undead ghouls are made of, that ONLY THOSE WHO ARE POISONED BY UNDEAD FILTH CAN SEE THESE AURAS of evil.

THIS unspeakably evil poisoned Jew ATTRIBUTES the most ‘holy’ spiritual godliness to these undead ghoulish filth. He is saying that Jews are more ‘holy’ than Goyim because of the huge concentration of EVIL surrounding every living Jew. What this filth has been programmed and brainwashed into is REVERSING THE TRUTH, REVERSING THE PERCEPTION OF EVIL AND GOOD: perceiving GOOD to be evil and perceiving Evil as GOOD.

“The difference of the inner quality however, is so great that the bodies should be regarded as a COMPLETELY DIFFERENT SPECIES.”

Here Schneerson is speaking of how the entire living aura of a living Jew is poisoned so completely by the undead filth which have hounded and poisoned this one race, that the aura of that living person, the invisible life-aura together with all of the undead auras poisoning it is so great: that it no longer resembles the aura of any ordinary living human. This is where the universal racism of Zionists comes from. It comes from undead who are using the bodies of these most poisoned of all Jews and others to destroy all life on earth. This unspeakably evil rabbi is preaching the religion of universal hatred towards all living humans who are not as poisoned by undead filth as he is poisoned by them. Zionists are lionists; they lionize lies. Zionists glorify lies. The letter “z” is the negative letter “n” lying down, like all lions do... in broad daylight. The second you attack a lion lying down in broad daylight it will run away scared out of its wits. The instant you physically attack a lying Zionist lying in broad daylight it will run away scared out of its wits also.

Understand this; the attitude of any Jew regarding non-Jews as not being human is the classic reversal of truth. It is proof of the existence of their being evil. The actual truth is that every Jew who regards gentiles as not being human is not human. These inhuman undead filth merely reverse the truth: nothing else. It is they who are not human. Not the other way around! It is they who must be exterminated as the foul inhuman poisoned filth they are. These sick, deranged shells who consider all ‘goyim’ as not being human are the pure undead evil. It is these filthy evil racist hate filled Jews who need to and must be killed dead dead dead.

Their passing into the realm of the undead will not be missed by one single human being because it is these evil Jews who have not given one bit of love to anyone in their entire sick evil lives but instead only create more evil in the world. If you kill every single Jew who believes that gentiles are not humans: you will have killed most of the evil Talmudic Jews in the world and good riddance to their stinking filthy rotten existence. And what’s more: you will feel GOOD about killing them dead.

“This is the reason why the Talmud states that there is an halachic difference in attitude between the bodies of non-Jews. Their bodies are in vain.”

Again: this puppet of the undead, this mouthpiece of evil is speaking about the difference in attitude... what kind of ‘attitude’? Here the unspoken assumption remains hidden. He is not speaking of any physical difference between humans, but the difference of the attitude: which he perceives to be more important than anything else. The ‘attitude’ towards all living things and all humans who are not evil must be one of hate, destruction and usury. Non-Jews are to be used like cattle.

The ‘halachic’ difference is the holographic difference: the difference which hollow undead ghouls can see and we the living can’t... hollow, hala, hologram, hallowed, hollowed; undead filth auras which surround and corrupt living Zionists; these Hebrews have been chosen by the undead for over 3,000 years to be their main instruments of evil

“An even greater difference exists in regards to the soul. Two contrary types of soul exist. A non-Jewish soul comes from three Satanic spheres while the Jewish soul comes from holiness.”

Here... the undead cunningly hiding inside this Rabbi again reverses the perception of everything: the actual truth is that it is the Jewish soul that is satanic in attitude and values and outlook and practice and how they live their filthy evil Jewish lives. Not the other way around.

It is the souls of non-Jews that are holy because they have not yet been poisoned to the degree that the Jews have been by their own undead filth. Their evil comes from the living brainwashing and programming of their minds and hearts which they have received from their own Jewish culture: not the deepest most inner recesses of the Jewish soul: which has been split apart into three undead controlling entities: which use the same old tactic of divide and conquer in order to ruin and corrupt the integrated wholeness of a living Jew so they are forever detached from themselves. Detached from their own emotions, detached from their own thoughts, detached from their own actions by this multiple personality complex: these poisoned Jews can lie better and deceive others better, and most importantly: deceive themselves better.

Understand this: the living Jew who is split into these 3 controlling satanic evil forces cannot and will not look at itself, they all refuse to look at themselves. ALL Jews refuse to look at their own evil. The reason they refuse to look at their own evil is because the hidden undead hiding inside them are so in control of the living body they secretly inhabit that they the undead, not the living body automatically block all awareness of their evil presence from the living person they poison and control. All denial of truth is evil, All denial of truth is evidence of the control the undead have over corrupt or weakened traumatized living people's bodies, minds, hearts and souls. Evil refuses to look at itself because when it does: it kills itself: it commits suicide because it hates itself. One thing evil can be recognized by is the refusal to look at oneself. The refusal to even consider looking at yourself is proof of undead control over you so you will not look inside yourself and discover the invisible hidden poison filth which they are. The religion of self-deception and self-deceit; which the Jews have now spread by their mass media as a global religion of mass culture is because they as a culture and a race and a religion are controlled by undead evil unspeakable things. Jews spread their evil culture in order to corrupt all of humanity so everyone will become just as corrupt as the Jews are.

Now ask yourself... why should anyone trust a Jew when everybody knows Jews are the most untrustworthy people in the world? Why should people trust Jews when their entire culture is based upon deceit, deception, bullshit, lies, distortions and untruths? Yet people do: the entire world of Man is beholden to Jewish bankers; all Mankind is dependent on Banks for their money. All humanity trusts banks: they trust banks to lend them money, they trust banks to keep their hard-earned money, they trust banks to run entire economies. They trust money as a form of exchange. What are they actually trusting? Printed on every American Dollar bill it says explicitly: In God We Trust." It is not the money they are trusting: it is their God they trust in. it is the satanic lust of avarice they are worshipping and trusting; it is all Gods, it is their religion they trust in; money is only a token of that trust and it is that insane trust in an invisible, non-existent deity that is destroying the world and has been, ever since the undead invented this form of evil.

All gods are evil. All money is evil. Metal coins, paper currency is just another way of undead shit scum reducing three-dimensional Life Energy into dead, two-dimensional, inorganic symbols of the power they hold over living humans, it is an obscene, insane regression from 3 dimensions into 2 dimensions. It is a destruction of Life and Humanity; it is turning human love and human trust into an evil abomination of deluded enslavement, a slavery of the mind, the destruction of humans trusting in each other, the destruction of Love, the destruction of Friendship, the destruction of Honesty, the destruction of Courage, the destruction of the Human Sense of Pure Wonder, the destruction of Happiness, the destruction of all Fun and Playfulness

The fact is: the only reason civilization works is because living humans trust each other... the only reason the evil system of money works is because living people who depend on each other and trust each other to do what they say and say what they do. Money is only a token of that trust. But it is an evil token which creates and fosters mistrust instead of trust. The moment you start valuing the token more than you do other human beings you become evil; you become inhuman, you become a cold, unfeeling selfish pig that doesn't care about anything or anyone but yourself and your own selfish little personal concerns.

The fact is: when humans wake up and realize that they are being used as guinea pigs by these undead turdshit assholefuckers they will stop using money. They will stop trusting in greedy Jewish bankers. They will stop trusting banks. They will stop believing that greed is good. They will stop believing in greed. They will stop believing in God. They will stop believing in religion. They will start believing in each other's humanity and honesty and decency and kindness. They will discover that the only thing that makes life worth living is not money but Honesty, Courage, Decency, Kindness, Trust, and mutual Respect. But in order to be trusted you must earn that trust not by being greedy and the selfish making of money but by being trustworthy and honest and not lying or cheating or stealing or swindling others. In order to earn that respect you must earn it by respecting LIFE and the right of every living creature to live its own Life without you harming them.

The fact is: everybody knows that greedy people are the most untrustworthy people on the Earth. Then why should anyone trust them? Yet everybody does because they have all the money. They have more money than others because they are more willing to rob, kill, cheat, steal, lie, swindle, deceive, collude, conspire and commit every abomination, every crime, every sin just to get that money.

The present world situation now in 2013 makes it perfectly transparent and obvious to the meanest intelligence that people are being controlled from the top down to the lowest person on Earth. Even the stupidest person can understand what has happened and what is going on. A small criminal syndicate of Jewish banksters have stolen trillions of dollars of the world's wealth and yet nobody stands up to stop them or even tries to stop them. Nobody even tries to stop them. Nobody kills the bankers or jails them or puts them on trial for their lives. Nobody burns down their mansions. Nobody speaks about the evil that Greed is... Nobody speaks about the evil that Greed makes people do. Nobody even says that money is the root of all evil. This is because the entire population of living humans is being controlled by undead shitturds who must be exterminated and killed DEAD. Understand this: Gods are not good: god is EVIL. All gods are evil INCARNATE. Money is not good: all money is EVIL. All banks are EVIL. All bankers are EVIL. All greedy people are EVIL, and the root of most of this greed and evil comes from the Jewish race, from the Jewish invention and practice of usury, from the minting of money, from the using of money.

One point should be made clear: not all Jews are completely corrupted by these undead things. Jews who are introspective and feel guilty about the legacy of their religious and cultural identity, Jews who are not Zionist hatemongers, Hebrews who try to practice the GOOD ethical and moral values of Judaism are not intrinsically evil. It's just their culture and religion that is overwhelmingly evil; it's just all of civilization that is overwhelmingly evil. This is why civilization must be dismantled, taken apart and never allowed to exist again. This is why ALL undead filth must be exterminated with extreme prejudice. This is why all GOOD people must wake up and understand that the only way to win the war against evil is by killing every evil person in their midst. Search out among you who are the most evil and kill them dead: identify the evil inside yourself and kill it dead. When you do that: you will realize that evil has NO power over GOOD. God is not GOOD. God is evil. All religion is evil. Decent humans do not need religion or civilization in order to live happy healthy lives filled with meaning and purpose. Living inside civilization is automatically a meaningless existence which is evil. Only when you get rid of all civilization can you cleanse yourselves of evil. Why is God not Good? Because the difference between God and GOOD is: O and OO. That is the difference between the monocular vision of an undead reptile-bird entity and the binocular vision of a living human which sees things in perspective. That is the difference between the cold-blooded hate of reptiles and the caring love of humans. Undead ghouls have no perspective and no love; they are not human. They have only malevolent hate towards all living creatures. They must be exterminated and killed DEAD.

Why did the MF Global Corp. go bankrupt on Halloween? Because the undead were screaming out the truth that Many Fiends of the undead from all over the world were responsible for its collapse. The financial corruption that is now global, exists because there is a GLOBAL conspiracy of the undead all over the world: the fiends and demons of the underworld and overworld of the Realm of the undead have now mounted a global attack on the entire civilized world of finance. Hallow's Eve. Hollow beings: undead filth: the hollowness of bankruptcy: the emptiness of a hoax that has been exposed; the emptiness of money. That's what happens to people when you value something that has no intrinsic worth. It's an undead joke. They are slyly telling us who is really behind all this fraud and stealing. After corrupting the whole world into the worship of money, the undead are ruining the hoax on purpose; confident that living human dupes will never see through the sham.

The European Union is now centralizing all of its power into a small centralized cartel of private international banks exactly like The Federal Reserve which owns and controls the US govt and the US economy. Europe is creating its own shadow govt run by a small mafia of criminal banksters.

Behind them are the undead secretly controlling everything these evil slime do. Behind the shadow governments are shadows of undead evil. The push for a 3rd World War is happening at the very top of these filthy evil empty pyres of wealth and power; just as the orchestrated push for WW1 and WW2 was planned and pushed by those at the very top of civilized evil. Either you fight them or by your inaction as an enabler of evil, they will destroy the entire world you live in; it is up to each individual person: that means YOU and me.

The human species needs to be educated that it has a common enemy and that enemy exists at the very top of all power structures in the world. Once all living people understand that they have a common enemy, once they understand that the undead are in a constant state of war against every living person, humans will stop fighting each other and killing each other and the entire human species will come together in order to fight for its own life, to fight for all life, all living creatures. Then these undead things will be hunted down and killed and exterminated with extreme prejudice until all of them are completely and totally DEAD.

There are evil people and good people everywhere. The worst evil exists at the TOP of every pyramidal structure of civilization. Good people must learn to identify those at the top who are most poisoned by evil and kill them dead. The time of tolerating evil is over: finished. Good decent honest people must learn to stop tolerating any and all forms of evil: both in themselves and in others. It is time for good to attack and kill evil: not the other way around. It is time to rid the earth of all evil. That means you either act and fight against evil or you are evil yourself: there is no inbetween.

Stop fighting and hating each other! Stop arguing against each other! It is undead evil inside you who are doing the arguing and hating: not you!

The undead have been at war against all living Energy for untold millions if not billions of years. The only reason these undead things have not been exterminated and wiped out of existence with extreme prejudice is because Living creatures have not yet learned that there even IS a war going on between the Living and the undead. Now you know beyond any doubt that there is a war between GOOD and evil.

Understand this: there is a war going on for control of your body and your soul and it has been going on for millions of years. The only reason this state of war is being won by undead turd shit scum is because they have managed to brainwash living humans and convinced them that they are in a state of peace: not war.

Only when the entire human Species wakes up and realizes that there is a Life or Death struggle going on and they are in a state of continual war will evil be destroyed and exterminated.

The war going on for control over the Earth and your Life and your soul is being waged simultaneously on many levels: these are just some of the major fields of battle:

Cultural Warfare.
Financial Warfare
Currency Wars
Financial Terrorism.
Physical Warfare
Drug wars
Dream warfare; unconscious subliminal messages all night
Commercial Warfare, Subconscious Subliminal Warfare
Chemical Warfare
Political Warfare
Legal Warfare
Illegal Warfare
Criminal warfare
Authoritative warfare
Brainwashing Warfare
Programming warfare
Distraction warfare
Nuclear warfare
Technological warfare

False Terrorism
Misinformation Warfare
Information Warfare
Mass Media warfare

Each heading has thousands of subheadings under it: too many to list. Thousands of books could be written about exactly how each heading and subheading is a part of the over-all war against all Life on this planet by undead shit turd filth.

In the Chinese book on the art of warfare; the ultimate way to wage war against an enemy is not to wage war yourself but to make your enemy defeat themselves by them waging war against themselves. That is exactly what the undead do to you and have done to the human species..

One MAIN way undead invented to destroy and weaken all Life and humans and poison the human spirit is through the use of MONEY: Money is the root of all evil. ONE OF THE main WAYS OF CORRUPTING EVERYONE IS TO sell YOU FILTH THAT IS BAD FOR YOU AND POISONOUS TO ALL LIVING THINGS.

Understand this: EVERYTHING THAT IS SOLD TO YOU IS EVIL

This is why this book is not for sale.

ALL THINGS SOLD TO YOU FOR MONEY ARE EVIL

MONEY IS EVIL!!

GET THIS THROUGH YOUR HEADS!

STOP USING MONEY!!

STOP BEING SELFISH!

STOP BEING GREEDY!

STOP BEING STUPID!

What do computer companies sell you? What do telephone companies sell you? What do Banks sell you? What do Insurance Corporations sell you? What does technology sell you on?

SECRECY! SECRECY! SECRECY! SECRECY!

ALL SECRECY IS EVIL!! KEEPING SECRETS IS EVIL!!

The only reason evil is not destroyed is because it hides its true filthy nature and ugliness in SECRECY.

What does civilization sell you on? INSULATION! ISOLATION! FEAR! PARANOIA! SAFETY! FALSE ASSUMPTIONS OF SAFETY! FEAR! FEAR!

What does mass media sell you on? Being a COWARD! COWARDICE! COWARDICE, COWARDICE! FEAR! HOW TO BE AFRAID! HOW TO BE IN FEAR! HOW TO FEAR EVERYTHING! No examples of bravery or Courage; NOOOO! Only fucking disgusting stinking sly, lying little yellow-bellied fucking COWARDS... until these fucking pricks try to make you believe that you should be PROUD! Of being a coward and ashamed of having any COURAGE! Words CANNOT DESCRIBE THE RAGE AND ANGER I HAVE AGAINST these COWARDS: Words cannot describe the anger I have against the stinking shit things called civilized mass culture zombies.

What does mass media sell you? The stinking lie that only killers have any courage. That only brutal thugs and criminals are brave and KILL other people. The stinking lie that GOOD people should be non-violent COWARDS and all CRIMINALS and killers of GOOD people are courageous and brave.

Why does civilization sell you on insulating yourself from everything? So you won't get together with your NEIGHBORS, with your FRIENDS on a GRASS ROOTS LEVEL WHICH THE undead CANNOT CONTROL. So you won't MAKE HUMAN CONNECTIONS. So you WON'T MAKE STRONG SOCIAL HUMAN BONDS OF FRIENDSHIP, CLOSENESS, INTIMACY AND RESPECT, so you will be EASY TO CONTROL by having no social position or community to protect you against evil..

The only reason evil exists is because living creatures have been brainwashed into FEAR! PARANOID FEAR! MINDLESS FUCKING FEAR! What does civilization sell you? What do nations, states, religions, ethnic cultures, social groups, social institutions sell you on? HATE! HATE! HATE!

HATE! HATE people who are not EXACTLY IDENTICAL TO YOU!

What does civilization sell you on? STUPIDITY! STUPIDITY!
STUPIDITY! Nobody is allowed to be too educated and too competent!
Every fucking ignorant uneducated imbecile and snob of an idiot thinks they are a fucking genius! The DUMBER and STUPIDER the billions of brainwashed imbeciles are programmed to be, the EASIER it is for undead shit turds to manipulate and deceive the entire fucking STUPID human species into believing they are smart!.

What does civilization sell you on? SNOBBERY! RACISM!
DISCRIMINATION! EGOISM! SELFISHNESS! The FALSE STUPID IDEA THAT YOU ARE MORE IMPORTANT THAN THE REST OF THE INFINITE UNIVERSE!

UNDERSTAND THIS!

You are a fucking naked ape: NOTHING MORE.

ALL THE REST IS WINDOW DRESSING AND IS EVIL

You were born NAKED and when you die you shall enter the realm of the undead NAKED and all your filthy stupid plastic toys will not help you or save you from the guilt and responsibility of your sins after you die.

Humans are designed as NAKED APES who are designed to FEEL the SUN the WIND, the EARTH, the PLANTS, the LIVING CREATURES, the RAIN on their naked SKIN. Humans were and are not designed to COVER THEMSELVES UP AND HIDE FROM OTHER LIVING CREATURES IN the SECRECY of HOLES OR IN CAVES OR IN BUILDINGS OR IN ROOMS.

Civilization sells you on POLLUTION as a normal state of affairs!:. That pollution is unavoidable! Civilization makes you BUY THINGS THAT POISON THE EARTH AND POISON YOU AND YOUR FAMILY. It is civilization ITSELF which is a foul POLLUTION AND A POISON on the EARTH.

ALL BUYING IS EVIL. ALL SELLING IS EVIL. ALL MONEY IS EVIL. ALL GREED IS EVIL. ALL SELFISHNESS IS EVIL. ALL INHUMANITY IS EVIL. ALL MACHINES ARE EVIL. ALL TOOLS ARE EVIL. ALL CONSUMER CAPITALISM IS EVIL. ALL SELF-GRATIFICATION IS EVIL. Wake the fuck UP!! Everything civilization has sold you on is EVIL BULLSHIT and is BAD FOR YOU and makes you SICK and WEAK and BRAINLESS and turns you into a weak COWARD.

The IDEA that you should spend your entire life doing NOTHING but LOLLING AROUND sitting on your ASSES and GRATIFYING YOUR LOWEST, WORST ADDICTIONS AND URGES Is the reason WHY ALL OF YOU ARE STILL SLAVES.

You are NOT in a state of PEACE. Unless ALL OF YOU wake the fuck UP and realize that you are in a state of WAR and you are NOT in a state of Peace. Unless ALL OF YOU Go into TRAINING and TRAIN YOURSELVES into the SELF DISCIPLINE needed to FIGHT YOUR ENEMY: you will all DIE as the brainwashed, lazy, self-indulgent slaves that you ARE.

UNDERSTAND THIS!

ONE HONEST MAN CAN DESTROY A MILLION LIES!

ONE BRAVE PERSON CAN FACE DOWN AND DEFEAT A THOUSAND EVIL COWARDS!

THE MORE HONEST YOU ARE, THE MORE POWERFUL YOU ARE;
THE MORE HONEST YOU ARE THE MORE POWERFUL YOU BECOME!

THE MORE COURAGEOUS YOU ARE, THE MORE POWERFUL YOU BECOME!

WHAT DO YOU CHOOSE TO BELIEVE?

WHAT DO YOU WANT TO BELIEVE?

ONE HONEST TRUTH OR A MILLION LIES?

ONE HONEST FACT OR A THOUSAND CUNNING COVER-UPS OF THE TRUTH?

BY YOUR OWN HONESTY OR DISHONESTY YOU WILL BE JUDGED AND BE DOOMED OR SAVED BY YOUR OWN EFFORTS AND YOUR OWN ACTS AND YOUR OWN REFUSAL TO ACT.

THERE IS NO INBETWEEN IN THE FIGHT BETWEEN GOOD AND evil.

The fight and the future for Life on Earth is up to YOU and nobody else. All good decent people on Earth must get together and organize yourselves into organically logical self-sufficient communities and cleanse yourself of civilization and attack and kill all the evils of civilized society. It is time for GOOD to kill evil: NOT THE OTHER FUCKING WAY AROUND.

The REVERSAL of ALL LIFE
And
The EVIL of ALL Science

Can be exposed by what Science calls ‘EVOL ution”

This filthy evil stinking reversal of the truth screams out the obvious LIE:
The ONLY ‘evolution’ which is the proper way to live and progress forwards is the OPPOSITE of ‘EVOL...ving.’

The OPPOSITE of EVOL is LOVE
The OPPOSITE of ALL evil is LIVE.

Every second you spend with no love in your heart and not loving is EVIL.
Every SECOND you spend on a machine is the OPPOSITE OF LOVE.
Humans are designed to LOVE; not EVOLve. Life cannot evolve WITHOUT LOVE. The TRUE evolution of LOVE is the DESTRUCTION of ALL evil MACHINES and the NURTURING and CARING for ALL LIVING CREATURES LARGE AND SMALL.

All science is empty of love. That is why all Science is EVIL. The entire human species is now EMPTY OF LOVE. That is why it deserves to be totally DESTROYED... unless it wakes up and REVERSES its evil ways and learns how to LOVE; the entire human species is DOOMED to EXTINCTION.

THESE TRUTHS ARE UNIVERSAL: there are NO exceptions to the universal IMPERATIVE of LIFE. If you do not LOVE LIFE: then you DO NOT DESERVE TO LIVE. If you do not LOVE: YOU DO NOT DESERVE

TO EVEN EXIST. All undead filth HATE LOVE. ALL undead seek to POISON and DESTROY ALL LOVE.

LEARN THIS! And DO NOT ALLOW ANYONE or ANYTHING to poison or destroy your LOVE. ALL unloving ways of existence are ABOMINATIONS of UNDEAD EVIL. ALL living people who are not in a STATE of LOVE are DEAD SOULS: poisoned by UNDEAD FILTH.

There is NO INBETWEEN: either you LOVE LOVE or you HATE LOVE: Either you HATE HATE or you LOVE HATE.

ALL POSITIVE ENERGY FEEDS BACK WHAT IT IS FED AND REFLECTS IT BACK MORE POWERFULLY THAT IT WAS SENT ALL NEGATIVE EVIL ENERGY REVERSES the POLARITY of POSITIVE ENERGY.

This is HOW you identify and tell the difference between GOOD and evil.
If you HATE people who are in LOVE: then you are EVIL
If you LOVE people who are in LOVE then you are GOOD
If you LOVE hating then you are EVIL
If you HATE HATING then you are GOOD!
If you LOVE LOVING then you are GOOD!
If you HATE LOVING then you are EVIL.
Learn to HATE ALL PEOPLE WHO HATE AND KILL THEM DEAD.

Give them their own hate back and kill them DEAD with their own hate.
Learn to LOVE ALL PEOPLE WHO LOVE and GIVE THEM LIFE!
THERE IS NO INBETWEEN.

There is NO tolerance of evil by GOOD positive Energy.
Positive GOOD energy DOES NOT TOLERATE THE EXISTENCE OF negative weak energy. GOOD energy ATTACKS and KILLS all NEGATIVE EVIL ENERGY. These are TRUTHS are UNIVERSAL: there are NO EXCEPTIONS TO THEM.

THE ONLY WAY YOU CAN BECOME A POSITIVE LOVING PEOPLE IS BY TOUCHING OTHER PEOPLE AND LETTING THEM TOUCH YOU.

LOVE IS TOUCHING WITHOUT SEX! LOVE is touching WITH KINDNESS, SENSITIVITY AND GENTLENESS, WITHOUT ANY EVIL INTENT.

The Sense of Pure Wonder seeks to TOUCH all LIFE and PENETRATE all the deepest mysteries of LIFE and living creatures WITHOUT HARMING THEM! WITHOUT HARMING ANY LIVING CREATURE! WITHOUT HARMING LIFE! By having FUN! By PLAYING!

ALL MACHINES HARM LIFE!
ALL MACHINES HARM LIVING CREATURES.
ALL DEAD MACHINES ARE HARMFUL TO ALL LIFE!
ALL EVIL PEOPLE ARE HARMFUL TO LIFE!

Understand this: all civilization is an evil abomination... not just some of it; ALL OF IT.

Why do you think the man Jesus changed the entire world for the better? Not because he was the son of god: in fact when he was put on trial he expressly refused to say that he was the son of god. Why do you think Jesus was crucified? Not just because he was a heretical Jew who had driven the evil filthy money changers out of the temple and cursed them calling them the spawn of Satan, but because he touched people with his bare hands. This had never been done before. The unspoken rule was that people are not allowed to touch each other still exists. This unspoken taboo is one of the oldest and most evil proofs of undead filth. This unheard of practice called “the laying on of hands” was regarded in awe and wonder... all kinds of miracles were associated with his touching people with his bare hands. From this unheard of practice came a new unheard of power into the world: the power of Love. Few people understand that before Jesus there was no such thing as Love. For over 2,000 years now; the undead have been trying to destroy and poison this new burgeoning Love. Understand this; Love comes from touching! It comes from touching without any sexual intent; it created a gentler, a more intelligent, a kinder, a more humane world: which has been attacked and poisoned and feared by undead filth. This is the real hidden reason why the undead fear and hate the name of Jesus. This is the real reason why the teachings of Jesus spread like wildfire. This is the real reason why other religions are not as humane as the teachings of Jesus. Jesus became known as a healer because he touched people with his bare hands. Civilization is designed to do only one thing: TO PREVENT YOU FROM TOUCHING EACH OTHER and prevent you from SHARING HAPPINESS AND LOVE. What are the new tech gadgets of e-mail and text messaging all about? NEW WAYS TO PREVENT YOU FROM TOUCHING EACH OTHER.

What is all the anti-social paranoia of secrecy about? NEW WAYS OF ISOLATING YOU AND PREVENTING YOU FROM COMING TOGETHER AND TOUCHING EACH OTHER.

What is all this aversion to being touched by anything that is ALIVE? It is an UNDEAD FILTHYING AND POISONING AND REVERSING of YOUR HEALTHY NATURAL HUMAN NEED TO BE TOUCHED.

What is the epidemic of pornography and sexual obsessions and perversions? NEW WAYS TO POISON YOUR TOUCHING ANYONE! SO YOU DO NOT TOUCH EACH OTHER IN ANY OTHER WAY EXCEPT AT THE LOWEST MOST DISGUSTING BORING, ANIMALISTIC LEVEL OF EMPTY SEXUAL LUST WITHOUT ANY LOVE OR CARING FOR EACH OTHER.

Why do billions of people live in huge cities in apartments? TO KEEP YOU APART FROM EACH OTHER AND ISOLATED SO YOU WILL NOT TOUCH EACH OTHER.

What is all the epidemic of drugs and food and beverages that are filled with chemicals and used as a drug all about? TO DEADEN YOU SO YOU WILL NOT FEEEL THE PAIN OF NOT BEING TOUCHED AND LOVED.

What is the slavery of functioning only on a mechanical level like a robot,
What is this thing called 'work' all about? TO MAKE SURE THAT YOU DO NOT HAVE THE TIME AND ENERGY TO COME TOGETHER AND TOUCH EACH OTHER AND PLAY AND HAVE FUN!

What are stadiums all about? TO KEEP YOU FOCUSED ON SPECTACLES SO YOU WILL NOT COME TOGETHER IN EQUALITY AND LOVE AND TOUCH EACH OTHER AND HAVE FUN TOGETHER.

What are cars all about? To keep you INSULATED from all LIFE. To keep you from TOUCHING EACH OTHER! To make you love dead MACHINES instead of living PEOPLE! Cars insulate you from the WHOLE WORLD.

What are buildings and rooms and walls all about? TO KEEP YOU ISOLATED AND ALONE SO YOU WILL NOT TOUCH EACH OTHER.

SO YOU WILL NOT FEEL ANY LOVE FOR EACH OTHER

Do you fucking understand?

Civilization is a SYSTEM that makes SURE that people DO NOT TOUCH
EACH OTHER

Civilization is a SYSTEM that makes SURE you DO NOT LOVE EACH OTHER

THAT'S ALL IT IS!

All of you have been BRAINWASHED to NOT TOUCH EACH OTHER!

All of you have been BRAINWASHED to NOT LOVE EACH OTHER!

You have been programmed to look but never touch. This is the UNSPOKEN TABOO of civilization. This is WHY you worship Icons and faraway stars to look at BUT NEVER TOUCH THEM. All your supermodels, heroes and idols and icons are never to be touched. Only gazed upon from a distance and worshipped and adored. That is all BULLSHIT. BREAK THE CYCLE OF TABOO and TOUCH EACH OTHER AND LEARN FROM TOUCHING EACH OTHER.

DESTROY YOUR BRAINWASHING AND COME TOGETHER.
WAKE UP!

ALL PEOPLE WANT THE SAME THING; to be held and hugged and kissed and share love and FUN and Happiness with each other!
Yet NOBODY DOES IT... WHY?

BECAUSE YOU ARE BEING SECRETLY POISONED BY UNDEAD EVIL TURDS WHO DO NOT WANT YOU TO TOUCH EACH OTHER:
THAT'S WHY.

ALL THE REASONS THAT KEEP YOU APART FROM EACH OTHER ARE BULLSHIT

ALL THE THINGS THAT KEEP YOU APART FROM EACH OTHER ARE EVIL

STOP LIVING IN SECRECY AND FEAR AND COME TOGETHER.

The entire UNIVERSE is COMING TOGETHER!

WHY THE FUCK DO YOU THINK I WROTE THE FIRST CHAPTER!?
TO MAKE YOU UNDERSTAND THAT THE LAWS OF THE UNIVERSE
ARE MORE POWERFUL AND MORE LOGICAL THAN THE FUCKING STUPID EVIL LAWS OF CIVILIZATION.

WHEN YOU BEGIN TO OBEY THE LAWS OF THE UNIVERSE
WHEN YOU STOP FIGHTING THE LAWS OF THE UNIVERSE
YOU BECOME A FRIEND OF THE ENTIRE UNIVERSE AND THE ENTIRE UNIVERSE BECOMES YOUR FRIEND ALSO.

WHY does evil continue to spread and flourish?

Because the entire human species has been brainwashed, INDOCTRINATED and poisoned into believing in, following, copying and practicing and the same evil culture of greed and money, secrecy, dishonesty, robbery and immorality which the most evil people at the top of every power group in the world practice; that's why. If the masses of humanity, if all the poor people of the earth repudiated and rejected the satanic worship of money and the filthy selfish religion of greed, and rejected the worship of all authority and rose up and fought the evil doers and killed them all dead; then there would be no evil on earth. Until all of you rise up and fight: you will die as the corrupt cowards you are. There can be no toleration of evil. Evil must never ever be tolerated inside yourself or in others. The only reason you do not rise up and fight evil is because you are evil; you have been corrupted. You still believe in greed, dishonesty, selfishness, self-gratification, capitalism, money... You still practice greed, dishonesty, selfishness and the worship of money. All the evil things you practice keep you from fighting evil. All the evil things inside you keep you from fighting evil. All your evil beliefs keep you from fighting evil. Cast them out: kill them dead. Only when you cleanse yourself of evil can you begin to fight evil. Only when you cleanse your inner self of evil can you fight evil outside of you!

Understand this: the entire Universe is designed to be aesthetically beautiful because it is coming IN: selectively and beautifully. Nature is beautiful: everything in nature is beautiful because it has been organically organized beautifully. All Life is Beautiful. The organic energy of Life creates more Beauty: not more ugliness. Life creates living organisms that have progressively become more and more Beautiful. By the present standards of beauty: the older obsolete forms of reptilian beauty are ugly: horrid, horrible, misshapen monsters. Life is designed to create Beauty. Life is designed to become more Beautiful: not more ugly. Civilization creates ugliness. Civilization does not create beauty. Civilization is ugly, it is horrible, it is unfeeling, it is uncaring. Living babies are not designed to live in this horror! This is why they come out of their mother's womb screaming and bawling with their eyes shut.

You were designed to create beauty: not ugliness. You are a naked ape that is designed to touch other living things and allow them to touch you: not insulate yourself from all living creature, all nature, all life to hide yourself in an insulated, isolated cubicle staring at two-dimensional illusions. You are a three-dimensional form of living energy. You are not two-dimensional. You have no business staring at a flat screen; you have no business wasting your life on abstract nonsense, obsessing over abstract idiocy. You have dehumanized yourselves to the point where now your pets are more humane than you are. The pets you have destroyed and domesticated and enslaved to suit your selfish stupid little personal self-gratifying conveniences is merely a reflection and a projection of how for millions of years, undead evil stinking filth has enslaved, brainwashed and poisoned living humans into becoming their controlled, manipulated puppets. A pet is a puppet. A pet of a puppet is an extension of undead manipulation from one level to the next, to the next. If a wild young leopard can adopt and take care of a baby baboon in the jungles of Africa, and play with it and care for it and sleep with it: so can you! Animals are taking the best of what the human species has to offer and aping us because that is what you are designed to be: a living example of having fun by playing and touching each other without any evil intention. Learn to develop all your positive goals and ambitions. Simplify your morals and live them by acting on them:

LOVE ALL LOVERS!
HATE ALL HATERS
KILL ALL KILLERS
LEARN BY TOUCHING!
TOUCH BY LEARNING HOW TO TOUCH!
PERSECUTE THE PERSECUTORS
JUDGE THE JUDGES
ATTACK THE ATTACKERS
HUNT THE HUNTERS
AND KILL THEM DEAD
LAY YOUR TRUE POWERFUL AUTHORITY OVER FALSE AUTHORITY
BE KIND TO THE KIND
BE MERCILESS TO THE MERCILESS BE CRUEL TO THE CRUEL
AND KILL THEM DEAD

You can only learn from something or someone when you touch it with a Sense of Pure Wonder. When you have an evil filthy malevolent undead thing secretly hiding inside you that poisons all your understanding of the world and the truth: then learn to recognize this secret evil inside you and cast it out of your inner soul.

Learn this: all who fear and hate truth: are evil. All who love truth, no matter how painful of unpleasant it may be, are GOOD. You cannot choose between good and evil, you cannot choose between lies and the truth: there is only one path: and that is the path of Directness, Honesty and Courage. All deflections away from the straight truth are exhibitions of cowardice and dishonesty. That is why when someone asks you if you are being straight with them: they mean if you are being completely honest: all honesty is straightforward.

Evil hides itself by projecting itself out of itself; in order to sustain the delusion that it is not evil. If evil is forced to swallow the filth it projects: it dies of its own poison, it commits suicide: it is destroyed by its own filthy negative hate-based energy turned in upon itself.

This is why all evil must be attacked and killed dead. There is no such thing as a grey area of good mixed with evil. All things mixed up with evil are evil, are poisoned by evil. When you attack and kill an evil thing: that is a good act. It is an act of total goodness. All evil hates good and fears good and envies good for a damned good reason. All evil is cowardly. Learn to develop your honesty and your courage. Learn from the youngest most innocent, most beautiful living things on earth. Learn from the most beautiful creatures on earth. Flowers are beautiful because they do not harm anything. Flowers are so beautiful and lovely and delicate and gentle, that nearly all the old obsolete species of insects worship them and suck their living essence from them. The most beautiful delicate insects on earth are the newest species: the species of moths and butterfly that do nothing but land on flowers and drink from them without harming them. Butterflies are more humane than you are.

You are designed to create Beauty! Not ugliness. You are a naked ape that is designed to touch; not insulate yourself from touching and being touched. This is why the cultures of the internet and the movie screen and the TV and all the long-distance tech gadgets are pure evil. This is why all 2-dimensional video-games are evil. This is why the black box is evil. Death is evil! Evil is death! Evil is without life: everything that is black is evil.

Except the pure gold of living black earth: the rich black soil from whence all living organisms spring from. The blackness of organic soil is the natural blackness of decomposing living organisms... and out of this brief condition of decomposition springs forth New Life and yet more Life! And more! And more! The rich black soil of the earth is the organic base of decomposed organic organisms. Rich black organic soil does not create more death: rich black soil does not create death: it creates an endless abundance of more life that is extraordinarily sensitive and aware and intelligent and beautiful because it is organically designed to be this way.

The Living Earth is not black in color; only a thin veneer of soil hidden under the greenery is black and that black soil is the birthplace of all life on land! The Living Earth is not dead! Yet you wear black clothes and watch black screens and drink black liquids signifying your blackness of spirit and the black deadness hiding inside you. The Living Earth is filled with blazing color! Yet you fill it with Black Death instead of colorful life. You fill it with greed and hate and envy and mindless worship and loneliness and misery and unhappiness instead of love and fun and friendship and happiness and equality. These truths are universal. All universal truths are connected to each other. Learn from them and change your evil ways.

The Organic History of undead evil

Can be shown by how the modern evil of Coca-Cola is organically connected to the ancient undead evil of 25 million years ago when volcanoes were burning and killing Life all over the African continent... and how the undead corrupted our ancestors into worshipping and obeying the volcano gods by giving them sweet things to eat...

The poison of Coca Cola is linked to one of the earliest sins of our ancestors: the discovery that when something is burnt to death: the agony of its dying, the increased intensity of pain and suffering by dying in such a horrible way as to make the burnt offering taste sweeter than when they are not burnt to death. This comes from the basic fact that organic Life is made out of hydrocarbons and when hydrocarbons are burnt they turn into blackened, carbonized sugar molecules. This discovery; that eating living things that have been burnt to death taste sweeter than eating something that is still green and alive; this enslavement to our taste buds...as orally addicted monkeys.

The fact that the healthiest food of all is completely tasteless points to how incredibly old and ancient the history of undead poisoning the lives of our ancestors has been right up to the present. The tongues and teeth and mouths of mammals are organs which have been steadily dwindling into disuse just like our appendix has. We have the smallest mouth and teeth and the longest digestive tract in relative proportion to our size than any other mammal on earth for a very good reason: hundred of millions of years of Life Energy learning how to come together as non-destructively and intelligently as possible... and learning how to use energy as efficiently and as intelligently as possible..

The true history and origin of Coca Cola is not the morphine addict Pemberton who invented this concoction of addictive poisons to replace his morphine addiction: a combination of cocaine, caffeine and sucrose from sugar cane, plus other nasty ingredients... The true evil of Coca Cola comes from how it is made and what ingredients go into its making and how these organic ingredients are taken from the soil.

The beginning of this evil comes from how the sugar cane is harvested. The sugar cane fields once they are mature have to be burned first before the cane can be cut. The burning of one of the most powerfully life-giving plants in the world: the sugar cane: a plant that grows with such speed and hardiness that it literally takes over entire regions because it is so powerful a living energy. Because its straightness is unspoiled by ugly bends or deflections in its fantastically fast, direct, powerful growth; it has been targeted by the undead as one most crucial life-energies on Earth which must be destroyed, polluted, poisoned as much as possible and used for evil purposes instead of for good. The energy of the sugar cane is so strong and powerful that even after the cane fields are burnt, destroying most of their life-giving properties... the peasants who cut the cane get rashes on their arms just from touching the leaves. This recreates the burning of African jungles filled with straight healthy vibrant plants of 25 million years ago by volcanoes, as an insane, repetitive, sacrificial ritual of killing of all LIFE on Earth; which the undead have preserved and perpetuated for at least 25 million years.

Not only do Coca Cola processing plants violate child labor laws and force children into a vicious cycle of endless poverty, preventing them from going to school and getting an education, destroying their futures and the future of their children also... not only does the Coca Cola Corp. purposefully establish its bottling plants in 3rd world countries where there are no environmental laws and no labor laws to protect the people from their inhuman treatment of their workers and employees... not only does Coca Cola set up their bottling plants next to poor farmers and drain the ground water so the farmers cannot water their crops and the people starve and are forced off their land to become homeless refugees, not only do their plants pump polluted black water back into rivers killing all the fish and making the water undrinkable, causing many villagers to develop rashes and cancer, not only does the Coca Cola corporation pay para-military death squads to kill Columbians who belong to any labor unions in Guatemala, not only have these death squads killed union activists while they were working inside a Coca Cola plant and not prevent them from entering the plant and leaving the plant, not only does Coca Cola spend 2 billions dollars of extra advertizing now to offset the bad public image its destruction of the environment and their history of human rights abuses all around the world from India to Guatemala...

Now Coca Cola has begun putting coke machines into schools to addict young children to their filthy addictive product all over the world so they will become brainwashed and addicted to the brand name for the rest of their life... Coca Cola commercials are now spewing messages of pure death, the most blatant worship of death ever yet invented: the commercial of a dying man who takes his last drink just before he dies.... which is his first taste of Coca Cola... the first black drink of death... and suddenly he begins magically 'reliving' things which he never did during his life...

This screams out the evil presence of undead filth and how they relive their poisoned lives through using living humans as empty shells after they die... Through this TV commercial, the undead are confessing their evil presence: they are selling to the brainwashed masses of the world this poison black brew of satanic evil... and programming them to commit further evil against their own health and their own lives and their own moral and ethical spirituality.

Then there is the caffeine addiction which 5 yr-old children develop from drinking this black shit; which later in life makes them graduate to drinking that other black poisoned shit known as coffee... so they end up as poisoned as possible, drugged into becoming diabetic fat diseased dead brain-dead, drugged imbecile-zombies for the rest of their short, disease-ridden lives... by drinking both coffee and coke instead of drinking pure clean water as they should.

From the billions of dollars of deathsheds, the dollars of filthy profit made by and for the corrupt corporate zombies who run these filthy international centers of corporate power, greed and evil; controlled by undead corpses... all the way down the corporate ladder to children dying in the cane fields from poisonous snake bites: from poisonous snakes infesting the cane fields that are attracted to the cane fields because of the huge numbers of rats which infest the cane fields because of the sugar cane's powerful root system which creates perfect hidey holes for them and lets them gnaw on the roots, to the recreated mass burning of tropical forests of primordial Africa of 25 million years ago which the undead have preserved and perpetuated ...

To the epidemic of child diabetes which comes from the drinking of soft drinks, to Coca Cola's connection to with the death squads of Guatemala, to their false lying global commercial image of a 'good' consumer brand that can be 'trusted', to the false innocence of their image, to their invention of the corrupt evil commercial logo of Santa Claus: which was the main capitalist evil responsible for destroying the true spiritual meaning of Xmas and turning it into an abomination of selfish greed instead of the generosity of giving and the love of babies and young children and the birth of hope and new life...

To Coca Cola funding the Nazis Olympics and the Nazi war machine: and making a huge filthy profit by selling this black poison to both sides of WW2: and not being vilified and despised for this blatant treason, to the basic reason that they became a huge, politically powerful, global consumer corporation because of war, mass killing, mass death, to their powerful political corporate lobby which creates American presidents:... some created by Coke and some by Pepsi, to the fact that the worst poisonous evil of the 19th century was the invention of the Belsen Burner which is powered by coke, which was the main polluting agent which caused most of the pollution of that era, poisoning the air, the rivers and water and the earth of industrialized nations that manufacture steel and was the main industrial engine which allowed industrialized nations to mass-manufacture weapons of mass destruction like steel battleships, huge artillery shells for huge guns and rifles, machine guns, which culminated in the arms race, which was the main cause of WW1 and WW2, why and why these two World Wars were so horribly destructive and traumatic; not only for the entire human species, but to the entire interconnected ecosystems of the entire living Earth...

To the fact that now billions of drugged humans are being powered by Coke's black poisoned sugar water to continue destroying the Earth they live on, just as the power of the first industrial coke furnaces fueled the factories of the industrial revolution and destroyed and poisoned Life in the 19th and 20th centuries, and the fact that both coke and Coke are black in color and poisonous to all Life... To the fact that the chemicals in Coca Cola are so powerfully toxic they will eat through the toughest car finish in a matter of hours.

To the Spanish Coke commercial that sells Coke by asking the question: "How many people will come to your funeral?" Showing a parade of professional actors following a funeral hearse painted in gaudy colors... only to run the hearse along with the coffin in it, off a pier into the ocean: when suddenly a giant fish leaps up and swallows the hearse with the dead body inside it before it can hit the water: this is a regression that goes so far back into the mists of primordial Time it is incredible... back to a Time when giant reptilian aquatic monsters regularly killed and ate anything that moved on the land or flew in the air... just as reptilian fish today still leap out of the water and swallow insects: equating the dead corpse of a human and the hearse carrying it as the shell of an insect, as an insect to be eaten by some undead reptilian monster. Not even Edgar Rice Burroughs went this far back into a regressive devolution and dehumanization of Life... This Coke commercial has so many overlaid messages of pure death and dying, the macabre celebration of death... this commercial is so anti-Life it is unbelievable... the obvious message of dying and death clumsily painted over by actors pretending to be happy; dancing in a funeral procession: the idea of the happiest moment of your life is not while you are alive, but after you die as they happily march your dead corpse down to the seaside to throw it into the ocean as a useless piece of worthless garbage... this commercial is so unspeakably evil, so negative, so revoltingly disgusting: it is beyond words.

The point is: if you do any serious critical research into any fucking corporation... you will uncover so much filth, so much pure evil, so much inhumanity, so much greed, and corruption that it would take fifty thousand books just to cover the last ten years of this mounting madness, this mindless insane consumer commercial shit of growing blackness and death and dying and destruction that consumer capitalism is spewing all over the Earth. How many fucking obvious examples of pure evil do I have to give you? ALL of civilization is evil: not just some of it; it goes back millions of fucking years.

The fact is we Humans were never designed to kill and eat; we were never designed to become slaves to our mouths and stomachs, slaves to the crude, obsolete taste buds on our tongues, bypassing our developed brains and becoming mindless orally fixated addicts to consuming crap that is not good for our health. We were and are designed to touch and taste and smell and see living things sensitively without killing or harming them. That is... as long as the Life Energy we touch and smell and taste and see is Positive: as long as it is not negative and evil. As long as it does not have any evil intent you should never harm or kill it... However if it is evil, if it has any evil intent to kill or harm or hurt or hate or envy or fear you; then the instant instinctive GOOD POSITIVE reaction of Life Energy is to KILL anything that is evil DEAD.

It takes a huge amount of evil negative programming and brainwashing to get any baby or child to eat anything. All babies want to do is play with their food: babies just want to play and have fun and explore and feel and touch everything they can get their happy little curious hands on. It is only when babies are programmed and brainwashed from birth by the consumer culture they are born into that they develop oral fixations and become programmed, mindless, stupid, retarded morons for the rest of their lives.

Babies should never be taught not to touch! Babies should never be told no!

Babies should NOT be negatively programmed and brainwashed by adults! If you have something that is too dangerous for a baby to touch, you have no business having it. You have a choice: either get rid of what is not GOOD for your baby, or get rid of your baby. Until you learn how to live yourself and learn the difference between GOOD and evil, until you grow up and learn what LOVE is; you should not even have a baby.

The point is; if the human species does not wake up and reverse its entire evil path of suicidal self-destruction by 180 degrees; the fate of Mankind will match the funeral and the fate of the corpse in that Spanish Coke commercial. The entire human race will gladly march to its own suicidal death and become extinct just like they marched gladly to their own self-destruction in 1914 and 1939 and killed and hated each other by the millions in two World Wars; brainwashed, manipulated dehumanized idiots; all of them poisoned by their own undead ancestors; As you are.

How do the undead poison and destroy friendship and love and closeness and intimacy and happiness between living people? They can do this because the energy-flow of love and friendship exists BETWEEN people; it is the most DELICATE SENSITIVE energy in the Universe which. It is the flow and merging of two or more life-auras into a cooperative sparking of delicate sensitivity. The undead in their frail, rotting, dying existence can SEE this energy blossoming and developing between people and they can and do literally come into the space BETWEEN people and, interfere with the sending-receiving flow of life-energy between two people, and POISON and BLOCK this Positive energy. This is why TOUCHING is so important. When you TOUCH someone's body with your hands or skin, there is no space for the undead to come between you and poison your energy contact. They can and do literally violate a living person's aura and enter their living-body and IMPLANT NEGATIVE thoughts and feelings onto that living person's living aura and literally change how that person thinks and feels about the other person. This is why HONESTY is important, so there are no secrets about what you are thinking and feeling. They can and do make a person say or do certain things they know will irritate or infuriate the other person, and then purposefully exaggerate and escalate the misunderstanding ON BOTH SIDES, and poison both living people until one or both of them end up hating each other and want to kill the other. But when you TOUCH each other and are HONEST with each other about everything and do not keep any of your thoughts and feelings secret: it is almost impossible for these shit turds to poison the closeness and honesty of your relationship. The instant there is any space between yourself and a friend or a loved one, the instant you are not completely honest, the undead can and do exploit every single weakness and failing you have in order to ruin your happiness.

The undead can and do instill and forcibly implant lies and total misperceptions of reality so people will never agree with each other even though they agree basically on the main, general truths of Life. This why all of you must be totally honest about your values from the very beginning! If you do not agree with or like something, SAY IT, EXPRESS IT and get your negative thought or feeling out in the open. Do not keep anything inside; keeping secrets, repressing and suppressing your own thoughts and feelings is how the undead corrupt living humans. They have practiced and honed their cunning secret tricks and crimes for untold eons of time. They are constantly on the watch for any Positive Energy because they know from experience that it is this Energy which can and will kill them DEAD. They are like insane firefighters: only they are not putting out destructive fires: they're putting out and extinguishing the Positive Life Force of Love and Friendship everywhere they find it, they are putting out and extinguishing the flaming passions of Love and Friendship, they poison any commitment to positive values and goals, they extinguish the radiating joy and happiness of people who are having FUN, they extinguish the radiating happiness of HEALTH. They do this on purpose. They have done this for millions of years.

You can only destroy these undead turd things if you have ZERO tolerance for evil. It is only when you do not tolerate ANY evil in yourself and others that you become a powerful force of GOOD POSITIVE ENERGY. The only reason you do not kill them now is because they have infiltrated you so that part of your living Positive Aura is evil and negative. When you cleanse yourselves of your own Inner evils and addictions and urges, killing evil whether it be an evil person or an evil system or an evil undead ghoul will be perceived by you as a GOOD THING, a GOOD ACT. There is not such thing as a universal ban on violence and killing: there is NO universal moral or ethic which prevents you from killing evil DEAD when you find it. The undead have made you slaves: they have turned you into timid little non-violent, poisoned cowards who dare not stand up against the forces of evil inside your own societies. This book has been written to teach you that the only way you will ever free yourself of oppression and evil is to earn your own freedom by fighting every evil you perceive inside yourself and in others. People who are inflexibly evil should be destroyed with the utmost violence and prejudice possible. The instant you tolerate the existence of any living creature which is evil, you allow that creature to spread its evil.

This is why all evil must be exterminated with extreme prejudice. This is why you should NEVER give evil people the benefit of any doubt as to their evilness. The undead KNOW what they have done is totally evil and they KNOW what they are doing is totally evil. Thinking that maybe these insane foul filth are not aware of what they are doing is like thinking maybe a firefighter isn't aware that he is putting out fires. They do not deserve anything but total DEATH and total DESTRUCTION. They need to be ripped to pieces and torn asunder and killed DEAD. Words cannot describe how much they need killing.

The myth of the Trojan war is based upon the planned ritual murder of Agamemnon's daughter: Helen as a part of the worship of Poseidon: the god of poison. Paris stole Agamemnon's sacrifice and abducted Helen. In rage at his religious ritual being stained with this sacrilege against the gods: Agamemnon called upon all the Greeks to revenge himself on this 'evil' city that did not practice the sacrifice and murder of their most beloved and beautiful children. 10 of the best bulls were slaughtered in Nestor's palace to appease Poseidon the god of the oceans where poisonous sea creatures live. The undead decide to wipe Troy off the map for the disrespect showed to them by a man who adores beauty and loves pretty girls and cannot stand any longer to see them murdered by their own father.

This is the true story of Troy. On the way to attack Troy, the entire Greek fleet was halted by the winds being against them. The Greek oracle tells Agamemnon that if he wishes to sail to Troy he must sacrifice his youngest most beautiful daughter Iphigenia. Agamemnon sacrificed his other daughter to appease the wind gods so he could sail to Troy and revenge himself on the stealing of his other daughter Helen who had been slated for murder/sacrifice. Thus the first blood spilled of that war was the blood of an innocent child. During the bronze Age: sacrificing your best children was a sacred honor practiced by all insane humans. Then the public opinion changed and tales of sacrifice were used to instill horror into the crowds of spectators viewing the enactment of these stories and myths in Greek dramas.

How can an act considered today to be the ultimate sacrilege, be so prevalent in the Bronze Age? Human sacrifice was not only prevalent but viewed as the highest honor and a sign of power. Kings were seen to be messengers for the gods. The more living human sacrifices a king could murder; the greater his worldly power and fame was. Public opinion can be easily manipulated by the undead. Worshipping a black hag a sex pervert a filthy degenerate insane hag as an icon of moral probity! And then the next year worship the hag's son as the openly corrupt sex pervert of Paris! And then the next decade worship the bloodless false icon of the middle class royal George with his faceless, empty family of nothings! Worship the polite little stupid nothing of Elizabeth! Worship whoever stands on top of the shitpile of civilization and copy their every nature and behavior! Whichever way the Winds blow the masses follow!

The coalition of the Allied armies in WW2 was a recreation of the coalition of the Greek kings in the battle for Troy. The undead are forced to uncover and dig up more and more ancient evil undead in order to preserve their places in power in the realm of the undead. This is why civilization and civilized apes have been digging into the earth to uncover older and older undead fossils and strata holding the frozen undead destined for total destruction and dissolution as they are drawn down into the earth's crust and are buried under the mountains of continents and are sucked down into the bowels of the Earth and are melted into the magma of the thousands of degrees of heat of the Inner Inorganic Earth where they scream in agony and horror and Hell as the Earth burns their worthless evil souls to a crisp and kills them DEAD. This is why anthropologists spend their live digging up more undead horrors, this is why they waste their lives; this is why their souls are dead. The undead control them absolutely. This is why corporations have been raping the surface of the Earth: trying desperately to uncover more and more hordes of ancient undead so these ancient filth can overpower the hordes of intelligent human undead now entering their realm. This is why the Athabasca Tar Sands is being dug up at an incredible rate. The undead of the world have to dig up more and more undead dinosaurs and mammoths and monsters in order to terrorize the of new undead who are coming into their realm at an astounding rate of excess human overpopulation increases every year.

Everything in human civilization makes logical sense; but only if you understand the foul insane evil presence of the undead and include it into everything that living humans do.

The murder of possibilities: the murder of new life springing forth is the murder Agamemnon committed: It did not have to happen. Her name says clearly she is an IF a genie, a genius of IF: an undeveloped possibility. Because of the Greeks listening to their most evil gods and most evil oracles and most evil Kings: they destroyed themselves and the entire Bronze Age civilization collapsed and disappeared.

JUST as the Western civilization of today will collapse and disappear due to the evils of the United States of America and its evils which it continually mounts and accumulates; one on top of another in an endless slue of mindless acts of cruel idiocy and evil cunning because the American people and the people of the West listen to and obey their most evil prophets.

The undead are practicing their farce in your FACE and laughing at your stupidity.

“Why if these fools refuse to worship the ancient prophets... We will con them into worshipping the New prophets! We will delude them into worshipping the prophets of the prophets! We will make them worship the prophets of profits! We will make them worship and obey Jaime Dimon and Alan Greenspan and Rupert Murdoch! As they rob them of their wealth! Oh what a colossal joke on the living! They will worship Bill gates and listen to Oprah and believe in the sanctity of the New prophets of profit like Obama and George Bush Jr. and Margaret Thatcher and Reagan! They will worship the DOW stock exchange instead of the Dao wisdom of the exchange of ideas! And they will all be corrupted and welcomed into our fold as we thrust them screaming in final dissolution into the VORTEX of dead souls which they will mistake as a 'white light' which on their physical death we instruct them to go INTO! And in so doing, voluntarily kill themselves: just as they corrupted themselves in Life: so too shall they destroy themselves in the Realm of the undead!"
